Hunger Spike Coming

Impending loss of pandemic CalFresh support

Food banks across California are bracing for a feared spike in hunger amid inflated prices after a pandemic-era boost in food aid ends in April.

March is the last month CalFresh recipients will get the additional benefits, as the federal government cuts off the "emergency allotments" that have kept food stamp allowances higher than usual for nearly three years now.

The average household on CalFresh will lose about $200 a month, said Becky Silva, government relations director at the California Association of Food Banks. A single-person household, for instance, could drop from $281 a month in food aid to as low as $23 in April.

U.S. Department of Agriculture documents show that since November, the pandemic boosts have amounted to more than $500 million a month in additional food stamps coming into low-income Californians' budgets.

"There's no way to overstate how devastating this is going to be," Silva said. "Families are going to see a dramatic and sudden drop in their food benefits at a time when food price inflation and the cost of living in California especially is through the roof."

Food stamps are funded by the federal government, which determines benefit amounts annually based on the nationwide cost of living as well as recipients' household size and income.

In March 2020, Congress allowed the USDA to give states funding to boost all recipients' aid to the maximum allowable benefits for their household size, or add $95 on top for those already receiving the maximum. The recent Congressional spending bill passed in December cuts that off this spring in exchange for funding for extra food aid for school children during the summer months.

More than 2.9 million California households receive food assistance through CalFresh, a number that has risen steadily throughout

County Seeks Proposals to Support Local Organizations

SacCounty
News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County is soliciting proposals from lead organizations to help strengthen and build capacity of local non-profit community-based organizations (CBOs) that are focused on providing services to a variety of underserved populations, including: Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC) who experience disproportionately negative health and social outcomes, unhoused individuals and families, individuals with behavioral health needs, individuals with involvement in the child welfare or criminal justice system, refugees/immigrants, and other marginalized communities which were disproportionately impacted by the pandemic.

Throughout the County, CBOs improve the quality of life in communities by providing educational, health, and social services to citizens in need of support, beyond the services generally provided by local governments. Through their unique connectivity to the communities they serve, CBOs can impact hard-to-reach and traditionally underserved populations in a culturally responsive and equitable manner. The County recognizes the value of partnering with CBOs to support local citizens and foster an environment in which the community can thrive and recover from the health, economic, and other negative impacts suffered as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The primary focus of this funding is to help CBOs develop core infrastructure to: 1. Effectively expand services and deepen their impact for underserved communities; 2. Build and strengthen the capacity for CBOs to more easily access and better manage government funds and contracts; 3. Support the integration and elevation of BIPOC-centered and serving CBOs; 4. Evaluate services and programs and improve equitable access and outcomes to underserved populations; and 5. Enhance the cultural responsiveness of service provision to traditionally underserved populations.

In 2020, the County declared racism as a public health crisis and since that time has begun to strategically invest in a focus on diversity, equity and inclusion. Building capacity and strengthening the regions CBOs ensures SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Spice levels aside, a Carmichael-based musician has turned a Thai restaurant into one of the hottest jazz spot in Sacramento.

Mentor to scores of Sacramento students, Doctor Joe Gilman will mark one-year of culinary experience next month with a weekend of live performances at his Thai food eatery.

Hundreds of fans already applaud top singers and instrumentalists at the unexpected Folsom Boulevard venue. Gilman also hosts poetry readings and gives young talent a bash with regular 'emerging artist' sessions at Twin Lotus Thai.

Variety is the spice. "We just had a quartet do the music of (saxophonist) John Coltrane," reports Gilman. "Their two shows completely sold out. Considering most people's taste, you'd hardly think it could happen at a Folsom Boulevard Thai Restaurant. But it did."

Voluntary donations for artists in lieu of cover charges is a crowd draw. And if Thai cuisine was new to fans, regulars now down curries like those born in Bangkok. "They've come to enjoy new flavors," approves the owner. "Some are even ramping up their spice levels."

The restaurant's East-Meets-West fusion hatched from Gilman's marriage to Surinipha (Kai) Manosan. The couple met and married in Thailand and their children are now part of Twin Lotus Thai's 10-strong staff.

Board Affirms Development Process Improvements

Sac County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The County's development process is one step closer to undergoing comprehensive systematic and customer service improvements, as the Board of Supervisors voted unanimously on Tuesday, February 7, to support the direction and goals of the process.

The plan includes improving the timeliness of review, ensuring a predictable and consistent process, and a concerted focus on providing outstanding customer service.

"Simply put, we want Sacramento County to be the best place to build in the region for all of our customers," said Dave Defanti, Deputy County Executive, Community Services. "We're grateful for the Board's feedback about the Development Review Process improvements and for its support in implementing changes that will make the process more efficient and easier to navigate."

"These changes will help us to meet our goals of attracting, planning and fostering housing production and other beneficial uses in existing and new communities, and serving our customers even better than before."

Goals include an increase in affordable housing units, helping achieve state and local goals and regulations to address climate change and air quality, providing for unparalleled environmental protection and encouraging public participation.

Defanti provided the Board with an update on improvements recently implemented/positive outcomes:

Focus on building a collaborative, positive culture and supporting staff; Sacramento County earning the state's Pro-Housing Designation, a recognition of its commitment to policies that increase housing supply; The formation of an Industry Working Group with representatives from the building industry that will vet new process improvements moving forward; Addition of two Development Process Managers, who will facilitate key projects through the County's processes; Training and review of the Accela Government Software system – the system of record for the development process – to review what's working and what can be improved; Providing customers with easy-to-follow manuals for how to do business with the County, including when and how to seek permits for construction activity.

Additional improvements in the coming months will lead to processes that:

Are timely, efficient, and carried out in a manner that recognizes "time is money" for our customers; Reduce complexity and eliminate superfluous requirements; Are consistent with industry best practices and comparable agencies' processes viewed by customers as exemplary; Include customers in problem-solving and decision-making; Ensure the level of detail requested is appropriate for any stage of development; Offer clear timelines and transparency for customers regarding the status of their permit or application; Provide routine opportunities to solicit and receive customer feedback; Empower staff to be innovative and creative to help solve problems and facilitate desirable development.

"Sacramento County is facing an unprecedented housing supply and affordability crisis, and we believe these improvements will positively affect new housing production to address these crises," said Defanti. "This is an exciting time for the County, and we look forward to updating County residents and the Board about our progress to affect real change." ★

Sacramento jazz diva Vivian Lee will be among artists saluting Joe Gilman's restaurant success on the weekend of March 4 and 5.

Sacramento. Career crescendos include winning the Great American Jazz Piano Competition and the Dave Brubeck Award. He has toured the world as a Kennedy Center soloist.

In 1997, Gilman founded the non-profit Capital Jazz Project in Sacramento. "I've always had an entrepreneurial streak," he says. "My wife and I often talked about starting a family business."

Kai is an experienced retailer whose Phuket boutique was wiped out by the 2004 tsunami before she wed Gilman. The mom of two is passionate about her native cuisine. "I'm happy when I see people eating what I've cooked for them," she says. "I love to share my country's food."

The couple last year took over an established Thai food destination near Rancho Cordova. Adding jazz to the menu was inevitable; Gilman knew every gigging musician in Sacramento – and most of their supporters. "As an artist, I know music adds enjoyment to eating," he says. "As an entrepreneur,

I'll explore any element that makes our business special.

"At first, weekend business was light, I invited a vocalist to share tunes with me on a Saturday night. I was elated when 80 people turned up to hear us." Gilman's weekend music program soon kicked into high gear, with top jazzers eagerly in line to perform.

Recent shows include husband and wife team Steve and Ann Roach, a French-style café band and a Brazilian combo. Carmichael's Todd Morgan was a February hit. "He's among the most impressive, multi-talented individuals I've encountered," notes Gilman. "Todd's equally impressive as a pianist, a guitarist, a singer and a songwriter. He can play anything from rock to jazz."

"We're morphing gradually away from all-jazz. As long as music's good and people want to hear it, I won't stand in anyone's way."

Sold out shows are a near twice-weekly event at Twin Lotus. The pragmatic boss seats guests, busses tables, sweeps floors and flits between kitchen and front-of-house until music begins.

"Being so involved helps me connect with customers and staff," says Gilman. "There's no task I won't do. I'd wash dishes if the staff would let me. My mind is operating in new ways, and I'm loving it. I listen to suggestions. In the past year, I've learned how important the happiness of customers is to running a business."

For Twin Lotus's one-year anniversary, more than 20 top Sacramento singers and instrumentalists will perform. Four sets will span the evenings of Saturday, March 4 and Sunday, March 5. In gratitude for entrepreneurship that helped musicians through thin post-COVID times, artists will donate anniversary performances. "The music community is grateful for what Joe has done," explains a singer. "He's added new opportunities for us. If his enterprise prospers, musicians have a chance to prosper, too."

The food industry is hard work with thin profit margins. While music satisfies Gilman's artistic side, it also keeps accounts in the black. "Our first year has been a wonderful and surprising time," he says. "Having diners and musicians supporting our small business is exciting for our entire Twin Lotus family."

Twin Lotus Thai is located at 8345 #119 Folsom Boulevard, Sacramento. Opening hours are from 11 am till 8 pm; Tuesday to Sunday. Learn about music performances at www.twinlotusthai.com ★

Financial Resilience During a Disaster

SacCounty News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County faces regional hazards throughout the year including severe weather, floods and fires. If a disaster or other emergency strikes, you may only have seconds or minutes to react. In those critical moments, your focus will be on your family's safety.

Once the immediate danger has passed, having an Emergency Financial First Aid Kit (EFFAK) ready can provide you with peace of mind and will help you recover faster.

Remember these four steps to help you organize critical financial, medical and household information before a disaster or emergency strikes.

Assess & Compile: Gather your important financial documents and contacts; Review: Review your insurance policies and financial paperwork to be sure that they are still accurate and current; Safeguard: Store paper and electronic copies of all files in safe locations; Update: Revisit and update your Emergency Financial First Aid Kit regularly. Updates are especially important when significant changes in your life occur.

Kiley Applauds Biden Addressing Fentanyl Crisis, Calls to Secure Border

Office of Congressman Kevin Kiley

WASHINGTON, DC (MPG) - Rep. Kiley responded to President Biden's State of the Union address with this statement:

"Americans know that addressing our nation's fentanyl crisis should, and must, be bipartisan, and I applaud President Biden for announcing steps tonight to do just that. Likewise, Americans know that addressing the crisis at our southern border – the source of much of the fentanyl reaching our communities – must also be bipartisan. I call on President Biden to put partisanship aside and finally work with Congress to fix our border and protect our families." – Rep. Kevin Kiley (R-Calif.)

Background: Rep. Kiley was honored to host Rocklin residents Laura Didier and Chris Didier as his guests for President Biden's State of the Union address. The Didiers lost their 17-year-old son, Zach Didier, to fentanyl two days after Christmas in 2020. Zach was an Eagle Scout, soccer player, and beloved member of the community who had no history of drug use. Chris and Laura have dedicated themselves to raising awareness of the dangers of fentanyl in the hopes of saving the lives of students like Zach. ★

Solidigm Names Rancho Cordova Global Headquarters

Rancho Cordova News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Solidigm, a U.S.-based leading global provider of innovative NAND flash memory solutions, has named the City of Rancho Cordova in Greater Sacramento the company's new global headquarters.

The decision was made due to Greater Sacramento's access to skilled talent, quality of life, and support for technology businesses. The state capital region is ranked 7th in the country among large metropolitan statistical areas (MSAs) for higher education talent with more than 700,000 students enrolled in higher learning institutions within 100 miles.

"The Sacramento region has a competitive talent pool, support for innovation, and offers a lifestyle highly valued by our team members, making Rancho Cordova the optimal headquarters for Solidigm," said Chief Operating Officer Ellen Doller. "The support we received in selecting the site for our global R&D facility made the decision easy. We look forward to continuing to be a part of this vibrant community through job creation, partnerships, and volunteering."

Solidigm is a leading global provider of innovative NAND flash memory solutions. The company launched as a U.S.-based subsidiary of SK hynix, Inc., the world's second-largest memory chip maker, on December 29, 2021, following an October 2020 agreement by SK hynix to acquire Intel's NAND and SSD business for $9 billion.

In September 2022, after an exhaustive site search in the Greater Sacramento region, Solidigm announced its choice of Rancho Cordova for its global research and development (R&D) hub, with more than $100 million investment in the facility. That project is the largest semiconductor industry R&D project Greater Sacramento has seen over the last decade and is now followed by the company's decision to make the same location its global headquarters.

"Last fall, we were thrilled to announce that Solidigm's global research and development facility would be headquartered in Rancho Cordova, and we are equally thrilled to welcome Solidigm's global headquarters to the city," said Mayor Linda Budge. "Solidigm is a cutting-edge leader in the semiconductor space, and locating their global headquarters here is an economic game-changer for Rancho Cordova and the Sacramento region."

Solidigm is currently working on tenant improvements to the 230,000-square-foot R&D campus and is targeting a move-in date in the first quarter of 2023. The site was chosen for its ability to combine world-class lab and office space into a single campus, proximity to where Solidigm's workforce lives, availability of public transportation, and nearby amenities.

"We are thrilled Solidigm decided to make their HQ location in Rancho Cordova," GSEC President & CEO Barry

Broome said. "This validates the state capital market as being one of the top locations in the country for semiconductor talent. We also want to commend the City of Rancho Cordova for its leadership and for making the process business-friendly with ample real estate available. Solidigm made the best choice because the City delivers a great experience and treats industry like their customers."

"We are pleased to see continued investment in Rancho Cordova from Solidigm and are honored they selected the city as their global headquarters," said Congressman Ami Bera. "The overall investment means a significant amount to our community as Solidigm plans to invest in more high-wage jobs to grow their presence in the region. I am proud that Sacramento will continue to be the home of several great semiconductor companies. Combined with the robust funding from Congress through the bipartisan passage of the CHIPS and Science Act and the great engineering talent from our local universities and colleges, I look forward to working with Solidigm and other industry partners to ensure that this investment will continue to bring considerable opportunities that will benefit the Greater Sacramento region and its residents. As a co-chair of the Congressional Korea Caucus, I am excited about Solidigm's investment in our region as I have worked to grow economic ties between the U.S. and Korea and this investment is another example of the great potential of our countries' partnership."

"I want to congratulate Solidigm on this crucial investment for the Sacramento region's economy as I continue my work at the federal level to support the semiconductor industry," said Congresswoman Doris Matsui. "Two years ago, I introduced the CHIPS Act to address an urgent economic and national security threat - America's decline in the strategically important semiconductor industry. I will continue working hard as Ranking Member of the Energy and Commerce Committee's Communications and Technology Subcommittee to move policy forward that builds on our progress in the semiconductor industry and invests in our innovators like Solidigm." ★

COVID-19 Effects on California Will Linger for Years

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Gov. Gavin Newsom says California's COVID-19 state of emergency will end on Feb. 28, just four days shy of three years since he issued the first of countless orders he said were necessary to cope with the pandemic.

"Throughout the pandemic, we've been guided by the science and data – moving quickly and strategically to save lives," Newsom said in October announcing the February end date. "The state of emergency was an effective and necessary tool that we utilized to protect our state, and we wouldn't have gotten to this point without it."

The efficacy of Newsom's pandemic orders will be debated for years, particularly the shutdowns of schools and businesses and the billions of dollars in no-bid contracts his administration issued.

What cannot be debated, however, is that their impacts on millions of Californians will linger for years, decades or perhaps even generations.

Nearly 3 million Californians lost their jobs due to the shutdown orders. While the state has, on paper, recovered all of the jobs it lost, countless small businesses that shut their doors have not reopened.

With work-at-home the growing norm, restaurants and other businesses dependent on concentrated employment were clobbered. The downtowns of the state's larger cities – including the state capital, Sacramento – were hollowed out and have not, in the main, recovered.

California's stark divide between haves and have-nots grew wider. Upper-income Californians could do their jobs from home but lower-income service workers simply lost their jobs. Some qualified for unemployment insurance, but a managerial meltdown at the state Employment Development Department delayed, sometimes for months, benefits for legitimate claimants while EDD handed out billions of dollars to fraudsters.

School shutdowns, and the fitful efforts to continue instruction via the internet, had a devastating effect on students, especially those from poor families which lacked technology and whose parents could not work from home. The "achievement gap" that has long plagued California's public school system widened even further, recent research has found.

Several new studies add even more evidence that the steps taken by the state to combat COVID-19 will have long-term negative impacts.

An analysis by The Associated Press, Stanford University's Big Local News project and Stanford education professor Thomas Dee determined that 234,000 students in 21 states vanished from public school enrollment rolls during the pandemic. More than half of them were in California.

Overall, in those states, enrollment dropped by about 700,000 students, but most of the decline could be explained by enrollments in private schools, movements to other states or shifts to at-home instruction. Of the remaining 234,000 absences for which there was no explanation, researchers said, 152,000 were in California.

The Public Policy Institute of California crunched the numbers and discovered that not only did COVID-19 kill about 100,000 Californians but that the state's life expectancy, which had been tied for the nation's highest with Hawaii at 80.9 years, has dropped by two years – the first such decline since World War II.

PPIC found that the higher death rate has disproportionately affected non-white Californians, particularly Blacks, 26% among Asian-Americans, and 17% among whites," the PPIC reported.

Finally, a new study UCLA Center for Health Policy Research found that Newsom's stay-at-home orders, affecting businesses, child care centers and school, created financial hardships that led to psychological distress and a sharp increase in turmoil and conflict, including domestic violence.

Some COVID-19 victims are experiencing long COVID, with lasting debilitating effects. California suffers from lingering effects as well.

the pandemic. The state social services department attributes the increase partially to a more flexible application process during the pandemic, while advocates like Silva also suggest the boost in aid made going through an application more worthwhile for eligible residents.

The loss of emergency allotments will be felt particularly hard by older and disabled people, many of whom have already seen their food aid eligibility reduced after a historic inflationary bump in January. In addition to wages, Social Security, unemployment benefits and disability payments all count as income for the person receiving food aid.

Tom McSpedden, a 69-year-old Citrus Heights resident with Type II diabetes, saw a nearly $60 decrease in his normal CalFresh allowance last month after getting a $109 increase in his monthly Social Security checks.

But he continued to get the pandemic CalFresh boosts, which kept the total food stamps on his benefits card at $281 that month – the maximum allowable aid for a single-person household.

In April, McSpedden's monthly CalFresh benefits will drop to roughly $50.

Nearly half of McSpedden's monthly $1,368 Social Security check goes toward renting a room; the rest is meticulously budgeted for his phone, car insurance, gas, the portion of insulin and medications that Medicare doesn't cover and bankruptcy payments.

"I don't have the $230 left over each month to compensate" for the drop in aid, he said. "I'm just not going to be able to afford food. It's that simple."

There isn't any plan to immediately backfill the loss.

The food banks association and other anti-poverty organizations have proposed that the state spend more than $2 billion providing a "ramp-down" of the extra benefits for five months after the federal boosts end.

But it's unclear whether the Legislature and Gov. Gavin Newsom's administration would agree on new spending as they seek to close a $23 billion budget deficit.

Advocates are also calling for the state to add its own funds to the regular food stamps program, to boost the minimum food aid grant from $23 to $50 with corresponding inflationary increases. Other ideas include expanding special CalFresh programs that provide extra dollars for those purchasing California-grown produce, or for certain Central Valley households who lack clean drinking water in their homes.

Those proposals are

"nowhere near approaching the $500 million a month that will be absent from people's budgets, dinner tables and California retailers as well," said Jared Call, senior advocate at the food policy organization Nourish California. "But our approach is, no tool in the toolbox should be unused."

The California Department of Social Services says it's warning households of the upcoming decline in aid and directing CalFresh recipients to food banks, which have received additional funding from both the state and federal governments in recent years.

The state's network of food banks continues to serve on average 1.5 times the number of clients as before the pandemic, Silva said.

The Sacramento Food Bank and Family Services, which provides food in the county McSpedden lives, averaged 150,000 clients a month before the pandemic, said community resource manager Lorena Carranza. In recent months, that number has been about 275,000.

But food distributions can't replace the flexibility of food stamps that many residents rely on.

With a special diet to manage his diabetes, McSpedden said food distribution boxes usually only contain a few items he can eat. He's loath to take a full box when others could use it, he said.

McSpedden worked for nearly three decades as a long-haul trucker until about 15 years ago, when a series of heart attacks ended that career and landed him in a hospital stay that wiped out his savings and retirement accounts.

"I've been in predicaments before," he said. "But this thing here with the extra food stamps, I have no idea. I'm looking into a tunnel with no light at the other end." ★

Mother Seeks Justice For Son

On June 20, 2022, my son, Robert Jenson, was left for dead at the corner of Fair Oaks Blvd. & El Camino Ave. after being struck by a hit-and-run driver around 9:10 p.m.

Numerous fliers were placed around the area, as well as monuments on poles and on a fence where he was killed, but someone kept taking them down. So, I decided to put a billboard up for all to see, hoping to find my only child's killer.

If anyone remembers seeing anything that evening, or has any information about the incident, please contact Lisa Wiley, below:

Legislation to Prohibit Homeless Encampments near Schools and Parks

Office of Assemblyman Josh Hoover

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On January 23, 2023, Assemblyman Josh Hoover (R-Folsom) announced the introduction of Assembly Bill 257, which would prohibit homeless encampments within 500 feet of schools, day-care centers, parks, and libraries.

“As our local communities work toward mental health and housing solutions on homelessness, it is critical that the Legislature act to ensure our most sensitive public spaces are kept safe,” said Assemblyman Hoover. “No parent should be afraid to let their kids walk to school or worry about finding needles in the park where their children play, but that is the current experience for far too many families across our state. This legislation would change that.”

Last year several cities in California, including Sacramento and Los Angeles, voted for similar measures at the local level. Since 2019 homelessness in Sacramento County has grown by 67%, recently surpassing San Francisco for the first time.

As a new member of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, Assemblyman Hoover also plans to propose an audit of statewide homelessness spending in the near future to provide more accountability and determine which programs are effective at reducing homelessness. ★

Disabled Person Parking Permits Must Be Renewed

DMV News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Department of Motor Vehicles highlighted new laws that started in 2023 and one of those require drivers 70 and older to renew their license in person at a DMV office.

In October 2020, Governor Gavin Newsom temporarily waived the California law requiring senior drivers to renew their licenses at a DMV field office and signed AB 174 in September 2021 to allow online or by mail renewals through the end of 2022.

The DMV is sending notices to Californians who have had their permanent Disabled Person Parking Placard for at least six years and asking them to confirm that they are still in need of one.

The DMV will not renew placards for people who do not respond. This renewal requirement is one provision of prior legislation, SB 611, enacted in 2017 to curb fraud and abuse of Disabled Person Parking Placards.

Drivers are now required to change into another available lane, when possible, to pass cyclists, building on the current requirement for drivers to give cyclists at least three feet of space when passing. The law also permits Class 3 e-bike riders to use approved bicycle paths and trails, bikeways, and bicycle lanes. In addition, starting on January 1, 2024, the law allows cyclists to cross an intersection when a walk sign is on.

This law exempts vehicles registered to veterans displaying specialized license plates from paying tolls on roads, bridges, highways, vehicular crossings, or other toll facilities. The exemption applies only to vehicles with license plates that are issued to a disabled veteran, Pearl Harbor survivor, prisoner of war, or to veterans who have received distinctions such as the Purple Heart or the Congressional Medal of Honor.

California state courts will stop sending notices to the DMV for license suspensions for failure to appear starting on January 1, 2023, while requiring the DMV to stop suspending licenses for failing to appear starting on January 1, 2027, to allow time to make computer programming changes. ★

Roll With It

Dear Dave,

The other day, my wife and I discovered a Thrift Savings Plan (TSP) we'd forgotten about for over 10 years from my time in the Army. There's a little over $3,200 in there. We're both in our thirties, and we're trying to save up our starter emergency fund in Baby Step 1 of your plan. We were wondering if we should withdraw the money and use it toward Baby Steps 1 and 2, or just leave it in there.

- Todd

Dave Ramsey Says

Dear Todd,

The best thing to do is roll the money over into an IRA. Otherwise you're going to be hit with a 10% penalty - plus your tax rate - and end up paying 30% to 40% of it to the government. That's kind of like asking, "Would it be a good idea to borrow $3,200 at 30% interest to pay off debt?" Of course not! That would be a really dumb idea. And in a sense, that's what you'd be doing by just taking the money out of the TSP.

It's not a ton of money, but conceptually, I hate the idea of giving the government 30% to 40% of my money just to get my money out. So yeah, do some research, find a good investment professional near you - one with the heart of a teacher - and roll it into an IRA.

Congratulations to you and your wife for deciding to take control of your money. And thank you for your service to our country, Todd. I hope this helped.

CASE NO. 34-2023-333998

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Lynn Michael Tompkins, deceased.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Michelle Tompkins, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Michelle Tompkins be appointed as personal representative(s) to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. 99 Types

Do you know a doggy dater, Houdini, or holiday saboteur? Stephanie Bailey highlights “99 Types of Guys” so you can decide whether you want to deal with any of these types. She is CEO of Miss-Adventures Love coaching sessions. On my POPPOFF Show she shared these guy types.

1. HOUDINI. This guy enters and leaves your life...disappearing and reappearing like a bad magic show. You wait with stressful anticipation wondering when he'll return or leave again.

2. NAME DROPPER. This guy will mention names of famous people/celebrities he “knows” or friends who have a lot of money to try to impress you. It makes him feel important and cool since he probably wasn't popular in high school or college.

3. EMOTIONALLY UNAVAILABLE. He's not emotionally ready to be in a relationship...most likely from a past hurt, but he will still lead women on as if he is. He guards his heart and keeps women at arm's length to avoid getting too emotionally involved.

4. MR IN-BETWEEN. This is a guy you have sex with and hangout in-between a breakup and your next relationship. He is usually someone you know that you call after a breakup who gladly helps you get your groove back. He's uncomplicated fun but no one you envision having a real relationship with.

5. DOGGIE DATER. This man l-o-v-e-s his dog a lot and will break dates with you in order to spend more time with Fido...even if his dog was happy in doggy day care all day getting attention. If he doesn't break dates, then he will insist on bringing his dog with him...only going to places his dog can go to.

6. I.M.M. (INTERNATIONAL MAN OF MYSTERY). You don't know what he does for a living. However, he lives a very lavish lifestyle. He wines and dines you, takes you on trips, buys you gifts, wears designer suits, drives expensive cars, but will never reveal what he does for a living.

7. THE BAND-AID MAN. This is the guy we think will change for us. If he's a player, cheater, or emotionally unavailable, we convince ourselves that we are different and we can magically “fix” him to be the “perfect” guy for us. All he has to do is spend time with us.

8. CHIVALROUS. This guy will open the car door or pull out your chair, and give you his coat if it's cold or rainy. He is all about making you feel special with his “old school” ways. Finally a good one.

9. YOGA MAN. You meet this man in a yoga class and he loves to practice a lot like you. He's sexy and way more bendy and flexible than you which makes you a bit turned off when you see him in yoga class.

10. HOLIDAY SABATEUR. He will breakup with you on a holiday like Valentine's Day, Christmas, Hanukkah, even your birthday or anniversary.

Financial Literacy Needs to be Taught in California Schools

Commentary by Alexis Fitzpatrick, Safe Credit Union

With more and more of our children failing to meet basic math skills, it's unfortunate but not surprising that so many adults struggle with achieving financial freedom.

Late last year, California released statewide test scores that revealed only 33 percent of students were able to meet the state's math standards – a drop of seven percent from 2019. Some of those results are undoubtedly due to challenges associated with the pandemic. But the statistic on its own is cause for concern and action.

Adding financial literacy to the state's education curriculum could help improve those numbers as well as prepare our youth for the financial realities of adulthood.

Financial literacy is an individual's ability to understand and make informed decisions regarding their finances. This includes knowledge of basic financial concepts such as budgeting, saving, investing, and managing debt. In today's world, financial literacy is more important than ever. Here are a few reasons why California students would benefit from a financial literacy course:

- Better Money Management: Financial literacy empowers individuals to manage their money effectively, enabling them to make informed decisions on spending, saving, and investing. It helps people understand the true cost of credit, set financial goals, and plan for future expenses.

- Avoid Financial Scams: Financial scams have become increasingly common. Research suggests that people who are financially literate are less likely to fall victim to them. Understanding basic financial concepts and being aware of common scams help individuals protect their money and avoid costly mistakes.

- Improved Credit Scores: Understanding the financial landscape can also have a positive impact on an individual's credit score, a metric used to determine one's ability to obtain credit. Understanding credit scores, how they are calculated, and how to maintain a good credit history can improve a person's chances of getting approved for loans, credit cards, and other financial products.

- Retirement Planning: With more and more Americans retiring at a later age, financial literacy can help students understand the importance of saving for retirement, and to choose the right investment options to ensure they have enough money to support themselves in their later years.

- Financial Independence: Financial literacy can help individuals become financially independent, reducing their dependence on credit, and enabling them to take control of their financial future. This can increase self-esteem, reduce stress and lead to greater overall happiness.

Despite its importance, financial literacy is often not taught in schools and quite frankly it should be. Two years ago I was hopeful when legislation was introduced to authorize a school district or charter school to incorporate a financial literacy program into an economics course offered by the local school districts. Sadly, the bill never even received a committee hearing.

This lack of basic skills not being taught in our schools is having serious consequences, particularly for younger generations who don't have the knowledge and skills needed to manage their finances effectively.

We must support legislation at the national, state, and local level to teach financial literacy and encourage individuals to take an active interest in their finances.

Financial literacy is crucial for individuals to achieve financial stability and independence. It enables individuals to make informed decisions about their finances, protect themselves from financial scams, and plan for their future. Making financial literacy a priority will help ensure that individuals have the knowledge and skills they need to manage their finances effectively, and to achieve their financial goals, leading to a sense of financial freedom.

CHP News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The California Highway Patrol (CHP) welcomed 82 new officers to the CHP family, during the graduation ceremony on February 17, 2023, at the CHP Academy in West Sacramento. Less than one year ago, the CHP launched its "Join the CHP 1,000" campaign, with the goal of hiring a 1,000 new officers. These newly graduated officers bring the CHP closer to attaining its goal.

"It's my honor to welcome these officers to the CHP and thank them for stepping up to serve our state," said Governor Gavin Newsom. "With a goal of hiring 1,000 new CHP officers in the coming years, we're investing in outreach to a diverse pool of candidates committed to protecting their fellow Californians and making a positive impact in our communities."

"The women and men of the CHP take great pride in the level of service we provide to the community," said Commissioner Sean Duryee. "It is imperative we bring on the next generation of exemplary officers to continue that tradition."
