SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) -Are you interested in becoming a guest substitute teacher in the San Juan Unified School District for the upcoming 2023-24 school year?

The most critical first step, if you already have either a Bachelor of arts or science degree, is to take the required California Basic Educational Skills Test (CBEST).

Passing the CBEST test isn't as easy as it looks if you haven't fully prepared for its mathematics and language components.

Outside of writing for the Messenger, I also substitute/guest teach, and honestly, it took me two attempts to pass the CBEST exam.

The San Juan School for Adults will again offer a five-session class designed to help prepare students for the CBEST test, which is one of the requirements for becoming a guest teacher in California, said Richard S. Judge, principal of the San Juan School of Adults, part of the San Juan Unified School District (SJUSD).

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - At the April 13 meeting, the Citrus Heights City Council considered proposed amendments to the City code regarding massage establishments. Alison Bermudez of the Planning Department explained that the City supports legitimate massage therapists operating in Citrus Heights and recognizes their importance as part of the healthcare industry, as they reduce stress and relieve pain for many citizens. But there are some establishments that are not legitimate and engage in illicit activities such as prostitution and human trafficking.

Indications that an establishment is engaging in illegal activities can include locked exterior doors, dark coverings over doors and windows. no intake paperwork, no public posting of services and prices, and cash-only payments. In 2016, there were 50 massage establishments in the city, but Citrus Heights Police Department (CHPD) investigations and undercover stings resulted in the closure of many illegitimate businesses.

There are currently 26 active licenses, with three applications under review. City staff must spend time and resources monitoring the licensed massage businesses to ensure they remain in good standing. So, to make monitoring and enforcement easier, the proposed amendments would require that the front office or lobby remain bright and visible - and it would also allow for video surveillance in the office/lobby areas, which was previously prohibited. The amendments also include a cap on the number of massage businesses, at one license per 3,400 people; with a population of over 86,000, that cap would be 25 locations. Some massage businesses are not included in this cap, such as home-based massage therapy businesses and those who work out of other establishments, such as spas or hair salons.

The cap wouldn't impact existing businesses in good standing or those under review that have already initiated tenant improvement processes. And if the existing locations were damaged or leases were not renewed, those businesses would be eligible to

Newsom, California government cuts back press access

By Alexei Koseff, CALMatters.org

Like so much else about California, its state government is large: A $300 billion budget. More than 230 departments and agencies. More than 234,000 employees.

Keeping the public apprised of everything that's happening in that massive bureaucracy requires its own small army of communications staff, who craft messages, write press releases and answer questions from journalists covering everything from the governor to welfare programs, prisons to water policy.

Lately, however, the information isn't flowing as freely — raising transparency concerns among the press corps that acts as a watchdog for Californians.

Last month, the Capitol Correspondents Association of California, which represents journalists who cover the state Capitol and advocates for improved press access, distributed guidelines to its members about how to handle some of the increasingly common

hurdles they encounter, including government agencies asking for questions in advance and refusing to attribute information to their spokespeople.

Ashley Zavala, president of the correspondents association who covers state government and politics for Sacramento television station KCRA, said the extraordinary step was prompted by years of complaints from Capitol press about problems reporting on Gov. Gavin Newsom, his administration and the Legislature. These have been exacerbated by the coronavirus pandemic, which accelerated a shift to digital communication that has transformed how the state government discloses its work.

"The pandemic did cause some bad behavior," Zavala said. "It let some of these agencies and some of these offices get lackadaisical in how they handled the media."

Many of the standard features of government beat reporting — including in-person press conferences, with an opportunity for follow-up questions, and media phone lines where journalists could talk to a live staffer — disappeared three years ago with the shutdown orders and have been slow to return, if at all.

Changes that reporters and public information officers adopted to do their jobs virtually in a strange new stay-at-home world became

Californians Spring into Action to Remove Litter, Beautify Neighborhoods

Caltrans News Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Thousands of Californians took part in more than 600 "Spring into Action" Clean California Community Days events throughout the state during an 11-day period to clean up roadways, local streets and public spaces.

The series of events from March 17-27 were part of the Clean California initiative, Governor Gavin Newsom's $1.2 billion, multiyear cleanup effort led by Caltrans to remove trash, create thousands of jobs and engage communities to transform public spaces.

"Clean California is empowering communities and restoring pride in our shared spaces up and down the state, and I thank the thousands of Californians who banded together for the Community Days events to beautify and transform their neighborhoods," said Governor Newsom. "By making a difference at the local level, we are helping create a cleaner, more beautiful California for all."

Clean California Community Days included: Hundreds of local events including: 58 tree planting/gardening events with 363 trees planted; 265 community trash collection events; 202 public community cleanups; 39 educational and entertainment events; and six temporary public art installations;

1.64 million pounds of trash collected during the 11-day period – five times the weight of the Statue of Liberty;

More than 10,500 wvolunteers participated in community beautification efforts

"The overwhelming response and participation from Californians throughout the state to transform community spaces demonstrates the power of Clean California," said Caltrans Director Tony Tavares. "With the support of Governor Newsom and the commitment of our communities, we are reducing litter and making lasting positive change."

"Californians are looking for ways to engage in their communities to green and beautify neighborhoods, and Clean California is a powerful way for them to take action," said California Chief Service Officer Josh Fryday.

Clean California will continue to engage communities and raise awareness on the negative impact litter has on natural resources, waterways, public safety and public health, driving a cultural shift of shared responsibility and instilling community pride for the cleanliness of our roadways and public spaces. The recently launched "Zero Litter is the Goal" campaign focuses on volunteerism, community activation and grassroots partnerships to maintain the positive momentum of Clean California Community Days.

To encourage locallevel engagement, Caltrans is also developing a program in which communities throughout the state can earn a special Clean California designation by meeting criteria centered around preventing and cleaning up litter, promoting recycling, and greening or beautifying neighborhoods.

To support communities with tools and resources, Caltrans will be providing downloadable public education materials on topics such as litter prevention, volunteer recruitment, and K-12 materials. Additionally, members of the community are encouraged to continue to organize their own cleanup events and can get started by visiting CleanCA.com.

Since launching Clean California in July 2021, Caltrans and local partners have removed 1.45 million cubic yards of litter from state highways - the equivalent of more than 24,400 tons or enough trash to fill the Rose Bowl over 3½ times. Caltrans has hired more than 850 team members as part of Clean California. Clean California grants have funded 231 projects to revitalize and beautify underserved communities, some of which are already complete and now sources of community pride. In February, Governor Newsom announced a new round of $100 million in grants for local beautification projects.

Reward of $10,000 Offered in Scott Lee Cold Case Homicide

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Twenty-two years ago, Scott Joseph Lee was murdered as he arrived home to his apartment in Orangevale. On March 26, 2001, at approximately 11 pm, Sacramento County Sheriff's Deputies responded to an apartment complex at 8721 Greenback Lane regarding possible carjacking and shooting.

At approximately 10:45 pm, 23-yearold Scott Joseph Lee was driving to his apartment. During the drive, Scott was speaking with his sister. During the phone conversation, Scott's sister heard an unknown male voice demanding the victim give him something and glass breaking. She also heard the victim tell the suspect to "just take it."

The victim's family went to the apartment complex and eventually located Scott on the ground next to one of the apartment buildings. The victim had been shot several times and was not conscious. Fire personnel arrived and declared him deceased at the scene. To date, Investigators have not been able to identify the suspect(s) in this case.

Tips leading to an arrest are eligible for a CASH reward of up to $1000, and tipsters remain anonymous. Tips are paid in cash, and you are never asked for identification. Contact Sacramento Valley Crime Stoppers at (916) 443-HELP (4357), 1(800) AA-CRIME, or TIPS. Use the "P3 TIPS" app or online at www.sacvalley-crimestoppers.com

Recently, the family of Scott Lee has established a $10,000 reward for information that results in the arrest and conviction of the person(s) responsible for Scott's murder. Please call the Sheriff's Homicide Bureau at 916-874-8476 if you are willing to speak with investigators regarding this case.

A Failure to Communicate ingrained, encouraging practices, such as written statements instead of interviews, that offer less clarity and greater distance between state government and the people it serves

This tension — between journalists seeking accountability and a bureaucracy that does not always welcome scrutiny — is not new. Covering state government has grown more difficult in recent years with fewer reporters covering the Capitol and social media offering politicians new ways to reach constituents and voters without speaking to the press. Those trends were exacerbated by restrictions applied during the pandemic

The risk is a decline of "open, honest and transparent communication" essential to the functioning of democracy, said David Loy, legal director of the First Amendment Coalition, a nonprofit that advocates for a free press and government disclosure.

Media outlets across the state note rejected interview requests, challenges obtaining public records or the lack of any official response in their stories (see this story online at CalMatters.org for specific details)

"These message control practices do real harm to the public interest," Loy said. "Because the people need to know the full story, not just the official story."

No standard communications policy

There is no shortage of people responsible for the state government's communication of public information: 435 employees in the executive branch, to be exact, according to a count conducted for CalMatters by the Department of Human Resources. An analysis of salary ranges based on job titles found that the annual cost to taxpayers is between $36.5 million and $44.8 million.

There are even more press aides working for other branches, such as the Legislature, the judiciary and public universities. The jobs of these communications officials extend beyond answering reporters' questions and can include duties such as developing public relations strategies, writing speeches and managing social media accounts.

Yet, besides laws mandating open meetings and the release of public records, California does not have standards for appropriate public communications. Policies are at the discretion of those hundreds of individual agencies and departments.

Emails, not interviews

The obstacles and troubling behavior highlighted by the Capitol Correspondents Association of California are broader and more pervasive.

Many offices have moved nearly entirely toward written communications, directing a reporter who does reach someone by phone to instead send their questions by email.

During the pandemic, Julie Watts of television station CBS Sacramento spent two years investigating health and safety failures at a state-funded COVID-19 testing lab. She was never allowed to speak with Health and Human Services Secretary Mark Ghaly, who oversaw the state's coronavirus response, or Department of Public Health officials about her findings, even after Newsom directed her questions to Ghaly.

Watts said she was forced to rely on written statements, which documents and reports often later revealed to be inaccurate or untrue. Was California getting false information about the effectiveness of the lab, or covering up negligence?

"The answers they were sending us in writing were disingenuous," Watts said, adding that it made her question whether the state had something to hide. "We were talking about complex, scientific issues. And it's difficult to convey that to the public when it's hundreds of back-and-forth emails."

The written responses crafted by communications staff are often sent anonymously from a general email account, as though coming from the entire faceless bureaucracy rather than a particular spokesperson. For example, media inquiries fulfilled by the state Department of Justice, which is overseen by Attorney General Rob Bonta, are generally signed only "Press Office."

Demanding better practices

In the guidelines it shared with reporters last month, the correspondents association recommended that media describe the rejection of an interview request in the story, alongside the written statement that an agency provides instead.

The association urged journalists not to provide questions in advance of an interview, other than a general description of the information they are seeking, writing: "Journalism ethics requires us to maintain our objectivity, and by giving these questions in advance you would be providing the office or agency an opportunity to rehearse for a basic function of their job and take control of the messaging."

Speed vs. accuracy

State communications officials said they aim to provide timely and accurate information to the media and the public, but those values are not always aligned.

Complex inquiries from reporters can require consulting multiple subject-matter experts for thorough answers and obtaining many layers of approval, sometimes in conjunction with other agencies.

Officials said they generally ask for questions in advance because it helps them determine who is best equipped to handle the inquiry. Providing interviews with agency staff can require a lot of preparation and coordinating schedules, so they often prefer to send written responses instead

Because many state employees are still primarily working from home, some large communications offices do everything by email so that their staff can collectively track and respond to the media inquiries they receive throughout the day.

These policies are generally not unlawful, noted Loy of the First Amendment Coalition, because public officials and state agencies are not legally obligated to speak to the press.

But many of them are nevertheless antithetical to the spirit of open government, he said, preventing journalists from obtaining the public information that they need to hold the government to account.

"Is the government there to serve the people or is the government there to be a spin machine?" Loy said. "It may seem inconvenient to the government, but at the end of the day, a government that is most accountable to the people is the best government."

relocate, and owners of those businesses could still sell or transfer the business. But the cap would mean that as long as the existing businesses stay open and in good standing, new massage businesses wouldn't be able to easily get a license approved in Citrus Heights.

But there was a proposed exemption for Public Necessity applications, which would come before Council to consider whether the services being offered by a proposed new business would set it apart from similar businesses, such as offering facials, aromatherapy, or other holistic care.

During the Public Hearing, Lauren McLachlan, a certified massage therapist, said that none of the other areas in the region have a cap on massage therapists: "This amounts to a moratorium without using the word moratorium." She stated that sole practitioners should be added to the list of exemptions since they offer different work than those operating businesses in shopping centers. She also pointed out that the establishments closed due to police investigations were not massage therapists, so if the point of these amendments is to prohibit "houses of ill-repute," then the CHPD can just enforce existing laws against prostitution and human trafficking rather than the City targeting legitimate businesses.

Councilmember Bret Daniels agreed that it would make sense to exempt sole practitioners because there is a big difference in operation. He also said he was "uncomfortable" with the Public Necessity exemption because it could put the Council in the business of "picking the winners and losers." He said they need to be careful not to "disturb legitimate business practices."

Other councilmembers agreed about exempting sole practitioners, and Mayor Tim Schaefer said he wasn't clear about how these amendments would be applied, so he thought it would be best if they postpone the vote until more work is done to clarify the amendments.

Staff will revise and bring an updated version to Council for future consideration.

City staff also asked for direction from Council regarding naming options for an open space park along Greenback Lane, between Parkoaks Drive and Dewey Drive. As part of the Greenback Lane Complete Streets Project, which was completed in 2008, the City acquired and demolished 16 duplexes to accommodate the road widening and associated improvements. The amount of land was more than required for the road, so the surplus became an open space park with landscaping and a meandering path. But the space was never named.

Staff presented several possible options to determine a name: Council could request submissions from the community, form an ad-hoc committee to select a name, or select a name by Council vote. They could also direct staff to develop a naming ordinance, which would create an official process for naming all unnamed resources in the city.

Councilmember Middleton said she would like to see an official ordinance established that includes robust community input for naming decisions. The other councilmembers agreed, so staff will begin developing the ordinance and bring it before Council at a future meeting.

The Council then considered whether to send a letter of opposition regarding California's proposed Assembly Bill 742, which, if passed, would prevent the use of police canines for arrest, apprehension, or any form of crowd control. The authors of the bill state that police canines are often disproportionately deployed against communities of color, resulting in a deep fear and distrust of police officers within those communities. And bites from police canines result in more physical harm than other enforcement tools, such as tasers and batons.

Councilmember Middleton said that the "intent of the bill is important." She pointed out that biases do exist in policing, and they cannot always be overcome. She asked Citrus Heights Police Department (CHPD) Chief Alex Turcotte if the canine department utilizes the "find and bite" technique, and Chief Turcotte affirmed that they do. Middleton said, "I think that you utilizing find and bite is more dangerous in most cases than it should be. It leaves people maimed, harmed, and sometimes individuals who are not meant to be attacked are attacked." She suggested removing find and bite as a tactic, and instead training for "find and bark," so the dogs alert the officers to a suspect's location. She didn't support a letter of opposition to the bill, but rather a suggestion for a change of language: "I don't think removing the canines is the issue. I think it's how they're deployed." Middleton said it's important to keep the community safe, and even though the suspects might have done something wrong, "keeping them as safe as possible, and not maiming them in the process, is important."

Vice Mayor Daniels said, "The fact is, police canines save lives" and prevent serious injury, most often protecting the officers themselves. He said that having canines that aren't trained to bite is the equivalent to carrying an unloaded gun. In his view, the intention is not to bite, but to ensure compliance – and if suspects know that the dogs won't bite, there is less chance that they will comply. Daniels said, "This bill is horrible. It will get police officers injured; it will get police officers killed. It will likely get citizens injured and killed" due to the "lack of an effective enforcement tool." He said he strongly supported sending a letter of opposition.

Mayor Schaefer said, "I'm very confident that canine officers save human officers. There's no question in my mind, if this law passes, more people are going to die"

The Council voted 4-1 to oppose the bill, with Councilmember Middleton dissenting.

Credit Union SACTOWN Run Raises $210,800 for CMN Hospitals

The Annual Credit Union SACTOWN Run held on Sunday, April 2, 2023, raised over $210,800 for Children's Miracle Network Hospitals (CMN) and included 69 credit unions and 1,800 runners.

California and Nevada Credit Union Leagues News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) -

The Annual Credit Union SACTOWN Run - which took place Sunday (April 2) in Sacramento – raised more than $210,800 for the 11 Children's Miracle Network Hospitals (CMN) to help local kids across California and Nevada.

More than 1,800 runners participated in this year's Credit Union SACTOWN Run, including nearly 1,200 credit union employees and members from across California and Nevada. The event, which started and ended on the Capitol Mall in front of the California State Capitol, featured a 10-mile race, 5K run, and "Miracle Mile Fun Run and Fitness Walk."

The run was hosted by the Sacramento Running Association (SRA) and also served as the USA Track and Field (USATF) Masters 10-Mile National Championship.

"Once again, we were honored to work with the Sacramento Running Association to host such a great event to raise much needed funds for Children's Miracle Network Hospitals throughout California and Nevada," said Diana Dykstra, president and CEO of the California and Nevada Credit Union Leagues (Ontario, CA). "These donations will help kids receive the care and treatment they need, thanks to a number of credit unions and businesses in both states."

John Pamer, chair of the Credit Union SACTOWN Run and CEO of Diablo Valley Federal Credit Union (Concord, CA), said the annual race has become a cherished rite of Spring for credit unions and business partners. "Each year since 2012, we run, jog or walk our course on the first Sunday in April," Pamer said. "But the real benefit is that the $210,800 we raised this year — and the

$2.5 million we've raised since day-one — brings healing and hope to patients and their families every day of the year. Credit unions and our business partners are committed to helping people in our local communities, and the Credit Union SACTOWN Run is a strong demonstration of this commitment."

Larry Palochik, executive vice president of the Leagues (Ontario, CA), said that every child deserves the chance to live a happy and healthy life. "Supporting Children's Miracle Network hospitals in our two states is our opportunity to help make that a reality," Palochik said. "Together, with our credit unions and sponsors, we are helping provide hope and healing to children and families in need."

Joe Franklin, vice president of brand and experiential marketing for Co-op Solutions (Rancho Cucamonga, CA), thanked all of the runners who participated in this year's Credit Union SACTOWN Run. "The partnership between CMN Hospitals and credit unions is a truly synergistic one," Franklin said. "The two things that determine physical and mental health are access to health care and solid financial wellness. When members of society and their children are physically healthy or have access to quality care, and they feel financially secure, it builds a stronger community."

Kevin Miller, president and CEO of Travis Credit Union in Vacaville, Calif., said his credit union believes in "people helping people" — and the annual race is just one more example of this unique industry philosophy. "I'm proud of our staff and their families who are running and volunteering with that spirit to benefit the Credit Union SACTOWN Run," Miller said.

Bill Cheney, chief executive officer of SchoolsFirst Federal Credit Union (Tustin, CA), said his credit union's team looks forward to participating in the race each year. "They're eager for the physical challenge of the race while supporting a cause that aligns with our credit union values," Cheney said. "We are proud to participate and support children and their families in local hospitals, including UC Davis Children's Hospital. Thank you to our team and all runners and volunteers — you make a difference in the lives of others."

Amanda Merz, community impact manager for SAFE Credit Union (Sacramento, CA), said her leadership and team are pleased to be a part of the Credit Union SACTOWN Run. "Seeing all of our fellow credit union employees and leaders come together to help raise money for children's health is so inspiring," Merz said. "Credit unions are all about 'people helping people,' and it is so rewarding to see all of us working together for a greater cause while also having some fun."

Important, Costly Lessons for California Taxpayers from the COVID Pandemic

Commentary by Jon Coupal

As it did with citizens throughout America, the pandemic caused massive disruption to the lives of virtually every Californian.

Tens of thousands lost their lives, many now have long-term health problems, and countless others lost their jobs or businesses. Moreover, the disastrous handling of the pandemic for school-aged children will likely leave a scar on an entire generation that may never heal.

More unique to California, however, is the extent of government waste associated with the pandemic. Outright fraud, mismanagement, opportunistic consultants, ineffective media campaigns, and simple incompetence put California way ahead of all other states in felony-level stupidity with the spending of taxpayer dollars.

Because this is a column, not a book, we can only review a few of the most egregious examples.

Of course, the big
Kahuna is the jaw-dropping amount of fraud
in the Employment
Development Department

(EDD). Originally thought to be "only" $11 billion in "improper" payments, we now know that the fraud exceeded $31 billion. To put that in perspective, that is 10% of the entire budget for the state of California. More insulting is where the money went. Transnational organized criminal groups from China and Africa have made off with billions of dollars, with who knows how much of it used for child trafficking, drugs, and terrorism.

A close second, the waste and incompetence of California's public education establishment probably engendered more anger, especially among parents, than even the EDD debacle. Taxpayers were obligated to continue paying their full taxes as though our public schools were fully open with students attending in person. The public employee unions were running the show during the pandemic, and that was bad news for both taxpayers and students.

According to a report last July, California school districts had spent $40 billion in COVIDrelated funds, but very little went to addressing learning loss. That may be due in part to the failure of the federal government to specify with more particularity how the money should be spent. According to EdSource, "Most districts appear to have listed most of the money they spent in [an] all-but-the-kitchen-sink category, which could include raises and bonuses to retain staff." Finally, there remain billions more in unspent funds at the same time public school enrollment has plummeted in the state.

Not all of the waste was the result of fraud or negligence but rather a simple miscalculation of the severity of the pandemic.

One example of COVID spending "overkill," was the conversion of Sacramento's professional basketball facility, then called Sleep Train Arena, into a COVID hospital in April 2020. According to the L.A. Times, the conversion cost millions of dollars and yet only nine patients were treated there.

Far less justifiable than an arguably good-faith response by sending a massive hospital ship to L.A. "just in case," was Gov. Gavin Newsom's decision to spend almost $1 billion in taxpayer funds to purchase masks from a sketchy Chinese company known for building electric cars. Two years after the fact, there remain many unanswered questions.

Finally, California had a golden opportunity to use some of the billions in federal COVID relief to pay down its debt to the federal Unemployment Insurance Fund. That is precisely what virtually all other states did. But California's failure means much higher costs to the state's business community.

Taxpayers would like to hope that government agencies learned much from the pandemic. So far, there's no indication of it.

Jon Coupal is president of the Howard Jarvis
Taxpayers Association. ★

Boomers Weigh Health Insurance and Medicare Costs in Retirement

By Tim Coughlin

Baby Boomers are retiring in droves! It's estimated that in 2023 about 10,000 Baby Boomers will reach retirement age every day. As they reach this milestone, Baby Boomers must each face the costs of accessing healthcare, whether it be through health insurance or Medicare. Planning for healthcare costs at this stage in life is a crucial part of the retirement plan puzzle, particularly given the importance of maintaining good quality care and access to providers as we age.

"Health insurance and Medicare coverage costs can be a bit of a shock or surprisingly affordable," says Tim Coughlin, an independent insurance broker in Gold River specializing in health and Medicare insurance planning. Health Insurance costs can vary from practically nothing to over $1,000 a month or more for individuals and up to $2,000 a month for couples under the age of 65. For people on Medicare, the costs of Medicare and plan premiums can range from around $165 a month to over $700 a month depending on plan choice and household income. On top of premium costs, there are potential deductibles, copays, and coinsurance that can add to costs.

It pays to compare all available options you may have: "COBRA," retiree coverage, Covered California and/or Medicare Supplement, Medicare Advantage, and Prescription Drug Plans. Prescription drug plans can be an important factor for Medicare beneficiaries as deductibles, copays, and coinsurance are often higher for anyone taking expensive, brand-name medications. Another consideration that can impact cost is what doctors and hospitals you want to maintain access to.

Comparing costs and benefits for Covered California Health Insurance and Medicare can be a bit confusing at first. That's where a good independent broker comes in. A dedicated agent can help you understand the costs and benefits of different plan options, the enrollment process, and timing, and help you get coverage that is appropriate given your objectives, provider preferences, and budget.

Many people who are retiring and have never worked with a health insurance broker before don't realize that the broker's services are free to the client since independent agents are paid by the insurance companies they represent.

Tim Coughlin, located in Gold River, CA, is an award-winning independent agent specializing in Medicare planning for over 35 years. He can be reached at (916) 346-4417 or by email at tim@summitindins.com or through the agency website, www.summitindins.com. (LIC. # 0669552)

Gen Zers and
Millennials? I Love 'Em!

Dear Dave,

I am the managing partner of a family business. We would like to add to our team, but I'm worried we can't try to hold millennials and Gen Zers to the same standards as other generations without losing them. How do you feel about this?

– Sarah

Dear Sarah,

Listen, I've got a building full of Gen Zers and millennials – and I love them. If you hire the rights ones, you're getting people who love calluses on their hands and on their brains. They make the interview process easy too, because there are just two types from these generations: the ones who are unbelievably awesome and the ones who aren't. But the great ones are not afraid of hard work. They're passionate, intelligent and mission driven. I mean, they'll charge the gates of hell with water pistols for something they believe in.

But that means you have to provide meaning in the work they do. They want to see that their work connects to something that matters. They want to be treated with dignity, not like units of production. And they have inquiring minds. Most of them want to know why you do things the way you do them. All that is perfectly okay with me and always has been.

Now, they're the worst two generations to work for someone who's just a boss. That's because bosses push while leaders pull. If you're going to pull, you have to inform, communicate and share a vision that draws people into your mission. Bosses, for the most part, have a "do it this way because I said so" attitude. That's not going to last long with Gen Zers and millennials.

I get where you're coming from though, Sarah. I've still got friends and business associates who tell me we're going to lose everyone from these generations if we don't cave in and give them things like "the flexibility to work from home" — which really means, "I don't want to work much" or "I want to work all the time." Listen, I understand not everyone who works from home falls into one of those two categories, but some of them do. There are folks who put in 80 hours a week because they can't put their screens down and live a life. Or they work three hours a day and call it "working from home." That's not working from home – that's working part-time hours for full-time pay. And that's called stealing.

But millennials and Gen Zers? I'm a huge fan of these generations. I truly, personally like them. They are, for the most part, genuine, real people and hard workers. If you give them what you should as a leader, they'll blow you away with their smarts and what they're capable of achieving!

How Will Newsom and Legislators Deal With Growing Revenue Shortfalls?

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

When Gov. Gavin Newsom proposed a 2023-24 budget in January, he acknowledged that the revenue estimates made six months earlier were way too optimistic and that the state had evolved from a nearly $100 billion surplus to a $22.5 billion deficit.

Never mind. Nine months into the current fiscal year, it's evident that revenue, principally from personal income taxes, will fall well short of that downward revision. The deficit could hit $30 billion as he and legislative leaders begin to focus on a final version for adoption in June.

Through February, the administration reported, revenues were running nearly $5 billion below expectations and they fell short by nearly $1 billion more in March

The numbers bolster contentions by the Legislature's budget analyst, Gabe Petek, that the state's fiscal situation was unhealthier than Newsom was admitting. In his initial response to the January budget, Petek said, "Our estimates suggest that there is a good chance that revenues will be lower than the administration's projections for the budget window, particularly in 2022-23 and 2023-24."

The next stop for the annual budget process will come in May, when Newsom must unveil revised revenue estimates and appropriations. The worsening revenue data set the stage for what could be contentious negotiations with a June 15 constitutional deadline for passing a budget.

The essential problem is that when Newsom was forecasting an immense surplus and bragging that "no other state in American history has ever experienced a surplus as large as this," he and the Legislature spent much of it on rebates to taxpayers and expansions of programs, especially those benefiting the poor.

Although Newsom insisted at the time that much of that spending was one-time in nature and therefore wouldn't make unsustainable long-term commitments, it nevertheless raised expectations of permanency. Thus, when Newsom offered a new budget in January, he clawed back many of those allocations, particularly those that hadn't yet been spent, sparking complaints from would-be recipients.

As revenues continue to fall short, expectations will have to shrink further, the competition for money among budget stakeholders will become more intense and the pressure on Newsom and legislators will increase.

They may be tempted to do something that Newsom says he doesn't want to do and that Petek says would be foolhardy: tap into the state's "rainy day" reserves to relieve stakeholder pressure.

The reserves are meant to be used during a severe economic downturn, but California's fiscal problem is occurring during a relatively prosperous post-pandemic recovery. The shortfall in revenues is occurring because of the state's narrowly based revenue system, one that is largely dependent on earnings of high-income taxpayers, particular in the shaky technology sector.

The stock market has reacted negatively to the Federal Reserve System's interest rate increases, which are meant to combat inflation. Declines in the market manifest themselves in lower taxable earnings by investors who are such a large factor in the revenue stream. The system is so narrowly based that lower incomes for just a handful of wealthy Californians can have a big effect on revenues.

Dipping into reserves to cover the revenue shortfall would weaken their ability to cushion a recession if and when that occurs, which is why Petek strongly discourages Newsom and legislators from succumbing to stakeholder pressure by using them.

A deficit north of $30 billion, which is a real possibility, is no joke and coming after such huge – and probably irresponsible surplus estimates – poses a serious political dilemma for politicians who would much prefer to be showering money on their constituents as they did last year.

Dan Walters has been a journalist for nearly 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers.

Walgreens Refuses to Press Charges Against Thieves

Sac County Sheriff's Dept News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Just after 1 pm on Saturday, March 11, 2023, North Patrol deputies responded to Walgreens near Arden Way and Howe Avenue regarding the report of a robbery in progress. An employee called 911 and advised our communications center dispatchers that two subjects walked out with stolen merchandise, then physically hit an employee when confronted. Additionally, the caller described a vehicle in which the Responding deputies quickly located the vehicle and detained both subjects without incident. They discovered hundreds of dollars in stolen items and eagerly contacted Walgreens to return the items and complete their felony investigation.

When they spoke to the employee, deputies learned the subjects never actually hit the employee as they reported when they called 911; but rather spit on them (while arguably worse, it is only a misdemeanor under California law absent other articulable circumstances).

Despite our deputies' best efforts, Walgreens and their employees refused to press charges. Furthermore, they would not confirm if all the items stolen were in fact theirs or if they totaled enough to warrant a felony arrest. Lack of cooperation from large retailers such as Walgreens makes our duty of enforcing laws far more complicated than it should be. Rest assured, the men and women of the Sacramento County Sheriff's Office remain steadfast in our commitment to keeping the public safe and criminals off the street.

shortage of qualified substitute/guest teachers in the San Juan Unified School District, he said.

The free online CBEST course, taught by Megan White, an 18-year teaching veteran, is offered in weekly Zoom sessions over a five-week period from May 23rd until June 20th from 4:30 to 6:30 pm. White is a full-time teacher in another school district as well as an instructor at Sacramento State University.

"This five-session class is a refresher of each major section of the CBEST test: Math, Reading, and Writing to help bring back the specifics that are tested," she said. "We break down the major components of the test, practice the skills, and then review some CBEST practice problems."

The test can definitely be tricky, especially for those that have not been in a school setting for a while, White acknowledges.

"One great aspect of this class is it builds confidence. Students walk away knowing what they already feel comfortable with, and with tools to study the parts they will need more practice with," White said.

In each week Zoom session, White leads course participants through a different test section, including strategies for breaking down problems, extra practice problems and helpful hints for the test, Judge said. The course pre-requisite is a bachelor's degree.

Registration for the CBEST course will close on May 31st, after the second class takes place, unless the class fills up before that, Judge said. "In that case, we will start a waiting list."

The link to register for the CBEST workshop class is: https://www.sanjuan.edu/Page/53113.

"Last fall's free online CBEST preparatory class was a pilot, a first-time course for us, and was very successful," he said. "We decided to offer it again this spring."

Fifteen students attended a fall CBEST workshop offered by the San Juan School for Adults, from start to finish, Judge said.

"In fact, our fall CBEST prep class filled up so quickly, we had to create a waiting list. Since the students later take the test on their own, we do not yet know the test results of this first cohort," Judge

"We plan to eventually become an authorized California CBEST testing center, in which case we will be better able to track students who take the test, and if they are willing to share, their pass rates,"

As one of the largest California school districts, the San Juan Unified School District serves more than 45,000 preschool, TK-12 and adult learners in the communities of Citrus Heights, Orangevale, Fair Oaks, Gold River, Carmichael and Arden-Arcade in eastern Sacramento County.

All new candidates interested in guest/substitute teaching in the San Juan Unified School District must either hold a teaching credential based on a degree and student teaching or be eligible to apply for an Emergency 30-Day Substitute Teaching Permit.

To be eligible to apply for an Emergency 30-day permit in the San Juan Unified School District, candidates must possess a bachelor's degree or higher, and meet the basic skills requirement by passing the CBEST exam.

New guest teachers in the San Juan Unified School District are also required to pass a criminal background check, have LiveScan fingerprints taken, obtain a clear tuberculosis (TB) test and attend an orientation.

Visit www.edjoin.org/Home/DistrictJobPosting/1597011 to learn more about the specific requirements for substitute/guest teaching in the San Juan Unified School District.

The link to register for the free online CBEST class offered through the San Juan School of Adults starting on May 23rd is www.sanjuan.edu/Page/53113. ★

Celebrate the Season at the Old Sacramento Spring Festival

T-Rock Communications News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Come one, come all! The Sacramento History Museum invites the community to celebrate the season during a fun, free and family-friendly Old Sacramento Spring Festival happening on Sunday, April 30. The 2nd annual festival takes place from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the 1849 Scene - the sycamore-shaded lawn just across from the Sacramento History Museum and California State Railroad Museum – at the Old Sacramento Waterfront.

A collaboration of the Sacramento History Museum, Sacramento Living History, and the Sacramento Country Dance Society, the 2nd Annual Old Sacramento Spring Festival is highlighted by hourly dances around a 15-foot maypole – complete with a crown and ribbons – as well as traditional country dances to live music performed by the six-member Quite Carried Away band.

Over time and throughout centuries, similar spring celebrations and traditions cross various cultures. In Sacramento, "City of Festivals" spring celebrations date back to 1885 when the "Grand Festival of Flowers" honored philanthropist and art museum founder Margaret Crocker. The upcoming Old Sacramento Spring Festival draws from that tradition, as well as Camellia Festivals that celebrated Sacramento's now 160-year association with its official flower.

In addition to dancing, festival

attendees can also enjoy demonstrations by the Sacramento County Dance Society, hands-on arts-and-crafts stations, hobby-horse races, gold panning, lawn games such as cornhole and giant Jenga, and more.

For more information about the Old Sacramento Spring Festival, the Sacramento History Museum or Sacramento Living History, please visit www.sachistorymuseum.org.

HAILEY NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF CUAHUTEMOC CORONEL AKA TEMO CORONEL

CASE NO. 34-2022-00327236 To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Cuahutemoc Coronel aka Temo Coronel.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Elisia Ann McClure, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Elisia Ann McClure be appointed as personal representative(s) to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows July 26, 2023, 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129; Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, William R. Ridgeway Family Relations Courthouse, 3341 Power Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. The name, address and telephone number of the Attorney for Petitioner is: Robert M. SacRT Offers Systemwide Free Rides in Celebration of Earth Day

Free SacRT rides in celebration of Earth Day this Saturday, April 22, will include Bus, Light Rail and SacRT GO Paratransit Services. Photo courtesy of SacRT

SacRT News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento Regional Transit District (SacRT) is offering systemwide free rides in celebration of Earth Day on Saturday, April 22, 2023. Free rides are available to travel on all buses (includes Elk Grove Transit), light rail and SacRT GO paratransit services during regular service hours. No flyer is needed to ride free, just board and go.

Fossil-fuel powered transportation is the single biggest source of air pollution in California. Just one light rail train car can take 150 automobiles off the road, and one bus can take 60 cars off the road.

SacRT's light rail vehicles minimize air pollution, as they are 100% powered by electricity and most buses use compressed natural gas (CNG), which produces fewer pollutants, other vehicles are 100% zero-emission electric battery powered vehicles.

On Earth Day, help clear the air by trying an alternative form of transportation. Leave the car at home and try SacRT for free.

Free Transit Options:

Bus: SacRT operates over 82 bus routes within a 440-square mile service area; Light Rail: SacRT operates light rail on 43 miles of track serving 53 light rail stations; SacRT GO Paratransit Services: Door-to-door, shared-ride transportation for individuals who are unable to use the SacRT bus and light rail system either all of the time of some of the time, because of a disabling condition. Riders must be eligible for ADA paratransit service and must apply to use this service. Learn more at sacrtgo.com.

Plan Your Trip: SacRT has 23 free park-and-ride lots for easy access to light rail. To plan your trip on SacRT, visit sacrt.com/planyourtrip or call 916-321-BUSS (2877) to find the best way to get around to region. Visit sacrt.com/schedules for a list of bus and light rail schedules

Kings and Kaiser Permanente Present Sabonis with Community Crossover Award

Sacramento Kings News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) -On Friday, April 7, 2023, the Sacramento Kings recognized center Domantas Sabonis with the 2023 Community Crossover Award presented by Kaiser Permanente. The award, formerly known as the Oscar Robertson Triple Double Award, is given to a Kings player each year who excels both on and off the court while also making significant contributions to the community.

"I am honored to be the recipient of this year's Community Crossover Award," said Sacramento Kings center Domantas Sabonis. "My family and I love Sacramento and this community and it means a great deal to us to be able to give back and support, especially our youth."

This season, Sabonis and his wife, Shashana, launched the Sabonis Squad, adopting Caroline Wenzel Elementary school and providing support and supplies. As part of the Sacramento Kings 21st Annual Season of Doing Good presented by Raley's, the Sabonis' surprised students from the elementary after-school program and provided food courtesy of Dos Coyotes, coats courtesy of Old Navy and books to read over the holiday break. Students who finished their book were given a chance to win Kings swag and game tickets. In addition, the Sabonis family has provided PE equipment to community and Kings fans, Sabonis surprised individuals at a local barber shop (The 916 Cuts) and a community park (Franklin D. Roosevelt Park) with tickets to a Kings game.

In addition, Sabonis has excelled as a leader on the court, averaging 19.2 points and team-highs of 12.4 rebounds and 7.3 assists per game. Along with leading the Kings, Sabonis is the NBA's league-leader in rebounding, total rebounds (964) and double-doubles (65) while ranking second in triple-doubles (14) and fifth in total assists (568). He has helped guide Sacramento to a postseason berth with a 12.5 win shares rating and 9.5 offensive win shares rating, which both rank second in the NBA.

Sabonis will be presented the award by Sacramento Kings Chief Operating Officer Matina Kolokotronis and General Manager Monte McNair tonight before the Kings take on the Golden State Warriors at Golden 1 Center.

Inaugurated in 2003, prior award winners include some of the most recognizable figures in Kings team history, such as Chris Webber (2003), Vlade Divac (2004), Peja Stojakovic (2005), De'Aaron Fox (2019) in addition to backto-back honors for Corliss Williamson (2006 and 2007), Garrett Temple (2017 and 2018) and Harrison Barnes (2021 and 2022). ★

Carmichael Attorney Sentenced for Filing False Tax Returns

By Thomas J. Sullivan

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Scott Norris Johnson, 61, of Carmichael, an attorney known throughout Northern California for suing under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) has been sentenced in federal court to 18 months of home detention after having pleaded guilty to filing false tax returns. Johnson was also ordered to pay $250,000 in restitution and a $50,000 fine.

The plea before U.S. District Judge John A. Mendez in Sacramento federal court closes the books on a three-count tax indictment against Johnson from 2019, when he was still operating at the height of his time visiting businesses and suing over alleged violations of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Disabilities Act.

Johnson's attorney, Malcolm Segal, said his client's plea agreement involves a dispute over tax returns, not any charge involving his serial ADA lawsuits. Neither Johnson nor Segal responded to a request for comment.

Johnson, a quadriplegic who uses a motorized wheelchair, is well known in the Northern California business community for suing retailers for alleged violations of the federal disability-access law. His complaint letters frequently arrive in flurries at numerous businesses in a single town or neighborhood, leaving owners to settle or risk likely higher costs of litigating his allegations.

As of 2020, Johnson had filed approximately 4,000 suits, according to documents filed with the United States District Court for the Eastern District of California. The majority of those lawsuits were settled.

Under the ADA, someone suing for violations, particularly if the suit is settled, gets at least a portion of that settlement. Yet according to the plea agreement, from 2012 through 2014, Johnson did not declare some of that income to the IRS.

During those years, Johnson received settlements anywhere from $93,000 to more than $1 million. As such, he owed more than $250,000 to the federal government.

Johnson will have a year of supervised release, according to a previously announced plea agreement. While on probation, he won't be able to apply to be reinstated to the California Bar. During the period of home confinement, Johnson won't be able to file ADA lawsuits in federal or state courts.

News of Johnson's recent sentence came as no surprise to Carmichael attorney Catherine Corfee of the Corfee Stone Law Corp. (Corfee Stone) which has for years been actively cautioning local businesses in Fair Oaks and Sacramento County to be pro-active and responsive to potential ADA lawsuits which may be filed against them.

"His (Johnson's) sentence is just a slap on the wrist," she said. "This may take Johnson out of circulation for a while, and I suspect he'll be back."

In her observation, the number of ADA compliance cases filed in both federal and state court has been increasing each year, she said

Johnson and his corporation, Disabled Access Prevents Injuries Inc., filed approximately 4,000 lawsuits in California's Eastern and Northern district courts under the ADA and related California laws between 2003 and April 2020, according to the U.S. Attorney's Office.

Signed into law in July 1990 by President George H.W. Bush, the Americans with Disability Act (ADA) aims to make buildings and transportation accessible for those with disabilities and to protect them from discrimination in employment. Store owners and restaurants can often face a fine of $4,000 for each individual ADA violation.

In her blog, Corfee outlines active steps which local business owners and restaurants should be taking to protect themselves against serial ADA filings.

Corfee, a graduate of UC Berkeley and the McGeorge School of Law, has been in professional legal practice since 1991. She has practiced ADA and California disability access law since 1985 and has published case law on the subject. She also worked for two prior United States Magistrate judges in the Eastern District Court of California

Many ADA cases can become a "game" for attorney's fees as the disabled person's attorney tries to protract litigation to earn more money in fees to later reclaim such in a settlement, a motion, and/or at trial.

Corfee said she recommends business owners retain the services of an ADA compliance expert, such as a Certified Access Specialist (CASp), to physically inspect their business or commercial facility to provide specific access recommendations.

"We can also prepare for our business clients ADA policy and procedural manuals, much like an employee handbook," she said.
