GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Gridley High School gave Disney Villains a run for their money this year with their Disney Villain themed Homecoming week!

Holding to the same recipe as years before, the week kicked off with Football Follies - the long-standing tradition of the Senior vs Junior Girls flag football game. Coached by the boys' varsity football team, the ladies would battle it out on the gridiron, cheered on by the boys' varsity cheerleading squad and JV boys cheerleading squad. The male cheer squads credited their moves to the GHS cheerleaders, who coached them in the role reversal. As for the football game, the Senior girls easily took the win.

activities planned by the leadership class would ensue. Holding to the Disney theme, spirit days included: Peter-Pan Pajama Day, Dalmatian Day (black and white), Tweedle Dee & Tweedle Dum Day (twin day), and Disney Day. Friday, students would dress in Pink for Pink Out Day in honor of Breast Cancer Awareness Month. A special Tie-Dye activity was held Wednesday where students could dye a shirt for Pink Out Friday.

Tuesday through Thursday, students would spend hours after schoolworking on their class floats. The freshman build would pay tribute to the tentacled Ursula from the Little Mermaid. Sophomores would see red with their Cruella DeVil and 101 Dalmatians themed float and Sophomores would walk the plank the seniors with the Queen of Hearts float from Alice in Wonderland that would really make heads roll and take the win for 1st place.

The Friday morning rally would turn up the heat as the week wound down to GHS Homecoming Parade and the JV and varsity football games. The Parade would roll down its familiar route, featuring the floats, cheerleaders, active sports teams, leadership class and more.

At 5:30 the football teams began their battle against the Oroville Tigers. JV would win their game 26 to 8. During the varsity halftime show, cheerleaders performed an amazing routine. Floats took their trip around the track and winners were announced. It was then time for the crown.

A week of spirit days and fun with their Captain Hook float. It was Biggs Homecoming Heroes!

By Seti Long

BIGGS, CA (MPG) - Biggs High School was overrun with heroes last week, Superheroes that is!

'Superheroes' was the 2022 Homecoming theme for the high school, the week of festivities kicking off with spirit days and the ladies Powderpuff football game. Teams comprised of seniors/freshmen took on the juniors/sophomore team, with the seniors/freshmen ladies securing the win with a final score of 12-0.

To get the students in the spirit, dress-up days would begin Monday with Crocs -vs- Birkenstock Day and proceed through the week with Twin Day, Pink Day (Cancer Awareness), Theme Day (students dressed up according to their class/float theme) and Friday, students wore the Wolverines' colors of green and black.

Holding to tradition, each class would build a float which they would display at Friday's Homecoming Parade. The freshmen class would get into the Superheroes swing of things with a 'Fantastic 4' themed float. The sophomore float was out of this world with a 'Guardians of the Galaxy' theme, juniors would get slinging with a 'Spiderman' theme and seniors would smash with a 'Hulk' themed build. The winners were announced at the varsity football game, with the juniors taking the win for their Spidey-sensetingling design. Coming in 2nd place would be the sophomores, followed by the seniors in 3rd place and the freshmen would bring up the rear with 4th place. Friday, as the day faded and the lights slowly came on in the stadium, students and spectators readied for the varsity football game against the Williams Yellow Jackets. Clay Stopplemore would drive the American Flag around the track on his Box Stock Outlaw Kart as the National Anthem was played.

As the Wolverines prepared to battle the Yellow Jackets, the 2022 Homecoming Queen and King candidates were introduced. Queen candidates for Homecoming 2022 were Ellyse Perkins, Marcella Munanui, and Brianna Rodriguez. King candidates were Adrian Sanchez, Santos Sanchez, and Julian Diaz. It would be Marcella Munanaui and Julian Diaz who were crowned 2022 homecoming royalty!

To finalize Biggs Homecoming week, an obligatory Homecoming dance was held directly after the end of the varsity football game.

2-year-old Child Overdoses on Fentanyl

BINTF Press Release

BUTTE COUNTY, CA (MPG) -On October 17th, 2022, at approximately 2:45 pm, Deputies from the Butte County Sheriff's Office responded to the 11000 block of Concow Road at the request of Cal Fire personnel. Parents had transported their two year old child to that location over concerns he had ingested an unknown substance while in the care of someone else. Cal Fire continued to provide medical care for the child as Enloe Medical Center's Flight Care was requested. The child was lethargic and displaying symptoms of possible opioid poisoning. Information was ultimately developed that the child had likely ingested fentanyl at home while in the care of the parents.

Enloe Flight Care arrived and administered Naloxone to the child, who responded to the opioid overdose medication. The child was flown to Enloe Medical Center for additional monitoring and treatment. The child was ultimately released from the hospital and into the care of professionals from the Butte County Children Services Division.

Agents from the Butte Interagency Narcotics Task Force (BINTF) were requested to investigate the incident, assisted by Detectives from the Butte County Sheriff's Office, due to the nature of the incident.

BINTF Agents obtained a search warrant for the home of the parents, a trailer located at 256 Yankee Vista Drive in Concow, CA, where it was believed the child ingested the fentanyl. During the service of the search warrant, Agents located methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia in the home, and a small amount of rainbow colored fentanyl in a silicone container in the vehicle driven by the parents.

At the conclusion of the investigation, the two parents of the child, 22 year old Justin Bryce Zedaker II and 23 year old Allie May Stuber, were arrested for Child Endangerment and Possession of Controlled Substances, and booked into the Butte County Jail. A Bail Enhancement is being sought for both subjects.

Fentanyl is now being marketed in communities across Butte County in very innocuous looking colored powders and pills, misrepresenting their potency and deadliness. In

The New Pi-Line

By Josh F.W. Cook

The California Tax Foundation tracks the tax situation in California; here is what they have to say. From 2010 to 2020, voters approved $8.82 billion in higher annual taxes and rejected $3.17 billion in higher annual taxes. Of the 1,956 local tax measures that appeared on the ballot, 972 were general taxes, and 984 were special taxes. Voters approved 1,359 measures (774 general taxes, 578 special taxes, and seven other special tax measures) and voted down 597 (198 general taxes, 398 special taxes, and one special tax measure). So for those of you keeping score - 1,359 local tax measures have passed in the last decade, and only 597 have failed. Californians seem to like tax hikes.*** For those of you living south of the border in Live Oak, there is Sutter County Measure A for your consideration. Sutter County's Essential Services Measure on the November 8 ballot is one cent, or one percent, sales tax increase for nine years that would raise approximately $19 million a year in local revenues.

The mid-term departure of a Live Oak council member in 2021 brought the City to a standstill. The remaining members couldn't collaborate to reach a consensus on budgets and other issues. There are seven candidates running for three open seats. When you go to vote, try to pick three that are on the same team so they do what they need to do.

Biggs people (Biggsians) you have some options; four people are running for three seats - Chuck Nuchols, Brian Bassett, Edmund Punzo, and "Bo" Sheppard; one of them has to drop off. There is a second short-term Biggs City Council seat (whatever that means), and your choices are Michael Buck and Anita Williams, two people; you only get to vote for one. On a side note, Biggsian Brian Basset is a great guy, and if I lived in Biggs, I would put his sign in my yard.

In Gridley, the Council contest is over on election day, which explains why Gridley has a lack of colorful political sign decorations which we find in Live Oak - James Roberts and Bruce Johnson are running, and you can vote for both of them.

School Boards locally have no such situation; there are contested races all around. Manzanita School Board choices are Brenda Roach Donnahoe, Jake Wilson and Marc Tillotson, three candidates, and you only get to vote for two. Gridley Schools Trustee Area 2 - Stacy Anthony, Kirsten Storne-Piazza, Joseph Dewsnup, Drew Becker 4 candidates, only two win. Trustee Area 3 Art Cota and Brandon Oakley are your choices.

Regarding school boards, we should remember that kids did better in local school districts that followed science guidelines around school closures and masking mandates. Schools that went along with the state recommendations are showing much higher rates of learning loss and mental health issues among children. The point is - these school board races matter. We should elect people who can make decisions best for our community, which often takes a great deal of courage and determination.

The Butte County Elections Office has set up a Secure Ballot Drop Box Center at Gridley Butte County Library, 299 Spruce Street. For Biggs, the Secure Ballot Drop Box Availability Center Biggs is at Biggs City Hall, 465 C Street. A secure box thingy is where you can take your ballot. It used to be that we had an election day, but now we have an election month; it used to be that you had to ask for a ballot to be mailed to you if you were too busy to go to the polling place on election day. Now you get a ballot even if you don't ask. Another election law they changed was making it legal for people to gather up the ballots of people and drop them off - it used to be a criminal activity. Now "gathering" is legal, so if you have a friend that you think may forget to turn in their ballot, you will not go to jail if you drop it off for them. If you have any questions about voting, you can go to the County Elections website and

We would also be remiss if the Pi-Line did not add to the election year extravaganza column with Assembly Leader James Gallagher of East Nicolaus and Congressman LaMalfa of Richvale. They have done much for our community in very difficult times and are worthy of re-election. We should make a clear stand and refute anti-Irish and anti-Italian bigotry - which has no place in American life.

Orchard Represented Measure J: The Breakdown at MGMA Conference

By Seti Long

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Orchard Hospital was invited to have a representative of the hospital speak at the 2022 Medical Group Management Association (MGMA) 'Medical Practice Excellence: Leaders Conference.

The MGMA conference was held October 9th - 12th in Boston, Massachusetts. Kirsten Storne-Piazza, MA, LMFT, CRHCP, would speak on behalf of Orchard Hospital and the California State Rural Health Association at the conference, addressing the topic of 'Taking Care of Our Staff: Maintaining Purpose and Impacting

As stated in her bio for the MGMA conference, "Kirsten Storne-Piazza is the Chief Clinic Administrator at Orchard Hospital in Gridley, CA. Orchard Hospital operates two Rural Health Clinics in Butte County. Kirsten has a Master's Degree in Psychology and is also a Licensed Marriage Family Therapist and Certified Rural Health Clinic Professional." It continues to inform that "She has been in healthcare administration and business development since 2009."

Storne-Piazza shares that over 300 medical professional leaders attended her session that addressed the topics of prolonged stress, burnout, and a reduction in the ability to care for patients and healthcare workers themselves, due to the demand to deliver healthcare at an increased speed and level of success. She would provide tools and methods in which to address both employee and employer compassion fatigue and strategies that produce higher satisfaction across the board, efficiency, and quality of care.

Storne-Piazza said the opportunity to speak at such a conference was an honor. "It was an amazing experience to be with, share with and learn with people from all over the country who are committed to providing quality healthcare and investing in our communities and staff we work with.

Story and photos by Seti Long

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Gridley Unified School District recently held one of two informational meetings about Measure J, a $16.3 million bond that is on the November 8th

If passed, the bond would allot the district $16.3 million in funding from taxpayer dollars within the Gridley Unified School District and Manzanita School District areas as it is intended to "improve, enhance and replace" high school facilities. The bond would be pulled over a 30-year period, potentially in series, and the dollar amount would be dictated by taxpayers' assessed property

According to representatives from the district, a specific dollar amount per assessed property value cannot be accurately estimated at this time due to many factors – they cited future fluctuations and population growth within the district, the possibility of the district pulling the funds in multiple series over time, even the state of the economy as impacting the cost assessed per taxpayer.

At its first meeting on Monday, October 17th, GUSD Superintendent Justin Kern along with Gridley High School Principal Rikki-Lee Burresch addressed those that turned out for the meeting, breaking down what Measure J would mean for the district and the high school, which is intended to benefit from the bond. GUSD School Board president Eric Waterbury was also in attendance, jumping in where necessary to answer or clarify any questions posed by the public.

The high school is currently looking at multiple projects around its campus that the bond would help fund. If the bond passes, the money would be used to support those projects and open the district up to apply for 60/40 matching funds through the state for modernization and potentially a 50/50 match of funding for new construction.

Currently planned for the high school is a new $8-million, 8-classroom facility located between the 400 wing and the Ag buildings on the western side of the school near the back of the campus. This building is being funded by the district and will have a designated space for severely handicapped students, a room designed for the CTE Health Pathway and 4 other classrooms that would absorb the 500 wing – a series of portable classrooms which also sit towards the back of the campus. If Measure J passes, it could potentially allow the district to use bond money toward the construction of the 8-classroom facility and free up funding for other school sites.

The district hopes to break ground on the new 8-room building in 2023. According to Kern and Waterbury, this would realize Phase 1 of a 3-phase proposed modernization project that the district hopes to complete at the high school with the funds generated by the passing of Measure J. Phase 2 would be the removal of the 500 wing after the development of the new 8-classroom building. If Measure J passes, construction of a quad area and 4 new classrooms in the footprint of the former 500 wing would commence. The 4 new rooms would house lab-style classrooms and condense the science classrooms into one wing

Phase 3 is hoped to target the existing locker-room facilities and build a multipurpose building between the current locker rooms and the football field. This building would potentially serve as a locker room, indoor facility for some sports training, an area for plays, musical events and more.

Technically, the $16.3 million bond would fund the development of the four lab classrooms, quad area and multipurpose facility that were discussed as parts of Phase 2 and Phase 3 of improvements at the GHS campus.

Superintendent Kern then opened the discussion to the public for a Q & A session. Concerns were raised about what this would look like for taxpayers monetarily, why very little has been mentioned about the bond measure until recently, and concerns about other schools within the district that are in need of improvements or expansions - most notably Wilson and McKinley schools – based on the meeting's discussions.

The district was hesitant to speak about dollar amounts due to the inability to accurately estimate the impact that the bond would have on individual taxpayers. In answer to the question of why many in the public are just hearing about Measure J, Waterbury informed that the measure has appeared on past GUSD School Board Meeting agendas and Superintendent Kern made clear that the district cannot instruct voters to vote in favor of the measure and is not doing so, but that they were there to address questions/concerns regarding the bond. Worries of the public were heard and noted about other school facilities throughout the district, again with Wilson and McKinley schools being of most concern.

After the Q & A portion, the group was privy to a tour of the high school facilities in question, beginning with the locker rooms, followed by a look at the 500 wing and Ag facilities. The tour was intended to allow the public to view the areas the district is looking to improve. Conditions of the areas toured echoed the sentiments from the district that improvements at the high school were needed, but it ultimately comes down to the question of funding.

GUSD and GHS are planning another public information meeting on Monday, October 24th at 5:30 pm in the GHS library for those that we unable to attend the meeting on the 17th. Residents that the bond may impact are invited to attend and have their questions or concerns addressed.

The facts surrounding the dangers of fentanyl have been well documented by BINFT and others. 114 people died of illicit drug use in Butte County, mostly due to fentanyl and methamphetamine overdose... that is one fact. #### Climate advisor: California agriculture faces 'existential threat'

Gov. Gavin Newsom's climate advisor says climate change represents an "existential threat" to agriculture in California. Kayla Ungar, special advisor for climate, water and drought for the California Department of Food and Agriculture, spoke at a recent informational hearing. She said eight of 20 major crops grown in California could be most affected by increasingly hot and dry conditions. The crops she cited were almonds, wine grapes, table grapes, strawberries, hay, walnuts, freestone peaches and cherries.

Pumpkin patches welcome back school tours, look to boost crowds

During COVID-19 pandemic lockdowns, families flocked to pumpkin patches and other agritourism venues for outdoor activities. Now growers and operators of pumpkin patches are trying to keep the crowds coming. They're getting help from the return of school groups. While overall attendance stayed strong during the pandemic, school tours largely vanished. Now school bookings are back up to 80% to 90% of pre-pandemic levels, some farmers report.

Crohn's Disease

Commentary by Leanne McCrate

Dear Dietitian,

I was recently diagnosed with Crohn's disease, and I'm having a hard time figuring out what foods I should avoid. Can you help?

Kathleen

Dear Kathleen,

I know Crohn's disease is a challenging condition to deal with, having seen more cases in my last few years of clinical practice than ever before. For readers who are unfamiliar, Crohn's is one of two types of inflammatory bowel disease (IBD), the other being ulcerative colitis. As the term ulcerative implies, small sores or ulcers form in different parts of the gastrointestinal (GI) tract. With Crohn's, the ulcers can occur anywhere from the mouth to the anus, whereas, with ulcerative colitis, the sores are typically limited to the colon and rectum.

According to the Crohn's & Colitis Foundation, IBD affects as many as 3 million Americans, most of whom are diagnosed by age 30. Interestingly, Crohn's is named for Dr. Burrill Crohn, who first described the disease in 1932 (1).

The cause of IBD is unclear, but it is likely a combination of genetics, immune responses, and environmental factors, such as smoking. As with any illness, stress can make symptoms worse. Symptoms of IBD include diarrhea, bloody stools, stomach cramping, malnutrition, and unintended weight loss.

Malnutrition can occur during an IBD flare because some nutrients cannot be adequately absorbed in the intestines. The most common deficiencies are iron, B vitamins, vitamin D, vitamin K, folic acid, and selenium.

There is no specific diet for IBD. Studies with IBD and a low-fiber diet nor a high-fiber diet have been found to be therapeutic. The best approach is diet as tolerated. Keep a food diary of items that may result in abdominal cramping or diarrhea so you can avoid those foods in

During a flare, avoid high-fiber foods like raw fruits and vegetables, beans, whole wheat bread, and high-fiber cereals. You may also need to limit dairy products during this time, as lactose may increase diarrhea. Stick to bland foods like white bread, white pasta, canned fruit and vegetables. You can obtain protein from chicken breast, fish, or peanut butter.

Following are general nutrition tips for people with IBD:

- Keep a food diary and avoid problem foods
- Eat small, more frequent meals
- · Drink plenty of water or noncaffeinated beverages
- Try reduced-fat foods
- Avoid alcohol or drink sparingly • Avoid hot, spicy foods

It is important that people with IBD follow a diet that is adequate in protein and calories. Consult a Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (RDN) to obtain a healthy meal plan with vitamin and mineral replacement.

Until next time, be healthy! Dear Dietitian

Our children know to stay at least 3 feet away from the fire-

"I'm going to a city where streets of gold are paved. The Tree of Life blooms and roses never fade. On earth Satan's snares we must evade and roses bloom but for a season their beauty is decayed. But I'm going to a city where roses never fade." Hallelujah, praise God. (Thank you Tony for reminding us of God's glory.)

I heard a story once about a man who rented a moving truck so that when he died he could take his wealth of gold with him. When the day arrived for him to transfer to heaven as he approached the gates, a man asked, "Why are you bringing that street pavement with you? We supply our own."

Street pavement!! Gold asphalt!! You may laugh, but some people think they can carry their earthly wealth with them. The ancient Egyptian kings did. However, centuries later, explorers are opening the ancient tombs and taking out loads of golden artifacts still resting in the dirt.

The only thing that travels with us death is what we left for others, like acts of kindness or encouraging words. It could be using money for the betterment of others. It could be the spreading

We can accumulate, lots of stuff, even expensive stuff, but it won't fit in our coffin, it won't magically appear in the afterlife. We will arrive dressed in the rags of sin, or we will appear in the glory God provides for us, a white robe of salvation.

God asks us to live in compassion, to show mercy, and to strive for peace in all that we do. Jesus told His disciples that He was going to prepare a place, a home, a room for those that believe and follow the will of the Father. That mansion in the sky.

Many prophets have offered visions of heaven and it stands to reason we won't need what we have here since God will provide all we need. So don't rent a moving truck, or save in vaults, or safes what you own. Use what you have to glorify the God Almighty who provides it all.

Come to the Gridley United Methodist Church as we all build our mansions in the sky by helping and serving others to glorify God and His ways. We worship every Sunday at 10 am. We are located a 285 Magnolia Street.

Keep Them in the Loop

Dear Dave,

I am getting older, and health issues over the last year have made me begin thinking about selling my small business. I have spoken with a couple of potential buyers recently, and one of them seems to be the kind of person who would handle the company very well. How and when do I tell my employees about what is going on and what may happen?

- Marjorie Dear Marjorie,

In my mind, to be a good, effective leader you have to be willing to share and discuss things with your team whether they're good or bad. When talking to the folks at my company, I try not to get into a lot of unnecessary stuff, but if there's any doubt, I'm going to over-share rather than leave them fearful, uninformed or confused.

Dave Ramsey Says

Think about it this way. If the roles were reversed, and you were in their shoes, when would you want to know? If you'd worked for someone a few years, would you feel betrayed if you didn't know about something like this? It might sound simple, but I think that's a good, fair way to process the situation.

If I make a mistake with my team, it's always going to be in terms of over-communication. I expect and trust them to be mature adults in the workplace, and they know this ahead of time. Still, I try to make sure I'm very transparent about how we're doing as a team and as a company. No small business owner can be successful unless they have great people around them. Your team needs to hear that once in a while, too, in addition to knowing you're always going to keep them in the loop and shoot straight with them.

Human beings just want to be treated with dignity and respect. They want to know what's going on where they work. When it's something that impacts their day-to-day lives - and potentially their livelihoods they deserve to know the facts as quickly as possible. – Dave

California Faces a Housing, Wildfire Conundrum

By Dan Walters, CALMatters.org

California must ramp up housing construction to reduce the ever-widening gap between supply and demand and ease the high shelter costs that drive families into poverty and contribute to the state's homelessness crisis.

However, given the seemingly nonstop series of uber-destructive wildfires California is experiencing, prudence dictates that we should also avoid housing construction in what's called the "wildland urban interface" where fires are most likely to have cataclysmic impacts.

played out in the political arena, where officialdom makes land use policy.

A case in point: Two years ago, by overwhelming bipartisan majorities, the Legislature passed a bill that would have required local governments to make fire safety a major factor in approving housing developments in fire-prone areas by compelling developers to include protective features.

The measure was passed in response to a wave of killer fires, including the Camp Fire that destroyed the rural community of Paradise in 2018, killing 86 people.

Gov. Gavin Newsom vetoed the bill, saying its aims it "creates a loophole for regions to not comply with their housing requirements."

"Wildfire resilience must become a more consistent part of land use and development decisions. However, it must be done while meeting our housing needs," Newsom wrote.

In the absence of clear policy from the Legislature and the governor on limiting construction in fire-prone areas of the state, Attorney General Rob Bonta has intervened.

This year he joined forces with environmental groups to stall a huge housing and golf resort project in Lake County, where wildfires are a constant threat. A Lake County judge declared that local authorities and the developer had not paid sufficient attention to the Guenoc Valley project's vulnerability to fires.

The ruling "affirms a basic fact: Local govern-The friction between ments and developers have those two imperatives is a responsibility to take a hard look at projects that exacerbate wildfire risk and endanger our communities," Bonta said. "We can't keep making shortsighted land use decisions that will have impacts decades down the line. We must build responsibly."

This week, Bonta took another step, issuing a set of guidelines that local authorities should follow in assessing the potential wildfire dangers of proposed developments.

It declares that it's "imperative that local jurisdictions making decisions to approve new developments carefully consider wildfire impacts that while he supported as part of the environmental review process, plan where best to place new development, and mitigate wildfire impacts to the extent feasible."

> Unveiling the policy in San Diego County, whose fast-growing inland communities are in constant peril from wildfire, Bonta said, "This is the new normal. When it comes to development, we can't continue business as usual. We must adjust. We must > Bonta's guidelines don't have the force of law, but they contain the implicit threat that his office will intervene if they are ignored, as it did with Guenoc Valley.

Avoiding housing in areas of extreme fire danger would seem to be common sense, but except for a narrow strip of land fronting the Pacific Ocean, the flatlands of the Central Valley and the deserts of Southern California, the state is mostly a tinderbox.

Moreover, Californians prefer, if they can, to live in single-family homes in scenic locales and therefore developers want to comply with those preferences, which is why they propose projects such as Guenoc Valley.

The issue demands something more definitive than a document from the attorney general. Newsom and the Legislature should, as they ramp up pressure for more housing construction, also delineate where it should — and should not — occur.

Dan Walters has been a journalist for nearly 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers.

The garden is full of surprises, an adventure in discovery. When it rained, we emptied our rain barrel into five-gallon buckets. I dip the watering can into the buckets and use that water for various plants. I recently dipped the watering can and what did my wondering eyes see but a little snail hanging upside the bucket going for a drink. A wonderful bit of magic surprise. I decided to trim my Jasmine bonsai. I noticed a dry brown leaf and reached out to pick it off. What a surprise when it walked down the branch and exposed itself as a Praying Mantis. It did not fly away simply moved away then watched me with its weird big eyes on its' little wedge -shaped head. I thought, "Hey, if you are eating bugs, go for it! I can wait until another day." Our asparagus bed surprised us with another crop of asparagus. It tastes better than the spring crop. Another thing that is always a surprise are the small brown snakes that live under the

We were surprised by finding a nice green griller zucchini on what looked like a dead vine. The turtle surprises me when it actually pops its head up to see me instead of hiding. I have a small brown frog that chirps at unexpected times...a lovely surprise whenever it happens. I looked on the stems of my tiger lilies and had quite the surprise when I saw a large number of good size bulbils. I picked them and I'm hoping to get them to grow into big lily bulbs. That will be a pleasant surprise.

"Naw. Ever since I was a kid, I wanted paint that color. You know what I'd do with it? I'd paint the wall behind the little telephone stand so that every time I spoke to someone on the phone, I'd be in a great mood." "You don't have a tele-

2 Paradise Men Sentenced for Robbery of Camp Fire Victim

Butte County DA News Release

BUTTE COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Two Paradise men were transferred to state prison last week after they were sentenced in Butte County Superior Court for the second-degree robbery of a Camp Fire victim's insurance settlement.

Nicholas Fitzgerald, 27, and Jesse McLaughlin, 33, both of Paradise, were sentenced last month respectively to three and five-year terms in prison for a robbery they conspired to and did commit on a girlfriend of Fitzgerald.

Butte County District Attorney Mike Ramsey said that on April 28, 2022, the Chico Police Department responded to a report of a robbery that occurred in the parking lot of the Chico Marketplace. The female victim had been shopping at the mall with Fitzgerald, her then-new boyfriend.

Fitzgerald had insisted he and the victim exit out the north door of the mall and walk to the nearby Kohl's department store. While both the victim and Fitzgerald were walking across the parking lot, a masked adult male walked up to the couple, punched her in the face knocking her unconscious, and stole her purse. The masked suspect then fled the scene in a vehicle. The victim's purse contained approximately $60,000 in cash and debit cards, proceeds from her Camp Fire settlement she had cashed earlier that afternoon.

Immediately after the robbery, the victim told law enforcement she believed Fitzgerald was involved because he was continuously on his phone prior to the robbery and would not let her see his phone. Witnesses also said Fitzgerald appeared to walk alongside the "robber" as the robber went to his getaway

District Attorney Mike Ramsey said an investigation by the Chico Police Department lead to text messages and Facebook messages between Fitzgerald and McLaughlin. It was determined Fitzgerald had contacted McLaughlin the day of the robbery and set up a plan to rob the victim.

At the sentencing hearing, the victim submitted a statement to the court describing how she lost everything in the Camp Fire. She went on to explain how Fitzgerald, a man she thought loved her, and McLaughlin took away her ability to start a new life with her son when they robbed her of her insurance settlement.

McLaughlin was sentenced to the five years in state prison as he was on parole out of Tehama County for convictions of illegal gun, methamphetamine and stolen property charges.

The court awarded to the victim restitution against both men for the loss of her insurance settlement.

LOCAL FISHING

Bah Humbug! Fifty years ago, perhaps 1972, Yellow Creek in Humbug Valley was six foot wide by 38 inches deep and 15 miles long, and designated a Wild Trout Water by CDFG. This spring creek was destroyed by local cattlemen. Their cattle trampled the creek banks and destroyed the insect habitat. Presently, under the stewardship of the local Maidu Tribe, the spring has been restored and again hosts rainbow and brook trout. In the spring you can find Mayflies such as: Blue-winged Olive, Pale Morning Dun, Speckle Wing, Sulfur Dun, Green Drake, Isonychia, and March Browns. During the fall you can find Caddisflies such as: Grannom, Spotted Sedge, Green Rock Worm, Saddle Case, Weedy-Water, Little Sister, and October Caddis. Midges may be found all year.

Bulldogs Cruise Past Tigers with Ease, Continue Playoffs Push

By Steven Bryla

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - The Gridley Bulldogs varsity football team took a step closer towards the playoffs on Friday night with their commanding 41-6 Butte View League victory over the Oroville Tigers.

It was the annual Homecoming week for Gridley, which includes many different school events and festivities. Therefore, there were many fun events planned throughout the week for the Bulldogs players with their peers, adding to a list of potential distractions.

Gridley (3-4, 1-1 BVL) head coach Matt Kemmis told The Herald that even with all the different events going on, he was happy to have all his players on game night suited up and ready to play for their fans.

"We were able to secure a victory for our Homecoming game, I know it brings back a lot of past players and other alumni that are back in town for the festivities," consisted of three plays for 59 yards and ended when sophomore quarterback Gus Stogsdill scored on a 19-yard touchdown rush. Stogsdill added three more for the Class of 2025.

The humble quarterback never forgets about his offensive line in every interview with the Herald. However, he was asked Friday to recognize another group of contributors and gave credit to the scheming of his offensive coaches.

"When our linemen perform like that, I have the chance to make the right cuts and take it to the house," Stogsdill said.

Stogsdill had 189 yards on the ground on 16 carries and added three completions for 43 yards.

Gridley had a 14-0 lead at the end of the first quarter. In the second quarter, the Bulldogs kept their foot on the gas with the rushing attack. Senior running back Aiden Gomez extended the Gridley lead to 27-0 after he scored a 41-yard rushing

The only blemish the Bulldogs defense had in the first half was a single touchdown scored in the final few minutes of the first half. Besides the one touchdown for Oroville, and multiple tackles for loss.

With a comfortable lead at the half, the Bulldogs expanded the depth on their roster which gave an opportunity for other one reception for 15 yards on the night.

Kemmis told The Herald that it was nice to see new faces get to have some time to shine to give him another look at depth throughout the remaining weeks of the season.

Stogsdill threw his third touchdown pass of the season late in the fourth quarter to sophomore receiver Nathan Zumwalt for an 18-yard receiving touchdown and gave the Bulldogs the highest offensive point total of the season with 41 points.

Gridley will travel to Paradise this Friday night and play the Bobcats for the first time as BVL opponents. The two teams last played in the 2020 shortened season where the Bulldogs won 35-0.

Kemmis told The Herald that the game against Paradise is important for playoff implications as Gridley wants to be in the field of eight teams that compete for the Division III CIF

BIGGS, CA (MPG) - The Biggs Wolverines varsity football team lost a nailbiter on Friday to the Williams Yellowjackets, 14-8, in a Mid-Valley League game on Homecoming weekend.

Williams had a 14-point lead after the first quarter and held it until the final minutes of the game. However, Biggs junior quarterback Chase Mclean got the Wolverines on the scoreboard inside three minutes left with a one-yard rushing touchdown.

After a successful two-point conversion by junior running back Zach Smith, Biggs (2-5, 0-2 MVL) needed a stop from its defense. Smith contributed 75 rushing yards on 11 carries and had eight tackles on the night defensively.

The defense gave everything they had against the Yellowjackets and stopped them quickly to get the ball back for the offense after two sacks and a forced fumble. Wolverines head coach Brian Harrison told The Herald that his defense shut down the rushing attack of Williams. The Yellowjackets came into the game against Biggs averaging almost 178 yards on the ground. The Wolverines defense allowed only 26 rushing yards on Friday night.

"We shut them down in the box completely," Harrison said.

Biggs had the ball inside the Williams 30-yard line with under 30 seconds left in the game. Harrison told The Herald that the plan was to use the quick passing attack to get the ball out of bounds quickly to stop the clock. He added there were multiple penalties thrown within this final possession that added to the anticipation for the final play of the game.

The Wolverines had one final play untimed due to a penalty on the Yellowjackets. Mclean's pass was picked off in the end zone and Williams secured the victory.

Mclean ended the night with eight completions for 65 passing yards and 20 yards on the ground off five carries.

"Something is broken, and I need to fix it," Harrison proclaimed.

He added with his offense averaging less than 10 points a contest, things offensively need a change. Harrison explained that he doesn't know where the changes offensively would come from and it's something he is looking to change in the last couple weeks of the season.

Biggs will travel and play Hamilton (6-1, 2-0 MVL) this Friday. The Braves have a balanced pass and run attack similar to Williams. The Wolverines will have to stop an offense that averages 37 points per game.

"We have to execute and be more consistent," Harrison said.

California Takes Action to Combat Illicit Cannabis Grows

CDFW News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Taking aggressive action to protect communities, consumers and the environment alike, Gov. Gavin Newsom has directed the creation of a new multi-agency, cross-jurisdictional taskforce of enforcement agencies designed to better coordinate agencies combatting illegal cannabis operations and transnational criminal organizations.

This new "Unified Cannabis Enforcement Taskforce," which has been actively working since late summer, is co-chaired by the Department of Cannabis Control (DCC) and the California Department of Fish and Wildlife (CDFW) and is being coordinated by the California Governor's Office of Emergency Services (Cal OES) through its Homeland Security Division. The taskforce has been charged by the Governor to better align state efforts and increase enforcement coordination between state, local and federal partners.

"The State of California is committed to combatting illicit commercial cannabis activity which is causing pervasive harm to California communities, the environment, consumers and legal cannabis businesses," said Nicole Elliott, Director of DCC.

"We cannot allow harmful, illicit cannabis operations to lay waste to the environment or threaten our communities," said Mark Ghilarducci, Director of the Cal OES and the Governor's Homeland Security Advisor. "We are bringing together the combined law enforcement resources of our state, local and federal agencies in a coordinated enforcement action against these bad actors and criminal organizations."

"California has an abundance of public lands set aside for conservation, recreational use and the enjoyment of the people of this state," said CDFW Director Charlton H. Bonham. "Unfortunately, criminal organizations are impacting these areas by exploiting some of our most pristine public lands and wildlife habitats as grow sites for cannabis."

Since its inception, the taskforce has been actively coordinating with federal, state, local and tribal agencies to disrupt this illegal market, including: Combatting the non-linear threat of transnational crime that extends to areas of California beyond the border and into some of most rural parts of the state. Establishing a new data sharing agreement which allows state and local enforcement officials to more broadly share information and cross-match data across jurisdictions. Leveraging and better aligning the authorities and legal provisions of federal, state and local law enforcement and regulatory agencies in conducting search warrants, indictments and maximizing arrests and prosecution of perpetrators, while also maximizing administrative, regulatory and civil penalties for bad actors. Disrupting human traffickers and illegal firearm and drug smugglers. Interdicting illegal cannabis shipments crossing California's borders. Coordinating with local police chiefs, sheriffs and federal officials to deploy personnel and equipment where needed.

By investigating, removing and reclaiming illegal grow sites as well as shutting down illegal manufacturing, distribution and retail operations, and by apprehending and applying meaningful repercussions to offenders and traffickers, state, local and federal law enforcement agencies are protecting consumer and public safety, safeguarding the environment, and depriving illegal cannabis operators and transnational criminal organizations of illicit revenue that undercuts the regulated cannabis market in Large scale, illicit outdoor cannabis cultivation can be harmful to the environment. Non-compliant cultivation sites can negatively affect wildlife, vegetation, water, soil, and other natural resources when they utilize chemicals, fertilizers and terracing, and even poach local wild animals. Illegal cannabis cultivation results in the chemical contamination and alteration of watersheds, diversion of natural water courses, elimination of native vegetation, wildfire hazards, poaching of wildlife and harmful disposal of garbage, non-biodegradable materials and human waste.

Untested cannabis products also pose safety hazards to consumers, while all illegal activity undercuts the regulated market and hurts licensed cannabis business owners.

Sutter County Ready to Offer Electronic Vital Records

By Donna Johnston, Sutter County Clerk-Recorder

SUTTER COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Governor Newsom signed Senate Bill 876 on September 28th which allows California County Recorders the option to deliver certified electronic versions of birth, death, and marriage records in place of paper-based certificates.

Sutter County is on target to be the first county in California to offer this service, said Sutter County Clerk-Recorder Donna Johnston, whose advocacy for use of secure blockchain digital technology in 2018 was the impetus for the change in the law

"Having the opportunity to have an electronic birth, death, or marriage certificate delivered electronically to customers would have been extremely beneficial during the pandemic," noted Johnston. "Thankfully, with the bill now becoming law, our customers will experience a higher level of service in a safe, effective, and expedited manner."

The bill amends California Health and Safety Code section 103526.5 and now allows all County Recorders the authority and option to issue certified copies of birth, death, and marriage records by means of blockchain technology. California has modeled this after the success of the state of Nevada's use of this technology in Nevada County Recorder offices.

Currently, if a customer is unable to make a request in person at the Recorder's office, they will request via mail or fax. The Recorders office will then mail the certified copies of marriage certificates on secure banknote paper with a wet signature. This whole process takes on average 10 to 20 days from the initial request to the customer receiving the document. This can impact the start of Social Security benefits, veteran's benefits, pension benefits, or any situation where official documentation birth, death, and marriage are required

This legislation began when Johnston advocated for electronic delivery of vitals as President of the County Recorder's Association of California (CRAC) in 2018. Previous attempts to pass legislation for electronic copies of such records were halted because of security concerns, but this time a working group was created at the state level to vet the blockchain technology. Johnston worked with CRAC, who sponsored the bill, and Senate Majority Leader Emeritus Robert Hertzberg (Los Angeles), and has testified at legislative hearings from a Recorder's perspective in support of the bill.

Requests for the certificates will not change. Customers can request and pay for the requested certificate and will have the option of receiving it as a traditional paper certificate, or an electronic certificate which includes an authentication page. This two-page electronic certificate will be delivered via email to the customer who can then forward it to the requesting agency. The requesting agency can then verify the certificate through the blockchain using the information contained on the authentication page. An added benefit to the customer purchasing the electronic certificate is that it can be reused, stopping the need to purchase additional copies of the paper certificate.

This process is more secure than the traditional current method of paper certification which can theoretically be forged, due the nature of a decentralized computer network working together to protect the authenticity of the transaction.

Washoe County in Nevada has successful distributed over 4,500 digital marriage certificates to customers since implementing blockchain technology in 2018. Certificates are delivered within minutes - not just in the United States, but to destinations such as Spain, Canada, and Asian countries. Agencies that have accepted the electronically certified marriage record from Washoe County includes the Social Security Administration, the Department of Motor Vehicles, cruise lines, veteran's benefits offices, and other offices that need proof of marriage. Additional Nevada counties have begun using blockchain technology to increase services to their customers.

The electronic certificates will be available at the Sutter County Clerk-Recorder beginning January 1, 2023, when the law becomes effective. The office will offer customers the option of a paper-based certificate in addition to the electronic certificate for a few months to introduce the new process.
