Float to Hall of Fame

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - On October 16 at the Hyatt Regency, Olympic Gold Medalist Jeff Float will be inducted into the CIF Sac-Joaquin Section Hall of Fame. This event is honoring a total of 17 individuals who have all enjoyed stellar careers in their respective athletic endeavors.

Among those also selected are Gold Medalist Wilbur Thompson, Coach Dan Carmazzi, Administrator Pete Saco, Official Joe Harper and Sports Editor Marty James. A few of the other notable athletes who were chosen in the past include Summer Sanders, Debbie Meyer, Tedy Bruschi, Bill Cartwright, Dusty Baker and Steve Sax.

The CIF Sac-Joaquin Section [CIF-SJS] organization, while functioning at the grass-roots level, often launches long-term vocations beyond grade school. When asked about his high school background, Jeff was quoted as saying, "Jesuit served as my starting block from which I dove into a rewarding collegiate experience and successful swimming career. With the great fortune of Arden Hills and its legendary Coach Sherm Chavoor being located across the street from Jesuit, my sports training, superb education and religious beliefs thrived. Now as a coach and mentor for over two decades, I feel privileged to share my passion for swimming with today's youth. For these reasons and many others, I will always remain grateful to Jesuit for instilling in me its credo ... becoming 'A Man for Others.' And I attempt to uphold that standard every day."

Along the path, Jeff's accomplishments include the following: 1980 Olympic Team member in Moscow [boycotted]; 1984 peer-elected Captain and Gold Medalist in Los Angeles; 1977 ten-time Gold Medalist in the World Games for the Deaf in Romania [unrivaled for 39 years]; 2008 recipient of the Congressional Gold Medal of Honor [bestowed to all 1980

This CIF-SJS Induction Banquet and Ceremony in the Hyatt's Grand Ballroom begins with a no-host reception at 4 pm and program at 5. Reservations are being accepted until October 7, and $60 tickets are available by calling 209.334.5900 or online at <http://www.cifsjs.org/>.

State Now to Dictate Religious Practices?

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Senator Ted Gaines (R-El Dorado) issued the following statement regarding Governor Brown's signing of Senate Bill 1146 (Lara), a bill that discriminates against all religious-based universities and infringes their ability to ensure faith-based practices are upheld on campus, undermining the concrete right of religious freedom guaranteed in the First Amendment.

"We are heading towards a one belief system, and anyone who strays from that state-sponsored orthodoxy gets punished. This bill is a step towards putting a scarlet letter on the chest of all religious institutions.

"The First Amendment is clear: Christian and other religious institutions should be free to practice their faith without state interference. This is phase one of a radical strategy to tear down religious institutions. First it's to identify the target, isolate it, then demonize it. This bill could have been worse, but as part of a larger strategy to eliminate religion, it's alarming.

"California prides itself on multiculturalism, but it seems like Christians are one culture the ruling elites fear and target more than any other. We are blessed to live in a free nation and we should be able to respect beliefs that differ from our own."

Senator Ted Gaines represents the 1st Senate District, which includes all or parts of Alpine, El Dorado, Lassen, Modoc, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, Sacramento, Shasta, Sierra and Siskiyou counties.

Cooley Bill to Protect Historic State Park Names Signed into Law by Governor Brown

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG)

- The California Heritage Protection Act (AB 2249) was signed into law on September 21st by Governor Brown, Assemblyman Ken Cooley (D-Rancho Cordova) has announced. AB 2249 ensures park concessionaires in California's state parks cannot trademark historic place names simply due to their status as a concessionaire. The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Cooley and Assemblymen Frank Bigelow (R-O'Neals) and Adam Gray (D-Merced) in response to the U.S. National Park Service's controversial renaming of several landmarks at Yosemite National Park due to a dispute with their ex-concessionaire.

"This bill makes clear that trademarking of historic names in state parks by

Assemblyman Ken Cooley

concessionaires without any independent basis for a claim is unacceptable and our state Department of Parks and Recreation cannot sign off on the type of trademarking conduct that produced the Yosemite dispute," said Assemblyman Cooley. "With AB 2249's signature, that kind of behavior will disqualify a concessionaire from receiving a concessions contract in California, which makes the bipartisan unanimity of the Legislature especially impressive."

The Ahwahnee Hotel has been re-named the "Majestic Yosemite Hotel," Curry Village is now "Half Dome Village," the Wawona Hotel is "Big Trees Lodge" and Badger Pass Ski Area is now called "Yosemite Ski and Snowboard Area."

AB 2249 ensures nothing of the same kind occurs in a California state park. To keep concessionaires from co-opting state landmarks, this bill adds to state law a prohibition on concessionaires claiming ownership of a name associated with a California state park and disqualifies a bidder from future contracts if they attempt such trademark claims.

"Our state parks are not like football or baseball stadiums, trading sponsorship deals to the highest bidder," said Assemblyman Gray. "The people of California protect and preserve these landmarks as a part of our history, and it is the people of California who own their storied names."

"I have the privilege of representing Yosemite National Park and know first-hand how treasured these landmarks are by the people of our state," said Assemblyman Bigelow. "I'm proud to co-author AB 2249 to protect historic sites up and down California."

California's Yosemite National Park is on the short list of America's most magnificent parks and is filled with historic landmarks built decades ago—some date back to the 19th century. The Ahwahnee Hotel was built in the 1920s in a valley meadow with the sheer granite of Half Dome as its backdrop; its filing for the National Register of Historic Places explains its name comes from a local Native American word meaning "deep, grassy meadow." Nearby Curry Village is named after the couple who established a summer camp there in 1899. The Wawona Hotel, in the southwest corner of Yosemite National Park, was originally constructed 140 years ago, in 1876. All three were placed on the National Register of Historic Places in the 1970s.

Assembly Bill 2249 will take effect January 1, 2017.

TaxAudit Sponsors Children’s Museum for United Way’s Week of Caring

Eight of United Way’s Day of Caring volunteers spent the day fixing up the Girl Scouts Heart of Central California facility in September 2015. The annual event has now expanded to a week and includes the Sacramento Children’s Museum in Rancho Cordova.

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - TaxAudit.com is sending 20 volunteers to the Sacramento Children’s Museum in Rancho Cordova on Oct. 3 as part of United Way’s Week of Caring where more than 1,500 local residents will spread out across the region to spend a day volunteering with nonprofits, schools and parks Oct. 3-8.

TaxAudit.com employees and other volunteers will spend the afternoon helping to kick off “Artober” at the Sacramento Children’s Museum. Volunteers will help prepare fall art projects for visitors by cutting out superhero templates, making fall leaves, sorting “googley” eyes and more.

“We’ve held Day of Caring for the last three years and it’s been so successful at bringing the community together that we decided to make this year’s event an entire Week of Caring,” said Stephanie Bray, president and CEO, United Way California Capital Region. “We’re offering 40 volunteer projects across five counties that week so everyone can spend one day caring for their community.”

United Way’s Week of Caring, sponsored by Nationwide, will begin with a kickoff breakfast and rally at the new Golden 1 Center Plaza on Oct. 3 at 9 a.m. To sign up for Week of Caring: www.yourlocalunitedway.org/weekofcaring.

Other project sponsors include California North Chapter Community Associations Institute, Honey Agency, SAFE Credit Union, Safelite Auto Glass, Social Interest Solutions and Zurich. The Sacramento Kings are sponsoring the kickoff rally, and SMUD is a booth sponsor.

Last year, 954 volunteers – including 116 companies and groups – came out on United Way’s Day of Caring in September and completed projects with 40 local nonprofits in one day. They volunteered 4,305 hours collectively, valued at $95,312.

Week of Caring is part of United Way’s Square One Project, which recognizes the importance of volunteers in making sure nonprofits and schools are equipped to provide a full support system for kids. The Square One Project is a 20-year promise to significantly increase the number of local students who graduate from high school ready for success in college and beyond. Through nine decades of work and research across Amador, El Dorado, Sacramento, Placer and Yolo counties, the local United Way now believes ending poverty starts in school and is working to ensure kids meet important milestones for success in college and beyond. To donate or volunteer, visit www.yourlocal-unitedway.org.

TaxAudit.com is run by TaxResources, Inc., which provides expert tax audit defense, tax help, tax representation and tax return review services to millions of clients across the nation, including individual taxpayers, tax professionals, accountants, associations and small businesses.

The Sacramento Children’s Museum’s mission is to spark a passion for lifelong learning. The 7,000-square-foot facility provides exploration and hands-on activities for children from birth through 8 years old, as well as their families. ## New Standards Set to Improve Quality and Safety for Child Care in California

WASHINGTON, D.C. (MPG) - The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services’ Administration for Children and Families (ACF) announced new quality and safety standards aimed at providing for higher quality care and safer environments for millions of children, including our youngest learners.

The rule, which implements bipartisan legislation signed by President Obama in 2014, sets higher standards for states, territories and tribes receiving federal funds through the Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF) program in important areas such as health and safety requirements; training and professional development for child care providers; and eligibility rules that better support working families.

In 2016, California received $601,597,737 in federal funding through the CCDF program, which each month serves 111,400 children (78,100 families).

Last year, the Federal government provided over $5 billion to states, territories and tribes to help 850,000 working families pay for child care and to support quality improvements for providers that serve our neediest children. CCDF serves approximately 1.4 million children each month, a majority of whom are children under the age of five. The new rule protects the health and safety of children, helps parents make more informed consumer choices, supports early child development for our youngest learners, and enhances the quality of child care for all children.

All children in one of the 370,000 child care settings across the country that participate in the federal child care program – not just those receiving direct child care assistance from CCDBG – will benefit from new health and safety requirements, staff training requirements, and criminal background checks for staff. In addition, CCDF quality investments can benefit all children in child care regardless of whether or not they receive federal funding.

We know from U.S. Census data that nearly 12.5 million children under the age of five are in some form of child care arrangement each week. They spend an average of 36 hours per week in care. Research, particularly in neuroscience, has shown how much this time matters to our youngest children. Providing safe, high-quality environments that nurture our youngest children’s healthy growth and development will help them grow, thrive, be successful in school, and even find better jobs and earn more as adults.

“Many parents rely on child care programs, and it is important that their children are cared for in safe learning environments with qualified providers,” said HHS Secretary Sylvia M. Burwell. “These new standards, which are the result of bipartisan legislation, include robust safety, screening, and training procedures to boost quality, empower parents, and ensure that child care programs promote healthy and positive early childhood development.”

The rule strengthens a number of new provisions in the law and provides needed guidance to states, territories and tribes in a number of areas, including:

- requiring all staff in child care facilities have mandatory criminal background checks;
- enhancing the health and safety of children through more robust standards for CCDF providers, including requiring initial and ongoing training and professional development on 10 key topics (e.g. First Aid/CPR, medication administration, SIDS prevention) for the early childhood workforce;
- disseminating information to help parents choose child care, including through an accessible website;
- devoting more funding to improve quality across all child care settings; and
- ensuring CCDF programs are monitored at least annually so children are healthy and safe in child care programs.

“This rule continues the historic re-envisioning of the Child Care and Development Fund program and raises the bar so that low-income parents will know their children are safe, learning, and on the path to future success in school and life,” said Linda Smith, deputy assistant secretary for early learning at ACF. “Child care is both an economic support for working parents and an early learning program for millions of children. It’s critical to our nation’s future that we get this right.”

Dave Says

Sold Dave three timeshares?

Dear Dave,
My wife and I recently sat through a timeshare pitch at my mom and dad’s community as a favor to them. We’re trying to get out of debt and take control of our money, so when the salesman said we could put the whole thing on a credit card, I told him about you and your plan. He then said that he used to be your personal financial advisor and had sold you three timeshares in the past. Is this true, or are timeshares a bad idea?
- Jeremy

Dear Jeremy,
A timeshare salesman said he had been my personal financial advisor? Wow! It takes real guts, and a bunch of dishonest nerve, to spread that kind of crap around.
No, I’ve never in my life owned a timeshare. I’ve made just about every financial mistake known to man, except that one. I’ve also never made the mistake of having a timeshare salesman as my financial advisor. This sounds like the kind of guy who you know is lying if his lips are moving!

I’m really sorry if your mom and dad already hooked up with this bunch. Timeshares, even with honest salespeople, are just straight-up stupid. Never buy a timeshare! The customer dissatisfaction rate with those things is sky-high, and you’re pretty much stuck once you buy one. They’re almost impossible to sell, because you don’t really own anything.
For the money you spend to buy a timeshare, you could take several nice vacations and stay in some pretty decent places. People get suckered in to these things all the time, Jeremy, but it’s a really bad idea. Don’t do it!
—Dave

Newlyweds buy house first year?
Dear Dave,
Why do you recommend that newlyweds not buy a house during the first year of marriage?
- Laura

Dear Laura,
Believe it or not, the first year of marriage is pretty tough. You’ll both have to make lots of adjustments and get used to the new schedules and habits, likes and dislikes, that go along with marriage. You need to spend that first year getting to know each other even better, and exploring and developing your relationship as husband and wife. Running out and buying stuff like curtains and furniture — or making major life decisions like buying a house — can wait.

Devote the first year to deeper, more important things. In the process, make sure you’re on the same page emotionally and financially. Develop a plan to make your hopes and dreams come true, and start piling up a bunch of cash for the future. Then, a year or two down the road, you can start the house-hunting process. There will still be great homes at good prices, plus you’ll both have a better idea of what you want for the future!
—Dave

Admit One

You land up in a hospital and you feel like you are in a maze. Do you have the correct information when you go in? Did you know that communication breakdowns in hospitals in the U.S. led to more than 1700 deaths over a five year period? Maybe that does not sound like a big number, but it is if it happens to you. What if I told you, you need a medical team? But let’s face it, in the trauma of being admitted, patients and family can easily become confused by the tons of information and instructions from these strangers. That’s why Kati Kleber, BSN,RC, and CCRN and nationally certified critical care nurse in the neurosciences intensive care unit at Novant Presbyterian Medical Center pulled together information you need to know before it all comes crashing down and you become one of those 1700 plus victims. It’s called “Admit One” with what you must know when going to the hospital, but no one actually tells you. From CNN to Dr. Oz Kati shared the insider information with me on POPPOFF.

- 1) BRING A LIST OF HOME MEDICATIONS. Know what medications you take on a regular basis. When you are admitted someone will ask you to provide a list of your med and will put them in your chart. Your attending doctor will decide which to keep you on in the hospital. On this one, I asked Kati if it’s a good idea to have a list of vitamins and herbs you take, and she said absolutely because of interactions.
- 2) MAKE A LIST OF HEALTH CARE TEAM MEMBERS. An extensive team of health professionals will come and go from your room. It’s hard to tell which is which...doc, nurse, consultant etc. You and your support person will want to write down who is who, along with their instructions.
- 3) KNOW YOUR CODE. Your code status informs staff what to do if you stop breathing or your heart stops. Patients without chronic health issues who aren’t nearing the end of their life may want health professionals to do everything to revive them. Others with terminal diagnosis or advanced age may choose not to be revived. This is called DNR or Do Not Resuscitate.
- 4) ASSIGN A SPOKESPERSON. Identify someone the hospital staff can call when changes occur. It is important this person can be easily reached and that you trust.

5) WRITE DOWN QUESTIONS AS YOU THINK OF THEM. Except for nurses, most team members stop by your room once a day, review your care plan, and make adjustments. It’s not easy to remember all your questions.
6) ADVOCATE FOR YOURSELF. Let the nurse know of any changes in your condition so the information can be relayed to your health care team. Also, if for any reason, you are not happy with a member of your health care team, let your nurse know that you’d like to speak with a nurse manager.
7) LEAVE THE EQUIPMENT TO THE EXPERTS. Hospitals are full of elaborate, high-tech equipment. If any equipment becomes dislodged, always alert a nurse. Unfortunately, incidents have occurred where patients or family inflict irreparable harm when trying to fix things themselves.
That’s just the tip of the iceberg, lots more in “Admit one.” You can also check out www.nurseeyeroll.com. STAY WELL! ★

Legislation Expanding Veterans' Property Tax Exemption Signed Into Law

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Governor Brown has signed legislation (SB 1458) sponsored by Board of Equalization Member George Runner and authored by Senator Patricia Bates (R-Laguna Niguel) that expands eligibility for the state's property tax exemption to disabled military veterans who were discharged under “other than honorable conditions.”

“We should do everything we can to honor veterans injured as a result of their service,” said Runner. “By making this small change, more California veterans will be given access to a benefit offered to them by a state grateful for their sacrifices.”

Before this bill was signed, only veterans who received an honorable discharge were eligible for California's disabled veterans' property tax exemption. This includes veterans who have a service-related 100% disability rating from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs and are receiving all federal benefits related to their service.

SB 1458 expands the disabled veterans' exemption eligibility by changing the state requirement that a veteran's character of discharge from military service be under “honorable” conditions to the standard of “other than dishonorable” conditions. This bill does not provide any benefit to those discharged under dishonorable conditions.

As a tax levy, SB 1458 becomes law immediately, but for practical reasons will not take effect until January 1, 2017.

Bera Urges FDA to Take Action in Response to EpiPen Prices

EpiPens Cost Upwards of $600 for a Single Prescription

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On August 25th, 2016, Congressman Ami Bera, M.D. (CA-7) called on the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) to take immediate action to make lower cost alternatives available in response to exorbitantly priced EpiPens from the drug manufacturer Mylan. Currently, EpiPens have a virtual monopoly on the market for emergency allergy attack treatment. In the letter, Congressman Bera asks the FDA to address processes that may limit competition and allow some companies to drastically increase prices. Today, Mylan announced they would offer additional coupons for EpiPens, but have not addressed the underlying cost.

“As a doctor, I know that in the case of an allergic reaction no time can be wasted and we can’t allow anything to stand in the way of immediate access to epinephrine,” said Bera. “$600 for an EpiPen is outrageous, and Mylan must be held accountable for their pricing on a life-saving drug. That’s why I’m calling on the FDA to make sure that families have other more affordable and safe options to EpiPens so that no one needs to make a choice between paying their bills or having a life-saving drug.”

Congressman Bera has previously urged the FDA to regulate the prices of life-saving drugs. He leads the push to ensure that drug companies are not able to charge excessive prices for drugs, like in the case of Martin Shkreli and Turing Pharmaceuticals.

By Pastor Ray Dare

Many people never enjoy today because they're worrying about tomorrow. Why are we afraid of the future? We don't know what the future is going to bring. It's beyond our control. But the Bible says it is possible to live without fear because of these three things:

God will guide you when you're confused. "Trust in the Lord with all you heart. Never rely on what you think you know. Remember the Lord in everything you do, and HE WILL SHOW YOU THE RIGHT WAY." Proverbs 3:5-6 (GN). The rest of your life is uncharted territory. But God has seen your future and God knows the best path for you. You're going to experience some new problems, new pressures, and new decisions. Where are you going to go for guidance?

Pastor Ray's Encouraging Words

Why You Can Worry Less

Ask someone who has already been there-- God.

God will provide for you when you have a need. Jesus said, "So don't worry about having enough food and clothing... Your heavenly Father already knows ...you need them and he will give them to you if you give him first place in your life and live as he wants you to." Matthew 6:31-33 (LB) When God is your Father, you don't have to worry about how you're going to make it. Remember how carefree life was as a child? I didn't worry about a thing! I didn't worry about how my father was going to pay the mortgage or the car payment or the SMUD bill. I trusted him to provide for my needs. That's the way God wants us to feel about Him. God wants us to trust in Him as a little child. God wants to care for you.

God will be with you when you feel alone. Abandonment is one of our greatest fears. But regardless of what you go through in the future, you won't go through it alone. There is never a time in your life when God is not with you. He never leaves you. God will be with you no matter what you go through in the future. Isaiah 43:2, "When you go through deep waters and great troubles, I will be with you."

You can either face the future with negative thoughts, expecting the worst. Or you can face the future expecting God to be with you, His goodness and His mercy to follow you all the days of your life. In light of all that God has promised in the Bible, what is there to be afraid of? God says, "Listen! I have upheld you since you were conceived and I have taken care of you from your birth. Even when you are old, I will be the same. Even when your hair has turned gray, I will take care of you. I made you and will take care of you. I will carry you and save you!" Isaiah 46:3-5

DOJ Should Block Bayer-Monsanto Merger

Commentary
by Brian Depew

The proposed merger between German pharmaceutical and chemical giant Bayer and U.S. biotechnology giant Monsanto would create the world's largest supplier of seeds and agricultural chemicals. A merged company would control a quarter of the world's seed and agrichemical market. This proposed merger follows two other mega-mergers in the agricultural input market. The Dow-DuPont merger and ChemChina-Syngenta deal both announced in the last year are reshaping an already highly consolidated market.

As giant transnational corporations increase their power over the market, independent farmers are left with fewer options and suffer from less competition between input providers. Farmers have lost access to seed varieties and genetic traits while seeing the prices they pay for biotechnology traits skyrocket.

The Center believes in the power of a competitive marketplace and the role of government in guarding against unfair and anticompetitive market practices. Therefore, we're calling on the Department of Justice to block further mergers between any of the big six (quickly becoming the big four) agrichemical-seed companies. We encourage concerned citizens to stand with us and reach out to the Justice Department and your members of Congress to voice support for action to block further mergers.

Congress should also work to reverse the decades-long decline in investment in plant breeding as they take up a new farm bill in 2017.

The recent merger activity is a clarion call for the Department of Justice and Congress to act to protect a competitive market environment for independent farmers and ranchers.

Established in 1973, the Center for Rural Affairs is a private, non-profit organization working to strengthen small businesses, family farms and ranches, and rural communities through action oriented programs addressing social, economic, and environmental issues.

Get Notifications if Disaster Strikes

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- With fire season upon us and winter months approaching, there is no better time to prepare for a disaster - events that often occur with little to no warning - by registering with the mass notification system at any one of the following three URL's: Sacramento-Alert.org, Yolo-Alert.org or Placer-Alert.org.

Register now before a disaster hits, so public safety officials can call, text or email you in the event of a disaster.

Consider the state's historic drought causing elevated wild-fire danger, or winter storms and the many levees surrounding our urban core. Both events can occur rapidly, sometimes forcing evacuations, shelter in place orders and road closures. The regional mass notification system is a critical link for you to immediately learn of required actions.

Sign up for alerts at either Sacramento-Alert.org, Yolo-Alert.org or Placer-Alert.org - it's easy and your information is protected. Officials will only text during an emergency or public safety event, or if public help is needed to find a missing child or adult.

The unique feature of the system is the ability to handle more than one contact method for residents including cell phones, alternate numbers, text, email and even landlines. You choose the best notification method or chose them all. You can also register multiple locations, such as your work address, your parent's address or your children's school, in order to get alerts about the places that mean the most to you.

For more information or to register alternate phone numbers or e-mail addresses, visit www.sacramento-alert.org, www.yolo-alert.org or www.placer-alert.org.

Back to School? Learn About Tax Credits for Education

If you pay for college in 2016, you may receive some tax savings on your federal tax return, even if you're studying outside of the U.S. Both the American Opportunity Tax Credit and the Lifetime Learning Credit may reduce the amount of tax you owe, but only the AOTC is partially refundable.

Here are a few things you should know about education credits:

The American Opportunity Tax Credit is worth up to $2,500 per year for an eligible student. This credit is available for the first four years of higher education. Forty percent of the AOTC is refundable. That means, if you're eligible, you can get up to $1,000 of the credit as a refund, even if you do not owe any tax.

The Lifetime Learning Credit is worth up to $2,000 per tax return. There is no limit on the number of years that you can claim the LLC for an eligible student.

You may use only qualified expenses paid to figure your credit. These expenses include the costs you pay for tuition, fees and other related expenses for an eligible student to enroll at, or attend, an eligible educational institution. Refer to IRS.gov for more on the rules that apply to each credit.

Eligible educational institutions are those that offer education beyond high school. This includes most colleges and universities. Vocational schools or other postsecondary schools may also qualify. If you aren't sure if your school is eligible ask your school if it is an eligible educational institution, or see if your school is on the U.S. Department of Education's Accreditation database.

In most cases, you should receive Form 1098-T, Tuition Statement, from your school by February 1. This form reports your qualified expenses to the IRS and to you. The amounts shown on the form may be either: (1) the amount you paid for qualified tuition and related expenses, or (2) the amount that your school billed for qualified tuition and related expenses; therefore, the amounts shown on the form may be different than the amounts you actually paid. Don't forget that you can only claim an education credit for the qualified tuition and related expenses that you paid in the tax year and not just the amount that your school billed.

The education credits are subject to income limitations and may be reduced, or eliminated, based on your income.

To see if you're eligible to claim education credits, use the Interactive Tax Assistant tool on IRS.gov.

For Democrats, First Amendment Rights Stop at Climate Change

Commentary by Jeff Stier

Democrats’ grand plan for this election year doesn’t seem to include free speech. The group that drafted the Democratic Party platform recently called for the Justice Department to prosecute energy companies that don’t agree with Democrats on climate change.

But is that wise? If the government is allowed to punish those who merely question climate change, it should also be allowed to punish climate alarmists for false doomsday predictions.

That reasoning doesn’t make sense. Democrats should end their crusade before they start feeling the brunt of their own logic.

Unfortunately, silencing climate dissenters with laws didn’t start with the DNC platform. It’s part of a growing trend.

Twenty state attorney generals nationwide have started investigating oil companies. The AGs allege that to maintain high profits, Big Oil purposely misled investors and the public about climate change consequences.

Right- and libertarian-leaning policy centers -- such as the Heartland Institute and Competitive Enterprise Institute -- are also facing scrutiny. My employer, the National Center for Public Policy Research was even targeted on the Senate floor. The green crusaders claim we were all accomplices in helping oil companies obscure environmental threats.

Meanwhile, Attorney General Loretta Lynch recently acknowledged that the Justice Department may use a federal law originally created to fight organized crime to prosecute climate skeptics. In the Obama administration’s distorted reality, the analogy isn’t much of a stretch.

Ironically, the state AGs unveiled their crusade at a press conference in March with former vice president and climate Svengali Al Gore. Gore, who predicted that the North Pole would be ice-free by 2013, has repeatedly cried wolf about the coming environmental apocalypse -- while snatching millions by promoting dubious green investments.

But what’s to stop a newly formed league of climate-agnostic attorneys general, emboldened by the strategies of their green colleagues, from prosecuting those like Gore who have become rich off doomsday predictions?

Gore isn’t alone. In 2008, ABC News predicted that because of climate change, New York City would be submerged by 2015. Concurrently, the United Nations warned that there were only eight years left to prevent a “dangerous” rise in global temperatures.

In 2007, the head of the organization’s Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change cautioned that it would be “too late” by 2012 without immediate global action. Previously, the UN warned that global warming was about to usher in a huge period of population disruption, creating 50 million climate refugees by 2010.

These are just a smattering of inaccurate predictions from environmentalists. Some utilized flawed models. Some were propaganda to influence public opinion and legislation. Others just wanted to get rich off government-subsidies for green technology.

Those motives are no better than the ones said to be driving oil companies. Were the tables turned and green zealots held accountable for misleading the public, many of the prosecutors would be the prosecuted.

Realistically, investigations like the one the state AGs are now pursuing are about harassing political opponents -- not protecting the public.

The investigation into these oil companies and think tanks is a flagrant attempt to bypass the Constitution and stifle political speech. It should be opposed regardless of their stance on climate change. It’s shameful that a major political party has so little regard for free speech.

Jeff Stier is a Senior Fellow at the National Center for Public Policy Research in Washington, D.C., and heads its Risk Analysis Division.

Aerojet Interns Gain Powerful Experience

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- Aerojet Rocketdyne hosted its largest group of college interns this summer with 79 students. In the past three years, Aerojet Rocketdyne has hired 196 interns from more than 50 different universities across the nation.

“Our internship and co-operative education programs are central to transferring knowledge within the company to the next-generation. We are also able to take advantage of their fresh perspective and incorporate new thoughts and ideas into the company,” said Aerojet Rocketdyne CEO and President Eileen Drake.

Aerojet Rocketdyne offers internships to students pursuing many areas of study, including finance, economics and business; however, the majority of the opportunities are in the engineering field. The company matches its interns with a mentor who provides guidance and assigns them a project based on their abilities, college courses completed and area of study. Interns are also included in a program called “Launch” which was created to ease the transition of newly hired recent graduates from college to the work environment through mentoring, social networking and identifying potential leadership opportunities

“As an intern at Aerojet Rocketdyne I had the opportunity to work alongside some of the most experienced and talented engineers in the aerospace industry,” said Bryce Chanes about his experience this summer working as a Project Engineer Intern at Aerojet Rocketdyne’s Los Angeles facility. “With their guidance and mentorship, I was able to hone my engineering skills and enhance my professional toolset in a way that no other experience can.”

Chanes worked on the important AR1 engine, which will end

AR1 is taking advantage of the latest manufacturing processes, materials and technology to be able to rapidly develop and certify an engine by 2019 that will be more capable than the RD-180.

“I am so impressed with our current class of Aerojet Rocketdyne summer interns and the exciting projects they were able to work on, like AR1. They are our future leaders in engineering, science and business,” said Aerojet Rocketdyne CEO and President Eileen Drake. “I cannot wait to see what they do next.”

“I believe every college student should have the opportunity to try out the career they think they want to pursue as early as possible to get a feeling about what it’s like to walk in those shoes. I am lucky in that I knew from an early age that this is what I wanted to do,” said Chanes about his experience.

Aerojet Rocketdyne’s internship program currently has interns at eight of its 14 sites and plans to grow the internship program to meet the increased need for qualified employees with real world experience.

Aerojet Rocketdyne is an innovative company delivering solutions that create value for its customers in the aerospace and defense markets. The company is a world-recognized aerospace and defense leader that provides propulsion and energetics to the space, missile defense and strategic systems, tactical systems and armaments areas, in support of domestic and international markets.
