LIVE OAK, CA (MPG) - As the first of the area high schools to graduate this year, Live Oak once again held a rousingly fun and moving commencement ceremony.

On Thursday, June 2nd, Live Oak High School's Principal, Tony Walton, hyped the grads with a chant, "Let's Go Lions," that could be heard across the field by attendees as the graduates prepared to take center stage. Walton would then lead the grads onto the field and before getting started on his opening remarks, have the crowd give the LOHS Class of 2022 a standing ovation.

In a moment that would choke Walton up, he said "We are losing a piece of Live Oak tonight and I don't know if he can ever be replaced, which is how it should be." Long-time teacher at Live Oak High School, David Anderson, would be retiring. Anderson was given a large round of applause from the crowd and students, receiving hugs from graduates throughout the ceremony as they received their diplomas.

Moving forward with the proceedings, Walton would say that "This is the best graduating class I have ever had," continuing with "I really love these kids from the bottom of my heart." As far as their accomplishments, which included surviving two years of COVID-19 academic complications, the LOHS Class of 2022 boasted a list of high achievers, many with prestigious grade point averages. Besides academic prowess, Walton would say that the Class of 2022 showed "strong leadership throughout our school and community and have helped to make Live Oak High School one of the top performing schools in the region."

The New Pi-LineA Golden State of Mind

By Josh F.W. Cook

If you are uninformed about the importance of June and its many important causes, here is just a short list. June is Fireworks Safety Month, National Dairy Month, National Great Outdoors Month, National PTSD Awareness Month, Alzheimer’s and Brain Awareness Month, National Homeownership Month, Men’s Health Month, National Fresh Fruit and Vegetables Month, National Camping Month, National Safety Month. Moreover, and specifically, June 1st thru the 7th is National CPR and AED Awareness Week, June 4th to June 12th is National Fishing and Boating Week, and June 6th is D-Day Remembrance. The ivory tower-type professors landed their Higher Education Day right on top of it. Clearly, there seems to be no standardized method for declaring a day or month for your favorite interest, so I now declare July 1 Gridley Herald Pi-Line Appreciation Day. Please mark it on your calendar and talk about it amongst your friends.

The experts claim that soon artificial intelligence-based computer systems will make typographical errors a thing of the past. For the last month, whatever technology I have installed on my computer seems to be making things worse. The spellchecker and grammar checker software that I use not only gets many things wrong, it also fights with me when I try to correct it. I hope this issue is resolved in the next software update, which arrives and automatically installs; I certainly hope it doesn’t make it worse. The fact that the thing fights with me is creepy. Writing the column the last two weeks reminds me of all of the movies in which the robots have increased their intelligence to such a level that they arm themselves and turn on humanity. Glad to say I won.

It is that time of year when we have almost decided what we will put in our gardens. My father has doubled down; indeed, he has quadrupled down on growing corn. In response to this, my daughter is growing tomatoes. It is my sincere desire that no one in my family (or even friends) plants squash or zucchini. These two garden box hogs are like the rabbits of the vegetable kingdom, you plant one, and they come back as ... way too many. So many that you have to force squash and zucchini on people later at church or little league practice. I think Dad knew this and stuck with corn.

If you go out to Robinson’s corner and turn right toward Marysville, you will be amazed at how fast Highway 70 has been transformed into a European-style Super Strada Bahn. Some of us still question how they’re going to fit all eight lanes underneath the one-and-a-half-lane wide bridge underpasses in Marysville. I sense an engineering miracle is on the way. One of the scenarios which had been proposed was to build a freeway exchange over the top of Ellis Lake. Ellis Lake is not really a lake. It’s a low spot built to protect Marysville, which is entirely encircled by levees, from filling up with water. There had to be somewhere to put the water to pump it out over the levees when it rains. So the low spot was created right in the path of a future super highway. What were they thinking? Every time I see someone fishing in Ellis Lake, I still cringe (lots of bad runoff stuff settles there), but paving it over would be a costly proposition. If you have read this far and did not know where Robinson’s corner is, you have failed the “I am a true local” test, and you remain an outsider in our community. Robinson’s corner is the intersection of Highway 70 and E. Gridley Rd., just past the Gridley sewer plant. If you did not know where - or what Ellis Lake is - don’t worry about it.

Noah Curiel sits with multiple prestigious awards including the "Gold Cup" and "California State Assembly Award for Academic Achievement." Photo courtesy of Michele Curiel

By Seti Long

LIVE OAK, CA (MPG) - Noah Curiel has graduated from Live Oak Middle School decorated in gold.
On June 1st, Curiel sat front row alongside his graduating class celebrated by staff, family, and friends for their promotion. His black gown was embellished with a gold sash, gold cord, and medal.
On April 27th Curiel was awarded a gold cord for achieving Honor Roll this school year along with the prestigious Gold Cup. Curiel was one of ten 8th graders who maintained a 4.0 GPA for two consecutive school years, a requirement for qualification of the Gold Cup. However, that was only one of three prominent awards Curiel received this year.

This past March, Curiel was selected as one of six recipients in his class for the Tiger Pride Award. Students were nominated by their teachers who felt these students were emblematic in promoting “character traits of responsibility, compassion, respect, initiative and optimism amongst others.”
On May 27th, an 8th grade awards ceremony was held. There, Curiel was awarded the WEB Leader Award. WEB, which stands for “where everybody belongs” is a middle school transitional program that serves to welcome incoming 6th graders.
As the ceremony came to an end, the final award was announced. Two students were unanimously selected by 8th grade teachers and school administrators for the California State Assembly Award. Curiel was one of those two students.

In the summer of 2018 Curiel was invited by Senator Jim Nielsen for a private meeting and tour of the Capital in recognition for receiving two consecutive California State Senate Scholastic Achievement Awards. Now, Curiel has added a California State Assembly Award to his academic resumé. Senator Nielsen recently sent a personalized letter congratulating Curiel on his continued success and gave his condolences for the devastating loss of Curiel’s father this past February, “while it is difficult to understand and process this loss, I am confident your father would be very proud of your scholastic achievement, and for attaining the coveted Gold Cup.”
Of all the awards presented to him this year, Curiel declares his favorite was the Gold Cup. “It took two years to get that one. Two years of 4.0s each year so I had to stay on top of my schoolwork for that whole time. I couldn’t give up at any point.” Of his accomplishments, Curiel says, “It’s unreal. I never thought I would get all these awards.”
Curiel certainly faced his fair share of adversity while working towards the goal of the Gold Cup, including a broken leg and the loss of his father. Even so, Curiel stuck with his goal while honoring his father’s memory as he persevered.
Curiel credits the support of staff for his many successes at LOMS. Especially, 8th grade Math teacher, Cruz Gutierrez and retired 6th grade teacher, Mrs. Manjit Jhutti. Along with teachers, Curiel also found inspiration through his mom. “She always helped me study, helped me with projects, and even talked to teachers when I needed help with everything I was dealing with. The biggest thing though is she taught me how to set goals and stick to them until I achieved them.”

Live Oak Middle School has undoubtedly helped strengthen and prepare Curiel for a bright future. Vice Principal, Erin Walton, compliments Curiel by saying, “Noah exemplifies our Tiger core values – responsibility, respect, and pride. He is a natural leader on the court and in the classroom. Excellence is a habit for Noah; and he’s fortunate to have the support of his mother and other family cheering him on every step of his successful journey.”
While Curiel prepares to attend Live Oak High School in the fall, he has already begun setting new goals for himself. “I want to continue to get a 4.0 GPA and become the Valedictorian of my class. I want to play football and basketball in high school and get a scholarship to play basketball at a university.” Curiel is also scheduled to begin taking college courses as early as this summer. Clearly, Curiel has a golden state of mind and with his current success, there is no doubt he will only continue building upon his empire of academic excellence. ★

Drought Requires Changes

California Water Boards News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - In response to Governor Gavin Newsom’s March 28 Executive Order the State Water Resources Control Board adopted an emergency water conservation regulation that will ensure more aggressive conservation by local water agencies across the state.
The new regulation bans irrigating turf at commercial, industrial, and institutional properties, such as grass in front of or next to large industrial or commercial buildings. The ban does not include watering turf that is used for recreation or other community purposes, water used at residences or water to maintain trees. The regulation also requires all urban water suppliers to implement conservation actions under Level 2 of their Water Shortage Contingency Plans.
In March 2022, the state’s urban retail water suppliers reported average water use statewide that was nearly 19% greater than in March 2020, lowering the state’s cumulative water savings since July 2021 to 3.7%. On May 23, 2022, Governor Newsom convened leaders from the state’s largest urban water suppliers imploring them to take more aggressive action to combat drought.
“The severity of this drought requires all Californians to save water in every possible way,” said Joaquin Esquivel, chair of the State Water Board. “The regulation compels water systems and local authorities to implement a range of additional critical conservation measures as we enter the hot and dry summer months.”
Level 2 water shortage contingency plans are meant to address up to a 20% shortage of water supplies. In addition to implementing Level 2 actions, the regulation requires urban water suppliers to fast-track supply and demand assessments to plan for potential extended dry conditions.

Level 2 actions often include things such as:
Limiting outdoor irrigation to certain days or hours; Increasing patrolling to identify water waste; Enforcing water-use prohibitions; Increasing communication about the importance of water conservation.
Some water suppliers already have imposed strong new restrictions on customers’ water use in accordance with their drought management plans. However, about half of the state’s 436 water suppliers (both urban water retailers and wholesalers) have not yet activated Level 2, and 36 have not submitted drought plans. The emergency regulation will require suppliers without drought plans to take certain conservation actions, such as conducting outreach to customers about conservation, restricting outdoor irrigation to two days a week and enforcing against wasteful water practices.
The approved regulation will be submitted to the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) for approval, which typically occurs within 10 calendar days. The ban on non-functional turf becomes effective upon OAL approval and the Level 2 requirements for urban water suppliers are proposed to take effect on June 10, 2022.
The regulation will give suppliers new options to reduce water waste if they choose to use them. A violation of the non-functional turf irrigation provision, for example, would be an infraction and subject to a fine of up to $500.
People who see water waste should report it at savewater.ca.gov.
The State Water Board’s mission is to preserve, enhance and restore the quality of California’s water resources and drinking water for the protection of the environment, public health and all beneficial uses, and to ensure proper allocation and efficient use for present and future generations. ★

Mail Theft Arrest

Butte County Sheriff’s Office News Release

BUTTE COUNTY, CA (MPG) - On Sunday, May 29th, BCSO deputies were dispatched to the area of Lower Wyandotte Road in Oroville on reports of a suspicious vehicle in area.
When deputies arrived, they located a van parked on the side of the road. Deputies contacted a female, who admitted to being the driver of the van. The female initially gave deputies a false name, but was later identified as Nakitta Weaver, age 25 of Oroville. A records check through BCSO dispatch showed Weaver had two warrants for her arrest, one for theft and one for forgery.
Weaver was wearing latex gloves, and deputies located several articles of U.S. mail on the ground next to where Ms. Weaver was sitting, some of which had already been opened. Deputies searched the Speakers would include Senior Class President Jorge Enriquez Gomez, Salutatorian Servando Sanchez, and Valedictorian Jasleen Gosal. While each speech would have a different tone addressing the crowd and fellow classmates, Walton would ask the crowd to pay special attention to Gosal’s.

The Valedictorian warned that her speech would not be the typical Valedictorian speech, and focused on some serious subject matters, including COVID-19, mental health, violence against others based on their race or religion, mass shootings, the prevalence of hatred and more. Gosal would say “We’re all thinking ‘this is a graduation ceremony. What does this have to do with anything?’ This, my dear friends, makes it all the more important for every single one of us honored and lucky enough to be graduating today, to realize just how lucky we are to be here.

To strive to counter this hatred and be, not part of the problem, but part of the solution.” She would continue to say, “Change does, and always will, begin with one thing: recognizing and loving the entire human race as one, because one-ness leaves no room for violence. No room for oppression. No room for hatred. We can, if we choose to be, the change we wish to see in the world. It starts with me and its starts with you.”

After the powerful speech, Walton would say that it was one of the best Valedictorian speeches he had heard.

Then, lightening the mood, each graduate was introduced to the crowd with information on what they planned to do with their future, standing in the spotlight as they individually received their diplomas.

As the ceremony concluded the Graduating Class of 2022 would graduate to a cacophony of applause, air horns and more, their families and loved ones meeting them on the field of Arostegui Stadium to celebrate this milestone in their lives. ★ would take to the podium for an incredibly moving tradition at Biggs Graduations. Speaking to families and especially to mothers, Rutherford and Bowles would say, “No one can love us more. No one can hug us tighter. No one can understand us better.” Bowles and Rutherford thanked students’ families and mothers with, “Your babies are now blooming into beautiful young adults, and we owe it all to you.” Graduates left their places on the stage and traveled into the stands, presenting flowers to their families in a moment that would leave few dry eyes in the crowd.

Speakers Ashley Rudd and Zonah Headley would continue down a sentimental path, speaking about the years and events shared as the Class of 2022 grew up together in the small town and classrooms of Biggs.

Katelyn Ryan, Biggs Salutatorian, would speak to her classmates and crowd, followed by Valedictorian Cody Roles.

“Today we become Biggs High School graduates,” said Roles. “We are here tonight to celebrate our achievements, and victories, both individually and collectively, that will forever become our high school memories.”

He spoke about how approaching adversities with an attitude of gratitude can influence well-being and success. Roles would say, “A notable quote reads ‘when life throws stones at you, collect them and build an empire’. Over the past four years we all have experienced the rough side of stones being thrown at us, specifically over the 2+ years navigating throughout the horrific pandemic challenges.” He continued, “You see, we do not get to decide what stones life will throw at us, or when, only what we will choose to do with them once they are thrown at us.”

When the time came for students to receive their diplomas, each was given the spotlight and their future plans were shared with the audience. Early celebrations began at this point, as students and the crowd shot off confetti, and even fireworks, as the graduates walked across the stage.

Superintendent, Doug Kaelin would end the ceremony with the declaration of completion and congratulate the Biggs High School Class of 2022. Graduates would wrap proceedings up with the rock song “Today” by The Smashing Pumpkins and gather with friends and family to celebrate their accomplishment. ★

Congratulations to the Class of 2022!

California Expands Infant Formula Options for WIC Families

CDPH Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - To further support California families while supplies of infant formula remain limited, the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) is adding a new flexibility by expanding purchasing options for the WIC (Women, Infants and Children) program. Effective immediately, families with WIC benefits have eight additional formulas, and a total of 13 options, they can purchase for their infants.

WIC families can find the latest updates at MyFamily.WIC.ca.gov or the California WIC App and should contact their local WIC office with questions on how these options work for infants. General information on the infant formula shortage is available at cdph.ca.gov/formula.

“We are quickly doing what we can to provide our WIC families with as many infant formula options as possible during this challenging time,” said CDPH Director and State Public Health Officer Dr. Tomás J. Aragón. “In the coming days we will also add more formulas to this list.”

The state’s action temporarily expands the existing (WIC) authorized product list to include additional infant formula options. These newer options will be removed once infant formulas are widely available again.

Safety Information for Families in Need of Formula

Many California families are feeling the effects of the formula shortage. Safe formula preparation is vital to ensure infant safety.

Non-WIC parents and caregivers who face a shortage should call their health care providers first to help them navigate infant formula options when supplies are scarce.

Parents and caregivers are advised to NOT dilute formula or use homemade recipes for substitution as this can seriously harm a baby’s health.

Babies usually tolerate alternative formula products except in the case of special therapeutic formula, and that’s why it’s important to consult with your healthcare provider first to get help or to discuss alternatives.

Visit cdph.ca.gov/formula for more information. ★

Caltrans to Hire 4,000 Workers in Underserved Communities

Caltrans News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Through an expanded partnership between Caltrans and the Butte County Office of Education (BCOE) Back 2 Work Program, thousands of underserved and often-marginalized Californians are finding paths to gainful employment and a fresh start thanks to Governor Gavin Newsom’s Clean California initiative, a sweeping $1.1 billion, multiyear clean-up effort led by Caltrans to remove trash, create thousands of jobs and engage communities to transform public spaces.

Through BCOE’s Back 2 Work Program, participants who have experienced homelessness, re-entered society after incarceration, or encountered barriers to finding employment learn life and job skills and receive temporary paid employment, job placement assistance and social services in counties throughout California.

“The Back 2 Work program has truly impacted my life by allowing me not only to have a career and a second chance – at life and work – but also in introducing me to some great people,” said Caltrans Maintenance Worker Robert Kelso, who found a job with the Back 2 Work Program soon after his release from incarceration. “If you have ambition, initiative and drive, the Back 2 Work Program can change your life like it has mine.”

Caltrans has partnered with BCOE since 2013 to offer skills training, employment opportunities and social services, assisting nearly 10,000 people to overcome poverty and improve their lives.

BCOE’s Back 2 Work crews support Caltrans in collecting and disposing of litter and debris along the state highway system. Building on the success of this partnership, Caltrans significantly expanded the program in 2021, signing a $127 million contract with BCOE – funded by Clean California – to hire 82 additional Back 2 Work crews statewide. Each crew has an estimated 50 participants annually, providing more than 4,000 people with the opportunity to reintegrate back into the workforce. Additional Clean California job postings are available on CalCareers.

“Back 2 Work provides people in need with the necessary tools and opportunity to succeed in life,” shared Keith Lane, Senior Director of the BCOE Back 2 Work Program. “For those served, being successful can mean so much – reuniting families, breaking systemic cycles, going back to school, and providing for themselves in a way they couldn’t before. We are incredibly thankful for the partnership between Back 2 Work and Caltrans, which will benefit every person throughout California in some way.”

Litter removal by BCOE’s Back 2 Work crews allow Caltrans maintenance crews to concentrate on public safety, maintenance and other critical efforts that keep people and goods moving safely along California’s transportation network.

“Clean California is benefiting communities throughout the state – removing litter and beautifying public spaces – and its transformational impact extends beyond our roadsides,” said Caltrans Acting Director Steven Keck. “The Back 2 Work Program is helping thousands of Californians overcome poverty, learn important skills and rebuild their lives.”

“People need to know that there is hope for all of us. If you are willing to dig deep, try hard and be positive, there are people willing to help you come out of wherever you are,” said Rudy Contreras, Caltrans maintenance supervisor and former Back 2 Work participant. “I went from being homeless as child to foster care and now I am a foster parent. The Caltrans and BCOE partnership saved my life.”

Since launching Clean California in July, Caltrans has removed nearly 650,000 cubic yards of litter from state highways – the equivalent of more than 10,800 tons or enough to fill 197 Olympic-size swimming pools – and hired 708 new team members as part of Clean California, including 546 maintenance workers who collect litter and remove graffiti.

The magic of early morning light is to be praised. As the sun glows in the East you can see things that don't show up in full sunlight. The morning sky is soft this time of year, as if to say, "I know I will be harsh and hot today but for now I'm gifting the earth with mellow kindness." This is the time to do snail spotting by shiny slime trails. This is the time tiny mushrooms show up in the grass. One is white and about a 1/2" in diameter with a pronounced downward cap. Once the hot sun comes, they are gone. Another mushroom is a grey color, almost translucent and very delicate looking. These are also about 1/2" in diameter but the cap flares up and outward. I always tread lightly around these little treasures in the grass. They will be gone soon enough so I don't want to destroy this delightful precious life. Besides there might be fairies living there.

The grape is full of clusters waiting to get big. They will require water that might become scarce. We will all see if the Gridley City water is restricted this time around or not. I'm prepared for water saving. I don't really stop saving water. The one thing I let slide is collecting the sink water while the water heater is getting hot. I'll start this practice again so my potted plants can drink and not suffer. The onions are pulled and it is a good onion year. The blueberries are stopping due to hot days. Remember many plants simply stop growing when it goes into the 90s and up. If you have microclimates that are a bit cooler the plants in those areas will still perform well. Let your plants be your guide and watch where the shade lies. ★

What Do You Want To Do?

Dear Dave,
My husband and I are in our mid-twenties, and we are expecting our first baby this year. We are also debt-free, except for our mortgage, and we expect to have it paid off in about four years. It has always been our dream for me to stay home with our kids, and maybe even homeschool them, when the time was right. My husband makes more than enough for us to live on, so we have always put the paycheck from my human resources job toward paying off the house. What do you think, Dave? I kind of hate to give up the income, but I want to do what is best for my family.

— Ann
Dear Ann,
First, congratulations on expecting a new baby! I know it's an exciting time in your lives. It sounds like you two have been killing it financially as well. You've both worked hard to set yourselves up for a great future.

Honestly, there's no wrong answer here. Under the circumstances, the big question is what do you want to do? Of course, the final decision should be made by you and your husband together, but you're doing the smart thing by analyzing the trade-off. By that, I mean comparing the ideas of continuing to bring extra cash to the household or being at home with your baby.

If you love your job and want to continue those duties full-time, it doesn't make you a bad mom. It just makes you a working mom. But if you're in a season of life where you don't need a career income or workplace identity to be fulfilled, or if you just want to be home with your child, that's a really cool thing, too. And hey, if you like your job, there's no reason you couldn't perform some HR functions from home on a contract basis, like 20 to 25 hours a week while the little one's napping, with minimal strain on motherhood.

Even if you quit today and it takes a couple more years for you guys to pay off your house, so what? It's still not a bad choice. The bad thing is, lots of ladies end up with mom-guilt no matter what they do. They feel guilty if they're not staying home with the little one, and they feel guilty if they aren't generating an income. Society wants you to be everything, and when you choose to be one or the other, it doesn't know what to do with you — and lots of times becomes really judgey.

You're blessed to be in a unique financial situation, Ann. So, do what you and your husband feel in your hearts is best for you and your family. Sit down together and talk about it, then make a plan and don't worry about what the world thinks. God bless you guys!
— Dave

The Feds Response

With inflation and the Feds response to it being the most widely accepted cause of our stock market ills, the question becomes what has caused the inflationary fires to ignite?

Inflation rates, although consistently increasing year over year for decades, have remained within the Feds 2% target rate for most of that time.

In the last year or so however, rates have been spiking. Figures vary on the exact rate of inflation, but we can comfortably say the inflation rate is, well, very uncomfortable.

When looking for reasons, many argue we go no further than 2051 Constitution Ave. in Washington, D.C., the address of the central bank of the United States, the Federal Reserve.

Among its many functions, it is the entity that controls our currency, the U.S. dollar.

The Feds, working in conjunction with Washington policy makers (but reportedly not beholden to them), decide when and by how much to reduce or increase the supply of money in our economy. This increase or decrease in the money supply acts to throttle up or throttle down the flow of currency in the system. The rate of flow, which can be thought of how fast money circulates between all of us, is called "money velocity".

Couple higher money velocity with an increase in the amount of money created by Fed, the higher inflation will go.

In 2008/09, the Feds created trillions in new money, but much of that money went directly into the banking system instead of to the consumer. It is the reason we saw little inflation in the years that followed.

For CoVid-19 relief however, another plethora of trillions was created by the Fed, but this time much of it went directly to consumers. In fact, they have increased the total supply of U.S. dollars in the system by about 41% in just two years. An unimaginable increase without precedent.

Hence the inflation we are now witnessing.

One would think the economic experts working for Washington would enlighten administration officials as to the widely accepted cause and effect that government spending has on inflation.

Whether those discussions are ongoing is unknown, but if they are, it seems the education is falling on deaf ears.

Other central banks are also apparently not listening. Quebec has announced they will give $500 stimulus checks to about 6.4 million Canadians to help offset higher prices.

Following their lead, Washington, is discussing a bill to hand out "gas money" stimulus checks to Americans living in areas where gas prices are above $4 per gallon. The proposed amount is $100 PER MONTH, at an estimated cost of 168 billion.

The Senate also passed a one trillion dollar infrastructure bill in November of last year. Although final figures are a moving target as the differing political aisles duke it out, it's a foregone conclusion more money is going to continue to gush out of Government coffers. Additional conversations around other assistant programs like food and rent assistance are also on the table. (<https://www.whitehouse.gov/american-rescue-plan/>)

One would think spending even more money on assistance checks to address consumer inflation which in part was caused by previous government spending might not be such a good idea. However the disconnect from both political parties on this fact seems palatable.

The question then becomes is why are the Fed and Washington deciding to spend even more money if previous spending got us here?

Won't the additional spending just drive prices even higher, making an already bad situation worse?

One answer could be a November election is looming. If history shows us anything, it shows that during election time, the economy and how people are faring is a hot topic when ballots are cast.

Since the voting constituency knows not of the cause and effect of printing money causing inflation however, politicians don't dare pull the apple cart away right when voters are deciding who stays and who goes.

Unfortunately, that probably means more free money in your mail box, and even nastier inflation to follow.

Thoughts to Ponder

by Kathy Neal

We as American Christians own dual citizenship. We are citizens of the world here in the USA. But as Christians we own citizenship in heavenly realms. We live, work, grow, and die here as fellow citizens of a great nation. We are born to it or work and achieve this citizenship.

The other citizenship is through a belief and faith in a heavenly place where we can live out eternity. Are they so different? No! We live both here daily. As a believer in God, we need to live out our heavenly citizenship as we live our earthly one. Both have responsibilities.

Honor, respect, support, leadership, love, aid for others, and justice carry an important weight in both. Our allegiance must always be to God first but living as a true citizen of the heavenly kingdom will guide our lives here and how we represent our earthly citizenship.

As "good" citizens of our world we show others how we live as heavenly citizens. Doing good builds up God's glory and His Kingdom. Then we will be able to hear God say to us as we transfer to our eternal citizenship, "Well done My good and faithful servant."

It is not always easy to be a good citizen here. We don't always agree with our leaders or other citizens. But God has put leaders in authority for special reasons. We need to seek out that reason and try to live peacefully.

God has given us commandments to follow to live on this earth and it always starts with putting Him first in our lives and others second in line. Following Jesus' example, we can live as good citizens here and show others how awesome it will be to become a citizen of God's eternal kingdom.

God doesn't designate citizens as Democrats, Independents, or Republicans. Nor are they a certain church, race, or gender. We are all God's children. We all belong. We can all become citizens of God's heavenly kingdom. We have been adopted into God's family.

Come and be with the Gridley United Methodist family as we walk with God. We meet to worship every Sunday starting at 9:30 am. We are located on the corner of Magnolia and Haskell Streets. ★

CITY OF BIGGS NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of Biggs will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, July 12, 2022, at 5:00 p.m. in the City of Biggs City Council Chambers, 3016 Sixth Street, Biggs, CA 95917, at which time and place interested persons may either attend and be heard or submit written comments prior to the conclusion of the hearing for the following project:

Housing Element Update, General Plan Amendment 22-02 (City of Biggs) – Based on State-mandates, a new Housing Element must be adopted by the City of Biggs and certified by the State Housing and Community Development Department (HCD) every eight years. The most recent Housing Element was adopted and certified in 2014 and will expire this year. The proposed Housing Element Update will cover the planning period from 2022 to 2030. The Housing Element is one of eight mandatory elements to a General Plan in California and is considered the primary policy document to guide the development, rehabilitation, and preservation of housing for all economic segments of the City's population. Informed during the past nine months by public workshops, surveys, and other outreach and analysis, a Draft Housing Element has been prepared. This Draft contains an assessment of housing needs, an assessment of fair housing issues, an inventory of resources, constraints relevant to meeting housing needs, and an eight-year program of actions the City intends to implement to meet housing needs. The project applies to all land within the city limits of Biggs.

The project is exempt from the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) pursuant to CEQA Guidelines Section 15061(b)(3) as it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility that the proposed amendment to the City of Biggs General Plan would have a significant effect on the environment.

The Draft Housing Element is available for public review at the following website: <http://www.biggs-ca.gov/City-Services/Building--Planning/2022-2030-Housing-Element-Update>. A printed copy is also available at the City of Biggs, 465 C Street and the Biggs Library, 464-A B Street.

You may attend the City Council meeting from your computer, tablet, or smartphone at: <https://us04web.zoom.us/j/76616679511>
You can also dial in using your telephone: 720-707-2699 or 253-215-8782.
Webinar ID: 766 1667 9511

Public comments on agenda items are welcomed and encouraged in advance and will be accepted until 4 p.m. on July 12, 2022 by emailing the City Clerk at cityclerk@biggs-ca.gov or via the drop box at 465 C Street. Comments will be conveyed to the Council for consideration.

If any person(s) challenges the action of the City on the above-described project in court, said person(s) may be limited to raising only those issues that were raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written comments delivered to the City of Biggs, 465 C Street, either at the public hearing or prior to the public hearing.

If you have any questions, comments, or wish to review the project file, please contact Roben Benish, City Clerk, Biggs City Hall, 465 C Street, Biggs, CA 95917, (530) 868-5493, or email comments to Planning@Biggs-ca.gov.

Dear Dietitian

Coffee

Commentary by Leanne McCrate

Dear Readers:

Many of us start our day with a hot cup of coffee. In my opinion, the best part of the day is over when the alarm clock goes off, so coffee is needed to come alive. Coffee is a good source of caffeine, which increases alertness, and antioxidants, which may help prevent several diseases.

Finland tops the world in coffee consumption, where they consume 23 pounds of the brew per person each year. In the US, 64% of adult Americans drink java, with the average coffee drinker taking in about 10 pounds of coffee every year (1).

What does your cup of java say about you? While these findings may not be strictly scientific, they are interesting and fun.

People who order black coffee are no-nonsense. They are the ones who get to a meeting five minutes early and leave promptly when it's over. There's no time to socialize. They like to keep things simple, and they work efficiently. Some of the drawbacks of their personality are that they can be abrupt and sometimes moody. Black coffee drinkers tend to be set in their ways and resist change.

Many people seek comfort in coffee by adding cream and sugar. They are often people pleasers and will go out of their way to help someone. They are giving, but they may get overextended while volunteering for too many charities. Since they often put others' needs above their own, they may need improvement in self-care.

Those who make instant coffee are said to be procrastinators and don't mind waiting until the last minute to make their brew before dashing out the door. They are laid back and take life as it comes. Sometimes they can be too laid back and neglect health issues. Instant coffee drinks are not good planners.

People who order decaffeinated coffee like to be in control and may be perfectionistic. They tend to their health needs and make good choices. On the downside, decaf drinkers tend to be worriers and can be overly sensitive.

Iced coffee drinks are popular now. Folks who order these brews are spontaneous and like to try new things. They are outgoing and consider themselves to be trendsetters. On the dark side, they may fall for gimmicks and don't always think things through before acting.

If you haven't tried a flavored coffee, I suggest doing so. There are many flavors on the market, including hazelnut, pumpkin spice, and salted caramel. Flavored coffee drinkers are risk-takers. They like variety and aren't afraid of change. Some less favorable characteristics of this group include impulsivity and being highly sensitive (2).

Now that you know what your coffee says about you see if you can mix it up next time and dare to be different.

Be safe and healthy!
Dear Dietitian

CAL FIRE/ Gridley Fire Department would like to remind everyone of the importance of avoiding heat related injuries (heat stress, heat exhaustion and heat stroke) and maintaining proper hydration during the hot summer months. Heat illness prevention starts with avoiding excess exposure to hot temperatures. Complete outdoor tasks in the cooler morning hours and stay indoors during the afternoon heat. Keep in mind health and fitness influences as well as exogenous factors (medications, drugs, alcohol, etc.) can contribute to heat illness. Proper hydration is achieved by drinking water throughout the day and limiting caffeinated energy drinks and soda which dehydrate the body.
