101 Birthday Wishes for Bill

By Susan Maxwell Skinner

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Bill Malkasian had 101 reasons to kick up his heels last week.

His century-plus-one celebration included a family reunion at Del Paso Country Club and a special birthday luncheon at his Oakmont of Carmichael home. Icing on the cake was a visit from the US Marines, whose officers presented a commendation for his military service.

"I had no idea they were coming," enthused Malkasian. "In my day, I had little to do with top ranking officers. These guys were top brass. I was just a sergeant. I felt great when they saluted me." The son of Armenian refugees, bilingual Malkasian grew up in Boston, MA. His high school years were distinguished with good academic grades and sporting excellence.

WWII loomed as he started college and the teenager enlisted with the US Marines. He served as a drill sergeant and combat trainer but – ever a jock – Private Malkasian was in greater demand for playing baseball and football in Marine Corp and Navy teams.

His had a minor role in history when, in 1945, his platoon met President Franklin Roosevelt's coffin at Washington DC railway station. He and brother Marines escorted the casket to lie in state

Failed Silicon Valley Bank, the Newsoms, and Connected Friends

By Katy Grimes, CaliforniaGlobe.com

The Silicon Valley Bank failure and shut-down is because of "idiot bank management under an incompetent board," according to Shark Tank star Kevin O'Leary.

"O'Leary joined Fox News hosts Bill Hemmer and Dana Perino on Tuesday to discuss the Silicon Valley Bank failure and the announcement that deposits would be protected," Mediaite reported. "President Joe Biden announced this week that people's 'deposits are safe.'"

"O'Leary blasted the plan, arguing it will simply provide a safety net for mismanagement. The Shark Tank star argued Silicon Valley Bank collapsed because of 'idiot management,' as opposed to a regulatory issue. 'Idiot' managers, he said, are now free to behave more irresponsibly."

It appears there are plenty of idiots and incompetents involved in the bank, focused on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion loan and investment goals, rather than responsible financial outcomes.

But the bailout/cover up may be more of the story in the long run – as in Why did Janet Yellen, Secretary of the Treasury in the the Biden administration state last Friday that there would be no bailouts, and by Sunday, the President effectively said there would in fact be a bailout and depositors would be made whole.

What changed in 48 hours?

For one thing, pure panic in the Silicon Valley Democrat donor base. And as likely is pure panic from California's governor and the "First Partner."

What changed in 48 hours?

For one thing, pure panic in the Silicon Valley Democrat donor base. And as likely is pure panic from California's governor and the "First Partner."

As the Globe reported Sunday:

"California Governor Gavin Newsom issued a statement Saturday morning in response to the appointment of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) as receiver of Silicon Valley Bank:

"Over the last 48 hours, I have been in touch with the highest levels of leadership at the White House and Treasury. Everyone is working with FDIC to stabilize the situation as quickly as possible, to protect jobs, people's livelihoods, and the entire

Resources Available for Parents

Sacramento County Special Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Whether you are becoming a parent for the first time or you are welcoming another child into your family this year, there are several resources that can help you in Sacramento County. If you are pregnant and live in Sacramento County, Maternal Child Adolescent Health (MCAH) has a program for you. MCAH has information and education on how to have the best pregnancy outcome possible, information on child health and development, and can assist parents in obtaining an OB provider or pediatrician.

The goals of MCAH programs are to make sure babies are born healthy and that their mothers are healthy too. The programs aim to provide a safe environment for children and parents of all backgrounds. Those with MCAH also work to make sure all women, children, and their families have equal access to appropriate care.

Because each family is unique, the County has several resources in place to help serve parents and children. Some of the programs available in the County include African American Perinatal Health, Black Infant Health, Nurse-Family Partnership, and Women, Infants, & Children (WIC). Anyone who is pregnant and lives in Sacramento County and is income eligible can enroll in these programs. If you are not sure which resource is best for you, do not worry. The County has workers who will match you to the program or programs you are eligible for.

The process is streamlined to make it easy for parents to reach out. To get help, call (916) 875-BABY. You will need to state that you are pregnant and in need of assistance. That one call is all you need to make. The County will then match you to resources. You can also complete a referral form and email it to DHSMCAH@sacounty.net. Click here for the referral form.

Many who have benefited from MCAH programs say the services have made a positive impact on their lives. A mother who is currently in the Black Infant Health program said having the extra support had a big impact on her.

"Knowing this program existed was amazing and the fact that it focused on Black moms was even better. It was great having support whenever I needed it and being in such a comfortable, safe space," the mother said.

Other MCAH programs have also had successful outcomes. 96% of Nurse-Family Partnership clients who chose to breast-feed were able to successfully do so at birth, which is higher than the national rate. The premature birth rate for Nurse-Family Partnership clients is 6.4%, which is lower than the state and national average. The programs also help mothers focus on their mental health. 100% of African American Perinatal Health clients who screened positive for Perinatal or postpartum mood and anxiety disorders were referred to mental health services.

To find out more about MCAH programs, go to the Sacramento County website. ★

Uniting for Women's Day

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - The Together Women Rise (TWR) organization celebrated International Women's Day in Carmichael on Saturday, March 11.

Sacramento, Rancho Cordova and Placerville Chapters of the national movement hosted a gathering at Carmichael Presbyterian Church. More than 100 supporters attended. The 20-year-old group seeks gender equality and funds grants to nonprofits that empower women in developing countries.

With more than 400 chapters, the sisterhood is among the largest giving circles in the USA.

Members lunched, networked and experienced cultural displays. Featured grant recipient at the event was a group called Too Young to Wed. The Kenyan nonprofit – that advocates for girls pressured into early marriages – recently received a $50,000 grant through Together Women Rise.

"Our celebration was a huge success," said Rancho Cordova Chapter leader Ingrid Rosten. "We brought together women from across our communities. We learned, we nurtured and we celebrated."

at the White House. "I was one of the Marines who stood guard over him at the Rotunda," recalls Malkasian. "It was one of the great honors of my life. He was a great man."

Post war, he signed a baseball contract with the Chicago White Sox and played catcher and outfielder in minor league games. He was not disappointed when this career was cut short by injury; Malkasian happily resumed the education interrupted by war. His Bachelor's in education came from the University of Western Illinois; his Master's was from Boston University. Armed for a teaching career, he headed to Sacramento in 1950. Teaching history for Grant School District was inevitably spelled by football and baseball coaching.

He and his first wife, concert pianist Leanore, raised a daughter and two sons.

In the 1960s, the teacher became Principal at Del Paso Junior High. His final job was Principal of Grant High school, from which he retired in 1983. He remarried after Leanore's death in 1995; he and second wife Marilyn have lived at Oakmont for three years.

Thoughts on turning 101: "It's not much different from being 91," Bill Malkasian considers. "I love people. I love my wife and my kids and grandkids. My birthday was great. I was surprised and happy when the Marines showed up. They're my guys and we always stick together. I still have my uniform somewhere. It wouldn't fit now, but as they say, once a Marine, always a Marine." ★

The Intercept just reported Tuesday Gov. Gavin Newsom failed to mention that President Biden's announcement also protected his own businesses in Silicon Valley Bank."CADE, Odette, and PlumpJack, three wineries owned by Newsom, are listed as clients of SVB on the bank's website. Newsom also maintained personal accounts at SVB for years, according to a long-time former employee of Newsom's who handled his finances, and who requested anonymity to avoid professional reprisal."

Newsom also neglected to say that he and the First Partner have even deeper ties with Silicon Valley Bank – Silicon Valley Bank President of Capital John China gave $100,000 "Behested" gift to the Newsom's nonprofit, California Partners Project, Open the Books discovered, the Globe reported.

Notably, a 2019 IRS Form 990 for Newsom's California Partner Project reports only $50k in total gross receipts. This seems inaccurate given the new information of Newsom's behested payments. The Globe did not find any record of 2020-2021 IRS Form 990 filings on the IRS website, but did find IRS Form 990 filings with the California Office of the Attorney General Charities registry. ★

Bits and Bobs at Button Bazaar

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - A mini world of vintage glamor was unfastened during Sacramento Button Club's recent expo at La Sierra Community Center.

Dealers from all over the West Coast and Nevada – one even from Texas – offered specimens from an industry that has been securing seams since mammoth bone toggles. Exhibits included fasteners tooled for fashionistas from ancient China to contemporary Paris. Despite all-day rain, the Button Bazaar – held every two years in Carmichael – attracted almost 200 visitors.

“Many people brought their own buttons for appraisal,” said club member and appraiser Janelle Giles, “We saw rare miniature paintings on ivory under glass and lots of 1930s era (arts and crafts) works.

“People came in with items from garage sales. Some were wow, scarce. A Carmichael lady brought boxes of buttons she inherited. Many were treasures. It goes to show: you never know what might be in the old sewing box.”

Is Silicon Valley Bank's Failure An Omen For California?

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

It would be difficult to overstate Silicon Valley's financial importance to California.

The San Jose-centered high technology industry exploded four decades ago as California's manufacturing sector, which had boomed during and after World War II, was shrinking.

It became the state's single most powerful economic engine, creating products and services that transformed California and had immense global impact. A few days ago, Gov. Gavin Newsom described it the "tent pole for our economy" and for once he wasn't exaggerating.

As other economic sectors and other regions stagnated, Silicon Valley boomed. Without it, California could not have become the fifth – and very possibly the fourth – most powerful economy in the world.

Silicon Valley's mega-corporations, such as Apple, Google and Twitter, sucked in immense amounts of money from every corner of the globe – not only making investors very rich, but creating countless jobs and pumping hundreds of billions of dollars into the state treasury as high income tax rates tapped into the new wealth.

However, there's reason to wonder whether Silicon Valley has reached its peak.

In recent months, Silicon Valley's corporations have been laying off workers and venture capital activity has slowed. A few weeks ago, a local industry organization, Joint Venture Silicon Valley, issued its annual report on the region's economy, stressing a transition from a cauldron of start-up companies to dominance by a few giants.

"Tech is going through a painful period," Russell Hancock, president of the organization said, adding hopefully that "there is no way to construe what is happening as a crisis" for the tech sector.

That was happening before Silicon Valley Bank, which was founded in 1983 as the region began to boom and rode the wave into becoming one of the nation's largest financial houses, suddenly collapsed last week.

The bank experienced a run from depositors and could not raise enough cash to meet demand. State and federal financial regulators quickly stepped in, shuttered the bank and began seeking a buyer. Its failure sent shockwaves through Silicon Valley because of the bank's prominent role in financing start-up companies and providing cash for payrolls and other expenses.

Relatively small depositors were covered by insurance, but hundreds of corporate customers had deposits over the $250,000 insurance limit and suddenly were unable to make withdrawals.

The immediate crisis was averted on Sunday when federal authorities arranged for Federal Reserve loans that would allow depositors to make full withdrawals. They also made money available to shore up other specialty banks that might be vulnerable to depositor runs.

Despite the emergency action, however, Silicon Valley Bank's failure is a serious blow to the tech industry because of its pivotal role in financing innovation as a direct lender, as a financial service provider and as a midwife for attracting venture capital.

Federal authorities are looking for a buyer to absorb Silicon Valley Bank, quite possibly one of the nation's larger banks. Even if a buyer emerges, however, the new owner would not have an intimate relationship to the region's yeasty culture of aggressive innovation.

The bank's owners prospered by deeply immersing themselves into that culture but that narrow focus made it vulnerable to outside economic factors. When the Federal Reserve System began raising interest rates to battle inflation, the bank's portfolio of bonds lost value. When the bank was forced to sell those devalued bonds to meet withdrawal demands from depositors, it went into a death spiral.

The question is whether the bank's failure is a harbinger of Silicon Valley's decline.

Social Security Matters

How Do I Withdraw My Application for Social Security?

By Russell Gloor, AMAC Certified Social Security Advisor

Dear Rusty: I will be 67 next month and reached my full retirement age in July 2022. My wife and I are discussing whether we should take Social Security now or wait until we are age 70 to get a higher benefit. I remember reading that you can start Social Security and, if not needed, pay it back within a year and then "reset" to get a higher benefit by waiting longer. Please describe the steps of this process to take now and repay the year's benefits if we do not need them. Signed: Uncertain

Dear Uncertain: Well, to exercise the so-called "do over option" (which is essentially withdrawing your application for benefits), you need to contact Social Security (1.800.772.1213 or your local SS field office) and request that your application for benefits be withdrawn. You can also download and complete form SSA-521 and deliver the same to your local Social Security office. You can get that form at this link: www.ssa.gov/forms/ssa-521.pdf.

This "do-over option" is only available within 12 months of the date you submit your application and can only be done once in your lifetime. If you use it, you will be required to repay Social Security for all payments made on your behalf, including not only your monthly payments but also any income taxes you had withheld, and any Medicare premiums which were withheld from your monthly payments (Social Security will inform you how much you must repay). Once the repayment is made, it will be as though you never applied for benefits, meaning your benefit amount will be higher when you later re-apply (which would also be the case if you simply didn't apply – your benefit entitlement continues to grow until you claim, up to age 70 when your maximum SS benefit is attained). This process would be the same for both you and your wife.

However, I suggest you consider whether you really need to withdraw your application. Be aware that since you've already reached your full retirement age (FRA) you can claim now and, if you later decide you don't need the monthly SS money, you can simply temporarily suspend your benefit payments to avoid repaying Social Security everything they've already paid to you and on your behalf (you don't need to formally withdraw your application). By simply suspending (and not withdrawing), your benefit amount will start growing again with each month your benefits are suspended (about .67% more for each month you do not get benefits) and you can keep everything you've already received to the point you suspend your payments. To suspend your payments just call Social Security at the number provided above and tell them you wish to suspend your benefits and grow your payment amount. While you can only use the withdrawal process once in your lifetime, you can temporarily suspend your benefit payments multiple times if necessary.

On June 20, 2022, my son, Robert Jenson, was left for dead at the corner of Fair Oaks Blvd. & El Camino Ave. after being struck by a hit-and-run driver around 9:10 p.m.

Numerous fliers were placed around the area, as well as monuments on poles and on a fence where he was killed, but someone kept taking them down. So, I decided to put a billboard up for all to see, hoping to find my only child's killer.

It May Take A Little Time

Dear Dave,

I've having some problems with my parents, and I'm hoping you can help. Last summer I borrowed $2,500 from them, and it is taking me longer to pay them back than we agreed. Since the pay back date passed, they have made several comments about money when we're together, and our relationship seems strained. I have taken steps in the last couple of months to become more financially responsible. I am now doing things like living on a budget, and putting something from each paycheck into a savings account. How should I approach this issue with them?

- Remi

Dave Ramsey Says

Dear Remi,

Loaning money to, or borrowing money from, relatives or friends often leads to bruised feelings. I'm sorry you're going through this, but I hope it will teach you and your folks a valuable lesson going forward. There's nothing wrong with giving money in a situation like this, as long as you're not enabling bad behavior by doing so. But a loan between friends or family is something I never recommend.

If they choose to hold a grudge there's really not a lot you can do, especially if you took longer than agreed upon to pay them back. It just takes more time with some people—and in some cases even parents—for those kinds of things to heal. You have to remember, in their minds there's an element of responsibility and trust involved here. But considering it's your mom and dad we're talking about, I'd say they'll lighten up and become a little easier to be around with time.

Until that happens, though, maybe you could look for chances to mention your new approach to finances during conversations with them. Even something as simple as an off-hand remark about how much you were able to put into savings from your recent paychecks may encourage them to see things in a different light. Letting them know you're actively working to change your ways and gain control of your finances could mean a lot to them. Give it a try!

There Are 171 Trillion Plastic Particles in Our Oceans

Commentary by Madie Aughinbaugh, Earth Day Network

After decades of big corporations producing trillions of oil-based plastics, the negative consequences of pollution caused by these products are startling and undeniable. It's recognized as one of the most pressing environmental and public health hazards of modern times. With more than 418 million tons of plastic thought to be produced annually, our oceans, rivers, food, land, and air are overrun with pollution.

It is time to accelerate solutions to combat plastic pollution by activating governments, citizens, and businesses to do their part to invest in our planet, everyone accounted for, everyone accountable. YOU have a part to play and can begin by doing something as simple as hosting or partaking in a cleanup in your community. EARTHDAY.ORG (EDO), the global organizer of Earth Day, has a worldwide campaign known as The Great Global Cleanup focused on ridding the environment of plastic waste for good.

Cleanups are a fun, easy, and effective way to amplify your impact in protecting our planet. If you are unsure of how or where to start, no worries! We've got you covered. Here are the seven keys to hosting a successful cleanup:

Organize a planning group. Whether you want to be an environmental rockstar solo or with friends and family, make sure to rally your troops and decide who is going to take the lead in organizing the cleanup. Once you've appointed a cleanup captain, have them assign tasks and designate roles to ensure a smooth sailing event.

Choose an ideal date, site, and time. Parks, rivers, and other similar public community sites are great options for your cleanup. And, depending on where you are, choosing a time allowing for plenty of daylight and comfortable temperatures is essential.

Gather volunteers. Use social media and word of mouth to spread awareness about your cleanup. Another great way to rally volunteers is by registering your cleanup on EARTHDAY.ORG's Great Global Cleanup Map. This will connect you with a global network of volunteers who are just as passionate as you are about helping heal our environment.

Line up cleanup supplies and arrange for waste disposal. Asking for donations of trash bags, refreshments and equipment is a great way to keep your cleanup well supplied and financially efficient. In fact, local hardware stores are often eager to donate resources to you for the great work you're doing. Make sure to also coordinate with local waste management for disposal after your cleanup and don't forget to show appreciation by giving credit to contributors for their donations.

Start your cleanup. As you get closer to the date, check the weather so you can dress accordingly and make sure to send a text the night before your cleanup to remind the group! Take pictures before and after your collection to share on social media. You can also invite local media outlets to cover your event to help spread awareness about the great work you're doing.

Dispose of waste. Sort your waste properly into trash, recyclables, and hazardous waste. Once you've done this, take it to the location you've chosen to properly discard.

Pat each other on the back for a job well done! Make sure to say thank you to everyone who helped make your cleanup a success. Post your event photos on social media using the hashtags #GreatGlobalCleanup, #TrashTag, and #Plogging and share them with local newspapers and magazine.

Real change needs to be made and you have the power to make a difference. For information about how to sign up to be a partner with The Great Global Cleanup, please visit: <https://www.earthday.org/partner-with-the-great-global-cleanup/>. ★

Minnesota Nuclear Power Plant Leaked 400,000 Gallons of Radioactive Water in November and Only Now Reveals it to the Public

17 March 2023 | Americans are in an uproar after learning Thursday about radioactive water leak at a Minnesota nuclear power plant that happened in November 2022. At least 400,000 gallons of radioactive water spilled from Xcel Energy's Monticello facility on November 22, which came from a pipe between two buildings. The public is outraged by the silence on the matter, as it occurred months before the devastating East Palestine train derailment that released 1.6 million pounds of hazardous chemicals in Ohio. Regulators said Thursday they are monitoring clean up and there is no danger to the public. [Yeah, right!] The water contained tritium, which is a rare and radioactive isotope of hydrogen with half-life about 12 years.

CDC Bought Phone Data to Monitor Americans' Compliance With Lockdowns, Contracts Show

16 March 2023 | The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) purchased data from tracking companies to monitor compliance with lockdowns, according to contracts with the firms. The CDC paid one firm 420,000 and another 208,000. That bought access to location data from at least 55 million cellphone users. The contracts, approved under emergency review due to the COVID-19 pandemic, were aimed at providing the CDC "with the necessary data to continue critical emergency response functions related to evaluating the impact of visits to key points of interest, stay at home orders, closures, re-openings and other public health communications related to mask mandate, and other merging research areas on community transmission of SARS-CoV-2," the contracts, obtained by The Epoch Times, state.

He Has the Proof: DC Gulag Political Prisoner and Decorated Army Special Forces Soldier Jeffrey McKellop Reveals Extent of Government Agents at J6 Capitol Protest - It Was a Complete Set-Up

17 March 2023 | For weeks, The Gateway Pundit was informed about Jeffrey McKellop a decorated former 3rd Special Forces Group soldier and U.S. government contractor. Jeffrey is currently being held in the DC Gulag in Washington, D.C., as a political prisoner after he served his country for 22 years of military service. Jeffrey has been silenced by his government. After his arrest in March 2021, Jeffrey delved into video footage and documented evidence from January 6. Jeffrey was able to identify numerous government informants and agitators in the massive Trump crowd that day. After he put together his evidence he sent it out to numerous contacts. That was when the FBI came into his prison cell and took his research. They then attempted to silence him and banned him from phone and mail privileges. Jeffrey's trial is scheduled to start in April 2023. He has been in prison for two years TODAY without a trial. He was arrested on March 17, 2021.

EPA Orders States to Accept Waste from Ohio Train Derailment Site

17 March 2023 | The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency ordered states with approved and available toxic waste facilities to accept materials transported from the train derailment in East Palestine, Ohio. The move, announced by EPA director Michael Regan at a news conference Friday morning, comes after governors in Oklahoma, Michigan and other states have recently turned away shipments. The EPA also ordered Norfolk Southern to move faster to get the toxic waste out of the area. The two new EPA orders requires Norfolk Southern to speed up the removal process and requires contractors to take legal action against EPA-licensed disposal facilities that refuse to honor their contracts. Every state has been notified that states cannot stop shipments of out-of-state waste from East Palestine, Regan said.

FDA Approves COVID Boosters for 6-Month-Olds, Citing Trial with just 24 Patients

17 March 2023 | The U.S. Food & Drug Administration (FDA) is approving booster doses of Pfizer's COVID-19 shot for children as young as six months based on a trial of just 24 patients. The FDA announced March 14 that it is amending its emergency use authorization (EUA) for the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 vaccine, Bivalent, to allow a single booster dose for children between six months and four years, at least two months after being initially vaccinated... Buried in the press release, however, was the revelation that "among individuals 6 months of age and older, safety was assessed in participants in two clinical studies," and that for the 6-23 months age group there were only 24 participants. The 2-4 year age group had 36. Medical freedom attorney and COVID vaccine critic Aaron Siri called it a "new low" for the FDA to make its decision based on such limited data.

DOD Spends Nearly $50 million a Year 'To Do Nothing' with Trump's Border Wall Materials, Drawing GOP Backlash

16 March 2023 | The Biden administration spends about 130,000 per day to store and maintain unused border wall panels at the southern border, and Senate Republicans are demanding answers. Republican members of the Senate Armed Forces Committee -- using details provided to them in a request for information to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) -- sent a letter Wednesday evening to the Defense Department asking why nearly 50 million is being spent each year to store the Trump-era border materials. Led by ranking member Sen. Roger Wicker, R-Miss., and signed by Texas Sens. Ted Cruz and John Cornyn, along with nearly every other Republican on the committee, the senators wrote that they "are disturbed to learn the Department of Defense is paying private landowners to store border wall materials procured under the Trump Administration instead of fortifying the southern border with those materials."

Federal Reserve to Raise Interest Rates 25 Basis Points Amid Banking Crisis

17 March 2023 | The Federal Reserve is expected to raise interest rates another 25 basis points -- or 0.25% next week amid the banking crisis. Two U.S. banks failed in the last week after they were unable to produce enough cash for depositors. Silicon Valley Bank and Signature Bank collapsed within the last week. Moody's cut the outlook for the entire U.S. banking sector after the banks failed. The banking crisis stems from the Federal Reserve's decision to hike interest rates seven times in 2022.

Stanford Law School Descends into Orwellian Nightmare as Woke Students Dressed in Black Masks Line Halls Demanding Their 'Counter Speech' be Protected After Dean Apologized to Conservative Judge for being Heckled

On Monday, the dean found her classroom whiteboard covered in fliers saying 'Where was his apology?' and she was herself confronted by masked students | 14 March 2023 | Stanford Law School's dean had her classroom whiteboard pasted over with protest posters and found herself confronted by silent masked students on Monday, after she apologized to a conservative judge who was invited to speak at the university, and then heckled into silence. Jenny Martinez, the dean, apologized to Judge Kyle Duncan for the March 9 incident on campus. Duncan, appointed by Donald Trump, demanded an apology after he was invited to speak, only to be berated by a pious dean while students shouted abuse at him. On Monday, students made their displeasure at her apology clear, papering over her whiteboard with printed signs that read: "We have free speech rights too," "Where is our apology?" and "Counter-speech is free speech." At the end of the class, Martinez left the room to be confronted with a corridor lined with law students wearing black masks that read: "Counter-speech is free speech." ★

Crowdfunding for Robert Craig Films' No Address Soars Beyond Goal

Atherton Public Relations Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Robert Craig, the producer, and owner of Robert Craig Films, uses movies to create change and find solutions, and is raising awareness of the homeless crisis in America. RC Films' No Address is a scripted feature film which began production in February and sheds light on homelessness's human side with beautiful and compelling storytelling.

While Robert Craig Films primarily financed the movie, the production company collaborates with corporate partners and the public, who share the same vision and wish to support people who need a helping hand to establish a safe and secure life. The proven support is in the numbers, as INDIEGOGO has currently raised 165%, beyond the $25,000 goal. The stretch goal is now set at $50,000.

Additionally, there is a documentary title, Americans with No Address, which is based on a 17-city bus tour taken by the RC Films productions company to visit rescue missions and encampments to learn about the plight of homelessness, help to humanize those living with homelessness, and engage with world-renowned homeless experts to come together and drive solutions.

The feature film No Address will follow from the documentary Americans with No Address, filmed on the bus tour. The crowdfunding will also help with the wide release of the documentary. The feature-scripted movie will strive to effectively motivate viewers to engage deeper with compassion in the community around them and incite personal activation. The film will shoot in Sacramento, starting in February 2023.

"We are astounded by the support our films are getting on INDIEGOGO. But at the same time, we know that people are looking for ways to take action and find solutions for this homeless crisis," says Craig, "Backers of this project will play a vital role in turning the tide of homelessness in this nation."

No Address is about a group of homeless people bonded together as a family, struggling to survive the streets while fending off a harassing gang, an unforgiving community, and the local authorities in hopes of finding their humanity again. The touching storylines are pulled from the countless hours spent by producers visiting shelters, missions, and organizations that are on the front lines of providing services and solutions. Attention is mounting; the screenplay for the movie has already been accepted into over 118 film festivals and won over 100 Best Screenplay awards. It caught the attention of media outlets around the country, including Forbes, ABC, USA Wire, and many more. The all-star production team includes Robert Marbut, an executive producer; Robert Craig, Sally Forcier, and Angela Lujan will produce the film. No Address was written by Julia Verdin and James J Papa and is to be directed by Julia Verdin. ★

Back to the Future

Have you ever wondered where you came from and who you came from that might influence who you are today? Kathy Lynne Marshall did and has written about several families including her own in "Finding Marshalls." So why does a person who worked for the CHP change gears and turn to the past? Kathy has an insatiable curiosity. Information is her driver and now genealogy is her passion. She has delighted audiences at the Sons and Daughters of the United States Middle Passage conference and served as consultant to the West Virginia's Beverly Heritage Center, among many more local and national media. She encourages others to look into their past to influence their future. So, on my POPPOFF Radio Show, I asked Kathy to give us some tips on how to get started out of curiosity, or perhaps write a family book on your own heritage for publication or just sharing with your family.

4. Organize the research documents you gathered in binders or computer folders by person.

5. Interview your relatives for family stories and more facts.

6. DNA test several relatives in the selected family line. You'll receive thousands of names of people who share common ancestors with your family. In addition, DNA testing will estimate where in the world your ancestors came from Kathy's "Family Harambee" How to discuss challenging Discoveries in your family tree and her "Finding Otho" books present critical information about this DNA topic.

7. Create a document on your computer for the manuscript if that's what your goal is. Format the pages to look like an outline of the book, e.g. title pages, table of contents, Chapter One etc.

8. Write your story or get someone to help you put it all together. If you want to publish it, you can always get a ghost writer to help you.

9. If you go the book route, get an editor and book cover creator. Your former high school English teacher is not necessarily a professional editor.

10. Print your manuscript, but remember you can self-publish it as a book or for a family keepsake for members of your immediate family.

Kathy was great to offer her email if you want to ask her questions at Kathy@KathyLynneMarshall.com. Looking to your past can reveal so much of your future life path. ★
