churchgoers at City Hall in Rancho Cordova. Even though she has only a son surviving, Barbara was called "mother" by almost everyone at the gathering.

Married for 63 years to California State manager Robert Holman, she worked as a mom, a food manager for AT&T and later followed her husband into church life when Holman became Pastor for Christ Temple Apostolic Church, Sacramento. "She worked hard," says her son Robert Holman, Jr (81). "Mom's always been

Is the EDD Pulling a Pandemic Scam?

By Thomas Buckley, California Globe

Despite already owing the federal government billions, and despite state businesses already paying a surcharge to cover that debt, the Employment Development Department (EDD) will be borrowing even more federal money to cover costs for the foreseeable future.

In other words, the additional tax money supposedly being paid to cover the debt caused by the pandemic and the related fraud is not actually doing that and will not do so for some time. Instead, the moment those extra dollars are used to pay down the debt they will be borrowed back by the EDD.

That means the current EDD unemployment insurance (UI) trust fund debt of $17.6 billion dollars will grow to about $20.3 billion by the end of 2024, despite the extra $1.2 billion dollars in extra taxes, according to the agency's May UI Fund Forecast released today.

Originally, the EDD had estimated it would take only seven years to pay the debt and end the ever-growing surcharge on businesses. MPG file photo

And that's because the EDD expects to pay out about $2.6 billion in benefits and overhead that it will get in the next two years.

The EDD's forecast could mean that California employers will end up paying an extra $1,500 or so total per employee over the next decade or so. The rate increases each year – this year it's $21 and it will increase by $21 per year (plus additional increases starting in a few years) until it hits $420 per year per employee, which it will almost certainly do.

Originally, the EDD had estimated it would take only seven years to pay the debt and end the ever-growing surcharge on businesses; based on the latest forecast, any reasonable assessment would now push that window out to at least 10, possibly up to 15 years (N.B – I don't know why I just thought of high speed rail...)

As the debt will grow over the next few years, the money meant to pay it down will not do so until the surcharge income rises high enough to actually exceed the borrowing. That debt, by the way, can exist for as long as the EDD wants to keep borrowing.

Seriously.

Imagine a credit card without a limit or payment

K9 Safely Apprehends Burglar with Multiple Felony Warrants

Sacramento County Sheriff's Dept. News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - On July 7, 2023, the Sacramento County Sheriff's Department announced that Gonzalo Aguilar, who was originally wanted by the California Department of Corrections for a parole violation, has been arrested. Aguilar had multiple felony warrants and an extensive violent criminal history.

During a call for service, deputies attempted to contact Aguilar, when he tried to flee on foot. He ended up forcing entry into a home while the homeowners were still inside. Fortunately, the homeowners ran out of the house to safety, and our deputies were able to surround it quickly. Even after multiple announcements for Aguilar to surrender himself, he refused to exit.

Sheriff K9s began a search of the residence, when they discovered him hiding in the garage between a car and the wall. The K9 safely apprehended him, when he was taken into custody and booked into the Sacramento County Main Jail for burglary, along with his previous charges.

Law enforcement K9s are invaluable to deputies and officers throughout the state. As California lawmakers continue to allow dangerous criminals like Aguilar to roam the streets freely, law enforcement K9s allow deputies to take these violent felons into custody without having to use deadly force. ★

MEMORIAL

MAURICE "LEE" McFANN, JR. 07/31/2022

In Sweetest Remembrance of Lt. General Maurice "Lee" McFann, Jr., U.S. Air Force.

In honor and respect for our dearly beloved brother, Lee, his two sisters want to embrace our thoughts and feelings toward him now as we approach his one year anniversary of his passing on 7-31-2022. We have hugs of admiration and kisses of love and gratitude as we remember him.

God had truly blessed our family first and foremost and his friends next, but also this nation, the land of milk and honey as our mother always said, by Lee just being himself.

He had his mother's wonderfully delightful sense of humor, her tremendous determination, sometimes against all odds, her Irish loyalty to others, and her thirst for knowledge.

Lee, you were our father's son, so much like him - his kindness, humility, gentleness, fairness, and sacrificing for others.

From both our parents he had their intelligence wrapped around their high morale values.

But what we are in awe of most was his ability to be positive, upbeat, and charismatic, to bring people together, not by long speeches, but by the way he respected each person - his caring strength of character - a true dynamic leader. What a special man God brought to us all.

A man of such love which radiated when in contact with others. Truly, what he may not have realized was he exemplified what Jesus had taught us - to love one another as He had loved us.

He has left us a song in our hearts which the melody will not fade away as he was a part of both of us since that very day he was held in our mother's arms showing off his beautiful red hair - that special day in June so many years ago of his arrival.

"God be with you in the Summer when the fields are white with daisies And the days are glad and long - God be with you in the Summer, Filling all your world with song."

"Strange we never prize the music Till the sweet-voiced bird has flown."

"When I stand before God at the end of my life, I would hope that I would not have a single bit of talent left but could say 'I've used everything you gave me.'"

Lee, this is your quote. You used every last drop of talent God gave you.

We all have been woven by God's threads. But, you, He made extra special by weaving you with golden thread.

"O love thy God and fellow man, thyself consider last; For come it will when thou must scan dark errors of the past. Learn to make the most of life, lose no happy day! Time will ne'er return again - sweet chances thrown away. Leave no tender word unsaid, but love while love shall last. The mill will never grind with the water that has passed."

A man so beloved and admired by his family and throughout his most distinguished military career. He treasured both so much and achieved an amazing life of love, service, and sacrifice.

Our Lee came to know the Lord and heaven is his eternal home.

Our endearing love,
Linda and Sharon McFann

“Get Them to Self-Sufficiency,” says Niello

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Last year Roger Niello spoke at the Rancho Cordova Luncheon as a candidate for State Senate. This year at the Rancho Cordova Luncheon on July 21, he is a State Senator. When Shelly Blanchard, executive director of Cordova Community Council, introduced him, Niello came back with, “After that great introduction, I can hardly wait to hear what I have to say.”

Niello is not new at this, having served as a Sacramento County Supervisor, a member of the California State Assembly, and president and CEO of the Sacramento Metro Chamber. That was after his degrees from the University of California, Berkeley, and UCLA, and his careers as a certified public accountant and with the family business, Niello Auto Group.

Rancho Cordova Mayor Linda Budge attended the luncheon. “I’ve known Roger for ages, since he was on the Board of Supervisors, and then was in the State Legislature before. I was extremely pleased when Roger decided to put his name in for election, because he’s just a strong supporter of this region and I agree with his principles. He’s very balanced, he’s not polarized in one direction or another, and I really appreciate that in a true legislator.”

There are problems in California that have urged Niello to continue his efforts in the public arena. The significant problems of crime and infrastructure continue to be a challenge. “School choice is a significant issue for me, as is, of course, economic development,” Niello said.

Citrus Heights City Councilmember MariJane Lopez-Taff met Niello several years ago when he was in the Assembly. “I have 3 children who go through the public school system here in California,” said Taff. “I’m also in my day job with Junior Achievement of Sacramento, follow[ing] education policy and so his work within that education committee is very, very important to me,” said Taff. “He is a supporter of fiscal responsibility as well as allowing parents to be in control of their own families, their own children.”

State Senator Roger Niello (center) stands with a few of his constituents at the Rancho Cordova Luncheon. From left: Karin Heyden, administrative assistant with the City of Rancho Cordova; Abraham Jothinayagam and his wife Hannah Abraham, who have lived in Rancho Cordova for most of 27 years; and Brandon Rose, member of the SMUD Board of Directors.

According to Niello, the biggest challenge in this State is homelessness. In 2016, California legislated what is called Housing First, emphasizing getting people off the street into shelter. “That’s a good thing,” Niello said. “But services for mental illness and for substance abuse will be offered, but not required. And any program that requires sobriety for participation in their program, is completely not eligible for any public funding.”

Niello gives an example of a different approach – Saint John’s Program for Real Change, a 2023 Nonprofit of the Year award recipient from the California Nonprofit Association. The recognition is a testament to the positive impact Saint John’s has had on the over 35,000 women and children they have served.

Saint John’s helps mothers who have been on the street, largely suffering from substance abuse. Coming into a communal environment, sobriety is necessary. “What they do,” Niello said, “. . . they don’t just get them off the street, they get them back to self-sufficiency. That’s a phrase that I have not heard anybody say in the State Legislature since I’ve been there, except for myself. That should be the goal of any health and human services program for people that need assistance. Not just to get them into shelter, not just to get them into treatment, not even just to get them permanent housing, but to get them to self-sufficiency.”

“During the five-year period that $20 billion was spent, there were over 30 programs established and implemented, I think

33 or 34,” Niello said. “Only one of them is flexible funding to counties. All the rest of it is a top-down dictatorial approach. And the statistics show that is not working.” Niello’s theory as to why it’s not working is that the counties involvement is key, since they are closer to the people who are struggling.

Niello also mentioned the high cost of housing in California. “If we had (builder) Harry Elliott here, he could cite for you many reasons beyond his control as to why housing is so expensive with regard to mandates that are imposed largely by the State that significantly drive up the cost of housing.” ★

Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame Honorees Announced

Rancho Cordova Athletic Association News Release

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Cordova's 1983-84 Section champion boys basketball team, three multi-sport star athletes, a Cordova swimming great and a pair of legendary coaches are among 13 selections when the Class of 2023 is inducted into the Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame this fall.

The 8th annual induction ceremony takes place 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 9, 2023, at Rancho Cordova City Hall. The class includes athletes, coaches, and an endearing Rancho Cordova sports advocate who exhibited the "Heart of a Champion."

"We are very excited to be able to recognize these athletes and coaches for what they have meant to their sport, and our community," said David Sander, Rancho Cordova City Councilman and president of the Rancho Cordova Athletic Association (RCAA). "Our Hall of Fame memorializes that incredible history and should inspire our current youth athletes as well."

Honorees elected to the Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame were judged to have attained significant achievements in or have made notable contributions to athletics, as well as exhibiting high standards of character and sportsmanship.

Following is the Class of 2023:

Kevin Appino (Cordova High '80). Appino starred in football, baseball and basketball for the Lancers during Cordova's "decade of dominance," the 1970s. Appino and Greg Krajewski anchored a 1-2 punch at linebacker, were named Optimist All Stars and later reunited with Coach Dewey Guerra at American River College. In baseball, Appino was a power-hitting outfielder whose .488 batting average earned him All-Camino Norte Conference MVP in 1983 at Sacramento City College. Appino spent two seasons in the Milwaukee Brewers farm system, enjoying his best year in 1983, batting .306 for Paintsville.

Donald "Dek" Bake (Cordova High '02). Finishing his schoolboy career at 6-5 and 230 pounds, Bake was one of the most feared defensive linemen in the Sacramento area. During his senior year at Cordova, Bake had 49 tackles and seven quarterback sacks, including five in one game - numbers that resulted in a 1st team All Sierra Valley Conference selection. Bake later played for Texas Tech and professionally for the Canadian Football League's Saskatchewan Rough Riders and the NFL's New York Giants.

Yvette Collins (Cordova High '84). A basketball phenom, Collins starred for the 1983-84 Section Champion

Cordova High girls' team. Collins was a three-year varsity starter, averaged better than 16 points and rebounds as a senior enroute to a 1st team All-City selection on that storied 32-1 1983-84 team. Collins, along with boy's counterpart Kevin Nixon were inducted into the Sacramento Hall of Fame in 1984. Today, Collins and her husband Edwin own and operate Yahuah's Kingdom Academy Foundation, a Pre-K thru 6th grade school in the City of Accra, Ghana, West Africa.

Brett Jenkins (Cordova High '88). One of Cordova's finest baseball players, Jenkins was a three-year starter, earned All-League twice and was a 1st team All-City selection. A shortstop, Jenkins' 68 base hits as a senior set a new state prep record, breaking the previous mark by former Lancer Scott Sellner (62). Jenkins led the area in hitting at .557, added 10 homers, 40 RBIs and 19 steals to an impressive senior ledger. Jenkins later went on to star for USC and played professionally in the Expos, Giants and Milwaukee Brewers organizations.

Robert "Bob" Jones. During a 28-year Cordova High School career, Jones coached the Lancer boys' basketball team to five league titles and earned Metro League Coach of the Year honors three times. A two-time Optimist All Star coach, Jones coached some of Cordova's top basketball players over the years, including David Crouse, Ray Cooper, Jake Weathers, James Rogalski, and Gerald Ayers. Jones played his college ball at Ventura Community and Chico State College.

Ron Kerekes. The second of our two coaches, Kerekes has enjoyed a 50-year high school coaching career that include key roles in Cordova's run of football greatness during the 1970s. He was the Offensive Line Coach from 1973-1977 and served as Offensive Coordinator from 1978-1980. Along the way, Kerekes coached in various varsity football capacities at Folsom, Rio Americano, Jesuit, Christian Brothers and Franklin. He rejoined Coach Ron Lancaster at Enid High in Oklahoma from 1982-84 where those teams went 21-3 including a 1983 Oklahoma 5A State Title.

Joe Lashinsky. Affectionately known as "Cordova Joe," Lashinsky was a beloved "Custodian Extraordinaire" around the Rancho Cordova athletic scene for more than 35 years. A model of work ethic, humility and respectfulness, Cordova Joe came to Rancho Cordova after 20 years in the US Air Force, and quickly found his calling at Cordova High School. From working the chains at football games, to fixing PA systems or tending to a coach's minute needs, no job was too small. Lashinsky will be honored posthumously as he performance was winning the California State Meet in the 3,200-meter run. He was a key factor in four NCAA championships at the University of Arkansas and later turned to the Duathlon, where he was a two-time national champion and 1994 World Champion.

Steve Volmer (Cordova High '67). Cordova's first bona fide three-sport star, Volmer was named to the Bee/KFBK/KOVR 1st team All City team at quarterback and 1st team All County at Safety. He was unanimously chosen as Team Captain in varsity football, basketball and baseball - an accomplishment that has yet to be duplicated at Cordova first Female Athlete of the Year and 1st team All Sierra Valley Conference. During her collegiate career, Kristi caught five perfect games including three at the University of Hawaii as a senior. Following college, she played in several international events including the 2012 International Softball Federation World Championship in Canada.

Mark Young (Cordova High '84). Few players electrified fans with breakaway speed more than Mark Young. His 28 touchdowns and 2,257 all-purpose yards as a senior led the Max Miller-coached Lancers to an 11-1 record in 1983 and a 22-2 two-year varsity record. Young was an elite flanker, punt returner and tailback who was named to the Bee's 1983 1st team All-Metro squad. Young's signature football moment was a bewitching 53-yard TD catch-and-run as time was running out that gave the Sacramento State Hornets its first Causeway Classic win over UC Davis in 18 years, 31-28. Young played for the Chicago Bruisers in the Arena Football League and is an inductee into the Sacramento State Hall of Fame. He is the brother of 2015 Hall of Fame inductee Reggie Young.

1983-84 Cordova High Boys Basketball Team: Led by All City players Kevin Nixon and Mark Lewis, the Lancers rolled to a 27-5 record on their way to the Section Championship. The team joins the 1983-84 girls' squad, which was inducted last year and dominated during a magical season when Cordova High School won six league championships, with three, including the boys' basketball team, advancing to the Section Finals. The team was coached by 2018 Hall of Fame Inductee and Sacramento Bee Coach of the Year Hub Morphew.

Tickets for the induction ceremony are $30 and include an appetizer and cocktail reception and awards program.

Online tickets will go on sale July 24 at www.cordovacouncil.org/rc-sports-hall-of-fame-induction. The event is organized by the Rancho Cordova Athletic Association in partnership with the Cordova Community Council.

The Rancho Cordova Athletic Association was formed in 2013 to foster lifelong values of good sportsmanship, teamwork, and healthy, active lifestyles through the development of excellent youth sports facilities and organizations, positive coaching, and access to play for all. ★ passed away earlier this year.

Terry Peyton (Cordova High '79). Considered one of Cordova High School's elite swimmers, Peyton was a multiple All American and part of Cordova's "triple threat" along with Ryan Yantis and Scott Mefford. Peyton established Metro League marks in the 100-yard breaststroke and 400 free relay. A 1981 Sac Metro Chamber of Commerce Hall of Fame Inductee, Peyton set new records at American River in the 100 and 200-yard breast stroke. Peyton has coached for more than 40 years for various teams, including Arden Hills, St. Francis, Valley High School, Sacramento City College and Christian Brothers. Today, he is Head Swim Coach at Sacramento Aquatics and Bradshaw Christian High School.

Paul Thomas (Jesuit High '87). Thomas grew up in Rancho Cordova and set numerous schoolboy distance running records at Walnutwood Elementary where he held the nation's 4th fastest, 1,500-meter time for an 11-year-old. Thomas continued his running prowess at Jesuit High School, breaking several school marks while leading the Marauders Cross Country team to a No. 1 state ranking. Thomas' best High School. Volmer parlayed his leadership skills in education, serving as vice principal and various high-level positions during a 30-plus year career with the San Juan Unified and El Dorado Union high school districts. He later helped develop a teamwork training course that was adopted by the nuclear power industry.

Demouy Williams (Cordova High '83). A football and baseball star, Williams quarterbacked Cordova to a 21-3 record during a two-year varsity career enroute to an Optimist All-Star selection. A speedy baseball outfielder, Williams was a main cog on Cordova's 1983 section title team that went 32-6. He batted .407, and stole 28 bases from the leadoff spot, breaking Max Venable's school stolen base record. A three-year football starter for the University of Washington, Williams dominated a defense that led the Huskies to a No. 2 national ranking in 1984. Williams' accomplishments resulted in induction into the University of Washington Sports Hall of Fame.

And Another Thing The Capital Air Show will be back at Mather

By Bob McGarvey

It is hard to believe that we are almost done with July, and that the Folsom Cordova Unified School District school year will begin August 8, 2023. We still have three grandchildren who will be going back to school again. Two grandchildren have already graduated from Cordova High and are they are working. Time really seems to fly by fast enough.

September 23 and 24 Saturday and Sunday the Capital Air Show will be back to Mather, and the Air Force Thunderbirds will be back again. It will be an unbelievable show for the thousands of people who will be able to come and enjoy the Thunderbirds, the other planes, and the rest of the programs and booths which will be there. Our Air Show is there and is successful because of the hundreds of volunteers who put in navy hours of work. My hat is off to all of them.

Something which has happened at the Air Show almost every year was when young men and women are shown in to the military. It is such an honorable and heart warming event. Their families can be present and watch their young men and women commit themselves to serve their country. Our son was sworn in to the United States Air Force at the last Air Show at Mather when it was still an Air Force Base in 1992. He served in the Air Force for 21 years, and we are very proud of him.

The new young men and women will volunteer to protect our country when they say, "I (name), do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear faith and allegiance to the same; and that I will obey the orders of the President of the United States and the orders of the officers appointed over me, according to regulations and the United Code of Military Justice. So help me God." Those brave young men and women are volunteering to protect us, our families, and our country. We need to thank them after they are sworn in.

We are very fortunate so far to only have the 10 or 12 days in which the temperature was at 100 or more degrees. I have been watching the national weather, and some of the other states like Texas have been living with temperatures of over 100 degrees for every day of July. I am not sure how many of their days in June were over 100 degrees, but I truly hope that our weather will continue not to have too many extreme temperatures. Our City Hall and different churches in Rancho Cordova will continue to help those who need to get out of the dangerous temperatures. I know some people are homeless, and others have homes where they live and their air conditioners don't work.

From Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

Dave Ramsey Says

Different Personality Types Can Be a Good Thing

Dear Dave,

My husband is an entrepreneur. He has a very hard driving, energetic personality and way of doing things, while I'm more laid back and soft spoken. How can I support him best in terms of encouraging and communicating with him? I want him to know I care, that I want to help and that I'm proud of him.

– Grace

Dear Grace,

I think you've already taken a good first step toward all of that by recognizing and identifying your personality styles. If he's a hard-charging entrepreneur, there's a good chance God sent you into his life to slow him down a little, and help him keep it between the ditches. That's what my wife does for me, and I'm so thankful she does.

Once in a while, I'll get so wrapped up in a project or opportunity that I can't stop thinking about it or turn it loose—even after hours or on weekends. That's when she knows to step in and say, "Honey, did you ever think about this possibility?" Sometimes she's a little more straightforward, and I'll hear something like, "You know, you really need to just slow down and chill."

The fact that you two are wired a little differently, and that you can be thoughtful and calm when he's all over the place, is one of the most valuable benefits you bring to your relationship. Once he understands this, he'll begin to respect it more. And when it happens, you folks are going to win in your relationship and in business. It's going to make such a positive impact on your lives, because you'll be making steady progress that's more predictable and reasonable, rather than things launching into the stratosphere and being followed by the inevitable crashes that are bound to happen from time to time.

As you grow to better understand the other's thinking, and how each is necessary for success, a great thing will be created. Your quieter, thoughtful side, and his energy and passion to pull things forward, will become the key to you two reaching heights together that you never would've achieved apart from each other.

I love these discussions about family relationships and business. Great question, Grace!

California Democrats Keep Spending Money But Fail To Make Sure It's Helping

By Dan Walters,
CALMatters.org

Steve Glazer is a former political consultant who served as mayor of Orinda before being elected to the state Senate in a 2015 special election.

Glazer is a Democrat who usually votes with others in the party's overwhelming Senate majority. However, Glazer has a rare maverick streak, not unlike that of his one-time boss, former Gov. Jerry Brown.

Glazer has most often displayed that tendency in clashes with labor unions, his party's most important ally, but it extends to other aspects of governance.

This month, just as the Legislature began its month-long summer recess, the Los Angeles Times published an op-ed by Glazer highlighting his party's inability to effectively use its unfettered political power on California's knottiest issues.

Glazer cited the state's newly enacted, $310 billion state budget, describing it as "a reflection of our values, dedicating spending to getting homeless people off the street, supporting schools, keeping public transit afloat and treating mental illness," but adding, "as many Californians know, we've already spent billions of dollars on the same problems – with very little to show for it.

"Our failures are evidence that good intentions and lots of money are not enough to fix what ails the Golden State," Glazer continued. "To make our progressive beliefs mean anything, the Legislature must ensure that the money we spend is actually improving the lives of the people we say we are committed to helping."

Glazer cites the state's chronic housing shortage and homelessness levels, mental health programs and California's embarrassingly low public school achievement as examples of issues that have festered for years without noticeable progress.

"Democrats know that hundreds of our schools are failing and far too many kids are unable to read, write or do math at grade level," Glazer declared. "And we know that those struggling students are disproportionately low-income children of color. But that issue gets almost no attention from Democrats in the Capitol, who have made no recent efforts to discover why schools are falling short and what can be done to improve them."

Glazer's overall theme is something that's rarely mentioned in California political circles: competence, or the lack thereof. The Democrats who control virtually every lever of political power in California tend to measure achievement by how much money they spend on particular problems, rather than outcomes.

That's very evident in California's highest-in-the-nation level of homelessness. The state has spent upwards of $20 billion on programs meant to reduce the amount of unhoused Californians, but the numbers continue to climb as Gov. Gavin Newsom and local government officials squabble incessantly over who should be accountable.

The implosion of the Employment Development Department that allowed fraudsters to pocket tens of billions of dollars in unemployment insurance payments, while legitimate claims were delayed, is another stark example. So is the state's chronic inability to design and implement technology.

Recently, CalMatters reported that California has spent $600 million on programs meant to prevent former prisoners from committing new crimes after release but has not tracked whether they have succeeded.

"The state does not collect data on whether parolees who participate in the program have found jobs or whether they are returned to prison for another crime," reporter Byrhonda Lyons wrote after spending a year investigating the issue. "What state data does show is that only 40% of participants completed at least one of the services they were offered."

As shocking as that lapse sounds, we shouldn't be surprised because, as Glazer points out, the state's political leadership – those in his own party – is prone to spending money on a problem without accountability that ensures results.

Dan Walters has been a journalist for more than 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers. ★

City of Rancho Cordova Notice of Public Hearing

NOTICE is hereby given that on Monday, August 7, 2023, at 5:30 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, the City Council of the City of Rancho Cordova will hold a Public Hearing at the Rancho Cordova City Hall, located at 2729 Prospect Park Drive, Rancho Cordova, to consider the following:

PROPOSED "GRANTLINE 220 COMMUNITY FACILITIES DISTRICT NO. 2023-1"

The purpose of this public hearing is: The City of Rancho Cordova is considering the formation of a community facilities district (the "CFD") under the authority of the Mello-Roos Community Facilities District Act of 1982, as amended, to fund certain public facilities related to new development within the City of Rancho Cordova.

This Notice contains a brief summary of the proposal, but you are referred to the City Council's resolution "A Resolution of Intention of the City Council to Form a Community Facilities District and Levy a Special Tax in City of Rancho Cordova Grantline 220 Community Facilities District No. 2023-1 to Finance the Acquisition and Construction of Certain Public Facilities in and for such Community Facilities District" adopted July 3, 2023 and its resolution "A Resolution of the City Council Declaring its Intention to Incur a Bonded Indebtedness to Finance the Acquisition and Construction of Certain Public Facilities in and for City of Rancho Cordova Grantline 220 Community Facilities District No. 2023-1" adopted June 3, 2023 for the definitive description of the proposal.

The proposal is to subject the property within the CFD to a special tax which will be used to pay for facilities of benefit to land within the CFD, including paying principal and interest on bonds used to build facilities, and will expire when the bonds are retired and all eligible facilities are financed. The proceeds of the bonds will be used to pay for the facilities and other expenses set forth in the resolutions referred to in the preceding paragraph. A map showing the land proposed to be included in the CFD is on file with the City Clerk.

As set forth above, the City Council will hold a public hearing on the establishment of the CFD, the facilities to be financed by the CFD, and the levy of the special tax within the CFD.

The proposal also includes authority to issue up to $53,200,000 in bonds to be repaid by the special tax. Neither the City of Rancho Cordova nor any person outside the CFD has any liability for the special tax or the bonds. The security for the bonds is limited to the property subject to the special tax within the CFD.

In order to confer the authority upon Rancho Cordova City Council to levy the special tax and to issue the bonds, a public hearing must be held on the proposal, then the City Council will decide whether to form the CFD, and finally the qualified electors within the CFD must approve the proposal by a two-thirds vote. Where the CFD is uninhabited (as is the case here) the qualified electors are, pursuant to law, the owners of property within the CFD.

At the hearing, the testimony of all interested persons or potential special taxpayers for or against the formation of the proposed community facilities district, the authorization to levy the special tax, and the authorization to issue the bonds will be heard. If written protests against the proposed CFD are delivered to the City Clerk at or before the time set for the hearing by either registered voters residing within, or the owners of property within, the proposed CFD, they will be counted toward a possible majority protest. Such protests by a majority of the registered voters residing within the CFD or by the owners of a majority of the land area within CFD which is or will be subject to the special tax, if not withdrawn prior to the close of the hearing so as to reduce the value of the protests to less than a majority, will require the proposed CFD to be eliminated from immediate consideration, and prevent its being included in a subsequent proceedings for at least one year.

If the City Council, after the public hearing, determines that a majority protest under Section 53324 of the California Government Code was not made at the hearing, the City Council may conduct an election by mailed ballot to levy a special tax and incur bonded indebtedness.

The City of Rancho Cordova encourages interested parties to attend public meetings and comment on the issues being discussed. # 109 Birthday Blessings dedicated to family and her church. She gave me and my sister everything." The twice widowed centenarian impacted hundreds of lives though her church work. A former drug addict whom Barbara adopted described "mother" as the "most amazing woman I have known." "When she took me in, the drugs ended," said Pauline Kirkendoll. "She taught me how to talk, how to dress. I had been living on the streets. Before her, no one ever treated me like they cared. I've been clean for 32 years, and I owe mother my life. She's my prayer partner now. I take her to church, and we pray together every day." Granddaughter and caregiver Angelique Reynolds (63) traveled from Florida for the celebration. Looking after Barbara, she said "is the greatest honor of my life." The birthday girl took all compliments in stride. "There's not a person in this world I don't love," said Barbara. "We're different people; we can disagree. But under our skins, we're all the same. My advice to people is to stand side by side with your neighbor and love everyone. I thank God for whatever reason he's left me here for so long, so I can do his work." ★

Is the EDD Pulling a Pandemic Scam?

schedule that you can “pay down” when you feel like it with extra money from other people and still keep getting credit line increases whatever you want.

Or taxing Peter to pay Paul and then getting Paul to give you the money back to pay Patrick.

According to the federal regulations governing the program (the feds will back-stop any state fund without question to make sure unemployment benefits get paid) this circular taxation is legal, though it is highly doubtful that when it was created that it was envisioned that any state would collect money to pay its debt and then purposefully grow its debt to pay its bills.

It should be noted that even without the pandemic-related $20 or so billion in debt, the EDD would still have to borrow money for at least the next two years.

For its part, the EDD chose not to comment on the ethical and/or unapproved back-door tax implications of its plan but it did note that the state’s current UI taxing system is out-of-date.

“California’s UI financing system has not changed since 1984. Employers pay for unemployment benefits to former employees through contributions made to the state’s UI Trust Fund on behalf of every employee. California’s taxable wage ceiling of $7,000 and maximum tax rate of 5.4 percent are the lowest allowed under federal law. Senate Bill 600 [Chapter 1146, Statutes of 1989] and Senate Bill 40 [Chapter 409, Statutes of 2001] increased benefit amounts, but did not address the financing structure to increase revenue,” said the agency. “The unprecedented number of workers who collected benefits in the recent pandemic, along with those who collected during the Great Recession, impacted the ability of an outdated financing system to generate enough revenue needed to pay benefits.”

Starting in 2024, the disability insurance program – operated separately by the EDD and currently solvent – will remove its “taxable wage ceiling,” in part to pay for things like expanded paid family leave. Whether or not the legislature and governor will move to change the UI wage ceiling – at least in part as a response to the debt issue – is as yet unclear. It is also not known if such a move would increase the surcharge being paid (let alone the regular tax.)

The Governor’s Office did not reply to a request for comment, including on why California was one of the very few states to not use its “left over” pandemic relief funds to pay off the debt in its entirety last year when it had a massive budget surplus and whether or not this debt “payment/not repayment” shell game was entered into purposefully to relieve some of the current budgetary pressures (or at least not cause any more.)

Jon Coupal, head of the Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association, said the scheme is “more evidence of the abject fiscal irresponsibility of California’s state government.”

While the extra UI charges are called a “surcharge” and are theoretically temporary, they are “from the perspective of the businesses an additional tax” – a tax that did not have to go through the typical legislative process.

In other words – no vote, no discussion, no input – just an imposed tax.

“The California Chamber of Commerce is very disappointed with and greatly concerned the UI insolvency will cause an on-going tax increase,” said Chamber policy expert Rob Moutrie. “California businesses need tax relief, not an increase.”

The technologically archaic and consistently inept EDD was not just overwhelmed by the pandemic but made the situation worse by not having any anti-fraud security measures in place. In fact, it took months for then-California Labor Secretary Julie Su to address the issue and by that time tens of billions had already been looted. Security experts estimate that if Su – who was fully aware of the problem, according to a state auditor’s report – had acted when she became aware of the problem the EDD would have exactly zero federal debt.

For perspective, the EDD, under Su, lost about $40 billion to fraud and other improper payments while the federal pandemic debt created was about half that number.

Despite her disastrous tenure as California’s labor secretary, Su is currently being considered to become the federal Secretary of Labor. Her Senate confirmation process has, however, seemed to hit a snag as not every Democrat will commit to voting for her, in part because of this exact issue.

“It’s an incompetence tax: a price private citizens are being forced to pay for their government’s failures,” said Rep. Kevin Kiley (R-Rocklin) who has led the charge against Su on the House side of the Capitol. “The predicament that small businesses in California now find themselves in—facing additional taxation to make up for the government’s negligence—is another example of why Julie Su’s nomination to be our nation’s next labor secretary is so ill-considered.”

StandAgainstSu, a national group working to derail her nomination, said the current debt situation is exactly why Su should not be the new Labor Secretary.

“Julie Su’s nomination for Secretary of Labor is a slap in the face to the millions of hard-working Californians who will be forced to spend years paying off her forty-billion-dollar mistake,” said a Stand AgainstSu spokesperson. “No Senator who respects American workers could ever reward Su’s failure with a vote in her favor.”

A vote on Su’s four-month-old nomination quest will not even be scheduled until at least late next...if at all.

Oh, and as of midnight last night, California owed $17,634,404,674.57 in principal and $223,357,689.50 in interest. In June alone, it has borrowed $492,235,804.09 – that equals $203 per second, up from $139 per second in May.

California has also increased its share of the national total remaining outstanding in pandemic unemployment debt to 72% from 70% (New York has almost all of the rest) about two weeks ago.

National leader indeed. ★

County Transportation Funding Experiences Boost

Trade Corridor Enhancement Program – Grant Line Road Safety and Freight Mobility Project - $3M - Capital SouthEast Connector JPA. Project Summary - The Grant Line Road Safety and Freight Mobility Project (Project) is a rural freight improvement project in eastern Sacramento County. The project will also include an alternatives analysis phase for the bus rapid transit (BRT) and BRT-lite treatments along the longer Sacramento Regional Transit District’s Route 51 alignment between South Sacramento and the Sacramento Valley Station, which includes Stockton Boulevard (between Florin Road and Broadway), Broadway (between Stockton Boulevard and 8th Street), and segments of 7th, 8th and 9th Streets;

Regional Active Transportation Program – Bell Street Safe Routes to School - $8.676M – SacDOT. Project Summary - Construction of approximately 12,500 linear feet of sidewalk infill along various segments of Bell Street between Edison Avenue and Hurley Way in the West Arden community, including a segment on 2419 Wyda Way. Construction and reconstruction of new curb ramps and extensions, traffic signal modifications, a new pedestrian signal, a new Rectangular Rapid Flashing Beacon, striping and re-striping bicycle lanes, and new bicycle detectors will also be implemented at four intersections along Bell Street where they do not currently exist. The non-infrastructure element includes education and outreach to students and parents of the nearby schools on pedestrian, bicyclist, and motorist safety.

The funding windfall will not only boost local transportation projects but help pave the way for future housing and building projects, which rely on roads being built before that construction can begin. The Building Industry Association and construction community are expected to benefit from these projects with more job opportunities in the future.

Construction of these projects will start to come to life over the next few years. Each grant will not pay for the entire project, as many funding sources are sought to offset the construction, but these dollars are expected to push the projects forward to allow a much-needed boost to improving the County’s transportation infrastructure. ★
