Honoring and Supporting Veterans

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Bright red poppies were blowing in the wind at the Farmers Markets in Citrus Heights and Orangevale on May 11 and May 13. Members of Fair Oaks American Legion Auxiliary Unit 383 handed out the bright red crepe poppies to those passing by.

Men, women and children of all ages, some with their puppies in tow, stopped to accept a poppy, learn of the program, and make a donation as part of a tradition which began in 1921. The U.S. Congress has designated the Friday before Memorial Day to be National Poppy Day.

Retired veterans, active military and gold star moms shared often touching stories of their experiences, while younger family members chose a bright red poppy to wear, a flag, and a blue and red bookmark along with a poppy coloring page.

Non-military shoppers on both days stopped by to hear the story of the red poppy for the first time. Families from other countries and cultures were intrigued by the program and were happy to wear the flower.

A famous poem, In Flanders Field, describes the origin of the red poppy. Following the battles during WWI which spanned southern Belgium and Northwest France, bright red poppies sprung up through the melting snow amid the lime enriched dirt, blood and rubble left by the war.

Those flowers came to represent the blood shed there.

During the month of May each year, American Legion Auxiliary units throughout the country and around the world where Americans serve, have been providing the bright red poppies to honor our fallen warriors and as a reminder of the sacrifice of service made by today's veterans and their families.

Supporting Foster Youth Through Health Services

Sacramento County
News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - May is National Foster Care Month. The recognition month brings awareness to the issues foster kids face. The month also highlights the work done to help children who enter the foster system. This year's theme is "Strengthening Minds. Uplifting Families." The theme highlights the need to take both a holistic and culturally responsive approach to support the mental health needs of foster youth. In Sacramento County, there are dedicated staff members who uplift families by making sure youth in Sacramento County's Child Protective Services (CPS) get access to health care. Staff members also help make sure foster youth have access to mental health services.

Within Sacramento County's health services departments, many different resources are dedicated to providing the best care possible to children in Child Protective Services. These services include Emergency Response, Informal Supervision, Hearts 4 Kids, Courts/Permanency, and Psychotropic Medication. These programs cover a broad number of services that collaborate with social workers to ensure that children at risk have a strong advocate for their health and well-being.

Public Health Nurses in the Emergency Response program provide direct services to families as well as consultations with Social Workers. These Public Health Nurses conduct assessments, provide interventions and make referrals for services. Public Health Nurses work with families to make sure developmental issues are addressed.

Informal Supervision serves children with open cases who remain with their biological parents. The goal of this program is to keep children in their homes with their biological parents if possible.

Hearts 4 Kids is a program that visits children and their siblings at their foster-care placement. During this visit, the Public Health Nurse conducts assessments, provides guidance, and links families to resources.

The Public Health Nurses in Courts/Permanency provide assistance for children placed in foster care.

City Reviews Proposed Budget, Approves Grant Consultant

Story by Shaunna Boyd

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - At the May 11 meeting, the Citrus Heights City Council heard an overview of the proposed two-year budget for fiscal years 2023/2024 and 2024/2025.

The projected General Fund revenue for the new budget is 18% property taxes, 34% sales tax, 3% charges for services, 24% intergovernmental revenue (from the motor vehicle license fee), and 21% from other taxes and fees.

For the first 25 years after incorporation, Citrus Heights' share of property taxes went to Sacramento County in the Revenue Neutrality Agreement. That agreement has finally expired, so those property tax funds can now be counted as revenue rather than an expenditure. For each dollar of property tax collected, the City's share is 8.4 cents. Sacramento County receives 32 cents, and the rest is allocated to other service agencies, such as San Juan Unified School District (26.7 cents), Sac Metro Fire (18.7 cents), Sunrise Recreation and Park District (4.4 cents), and Los Rios Community College District (5.4 cents).

Sales tax is the largest revenue source for the General Fund. For every taxable dollar spent in Citrus Heights, 7.75 cents are collected in sales tax—and the City receives one cent. "We're projected to get around $14 million, so that's a lot of pennies," said Finance Manager Tammy Nossardi. The state receives the largest share of sales tax, at 5.97 cents. The Measure A Transportation Tax gets half a cent, and Sacramento County gets a quarter of one cent.

The proposed two-year budget estimates revenues from property taxes at $7.4 million for 2023/24 and $7.7 million for 2024/25, and sales and use taxes at $14.4 million in 2023/24 and $14.7 million in 2024/25. Total revenues are estimated at $43.1 million for 2023/24, and $44.6 million in 2024/25.

Total expenditures are projected to be $39.8 million in 2023/24, and almost $41.3 million for 2024/25. That's up 4.74% over the current budget for the first year, and then up 3.76% for the second year. City Manager Ashley Feeney said that typical budget models estimate about 4.5% in annual inflation increases, but he is hoping to keep that cost down and increase expenditures by less than 4% going forward. Feeney said the City departments have also undergone some reorganization and shifting of staff positions to make the best use of the funds available.

And new in the proposed budget for the first time are funds allocated for street maintenance and repairs, which has been a long-time goal for the City that was always out of reach due to lack of funding. The two-year budget sets aside $2 million in 2023/24 and $4 million in 2024/25 for future road repair projects.

City Manager Feeney said, "We're projecting to end this fiscal year with an ending reserve balance of $19.6 million." So, he said the City will begin the next budget cycle with a healthy reserve balance. And that reserve balance is projected to increase with each fiscal year: "We're projecting to have an ending reserve balance in 23/24 of about $19.8 million, and then that would cycle back up to the following fiscal year." Feeney said the City is meeting and exceeding the minimum reserve balance throughout the 10-year financial forecast: "From a budgetary standpoint, the City's in good shape."

Councilmember Porsche Middleton said the report was "very well done. You've managed to streamline the process here. We're able to meet all the goals that we've set."

Vice Mayor Bret Daniels said, "It just keeps getting better and better." ... "We went from doom and gloom, and, 'Oh my God, we need to raise sales tax. And we need more money. And what are we going to do?' to these numbers that you see today, which are just absolutely incredible. And also, they include funding, for the first time ever from the General Fund, to work on our streets too."

The proposed 2023/24 and 2024/25 budget will come back to Council at the May 25 meeting for final adoption.

The Council then considered whether to approve $60,000 for Townsend Public Affairs to work as a consultant on the creation of a comprehensive grants strategy and implementation support for a one-year term—allowing the City to focus on high-volume grant pursuit.

Meghan Huber, economic development and community engagement director, explained that the City works hard to effectively use every penny of revenue, and this project would assist staff in "finding more pennies."

The consultant will design a system that helps the City apply for even more grant funding. The scope of work includes inventory and prioritization of existing and planned City projects, the creation of a living document of grants that match the City's priority projects, and the development of a grant tracking tool. Staff identified Townsend Public Affairs as the best match for this project. They offer all-inclusive service with monthly updates, pre- and post-submission funding advocacy, and post-application review.

The benefits of this project, said Huber, is that the City can pursue more grants, with comprehensive tracking and reporting, while maximizing and leveraging local funding. This will help the City to "find those additional pennies to be able to make stuff happen," said

Huber. "As we're looking to stretch our dollars more and more, supplemental funding does become even more important to be able to meet our community goals and priorities."

Townsend Vice President Casey Elliott explained that their team can be "on the ground in Washington DC working with granting agencies, here in Sacramento locally, and then leverage all of those relationships with funding agencies, leverage your legislators, leverage your congressional delegation" to give Citrus Heights' projects an "extra boost" and make sure "there's no stone left unturned." He said their goal is to ensure that the City "is able to put forth the best quality projects that match what the needs are of the community."

Councilmember Jayna Karpinski-Costa asked, with all the cities Townsend represents, how do they prevent a conflict of interest of "having two cities applying for the same pot of money?"

Elliott said, "There's always more demand than there are dollars. ... We work with all our clients to put their projects in the best position." Townsend looks at the projects already in development to see how they can be adjusted to be more competitive, and identifies which projects aren't going to be good candidates for winning particular grants. With their focus and expertise, they ensure "that every project is put in the best light and given the best chance to succeed," said Elliott.

Councilmember MariJane Lopez-Taff commented on the return on investment the City will see with this project: "I think by the time we win our first grant through this relationship, it will more than pay for this particular contract."

Vice Mayor Daniels said, "This is spending money to make money."

Councilmember Karpinski-Costa said that grant writing is a complex task, and the City wants to take their grant pursuit to the next level, which would require a full-time staff member to achieve in-house. She said it's "much more cost effective" to hire a consultant.

The Council voted unanimously to approve the cost for Townsend Public Affairs to begin work on the project. ★

Days are used only to help with the continuing needs of our active service and retired veterans and their families. In 2022 funds were used to give the families of active-duty veterans a memorable Christmas party.

Poppies are made by veterans who are disabled or live in assisted/retirement homes like Yountville in Napa County. They receive a small monetary allowance for their work with the red and green crepe paper which they assemble into the flowers for distribution.

Local auxiliary members then spend hours each year at home or at fluffing parties, opening and "fluffing" hundreds of poppies for their unit's fundraising programs.

One of the goals is for everyone who sees a poppy like this or even orange ones in a field to think of the sacrifice made by veterans.

May 26, 2023 is National Poppy Day. Wear your poppy proudly this month!

A Meeting in the Stars

By Thomas J. Sullivan

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - Two former U.S. Air Force officers enjoyed an unexpected reunion after more than 40 years at the front door entrance to Celtic Cross Presbyterian Church in Citrus Heights recently where they shared memories of a 1963 flight near the North Pole which unexpectedly challenged their navigation skills.

Retired Air Force major Don Stroup of Roseville, and his wife Janelle, are long-time members of Celtic Cross. Stroup who stood at the church door to welcome members to the 9 am Sunday service noticed a tall fellow and his wife walking towards him who looked especially familiar.

"Mel, is that you?" he asked.

"Sure is," said Mel Savery, who with his wife Marley had only recently started attending the 9 am Sunday Service at Celtic Cross. The couple live in Citrus Heights and have since become church members.

Between hearty smiles and handshakes, shared memories of their 1963 Air Force flight quickly returned, as two old friends were back in the navigator's seats of the Lockheed EC-121 Constellation airplane they once flew as young USAF officers together. The EC-121 was a radar-picket version of the U.S. Air Force's C-121 passenger airplane, which was part of the nation's early warning system.

Their mission in October 1963 was to help track the flight of a USAF Convair B-58 Hustler supersonic bomber which took off from Tokyo, Japan and headed to London, to attempt what would become the longest continuous supersonic flight in history, and also set a new world record.

Eight hours, 35 minutes and 20.4 seconds later, the B-58 Hustler landed in London, unaware that the USAF RC-121 which helped track their flight got lost for a time over the North Pole.

"Over the North Pole the gyroscope-based navigation doesn't work," Stroup recalled. "While clear skies and visible land were predicted during the flight, clouds moved in and the radar plane in which we flew became lost."

Stroup, who entered service in the USAF in 1954, retired as a major with well over 9,000 flight hours behind him.

Recognizing the imminent danger, the pair urged the pilot to fly their plane higher than it had ever been tested. The aircrew circled up from 15,000 to 19,000 feet before breaking clear, relying on celestial navigation in daytime sky, to help them safely find their heading back to base in Seattle. At that high altitude the pilot and co-pilot were navigating by the visible stars during daylight.

A sister U.S. Air Force radar picket plane also squawked an emergency "mayday" with a similar navigational problem. A British air controller somewhere in the Aleutians gave the second plane the correct heading to get home warning that they were within two minutes of Russian air space, (OTS) in 1960 to fulfill his military obligation. He earned his wings as a navigator and first served as a radar intercept officer (RIO) on a Northrop F-89 Scorpion night fighter.

He later crewed RC-121 aircraft out of the former McClellan Air Force Base, and also served a tour of duty in Vietnam. Savery served six years in the U.S. Air Force, leaving as a captain in 1967, before starting a new professional career with the California State Printing Office.

The idea of record-breaking supersonic flight was born earlier in the summer of 1963 at the Strategic Air Command (SAC). There was a need to prove the B-58A-20-CF Hustler, which was then a fully operational nuclear strike aircraft, was worth all the money spent on its development.

SAC also wanted to show its capabilities to both the general public and potential adversaries, that if needed, the SAC aircraft and their weapon could travel half of the world in just a few hours.

President John F. Kennedy announced the record flight from Washington, D.C. after the Hustler touched down on the airfield at Greenham Common, England, at 10:34 p.m. Japan time.

"I congratulate the Air Force crew which flew this operation and the men who supported it on the ground," Kennedy said in an issued statement. "I know that the success of this flight is due to the high competence and dedication of all involved."

After the flight, the "Greased Lightning" nickname was assigned to the record-breaking Convair B-58A. Today, the aircraft is preserved at the Strategic Air Command and Aerospace Museum in Nebraska.

"Looking back, we were honored to be a special part of history," Savery said. "Most important, it's great to reconnect with an old friend here at Celtic Cross with whom I proudly served with." ★ Savery remembered.

"It was quite a mission," Stroup recalled with a smile. The pair, who had served on different 12-hour shifts as navigators during the flight, said they trusted their navigational training as they made their recommendation to the pilot to climb to a higher latitude to find their way home.

Savery, a graduate of Iowa State University in mechanical engineering, signed up for the U.S. Air Force's officer training school

SacRT Awarded $45 Million by FTA for New Light Rail Vehicles

SacRT News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento Regional Transit District (SacRT) was awarded on May 5, 2023, a $45.1 million grant from the Federal Transit Administration (FTA) to support the purchase of 16 new light rail vehicles.

The grant through the FY22/23 Rail Vehicle Replacement Program, a new program created by the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, will help SacRT towards the purchase of 16 new low-floor light rail vehicles from Siemens Mobility in south Sacramento. SacRT is one of six transit agencies nationwide and the only in FTA Region 9 to receive this grant. SacRT previously purchased 28 new low-floor light rail trains from Siemens Mobility and has a contract to order up to 76. Those vehicles are currently undergoing a testing process before they can be put into service early next year. With the order of an additional 16 new low-floor trains, SacRT will have 44 new low-floor vehicles, which is close to two-thirds of all the vehicles needed to operate on our light rail system.

SacRT has secured more than $350 million for our Light Rail Modernization Project, which includes the purchase of new low-floor trains, modifications to station platforms and adding a passing track to provide 15-minute service to Folsom area stations.

"The Bipartisan Infrastructure Law is delivering federal dollars across the nation – and here in Sacramento – our innovators at SacRT are ready to capitalize on its benefits for the community," said Congresswoman Doris Matsui (CA-07). "I was proud to fight for this infusion of federal funds that will replace 35-year-old light rail vehicles with new modern trains built right here in Sacramento by Siemens Mobility. This $45 million grant is helping us build Sacramento's future and will enable us to continue leading the way on sustainable, clean, and equitable public transportation."

"Sacramento Regional Transit is crucial for mobility in the Sacramento region, but the current light rail cars have reached the end of their useful life, said Congressman Ami Bera (CA-06). "I am proud to have helped secure funding through the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law for a new fleet of low-floor cars that will enhance the rider experience and make light rail accessible to all, including those with mobility restrictions, parents with strollers, and cyclists."

"As we celebrate SacRT's 50 years of service to the region—we can also look to the future," Senator Alex Padilla said. "I have been proud to support and see SacRT's efforts over the finish line to secure federal funding for new, modern light rail cars. Today's grant announcement is a major investment in regional mobility, making light rail cleaner, safer, and more accessible for everyone."

"I want to thank Senator Padilla and Representatives Matsui and Bera for championing the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law that created this new grant program, said SacRT Board Chair and Sacramento County Supervisor Patrick Kennedy. "This significant funding award will help accelerate SacRT's light rail modernization program and puts us one step closer to replacing our aging light rail fleet with entirely new and modern, low-floor vehicles that will improve accessibility for all riders. These new vehicles are being built by Siemens, right here in Sacramento, so this is also a significant boost to the economic prosperity of the region."

"We are very grateful to the Federal Transit Administration, FTA Administrator Nuria Fernandez and FTA Region 9 Administrator Ray Tellis for their extraordinary leadership for recognizing how important it is to replace our aging fleet of light rail vehicles," said SacRT General Manager/CEO Henry Li. "We also owe our gratitude to Senator Alex Padilla, Representative Doris Matsui and Representative Ami Bera for supporting this grant opportunity and SacRT in general. We are a stronger community because of the work they do on our behalf, and we will be even better when these new, modern low-floor light rail trains are in service early next year."

This new FTA funding along with other grant funding from the Sacramento Area of Governments (SACOG) and the state is being used for the new purchase of 16 low-floor light rail trains.

At the end of April, the state of California awarded SacRT $8.5 million in grant funding through the Transit and Intercity Rail Capital Program (TIRCP) to help support improved train technology, including real-time train arrival, passenger announcement system and more. Furthermore, this week the SACOG Transportation Committee approved their 2023 Regional Funding recommendations which include nearly $6.5 million for SacRT's Light Rail vehicle replacements and $5 million for station conversions to accommodate the new vehicles. New low-floor light rail trains are expected to be in service on the Gold line by summer 2024. Learn more at sacrt.com/modernization. ★

United Way 100th Anniversary Gala Raises $640,000 to Help Kids Excel

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - More than 450 community members came together to raise $640,000 to help local children succeed in school at United Way California Capital Region's 100th anniversary gala on April 29. The event held on the eve of the organization's 100th birthday at the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium included dinner, keynote presentation by San Francisco 49er Arik Armstead who cofounded the Armstead Academic Project, fund a need, silent and live auctions, raffle for tickets to Game 7 of the Kings vs. Warriors playoff series the next day, and dollar-for-dollar match courtesy of the Capital Region Foundation.

The local United Way has raised more than $671,000 toward its 100th anniversary goal announced in February to raise $3 million to help 10,000 kids excel in school by 2025.

"This night was the culmination of 100 years of work in this community to end poverty for local families," said Dr. Dawnté Early, president and CEO, United Way California Capital Region. "We know education is a proven ladder out of poverty, and we know school is square one for reaching families in need. Our 100th anniversary campaign is the launching pad for our next century of work to make sure our community's children succeed in school and thrive as adults."

United Way California Capital Region has found one place in each community to reach the most families in need: School is square one for ending poverty. United Way uses its Square One approach to end poverty for local families by helping children excel in school, investing in families, and strengthening schools with resources to address increased poverty and deep roots of racial inequality.

The local United Way offers a wide array of programming and services to ensure children and their families have the resources they need to succeed in school and in adulthood. From a regional reading tutoring program and school-readiness services for incoming kindergarteners to an income program for foster youth, guaranteed income for families, free tax preparation services and more, United Way has created a holistic approach that starts in schools.

California Supreme Court Dismantles No-Bid School Construction Contracts

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

Last week, the California Supreme Court issued a unanimous decision in a very complex – but very important – case that had been percolating for more than a decade, dealing with how local school officials evade competitive bidding on construction projects.

The case began in 2010 when Fresno Unified School District persuaded its voters to approve a bond to build new schools and upgrade old ones. In 2011, the district sold more than $100 million in bonds from that issue and an earlier one, and in 2012 awarded a $36.7 million contract for a new middle school to Harris Construction Co.

The contract with Harris, which had been a major contributor to the bond issue campaign, was structured as a “lease-leaseback” deal in which the district leased the school site to Harris for a nominal sum, Harris built the school and the district then leased the completed facility from Harris.

“Lease-leaseback” arrangements have been common for years, providing a way for school systems to build new facilities without borrowing money themselves. Typically, the “leaseback” runs for several decades, after which the district becomes the owner.

In the Harris project, however, Fresno Unified made payments to the contractor and once the school was completed in 2014, it used bond funds to immediately acquire ownership from Harris. Meanwhile, another contractor, Stephen Davis, had sued the district alleging that the Harris lease-leaseback deal was a subterfuge to avoid competitive bidding.

The district won two rulings from a local trial judge that the deal was legitimate, but both were overturned by a state appellate court and eventually Fresno Unified asked the state Supreme Court to determine whether the Harris deal was a legitimate contract protected under state law. Last week, the court declared that it was not, sending the case back down the legal ladder to determine what damages will be assessed.

San Diego attorney Kevin Carlin, who represents Davis and has carved out a niche career of challenging questionable school contracts, says that Harris Construction may be forced to pay back the $36.7 million it received for building Gaston Middle School.

The case has reverberated in other ways. The superintendent who approved the contract, Michael Hanson, was fired by the school board after the suit was filed. Critics cited Hanson’s close personal relationship with Harris Construction’s president, Michael Spencer, including the firm’s sponsorship of a gala event to honor Hanson, and the hiring of Harris as a consultant before the contract was awarded.

The FBI launched an investigation, although nothing official came of it. However, when Davis started winning his case, it sent shudders through other school districts that had used lease-leaseback in the same questionable manner.

In 2015, just a week after an appellate court ruled against the Harris contract, a lawyer for affected companies, P. Randolph Finch, outlined a plan “to mitigate our losses” by seeking legislation to legitimize questionable contracts.

“We have clients with well over a half-billion dollars of current backlog,” Finch wrote, “and another billion in completed projects, at risk on the Davis case. Consequently, we need a devoted industry effort to press these legislative changes.”

Using a parliamentary loophole known as “gut-and-amend,” a bill to absolve contractors of liability was drafted, but never enacted.

In 2004, the staff of the State Allocation Board, which parcels out school construction money, had described how lease-leaseback rules were being distorted, questioned the legality, declared “the integrity of the use of general obligation bonds... must be above reproach,” and suggested that the lease-leaseback law be clarified.

Officialdom ignored that warning but now the Supreme Court is telling school officials and contractors to play fairly or suffer the consequences.

COBRA, Health Insurance, Covered California, Medicare: Researching Plans

By Tim Coughlin

If you’ve been covered by group health insurance through your employer for a while and now find yourself in need of getting your own health insurance or choosing between COBRA, Covered California, or Medicare, evaluating the numerous options can feel overwhelming.

Determining plan premium costs, Covered California “Premium Assistance” amounts, Medicare costs based on income, plan deductibles, copays, out-of-pocket maximums, and making sure the doctors you want to see accept the plans are essential to making a good decision. Not being familiar with all the rules, enrollment deadlines, provider network, and the pros and cons of each option can result in paying more than you need to or getting coverage that doesn’t best meet your needs.

The services of a local insurance agent can help make the process of choosing the right plan easier by saving you a significant amount of time and effort trying to sort out all the options. People new to this process may not know that they don’t pay fees for the services of an independent agent. Instead, agents are paid by the insurance companies.

When looking for an agent, you will want to consider what the agent specializes in since insurance agents can represent various kinds of policies as well as how long they have been in the industry. Reading their reviews can help you learn more about their quality of service.

If you work with a “captured” insurance agent who only represents one carrier, you may miss out on more affordable policies or plan options with stronger coverage. By working with an independent insurance agent who represents multiple carriers, you’ll be provided with several coverage options to consider. And when you work with your neighborhood insurance agent, you will also benefit from their knowledge of the local market and can count on their services for the years to come.

Tim Coughlin is an award-winning independent agent in Gold River specializing in Medicare and health insurance for over 35 years. He can be reached at (916) 346-4417, by email at tim@summitindins.com, or through the agency website; summitindins.com. (LIC # 0669552)

Never Have Just One

Dear Dave,

I'm hearing more and more about "de-dollarization" and how several countries are moving away from the U.S. dollar as their basis of international trade. Will this affect the strength of the dollar, and should I be concerned about how I'm saving and investing because of this?

- Zack

Dear Zack,

First and foremost, I care enough about you to say you may be spending way too much time on the internet, buddy. You're drifting into the realm of conspiracy theories here, so let's slow down and take a look at some facts.

China, Brazil and Russia are the three main players in all this. They already don't use the U.S. dollar as their basis of international trade—all three have their own currency, and there's a conversion rate between all those currencies and the U.S. dollar. Those three countries, along with some of the oil-producing countries from the Middle East they're trying to get on board with the idea, are talking about developing one currency they all use. In international trade, that currency would be converted back and forth to dollars—much like what Europe did with the euro. Which, by the way, really hasn't worked out so well.

Are those countries going to be able to devalue the dollar by doing that? No. Why? Because while those countries take up a lot of land mass, they don't take up a lot of the gross domestic product (GDP) of the world. The United States still represents the vast majority of the world's GDP. Sure, China's big in that regard. But Russia doesn't bring much to the table, and Brazil is barely scraping by in a failed economy. Plus, they're tiny as far as economics are concerned.

I mean, Texas probably has a larger GDP than Brazil.

In other words, they just don't have the muscle to take down the dollar mathematically speaking. Now, if they do manage to put this idea together, it still won't end in "de-dollarization." The dollar will not be done away with. Even if they create their own currency, they're still going to have to trade with the 800-pound gorilla, which is America. And they're going to have to trade with us in dollars.

Am I worried about this, Zack? Not one bit. And you shouldn't be either.

The Courts/Permanency nurses interview biological families to get health history and then focus on access to care and help coordinate primary, dental, and specialty care if needed. They collaborate with CPS and advocate for the child until the case is closed or the child is adopted.

If children in foster care are prescribed psychotropic medications, they are followed by a nurse who ensures the medications are court approved and collaborates with the Social Worker and foster parent to monitor for side effects in the home.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF
DAVID LEROY MCDONALL
CASE NO. 34-2023-00337923

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of David Leroy McDonall aka David McDonall.
A Petition for Probate has been filed by Claire McDonall, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Claire McDonall be appointed as personal representative(s) to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows September 5, 2023, 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129; Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, William R. Ridgeway Family Relations Courthouse, 3341 Power Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Sacramento County Fair News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento County Fair is excited to announce that the All-Alaskan Racing Pigs and All-American Duck Races will be performing at the 2023 fair. These popular events feature adorable racing pigs and ducks competing in high-speed races. The shows are suitable for all ages and are always crowd-pleasers.

"We are thrilled to have both the All-Alaskan Racing Pigs and All-American Duck Races at our fair this year," said Fair CEO Matthew Cranford. "Their shows are always a hit with our guests, and we can't wait to see them in action."

Though a cross-species race offers some interesting possibilities, attendees do NOT have to choose between which species to root for. Both the All-Alaskan Racing Pigs and All-American Duck Races will have multiple FREE performances daily. Don't miss your chance to see these cute and talented animals in action and root your favorite on to victory. But even if your pick doesn't win, you'll delight in their hilarious defeat.

These events also offer a fun opportunity for Bart Noll, leader of the All-Alaskan Pig Races... crowd-watching. Says Noll, "I don't even watch the races anymore. I watch and listen to the crowd. There's no better sound than the kids' excited laughter. And some of those kids are in their 80s and 90s!"

Adds Cranford, "So, that's getting to watch and enjoy three species for the price of one. And the price is right. All free with your Fair admission." Mark your calendars for the 2023 Sacramento County Fair and come see the All-Alaskan Racing Pigs and All-American Duck Races.

Established in 1937, the Sacramento County Fair is dedicated to the safe and fun education of the greater Sacramento community and its youth in agriculture, business, and technology. A value-driven family event, Fair guests enjoy the friendly atmosphere, traditional county fair competitions, agricultural displays, hands-on activities, carnival, specialty food and festival-style entertainment. Close to 10,000 school children take advantage of free educational school tours and over 5,000 compete for awards in the livestock and competitive exhibit programs. The theme of 2023 Fair is: Where Tradition Meets Tomorrow.
