Fury on the River

With the American River fall salmon run in full fury last week, a junior naturalist had up-close views of spawn frenzy near Gold River. Inset right: the bumper 2013 migration brings a bounty to all parkway life.

Story and Photos by Susan Maxwell Skinner

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - For millennia, the American River has been a passage for animal and human migration. This fall, salmon migration has turned the waterway into a freeway of love.

In what is shaping up to be the best run for six years (2008 to 2009 numbers were so low that river and ocean salmon fishing were outlawed) adult Chinook are now heading up-river to complete their lifecycle. For the past two weeks, many thousands of spawners per day have surged through Sacramento, Carmichael, Fair Oaks and Gold River.

Leaping, knifing river surfaces like jet skis, climbing over gravel banks – or just swimming doggedly to their destiny – the fish have no focus other than to reach the waters where they spawned. Whether they mate in gravel beds or are perfunctorily relieved of eggs and milt at the Nimbus hatchery, they will all be dead within weeks.

Fish that hatched four years ago now measure up to four feet and can weigh 50 pounds. All bear scars of a long trek from the Pacific. The krill diet that colored their flesh is hundreds miles behind; they have not eaten for weeks. By the time they reach San Juan Rapids, degenerating flesh has absorbed much of their scales. Decay mottles their sides. Some fish have turned vivid magenta in color. Hooked jaws and dog-like teeth transform male profiles. But to Chinook hens, such cruising gargoyles are princes. Though the act will kill them, these fish mean to mate.

In full fury during November, the salmon run continues through December and – in dwindling numbers -- until after Christmas. Experts predict up to 50,000 salmon may run this season. "It's a good number," observes California Fish and Wildlife scientist Bob Titus. "The department will count carcasses for weeks to make a population estimate, but it looks like stock is continuing to rebuild."

With runs of less than 6000 fish recorded six years ago, Chinook extinction in the American River seemed possible. The species' changing fortune reflects ocean and river changes over the past several years. Tons of gravel were poured in Carmichael and Gold River shallows to create new spawning beds; angling was curbed. In mitigation for Folsom Dam, six million salmon juveniles are bred and released annually by the Nimbus Hatchery. Pacific Ocean conditions may also have changed

DA's Office Secures $480,000 in Restitution for the Sacramento Library

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - District Attorney (DA) Jan Scully announced that due to the success of its Office in seizing assets Sacramento Public Library Authority will receive $480,000 in restitution it is due.

Former library employees Dennis Nilsson and James Mayle, as well as Mayle's wife, Janie Rankins-Mayle, were convicted in December 2011 of theft, bribery, and conflict of interest related to their fraudulent billing scheme for maintenance services. They were ordered to pay $768,130 in restitution. Nilsson was ordered to pay an additional $55,967.

District Attorney (DA) Jan Scully

Using white collar crime laws, the District Attorney's Office froze assets belonging to the defendants. After sentencing, the court appointed J. Benjamin McGrew of Management, Inc. to levy those assets. McGrew generated $480,000 for restitution from the sale of a Folsom residence, several vehicles, and the liquidation of bank accounts.

Supervising Deputy District Attorney Michael Blazina, who prosecuted the case, stated, "In many embezzlement cases victims do not get their money back. Fortunately in this case, not all of the stolen money was squandered and several properties still existed with sufficient value. Although the library is not yet made whole for its loss, a significant part of the taxpayers' money is being returned to the agency from which it was wrongfully taken."

A check will be presented to the Sacramento Public Library Authority located at 828 I Street on Thursday, November 21st at 3:00 p.m. ★

City Permit Technician Wins Scholarship

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - For the second year in a row, Denise Reese, a building permit technician with the City of Rancho Cordova, has been awarded the $500 Bob Stoddard Scholarship by the Sacramento Valley Association of Building Officials (SVABO).

Reese is currently enrolled in the Building Inspection Technology (BIT) certification program at Consummes River College. She will complete requirements for the BIT program at the end of December but will continue her education to earn an Associate in Science degree. Her long-term goal is to become a plan reviewer.

Reese started at the City in 2006, working as an administrative secretary in the City Manager's Office. After serving as a customer service specialist for that office and the Building and Safety Division, she began training as a permit technician in 2009.

She currently helps customers with permitting questions and issues, processes residential and commercial application and permits, and coordinates building plan reviews and inspections, in addition to other Building and Safety Division tasks.

"Being awarded the scholarship is an accomplishment that makes me feel great; plus it helps with school expenses," she said.

The scholarship is named for Stoddard, a long-time SVABO member who was devoted to the work of quality codes and uniform enforcement and a strong supporter of building code enforcement education. Although there can be more than one scholarship awarded, Reese is on the only 2013 winner. ★

She also assists seniors and families to navigate federal financial aid programs, including veterans' benefits.

As a Senior Move Manager and Certified Relocation and Transition Specialist (CRTS), Ms. Mahla has helped hundreds of individuals and families save time, money, and frustration by organizing a large move or residential downsize, planning better use of time or space, or conquering the chaos that is

The Local Impact of Red Ribbon Week

By Ken Cooley
Member, 8th Assembly District

Assemblyman Ken Cooley

RANCHO CORDOVA (MPG) - In 1985, community leaders, parents and children across the nation wore red ribbons to symbolize the devastating impacts of drug use in our communities. This year, during Red Ribbon Week (October 23-31), I was able to talk with hundreds of children at numerous elementary schools across our community about the importance of staying drug-free. As I prepared to talk with them, I reflected on the devastating effects drugs have on them and what I could say to inspire them to stay away from drugs.

Just before it was my turn to speak, two sixth graders at Cordova Gardens Elementary led the school in reciting the Red Ribbon Week pledge to stay drug free. One of the lines in the pledge, "I will do my best to make safe and healthy choices for myself and those around me," really struck a chord with me. It's easy for me to say drugs are bad, drugs can ruin your life, and drugs can kill, but what about the children surrounded by drugs in their homes or with their friends? Should we tell these children that their loved ones who use drugs are bad people? Or should we be better examples? Should we show them that there is a better way, a better life, and that their friends and family can have that better life too without drugs?

With teachers and others already promoting the "drug-free lifestyle" message, my brief words of encouragement were listened to and respectfully received. That was what I've learned to expect when talking to groups of 100-plus elementary students all at once. I was honored to visit with such children, but as your Assemblyman, I have no illusions. In reality, the true people who lead us towards and away from drug use are our families, friends and peers. All of us are role models, all of us point by our lives to the happier, more successful life that living drug-free makes possible. For me, and I hope for you, Red Ribbon Week is a reminder to continue to do our best to make safe and healthy choices for ourselves, those around us and our neighbors. ★

Popular Building Upgrade Program Now Available in Sacramento and Yolo Counties

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)
 - Ygrene Energy Fund announced the expansion of its successful PACE financing programs to Sacramento and Yolo counties. This makes Ygrene – and its 100 percent financing for energy efficient, renewable energy and water conservation building improvements – available to thousands of additional property owners.

Owners of both commercial and residential properties are encouraged to visit CleanEnergySac.com or CleanEnergyYolo.com to search for their property, receive an instant building upgrade pre-qualification amount based on their property's value, and apply online. Thousands of eligible improvements qualify, including heating and air conditioning systems, solar technology, new windows and roofs, and many more.

To celebrate the expansion, Ygrene is offering free applications, a $50 value, through the month of November using the promo codes "UPGRADEYOLO" and "UPGRADESAC."

"We are pleased to offer this program to our residents and businesses, without taxpayer expense," said Phil Serna, Sacramento County Supervisor. "Ygrene's financing enables us to provide 100 percent financing for energy retrofits to property owners, create thousands of jobs, boost property values and help achieve Sacramento's goal of reducing energy use 15 percent by 2020 – that's a triple-win that benefits the entire region."

powerful alternative to traditional debt financing options. The financing is bound to the property rather than the individual or business and can transfer with a change in ownership in the same fashion as a property tax. Eligibility is based primarily on property value and equity (a minimum of 15 percent is required) rather than credit score. To date, the company has received nearly 200 applications in the City of Sacramento alone, valued at more than $45 million in potential building improvements. Dozens of local commercial and residential property owners are already using Ygrene financing for property upgrades, including the largest commercial PACE project in the nation, a $3.16 million upgrade of the Metro Center office park in Natomas scheduled for completion in December.

"Many Yolo residents have significant equity in their properties but not the substantial upfront funds typically required to make clean energy and water conservation improvements," said Mike McGowan, Yolo County Supervisor and Board Vice Chair. "This program allows those owners to upgrade without the upfront costs and without taking on traditional debt."

county boards of supervisors voted unanimously Tuesday to enact the program for all unincorporated areas. Most cities – including Citrus Heights, Elk Grove, Galt, Isleton, Rancho Cordova, Sacramento, Davis, West Sacramento, Winters and Woodland – have either already "opted in," or are expected to in the coming weeks.

"We're thrilled to be expanding further in the region so more property owners have access to the financing they need to upgrade their buildings," said Stacey Lawson, CEO of Ygrene Energy Fund. "We're seeing a lot of pent up demand from folks who didn't have access to capital to make these improvements before – the financing was the missing piece."

About Ygrene Energy Fund
 Ygrene Energy Fund is the leading developer and administrator of clean energy financing programs throughout the U.S. Over the next five years, Ygrene's Clean Energy Districts are projected to create tens of thousands of local jobs, invest hundreds of millions into local economies and drive massive reductions in greenhouse gasses.  - Deliver meals and a smile! Meals-on-Wheels by Asian Community Center (ACC) is looking for volunteer drivers. The program's drivers use their own vehicles to deliver hot, nutritious lunchtime meals to homebound seniors. Along with each meal, volunteers provide a special touch of friendship and a daily safety check enabling seniors to remain living in their own homes. "Volunteer drivers enjoy the opportunity to check on and talk with our seniors when they deliver meals," stated Jennette Wells, Volunteer Services Coordinator for Meals on Wheels by ACC.

Volunteer driver assignments are available throughout Sacramento. "Current openings include Rancho Cordova, downtown Sacramento, Gardenland, Natomas, Fruitridge, Arden Arcade, North Highlands, Citrus Heights, Elk Grove, and Galt," stated Wells.

Volunteers deliver meals midmorning once a week each weekday, excluding holidays. There are eight to twelve seniors on a route and each route takes approximately one to two hours to complete. Volunteer opportunities are available for regular volunteer drivers as well as substitute drivers.

Over 500 other Meals on Wheels volunteers provide over 5,000 hours of service, friendship and smiles each month to Sacramento County seniors.

Orientation, training, and background screening provided. Volunteer orientations are held on the 1st and 3rd Wednesday of each month, between 10:00am – 11:30am. To register or to learn more about volunteer opportunities, contact Jennette Wells, (916) 444-9533 ext. 160 or

Children's Museum: A Place to Learn, Explore, Play

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

The Sacramento Children's Museum (SCM) is a regional attraction offering children from birth to age eight hands-on learning, exploration and play. This unique 7,000 square-foot facility boasts a number of exhibit areas, all focused on multi-sensory experiences that build upon the young child's fundamental need to learn-by-doing. The Museum opened on August 25, 2011.

Today, this fall, the Museum welcomed its 200,000th visitor. Luke Turley, age 3, was the honored guest, surprised with balloons and a gift bag. Luke came to the Museum with his grandmother Alison Martischinske. Luke and his grandmother are members of the Museum and visit often.

"We consider it a great accomplishment to have welcomed so many people in just over two years. The Museum is pleased to have become a destination of choice for families in the Sacramento region and beyond," stated Sharon Stone Smith, Executive Director.

Sacramento Children's Museum's mission is to spark a passion for life-long learning. The Museum consists of interactive exhibits and educational programming designed to foster learning, creativity, confidence, and innovation in the youth of Sacramento. SCM's exhibits range from STEM-based (science, technology, engineering, and math) activities that explore concepts like velocity, gravity, air currents, solar energy, etc., to pretend play areas that focus on inventiveness and imagination, to an Art Studio that encourages the use of sustainable materials, group art, and creativity, as well as an area dedicated to the development of babies and toddlers. SCM also provides programming to enhance the experience and further provide access to learning and inspiration.

Slim Randles' HOME COUNTRY

I'm Very Thankful for Sunsets Like That!

"You see that sunset last night?" Steve said. "Now that was a honey."

"I'll say," said Doc. "You know, with Thanksgiving on us, I have to tell you I'm very thankful for sunsets like that one."

Those of us who don't live in the big cities tend to be thankful for different things than those who may live in stucco cliff dwellings. We tend to look at the natural blessings more than the manmade ones. Our gratitude extends past not having our teenager go to jail, or for the raise we just got at the factory. Our favorite ball team can win or lose on its own without our having to look for Divine Intervention, usually. We tend to be grateful for other things, like calves in the spring, and how clean they look before they discover mud.

We are deeply grateful that tasty rabbits arrive in large litters, and bears don't. When we think about it, we are thankful that we get eggs from hens and not from rattlesnakes, as checking the rattle house each morning could get 'way too exciting. When you consider that porcupines have quills, and not deer, it gives us pause for praise, and we're happy that it's skunks who carry scent glands and not squirrels.

We are thankful, too, that hurricanes and tornadoes only happen in warm weather. It's bad enough to lose the barn without being chill-factored to death while it's happening.

"Turkeys," Dud said, sipping

his coffee.

"What?"

"I'm thankful turkeys are stupid. Ever looked in a turkey's eyes? Not only is no one home, but there was a mass evacuation sometime during the Eisenhower Administration. A turkey has just enough brains to operate his heart and lungs."

"You're thankful for that?" Doc said.

"Sure," said Dud. "If turkeys had been given the rudimentary intelligence of a garden snail, we might be forced to eat sheep on Thanksgiving." ★

CHILLY CRAPPIE

A lot of crappie lakes help provide cooling water for nearby power plants. In winter, look for crappie in the warm water near discharge outlets.

If you want to catch them, you might have to move around some to find them. Sometimes power plant current tends to hug the shore or it may curve offshore. A temperature gauge can help you find the right temperature where crappie are liable to be.

If there is no power plant, then the headwaters tend to be the best for winter crappie fishing. Crappie tend to hang around these headwaters in the winter because it is usually the first place to warm up in early spring.

Some people are lucky enough to have enclosed heated fishing docks located over crappie beds on lakes in the area where you can fish in warmth and comfort.

Rancho Cordova Rembrandts Revealed at County Library

to favor survival. For any number of reasons, things seem to be looking up for the fish and their river. Spawning does not just ensure salmon survival; dead fish enrich the waterway. All animal, insect and plant life in and around the river is affected when carcass numbers fall.

And, judging by the number of gulls, raptors, otters, raccoons and coyote now enjoying a salmon buffet on American River banks, Thanksgiving is nigh. ★

The best place to watch final stages of the salmon run is the Nimbus Hatchery, located at 2001 Nimbus Road, Gold River.

In gravelly shallows, a female Chinook digs a nest with her tail. Eager to release milt to fertilize her eggs, a male attends the excavation.

Migrating fish are also easily observed from the Parkway at Pennsylvania Avenue, Fair Oaks and from bike bridges at Sunrise Avenue and William Pond Park.

Court Rules to Halt California High Speed Rail

WASHINGTON, DC - Representative Doug LaMalfa today commented on a state court ruling which found the California High Speed Rail Authority's plan violated voter-approved law and effectively halted the project. LaMalfa, who authored legislation to place the project back on the ballot while a member of the state Senate, said the ruling would finally force the state government to recognize that the project bore no resemblance to the plan voters were promised.

"It's been clear for years that the California High Speed Rail Authority has little regard for the promises made to voters in 2008. After spending $600 million the Authority has nothing to show for it but a plan that violates the written bond measure that was passed," said LaMalfa. "This ruling is a victory for voters and a reminder that California's government must abide by its own laws, regardless of what some politicians think."

While voters were promised a system connecting Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego for about $34 billion, the Authority's plan costs over twice as much and would reach from near San Francisco to near Los Angeles. Despite being promised a one-seat ride, Californians would need to transfer to local mass transit to actually reach those cities. "The ruling halts state spending and most federal funds can't be spent without matching funds from the state, meaning the project is dead in the water," LaMalfa added. "I'll be working in Washington to ensure that the unspent federal funding is redirected to more useful purposes, which at this point would be literally almost anything else."

Congressman Doug LaMalfa is a lifelong farmer representing California's First Congressional District including Butte, Glenn, Lassen, Modoc, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou and Tehama Counties.
