Dig to Aid Chinooks

Giant earthmovers relocate gravel in river shallows near Ancil Hoffman Park. The project will recreate natural spawning riffles for endangered migratory fish.

Story and photos
by Susan Maxwell Skinner

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - In one of the largest movements of American River sediment since the Gold Rush, a Water Forum project is relocating nearly 16,000 cubic yards of gravel in shallows near Ancil Hoffman Park.

Huge excavators, dump trucks and bulldozers have worked against the clock to restore diminished fish spawning habitats before this fall's salmon run. By November, giant Chinooks will return—hell-bent on reproduction—by the thousands to home waters. Soon after, steelhead arrive for the same purpose. Because Nimbus and Folsom dams curtail migration, spawning must occur in river shallows before these obstacles—or be achieved artificially at the Nimbus Fish Hatchery. “We have a narrow work window, as specified by the Endangered Species Act,” explains Water Forum Program manager Erica Bishop. “Our work is targeted over a time frame when it’s least likely to affect resident fish.”

Forming a giant alcove upstream from the golf course, the augmented Ancil Hoffman riffle will provide fish increased gravel areas for redd (nest) building.

“Salmon and steelhead have traditionally spawned in this area,” Bishop explains. “Over time, rivers move sediment and these gravel beds have become degraded. Because of the dams, new sediment can’t replace what’s moved downstream. The lower American River is gravel-starved. Fish don’t have sufficient breeding habitat. Some return to their home river and find nowhere to spawn.”

The $1.4 million Water Forum project is one of many restoration programs that support endangered anadromous species that begin and end lifecycles in the American River. Thousands of tons of gravel – sorted

Free County Flu Clinics Going on Now

Sacramento County
News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - With flu season approaching, Sacramento County Public Health urges everyone to get a flu shot to protect themselves and their families from influenza. From Sept. 28 – Nov. 13, the Sacramento County Immunization Assistance Program will host free Adult and Family Flu Clinics throughout Sacramento County.

This year it is especially important to get a flu shot as COVID-19 continues to spread. In an effort to fight both viruses, all Public Health clinics will offer flu and COVID-19 vaccines, including at existing COVID-19 vaccine clinics. It is safe to receive flu and COVID-19 vaccines at the same time, according to the CDC.

“Vaccines are proven to reduce the risk of severe illness, hospitalization and death,” said Sacramento County Public Health Officer Dr. Olivia Kasiryev. “Those who cannot receive the vaccine, including infants and individuals with a compromised immune system such as those going through chemotherapy, rely on others being vaccinated to help protect them.”

All clinics take walk-ins, without the need for appointments.

Vaccination of people at high risk for flu complications is especially important to decrease their risk of severe illness. These include seniors and people with chronic conditions such as diabetes, high blood pressure, lung disease and kidney disease. The same underlying health conditions put people at higher risk for COVID-19. If you are at high risk, it is especially important for you to get a flu vaccine this year. Getting a flu vaccine will not only reduce your risk from flu but also help conserve potentially scarce health care resources.

Flu vaccine is also recommended for infants ages six months and older who do not have a medical condition that makes the flu vaccine inadvisable.

As with COVID-19, it’s crucial to practice good health habits:

If you feel flu-like symptoms, limit contact with others to keep from infecting them:

Stay home for at least 24 hours after you fever is gone, except to get medical care or for other necessities; Cover your coughs or sneezes and wash your hands; Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth; Clean and disinfect surfaces and

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The California Capital Airshow (CCA), presented by Sacramento County in partnership with the City of Rancho Cordova, wrapped its 2021 Airshow on Sunday, September 26th with a sell-out resulting in 75,000 attendees at the three-day limited capacity outdoor event. The Airshow welcomed veterans, families, and thrill-seekers to Mather Airport with the first-ever Afterburnin’ Drive-In Airshow on Friday and the more traditional aviation festival on Saturday and Sunday featuring performances from two North American jet demonstration teams, U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds and Canadian Forces Snowbirds, and a robust roster of talented pilots flying the most capable aircraft in the world.

eager to deliver more fun and excitement than ever before. The Airshow continued its mission with a 3-day STEM Expo beginning Friday, focusing on young women exposing them to the wide variety of exceptional careers available in aviation and aerospace. From Friday afternoon through Sunday, the Mather Airport skies were filled with the roar of two F-35 Lightnings, the screech of a F-18 Super Hornet, and the emotional tribute performances to the Korean War, Air Force, and Navy. There was something for everyone and all ages, and no matter where you turned, attendees got to experience first-hand the power, technology, and art of aviation.

“By the smiles on the faces of the fans – it was a perfect airshow weekend. The outdoor event was safe with reduced capacity along the ramp, and attendees were thrilled to gather again,” explained Terrence McNamara, CCA Board Chairman. “Putting on an Airshow is a massive undertaking, and

California Business Roundtable News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - According to data published by the U.S. Census Bureau, California continues to have the worst poverty rate among all states when adjusted to account for government programs designed to help low-income families and necessary expenses for critical goods and services. “More people live in poverty in California than in any other state because of our high and rising costs of living. More than 16 percent of Americans living in poverty live in California, despite being home to just 12 percent of the population,” said Rob Lapsley, president of the California Business Roundtable. “Driven by our housing and overall cost-of-living crisis, more Californians struggling to make ends meet are falling into poverty.”

California’s cost-adjusted poverty rate (2018-2020 average) was 15.4 percent, while 16.5 percent of all Americans living in poverty live in California. Rates among the other states ranged from 5.9 percent in Minnesota to 14.5 percent in Mississippi (16.5 percent in DC), with the US average at 11.2 percent and the average among all states other than California at 10.6 percent. For the first time, California residents paid more for electricity in March 2021 than the average for all other states in the nation. They also continue to pay the highest gas taxes and prices in the country and for the ongoing housing crisis through increased housing costs. As tracked by the Center for Jobs and the Economy’s Affordability Index, nearly all necessity costs for the average California family continue to increase. “Unfortunately, it is likely that our poverty crisis will continue to get worse,” Mr. Lapsley continued. “We are seeing a significant increase in inflation, which will drive costs up even higher. At the same time, a series of new and expensive energy mandates are being implemented, which will drive up the cost on home electricity, gasoline, goods and services, and housing. And let’s not forget the more than $200 billion in new and higher taxes introduced by the California Legislature in 2021 alone. Without prioritizing focus on affordability and honest discussion of the price Californians are paying for new and expensive regulations, fees and mandates, we will never address the growing poverty crisis in our state.” ★

Sac Brews and Brains Fundraising for United Way Digital Equity Program

By Kristin Thébaud, Thébaud Comm.

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Local residents can enjoy independent craft brews and trivia in an urban Biergarten at United Way's 7th annual Brews and Brains fundraiser on Oct. 14, hosted by United Way's Young Leaders Society and sponsored by Enterprise Rent-A-Car. Tickets are on sale for the outdoor event at SacYard Community Tap House that also will include a raffle, commemorative pint glass, food and entertainment to raise funds for United Way's work to create digital equity across the region. Tickets are expected to sell out. To purchase, visit YourLocalUnitedWay.org/YLS-Brews-Brains.

"Brews and Brains is one of the most anticipated trivia nights of the year," said Eric Grabin, chair, United Way's Young Leaders Society. "What can be better than trivia, brews and food while supporting the ongoing effort of United Way's Digital Equity program and Young Leaders Society?"

United Way launched its three-year digital equity partnership with the City of Sacramento, SMUD, City of Rancho Cordova and community nonprofits in July to close the local digital divide - unequal technology and internet access - that has expanded during the pandemic. Building on its pilot project with the City of Sacramento in fall 2020, United Way and its partners are working to address the issue of digital equity long-term both inside and beyond the city limits. The program will provide internet access for up to 1,000 households a year, refurbished desktop computers for up to 500 people per year and digital literacy training through online resources and classes.

With more than 24 million unconnected households nationwide, the digital divide disproportionately affects minority and low-income populations. According to the Federal Communications Commission, 35 percent of adults who do not use broadband at home are older, poorer, less educated, more likely to be a racial or ethnic minority, and more likely to have a disability than those with a home connection. In Sacramento, there are neighborhoods where 25 percent of households have no internet access. To learn more, visit YourLocalUnitedWay.org/Digital.

"The digital divide is not new, but it has expanded rapidly with the pandemic when so many parents began working from home and kids began learning remotely," said Amber Lovett, interim president and CEO, United Way California Capital Region. "We need to address this issue immediately. We are grateful to United Way's Young Leaders Society for recognizing that this is a critical program for achieving equity across the region, and for selecting this program for their fundraising work this year."

United Way's Young Leaders Society creates opportunities for young professionals who live or work in the California capital region to connect with peers and community leaders and give back through acts of service and volunteering. For more information or to join, visit YourLocalUnitedWay.org/YLS.

For nearly 100 years, United Way California Capital Region has brought local people together to make community change happen. With a mission to build stronger, healthier and more compassionate communities, the local United Way starts at square one: helping every family succeed so their community can too. Serving Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo counties, the local United Way is working to meet its 20-year commitment to significantly reduce poverty in the region by building capacity in undervalued communities, creating meaningful partnerships, seeking equity in education and making social justice investments in families. # Who is Using All the Water!

By Rachel Beckers, CALMatters.ORG

Californians reduced their water use at home by a meager 1.8% statewide in July compared to last year, even after Gov. Gavin Newsom urged residents to conserve 15% and drought continues to spread across the state.

Officials warned water providers south of the Delta who rely on state water allocations - already slashed to 5% this year - to brace for the possibility of zero supply next year.

The Department of Water Resources also cautioned that next year's cuts in supply could expand to growers and others known as settlement contractors, whose claims to the water predate California's massive systems of reservoirs, aqueducts and canals.

"Californians always have hope, and that's healthy. But we need to be prudent," Karla Nemeth, director of the state Department of Water Resources, said in an interview. "We're doing more conservative planning than we've ever done."

Drought conditions deemed extreme or worse now cover nearly 90% of the state. Hundreds of domestic wells are running dry, and levels in major reservoirs have dropped drastically below historic averages - which bodes ill for supplies next year.

"The challenge is there is no water," Nemeth said.

"We're planning for the worst, but we are hoping for something better," Nemeth added at today's meeting of the State Water Resources Control Board.

In early July, Newsom urged Californians to voluntarily cut domestic water use by 15%, but in the absence of a statewide mandate, a patchwork of restrictions has emerged. The result: Californians used about 191.5 billion acre feet of water in their homes, businesses and other industrial or institutional spaces in July, only 1.8% less than a year earlier.

"I'm not here to say 1.8 is a good number," said Joaquin Esquivel, chair of the State Water Resources Control Board, at a Monday press briefing. "We're going to have to continue to dig in deeper and look forward to seeing what the numbers show then in August."

When asked when to expect statewide conservation orders, Esquivel said that for now, the board is reflecting on the data. "We need to continue to see that response and decision-making, and the state's here to make sure that if we need to go mandatory, that's where we're going."

The biggest drops in household water use were along the hard-hit North Coast, with a nearly 17% reduction in July 2021 compared with July 2020. The Sonoma County city of Healdsburg led the state by cutting its water use by more than half, and Cloverdale, which reduced its use by 37%. Both cities enacted mandatory water use restrictions.

Water use in the South Coast region, which includes Los Angeles, Orange, San Diego and Ventura counties, was roughly even with last summer, down 0.1%. However, about 40% of water suppliers in the area actually used more water.

San Francisco Bay Area residents cut their water use by 8.4%. Northern and southern San Joaquin Valley residents reduced use by 0.8% and 1.6%, respectively.

Officials warned that major cuts could come for irrigation districts, cities and other water users south of the Delta relying on supplies from the State Water Project, which provides water to 27 million Californians and 750,000 acres of farmland.

At this point, Nemeth said there's "a slim likelihood" of supplies for these water systems, which includes the giant Metropolitan Water District, which provides imported water to 19 million people in Southern California. Worst-case scenario, she said, "we've asked them to plan for no allocation from the State Water Project."

Those suppliers, including in the Bay Area, Southern California, the Central Coast and the San Joaquin Valley, have seen steep cuts before, during the last drought in 2014. But this time is worse: Even a wet year is unlikely to bring relief.

"We're starting with record low (reservoir) storage," Nemeth said. "We would have to have north of 140% of (average) precipitation to generate average runoff into the reservoirs that would begin filling that hole."

State and federal project operators have come under fire from environmental advocates for supplying hundreds of thousands of acre feet to these senior contractors, while failing to meet water quality standards and cutting allocations to more-junior agricultural contractors and cities.

Feather River Contractors,

for instance, were allocated the lowest levels allowed in their contracts, but still were expected to receive nearly 600,000 acre feet of water, according to the Department of Water Resources - enough water to supply 1.8 million Southern California households for a year. That's about three times more water than long-term State Water Project contractors, including the giant Metropolitan Water District, were provided.

California's drought conditions and warming temperatures are threatening salmon and other rare fish.

For endangered Sacramento River winter-run Chinook salmon, "we've modeled the temperature dependent mortality at about 80% this year, meaning only 20% even survive to make it out of the gravel," Barry Thom, West Coast regional administrator for NOAA Fisheries, told the water board.

Doug Obegi, a senior attorney with the Natural Resources Defense Council, urged the board on Tuesday to require state and federal water project operators to cut supplies to settlement contractors to protect fish.

If supplies aren't reduced, "you're going to have even worse temperature mortality of salmon next year," Obegi told CalMatters. "You start with less water, and you have less at the end of the year, you're going to have a lot more dead fish. It's grim."

Nemeth said she issued the early warning to prepare growers dependent on senior contracts well in advance of making planting decisions.

Last year, early planting by growers "really limited the amount of decisions we thought we could make without causing real economic damage," Nemeth said. This year, "We want to alert them sooner that it could be worse than they've experienced before." ★

Suspect Arrested for Carjacking and Maple Glen Officer Involved Shooting

By Sergeant Rod Grassmann, Sacramento County Sheriff's Office

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - PROLOGUE: On September 7, 2021, at approximately 9:54 p.m., officers from a local police department responded to a call from a 72-year-old female victim who stated that her grandson assaulted her, forcibly removed her from her vehicle and drove away with the car leaving her in the street. Officers arrived and rendered aid to the victim until fire arrived and transported her to a local area hospital for treatment of a possible arm fracture. This incident was not known by the Sheriff's Office Communications Center or responding deputies at the time of the incident.

Approximately 9 minutes later on September 7, 2021, at 10:03 P.M., the Sacramento County Sheriff's Office Communications Center received a call from a resident on Maple Glen Road in Sacramento County stating that someone crashed their automobile into a ditch outside their home. The caller explained that an elderly member of their household went out to check on the only person inside the disabled vehicle and was physically assaulted as the subject exited the car in an attempt to leave the scene. The male suspect then began walking southbound on Maple Glen Road. Fixed video evidence at the scene shows that the subject entered onto the porch of another residence and attempted to open the front door but it was locked. He then left the porch, picked up a large river rock from the yard and returned to the porch, rang the doorbell and appeared to wait for someone to answer the door. After a few minutes when no one answered the door, he left with the rock in his hand. He walked off the property and continued southward on Maple Glen to a third residence where he attempted to open the locked perimeter security gate.

The first deputy arrived on Maple Glen driving north in a marked sheriff's patrol SUV. The deputy saw a subject that matched the description given by the original caller walking down the street towards the patrol vehicle on the passenger side of the SUV. The deputy stopped and called out for the suspect to stop. He ignored the command and kept walking down the side of the SUV. The deputy got out of his vehicle continuing to give commands as he walked down the driver's side until both met at the back. The suspect, with the rock, struck the deputy in the head so hard that the rock bounced and traveled several feet from the initial impact, causing him to become dazed and disoriented.

The deputy then fired the first round and fell to the ground. The suspect, not fazed by the sound of the gunfire then immediately engages the grounded deputy in a physical fight, punching and kicking him as he attempts to get off the ground. The deputy then fires a second round but the suspect continues to assault him through the gunfire. It is only after three more rounds are fired, two of which hit the suspect, does he finally disengage from the fight and falls to the ground in a seated position.

Additional deputies arrived on scene and rendered aid to the suspect until fire arrived and transported him to an area hospital for treatment. He remains hospitalized in stable condition.

Sheriff's Office Detectives, Internal Affairs, Crime Scene Investigators, the California Department of Justice OIS Team and the Sacramento County District Attorney's Office Investigators responded to the scene and initiated an officer-involved shooting investigation.

The suspect is 26-year-old Darren Napoleon Stone who is well known to regional law enforcement. Upon release from the hospital, Stone will be booked into the Sacramento County Main Jail on multiple felony charges.

The deputy involved in the shooting is assigned to the K-9 Unit and is an 11 year veteran of law enforcement. He has been with the Sacramento County Sheriff's Office since 2010 and has 6 years of patrol experience. He was transported to a medical center for treatment of a concussion and thankfully, expected to make a full recovery. We look forward to him returning to full duty very soon.

The material being released has been identified as significant to this incident and includes original 911 calls, in-car camera video, body cam video and private surveillance video. All videos being released have been minimally redacted to ensure the confidentiality and privacy of those involved. This is an active investigation. The information provided in this video release is preliminary and subject to change as investigators learn more.

And Another Thing

Come Enjoy some of the Programs at the MACC, The Mills Station Arts and Culture Center

By Bob McGarvey

I am very glad that we were able to finish the work on the "Mather Veterans Village" and move over 160 homeless Veterans off the streets and into their new homes before the COVID-19 hit. I hope that they haven't been affected by the coronavirus, but with their homes only a block from the VA Hospital they are very fortunate to get the medical assistance they may need. Then, in addition to those original problems, they may have had to face the coronavirus while still on the streets.

I have talked to many Veterans over the years, and almost all of them agreed that when they were sworn into the service, they never thought that when they finished their time in the military, and gone back to civilian life, they would end up homeless. We are fortunate that we are a city, because as a city we are a government entity which is listened to. We were able to show that we can work with other levels of government, and could help homeless Veterans get off the streets.

On to other things in Rancho Cordova like the many arts which have grown here. I hope you have had an opportunity to attend and enjoy some of the programs which have been presented at the MACC - The Mills Station Arts & Culture Center.

The International Festival, which is presented at The Village Green Park, gives thousands of people in Rancho Cordova an opportunity to see and taste from around the world. You can also see dances and traditional clothing from around the world. We are one of the most culturally diverse cities in the United States of America, so the International Festival is a natural here.

We have local art presentations at our City Hall which gives our local artists an opportunity to show the public their paintings, photos, sculpture, etc talents. The City Hall art shows occur 4 times a year. Each show has a different theme or focus. The artists in the community and those who have ties to our community are invited to join us in building an artful city.

The Live Outdoor Theatre/Hummingbird Theatre Company is one of the newest art companies in Rancho Cordova and is very successful. They said, "We believe in engaging audiences with performances that make them think thoughtfully, laugh longer, and feel more." It is another opportunity for Rancho Cordovans to find more enjoyment in our wonderful city.

From Bob McGarvey, God bless, and we'll see you next time. ★

DTSC PUBLIC NOTICE

Department of Toxic Substances Control - Our Mission is to protect California's people, communities, and environment from toxic substances, to enhance economic vitality by restoring contaminated land, and to compel manufacturers to make safer consumer products.

COMPLETION OF THE FIVE-YEAR REVIEW White Rock Road Dump 1 Located on Aerojet Property South of White Rock Road

The Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) is informing the community that the 2015 remedy completed for the White Rock Road Dump 1 site (WRRD1) remains protective. WRRD1 is south of White Rock Road on Aerojet-Rocketdyne property, Rancho Cordova, 95742. DTSC recently completed a Five-Year Review of WRRD1, to review and reevaluate the adequacy and verify the completed remedy remains protective of human health, safety, and the environment.

WRRD1 operated as a municipal waste burn dump that served Sacramento County and operated from 1952 or 1953 to 1957. WRRD1 occupies six acres and is located on Aerojet-Rocketdyne property south-southwest of the Old White Rock Road/Nimbus Road intersection. A second municipal burn dump was located east-northeast of the Old White Rock Road/Nimbus Road intersection and operated from August 1957 to February 1958. This dump was known as White Rock Road Dump 2 (WRRD2).

Burn debris and contaminated soil within WRRD1 and WRRD2 were consolidated and compacted within a smaller area of WRRD1. The consolidated and compacted waste was subsequently covered as a final remedy in 2015. The cover consists of a 1-foot thick layer of fine-grained vegetative soil cover, an 8-ounce geotextile fabric, and a 3-foot thick layer well graded dredge tailings.

Long-term components of the remedy include long-term monitoring and land use restriction inspections of WRRD1 to ensure compliance with the Operations and Maintenance Agreement and Land Use Covenant. The Five-Year Review concluded that the remedy is still protective of human health and the environment. DTSC will continue to monitor the Site.

The Five-Year Review report and other Site-related documents are available for public review at the DTSC Sacramento Regional Office File Room located at 8800 Cal Center Drive in Sacramento, California 95826; (916) 255-3758. To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both of Benjamin Joe Davis, Jr., aka Ben Joe Davis, aka Ben Joe Davis, Jr. deceased. A Petition for Probate has been filed by Shelly Davis, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Shelly Davis be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: February 2, 2022 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129. IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. Or call Covered California at 1-800-300-1506 WARNING-IMPORANT INFORMATION California law provides that, for purposes of division of property upon dissolution of a marriage or domestic partnership or upon legal separation, property acquired by the parties during marriage or domestic partnership in joint form is presumed to be community property. If either party to this action should die before the jointly held community property is divided, the language in the deed that characterizes how title is held (i.e., joint tenancy, tenants in common, or community property) will be controlling, and not the community property presumption. You should consult your attorney if you want the community property presumption to be written into the recorded title to the property. Publish: October 8, 15, 22 & 29, 2021 SHALABY 10-29-21

Defendant Convicted for Brutal Rape, Sexual Assault of Two Victims

Office of Sacramento County District Attorney

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Hawthorne McGee was convicted by a jury of rape, rape of a 14-year-old and oral copulation by force of a 14-year-old. The jury also found true a multiple victim enhancement.

In June 2006, the then 14-year-old victim saw a friend driving in a car with McGee. The victim and her friend ended up going back to McGee's house. McGee instructed the friend to leave the house and the victim stayed behind. McGee then forcefully and brutally raped the victim for approximately one hour in his living room. McGee's girlfriend was in the bedroom, but she could hear the victim crying and telling McGee she was only 14 years old. The girlfriend was able to drive the victim away from the house. In November 2009, a separate victim was waiting for the light rail when McGee began talking to her. McGee persuaded her to go have pizza with him. He then persuaded her to go back to a motel with him. The victim stated numerous times to McGee that she did not want to have sex and that they were just going to the motel to talk. The victim stated that once inside the room, McGee punched her several times and strangled her as he began to sexually assault her. The victim passed out and woke up in the bed several hours later with injuries all over her body. Evidentiary exams were conducted and DNA was collected after both sexual assaults. A CODIS hit later matched to McGee. After further investigation, charges were filed against McGee for both victims.

McGee has prior convictions for domestic violence, gun possession, DUI and reckless driving.

McGee faces a maximum sentence of 45 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for October 20, 2021, at 1:30 pm in Department 23 before the Honorable Laurie Earl. ★

DREAM BIG TOGETHER

A Message from your Mayor

By Mayor Garrett Gatewood

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the blue Rancho Cordova sky vibrated with booms and roars of the Thunderbird and Snowbird jets flying over Mather Air Force Base for the 15th California Capital Airshow! Supervisor Don Nottoli and I welcomed the 25,000 visitors to this spectacular annual event. Entertaining the crowd was the Air Force Band of the Golden West, featuring the Golden West Brass with their melodic sounds. This event generated over five million dollars of revenue for the area. Because of COVID the numbers allowed, the show has dropped from 50,000 to 25,000 people a day.

Throughout the area was a plethora of booths to visit including information on joining the Army National Guard and the Air Force. A light breeze cooled the visitors. For the adventuresome, you could sign up to "Learn to Fly." A special treat was the giant, gray cargo planes that the families lined up to see inside. If the children were hungry, there were hot dogs and tangy lemonade to buy. Also, the Thunderbird Souvenir t-shirts made a nice memory of the day. Another highlight was the appearance of Colonel Bud Anderson, a World War II Triple Ace, who was signing his acclaimed book, To Fly and Fight. I stopped counting at 100, but there were so many types of specialty planes including Fed Ex, refueling ones, and U-2 Dragon Lady. For another day, the Aerospace Museum of California located at 3200 Freedom Park Drive at McClellan would be an educational outing for students to visit and learn about historic aircraft and space exploration. This year, our city and the Airshow hosted a special STEM Expo for middle and high school girls. This expo will inspire female students to pursue a career into aviation and aerospace.

When the exciting show began, all eyes in the audience were trained on the sky. What a surprise that the pilots do daring tricks but also are funny comedians. When Ken Peach flew the Jelly Bean Plane, he pretended he couldn't land. What a jokester! The Royal Canadian Air Force Snowbirds returned for the second time to share their thrilling aerial ballet with our community. I hope you enjoyed the show as much as I did. See you next year!

On September 17th the Rancho Cordova Police Department and the Sacramento County Sheriff's Office held the 3rd Annual Mark Stasyuk Memorial BBQ to honor the passing of our brave policeman. Mark is held in high esteem in our city, and we will never forget his dedication to our community. On that day we dedicated a bronze memorial with his badge number on front to him and all other officers lost in the line of duty.

I spoke at the Moose Lodge Luau on September 11th, and we reflected on this sad, significant day in American history. We remembered the passing of 343 firefighters and paramedics and thanked the Sac Metro Firefighters who respond to fires in Rancho Cordova and even the wildfires that have burned near Lake Tahoe and in Auburn. We have heroes in our community.

Michele Mark Levine, Director of Government Finance Officers Association, announced that we received the GFOA's Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting. She commented, "Your example will encourage other government officials in their efforts to achieve and maintain an appropriate standard of excellence in financial reporting." I am proud of our hard work.

Exciting news! A new digital app has been created especially for Rancho Cordova businesses and people who eat at restaurants and buy products in our city. Rancho Cordova has a history of innovation and supporting the community. The app, RCity, combines these traits by encouraging diners and shoppers to spend locally and receive reward offers. Chamber CEO and President Diann Rogers commented, "Our locally owned small businesses are facing enormous challenges, and this out-of-the-box idea allows people to be rewarded for shopping locally." If you are interested, go to RCityApp.com to gain more information on how to receive rewards and support local businesses.

We remember all the work on the Council that Dan Skogland dedicated to our city. He was a great visionary and Founding Father to Rancho Cordova. We dedicated the lobby at City Hall to his memory. ★ to exactly the size preferred by nesting fish – will create an 11-acre alcove at Ancil Hoffman. When temporary levies are bulldozed and water rises, new riffles will accommodate salmon and steelhead breeding. The development includes a rearing inlet to host growing juveniles before their spring swim to the Pacific Ocean. Planting of willows, cottonwood and other native vegetation will bring insects to feed fry.

Riverside trails at the Effie Yeaw Nature Center will be improved to allow public observation.

Similar restorations have achieved success at Sailor Bar, River Bend Park, Sacramento Bar and at Nimbus and Sunrise stretches of the American River. "Our surveys count the number of redds in the river and juvenile fish," says Bishop. "We know restored habitats are being used. Although we have low water flows due to drought this year, our project is focused on long term improvement of river habitat."

The Ancil Hoffman project is funded by the Bureau of Reclamation. Sacramento City, Sacramento County and local water agencies fund the Water Forum.

Construction areas are off limits for public access. Work-in-progress may be viewed from trails at Effie Yeaw Nature Center preserve. Learn about the Water Forum at www.waterforum.org ★

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Cordova High celebrated Homecoming 2021 last week with festivities culminating on Friday, October 1. The long-awaited rally drew the involvement of an amazing crowd of students, alumni, and administrative team all collaborating for the big night of competition, crowning and music.

Josh Creeger, CHS Activities Director said, "Homecoming 2021 was truly a blessing. After a rough year or so with the pandemic, the students came out in full force with renewed excitement and school spirit!"

This year's winning float was the Junior Class with its "Class of the Undead 2023" which they put together along with some 100 kids from the other classes during the float-building week. "The band, the cheer team, the dance team all performed and were amazing, and the student government kids created skits based on their class themes," stated Creeger.

Cordova High School royalty were announced for Homecoming 2021 night:

Freshmen - Daniel Swick and Kyra Pacheco;
Sophomores - Diego Cisneros and Nairobi Sandoval Aguirre;
Juniors - Ayden Gregory and J'nia Gomez;
Senior King and Queen - Miguel de Dios and Noelle Gifford

Of course, the big night wouldn't be Homecoming Night without the Cordova High Lancer Varsity Football game.

Cordova Parks and Recreation Chairperson Rick Sloan commented, "The Cordova Lancers Football team played hard the entire game and were in the lead going into the fourth quarter." Unfortunately, due to some missing players and injuries, the team ran out of steam as many played both defense and offense throughout the game for a final score of Natomas 35, Cordova 22.

Sloan stated, "The Big Red put together three successful touchdown drives. Marcos Medina-Haro caught two touchdown passes and the third touchdown pass was a long bomb to Dylan Gray #1 in the end zone." Another great play was the successful "PAT kicked by Dominic Stephens #23 and a two-point conversion run by Robert Salcedo #11."

Big Red will be playing their next game on October 15th against Johnson. Go Big Red!

Cordova High School Marching Band filled the night with festive music.

Senior soccer player Mason Harder #8 hangs out with the Cordova Dance Team in the celebration.
