

The Rainbow of My Mind

The colors of a rainbow
All so different and unique,
The brilliant blues and the raging reds,
All harmoniously coexist with each other.
Alone they are vibrant,
Together they are dull

Just as the colors muddle in one darkness,
The thoughts in my head become jumbled
My thoughts versus the world's thoughts,
The good and the bad,
Facts and opinions
All swirled into one,
One scrambled and confused mind,
Desperate for clarity

The chaos makes my head want to explode
I just want to separate the confusion of colors,
The red from the green,
The blue from the orange,
I am tired of this muddle,
Of this darkness.
Anxious for answers,
To make sense of this blur of color in my mind

So many colors,
So many thoughts
When will the light clear this darkness?
I just want to be free of this clutter,
To see a distinct rainbow in my mind
Each hue vibrantly standing alone

Written by Rebecca Fisher