RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The 2023 Business Outlook and Economic Forecast, sponsored by the Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce, presented statistics, economic information, and opinions of involved and informed people in the know about our area. Featured speakers on Friday, February 3, included Dr. Sanjay Varshney, founder and principal of Goldenstone Wealth Management and Sadie St. Lawrence, founder and CEO, of Women in Data.

Varshney, who is also chief economist for the Sacramento Business Review, as well as professor of finance at California State University, Sacramento, began the subject of his address to the sold-out crowd at Sacramento Marriott Rancho Cordova with, "Is the Sacramento Region Ready for a Recession?" He continued with this: "Is the party over and has the hangover begun?" He followed it with a quote from Warren Buffet, "Only when the tide goes out do you know who has been swimming naked."

Varshney comes originally from northeastern India. He has lived in the United States for 34 years and the Sacramento area for 18 years. "I do a lot of economic forecasting for the region," Varshney said. "I've been doing it for the last 14 years in a row."

He earned an undergraduate degree in accounting and financial management from Bombay University, a master's degree in economics from the University of Cincinnati, and a PhD in finance from Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge. He also holds the Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA®) designation.

"We have a good tailwind," Varshney said. This includes low inventories, chronic underinvestment in housing, and household formation. "We made fun of the millennials," Varshney said. "They were living in their parents' basement at age 35, not getting married, not having children, not buying a house, not buying a car."

Sac County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento County Department of Airports, which operates Sacramento International Airport (SMF), announced on February 1, SMForward, a $1.3 billion expansion project that will reshape the Airport to accommodate projected passenger growth over the next seven years.

SMForward is embarking on a transformative journey, with the launch of six ambitious projects in 2024, including the construction of a stunning $140 million pedestrian walkway. This state-of-the-art walkway will seamlessly connect Terminal B to Concourse B, empowering passengers with the flexibility to choose between a leisurely walk to their gate or utilizing the Airport's efficient train system.

Additional SMForward projects include expansions to both Terminal A and Concourse B, which will add gates and new amenities; a new Terminal B parking garage; and a consolidated ground transportation center that will centralize taxi, rideshare, and off-site shuttle providers into a single area that is walkable from both terminals. SMForward is expected to conclude in late 2027 with the completion of a new $400 million consolidated rental car facility, allowing passengers access to the Airport's rental car providers without the need to ride a shuttle bus.

SMForward is a major milestone for Sacramento, representing the largest construction program in the airport's history. This ambitious project is not just an expansion, but a complete transformation of the airport experience for the people of Sacramento and its visitors. The project will bring about significant improvements and upgrades that will enhance the convenience, comfort, and accessibility of the airport for all.

"The airport experience is the first impression many

Sons of Union Veterans Keep Civil War History Alive

By Thomas J. Sullivan

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento membership of the non-profit Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War (SUVCW) is a fraternal, patriotic and educational organization to help keep the history of the Grand Army of the Republic (GAR) and its role in the history of California alive.

"We're actively looking for new members throughout California to consider joining us," said Steve Bogart, whose ancestor Sgt. George S. Rhoades, served in Company D, of the 44th Missouri Infantry.

Organized in the structure of a military camp, as the Union Army itself was during the Civil War, members of the General George Wright Camp 22 of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War meet on the first Friday of every month at Sam's Hofbrau Restaurant on 2500 Watt Avenue in Sacramento from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Members and their guests are welcome to attend monthly meetings. Its organization follows the guidelines of the national SUVCW, with a Camp Commander, Senior Vice-Commander, Junior Vice-Commander, Secretary, and Treasurer, all of whom are elected annually by the Camp members. The camp serves Northern California, Sacramento, and the Central Valley region.

In addition to meeting socially, SUVCW members wear the blue dress enlisted and officer uniforms of the Grand Army of the Republic era as they participate in historical re-enactments within the state and perform official honors and ceremonies throughout the year.

Bogart acknowledges ancestors in his family who served opposing sides during the Civil War and has fulfilled the role of chaplain in both the Sons of Union and Sons of Confederate groups. He's a former member of the California State Military Museum in Old Sacramento and a recipient of the California Military History medal.

"I'm proud of their individual military service during the Civil War, and I feel it's important to honor them and their legacy," he said.

"Our Sacramento-based (SUV) group began in 1995," he said. "Many of our members can trace their ancestors to those served during the Civil War in Union volunteer infantry units from the states of Indiana, New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, just to name a few."

In the Sylvan Cemetery at 7401 Auburn Blvd in Citrus Heights, the resting place of almost 1,400 Veterans, has some of its earliest burials from survivors of the Civil War. Nine soldiers who came to the area after the Civil War ended and are buried there.

"SUV members have been involved in four gravesite dedications of Civil War soldiers at the Sylvan Cemetery in Citrus Heights where a memorial headstone was... placed on a soldier's grave where there was none, and a full civil memorial grave ceremony was then held," Bogart said.

"In doing so, our members honor the history and legacy of heroes who fought and worked to save the Union," he said. A rifle color guard of the SUV has also fired at numerous annual Memorial Day and Veteran's Day ceremonies held there annually, he said.

The National Organization of the SUVCW now oversees the operation of 31 departments, each consisting of one or more states, along with a department-at-large, a national membership-at-large, and over 200 community-based camps.

In California, the history of the Grand Army of the Republic (GAR) at Sutterville, in the Sacramento area is a fascinating one.

Sutterville, known as Sutter and Sutter City, was located on the Southern Pacific Railroad about 2.25 miles south-southwest of the city limits. Pioneer John A. Sutter had Lansford W. Hastings and John Bidwell lay out the town in 1844, south of his embarcadero on a low bluff overlooking the Sacramento River. When the town of Sacramento developed at Sutter's embarcadero, Sutterville fell into decline.

Its fortunes quickly changed when Camp Union became California's most prominent provider of troops for camps in the West throughout the years of the Civil War.

A third of California's 15,000 volunteers who served in the GAR trained at Camp Union, located at Sutterville Road and Land Park Drive. The site has since been designated a state historical landmark.

Members of the 5th Infantry Regiment California Volunteers were organized at Camp Union on October 8, 1861, and trained by Brevet Brigadier General George W. Bowie for duty in Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas against the Confederate forces. The camp operated from 1861 until it was evacuated due to the flood waters from the Great Sacramento Flood of 1862.

The 5th Regiment joined the California Column and marched across southern New Mexico Territory to Texas. There it occupied Franklin, Texas until the regiment was mustered out in December of 1864.

Towards the end of the Civil War, Camp Union became a discharge center for returning troops until the post was closed and abandoned in 1866.

In all, members of the 5th Regiment California Volunteer Infantry spent much of their time in service in the western United States, attached to the Department of the Pacific and Department of New Mexico.

Hereditary membership is available to a male descendant, 14 years of age (6 to 14 for Juniors), who descends from a soldier, sailor, Marine or member of the Revenue Cutter Service (or directly descend from a brother, sister, half-brother, or half-sister of such Soldier, etc.) who was regularly mustered and served honorably in, was honorably discharged from, or died in the service of, the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Revenue Cutter Service of the United States of America or in such state regiments called to active service and was subject to the orders of United States general officers, between April 12, 1861 and April 9, 1865.

"We're a very active group in California," Bogart said. "A number of men have also participated in the Civil War re-enactments both at Fort Point in San Francisco during Civil War Days and as Friends of Civil War Alcatraz in recognition of its defensive role during that war."

Men with an interest in joining the SUVCW but who do not live in an area where an SUVCW Department or Camp exists, may join as "members-at-large," Bogart said.

Those interested in learning more about the Sacramento SUV group can contact Bogart by phone at 916-489-8895 or attend a monthly meeting on the first Friday of every month at the Hof Brau Restaurant on 2500 Watt Avenue in Sacramento from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Visit <https://camp22.org/> or <https://www.suvpac.org/> for a listing of upcoming activities in the California region. ★

SMF Launches Expansion Project

people see when they arrive in Northern California – and the last as they leave,” said Cindy Nichol, Director of Sacramento County Department of Airports. “SMForward will change the airport’s skyline, but it also sets the stage for the airport’s growth and our region’s as a whole.”

SMForward creates jobs and economic opportunities for local businesses and serves as a catalyst for further development in the region. The project will help Sacramento to be more competitive as a destination, attract more visitors and businesses, and ultimately contribute to the growth of the region.

SMForward is a visionary project that will be financed through a combination of federal and state grants, municipal bonds issued by the airport, and user fees. This means that the burden of financing will not fall on the local taxpayers.

“Over the next five years, this transformation will create world-class facilities that will enhance our customer’s travel experience while improving crucial infrastructure to meet our growth,” said Nichol. “Our airfield has plenty of capacity, but our parking, concourses, and roadways have several choke points. SMForward will address these issues and create an airport ready to serve the modern passenger.”

SMForward comes as air travel demand in the Greater Sacramento region continues to exceed peer airports in the region after unprecedented impacts from the COVID-19 pandemic. In 2022, SMF nearly returned to pre-pandemic levels with six consecutive years of year-over-year record-breaking passenger growth through 2019. Forecasts show steady passenger growth averaging 4.3 percent annually through 2041, underscoring the need for expansion.

“With record numbers of people traveling through SMF and the region’s growing economy that continues to create new opportunities, Sacramento International Airport is at a crucial intersection,” said Sacramento

County Supervisor Phil Serna, “It is critical to invest in our aviation infrastructure to ensure we can meet the needs of residents and travelers who will make the region an even better place to live, work and visit.”

“SMForward represents the continued implementation of SMF’s master plan, which the Sacramento County Board of Supervisors approved in February 2022. The plan evaluated past and projected passenger growth along with infrastructure needs as a basis for developing a plan to accommodate that growth,” said TJ Chen, Deputy Director of Airport Planning and Development. “In addition to roadways and gates, the master plan anticipates the additional facilities and airfield infrastructure needed to meet the growing demand for air travel.”

“A lot of hard work and planning has gone into ensuring the success of SMForward,” Nichol said. “I want to thank the SMF team and Sacramento County leadership for their dedication and support in helping shape this project.”

Additional information and business opportunities within SMForward can be found on the newly launched website at SMForward.com. The website provides a wealth of information on the projects, timelines, and opportunities for businesses and individuals to get involved and be a part of this exciting journey of shaping the future of travel. Stay informed, stay connected, and be a part of the revolution.

The Sacramento County Department of Airports is responsible for planning, developing, operating and maintaining the county’s four airports: Sacramento International Airport, Executive Airport, Mather Airport and Franklin Field. Sacramento International Airport offers more than 155 daily nonstop flights on 12 domestic and international carriers to 36 destinations. The regional economic impact of the Sacramento County Department of Airports is more than $4 billion annually. For more information, visit sacramento.aero. ★

Prepare and Stay Optimistic, Say Business Outlook Speakers

That's changed." Further tailwinds are the millennials finally coming into wealth so they can actually spend money, the consumer remains strong, the job market remains strong.

Countering the tailwinds are the headwinds: employer layoffs, workers being asked to return to the office, inflation remains persistent, policy errors by the Federal Reserve and Congress.

"Then what happens if the whole thing goes radically wrong, which affects policy and we enter a period of stagflation with high inflation?" Varshney said, "So I made these comments last year, too, right? And I'm still sticking to my guns. I'm probably in a minority group of people who still believe that a soft landing is possible . . . The stock market, which is usually 6 months ahead of the game, has done okay. So I'm optimistic. That's my message for you guys this morning – stay optimistic. Rancho Cordova is a great place to be."

Sadie St. Lawrence, founder and CEO of Women in Data, an international non-profit organization, focused on increasing diversity in data careers. "We have a community of over 40,000 individuals and representation in 55 countries, and we started here in Sacramento, California," she said of Women in Data.

St. Lawrence earned a bachelor's degree in psychology, a master's degree in data science and worked in neuroscience. She also has an associate degree in piano performance and has performed on the concert stage.

"Now my new thing is learning to play the harp," St. Lawrence said. "I grew up in Iowa, actually, and then I moved out to Sacramento for college and fell in love with the region and have never left."

The subject of St. Lawrence's address was based on was, "How AI is rapidly changing the business landscape and what you need to do to stay competitive." She gave surfing as an example, saying, "out in the ocean on your surfboard you can't just sit still. You have to paddle forward and build up speed to match the velocity of the approaching wave to catch the wave. Similarly, with AI, you can't just wait for the wave to hit you, you must take the time to learn and invest in it. I'll be honest with you, the best time to invest in AI would have been the wave prior to 2020, but it's never too late to start the process. Companies that were early adopters to AI (prior to 2020) are expected to see 100% increase in cash flow by 2030, whereas companies who do not adopt AI are expected to see a 20% decrease in cash flow by 2030, so the best time to start is now . . . I'll just close by saying that the best way to predict the future is to invent it, and we are living in the perfect time to create a better world alongside AI."

Diann Rogers, President and CEO of Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce, gave the results of the Business Confidence Survey comparing the first quarter of 2022 results with last quarter of 2022. Overall, at least in expectations, in the areas of sales, profits, employment; and expectations for local, state and U.S. business conditions the results for conditions to improve was 62.5% in February of 2022 versus 51.1% in November 2022 expecting conditions to improve.

New Rancho Cordova City Manager Micah Runner (new to that position, but not new to Rancho Cordova), and Amanda Norton, economic director for the City, reported on business conditions for the City of Rancho Cordova:

New company SolidigmTM chose Rancho Cordova for its global research and development campus, which will be home to more than 1,900 professionals in highly paid technology jobs over the next five years, investing more than $100 million into the facility;

ThermoGenesis will bring rentable wet lab space and GMP compliant clean rooms in a single facility, an industry first;

The City has partnered with SiFi on the FiberCity® initiative. The fiber network will enable connectivity to every home and business in the city, helping to close the digital divide, and will allow multiple providers to deliver internet services, giving customers more choice;

The new Highway 50 interchange is scheduled to have the design completed by end of calendar year 2024. The bicycle and pedestrian overcrossing on Zinfandel Drive is in the planning stages;

Home construction for fiscal year 21/22 was 652 homes with future construction anticipated to be 400 units per year with an existing base of over 4,000 units. ★

Here we go again with history. I am a member of the American Legion, and this month the American Legion Magazine focused on Black History Month. Some of the history which was in the magazine talked about some of the changes in the military. The Navy and the Air Force had begun integrating their ranks, but the Army remained segregated.

“Despite the resistance, the Korean War came at a time when the role and percentage of African Americans in the military was on the rise. In the wake of WWII, as white GIs were happy to get home and resume their lives, the military - despite continued segregation - provided economic opportunities for black troops and a haven from the most oppressive aspects of Jim Crow society”. South Carolina’s Leroy Williams recalled that “having no resources to go to college, I convinced my mother to let me volunteer for the Army when he graduated from high school in 1947. For men like Williams the military was viewed as a path to upward mobility.”

There was much more information in the articles about Black Americans, but I found information that is new to me. Part of it is “The Black POW experience. When the Korean War began in 1950, much of the Army remained solidly segregated. As a result, all-Black units stationed in post-World II Japan were among the first U.S. troops to enter Korea. Almost two-thirds of American POWs were taken in the first six months of the war, when a large number of all-Black units were on the front lines. As a result, only the Civil War saw more African American soldiers taken prisoner.”

And Another Thing

History is Extremely Informative, Educational, New, and Accurate

Part of that story was extremely interesting and new to me. “In camps located along the Chinese border, their captors separated the prisoners by nationality and race. The Chinese segregated U.S. troops to both foment discord and forestall unity. They tried to turn the whites against the Negroes, and when that failed they tried to turn the Negroes against the whites,” a white POW remembered.” The Chinese also subjected all prisoners to intense, daily ideological indoctrination to try to force the prisoners to accept communist ideology. Much of the “re-education” was based on racial friction in the United States.”

I could continue with more of the information in the magazine articles, but there is so much in it that it would be impossible to copy all of it. I just think there is probably some new information to some of our readers about the Korean War. As I have said in the past, history is extremely informative, educational, new, and accurate (most of the time). Some of it is truly disgusting when we read about the millions of people who were killed because of their race and religion.

There were some interesting events in the news recently like that balloon from China. No one has shot it down yet, but we’ll have to see what it really is pretty soon.

From Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

‘Day of Reckoning’

Commentary by Bruce Lee

As all parents or adults, we have daily needs, grocery, shelter, transportation, repair bills, electricity to keep the lights on plus a host of other things. And occasionally you feel the desire to splurge, maybe a weekend getaway. Maybe we spend more than we can afford, but there’s always the credit card!

Eventually the debt builds grows, the budget stretches, and you make “interest only” payments occasionally; but even minimum payments on the credit card, at 8-18% interest, the amount owed balloons! But it’s okay. That hoped for wage increase in six months will ease the burden. However, you know that you can’t continue this way and that eventually your debtors will require a “day of reckoning.” You pray that your lenders will simply forget about you!

Teaching personal finance at the university, I’ve seen it all, families struggling financially, having autos repossessed, inability to afford a home, debt burdens, and bankruptcy. They muse, “If only I had learned to live on a budget.” In fact, all states in the USA (except Vermont) require a balanced budget! California, the sixth largest nation-state in the world, has a yearly balanced budget! (Though having worked for the Governor’s Department of Finance, sometimes the revenues might be bit overestimated, and expenses underestimated, but still basically balanced.)

Hopefully you’re aware that the United States has no requirement to balance its budget. But are you aware that the debt of the national government is your debt? As the citizen owners of our government, we are also going into debt. And are you aware of just how much debt the USA has?

USA debt has dramatically increased in the past 30 years and is currently $30.2 trillion ($30,200,000,000,000) and rising! Your individual fair share is $90,853!! And we, our children, and grandchildren will be paying for that bill! Now, suddenly it’s not just a big number about a distant government, it’s about YOU!

And this, $30.2 trillion does NOT reflect our unfunded liabilities that exceed $100 trillion, and that in less than ten years our interest on the debt will be $1 trillion a year (that’s interest only!)

At this moment, Medicare will be insolvent by 2026 and Social Security by 2030.

Again, this is a MASSIVE burden upon future generations, unless you think the USA government is somehow exempt from the basic rules of finance.

If you and I spent money so recklessly, you know that our “house of cards” would soon come tumbling down. Perhaps those from whom we (the US government) have borrowed won’t want their money back? Perhaps they’ll say, “Aw, shucks USA, that’s alright, you don’t have to pay me back?” Maybe. But then, again, some of us may still believe in the “tooth fairy.”

The immediate result of this debt is slower growth; compromised national security in an already very dangerous world; more of a gap between the haves and have not’s; increasing taxes from Washington; and the federal government will cut spending only to give more unfunded mandates to the states. Ultimately, taxpayers and the states will bear the burden.

Just as a lender looks at your financial ability to pay for a loan, or debt to income ratio, we can look at the financial stability of the USA by comparing our debt to our “gross domestic product or GDP” (the total of goods and services created by the US economy annually). It should normally be 30-40%. Today it’s 129% and growing. Is the day of reckoning upon us?

We’ll look at this debt ratio; our history of debt; who’s responsible; and solutions in upcoming columns. Check out.

Newsom Shuns Blame for California’s Unseemly Issues

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Gov. Gavin Newsom’s obvious efforts to raise his national profile have taken two forms – touting California as a societal model and criticizing red states such as Florida and Texas for their supposed shortcomings.

Increasingly, Newsom employs a third tactic – shifting blame for California’s less seemly aspects.

That tendency is particularly evident in something that Californians rate as one of their top concerns – its worst-in-the-nation incidence of homelessness, manifested in thousands of squalid encampments in the state’s cities.

While running for governor in 2018, Newsom promised to appoint a cabinet-level official to concentrate on homelessness but later, when reporters pressed him, responded, “You want to know who’s the homeless czar?” Newsom. “I’m the homeless czar in the state of California.”

Despite that self-appointed role, as homelessness continued to grow, officially approaching 200,000 people but probably much higher, Newsom began shunning responsibility.

Last year, he blamed local officials for a lack of effective action, at one point suspending state funds. He later restored the money but continued to castigate them.

“If we can’t clean up the encampments and address what’s happening chronically on our streets, I’m going to be hard-pressed to make a case to the Legislature to provide them one dollar more,” Newsom said as he introduced a new state budget in January.

Another example of Newsom’s fingerpointing occurred last week as a congressional committee dominated by Republicans delved into why states – particularly California – handed out billions of dollars in unemployment insurance benefits to fraudsters.

The state auditor had issued a report citing the Employment Development Department’s “poor planning and ineffective management” for shortcomings in handling unemployment insurance claims. But the current EDD director, Nancy Farias, sent the committee a four-page letter blaming Donald Trump’s administration for as much as $30 billion in fraudulent payments.

“Unfortunately, the Trump Administration expressed no interest in establishing (a) coordinated national response when these (emergency pandemic unemployment) programs were initiated in 2020, leaving states to fend for themselves against a clear pattern of sophisticated, international criminal syndicates at work,” Farias’ letter, which no doubt was approved by the governor’s office, said.

A third example of blame-shifting also popped up last week when Fresno County District Attorney Lisa Smittcamp cited Newsom’s support for lenient prison policies that allowed the alleged killer of Selma policeman Gonzalo Carrasco to be released after serving just six months of a 64-month sentence for a previous crime.

“Today, Governor Gavin Newsom, and every legislator in the state of California who supports this over-reaching phenomenon they try to disguise as legitimate criminal justice reform, has the blood of this officer on their hands,” Smittcamp said.

“The governor and his political allies who continue the quest to close state prisons are increasing the incidents of violence to everyone who lives in, or visits, the state of California,” Smittcamp continued. “No city or county is safe from the wrath of this misguided thinking, and this mismanaged prison system.” Newsom quickly fired back, referring to the plea bargain that Smittcamp’s office accepted: “She should blame herself. I’ve been listening to this for years from her. She has the prosecutorial discretion. Ask her what she did in terms of prosecuting that case.”

Smittcamp persisted, saying, “Governor Newsom continues to demonstrate his ignorance and lack of understanding of how the criminal justice system works. His arrogant and defensive response is proof positive that he is attempting to deflect responsibility for his failed policies.”

It is outrageous that the alleged killer, a self-proclaimed gang member with an extensive criminal record, was released after just six months. And it does exemplify the uber-lenient penal policies California has adopted in recent years, begun by former Gov. Jerry Brown and continued by Newsom.

Dave Ramsey Says

It's not as Difficult as you Think

Dear Dave,

I'm single, and I make $35,000 a year. Next year, my salary and bonuses should be around $50,000. I have a little over $30,000 in debt right now, including student loans, and I'm not sure how I'll be able to keep up with bills and everything else right now if I have to save $1,000 for a starter emergency fund like you recommend. Can I get by with a starter emergency fund of $500?

– Jonas

Dear Jonas,

I really think you're making this whole thing sound a lot harder than it really is. They key is making and living on a budget, and that's not rocket science. It's a simple, written planning process where you give a name and a job to every dollar you make before the month begins.

Food, shelter, clothing, transportation and utilities are necessities, so they come first. After that, make sure you're current on your debts. Once all that is out of the way, put every spare dollar you can into your emergency fund. If you do this with a sense of urgency, and limit spending to necessities, you'll be surprised by how fast it will happen. And you'll love the newfound sense of security.

The truth is you really need a starter emergency fund of $1,000 if you're at a point in life where student loans and other debts are in the picture. That may seem like an impossible goal right now, but it should be your first priority. And a written, monthly budget will go a long way toward helping you achieve that goal.

You can do this, Jonas!

Suspect in Vehicle Pursuit Arrested for Homicide in Rancho Cordova

Sac County Sheriff's News Release

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - At approximately 1:17 P.M. on Wednesday, February 1, 2023, Rancho Cordova Police Officers responded to a residence on Ramsgate Way in the city of Rancho Cordova. A caller reported a male subject stabbed the victim and ran her over with a vehicle. When officers arrived, they discovered an 18-year-old female suffering from multiple stab wounds and requested the fire department respond to assist. The Sacramento Metro Fire Department arrived moments later and began to render medical aid. Unfortunately, the victim succumbed to her injuries and was pronounced deceased at the scene.

Homicide detectives and Crime Scene Investigators responded to the scene a short time later, interviewed witnesses, and gathered evidence. Based on their investigation, homicide detectives identified the suspect as 22-year-old Devian Lewis.

Detectives began a search for Lewis and discovered the California Highway Patrol (CHP) was in a vehicle pursuit with Lewis on Interstate 80 near Dixon. Sheriff units joined CHP as the pursuit continued through Sacramento southbound on Highway 99. During the pursuit, deputies learned Lewis was armed. Lewis exited westbound on Cosumnes River Boulevard and eventually made his way into Elk Grove when the Elk Grove Police Department joined in to assist as well.

The pursuit came to an end in the city of Elk Grove, where an officer involved shooting took place during his apprehension. Lewis was transported to a local hospital, where he currently remains until he is medically cleared.

The Sacramento County Sheriff's Office is the primary investigating agency for the homicide which occurred in Rancho Cordova. The Elk Grove Police Department and the Sacramento County District Attorney's Office will be investigating the officer-involved shooting, as it occurred within the city limits of Elk Grove. ★

High Expectations Fuels Cordova Boys Soccer!

Story and photos by Rick Sloan

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Coming off their very first league championship last year, the Cordova boys soccer team has certainly lived up to any expectations Head Coach Eric McCahon had for his squad. Coach McCahon said, "We have a solid core of players back from last season's co-championship and section playoff quarterfinals".

Coach McCahon purposely put together a tough non-league schedule to help prepare for another tough season of Greater Sacramento League (GSL) play and hopefully another run in the playoffs. As the GSL 22-23 season wraps up league play, the Lancers find themselves in 2nd place behind Valley. The Lancers are currently 11-7-1 and 7-3 in league competition. "The boys really came together after winning the Ponderosa Tournament back in December," said Coach McCahon.

Offensively, the team is led by senior forward/midfielder Christian Gonzalez who has 14 goals and 19 assists for the year with 2 games remaining. Gonzalez currently is leading the league in the scoring category with 43 points. Senior Aldrick Bejines is the team's mid-field playmaker with the great ability of playing both sides of the ball. Another outstanding player is junior forward Giovanni Reyes, who has been a major catalyst all season. Together with senior winger Antonio Gamez and junior winger Christian Rodriguez, this group of players according to Coach McCahon is easily one of the most talented offensive groups he has ever had the pleasure of coaching. To date (February 5th) they have scored 53 goals in 19 matches with two matches

Defensively, the Lancers are led by an all-junior back line in Mateo Munoz, Alex Jauregui, and Steven Myatt. Junior goalkeeper Drake Garner rounds out a very solid and very talented group. "It's a privilege coaching this young group of men who have come together to represent their school and their community at the highest levels," said Coach McCahon.

Coach McCahon is in his 18th season at the helm of Cordova boys soccer, and he couldn't be more delighted on how the program has developed throughout the years. This year is even more exciting for Coach McCahon because one of his former players, Pedro Garcia, has stepped up to the role as the JV Coach. "He (Pedro) does an incredible job developing our freshmen and sophomores," said Coach McCahon.

I'm very impressed with this group of young players. The match that I came out to watch and photograph happened to be in 43-degree weather. They won 5-1 against Johnson. Never before have I witnessed so many shots on goal and such a relentless defense, keeping the ball in their offensive control most of the match. They never slowed down or lost focus during play one bit. This team is a great example of all the hard work, dedication and ethos Coach McCahon brings to the program.

Check the Cordova High website for more information regarding time and locations for the post-season play. I wish them all the best and a very sincere congratulations on a job well done. ★

Go Big Red!

Heart to Heart

It's flowers, candy, a special dinner and that's Valentine's Day, right? But have you ever thought about how Valentine's Day came about? Let's explore. First of all you need to know the history is kind of murky. Here are some surprising facts. The St. Valentine who inspired the holiday may have been two different men. Originally recognized by the Roman Catholic Church, St Valentine is known to be a real person who died in A.D. 270. One account from the 1400s describes Valentine as a temple priest who was beheaded near Rome by the emperor Claudius II for helping Christian couples wed. A different account claims Valentine was the Bishop of Terni, also martyred on the outskirts of Rome. In all, there are about a dozen St. Valentines, plus a pope. The saint we celebrate is known officially as St. Valentine of Rome. Because "Valentinus" from the Latin word for worthy, strong or powerful, it was a popular moniker as several martyrs over the centuries have carried this name. By the way, Saints are certainly expected to keep busy in the afterlife. Their holy duties include interceding in earthly affairs and entertaining petitions from living souls. And St. Valentine has wide-ranging spiritual responsibilities. People call on him to watch over the lives of lovers, of course, but also for interventions regarding beekeeping and epilepsy, as well as the plague, fainting and traveling. You can find Valentine's skull in Rome. The flower-adorned skull is on display in the Basilica of Santa Maria in Cosmedin, Rome. In the early 1800s, the excavation of a catacomb near Rome yielded skeletal remains now associated with St. Valentine. Did you know that English poet Geoffrey Chaucer may have invented St. Valentine's Day? The medieval poet often took liberties with history, placing his poetic characters into fictitious historical context that he represented as real. No record exists of romantic celebrations on Valentine's Day prior to a poem he wrote around 1375. In his work "Parliament of Foules," he links a tradition of courtly love with the celebration of St. Valentine's feast day—an association that didn't exist until after his poem received widespread attention. And here's a good one. You can celebrate Valentine's Day several times a year. Because of the abundance of St. Valentines on the Roman roster, you can choose to celebrate Viterbo on November 3. Maybe you might want to get a jump on the traditional day by feting St. Valentine of Raetia on January 7. Women might choose to honor the only female St Valentine (Valentina) a virgin martyred in Palestine on July 25, A. D. 308. Take your choice!

But commercialization came about in the 1840s. It took off in the U.S. as increased paper production and printing presses lowered costs and increased the pre-printed cards featuring fancy lace etc. As for the candy, flowers and special dinners, commerce catches on as always. But always remember what the day is about...caring and sharing and not how much you spend. I know, stop laughing!

HAPPY VALENTINE'S DAY WITH MUCH LOVE!!!

Juniper Creek Concludes the Season of Giving with Community Grant Awards

Juniper Creek Storage Press Release

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - As the giving season comes to a close, the Juniper Creek Energy Storage project is giving back to the community by providing donations to local organizations. With two generous donations, they're ensuring the community youth are engaged in healthy activities, and that everyone has a full stomach all year long.

The gifts support both the Rancho Cordova Food Locker to join the Rancho Cordova community as they fight against hunger, and the Rancho Cordova Police Department Police Activities League (RCPD PAL) to ensure that Rancho Cordova's finest are able to serve the community youth with vital skills such as teamwork and sportsmanship.

Keleigh Wright, Juniper Creek Storage Project Developer said: "From all of us at Juniper Creek Energy Storage, we're happy to support those who work tirelessly to benefit the Rancho Cordova community. We are proud to be working in a vibrant community and it's important to all of us at Juniper Creek Energy Storage to be a good neighbor and advocate for great work."

Jose De La Cruz, Executive Director of the Rancho Cordova Police Activities League responded: "With the help of our community partners, such as Vesper Energy, we were able to serve more than 3,500 youth in the community in 2022. Vesper's support to our youth most in need at the Holiday Run, shows their commitment to our community and it was very much appreciated."

If approved and built, the Juniper Creek Energy Storage project will benefit the whole community by delivering energy to customers during times of peak demand, when it's needed most. This project will also create the ability to drastically enhance storage capacity to make the power grid more reliable and resilient overall. It's one big step in helping Sacramento Municipal Utility District in their goal to deliver a zero-carbon future and prevent the likelihood of local power outages. ★
