CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - A summer of music has kicked off in Carmichael.

Last weekend's Community Band Festival presented two days of marches, pops and symphonic suites from almost 400 musicians. Hot on their heels, Carmichael Recreation and Park District Saturday concerts will begin on June 18.

Band Association presented 14 bands for a blow-out that has been a Carmichael tradition for more than 20 years. More than 800 pairs of applauding hands added to the percussion.

"We were happy so many people came out to support us," said festival organizer Grant Parker. "Musicians have been working hard, with few opportunities to rehearse during the pandemic. Some were not able to the occasion. They were so eager to play for live audiences. They've all missed that interaction-it just doesn't happen through Zoom or streamed performances. We're all looking forward to being back on June 3 and 4 next year."

Meantime, a summer-long musical feast awaits the community.

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County is actively engaged in multiple strategies to provide services that unhoused residents need to transition into safe, stable housing. In Fiscal Year 2021/2022 alone, we have invested nearly $50 million in homeless specific programs, services, shelter, re-housing and data infrastructure to serve our community, with funding from the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA), the Mental Health Services Act (MHSA) and the County's

General Fund, among others. Notable projects this year include:

Safe Stay community developments - providing on-site services, security and re-housing to move people from unsheltered homelessness into housing and other supportive services while providing much needed respite to the neighborhoods through a reduction in trash, tents, violence and blight.

Encampment Service teams: Comprised of Outreach navigators, re-housing staff and clinical staff to provide behavioral health assessments and referrals for those living in encampments.

Additional investment of the construction of Marisol Village – an affordable housing project slated to add an additional 116 units to the final project.

funding to greatly expand Coordinated Access (CAS), a powerful collaboration designed to ensure that homeless persons and persons at risk of homelessness are matched, as quickly as possible, with the services that will most effectively end their homelessness. This funding provides for increased coverage at 211, and new field-based staff to assist households into crisis support services and rehousing.

Landlord Engagement and Re-Housing Supports: conducting outreach and educational events to recruit landlords and expand the availability of rental units; investment in incentives such as sign-on bonuses, move-in assistance, vacancy loss payments, etc. to support landlord retention; and increasing flexible rental subsidies to improve the efficacy of voucher and homeless housing subsidy programs.

Funding 60 beds through December 2024 to support the Parkway Navigation team, prioritizing those exiting the portion of the Parkway between Interstate 5 and Highway 160. The Salvation Army will provide 24/7 staffing, food, laundry, case management and re-housing supports, with an annual goal of rehousing 180 people who previously lived on the Parkway.

Mental Health Services Act (MHSA) Housing Program adding 60 units that provide a continuum of interventions including homelessness prevention, flexible housing funds, rapid rehousing, and permanent supportive housing for persons experiencing both homelessness and mental health issues. These units are on top of a recent $27.3 million in No Place Like Home (NPLH) funding to build/ renovate 137 additional dedicated apartments. Another $9.5 million in NPLH funding is currently under State review to build an additional 37 dedicated apartments.

Sac County Artists Eligible for $10,000 in Grants

Sac County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The City of Sacramento's Office of Arts and Culture is now accepting applications for its $450,000 "Seeding Creativity" individual artists grant program.

The grant program will support 45 individual artists located within Sacramento County with $10,000 grants to create and/or present new work in the county during the grant

The Seeding Creativity grant program is funded through an award to the Office of Arts and Culture from the National Endowment for the Arts' federal American Rescue Plan dollars. Funds may be used to provide fees/stipends for artists to support services for specific project

In addition to grant funds, artists will receive one year of support programming to assist them in career building skills such as building entrepreneurial expertise, leveraging resources, deepening collaborations, developing portfolios and work samples, and crafting work statements.

All grantees are obligated to produce a project by the end of the grant period within one of four chosen pathways: Creation, performance/presentation, social impact and research. Emerging and mid-career artists with a three-year work history in visual, craft, media, design, performing and/or literary arts are encouraged to apply.

Applications close at 11:59 p.m. on June 20, 2022. A free virtual application workshop to review program goals, guidelines and help individuals apply will be held at 4:30 p.m. on May 18. Register on the City's website. The Office of Arts and Culture also provides one-on-one peer mentors to support artists in application preparation.

Applications for grants will be reviewed and scored by a diverse panel comprised of artists from throughout the country as well as community members.

Find more details on eligibility criteria, project pathways and grant program on the Office of Arts + Culture's website.

Drought Requires Changes

California Water Boards News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - In response to Governor Gavin Newsom's March 28 Executive Order the State Water Resources Control Board adopted an emergency water conservation regulation that will ensure more aggressive conservation by local water agencies across the state.

The new regulation bans irrigating turf at commercial, industrial, and institutional properties, such as grass in front of or next to large industrial or commercial buildings. The ban does not include watering turf that is used for recreation or other community purposes, water used at residences or water to maintain trees. The regulation also requires all urban water suppliers to implement conservation actions under Level 2 of their Water Shortage Contingency Plans.

In March 2022, the state's urban retail water suppliers reported average water use statewide that was nearly 19% greater than in March 2020, lowering the state's cumulative water savings since July 2021 to 3.7%. On May 23, 2022, Governor Newsom convened leaders from the state's largest urban water suppliers imploring them to take more aggressive action to combat drought.

"The severity of this drought requires all Californians to save water in every possible way," said Joaquin Esquivel, chair of the State Water Board. "The regulation compels water systems and local authorities to implement a range of additional critical conservation measures as we enter the hot and dry summer months."

Level 2 water shortage contingency plans are meant to address up to a 20% shortage of water supplies. In addition to implementing Level 2 actions, the regulation requires urban water suppliers to fast-track supply and demand assessments to plan for potential extended dry conditions.

Level 2 actions often include things such as: Limiting outdoor irrigation to certain days or hours; Increasing patrolling to identify water waste; Enforcing water-use prohibitions; Increasing communication about the importance of water conservation.

Some water suppliers already have imposed strong new restrictions on customers' water use in accordance with their drought management plans. However, about half of the state's 436 water suppliers (both urban water retailers and wholesalers) have not yet activated Level 2, and 36 have not submitted drought plans. The emergency regulation will require suppliers without drought plans to take certain conservation actions, such as conducting outreach to customers about conservation, restricting outdoor irrigation to two days a week and enforcing against wasteful water practices.

The approved regulation will be submitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for approval, which typically occurs within 10 calendar days. The ban on non-functional turf becomes effective upon OAL approval and the Level 2 requirements for urban water suppliers are proposed to take effect on June 10, 2022.

The regulation will give suppliers new options to reduce water waste if they choose to use them. A violation of the non-functional turf irrigation provision, for example, would be an infraction and subject to a fine of up to $500.

People who see water waste should report it at savewater.ca.gov.

The State Water Board's mission is to preserve, enhance and restore the quality of California's water resources and drinking water for the protection of the environment, public health and all beneficial uses, and to ensure proper allocation and efficient use for present and future generations.

California Saw 3.8% Increase in Used Car Purchases During COVID-19

Mike LaFirenza, Lattice Publishing

SAN DIEGO, CA (MPG) - Inflation has been the dominant story in the U.S. economy for most of the last year. Year-over-year increases in the Consumer Price Index have reached their highest levels in 40 years, with consumers paying more for expenses from food to housing to energy. And one of the categories that has consistently seen the highest price increases in this inflationary period is vehicles, both new and used.

While the early months of the COVID-19 pandemic saw lower demand for vehicles as people avoided travel and commuting, the vehicle market has rebounded strongly since the second half of 2020. COVID-related concerns and transitions to remote or hybrid work have put a dent in public transit ridership, and instead, more former transit users have opted to buy cars. Low interest rates, strong government stimulus, and a rebounding economy have given many households the wherewithal to make vehicle purchases.

A lingering challenge, however, has been supply. COVID-19 outbreaks over the last two years have disrupted global supply chains, and carmakers have been particularly hard hit. Obtaining parts like semiconductor chips has been more challenging, and backlogs at ports worldwide have made it harder to ship new vehicles. In total, manufacturers produced approximately 1.7 million fewer vehicles in 2021 than 2019, and with a limited number of new vehicles hitting the market, used models are selling at a significant premium.

According to data from the U.S.

Bureau of Economic Analysis, per capita annual spending on used cars jumped 10.9% between 2019 and 2020, from $460 to $510. This increase was the second highest single-year increase in nearly 25 years. The new vehicle market is historically prone to larger swings but spending on new vehicles only increased by about 2.1% from 2019 to 2020, from $870 to $889.

Car shoppers in some locations have felt the effects of these price increases more than others. Typically, residents of the central U.S. tend to spend the most on both new and used vehicles annually. Residents in these locations are typically more car-dependent because their rural geography puts more distance between people and communities. While residents of less car-oriented locations can spend less or put off vehicle purchases more easily, their car-dependent peers spend more, and now are carrying the extra burden of rising prices.

The data used in this analysis is from the U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis's Personal Consumption Expenditures. To determine the states with the biggest increase in used vehicle purchases during COVID-19, researchers at CoPilot calculated the percentage change in total used car spending between 2019 and 2020. In the event of a tie, the state with the greater total change in used car spending over the same period was ranked higher.

The analysis found that used car spending in California increased by 3.8% during the pandemic, a total change of $439.8M. Here is a summary of the data for California:

Percentage change in used car spending (2019-2020): +3.8% Total change in used car spending (2019-2020): +$439,800,000 Used car spending per capita (2020): $304 Used car spending per capita (2019): $292 For reference, here are the statistics for the entire United States:

Percentage change in used car spending (2019-2020): +11.3% Total change in used car spending (2019-2020): +$17,002,000,000 Used car spending per capita (2020): $510 Used car spending per capita (2019): $460

City of Sacramento in particular must remain focused on addressing issues together, taking into account our responsibility to constituents, stakeholders and our homeless neighbors.

The County and City of Sacramento have collaborated for the past several years to identify and pursue opportunities to partner on projects that will serve the homeless population in the most efficient and effective way possible. While there are many good ideas to address the immediate and long-term needs around homelessness, not every project

For example, the City and County were recently exploring a large site to potentially purchase and renovate as shelter with on-site wrap around services for people experiencing homelessness. After careful consideration, the County decided not to pursue the project for multiple reasons, including the cost of the real estate, the limitations imposed by the property owner that would interfere with provision of critical services and the relatively small number of people who would be served for such a large investment. The County has multiple sheltering projects under consideration for a similar or lesser amount of funding that will serve greater numbers of people over the long term and result in permanent exits from homelessness.

Critical to our success is the ability to partner with the City of Sacramento - and the other six cities in our jurisdiction - but also weighing the benefits and drawbacks of every dollar spent with the end goal of reaching every person experiencing homelessness. The County is ready to support projects and programs that are aligned with evidence-based approaches to addressing homelessness.

Sacramento is facing an unprecedented crisis of homelessness in our community. This crisis cannot be pinpointed to one specific cause, rather a myriad of complicated issues including a housing affordability gap, the impacts of COVID-19 and the overwhelming need for mental health and drug and alcohol rehabilitation services.

The Point-in-Time count results will likely show a significant increase in unhoused residents in Sacramento County. Now more than ever, the County and cities can work side by side to address this crisis. Together we are stronger, more effective and more capable of success.

Former Sacramento City Firefighter Convicted of Sexual Assault

Sacramento County District Attorney

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Christian Madrigal was convicted by a jury of assault with intent to rape and forcible digital penetration.

On April 13, 2015, the victim went out to celebrate her birthday with some friends. One of her friends was dating Christian Madrigal, who had just joined the City of Sacramento Fire Department. After their night out, the victim, the victim's friend who was dating Madrigal along with Madrigal went back to stay the night at Madrigal's apartment. While the victim was asleep on the couch, Madrigal forced himself on her and sexually assaulted her for several hours that night. The next morning, the victim reported the sexual assault to law enforcement and underwent a sexual assault examination. In 2018, detectives reinitiated the investigation and interviewed all of the witnesses who were present on the night of the sexual assault and the District Attorney's Crime Lab found that DNA on the victim's underwear was consistent with Madrigal's DNA.

Madrigal faces a maximum sentence of 14 years in prison. Sentencing is set for June 30, 2022, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 42 before the Honorable Allen Sumner.

Top Six Pollutants that Degrade California's Water Quality

Caltrans Press Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - As part of its "Let's Change This to That" public education campaign, Caltrans is sharing the top sources of stormwater pollution and ways to prevent them for contaminating California's waterways. As stormwater travels into storm drains, it captures pollutants from highways, streets, sidewalks and yards that flow into waterways. The top six pollutants have an outsized impact on the water quality of lakes, rivers, streams and the ocean, plus many are preventable through small actions Californians can take.

The following lists the top six pollutants and actions to stop them at the source:

Trash and litter: Properly secure items in truck beds and put trash and recycling in the correct bin; Sediments: Prevent soil erosion by using mulch in the garden, planting trees and shrubs, and sweeping driveways instead of hosing them off; Nutrients: Avoid overfertilizing lawns and plants and limit vegetation waste by keeping fallen leaves out of storm drains; Bacteria: Limit pet and RV waste by picking up after your pet and using appropriate RV dumping stations; Metals: Regularly check tire pressure, change oil and fluids, and use commercial car washes to prevent metals generated from vehicle, tire, and brake wear from ending up on highways; Pesticides: Use organic pesticides and properly dispose of unused portions.

Caltrans is tasked with managing stormwater runoff and mitigating pollution within its 350,000 acres of right of way, which includes more than 15,000 centerline miles of highways. This effort involves picking up roadside litter and clearing out storm drains to preserve roadway safety and drivability during all types of weather conditions.

Unlike water that goes down the sink or toilet in a home, stormwater is untreated and flows directly into lakes, rivers and other waterways. Stopping pollutants at the source is critical Caltrans' efforts to keep stormwater runoff clean

"Preventing stormwater pollution requires the help and support of every Californian, and it starts with keeping highways and roadways clean," said Steven Keck, Acting Director of Caltrans. "Californians must work together to take necessary steps to prevent pollution at the source and keep our waterways clean."

Summer is the peak season for recreation in and around local waterways. This year, as hot, dry weather is expected to intensify drought conditions throughout the state, Caltrans is amplifying water quality as a top priority.

During a drought, the state's lakes, rivers, and streams have lower water levels, which leads to a higher concentration of pollutants. By preventing a buildup of metals, trash and other pollutants on highways and roadways in dry conditions, Californians can help keep pollutants from traveling into local waterways during rainstorms.

The "Let's Change This to That" stormwater public education campaign is calling on Californians to pledge to do their part to keep stormwater clean. Visit CleanWaterCA. com to take the pledge and learn more about the sources and pathways of stormwater pollution.

"Let's Change This to That" is a three-year public education campaign led by Caltrans to raise awareness and increase understanding of the sources and pathways of stormwater pollution throughout California. The campaign provides resources for people who live, work, and play in California's unique communities to spur behavior change in a way that leads to improved water quality. The campaign complements Clean California, a three-year, statewide litter reduction and beautification program. For more information, visit CleanWaterCA.com.

California Expands Infant Formula Options for WIC Families

CDPH Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) -

To further support California families while supplies of infant formula remain limited, the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) is adding a new flexibility by expanding purchasing options for the WIC (Women, Infants and Children) program. Effective immediately, families with WIC benefits have eight additional formulas, and a total of 13 options, they can purchase for their infants.

WIC families can find the latest updates at MyFamily. WIC.ca.gov or the California WIC App and should contact their local WIC office with questions on how these options work for infants. General information on the infant formula shortage is available at cdph.ca.gov/formula.

"We are quickly doing what we can to provide our WIC families with as many infant formula options as possible during this challenging time," said CDPH Director and State Public Health Officer Dr. Tomás J.

shortage. Safe formula preparation is vital to ensure infant safety. Photo courtesy by Ben Kerckx from Pixabay

Aragón. "In the coming days we will also add more formulas to this list."

The state's action temporarily expands the existing (WIC) authorized product list to include additional infant formula options. These newer options will be removed once infant formulas are widely available again.

Safety Information for Families in Need of Formula

Many California families are feeling the effects of the formula shortage. Safe formula preparation is vital to ensure infant safety.

Non-WIC parents and caregivers who face a shortage should call their health care providers first to help them navigate infant formula options when supplies are scarce.

Parents and caregivers are advised to NOT dilute formula or use homemade recipes for substitution as this can seriously harm a baby's health.

Babies usually tolerate alternative formula products except in the case of special therapeutic formula, and that's why it's important to consult with your healthcare provider first to get help or to discuss alternatives.

As Drought Persists, Water Rights on Agenda

By Dan Walters CALMatters.org

As a third year of drought continues, California officialdom is increasing pressure for more water conservation.

Last week, the state Water Resources Control Board imposed a statewide ban on watering of "non-functional" turf, such as grass around commercial buildings, and directed local water agencies to implement water use restrictions.

"California is facing a drought crisis and every local water agency and Californian needs to step up on conservation efforts," Gov. Gavin Newsom said in a supportive statement.

Despite the official ballyhoo, last week's actions were tepid at best, stopping well short of the mandatory reductions that Newsom's predecessor, Jerry Brown, imposed during a previous drought.

It appears that Newsom, running for re-election, does not want to be the guy who tells Californians they can't water their lawns as much as they would like. He'd rather leave it to local water officials to crack down.

However, no matter how they are framed, the new directives are highly unlikely to have more than a marginal impact on California's increasingly dire water shortage for the simple reason that residential use is a relatively tiny factor in the water equation. California's largest-in-thenation agricultural industry is by far the largest user of developed and managed water supplies.

The larger question is whether the state is doing anything to confront the longer-term gap between water supply and water demand as climate change alters precipitation patterns. Conservation will help, particularly more efficient use of agricultural water, but we need more storage, such as the long-delayed Sites Reservoir, to take advantage of wet years.

Newsom's latest budget proposal claims to make big investments in improving water security, but most of the money would go to small-scale projects that tinker on the margins. It proposes just a half-billion additional dollars for water storage while dumping several billion more dollars into the state's ill-conceived and ill-managed bullet train project.

If we're serious about dealing with semi-permanent drought conditions, the most important – and the most controversial – step would be to reconsider how limited supplies are allocated among agriculture, urban users and flows needed to support endangered species such as salmon.

By necessity, such a comprehensive approach – more or less starting with a clean sheet of paper – would require a fresh look at the state's bewilderingly complex water rights.

Those who hold such rights consider them to be sacrosanct. But drought is so severe that even senior rights holders are feeling the pinch, as CalMatters writer Rachel Becker details in a recent article on drought's impacts in the Sacramento Valley.

Reconsideration of water rights seems to be gaining momentum in water policy circles.

A water policy paper issued by the state Senate leadership this month proposes that the state purchase rights from agricultural holders to provide more water for habitat improvement as part of a $7.5 billion plan "to build a climate resilient water system."

As the state water board was pushing for more conservation last week, a coalition of Indian tribes and environmental groups demanded that it become more aggressive about enforcing water quality standards in the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta "and restructure water rights as necessary to implement these standards."

The demand cites the history of white settlers appropriating water supplies from native peoples in the 19th century and suggests that water rights can be reconfigured under the state constitution's provision that only "reasonable use" of water is legal.

The water board had been considering such direct action, but put it on hold while the Newsom administration has attempted to forge so-called "voluntary agreements" that would divert more water from agriculture to enhance river flows.

Allergies or COVID? Emergency Physicians Explain How to Tell the Difference

Commentary by Steve Arnoff, ACEP

WASHINGTON, D.C. (MPG) - The spring-time sniffles are here, and it can be tricky to determine whether common symptoms are due to COVID-19 or seasonal allergies. The American College of Emergency Physicians (ACEP) offers tips to distinguish between the two and determine when symptoms become an emergency.

"It can be confusing to figure out whether your symptoms are allergies or something worse," said Gillian Schmitz, MD, FACEP, president of ACEP. "Some symptoms of COVID and allergies overlap, but there are a few clear signs that indicate a COVID infection."

A quick quiz can help you determine whether you have COVID-19 or seasonal alleroies:

Do you have a fever? Seasonal allergies do not typically include a fever. It is possible to get COVID without a fever. But, when the body temperature is unusually high, it's often a sign of illness rather than allergy.

Do you typically have allergies? It's understandable to be concerned about COVID, but if the season reliably brings familiar symptoms like an itchy or runny nose, sneezing, or watery eyes, it's likely allergies flaring up again. COVID symptoms can overlap but often include additional signs of concern. The duration of symptoms is important, too. COVID symptoms last about a week but could have longer-term effects, while allergies tend to stick around for months.

Are your symptoms more than coughing or sneezing? Some of the most common COVID symptoms are consistent with allergies or a cold and can include a sore throat or runny nose. A likely sign of COVID is the addition of one or more symptoms, including body aches, fatigue, nausea, stomach problems or diarrhea, or loss of taste or smell.

People with COVID may feel short of breath or have difficulty breathing, but seasonal allergies don't usually cause breathing issues unless there's an underlying respiratory condition, such as asthma, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Are you taking avoidable risks? Even without symptoms, it is helpful to continue to wear a mask, social distance, and get vaccinated to decrease the chances of getting sick and slow the spread of COVID.

Stay home if you are sick, whether it is with COVID or another illness and contact a primary care physician when symptoms are mild to discuss treatment options. It is time to visit the closest emergency department or call 911 for any medical emergency, such as trouble breathing or shortness of breath, when illness become severe, or there is a high risk of illness or complications due to age or preexisting conditions.

To stay safe, visit a testing site or take an at-home COVID test when symptoms start. Free at-home tests are available to order from the government on COVID. gov or they can be purchased at retailers or pharmacies.

"We should all continue to take every precaution to prevent the spread of COVID," said Dr. Schmitz. "The best way to clear up doubt is to get tested for COVID when worrisome symptoms appear."

CAL FIRE Awards Nearly $118 Million in Wildfire Prevention Grants

CAL FIRE News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - As part of California's strategy to prepare properties and communities against the devastating impacts of wildfires, CAL FIRE announced it will direct nearly $118 million in funding for 144 local wildfire prevention projects across the

"Drought conditions have once again taken ahold of California and are already contributing to another year of early fire activity," said Joe Tyler, CAL FIRE Director and Fire Chief. "This funding is a critical part of our overall wildfire strategy."

CAL FIRE's Wildfire Prevention Grants enable local organizations like fire safe councils, to implement activities that address the hazards of wildfire and reduce wildfire risk to communities. Funded activities include hazardous fuel reduction, wildfire prevention planning, and wildfire prevention education. These projects all meet the goals and objectives of California's Wildfire and Forest Resilience Action Plan, as well as the Strategic Fire Plan for California.

In Los Angeles County, the San Gabriel Valley Council of Governments is one of many organizations receiving funding towards wildfire prevention efforts. Their project will work towards developing a Regional Wildfire Protection Plan that will help to protect over 31 cities and communities, 22 of which are identified as "Communities at Risk". In Lake County, a grant has been awarded to the Robinson Rancheria Band of Pomo Indians for a hazardous fuels reduction project in the wildland-urban interface that will incorporate professional training as well as a community outreach and education campaign to increase awareness of defensible space and fuels management. In El Dorado County, a grant has been awarded to the El Dorado Fire Safe Council for a project that will assist residents with hazardous tree removal to slow the spread of the bark beetle infestation. The project will also assist with removing stressed and injured trees damaged by the Caldor Fire.

'These 144 local wildfire prevention projects, along with the 105 projects we just funded in September 2021, will significantly increase California communities' preparedness towards wildfires," said Chief Daniel Berlant, CAL FIRE Deputy Director of Community Wildfire Preparedness and Mitigation.

The Wildfire Prevention Grants Program is funded as part of the State's Wildfire and Forest Resilience Strategy, in part with Cap-and-Trade auction proceeds administered by the California Climate Investments (CCI) Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund, CCI is a statewide program that puts billions of Cap-and-Trade dollars to work reducing greenhouse gas emissions, strengthening the economy, and improving public health and the environment - particularly in disadvantaged communities. For more information about CAL FIRE's other CCI programs, please visit CAL FIRE

These grants are part of the Governor's unprecedented $1.5 billion investment in wildfire resilience. The Governor's Wildfire Resilience initiative has launched 588 projects to date, in addition to projects to be funded by these grants.

DWR Offers Grants to Protect Communities, Support Fish Populations and Restore Streams

DWR News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG)

The Department of Water Resources (DWR) on Wednesday, June 1, released the final Guidelines and Proposal Solicitation Package for the Riverine Stewardship Program, which provides funding to plan and implement projects that will reduce flooding, improve water quality, and restore streams, creeks, and rivers to enhance the environment for fish, wildlife, and people.

As communities and wildlife alike face challenges posed by climate extremes and California's ongoing drought conditions, the program will award up to $15 million in competitive grants to implement projects that help reduce flood risk, increase water supply, and enhance and restore fish populations and habitat. The funding will be delivered through the Riverine Stewardship Program and its two subprograms the Urban Streams Restoration Program (USRP) and the San Joaquin Fish Population Enhancement Program.

All three programs will help support watersheds, local wildlife, and aquatic habitat. Eligible projects include habitat restoration, bank stabilization, water temperature improvements and habitat enhancements to increase water supply reliability to help fish adapt to climate change.

"Climate change is driving multiple threats to California including the severe drought conditions that challenge our communities and fish populations alike," said DWR Director Karla Nemeth. "This funding supports a local and state partnership to make our communities and their streams more drought resilient for people and fish."

Both the Riverine Stewardship Program and San Joaquin Fish Population Enhancement Program are funded by Proposition 13, while the Urban Streams Restoration Program is funded by Proposition 68, 84, and state budget general

During the 2019 solicitation, DWR awarded $54.4 million in competitive grants to 20 projects that improve habitat and spawning conditions for fish species, reduce flood risk to property and local communities, and more. The Urban Streams Restoration Program, which has funded projects for 35 years, recently celebrated ribbon cutting ceremonies for previously completed restoration projects located in Santa Barbara, Berkeley, and Santa Rosa.

Applications will be accepted starting June 1, 2022, and funding is available for Tribes, local public agencies, and certified non-profits as specified in the program guidelines and proposal solicitation package. Other applicant types such as community groups will be considered on a case-by-case basis. For-profit corporations, non-public entities, and individual landowners are not eligible. The released guidelines will also address future funding that may become available to DWR through the 20222023 Budget Act to address drought resilience and aquatic habitat improvements.

The Urban Streams Restoration Program also provides funding and technical assistance for public engagement, outreach, and underrepresented community support. DWR encourages community participation in project design and implementation to promote educational opportunities to community members of all ages and increase understanding of the project's benefits.

For more information about upcoming grant opportunities, visit DWR's Grants and Loans webpage.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF RICHARD LAMM CASE NO. 34-2022-00318372

To all heirs, beneficiaries, credi tors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be other-wise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Richard Lamm, deceased.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Emily Calanchini, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Emily Calanchini be appointed as personal representatives to administer the estate of the

The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The indepen dent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows August 23, 2022, 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129

YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written obections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. What Do You Want To Do?

Dear Dave.

My husband and I are in our mid-twenties, and we are expecting our first baby this year. We are also debt-free, except for our mortgage, and we expect to have it paid off in about four years. It has always been our dream for me to stay home with our kids, and maybe even homeschool them, when the time was right. My husband makes more than enough for us to live on, so we have always put the paychecks from my human resources job toward paying off the house. What do you think, Dave? I kind of hate to give up the income, but I want to do what is best for my family.

-Ann

Dear Ann,

First, congratulations on expecting a new baby! I know it's an exciting time in your lives. It sounds like you two have been killing it financially as well. You've both worked hard great future.

Honestly, there's no wrong answer here. Under the circumstances, the big question is what do you want to do? Of course, the final decision should be made by you and your husband together, but you're doing the smart thing by analyzing the trade-off. By that, I mean comparing the ideas of continuing to bring judgey. extra cash to the household or being at home with your baby.

If you love your job and want to continue those duties full-time, it doesn't make you a bad mom. It just makes you a working mom. But if you're in a season of life where you don't need a career income or workplace identity to be fulfilled, or if you just want to be home with your child, that's a really cool thing, too. And hey, if you like your job, there's no reason vou couldn't perform some HR functions from home on a contract basis, like 20 to 25 hours a week while the little one's napping, with minimal strain on motherhood.

Even if you quit today and it takes a couple more years for you guys to pay off your house, so what? It's still not a bad choice. The bad thing Solutions.

to set yourselves up for a is, lots of ladies end up with mom-guilt no matter what they do. They feel guilty if they're not staying home with the little one, and they feel guilty if they aren't generating an income. Society wants you to be everything, and when you choose to be one or the other, it doesn't know what to do with you – and lots of times becomes really

> You're blessed to be in a unique financial situation, Ann. So, do what you and your husband feel in your hearts is best for you and your family. Sit down together and talk about it, then make a plan and don't worry about what the world thinks. God bless you guys!

Comment on Another Grim Small Business Optimism Report

NFIB Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The April 12, 2022 release of the latest Small Business Economic Trends report (aka the Optimism Index) wasn't expected to have any good news, and it didn't disappoint.

"What our latest Optimism Index showed is that there is little optimism along the Main Streets of America that the economy is going to improve any time soon," said John Kabateck, California state director for the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB), which produces the monthly Optimism Index. The Index is a national snapshot not broken down by state.

"The California Legislature is on Spring Recess this week, and I suggest that they make an extra effort to meet with some of the small-business owners in their districts and listen to what they have to say," said Kabateck. "Maybe upon their return to Sacramento they can put the brakes on proposals that will put the small-business economy in even more dire straits, such as upending the longstanding process for settling workers' compensation claims or ruining the highly successful fast-food franchise model that has created untold thousands of jobs for decades. Small businesses have already dodged a couple of bullets this year by the failures of mandatory vaccine requirements and universal health-care scheme to advance, but lawmakers must stop sending the wrong signals again and again."

Key findings from the new Index

Owners expecting better business conditions over the next six months decreased 14 points to a net negative 49%, the lowest level recorded in the 48-year-old survey; Forty-seven percent of owners reported job openings that could not be filled, a decrease of one point from February; The net percent of owners raising average selling prices increased four points to a net 72% (seasonally adjusted), the highest reading in the survey's history.

From NFIB Chief Economist Bill

"Inflation has impacted small businesses throughout the country and is now their most important business problem. With inflation, an ongoing staffing shortage, and supply chain disruptions, small business owners remain pessimistic about their future business conditions."

You cannot have guns, firearms, or ammunition. If the box in item 5a is checked, the court issued a temporary restraining order, which means you cannot own, have, possess, buy or try to buy, receive or try to receive, or otherwise get guns, other fire-arms, or ammunition while the order is in effect. If you do, you can go to jail and pay a $1,000 fine. You must sell to, or store with, a licensed gun dealer or tum in to a law enforcement agency any guns or other firearms that you have or control. The judge will ask you for proof that you did so. If you do not obey this order, you can be charged with a crime. Federal law says you cannot have guns or ammunition while the order is in effect.

Service of order by mail. If the judge makes a restraining order at the hearing that has the same orders as in this form, you will get a copy of that order by mail at your last known address, which is written in item 2. If this address is not correct. or to find out if the orders were made permanent; contact the court.

Instruction for Law Enforcement Applicable only if the box in item 5a is checked.

Enforcing the restraining order. This order is effective when made. It is enforceable in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, all tribal lands, and all U.S. territories, commonwealths, and possessions and shall be enforced as if it were an order of that jurisdiction by any law enforcement agency that has received the order, is shown a copy of the order, or has verified its existence on the California Law Enforcement Telecommunications (CLETS). If proof of service on the restrained person has not been received and the restrained person was not present at the court hearing, the law enforcerestrained person of the terms of the order and then shall enforce Conflicting orders Priorities for Enforcement.

If more than one restraining order has been issued protecting the protected person from the restrained person, the orders must be enforced in the following order (see Pen. Code, § 136.2 and Fam. Code, §§ 6383(h)(2), 6405(b)):

1. EPO: If one of the orders is an Emergency Protective Order (form EPO-001) and it is more restrictive than other restraining or protective orders, it has precedence in enforcement over all other orders.

2. No-Contact Order: If there is no EPO, a no-contact order that is included in a restraining or protective order has precedence in enforcement over any other restraining or protective order.

3: Criminal Order: If none of the orders includes a no-contact order a domestic violence protective order issued in a criminal case takes precedence in enforcement over any conflicting civil court order. Any nonconflicting terms of the civil restraining order remain in effect and enforceable.

Family, Juvenile, or Civil Order: If more than one family, juvenile, or other civil restraining or protective order has been issued, the one that was issued last must be enforced.

Certificate of Compliance with VAWA for Temporary Orders This temporary protective or-der meets all full faith and credit requirements of the Violence Against Women Act, 18 U.S.C. § 2265 (1994) (VAWA) upon notice of the restrained person. Citrus Heights Teen Killed in Carmichael Shooting

By Shaun Holkko, assistant editor

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - A Citrus Heights teenager was found dead following a shooting at a large apartment complex party in the 4400 block of Manzanita Avenue in Carmichael on May 28.

According to the Sacramento County Sheriff's Office, 911 calls began incoming at 1:15 a.m. in the early hours of Saturday morning, May 28. The victim was identified as 17-year-old Mesa Verde High School 11th grader Antonio Rocha by the school's Principal Jennifer Petersen.

Sac County Sheriff's deputies arrived on scene at The Continental Apartments complex and found Rocha suffering from a gunshot wound. He was later pronounced dead at the scene by Sac Metro Fire and there is currently no suspect as the investigation is still ongoing according to the sheriff's office.

This is not the first time a minor has been shot and killed at a complex on the 4400 block of Manzanita Avenue. In 2018, a 16-year-old was shot and killed by a 13-year-old on the same block according to the sheriff's office.

A GoFundMe page has been set up by Rocha's godfather to help support the family with funeral service costs. The fundraiser has currently raised over $23,000. According to the page, Rocha was a two-sport athlete who played football and wrestling.

Those with information are encouraged to call the Sac County Sheriff's Office at (916) 874-5111. For those with information who want to remain anonymous, call the Sacramento Valley Crime Stoppers at (916) 443-HELP (4357).

National Study of Pregnant Women Finds Increase in Chemical Exposure

UC Davis Health News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - A national 12-year study that enrolled a highly diverse group of pregnant women, including women in the Sacramento region, found rising exposure to chemicals from plastics and pesticides that may be harmful to development.

"This is the first time we've been able to measure the amounts of chemicals in such a large and diverse group of pregnant women – not just identify chemicals," said Tracey J. Woodruff, senior author of the paper. Woodruff is a professor and director of the UC San Francisco Program on Reproductive Health and the Environment and co-director of the UCSF EaRTH Center.

The results of the study, which included co-authors from UC Davis Health, were published May 10, 2022, in Environmental Science & Technology.

Prenatal exposure to industrial chemicals can come from air, food, water, plastics, and other industrial and consumer products. Although these chemicals could be harmful to pregnancy and child development, few of these chemicals are routinely monitored in people.

All Participants had Chemical Exposure

To determine exposure, researchers measured 103 chemicals, mostly from pesticides, plastics, and "replacement chemicals," new forms of chemicals that were banned or phased out, like bisphenol A (BPA) and phthalates. Certain phthalates have been identified as neurotoxic chemicals that can harm child brain development and increase children's risks for learning, attention, and behavioral disorders.

All participants had chemical exposure, and several compounds were detected in all 171 participants. More than 80% of the chemicals were found in at least one of the women in the study, and more than a third of the chemicals were found in a majority of the participants. The study also found that some of these chemicals were present in higher amounts than seen in earlier studies.

The multi-institutional study included 171 women from California, Georgia, Illinois, New Hampshire, New York, and Puerto Rico who are part of the National Institutes of Health Environmental influences on Child Health Outcomes program. About one-third (34%) were white, 40% were Latina, 20% were Black, and the remaining 6% were from other or multiple groups.

Latinas had Higher Levels of Exposure

The study found higher exposures for non-white women, those with lower educational attainment, or who were single or had been exposed to tobacco. Latinas had especially high levels of parabens, which are used as preservatives, as well as phthalates and bisphenols, which are used in plastics.

"While pesticides and replacement chemicals were prevalent in all women, we were surprised to find that Latinas had substantially higher levels of parabens, phthalates and bisphenols," said Jessie Buckley, associate professor of environmental health and engineering, as well as of epidemiology, at Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health and first author of the study.

"This could be the result of higher exposures to products with chemicals, such as processed foods or personal care products," Buckley said. "Our findings make clear that the number and scope of chemicals in pregnant women are increasing during a very vulnerable time of development for both the pregnant person and the fetus."

Many of the chemicals the women had been exposed to were replacement chemicals, which may turn out to be just as harmful as the ones they replaced. The study also found many women had been exposed to neonicotinoids, a widely used insecticide that is toxic to bees

"Exposure to chemicals in the environment is inevitable because they are used widely. We know some of the chemicals cause harm, but for some of the ones being measured for the first time, all we can say with certainty is that exposure to these compounds is occurring. More work needs to be done to determine potential risks," explained Deborah Bennett, a co-author of the study. Bennett is a professor of environmental health in the UC Davis School of Medicine Department of Public Health Sciences. She helped identify which chemicals to track.

"Exposures are generally low, so pregnant moms should continue to live their lives and not be too concerned," Bennett said. According to Bennett, there are steps people can take to help limit chemical exposures.

"Cook at home using fresh or frozen ingredients – rather than processed or packaged foods – when possible," Bennett said. She also recommends avoiding pesticides and controlling household pests without chemicals. "People can also learn which personal care products have fewer harmful chemicals by checking with organizations such as the Environmental Working Group."

Many of the children in this study will be followed as part of the Environmental influences on NIH Child Health Outcomes (ECHO) program study.

Bennett is leading a separate study funded by the Environmental Protection Agency that is looking at children's exposure to chemicals in household dust. Bennett and her team will track more than 80 chemicals in dust collected from participating homes, including many plasticizers, flame retardants and environmental phenols.

Capitol Democrats Again Reject Lower Gas Prices

Assembly Republicans News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On May 25, 2022, Assembly Republicans gathered in front of a local gas station ahead of a pivotal vote to suspend the gas tax. For the third time this year, Democrats struck down any efforts to lower gas prices as they continue to escalate. Ahead of Memorial Day weekend travel, Republicans wanted to put forward a bipartisan solution that would have passed on savings to consumers at the pump, though Democrats continued to play party politics and were not in favor of hearing this legislation on the floor.

Assembly Republican Leader James Gallagher (R-Yuba City) was joined by colleagues Assemblyman Kevin Kiley (R-Rocklin), Assemblywoman Laurie Davies (R- Laguna Niguel), Assemblyman Steven Choi (R-Irvine), and Assemblyman Thurston Smith (R-Apple Valley) in front of a Sacramento gas station to discuss bipartisan proposal AB 2547 ahead of a vote on the Assembly floor that took place this morning. This legislation would have suspended the gas tax for one year and require that all revenue generated by the tax be passed on directly to the consumer.

Assembly Members of the Republican Caucus released the following statements:

"This morning we are here to talk about the gas prices and much-needed relief California families need. As Republicans, we have been pushing for a gas tax suspension since the beginning, when we introduced a bill in January and pushed for a vote and brought a vote to the floor... we need to provide this relief. People have waited far too long... we are now on day 77 of the Governor promising to provide gas tax relief. The good news is, there's been a bipartisan measure that's been introduced, AB 2457, which has both Democrats and Republicans who have signed on. We are going to bring it to the floor and vote on it now. We are not going to wait any longer." -Assembly Republican Leader James Gallagher

"Yesterday, Joe Biden celebrated high gas prices as we make our 'incredible transition'. Apparently, it's more incredible here in California than anywhere else as our gas prices climb to astronomic levels... our caucus is fighting to reverse the tide. We are fighting to make sure people can stay and build a career, raise a family, and retire. We are ready to meet our colleagues on the other side of the aisle when they are ready to work on real solutions. That starts today, this morning, when we will give them another chance to vote on suspending the gas tax."—Assemblyman Kevin Kiley

"When Republicans first proposed suspending the gas tax on January 12, gas prices were just $4.58 on average in California according to AAA...if you tally up how much Californians would have saved since then if we had enacted the gas tax suspension, that number comes to about $2,400 dollars per person. If you are looking at a family, that number nearly doubles. That's a far cry from the small checks the Governor has been proposing to send. Californians deserve better. In some parts of the state, gas is nearly $8 a gallon. That is unacceptable and unsustainable for our communities... enough is enough." -Assemblywoman Laurie Davies

"Legislative Democrats continue to delay while Californians struggle to pay. Why hide behind process, deadlines, and blame, when we can take action today by using a small portion of the Governor's nearly 100 billion dollars of budget surplus to temporarily suspend the gas tax and lower gas prices by over 50 cents immediately? How many more gas price records does California have to break before Legislative Democrats take action? How much longer can we ask hardworking families to choose between filling up their gas tank or buying groceries? I emphatically urge the Legislature to suspend the gas tax and give these families a 50 cent break now. Today is the time to pass AB 2457." Assemblyman Steven Choi, Ph.D.

Cougars' Season Ends in First Round of NorCal Finals

Story by Shaun Holkko, sports editor

CONCORD, CA (MPG) - A magical season for the Del Campo High School varsity baseball team came to an end Tuesday afternoon in the Bay Area with a 9-3 loss at De La Salle in the first round of the 2022 CIF Division I NorCal Baseball Championships.

The Cougars (29-6, 13-2 Golden Empire League) were elevated to Division I for the Northern California tournament after winning the CIF Sac-Joaquin Section Division III Baseball Playoffs Championship on May 25 against Vanden (29-6, 13-2 Monticello Empire) of Fairfield.

Del Campo was moved up to D1 as part of the CIF's "competitive equity" model, factoring in a team's overall resume. The Cougars earned impressive wins against eventual CIF SJS D2 champion Granite Bay on March 22 and CIF SJS D1 runner-up McClatchy on April 30.

The Cougars were given the No. 8 seed in the NorCal tournament and were matched up against the No. 1 seed De La Salle Spartans (25-6, 11-2 East Bay), who won their fifth straight North Coast Section D1 title this year. The Spartans jumped out to a 6-0 lead after the first inning and never looked back.

Following the first inning, each time Del Campo scored, De La Salle would match it, erasing any momentum the Cougars may have been gaining. Del Campo got on the scoreboard in the top of the second inning, scoring once. The Spartans answered with one run in the bottom of the third. The Cougars scored twice in the fifth, followed by De La Salle scoring twice in the sixth. The Spartans went on to win 9-3, ending Del Campo's season.

Despite losing by six runs, the Cougars outhit the Spartans 11-10. Four Del Campo batters had multiple hits. Senior catcher Logan McCord had a game-high with three. Senior outfielder Jordan Jacobson and juniors, shortstop Anthony Martinez and center fielder Matt Moses had two each. In McCord's final game as a Cougar, he recorded three hits (two doubles), one run batted in and one run scored in four at bats. Before moving on to play collegiately at Sacramento State, Jacobson tallied two hits, including one double, in four plate appearances.

Senior pitcher Hayden Hughes suffered the loss on the mound in his final start for Del Campo. The 6-foot-1 flamethrower, who will be attending Sierra College in the fall, pitched 2.1 innings allowing five hits, seven runs (three earned), four walks, two stolen bases, one hit by pitch and one balk on 58 pitches. Senior Thomas Martinez came on to pitch two innings in relief and allowed four hits, two earned runs and one walk on 30 pitches.

De La Salle senior pitcher Tyler Wood got the win after pitching four innings, allowing five hits, two earned runs, one walk and one HBP with two strikeouts on 66 pitches. Three Spartans racked up two RBI each: Seniors, third baseman Cade Cushing and second baseman Alec Nava, and junior catcher Connor Harrison.

On Thursday, June 2, De La Salle defeated its league rival, No. 4 Foothill (26-5, 10-3 EB) of Pleasanton, in the regional semifinals of the tournament 5-1. The Spartans narrowly beat No. 2 Saint Francis (31-5, 12-2 West Catholic) of Mountain View in the regional final 7-6 to win the D1 NorCal Championship.
