RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On March 1, 2023, California Park & Recreation Society (CPRS) District 2 held their Awards & Installation Banquet where local park and recreation agencies came together to recognize outstanding agencies and professionals, install the 2023-2024 District 2 Board Members and present student scholarship awards.

Nominated by Cordova Recreation & Park District (CRPD), Carol Kraus was the recipient of this year's Champion of the Community Award. Kraus was nominated due to her hard work, dedication and commitment as an outstanding volunteer for the Cordova Blue Marlins Swim Team Parent Board. Kraus has been involved with the Cordova Blue Marlins for the last 15 years and has dedicated thousands of hours through various organization meetings, swim meets, championships, fundraising and even shopping for the snack bar. Kraus works closely not only with CRPD but she speaks on behalf of the community to ensure youth swimmers have a place to learn, compete and build social connections.

During the installment of the new Board Members, CRPD Recreation Supervisor Nina Sinor was appointed as the Vice President. Sinor previously served on the Board as the Secretary since 2020.

"CPRS is a volunteer organization, so I am very thankful to work for a District that supports and enables me to participate in CPRS as a board member. It shows that the agency I work for believes in the robust networking and educational opportunities that CPRS provides," said Sinor. "CPRS has provided me with invaluable educational opportunities through conferences, mini-conferences, lunch n' learns, and networking with others in the industry. I would not be where I am in my career without the connections I have obtained through CPRS with the support of CRPD. CRPD General Manager Patrick Larkin is a past D2 CPRS President and, like so many others, provided excellent leadership and guidance that has inspired future presidents like me to continue that great work that has been and continues to be done."

Various student scholarships were presented during the banquet. CRPD's very own Evan Stork received the Arvid Pauly Award which is a student scholarship which is given to a deserving student pursuing a career in the parks and recreation field. Stork is currently finishing a master's degree in recreation

Failed Silicon Valley Bank, the Newsoms, and Connected Friends

By Katy Grimes, CaliforniaGlobe.com

The Silicon Valley Bank failure and shutdown is because of "idiot bank management under an incompetent board," according to Shark Tank star Kevin O'Leary.

"O'Leary joined Fox News hosts Bill Hemmer and Dana Perino on Tuesday to discuss the Silicon Valley Bank failure and the announcement that deposits would be protected," Mediaite reported. "President Joe Biden announced this week that people's 'deposits are safe.""

"O'Leary blasted the plan, arguing it will simply provide a safety net for mismanagement. The Shark Tank star argued Silicon Valley Bank collapsed because of 'idiot management,' as opposed to a regulatory issue. 'Idiot' managers, he said, are now free to behave more irresponsibly."

It appears there are plenty of idiots and incompetents involved in the bank, focused on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion loan and investment goals, rather than responsible financial outcomes.

But the bailout/cover up may be more of the story in the long run – as in Whydid Janet Yellen, Secretary of the Treasury in the the Biden administration state last Friday that there would be no bailouts, and by Sunday, the President effectively said there would in fact be a bailout and depositors would be made whole.

What changed in 48

A Well-Oiled Machine: Training for Your Leaders with DOVIA

By Sophia Powers

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Directors of Volunteers in Agencies (DOVIA) Sacramento provides a great deal of training for the leaders of volunteerism, fulfilling a unique need in the sector of those managing volunteer organizations or just managing the volunteers themselves. Communications Chair of DOVIA Sacramento, Jacqueline Ramirez, explains, "All of the programs and events provide individuals an opportunity to develop the skills, knowledge, and abilities to improve operations at the organizations they serve." The success of training those in charge of volunteerism is shown through the individual and organizational membership from DOVIA Sacramento. Since 1978, DOVIA Sacramento has equipped its members with proficiency tailored to their needs.

Would you like to provide leadership that increases volunteerism and brings in more volunteers while keeping the ones you have? DOVIA Sacramento can fulfill those needs through its vast array of services. DOVIA Sacramento believes when those responsible for volunteer programs are operating at their best, their own volunteers are able to thrive to make a difference whenever and wherever they are needed. This is why DOVIA Sacramento focuses on providing extensive education to directors and coordinators of volunteers bringing experts, speaking engagements, networking, and even expanding their members' of," Cooper said, pointing out the difficulty in getting treatment. "You need to have a job to have any benefits. If you don't have any of that, you're screwed." He spoke of the murders in the homeless camps, homeless on homeless, sexual assaults, drug dealing. "Because of COVID and just before that, law enforcement's been kind of hands off on homeless communities. The big issue was, if you really engaged anything with the homeless, then if you aren't helping them, then obviously you're 'anti-homeless'. There's a lot of 'anti rhetoric' going on, 'anti anything'. It's not being anti. If you want help, we're going to help you. If you don't want help, we're going to deal with you and help you, make you want to get help, that's really what it comes down to."

"You know what the issues are," Cooper said. Besides homelessness, the results of Proposition 47 have been devastating. "You can go to the store, and as long as you steal below $950 you can do that all day every day and not go to jail," Cooper said. While in the legislature, Cooper introduced a bill to reverse that. "A bunch of groups gave money and the measure got beat, it was called Prop 20 that you guys voted on in 2020."

Early release of seriously violent inmates is an issue. "In California what is not considered a serious or violent crime is raping and drugging a woman . . . drive-by shootings, entrapping of a child. If I stab you or beat you with a baseball bat or a golf club – those are all considered non-violent crimes. You're eligible for early release. You try to deal with trying to change that . . . instead of getting out early, let's just do your time."

"So, yeah, I'm kind of a tough on crime guy," Cooper said. "Really what it is, just not to be afraid to do what's right, going against the grain sometimes."

Cooper made many important points about the serious crimes and issues plaguing the community. None of them are easy fixes, but what he said in answer to a question about education could also be applied to criminal justice. "Degrees are great, to improve yourself," Cooper said, "but I would rather have someone with common sense than an armful of degrees. That's what it comes down to is having common sense and being a reasonable person."

Of all the things in his life that affected where he would end up, Cooper said, "The big one is my foundation . . . growing up here in Rancho Cordova. Without that I would not be where I am or have done some things I did; but I'm a Lancer - I'm a Lancer for Life."

City Launches Free Workforce Development Programs

Challenges Facing Our County

By Rich Desmond, Sacramento County Supervisor

In February, I attended the National Association of Counties (NACO) Legislative Conference to help educate federal officials about the challenges facing Sacramento County and advocate for federal policy and budget support for County programs and priorities. I am honored to represent Sacramento County and the California State Association of Counties (CSAC) on NACO's Justice and Public Safety Steering Committee and Housing Task Force.

The Justice and Public Safety Committee deals with several issues that are

Sacramento County residents I represent, including effective law enforcement resources in our communities, the dramatic increase in methamphetamine and fentanyl sales and use, an increase in crime associated with growing homelessness, and solutions to mental illness and addiction that focus on treatment instead of incarceration. I have already been in contact with the US Department of Justice's Bureau of Justice Assistance and Executive Sacramento County staff about meeting in Sacramento with Sheriff Jim Cooper, District Attorney Thien Ho, and others to discuss federal support for our efforts to both improve conditions at our County Jail while creating more capacity for treatment-based diversion for low level offenders with behavioral health

The Housing Task Force is a new effort that brings together county officials from around the country to identify best practices important to me and the for attracting affordable and market rate housing. The task force members will evaluate best practices and use them to create a platform for advocacy at the federal level. Although counties are very different across the country and even within California, there are many policy objectives that we can all agree on, like the importance of preserving local control, support for infrastructure improvements, and direct funding to counties with flexibility based on need. As you know, Sacramento County is in desperate need of both affordable and market-rate housing.

The NACO conference revealed that there are many federal programs and funding opportunities that California counties can be using to better address our homelessness crisis, increase public safety, support more housing, and improve our roadways. I will continue working hard with my colleagues on the Board of Supervisors, County staff, and CSAC to take advantage of these opportunities.

Aerojet Rocketdyne Delivers 830,000th Attitude Control Motor

Aerojet Rocketdyne News Release

HUNTSVILLE, AL (MPG) - As company investments enable significant increases in production, Aerojet Rocketdyne has now delivered the 830,000th Attitude Control Motor (ACM) for Patriot missile system variants, including the Patriot Advanced Capability-3 (PAC-3) Missile Segment Enhancement (MSE).

"We take great pride in our role powering the PAC-3 MSE air defense missile system, and this milestone comes at a uniquely important time as the demand for key defense systems continues to increase," said Eileen P. Drake, Aerojet Rocketdyne CEO, and president. "Our investments to expand production for this critical system will ensure we are able to meet continued demand for our reliable propulsion."

Investments in ACM production, including significant building upgrades, increased manufacturing space, improvements to automated production processes and new state-ofthe-art equipment, such as laser welders, filament winders and grinders, resulted in reduced labor hours, and fewer parts and motor transfers within the ACM building. The investments allowed the site to move from two to three production lines, increasing ACM production by 40%.

Each Lockheed Martin PAC-3 MSE missile contains 180 egg-sized ACMs that fire explosively to refine the missile's course and ensure impact. Of the 830,000 ACMs Aerojet Rocketdyne has delivered since the program's inception, more than 700,000 were produced at Aerojet Rocketdyne's Solid Rocket Motor Center of Excellence in Camden, Arkansas.

In addition to the missile's ACMs, Aerojet Rocketdyne provides the PAC-3 MSE's dualpulse solid rocket motor and the lethality enhancer. Separate from company investment into ACM production, last year Camden opened a new 51,000 sq. ft. facility where the company is now producing the PAC-3 MSE's revolutionary dual-pulse motor. The new building consolidated multiple manufacturing activities under one roof and added advanced equipment, improving operational efficiency, increasing production capacity, reducing costs, and providing for even safer Aerojet Rocketdyne has supported the PAC-3 missile system since its inception and has provided ACMs for the program since 2004.

About Aerojet Rocketdyne: Aerojet Rocketdyne, a subsidiary of Aerojet Rocketdyne Holdings, Inc. (NYSE:AJRD), is a world-recognized aerospace and defense leader that provides propulsion systems and energetics to the space, missile defense and strategic systems, and tactical systems areas, in support of domestic and international customers. Insurance Commissioner Must Act Now to Prevent Crisis

From the Office of Ted Gaines

We've run a family-owned, independent insurance agency for more than 50 years. Those of us in the insurance business know that when customers come to us for insurance what they're looking to buy is security. In the California market today, providing that security has become increasingly difficult and is poised to get much worse without action by our elected Insurance Commissioner.

Independent insurance agents serve consumers by learning their needs and then searching out policies that ensure those needs are met. In a healthy, competitive market, consumers are well served. Today in California, such a market does not exist. Consumers are left with fewer options, and thousands of small businesses like my family's, are finding it increasingly difficult to serve them.

The California Department of Insurance had a moratorium for more than two years and did not review rating plans submitted by insurers grappling with rising inflation and claims costs. In December, the Department began reviewing rating plans and has now approved 11 plans. This is good news and helps keep California's insurance market functioning, but more than 80 rating plans remain in the Department awaiting action. While they wait, insurance companies are operating under pre-pandemic, pre-inflation rate plans, paying out more in claims than the income they are taking in from premiums. Not surprisingly, insurance providers are pulling back from the California market.

As a result, California is on the brink of a coverage crisis that will severely limit consumers' options or even prevent them from obtaining the security they seek.

Allstate paused new auto policy sales through independent insurance agents in California and dropped monthly payment options, requiring consumers to pay at least half their policy premiums up front.

Geico closed 38 local offices and stopped selling new auto policies through call centers. Progressive Insurance pulled back its advertising to limit new policies. Several carriers removed their companies from the software independent agents use to get new policy quotes.

The situation in the homeowners' insurance market is much the same. Allstate recently told agents to pause offering new policies in California and others will likely follow suit.

This is a clear call to action for newly re-elected Insurance Commissioner Ricardo Lara. He has the opportunity to act on the backlog of rate plans so more companies will offer more policies in our state. Ultimately, it's this competition among providers that will lead to varied options and better pricing for consumers.

Make no mistake: This is a Californiaonly problem. Other states have approved new rating plans accounting for today's reality of inflation, supply-chain delays and a spike in traffic fatalities and the severity of auto accidents. If this reality persists, insurance carriers will simply stop doing business in the only state in which they lose money on every product they sell.

The Insurance Commissioner has a constitutional responsibility to ensure that California has a healthy, robust and functioning insurance market by reviewing and approving rate plans that adequately reflect the cost of covering claims.

If that duty isn't carried out, there are consequences. We're already starting to experience them, and a full-blown market meltdown is looming. Insurance agencies, many of which are small, family-owned businesses are feeling it now, as it takes longer and much more work to find new coverage for clients, if they can find it at all.

Inaction will lead to cascading economic effects: auto sales will plunge when buyers can't find car insurance, lenders won't issue mortgages to homebuyers who can't insure their property, business loans will dry up. Consumers will be left frustrated and insecure.

We are on the cusp of a crisis. On behalf of consumers and Independent Insurance Agents, I urge the Insurance Commissioner to approve the rate plans needed for new policies.

And Another Thing

"Volunteers in Wonderland"

By Bob McGarvey

The 23rd Annual Community Volunteer Awards were on March 10 at 6pm. There was a full house at the American River rooms at our City Hall, and there were some great people who received the awards. I know there were many people who couldn't attend the event, and I am sorry they couldn't make it, but the decorations and the name "Volunteers in Wonderland" were truly enjoyable.

The Mistress of Ceremonies, Ann Spade, KCRA/KQCA TV, did a very good job. There were nine awards for the individuals, businesses, organizations, and the Rancho Cordovan of the year, Ken Cooley. All of the people who received the awards definitely deserved them. Something which has helped Rancho Cordova move forward over the years is the volunteers who come forward. Volunteers who were just acknowledged, volunteers for our 4th of July parade and celebration, and volunteers who make our Capital Air Show a success ever year. Thank you to all of our Rancho Cordova Volunteers.

Something we were looking forward to last Saturday, March 18 was the United States Navy Band. They were to perform at the Cordova High School Main Gym, but it was canceled do to lack of electricity. We were told when we arrived that they were hoping the power could be turned back on. A tree fell and knocked the power out. We waited like the others for a while, but then they said the show was not going to be performed because the power was not going to be turned back on for quite a while. I know we see you next time.

were able to see the Navy Band perform in that gym in the past, and whey were fantastic. Hopefully they will be able to

We are celebrating our 20 years as a city this year, and I am sure that one of the reasons we were able to move forward was the Cordova Community Council. That council was begun in 1959, and the one thing which it did for our community was it made the contacts between all of the organizations and people of Rancho Cordova. There were organizations like the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, and Elks Club; Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, Saint John Vianney's Catholic Church, the Baptist Church, Grace Lutheran Church, Methodist Church, the Church of Later Day Saints, and many other churches; Organizations from Mather A.F.B. like the Officers Club and the non-commissioned Officers Club.

All of these organizations met every month as members of the Cordova Community Council, and they spoke at the luncheon to let all of the other organizations know what they were doing. They met September through June, and did not meet in July or August. Their first meeting in September was held in the Mather Officers Club and was held by the Mather A.F.B. Base Commander. The council changed and has been meeting every month for some years now, but the council and its organizations have given Rancho Cordovans those important contacts. In other communities and cities they don't make those connections.

From Bob McGarvey, God bless, and

It May Take A Little Time

Dear Dave,

I've having some problems with my parents, and I'm hoping you can help. Last summer I borrowed $2,500 from them, and it is taking me longer to pay them back than we agreed. Since the pay back date passed, they have made several comments about money when we're together, and our relationship seems strained. I have taken steps in the last couple of months to become more financially responsible. I am now doing things like living on a budget, and putting something from each paycheck into a savings account. How should I approach this issue with them?

– Remi

Dave Ramsey Says

Dear Remi,

Loaning money to, or borrowing money from, relatives or friends often leads to bruised feelings. I'm sorry you're going through this, but I hope it will teach you and your folks a valuable lesson going forward. There's nothing wrong with giving money in a situation like this, as long as you're not enabling bad behavior by doing so. But a loan between friends or family is something I never recommend.

If they choose to hold a grudge there's really not a lot you can do, especially if you took longer than agreed upon to pay them back. It just takes more time with some people—and in some cases even parents-for those kinds of things to heal. You have to remember, in their minds there's an element of responsibility and trust involved here. But considering it's your mom and dad we're talking about, I'd say they'll lighten up and become a little easier to be around with time.

Until that happens, though, maybe you could look for chances to mention your new approach to finances during conversations with them. Even something as simple as an off-hand remark about how much you were able to put into savings from your recent paychecks may encourage them to see things in a different light. Letting them know you're actively working to change your ways and gain control of your finances could mean a lot to them. Give it a try!

Is Silicon Valley Bank's Failure An Omen For California?

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

It would be difficult to overstate Silicon Valley's financial importance to California.

The San Jose-centered high technology industry exploded four decades ago as California's manufacturing sector, which had boomed during and after World War II, was shrinking.

It became the state's single most powerful economic engine, creating products and services that transformed California and had immense global impact. A few days ago, Gov. Gavin Newsom described it the "tent pole for our economy" and for once he wasn't a run from depositors and exaggerating.

As other economic sectors and other regions stagnated, Silicon Valley boomed. Without it, California could not have become the fifth and very possibly the fourth - most powerful economy in the world.

Silicon Valley's mega-corporations, such as Apple, Google and Twitter, sucked in immense amounts of money from every corner of the globe - not only making investors very rich, but creating countless jobs and pumping hundreds of billions of dollars into the state treasury as high income tax rates tapped into the new wealth.

Valley has reached its peak.

a local industry organization, Joint Venture Silicon Valley, issued its annual report on the region's economy, stressing a transition from a cauldron of start-up companies to dominance by a few giants.

"Tech is going through a painful period," Russell Hancock, president of the organization said, adding hopefully that "there is no way to construe what is happening as a crisis" for the tech sector.

That was happening before Silicon Valley Bank, which was founded in 1983 as the region began to boom and rode the wave into becoming one of the nation's largest financial houses, suddenly collapsed last week.

The bank experienced could not raise enough cash to meet demand. State and federal financial regulators quickly stepped in, shuttered the bank and began seeking a buyer. Its failure sent shockwaves through Silicon Valley because of the bank's prominent role in financing start-up companies and providing cash for payrolls and other expenses. Relatively small depositors were covered by insurance, but hundreds of corporate customers had deposits over the $250,000 insurance limit and suddenly were unable to make withdrawals. The immediate crisis was newspapers.

However, there's reason averted on Sunday when to wonder whether Silicon federal authorities arranged for Federal Reserve loans In recent months, Silicon that would allow depositors Valley's corporations have to make full withdrawals. been laying off workers and They also made money venture capital activity has available to shore up other slowed. > attracting venture capital. Federal authorities are looking for a buyer to absorb Silicon Valley Bank, quite possibly one of the nation's larger banks. Even if a buyer emerges, however, the new owner would not have an intimate relationship to the region's yeasty culture of aggressive innovation.

The bank's owners prospered by deeply immersing themselves into that culture but that narrow focus made it vulnerable to outside economic factors. When the Federal Reserve System began raising interest rates to battle inflation, the bank's portfolio of bonds lost value. When the bank was forced to sell those devalued bonds to meet withdrawal demands from depositors, it went into a death spiral.

The question is whether the bank's failure is a harbinger of Silicon Valley's decline.

protect jobs, people's livelihoods, and the entire innovation ecosystem that has served as a tent pole for our economy."

The Intercept just reported Tuesday Gov. Gavin Newsom failed to mention that President Biden's announcement also protected his own businesses in Silicon Valley Bank."CADE, Odette, and PlumpJack, three wineries owned by Newsom, are listed as clients of SVB on the bank's website. Newsom also maintained personal accounts at SVB for years, according to a longtime former employee of Newsom's who handled his finances, and who requested anonymity to avoid professional reprisal."

Newsom also neglected to say that he

Notably, a 2019 IRS Form 990 for Newsom's California Partner Project reports only $50k in total gross receipts. This seems inaccurate given the new information of Newsom's behested payments. The Globe did not find any record of 2020-2021 IRS Form 990 filings on the IRS website, but did find IRS Form 990 filings with the California Office of the Attorney General Charities registry.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF PAUL EDWARD FRYE CASE NO. 34-2022-00329862

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Paul Edward Frye, deceased.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Sharon Ann Estes, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Sharon Estes be appointed as personal representative(s) to administer the estate of the

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) RiverBells Sacramento Presents "Spring Ring" Concert

RiverBells Sacramento News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG)

- Sacramento's hand bell choir, RiverBells, presents "Spring Ring," Saturday, April 1st at Centennial United Methodist Church in Sacramento. The event includes mass ringing, workshops and a concert.

Included in River Bells' workshop and performance will be Processional and Joyful Dance by Margaret R. Tucker, Calypso on "He Leadeth Me," by William Bradbury, Celtic Farewell by Linda Lamb, and Siyahamba, a Zulu folk song, arranged by Robert J. Ward.

Composed of inspirational musicians and skillful performers, the artists behind RiverBells Sacramento have earned their reputation as a talented group to look out for. They continue to touch fans around the region with their distinct and enjoyable musical style.

Founded in 1998, RiverBells is a professional-quality, community English handbell ensemble sponsored in part by the Elk Grove Unified School District and located in the south Sacramento area. RiverBells consists of about fifteen ringers, several of whom are directors of other handbell ensembles. The group performs with six octaves of Schulmerich handbells and six octaves of Malmark choir chimes.

The workshop starts at 8:00 a.m. The concert starts at 3:00 p.m. For the workshop, there is a registration fee of $20.00 per ringer/$200.00 Max. The public concert that follows is free. Payments can be made online at www.riverbells.org or at the door on the day of the event.

Come join RiverBells on Saturday, April 1st, at Centennial United Methodist Church, 5401 Freeport Blvd, Sacramento, CA 95822, USA.

The RiverBells will be presenting a workshop on Saturday, April 1st prior to the "Spring Ring" concert at Centennial United Methodist Church in Sacramento. Photo courtesy of the RiverBells

City of Rancho Cordova Notice of Public Hearing

NOTICE is hereby given that on Monday, April 3, 2023, at 5:30 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, the City Council of the City of Rancho Cordova will hold a Public Hearing at the Rancho Cordova City Hall, located at 2729 Prospect Park Drive, Rancho Cordova, to consider the following:

ADOPTION OF THE FOURTH AMENDMENT TO THE 2020 ANNUAL ACTION PLAN (AAP) AND THE 2020-2024 CONSOLIDATED PLAN FOR THE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM (CDBG)

The Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act) was signed into law on March 27, 2020. The CARES Act allocates $5 billion in CDBG funds to eligible entitlement grantees and states to prevent, prepare for, and respond to Coronavirus (CDBG-CV grants). The Fourth Amendment to the 2020 AAP allocates the remaining CDBG-CV funds to activities that would serve this purpose. The City received $373,379 in CDBG-CV funds in 2020. This amendment will allocate $6,672.46 in unallocated CDBG-CV funds and $31,631.97 in reallocated CDBG-CV funds.

The release of this notice is part of the City's activities to fulfill citizen participation requirements. Federal regulations require localities to provide the public with reasonable access to CDBG documents. The CARES Act provides grantees with flexibilities that allow for the immediate availability of a 5-day public review comment period for amendments and new plan submissions. Therefore, the typical 30-day public review comment period has been shortened to 5 days.

The Fourth Amendment to the 2020 AAP is available for public review and comment starting March 24, 2023 and will continue until April 2, 2023. The community is invited to comment on the approval of the Amendment to the 2020 AAP. Comments may be submitted in person or via mail to Ka Vang in the Community Development Department at 2729 Prospect Park Drive, Rancho Cordova, CA 95670; by phone at (916) 851-8902; by e-mail at kvang@cityofranchocordova.org; or at the public hearing. Copies will be made available upon request and free of Written comments that are delivered to the City Clerk's office prior to the time of the hearing will be made a part of the public record.

Lancers Hit The 2023 Diamond

Story and photos by Rick Sloan

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Coming off last year's Greater Sacramento League (GSL) championship, varsity Head Coach Scott Ahlstrom is excited about starting his 3rd year at the helm of the legendary program that has produced many professional ballplayers. Last season his squad easily dominated league play and if everyone stays healthy this year, there's a possibility we could see a repeat performance. "This season's expectations are going to be a bit different than those of last year. Last year, it was to continue to grow the roots of the program while also waging a full-on assault on our league opponents. We intend to defend our league title and bring another banner to hang in the gym at Cordova HS," said Coach Ahlstrom.

This year, Coach Ahlstrom's goal is not only to focus on maintaining the league title but to continue to develop the younger players of which seven are freshmen. We have so many freshmen this year because there aren't enough players to field a junior varsity team. This year's crop of seniors that will supply the leadership necessary to develop the team are Alfredo Cervantes IV, Eli Campbell, Kevin Lewis, Joey Stark, Sean Cruz, and Young Owens.

One of the seven freshmen, Levi Nyberg is a very talented utility player that plays catcher, pitcher and infield. According to Coach Ahlstrom, Nyberg and Campbell just might be the top two pitchers in the league this year. Seniors Cervantes IV and Cruz are veteran savvy players with high baseball IQ's. Stark also should be a great contributor this year with his big bat which can cause damage in the middle of the lineup. Stark's batting average for the first three games of the season is .556.

Coach Ahlstrom has great praise for senior Campbell, stating that he thinks Campbell is one of the most overlooked players in the section. "Eli can hit for power and contact, as well as play a bulletproof catching position while also having the ability to dominate hitters on the mound with a fastball that is approaching 90 mph," said Coach Ahlstrom. The coach also thinks that Campbell has the ability to compete at the next level and play this game for a long time.

Another young player showing some promise is sophomore outfielder and utility player Logan Salazar. Salazar is currently leading the team in hitting with a .600 bating average.

Last year's football star, senior Lewis is another highly talented player that has been impressive early on. Kevin made a diving catch in left field to rob a Capitol Christian player of an extra base hit. He's been hitting well with two doubles and shows plenty of speed on the base paths.

The wet weather and the lack of outdoor field time has caused some development to be slowed, but the Lancers have found ways to win despite the elements and that according to Coach Ahlstrom is the mark of a good team. The Lancer's lost their first game against Capitol Christian but won the next two games, beating El Camino 7-5 and Foresthill 13-7. The next home game at Peterson Field will be a league contest against West Campus on March 31st starting at 4:00 pm. There will be a non-league double hitter at home against Galt on April 4th starting at 10:00 am. Come on out and cheer your Cordova Lancer's on to victory and watch some very talented ball players.

GO BIG RED!
