RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On Saturday, April 20th, an open house was held that welcomed people of all ages to honor the 150th anniversary of Rancho Cordova's American River Grange #172. This rare icon of Rancho Cordova's past, present, and future is the oldest of the three remaining Granges in Sacramento County, and one of the oldest on the west coast. The free celebration included fun historic kid activities, bingo, cookie walk, snow cones and hot dogs.

The history of the American River Grange is intricately tied to the history of the Kilgore Cemetery. The Cemetery Association was established March 24, 1888. The original families who bought the plots were members of the board of directors and signed some of the plot purchase receipts. Names included Joseph Studarus, W. H. Criswell, and Nels H. Lauridson. They also served as secretary and recorded the business transactions of the cemetery in meticulous logbooks.

These local families, including the Manlove, Deterding, Kilgore, Cornell, Biggs, Yost, and Horn families, had organized the American River Grange #172. Forming on March 23, 1874, they met at H. F. W. Deterding's 15 Mile House, the second stop of the Pony Express on its route east to St. Joseph, Missouri. After meeting upstairs in the 15 Mile House for several years, the members pooled their resources and

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento County Board of Supervisors, at its April 9 meeting, adopted an ordinance amending Sacramento County's Fireworks Regulations and Prohibitions in reference to fireworks sales, use and enhanced fines.

One code amendment narrows the window for fireworks sales from June 28 through July 5 to noon June 28 through the end of July 4.

Another amendment prohibits the use of all fireworks, including state-approved fireworks, between 10 p.m. and 9 a.m. during the authorized selling period. Information must also be provided about safe disposal at the point of sale.

Another amendment approved by the supervisors enhances fines for schools and all parks. The first violation is $1,000, the second violation within one year of the first violation is $2,500, each additional violation within one year of the first violation is $5,000, and each violation that occurs within the American River Parkway, all parks and all schools is $10,000.

their labor, constructing the present-day two-story building on Kilgore Road, of redwood and handmade square nails.

Since the building's dedication October 26, 1882, the Grange has always been supported by those same founding families. These families have worked to take care of both properties, using the Grange Hall for picnics after Cemetery clean up days, and serving as officers of both the Grange and the Cemetery Association. Quite a number of the Grange Masters over the years are among those buried in the Cemetery.

The National Grange was, and is still, an important resource for rural family life. It was established in 1867 as the result of a federally sponsored survey of the state of agriculture in the South following the Civil War years. There was an obvious need for an organization to help farmers become productive again. It was viewed as "the highway of hope for the American Farm People." It gave them a political voice with Congress to fight unscrupulous land grabs by the railroads. The U.S. Department of Agriculture provided information about best planting and growing practices.

The Grange served as a banking organization where farmers could borrow money to pay for the year's seed and then repay the Grange from the proceeds of selling their delivery in rural America. Congress was prompted to authorize RFD – Rural Free Delivery, setting up a system of box numbers along regular rural routes that existed through the 1980's in some parts of the U.S. The Grange was also a center of social life. The upstairs ballroom was built over springs to cushion dancing feet and legs. Clean-up days at the Kilgore Cemetery ended with a picnic and dance at the Grange.

The organization of the National Grange, formally entitled the Patrons of Husbandry, encouraged membership for anyone over 13 1/2 years of age, and, uniquely for that era, gave full membership and leadership roles to women. The Grange committed to being an organization for the entire family.

Today, the Grange continues to benefit from the membership and participation of founding families, local residents, Boy Scouts from Troop 363, and the all-girl Boy Scout Troop 1601. Working together, with help from the Rancho Cordova Community Enhancement and Investment Fund, many upgrades and improvements have been made to the historic building and its grounds. The building is once again helping the community celebrate everything from Eagle Scout Courts of Honor to graduations and weddings.

Rancho Cordova celebrates the 150th Anniversary of American River Grange #172 and looks forward to its next 150 years of writing community history. ★

Recreation Therapy Changes Lives in Sacramento County

Sacramento County News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - For individuals living with disabilities, recreation opportunities and a sense of community might not be easy to come by. That's where the Therapeutic Recreation Services (TRS) Division of the Department of Regional Parks comes in.

One way to provide these individuals with recreational opportunities is through recreation therapy, which utilizes activities such as art, community outings, exercise and more to improve and maintain cognitive, physical and emotional functioning in order to facilitate full participation in life.

The Therapeutic Recreation Services Division is in the business of delivering recreation therapy since 1975.

"Recreation therapy offers individuals a chance to explore new experiences within a nurturing and secure setting, surrounded by people who accept and embrace them unconditionally, and empower them to strive for autonomy and self-reliance," said Jenn Wilson-Marchino, a Therapeutic Recreation Services specialist. "It is a privilege to be a part of something that has such a transformational impact on our participants."

February was recognized as Recreational Therapy Month, and TRS is celebrating the role that recreation therapy has played in the lives of its participants by reflecting on what they enjoy most about TRS.

Therapeutic Recreation Services programs focus on abilities while encouraging individuals to attain their highest level of independent leisure functioning by increasing leisure skills, improving social skills, and increasing independence and their awareness of and involvement in community recreational activities.

A Safety Net, Not a Hammock

Dear Dave,

My husband and I are in a bad situation, and we're thinking about taking my parents up on their offer to move in with them. We both work two jobs. I'm a medical transcriptionist with a small business on the side, and he's a warehouse clerk who is also trying to get a business off the ground. Combined, we bring home about $70,000 a year, plus we have $80,000 in debt between credit cards and a car loan. On top of all this, our rent went up 18% at the first of the year, and we can't afford the increase. Should we move in with my folks?

—Melissa

Dear Melissa,

I'm not opposed to families jumping into a situation together to solve a problem. That includes grown children moving back home for a short period of time. Sometimes, when the right people are involved (and proper boundary expectations are established and agreed upon), it can work out well for everyone. I just want you to be very careful that you're not using a move like this to mask the real problem.

I'm going to shoot straight with you. The real problem isn't an 18% jump in rent. The real problem is what that rent increase revealed about you both—the fact that you have weak careers. You guys are like two hamsters in a wheel right now. Neither one of you is afraid of work. That much is obvious. And you're working four jobs between the two of you, so there's no lack of effort. But you're not gaining any traction. You're not making a lot of money, and the debt hanging over your heads isn't helping either.

Your parents are obviously good-hearted people, Melissa. If you do this, I want you, your husband and your folks to go into it with this mindset—your stay with them is a brief stopover on your way to prosperity. Don't go into this—any of you—with an attitude of the world is mean, rent went up, and we can't make it out there. This is a safety net, not a hammock. Use this time to begin addressing your financial issues, and take a long, hard look at your career and income situation. If you use this opportunity wisely, you can emerge in a better place with your money and with getting ahead in your careers.

God bless you all!!

—Dave

Kings Korner

By V.G. Harris

The Sacramento Kings are officially out of the playoffs, and the 2023/2024 season is over.

The question that everyone should be asking is, is there reason for optimism? I say unequivocally, yes!

Kings center, and indefatigable big man Domantas Sabonis, has now completed two consecutive seasons as the NBA's number one rebounder, outproducing every other player in the entire league. Add to that herculean feat the fact that he led the league for the first time in his career in triple doubles with 26, and you have the picture of an indispensable player.

If there was an iron man award given in the NBA, no doubt Domantas would receive this award as well. Playing in all 82 games, the Kings center led by example all season, undoubtedly playing through numerous nagging injuries, just as he did last year when he played the bulk of the season with a broken thumb.

So, with the fastest point guard in the NBA in De'Aaron Fox, and a center like Domantas Sabonis leading the way, why are the Sacramento Kings sitting on the sidelines, watching the playoffs from afar once again?

Because no one player, or even two, can do it alone.

Whether a healthy Malik Monk would have been enough to give the Kings the extra fuel they needed to finally defeat the New Orleans Pelicans after suffering through five straight defeats in the regular season is anyone's guess.

Make no doubt about it, Malik Monk is magic to this team, and if Monte McNair does nothing else, he must sign Malik to a long-term deal.

Domantas needs someone with girth next to him, and if either coach Brown can figure out how to effectively use Alex Len, or it becomes necessary to draft or acquire a free agent, by next season Domantas can't be the only player capable of averaging a double-double.

By all rights this team should be meeting the Oklahoma City Thunder, and were it not for our own implosion caused by missing free throws, or games taken away by way of atrocious officiating, the Kings would undoubtedly be in the first round for the second straight year.

That is not the case, and we all must shake away the cobwebs and buckle down to reason with a remedy that is realistic.

First acknowledge there is no first-round pick, so focus on the second round and scour the NCAA, Europe, and beyond to find the Kings a legitimate player capable of not just making the team, but able to make a significant contribution.

I like overall what I see in the growth of Keon Ellis, but there will need to be an expansion of his playing skills if he is to be a starter on this team.

Trey Lyles' time has come, and he needs to replace Harrison Barnes in the starting lineup.

If that is a knock on Harrison, it should not be taken as such. Trey is 28 and provides more girth and rebounding potential than Barnes. Lyles has a three-point shot that is good, and with more playing time I'm convinced he can surpass the 40% mark on a consistent basis.

Coach Brown, after tinkering with his bench substitutions for the entire season, finally tightened down for the final two games, and played a total of four off the bench in the win over the Golden State Warriors. This needs to continue and should not be an aberration.

As I recede into the offseason, and turn my attention to baseball, it's the win over the Golden State Warriors that I will focus on. Yes, the win that sends a message to a team that says, "the torch has been passed," and we have not forgotten last season's humbling loss that took away our chances to advance to the second round.

As the sun sets on this roller coaster we call the NBA, let's be sure to applaud De'Aaron Fox who finished 8th in the NBA in scoring with a 26.6 ppg scoring average. De'Aaron, like his teammate Domantas Sabonis, is the epitome of bringing his lunch to work, and not a game goes by that De'Aaron doesn't leave it all on the hardwood.

Congratulations to this mighty team, to their effort, and to their commitment. We will all be back next year to root you on to even greater heights!

All the best!

The Pantless Chaplain

BY NORRIS BURKES

Whenever I meet fellow veterans, we'll often engage in some good-natured ribbing. I set up the first joke by announcing that I'm an Air Force vet, which inevitably invokes the response, "Oh, you mean you're a 'Chair Force' vet."

I understand that nickname because Air Force members occupy a lot of chairs doing heavily technical work in places like the Space Force and Cyber Command.

I first met those seat-techies in 1994 while on my first active-duty assignment at Onizuka Air Force Station in Sunnyvale, Calif.

Declassified that same year, Onizuka was dubbed the "Blue Cube" because of its shape, color and lack of windows. Outside the cube, sat three parabolic dish antennas that the chair jockeys in blue jumpsuits used for "flying" military satellites.

A few miles away, I sat in a chair in our chapel offices on Moffett Field, a Navy base acquired by the Air Force that same year. My workday often included planning worship, counseling and meeting with our staff.

In these days before 9/11, chaplains, like most military officers, wore a simple uniform of sky-blue shirt and dark-blue Poly/Wool pants that resemble blue Dockers. We called the ensemble our "Blues." Add the rank, name tag and a Protestant cross, and I became an instant chaplain.

It was the same uniform I'd worn for monthly weekend duty as a USAF Reservist, so I quickly mastered the routine for daily wear. We had no one inspecting us for proper haircuts, uniforms or shoe shining. We were all friends and "trusted professionals."

With a 7:30 a.m. daily start, I'd often suit up in my darkened bedroom on summer mornings, leaving the exhausted mother of our four children asleep.

Early one morning I decided to bypass office work to make a few visits around the cube. I walked through classified work areas introducing myself and giving an encouraging word. I returned to the office before lunch with a feeling that I had done some good chaplain-type work.

"Good," that is until I was greeted by Janet, our chapel manager and Non-Commissioned Officer in Charge (NCOIC).

Janet was a law-and-order manager, good with regulations and policies. She had a sharp eye for detail that helped her chaplains stay sharp too.

I knew something was up when she asked, "What are you wearing today, Chaplain?"

Her question sent me inspecting my shirt for uneaten breakfast.

"Look farther down," she said.

Forget the friendly "Chair Force." I was beginning to feel like a recruit standing before his drill instructor.

Finally, unable to hold her snicker, she said, "Those can't be your uniform pants."

"Why?" I asked, still staring at my well-creased blue pants.

"They look more like Levi Dockers® than official Air Force Blues."

Suddenly I was the picture of patriotism – a red face on a white man wearing blue pants.

She was right. In my haste to dress in my darkened room, I'd donned my Levi's Ultimate Chino Straight Fit instead of my Air Force Poly/Wool pants.

There's no telling how many airmen on my morning rounds noticed Dockers on their new chaplain. But just like the people in Hans Christian Andersen's fable, "The Emperor's New Clothes," they'd said nothing.

But the sergeant, like the little boy of the story, was the only one brave enough to call out her proud chaplain for his "nakedness."

I tried minimizing my mistake with the adage, "No one's perfect. We all put our pants on one leg at a time."

"Still," she said, "Perhaps chaplains ought to heed the Jesus protocol and 'Be perfect, therefore, as your heavenly Father is perfect'" (Matthew 5:48).

But, but..." I stammered as she reloaded.

"And I think even Jesus might tell you that perfection begins with first choosing the right pants."

And with that, I returned home to change pants. Obviously, my argument no longer had a leg to stand on. ★

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF JOE WHITTIE WALTERS SR CASE NO. 23PR000410

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Joe Whittie Walters Sr.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Kasandra Leann Walters, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Kasandra Leann Walters be appointed as personal representative(s) to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows May 28, 2024, 1:30 p.m. in Dept 129, Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, William R. Ridgeway Family Relations Courthouse, 3341 Power Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. The name, address and telephone number of the Attorney for Petitioner is: Thomas K. If either party to this action should die before the jointly held community property is divided, the language in the deed that characterizes how title is held (i.e., joint tenancy, tenants in common, or community property) will be controlling, and not the community property presumption. # Media Icon Joey Mitchell Leaves a Legacy of Laughter

By Mary Jane Popp

After 50 plus years on the air, an icon in radio signs off for his final journey. But I'm sure if there is a microphone in the clouds, Joey Mitchell will be at the helm with his joyous voice that always made his fans feel that he truly cared about each and every one.

What can I say about Joey that hasn't already been said... talented, dedicated, award-winning personality, a great sense of humor, total love of family and what meant so much to me was that he was genuinely a really nice guy and gentleman. He greeted everyone he met with a big smile and you felt he knew you forever.

Joey was the first on-air radio guy I worked with when I first came to Sacramento in 1977. It was at the hit country music station, KRAK Radio. I would pop in with the news updates, and truly, I never knew what to expect. There were times I would go into the studio and no Joey...until he popped up from under the board trying to scare me with that silly grin on his face. But it was always in fun. He would try to break me up on the air but little did he know I came from doing a television show in Indianapolis with a crew that did all they could to break me up with antics behind the guests so only I could see. But I loved the friendship Joey shared with everyone, including me, for all these many years.

I think I admired Joey most for his caring about the community, especially when we would host telethons to raise money for so many worthy charities from Easter Seals to the Children's Miracle Network and more. Back in the '80s, there were eight or nine telethons on the air and they were the 24-hour ones. But Joey's energy level never waned. Always professional yes, but with a fun competitive spirit as we would compete for on-camera time, with the ultimate goal of raising as much money as we could for charity. Joey was always game for fun too, like when we were asked to host an event for, I believe, the Opera Association. So we dressed in silly opera garb, and we laughed our way through the event, always ready for anything we could do to help the community.

Stories about Joey were so many I had to limit them, or I would need several pages to tell them all. But I had to share this one from Ken Knoll who did lots of film work in Sacramento. When Joey was named Country Music D.J. of the year and hosted names such as Freddy Fender, Loretta Lynn and Merle Haggard at the Lonesome Armadillo in Roseville, he would do TV funny skits to promote his show. Ken still laughs at this one. Wait until you hear what happened. Ken and Joey came up with the idea to do a skit at the Folsom Zoo in the tiger cage, and yes, with a real tiger. The idea was for Joey to first dress up in lady garb, moustache, and all, and pretend that the tiger was going to attack her/him. Then Joey would change back into guy clothes, and with the magic of television editing, come to her rescue. Funny, right? The trainer assured Joey that the tiger was tame and not to worry. To be honest, Joey was rather nervous and began sweating some. But being the trooper he was, Joey got into the enclosure. Ken was not sure but perhaps the tiger sensed Joey's fear and began to growl and started to get too close for comfort. It was too close for Joey and he began to shout "please get me out of here." But it was hard to hear him above the laughter of the crew. Suffice to say, Joey was not going into a wild critter space alone for a long time.

Here's one that will give you a laugh but I'm not sure Joey laughed. Ken told me about the time President Clinton came to town on Air Force One, and we don't know how Joey did it but he planted a bumper sticker on the back of Air Force One promoting the Joey Mitchell Show. Sounds funny now but the Secret Service was not amused, and he actually got arrested. Don't know if he had to spend time in the pokie but leave it to Joey to come up with this stunt and look for more to do.

Another side of Joey was always wanting to help others in the business. Jennifer Steele, executive producer of the morning news at KFBK, had fond memories of him. She worked with Joey at FM 101.5 for 10 years and knew him more than 30 years. Despite his being a celebrity, she said, he was always a real human being, a mentor, teacher and nice to all.

And Big Jim Hall worked with Joey at KRAK Radio for many years. That's where I met them both. Jim and Joey both began working at KRAK Radio together. One did the morning, and one did the afternoon, and their friendship grew over the many years. Jim said he was always fearless and always wanted to support organizations to help the community. Fondly, Jim said, Joey was an incredible co-worker and friend for 40 years, along with having a caring heart and always being super funny. Jim said he was a joy to work with and to know.

There are many stories to tell and perhaps some of the pictures can tell the Joey Mitchell life and his work, but I asked his son, Joe Jr., who sent me so many wonderful pictures to choose of his dad, if he could tell me his fondest memories of "Dad" Joey. I could not end this piece any better. Here is Joe Jr and his heartfelt thoughts about his dad in his own words.

"My dad was just my dad to me, and I never really appreciated all he had accomplished until I grew older. Many people didn't know he had severe and painful scoliosis that would keep him up nights. Getting up at 3 a.m. was a chore for anyone, but for him, it was a daily struggle to get ready for his radio show. Even though he was in pain, he always had a smile on his face and wanted to make people laugh. It wasn't an act, it was who he was. He truly was an amazing man, husband, father, friend and radio legend who will leave a huge void in our hearts. I strive to be like him. He was my HERO!"

What more can be said about this icon and truly good human being?

And so the memory of Joey Mitchell goes on and I'm sure he is wowing them up there behind the mic with his wit and big smile. We will miss you Joey, but our memories will always be with us. Rest in peace, good friend.

Editor's note: Joey Mitchell died March 24 after a battle with a lung condition and pneumonia. Photos provided by Joey's family. ★

Joey always had a smile and a joke, even if it was on him.

Cordova Boys' Volleyball Has Optimistic Future

Story and photos
By Rick Sloan

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The Cordova boys' volleyball 2023-24 season is shortly drawing to a close. In fact, by the time you read this article, the results will be in. Currently the team is 14-9 overall, 7-4 in league play and sitting in 4th place. With the possibility of making it to the post season depending on beating Florin in their last league match, 3rd-year Head Coach Joseph Smith is still optimistic. The kicker is, Cordova has to beat Florin in three straight sets and not allow them more than 65 points. Florin is in 3rd place. The top three teams make it to the playoffs.

This year's team is made up of nine seniors and seven juniors. The nine seniors are Davit Khachatryan, Kevin Rangel, Ruvim Kravchuk, Oscar Flores, Banrose Singh, Damian Martinez, Kevin McFarlane, Kyle Cook, and Edwin Ramirez. According to Coach Smith, senior setter Flores is one of his players that's instrumental in leading the team to their 14 victories. Flores is surrounded by a variety of effects hitters that give the team a lot of options on how to attack. "Even with some key players missing time due to injuries and grades, the team has done a great job of banding together and putting in the work to compete hard", said Coach Smith.

Last year, Coach Smith took on a lot of new players with the thought of building the program. Witnessing the performance of this squad, I believe that risk has paid off. The squad has found a balance of communication, fundamentals and raw talent that is imperative for a successful season. The team has definitely improved in a most favorable direction making the digs and setting the hitters.

A very tough challenge in volleyball is being able to hit the ball to the open court and not where the opponent is playing. This might sound an easy task, but add the element of two opponents blocking at the net and placement becomes a challenge. Each hit, whether it is on offense or defense takes a split-second reaction along with perfect timing. This all has to be done without stepping across the centerline or hitting the net with any part of your body. This team has improved with each match and if not for some excellent digs by their opponents, their record would be a lot better. Six of their matches went five games.

The future of the program is looking very good. With the returning juniors, the squad is looking very strong in the power hitting and defensive blocking department. Some players to keep an eye on next year are Ali Aljanabi, Malachi Gorman, Gio Martinez and setter Tamim Babak. The JV team is 8-2 overall and 6-1 in league play. They are led by Jaimee Stevenson who is at the helm for a second season. Coach Smith said, "With only one loss in league play, we are really excited about the development of those players and what they are going to add to our team next year".

Speaking of next year, Cordova will certainly have its hands full, as they leave the Sacramento Valley League behind and head into the more competitive Metro league. "Moving from the GSL to the Metro league next year is going to drastically increase the difficulty of our league play next year, but we are excited for the opportunity to grow in that environment", said Coach Smith. ★
