GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - In a salute to the lives of those who fought and survived the attack on Pearl Harbor, and those who did not, local artist Aaron Burks has dedicated nearly four years of his life to capturing their images forever on canvas.

Burks started "Sleeping Giants: Pearl Harbor Survivors Then and

Now" in 2018. He estimates that he has traveled nearly 16, 173 miles across country to meet with surviving Pearl Harbor veterans. A majority of his travel expenses were paid out of pocket, but he has received a grant from the California Arts Council and the Yuba Sutter Arts Council to aid with the project.

To date, he has met with 42 Veterans, which he interviews and then takes a series of photographs of them that he uses for reference in studio. Burks has completed 50 drawings, one depicting his subject as they were in their youth and a contemporary drawing as they are now. They are black and white charcoal studies for the final portraits of the veterans, which will be in color on canvas. Burks says that the paintings

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - The Gridley City Council considered four items at its last regularly scheduled meeting.

First, council heard from Danny Howard, Gridley's Electric Utilities Director, regarding the Gridley Electric Utility Security Plan. This was a procedural item brought yearly before council for approval of any updates or changes in the security plan. Howard informed council that there were no changes to the plan from the previous year. In 2021 the Electric Utilities Substation had a monitoring system installed and worked with engineers to make sure that all information was secure in regard to cybersecurity. Howard told council that this plan is to ensure the safety of the city's facility, maintenance programs, and department operations. The motion passed 4-0 (ayes: Mayor Johnson, Vice Mayor Farr, Councilmembers Calderon and Sanchez. Councilmember Torres not present)

Second, Council member Catalina Sanchez brought forth a proposal for a smoke free outdoor parks ordinance. Recently youth leaders from the group Si Se Puede addressed the council on the dangers of smoking and vaping, especially in youth. This item was a continuation of that conversation. Councilmember Sanchez requested City Council to direct city staff to develop a smoke free outdoor parks ordinance, something that is currently not addressed by Gridley's Municipal Code. Council voted 4-0 to proceed with drafting an outdoor smoking ordinance for Gridley's public parks. (ayes: Mayor Johnson, Vice Mayor Farr, Councilmembers Calderon and Sanchez. Councilmember Torres not present).

Next, was the first reading of Ordinance 837-2022, the addition of chapter 8.05 to Title 8 of the Gridley Municipal Code relating to solid waste and organic waste disposal reduction in the effort to conform to SB 1383, put in place by California to reduce organic solid waste. The City of Gridley is currently under the 5-year waiver, giving the city 5 years to come into compliance with the new bill.

61 Years of Fun

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Red Suspenders Day festivities got off to a start Friday, as Gridley Fire (CALFIRE/Butte County) helped round up a few arrest warrants.

Unjustice Court returned for yet another year, with locals turning in arrest requests as a fundraiser for the Gridley Area Chamber of Commerce. Fake arrest warrants were served throughout town, those arrested in fun spending time behind bars with Gridley's Police Chief, Rodney Harr, acting as Judge and Chamber President, Lynne Spencer as Bail Bondsman. The jail was set up in the shade of Rotary Park and those arrested had to make bail before they would be released. Their harsh time in the pen included lunch was held before the game, volunteer Fireman Kyle Duran winning with 5 out of 5 homers! CALFIRE South Butte County would put the game away, 26-21 over North Butte County.

Later Friday night, CALFIRE North Butte

County took on CALFIRE South Butte County at Manuel Vierra Park in

Saturday, festivities got started with the Little League Pancake Breakfast. Little League Teams and members of the community flocked to Railroad Park in Downtown Gridley to support the LL fundraiser. Many thanks to the Masons and Knights of Columbus that cooked and donated to the event.

The day moved quickly onward from there. The Bed Races this year were a blast – The eager teams made the tournament bracket obsolete, excitedly lining up for challenge upon challenge so quickly that winners of each heat couldn't be accurately kept track of. In the end, everyone was a winner.

Speaking of winners, this year's 1st and 2nd place float entries in the Red Suspenders Day Parade were the school bands – marching in uniform for the first time in a very long time! Gridley High School Band took first place, Sycamore School Band took 2nd, and Pre-school Apples to Zebra's float placed third.

The parade was led by Beale Airforce Base Honor Guard, followed by our local Veterans Honor Guard, compiled of members of both Gridley American Legion Post 210 (AL) and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5731 (VFW). The AL and VFW also had the distinction of being this year's parade Grand Marshall.

Another special distinction was made during the parade when "Fireman of the Year" was presented to CALFIRE/ Butte County-Gridley Fire Department's Zach Downing. Chamber president Spencer presented a plaque to Downing at the judge's station, while he was behind the wheel of engine 74.

With the parade wrapped, guests milled around through the multiple vendor booths until the fireman games started at 1:00. Wild spray from the firehoses splashed delighted onlookers as the firemen teams attempted to push a metal barrel across a mid-line—much like a game of tug-of-war. Afterwards, the ladder of Ladder Truck 274 was extended, and the hose turned on for the children to play in the spray.

The 61st Annual Red Suspenders Day went down in history as a much-loved community event. ★ will be the hardest and most time-consuming part of this project.

In 2019 he took his first trip to Pearl Harbor on Pearl Harbor Day and has visited again in 2021. "I've formed these personal friendships," he says of those vets he has had a chance to interview and work with. He felt it appropriate to visit the historical site where they battled during WWII and would like to make it a yearly trek. "Even when they're gone, I still want to be able to honor them and remember them, so I am hoping to continue that tradition."

Of those Pearl Harbor veterans, he has been able to meet with, he says that more than half have passed on. Some he literally just misses, often making or receiving a call that shares the bad news. At this point, Burks does not intend to search out any others, but will continue his project if any other Pearl veterans reach out.

Meanwhile, Burks is hoping to finish the project, paintings and all, by December of this year. When asked why this project is so important to the artist and veteran himself, he says, "I am trying to bring their young character back to life. I want people to look at both these paintings of each individual and recognize them now as an elderly person, but then look and say, 'Wow, they were actually young once'—bring their experiences as teenagers (in the service) rolling back to life. That's the whole point of the project." ★

Gridley Veterans Memorial Hall

By Barbara Ott

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - At a recent meeting of the Gridley Rotary Club the subject of the Gridley Veteran's Memorial building came up for discussion while guest speaker and Butte County District Four County Supervisor, Tod Kimmelshue, had the podium.

The Gridley Veteran's Memorial Hall is a 10,000 square foot building on Sycamore St, which has been there since the late 1940s. It is owned by Butte County which is responsible to maintain the site. The local VFW has been in charge of renting the building as a venue for events. The VFW met regularly there and were in charge of the events that took place.

In the past this building served as an important gathering place for the residents of Gridley. Many families remember the wedding receptions and other family gathering that took place in the main hall with a dance floor and stage. Community Concerts happened on Veteran's Day. Many people are asking, "What is happening with the Gridley Veteran's Memorial Hall?"

At the Rotary meeting County Supervisor Tod Kimmelshue stated that, "In last year's budget [county] there was appropriated $700,00.00 to redo the roof on the Memorial building here in Gridley...it is a two-year budget and government runs very slowly." Tod's, assistant Robin Cook is working on the application process. This will help get an engineer up onto the roof to examine the damage. Then a design developed to fix it. Once that is done the project goes out to bid so the work can get started. Kimmelshue thinks this selection of a contractor will get done by the summer of 2023. ★

Security, Smoking, Organic Waste and Signs

Discussions on how to implement this in a residential and business setting, what book-keeping procedures would be needed, and how to work with partners to come into compliance were had between Council, City Administrator, Cliff Wagner, representatives from CAL Recycle and Waste Management. This item was not up for vote but required the first reading of the ordinance before the item returns on the June 6th agenda for adoption.

Wrapping up the agenda was a discussion item brought forth by Mayor Bruce Johnson regarding the City of Gridley's policy on pole versus monument signs. Johnson questioned the reasoning behind the current ordinance's exclusion of pole signs within the City of Gridley. A motion was made to direct staff to bring forth the current ordinance regarding pole/monument signage for review by City Council at a future meeting. The motion passed 4-0 (ayes: Mayor Johnson, Vice Mayor Farr, Councilmembers Calderon and Sanchez. Councilmember Torres not present). ★

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Gridley High School was host to a Flavored Tobacco Town Hall Meeting, presented by the youth group Si Se Puede in partnership with the California Health Collaborative, Butte County Office of Education, Butte County Health Department and other collaborating agencies.

The evening featured a very detailed presentation by the group Si Se Puede, Spanish for "yes we can", comprised of youth leaders from Gridley High School whose mission it has become to educate their peers, parents and the community on the dangers of flavored tobacco products.

The presentation centered around teen vaping and the elevated quantities of nicotine introduced into a person's system when vaping in comparison to use traditional cigarettes or tobacco products. Also discussed was the alleged targeting of youth and minority groups by big tobacco companies through the use of candy or culturally based flavored products that entice youth and others to start vaping.

Each member of the Si Se Puede team spoke to the group, referencing a very informative slide presentation, after which a brief intermission was held.

The group returned to present a list of questions to a professional panel made of the following: Esther Craig - California Health Collaborative and Si Se Puede Program Coordinator, Rikki-Lee Buresch - Gridley High School Principal, Jennifer Swannstrom - Butte County Public Health and Public Health Specialist, Monique Osborne - Butte County Office of Education and Prevention Coordinator, Shelly Brantley - RISE and Director of the Statewide Rural Coordinating Center, and Lisa Beletsis - Orchard Hospital Nurse Practitioner.

Each of the professional on the panel took the time to address questions from the youth leaders of Si Se Puede and audience, speaking on a range of topics such as what warning signs to look for if someone you know is addicted to vaping, the associated health risks of vaping, and school resources available here in Gridley for students looking to quit or for parents to access.

For more information on the dangers of flavored tobacco, contact Si Se Puede Program Coordinator Esther Craig at ecraig@healthcollaborative.org. For information on local school resources on how to quit or additional support, reach out to your schools administration. ★

Museum to Honor Veterans

Story and photos by Brenna Bontrager

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - The Museum of the Forgotten Warriors in Marysville will be holding its annual Memorial Day flag raising this Monday, May 30.

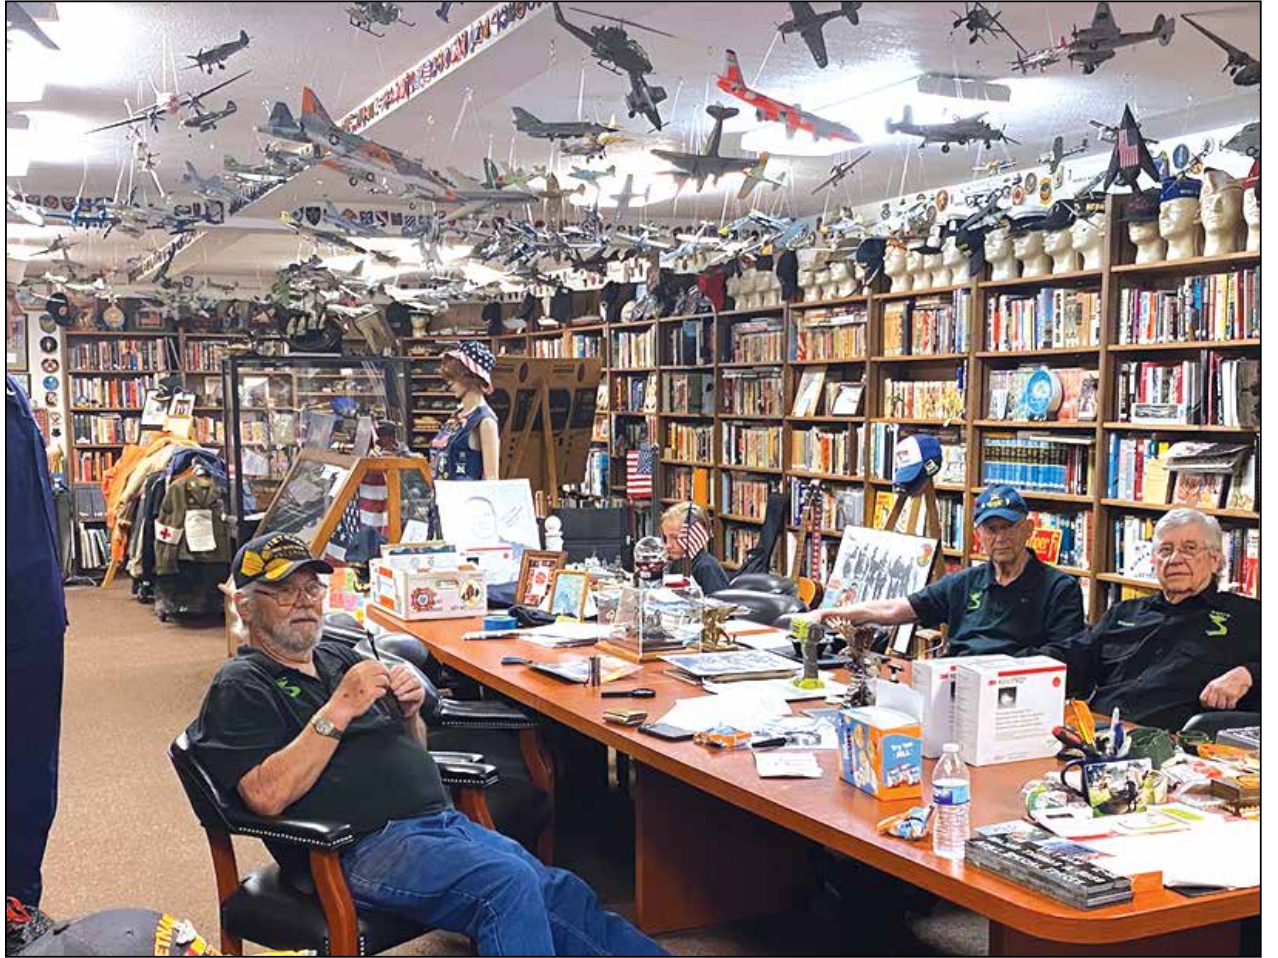

The museum will be open between the hours of 9 A.M. and 2 P.M. 250 United States and military branch flags will circle the property and Taps will be played at 10 A.M. This will most likely attract visitors who are attending multiple other memorial events in the area.

Memorial Day and Veterans Day are the two most important days of the year for the non-profit that is dedicated to the memory of all who have served. Other than these dates, the museum is open every Saturday and by appointment. The tanks, helicopters and planes that are shown outside have made this a popular destination for school groups.

The Museum of the Forgotten Warriors was founded by Dann Spear in 1985. Located not far from Beale Air Force Base, the museum showcases war memorabilia from conflicts as old as the Civil War and as recent as the war in Iraq and Afghanistan. Many of the items are donated by citizens, and at times, family members of those who had been killed in battle. There are special sections dedicated to local military members and a display case honoring Hmong veterans.

The museum's website states that they want to have "... a celebration of the efforts and sacrifices of Dan Schrader (seated) and several of the museum's dedicated volunteers.

The civil war uniforms are among the many examples of military clothing housed in the museum.

veterans rather than a glorification of war." It is now run by Don Schrader who calls the museum "the best kept secret in the Yuba-Sutter area."

The non-profit is run by a group of dedicated volunteers, most of whom are veterans themselves.

"This is where I just open up and cry. This is my therapy," said volunteer and Vietnam vet Anthony Pinto.

The organization also has close ties to other community groups such as the Northern Recon group and the Tri-County Blue Star Moms. The museum promises to be the perfect place for you to honor those who have served this Memorial Day. ★

Veteran Anthony Pinto served in the United States Army and now gives museum tours.

The New Pi-Line

By Josh F.W. Cook

Now the highly anticipated Red Suspenders Day Pi Line Winners and Losers recap. Winner - the Sycamore Junior High School Marching band. They were fantastic and amazing, and I found it hard to believe they were not given first place. So I am giving them the Pi Line "Best of Parade" award. Congratulations, make sure to add this highly prestigious honor to your scholarship applications. Winner - Gridley Herald Publisher Paul Scholl, who sat in the Historic Gridley Herald booth and met any citizen interested in talking to him. The paper which he brought back from the dead was 12 pages long last edition, which is an incredible accomplishment considering the paper once got close to only being four pages. Paul is a superb professional Newspaperman; indeed, he's becoming a legend as his small group of newspapers will soon surpass the Sacramento Bee in circulation. Winner - Enloe

Medical Center and the Enloe Life Flight Helicopter, which flew over the parade route and did some really cool figure 8 fly arounds. Winner - Biggs City Councilman Brian Basset for being the pithy and well-spoken Parade Master of Ceremonies. Winner - everyone who attended and enjoyed perfect - not too hot weather. Winner - Dax Kimmelshue for again driving the backup tractor for his brother, the politician. The antique tractors are always a big hit with the crowd, and the Kimmelshue brothers, along with the Quist family, have restored some fantastic machinery. Losers - volunteer firefighters, which Red Suspenders Day started - as a fundraiser for the local volunteer fire departments. One-third of the 28,000 firefighters in California are volunteers. Nationwide, the number of volunteer firefighters has fallen by 10 percent over the past three decades, while the number of emergency calls for them has tripled. Under state law, volunteer firefighters have to undergo the same certification training as paid firefighters; volunteers have an ever-growing list of qualifications to satisfy. The volunteer pool is aging out quickly, and like the Moose, the Elks, the Masons, and other social and service organizations, the next generation is not stepping in to fill the spots.

Memorial Day Services will be held at the Gridley-Biggs Cemetery starting at 10:00 a.m. U.S. Navy Veteran Ron Scheyer will be leading the project. It is interesting how veterans often lead the services for Memorial Day, standing up for their brothers and sisters who lost their lives in service. Taking the time to gather with other veterans and remember those who died protecting our freedoms is cathartic for the living and those struggling with their experiences in combat and/or the military's bureaucracy. Looking at what has happened in the last six months in Ukraine, this Memorial Day should bear some added significance and awareness of what other countries would do to us if we did not maintain a vigilant defensive stance. The war crimes (which have been sadly well documented) should stand as a stark reminder that we have enjoyed a long, long streak of peace in America, paid for by those who have died in our foreign wars and the many civilians who have supported them. God Bless the memories of those who gave their all for our American way of life, our Constitution, and the principles of freedom and democracy.

American Legion Invites you to Dinner

By Seti Long

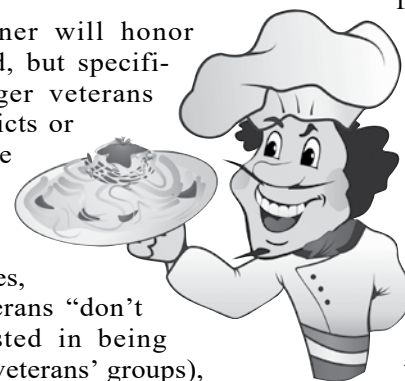

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Gridley's American Legion Post 210 is organizing a special Global War on Terrorism (GWOT) Spaghetti Dinner.

The GWOT Dinner will honor all that have served, but specifically targets younger veterans that served in conflicts or missions during the War on Terrorism. Commander of the American Legion Post 210, Owen Stiles, says that those veterans "don't seem to be interested in being involved in things (veterans' groups), but they're needing the same fellowship and camaraderie" that has been a crucial to his and other veterans' mental well-being.

He goes on to share that groups like

American Legion offer many forms of support for veterans, whether it be representation at a higher level of government for veterans' resources across the nation, financial/medical help, or for emotional and psychological support.

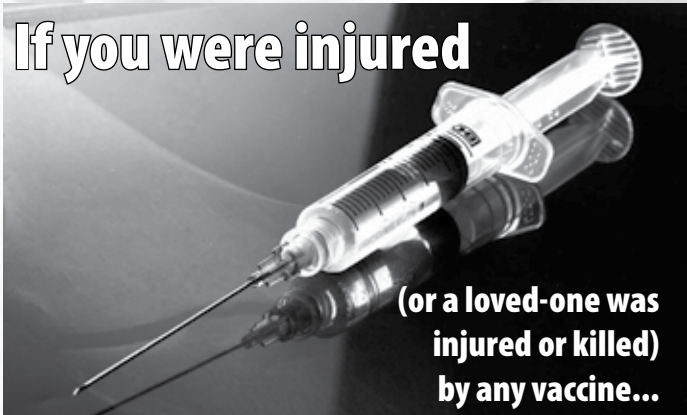

The Global War on Terrorism (GWOT) Spaghetti Dinner will be held on June 11th at the Biggs Hall located at 280 B Street, Biggs. Adult tickets are just $10, Kids 5+ are $5, and children under 5 eat free when dining at the Biggs Hall. To go orders are available, but children under 5 years of age do not eat free when ordering to-go. For tickets, contact your local American Legion member or call Owen Stiles at (530) 846-3251. ★

Gridley Thumbs and Roots

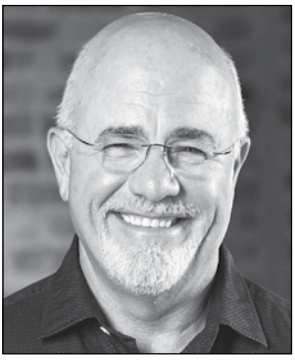

By Barbara Ott

Time to get the yards ready for summer heat. Due to the drought, we already have a drip system timer going for watering and it is doing well. I'm doing weekly deep watering of the Japanese Maples that are in the front yard which is afternoon west facing. I've set up the umbrella that shades the turtle pond and set up the aeration system. I don't filter this pond but the water plants that I use for filtering aren't quite ready yet. These are water Hyacinths, which are an invasive water plant but they are OK in small ponds that don't attract water birds or drain into local waterways. These plants do a great job of keeping the water clear. The problem I have is when they the plants are small the turtle eats them all and then I don't have them for shade and filtering later. So, the plants live in a tub until they get big enough to survive the turtle assault. I knew it was time to get the air into the water because the goldfish were laying low and the water was full of algae. Some of the algae will still exist but it will clear out with the air, the plants and more shade. Once my air pump was set up and bubbles happening the goldfish instantly swam into the bubbles. With the hot days and no plants, they needed more air. The next step in getting the pond ready for the heat is to clean some of gunk out. I keep some gunk on the bottom at all times. The turtle brumates (very slow metabolism, doing what some call butt breathing once in a while) in the gunk during the cold of winter. Too much gunk in the summer is not good for the oxygen levels for the turtle and the fish. Enjoy whatever the heat brings. ★

Sell the Cars, Keep Your Dignity

Dear Dave,

My wife and I are in our late twenties, and we have two kids. Our combined income is about $110,000 a year, but we have $70,000 in loans on two cars, plus about $15,000 in credit card debt. My in-laws have offered to let us move in with them to save money and make things easier while we pay down debt. Do you think this is a good idea?

— Adam

Dear Adam,

In my mind there are only two scenarios where you should even consider taking the in-laws up on their offer. One, is where they're absolutely wonderful folks and you both have great, healthy relationships with them. By this, I mean there's a mutual sense of love, respect and everyone knows their boundaries. Even if this is the case, I'd still only consider it for an agreed-upon and very small amount of time.

The second scenario is if taking them up on their offer is the only way you two can accomplish your financial goals. That's not the case here.

You and your wife can get rid of most of your debt, and take a big step toward gaining control of your income, if you'll do one thing — get rid of those stupid cars! That's an insane amount of money wrapped up in cars for you two. If you had a couple of decent, paid-for used cars your lives would be so much different. You'd be in a situation where you could even start putting a little money aside while you paid off the credit card debt. Then, once the credit card debt is gone, you'd have some cash freed up to find better cars.

If I were in your situation, I wouldn't move in with the in-laws. I'm sure they're great people, but I'd keep my dignity and sell the cars, start living on a budget and pay off debt as fast as possible!

— Dave

"Before we begin our regular commencement tonight," said combined elementary/high school principal Jim Albertson, "we have a special award to present. Will Windy Wilson please come up here on the stage with us?"

Windy looked up at the stage in the gymnasium and all he saw were black choir robes and smiles. He looked at his fellow spectators and all he saw were grins and people sitting down.

"Windy?" said Jim. Windy walked up to the stage and shook hands with the principal. "Put this on."

There's Nothing Very Ordinary About Windy Wilson

Windy draped a black robe around himself and put the mortarboard on his head.

Albertson pulled a piece of paper from his shirt pocket.

"Alphonse Wilson, it is the judgment of your community and friends that no one has ever worked harder for an honorary doctor's degree. Am I right on that?"

The young graduates clapped and hooted, and so did the audience. Windy looked at the floor and blushed right through his grey beard.

"We can't give you an honorary doctorate here because we don't have one. But your neighbors discovered that you only lacked one class to graduate from high school, and we can do something about that."

"Alphonse Wilson ... known to all as Windy ... this school ... these young graduates ... and all your friends and neighbors are proud to bestow upon you an honorary high school diploma."

Jim placed a ribbon with a medal hanging from it around Windy's neck and handed him a rolled-up certificate.

Not too many aging cowboy camp cooks and philosophers receive standing ovations, but then, there's nothing very ordinary about Windy Wilson and we all know that.

Market Carnage

The S&P reached official bear market territory last week, albeit closing just above the down 20% benchmark of a bear on Friday. Records are being set in many securities as the ongoing market carnage continues. The Dow is on track to have its longer losing streak in over a century.

The major stock indexes continue to erode, the key word here being "erode" in lieu of an all-out fast crash.

Erode means a continuing disintegration over time. As painful as that is for investors, the next event could be even more so.

As mentioned before in Money Matters, historically, when markets experience a continuing erosion over a prolonged period of time, a capitulation event may need to occur before the fall in stocks comes to an end.

Capitulation is a throw-your-hands-up, toss-out-the-baby kind of sell-off which signals investors as a whole have reached a breaking point where they just sell, regardless of any rhyme or reason.

In light of the brutal daily declines we have seen in the Dow in the last few months which have included more than a 1,000 point drop on May 5th, a capitulation event could be in the order of a several thousand point drop in the Dow if and when it occurs.

Keep in mind no one can forecast market direction at any time and markets may not necessarily repeat past movements. It is concerning however that an event such as a sell-off of that magnitude is possible.

Prudent money managers and option traders utilize stop loss strategies to limit losses and it is in my opinion that retail mom and pop investors should emulate such methodologies. This is done by lightening up on holdings along the path of a sell off event. In speaking with many investors of late however, many are just painfully sitting on holdings and hoping things get better.

It is true over time, the market has recovered from every set back, although some setbacks hurt balances so bad, it took a long time to recover losses.

No doubt, selling some stocks on the way down raises cash so when the bottom does materialize, there is dry powder to buy stocks at much lower levels. The more severe the crash, the better the prices on stocks will be at the bottom and the higher the yields on dividend paying stocks will go.

Selling also gives the investor at least some peace of mind that something proactive is taking place. Buying stocks at lower prices with raised cash from previous sales also helps recover losses quicker than just riding out the crash fully invested.

Those with cash from selling during the plunge might look back years later and think "thank heaven I had some cash and picked up some great buys in the midst of the carnage".

Having a plan goes a long way in helping calm nerves during time of market duress. It also can be prudent money management and installs some loss-control machinery and provides a blueprint for how to maneuver during crashes before the event occurs.

Concluding, the time to have a plan is before the markets correct. Calmer heads will then prevail during times of market upset knowing a plan is in place. Like a fire evacuation plan, the time to formulate such plans are not in the midst of crisis.

Dear Dietitian

Boredom

Commentary by Leanne McCrate

Dear Dietitian,

I have recently lost twenty pounds, and I've been exercising to keep the weight off. My problem is I sometimes eat at night out of boredom. I know I need to break this bad habit, but I keep doing it over and over again. Help!!

Thank you, Julie

Dear Julie,

Eating out of boredom can lead to unnecessary calories and, of course, eventual weight gain. The goal is to be healthy, and if our bodies are well-nourished, we will be less tempted to eat when we are not hungry. The best defense is a good offense, so know what works for you. Some people eat three meals a day with nothing in between; others plan snacks throughout the day.

Plan meals ahead of time and take time to make a thorough grocery list. A nutritious diet includes lean proteins, lots of fruits and vegetables, mostly unsaturated fats instead of saturated, and whole grains. Plan meals 4-5 hours apart.

If healthy snacks are a part of your routine, take them with you when you leave the house. A nutritious snack includes carbohydrate and protein. For example, try an apple with one tablespoon of peanut butter, a Greek yogurt, a piece of fresh fruit with one ounce of cheese, or half a sandwich. You may even plan an evening snack if that is when you have trouble. A Greek yogurt is satisfying, and the protein helps you feel full. Try to avoid junk food and foods high in sugar.

Pay attention to your body, and know the physical signs of hunger. It is important to tend to your body's signals. That's why Mother Nature gave them to us. If you ignore hunger signals, your brain will send them less frequently, disrupting your body's rhythm. This may result in over-eating because you're not in tune with the signal that tells you when you are full.

Eat when you are hungry. First, a hunger pang will strike when blood sugar levels drop. Is it time for a snack? If we continue without eating, our stomachs will "growl." This is the sound of air moving around in the stomach and intestines. The "growling" sound is louder when you are hungry because there is no food in the stomach to muffle the roar. It's time to eat.

If you have followed these suggestions and still hear the cupboards calling when you are bored, try the following distractions:

- Clean out a closet and give clothes away if you are not using them. You're helping somebody, so feel good about it.
- Read a good book.
- Contact an old friend.
- Shop online, but don't buy anything. I love to look at purses and shoes online, but I avoid impulse purchases (most of the time).
- Play a video game.
- Drink water.
- Balance your checkbook.

Finally, ask yourself if you have a food compulsion. This is when there is a strong urge to eat a particular food, and you may not be able to stop eating it after you start. If this is the case, you may be better off avoiding that food entirely. After all, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

*Good health to you!

Thoughts to Ponder

by Kathy Neal

P.U.S.H. – Pray Until Something Happens. Why? Connecting to God and His Son starts with communication – prayer. Some of us go to a quiet place for this time. Others talk to God all the time as if He were right next to us. When we pray we open portals between heaven and earth that results in movement by our Almighty Creator.

What do we say when we pray? Jesus warned about using lots of words and flowery verse in front of a group. God knows what is in our hearts and stands ready to listen to our petitions. Paul told us to ask with thanksgiving and praise

Then there are times when pain and crushed hearts leave us wordless as we approach God's Throne. What then? It is at this time that the third person of the trinity comes to the broken, the Holy Spirit lifts up words for our groans and praise for our broken heartedness.

Why do we need to pray in the first place? If God is all knowing, all seeing, and all present doesn't He already know what we need to say? It is because God loves us and wants to hear from us and give us answers. He has always wanted to walk and talk with us; but we blew that when our ancestors disobeyed and broke the rules of living along side God. But He still wants to hear from us, talk to us and point us in the right direction.

Prayer causes things to happen when lifted up to the holy realms. Sometimes the answer is Yes! He'll do that. Sometimes the answer is No! He'll not offer that. Sometimes the answer is even Maybe! Please wait. It is not the time yet. However, He still wants us to ask to, to seek, and petition Him for things in life.

Please don't wait until situations get so bad that you go to God as a last resort. Pray before you begin something, pray as you step out in faith to do work, and pray with thanksgiving and praise when you have completed your task.

Pray then listen. God will answer and give us signs and nudges for forward movement. P.U.S.H.

Come worship with the Gridley United Methodist as we lift our voices in prayer to God. We are located at 285 Magnolia Street. The rest of May we meet at 10 am. Starting the first Sunday in June we will meet at 9:30 am for the rest of the summer. ★

SPARKY'S CORNER

Medical Oxygen Safety

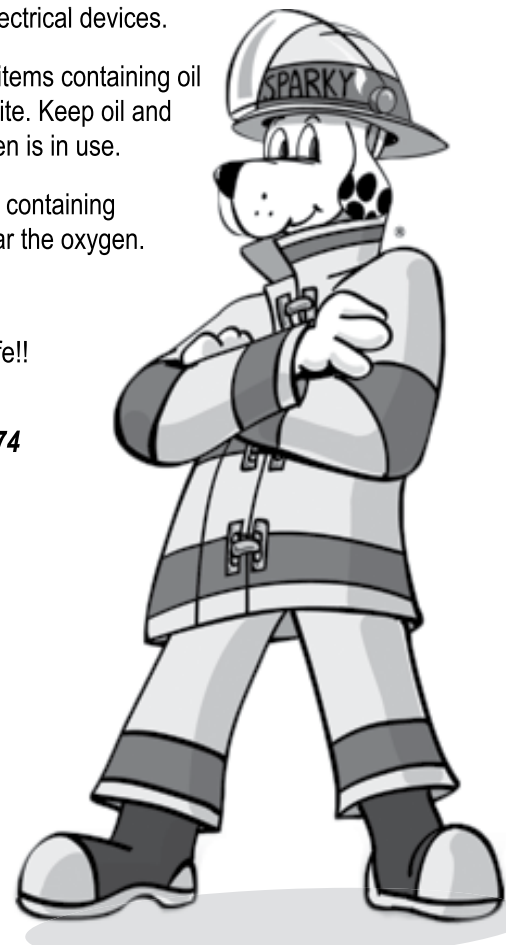

Portable medical oxygen in the home has grown over the past decade. Medical oxygen adds a higher percentage of oxygen to the air a patient uses to breathe. If a fire should start in an oxygen-enriched area, the material burning will burn more quickly. Homes where medical oxygen is used need specific fire safety rules to keep people safe from fire and burns.

SAFETY TIPS

- There is no safe way to smoke in the home when oxygen is in use. A patient on oxygen should not smoke.
- Candles, matches, wood stoves and even sparking toys, can be ignition sources and should not be used in the home.
- Keep oxygen cylinders at least five feet from a heat source, open flames or electrical devices.
- Body oil, hand lotion and items containing oil and grease can easily ignite. Keep oil and grease away where oxygen is in use.
- Never use aerosol sprays containing combustible materials near the oxygen.

Thank You, and Be Safe!!

Talking Gold Sox Baseball

Compiled by Shaun Holkko, sports editor
Gold Sox Special Release

MARYSVILLE, CA (MPG) - In their 20th season, the Yuba-Sutter Gold Sox are once again set to take the field this summer to bring the Yuba-Sutter community collegiate summer wood bat baseball.

Family entertainment at its best will return to the region on Opening Night, Thursday, June 2 when the Gold Sox take on the Lincoln Pottery at 7 P.M.

It has been 20 years since the Gold Sox first stepped foot on Bryant Field and although much has changed, there is much that remains the same. For the first time since 2019, the ballpark will be open to full capacity. The Gold Sox look forward to the return of a packed stadium and exciting summer nights.

In addition, this year the Gold Sox will feature five fireworks shows throughout the season along with many of the fan favorite promotional nights you've come to love over the years. There also will be plenty of new promotional nights this summer, including a Tyler Rich Bobble Head Giveaway presented by Sierra Central Credit Union on June 18th!

The Gold Sox are looking to win the Montna Farms Summer Series for the third year in a row this season. They are set to play a nine-week home season, beginning June 2 and running through July 31. Some familiar faces will return this year, including Jonah Hendrickson and Will Bermudez. The Gold Sox also will welcome in a host of top-level talent from across the country.

Fans this year will notice some renovations to the ballpark thanks to the City of Marysville. The city has stepped up in a tremendous way this year to address some needed repairs by installing a new outfield wall along the center field and right field wall. While the wall is still under construction, it is expected to be completed by opening night.

"Looking back over the past 20 years of Gold Sox baseball, it is amazing to see what the Gold Sox organization has done for this community, and what this community has done for the Gold Sox. We have put our heart and souls into this every year to bring affordable family entertainment to the Yuba-Sutter community, as well as providing collegiate athletes from around the country an opportunity to showcase their skills," said Gold Sox General Manager Tommy Lininger. "Not to mention providing jobs to dozens of residents every year."

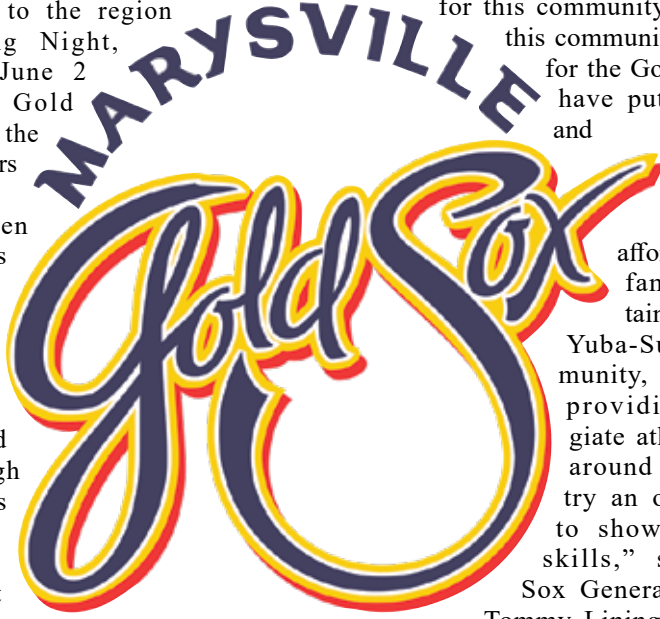

"In return, the community has supported us and given back to us more than we could ever repay. If you've ever been to a packed house on fireworks night, you know what I mean. Yuba-Sutter is a family, and I am honored to be a part."

When the Yuba-Sutter Gold Sox open their season on June 2, fans will see a new manager, seven returning players and 19 players pulling up their gold sox for the first time.

The Gold Sox announced on Monday, May 23, that former Oregon State outfielder and current assistant coach at Feather River College, Ryan Dettman, has been hired as the club's manager for the 2022 season.

Dettman, a Sacramento area native, played for the Beavers in 2012 and 2013. He just finished his sixth year as assistant coach at Feather River College, where this season he helped guide the Eagles to the Northern California finals.

the club on this year's roster are: Will Bermudez (Mt. San Antonio College), Jonah Hendrickson (UC Davis), Joe Polizotti (William Jessup), Trevor Arnston (Antelope Valley College), Brad Madison (University of Colorado, Colorado Springs), Corey McIntyre (Feather River) and Nate Vargas (University of Nevada-Reno).

As is often the case, the roster is a mix of local talent and players from all over the country. This year's roster has players representing 18 different colleges in eight separate states. The full roster can be found at www.goldsox.com. Opening Night at Bryant Field is set for June 2 at 7 P.M. Gates open at 6:30 P.M. and the first 500 fans will receive a 2022 Gold Sox Schedule Magnet courtesy of Lininger Injury Lawyers.

Games on the first weekend will continue Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with the first of five fireworks shows on Saturday, June 4, courtesy of Lininger Injury Lawyers.
