My Body, My Child, My Choice

Children and Parents came together to express their feelings, Monday, October 18th, as part of a State-wide Sick-Out Day in protest of mandatory vaccinations for school-aged children. Photo by Seti Long

By Seti Long

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - A campaign across the State of California, taking advantage of social media platforms to spread the message, urged parents to allow their students, and invited all other faculty at schools, to refrain from attending school on Monday, October 18th, in what is known as Sick-Out Day, to show solidarity and peacefully protest the vaccine mandate.

California was the first State in the Nation to put in place a mask mandate for schools, and now is the first State to require children to be vaccinated for in-person learning beginning the term following full FDA approval of the vaccine for their grade range, 7-12 and K-6. (<https://www.gov.ca.gov/2021/10/01/california-becomes-first-state-in-nation-to-announce-covid-19-vaccine-requirements-for-schools/>).

On Monday, parents, students, teachers and more rallied together and gathered at the California State Capitol in Sacramento to take a stand against the mandatory vaccination policy. Others assembled in their hometowns and Gridley was no exception.

A group on Facebook, Gridley/

Biggs Parents for Freedom-Community Against Mandate, helped organize those who felt strongly about the vaccine mandate and together, they assembled along Gridley's Hwy-99 at the Heritage Oak Shopping Center, holding signs and flags expressing their feelings. Some read, "I am not a lab rat!" others, "Mama says she decides," or "My Child, My Choice"—just to highlight a few.

Mother, Tarrah Egan who was at the gathering says, "I've tried to stay kind of neutral and see both sides, but when it comes to forcing an experimental vaccine on children, that's

Alleged Suspect Arrested for Possible School Shooting

SCSO Press Release

LIVE OAK, CA (MPG) - On October 16, 2021 the Sutter County Sheriff's Office received information regarding a Instagram/Facebook Post that had statements eluding to a possible shooting that was going to occur at Live Oak Middle School on Monday, October 18, 2021. Sutter County Sheriff's Office in partnership with Sutter County Probation Department began investigating the potential threat. During the investigation, the Sutter County Sheriff's Office and the Sutter County Probation Department also established a plan to have extra patrol staff and probation officers on scene at both Live Oak Middle School and Live Oak High School on the 18th.

On October 18th, 2021 the Sutter County Sheriff's Office was able to determine the IP address of the Instagram/Facebook Post which lead to the arrest of a 13-year-old juvenile. The juvenile's parents were contacted, cooperated with the Sutter County Sheriff's Office and Sutter County Probation Department. A consent search was conducted of the juvenile's residence where the Sutter County Sheriff's Office located the cell phone used to create the Instagram/Facebook Post. No weapons were located. The juvenile was arrested and will be booked into juvenile hall on numerous charges including terrorist threats.

Sheriff Barnes and the Sutter County Sheriff's Office wants to thank the community for bringing this to our attention, Live Oak School staff for all their help, and to the Sutter County Probation Department for assisting in the extra patrol coverage including the arrest of the juvenile. Sheriff Barnes would like to thank his staff for working diligently on this incident to not only solve the case which led to the arrest of the alleged suspect but also to ensure that school safety was our priority. ★

Plenty of Magic at Book Family Farm

By Seti Long

DURHAM, CA (MPG) - Book Family Farm has really got it figured out when it comes to the pumpkin picking and fun harvest time experience.

Unlike some of the other pumpkin patches in the area, the Book Family Farm pumpkin patch is a relaxed atmosphere, where Keith and his wife Joy entertain and educate roughly 3 sessions of students during the day. But anyone is welcome to visit the family farm that would like to learn a little bit about farm-life, the animals that populate the farm, and of course, pick their perfect pumpkin.

The New Pi-Line

By Josh F.W. Cook

It's the fall food festival edition of the Pi Line this week.

There is no app for the Gridley Ice Bergie. They still have young human women behind the counter; they only take cash, the food takes longer, but it's worth it. So if you miss the old school traditional experience, go there. Speaking of culinary excellence and fantastic old-school dining, the Bergie has designed some incredible unique beverages to go with Halloween and Day of the Dead celebrations. They are offering Pumpkin Spice, Caramel Apple, Maple Nut, and Peach Pie Milkshakes for a limited time. The soda department has a Kiwi Lemonade named Monster Mash - as it is green and Red Bloody Mary, which is Lime Sparkle and Pomegranate flavor. With a shortage of human beings willing to work, much of the work of restaurantring has been devolved to the iPhone. Almost every chain restaurant has an app you can use to order your food by clicking pictures. To get you to utilize these apps, most of the restaurants give you free stuff or daily deals. It's their way to reduce costs. There is no expense of dealing with a human being who they have to pay hourly wages, benefits, unemployment, paid leave, and various other government-mandated costs. And last food topic of the week - McDonald's French fries are not crisp enough across-the-board. Ronald, if you're reading me, you need to cook the fries longer. The global zombie apocalypse end of days Armageddon COVID latter-day apocalypse is almost over. There's no excuse for soggy fries.

For those of you born after 2002 - there used to be this thing called the phone book. This was during a time when telephones could not go with you everywhere you went, and they were attached to a wall in your house. If you were a very social person, you had a very long cord so you could wander around the house while you talked to people on the phone. Every home that had a phone attached to a wall inside the house had a big book that weighed about two pounds. This book lists all of the phone numbers for all phones in homes and businesses attached to the walls. A group of pages in the book was white that listed all of the residential phone numbers. There was a section of yellow pages that listed all of the businesses. 98% of the people who were choosing where to go get some service like their car repaired or a pizza would go to the Yellow Pages and look under car repair or Pizza. The Yellow Pages not only listed the phone number to call, but it also had a little ad that the business could buy to try to get people to call them before they called the other people. So the phonebook was like Google and how important it was to businesses getting customers. In January of 1993 the phonebook company decided to change the format, and this caused an angry Pi Line column to be put on the front page of the newspaper by the editor Mr. Burleson. It went like this: We send comments on the phone directory to Veryl so he can send them on to the proper people in the directory division. A local businesswoman called to add her name to those protesting the way the new phone book is put together (formatted.) She had just called PT&T business office and received no encouragement that the book would ever get better. What upsets, angers frustrates her is that she doesn't think customers can find her business in the new book because it is so confusing. She asked her 73-year-old mother to find the business phone number, and after a reasonable amount of time and no success, her mother said in frustration, "I am looking in the right place, but I can't find it." A phone directory should be just that, an alphabetical listing of ALL phone customers, businesses, government, and individuals and their phone numbers. We would prefer they be grouped by city. It is convenient if the address is included, but not a must. If the phone company computer hackers want to show off that they can print businesses and governmental agencies as separate sections, let them, but keep residential, businesses, and governmental agencies listed in the basic, simple directory. It would speed things up for people with a logical approach. If they think some people would like the different sections, include them. How about printing reverse listings, easily done by computer, so we can figure out who left that number for you to call... We think phone customers are being used and abused by the phone directory company in this new phone book with the warning red sign on the cover, "NEW WHITE PAGES FORMAT." Can the phone directory company produce statistics to back up their decision to create this abomination?

Young Karaoke Singers Delight Kaleidoscope Arts Festival

By Cindy Scott

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Thanks to several impromptu performances, Kaleidoscope’s youth karaoke contestants entertained and charmed art festival attendees--evidence that stage fright can be overcome. When the contest began, only three contestants had signed up. However, as the singing began, other children and youth gathered their courage to sing.

Kaiza Quist won first prize for the high school group with the song “When Will My Life Begin” from Tangled. Denay Jansen won the middle school group singing “A Million Dreams” from The Greatest Showman. Naomi Grover took the K-5 age group with the song “A Cover Is Not A Book” from Mary Poppins Returns.

Margaret Braun, long-time art teacher at GHS, was honored with the Kaleidoscope Artist of the Year award. Margaret has shown great dedication to her students and helped them cultivate their talents. She incorporates drawing, textiles, painting, and is especially interested in introducing students to clay work. She gingerly transports their pieces home for firing in her studio kiln. Braun has also taught GHS drama and produced several plays.

Artwork by Aaron Burks (portraits, military art), Mikaela McMartin (wildlife, animal, pet), and Marilyn Hill (quilt) were on display, and Braun shared many pieces of GHS student art.

Children engaged with paper folding, rock painting, and coloring activities, walking away with beautiful artwork. Mark and Jenny Johnson were on hand with Johnson’s U-pick Farm Ice Cream, donating the proceeds to Kaleidoscope. Joe Moye warmed up the crowd with his guitar and vocals and helped the young karaoke performers.

Kaleidoscope has been Gridley’s arts council for 37 years. This local group seeks to promote the arts in the Gridley area, especially with youth. More information can be found at their Facebook page “Kaleidoscope Gridley Arts Council” and Instagram account “kaleidoscope.gridley.arts.” ★

For most present at the demonstration, that was the sentiment. It was not the necessarily the vaccine itself that they had a problem with, it was the fact that they had lost their right to choose whether to get the vaccine or abstain. This was a very passionate subject for all present.

One of the founders of the group Gridley/Biggs Parents for Freedom-Community Against Mandate, Sarah Martin, (also formed by Holly Wood, and Alissa Crislip) said, “I am a parent of four in the Gridley School District and we feel so strongly about giving parents a voice. And it

Guests are invited to pet the hatchling chicks, feed the adult chickens, help farmer Book collect eggs, pet the goats and be privy to the secret recipe of how-to grow white pumpkins!

The Book Family has been running the farm for 36 years, with a brief closure in 2009 that lasted a few seasons. When they returned, they had put in place more of the hands-on features, such as the hatchling chickens, and educational aspects of the farm, returning to a more mellow harvest-time experience. Joy says, “It’s just your old-fashioned family farm... that’s who we are,” with Keith chiming in, “Our focus has always been an educational approach, we are not actually a production model.”

One thing that West Side pre-schoolers learned, when they visited Book Family Farm for the first time this year, is time-tested, true, and the Books Family Farm’s motto: “Pumpkins are Magic. The farther you carry them, the heavier they get!”

Gridley Thumbs and Roots

By Barbara Ott

I’m waiting for the autumn flowers to bloom. My double purple aster has been blooming like a crazy thing. So beautiful. It is a mannerly but exciting aster unlike the skyscraper aster that I am still taking out of the yard after I removed the big original plant two years ago. That invasive aster is a beauty but so wild it is hard to have in a small flowerbed. I obviously did not get all of the roots because I have several first-year plants that have come up through some cobbled rocks. This is a blessing and a bane. The blessing is that even these first-year asters will bloom in November and last a long time. The bane is that I have to kill all of them and they are in rocks. Some will be pulled after they bloom and others will be sprayed. I love that plant but it has to go. If I let these babies continue, I will have two hundred plants by next year. If you have a large area that needs filling get in touch with me and I’d gladly give them to you. They will take over! Another autumn bloomer will start soon, it is my Lion’s Tail, Leonotis leonurus. A fabulous plant that gets fairly tall. It has true orange blooms in mid-autumn that last a long time. I cut it back in July so it is shorter at bloom time. This also saves it from our north winds. I do not have any chrysanthemums. They also are beautiful in the autumn with a wide range of colors and styles. I really like the mounding form but I never seem to purchase those and all the others become leggy on me. Of course, the tried and true, Salvias are beautiful in the fall as well as summer and spring. Sometimes winter. ★

Slim Randles’ HOME COUNTRY

Slim Randles

Mickey Baker has owned The Strand – our local movie theater – since the new releases starred Virginia Mayo. The Strand, naturally, is an icon here. More than a few of our long-lasting marriages in the area began with a first date there. Most of us have consumed more than our share of Raisinettes and Jujubes while watching Duke Wayne whip the bad guys. We know every inch of The Strand. We know where the rips are in the used-to-be blood-red carpet, which of the seats don’t fold all the way down, which seats are most secluded in case it’s a smooching date. It was ol’ Dud, back when he was about four feet tall, who discovered how to combine chewing gum and the lock on the back door to provide five-finger discounts for friends wanting to watch Victor Mature run around in a loincloth. The Strand, in other words, is a vital part of our past, if not of our lives today. We seem to just go rent those tapes and disks now and stay home and watch the newer films when we feel like it, and that might be because we now appreciate being able to stop the action for an occasional bathroom break now and then. Attendance dropped dramatically when home entertainment really hit a lick. But Mickey fought back. He tried the free popcorn route for a while. All he charged for was the butter. Attendance didn’t really pick up, and the popcorn bill was ... well, appreciable if not staggering. Mickey now thinks he has the answer. He bought a disk player thingie that works on a big screen. Then he bought some old movies and lowered the price. The first night he did this was a triple header, and we all turned out to see our old heroes vanquish Nazis, solve the bank robbery in Cactus Gulch, and find out who really killed the big-city mayor. We paid too much for popcorn, but who cares? The Strand lives on, even if there is more gray hair there than at a Percheron horse show. Besides, when was the last time you saw The Duke standing 15-feet tall? Pick up “Home Country: Drama, dreams and laughter from the American heartland” www.lpdpress.com. ★

Let’s Tweak that Idea a Little

Dear Dave, I am on Baby Step 2, and I started a YouTube channel earlier this year that led to a new opportunity to make additional income. I try on and review clothing, and I’m paid $30 for each clip that’s anywhere from 30 seconds to two minutes long. Right now, I have about 1,000 viewers. This requires me to buy items from several brands. I usually return the items when I’m through filming, but I’m currently funding this with a credit card I only use for this project. I only pay the minimum each month until I get the refund, so at any given time there can be up to $4,000 on the card in rotation. I make about $86,000 at my normal job, so is this an okay way to fund my project and chalk it up as a business expense? – Amber Dear Amber, You’re taking a risk here, from a business perspective, by playing around with $4,000 in debt to make $30 a pop. That’s inordinate. And you shouldn’t be paying for the clothes in the first place. These brands should be giving you clothes to review – that you keep – for the marketing exposure, but I’m not sure you’ve got enough eyeballs on you yet to justify them giving you the clothes for free. Basically, it sounds like you’re trying to put yourself in a position to be an influencer. And the way influencers get paid is by monetizing eyeballs. Obviously, YouTube and other platforms will pay you if you can get the eyeballs. But 1,000 viewers really aren’t a lot these days. You’re getting there, though, and I’m glad you’re working at it and trying to make things happen. You make good money, Amber. I want you to set aside $2,000 or $3,000 for this business, maybe out of the business income, and prime the pump one time. By that, I mean open a separate checking account that’s for your clothing exchange process only. Here’s the thing, let’s say you bought $1,000 worth of stuff from one of these companies, and they suddenly decide they’re not taking it back. You just ate that $1,000. And guess what else? Now, you really have credit card debt. There are three things you can always be sure of in business. One, it’s going to cost twice as much as you think it will. Two, it’s going to take twice as long as you think it will. And three, you are not the exception to these things. While we’re at it, add this to the list of stuff you can always be sure of – you’ll never find me advising or endorsing credit card debt! – Dave *Dave Ramsey is a seven-time #1 national best-selling author, personal finance expert, and host of The Ramsey Show, heard by more than 18 million listeners each week. # Thoughts to Ponder

Dave Ramsey Says

by Kathy Neal

Clean your own house before you judge others houses. He who lives in a glass house should not throw stones. Jesus told His disciples to take the log from their own eyes before pointing out a stick in someone else’s eye. What does all this mean? “Judge not so you won’t be judged. How you judge others will be the measure by which you are judged.” Oh! No! When the woman caught in adultery was brought before Jesus so the leaders could catch Jesus in a trap, He surprised them all by saying, “He who has no sin throw the first stone.” Oops, that didn’t turn out like they thought. The oldest men dropped their stones first followed by the younger ones. Could it be that the older men knew they had sin as deep as the woman and were not suited to cast a verdict on anyone. Do not all of us have sins so bad that we should not judge anyone! But we do, don’t we? We cast judgement on our next-door neighbor on how she cares for her children. We look in judgement on the homeless and wonder why they are the way they are. Why does she dress like that? Boy he looks bad working at that job. How can they live like that, don’t they know better? He’s a democrat; she’s a republican, they are Catholic; they don’t go to church. I’m glad I don’t live like them. Really? Is that what Jesus, God, and the Holy Spirit expect from us? NO! If we live a critical life, we will be judged by a critical jury. Living in love leads to being forgiven and peace of mind; for love covers a multitude of sins (even our own). No! it is not easy! It is so easy to speak harsh words instead of looking through eyes of love. Love is hard to give to broken humans. Humans hurt us. Humans crush us. Humans even kill us. But as the saying keeps telling us, “Sticks and stones may break our bones, but words will never hurt us.” However, in our social media network world, words can destroy, even cause death. Take time to know people and not judge anyone with hurtful human eyes. We are flawed, cracked, and damaged. We need to look through the eyes of God and give love. Join us at the Gridley United Methodist Church in looking at others with God’s love. Our service is every Sunday at 10 am. We are on the corner of Magnolia and Haskell Streets. ★

Newsom, Legislature Push the State Leftward

By Dan Walters
CALMatters

Before celebrating his 54th birthday Sunday, Gov. Gavin Newsom closed out the landmark 2021 session of the California Legislature by signing the last of the 770 bills he decided should become law. It was a remarkable session because a new wave of COVID-19 was hitting, Newsom was facing a recall election, he and legislators had many billions of dollars in federal pandemic aid and unanticipated tax revenues and, finally, because they spent much of that money on an array of new and expanded public services. The new spending on health care, social services, public schools, early childhood education and increasing personal incomes of the poor makes California the national leader in advancing the European-style “social democracy” model that the Democrats’ left wing wants the federal government to embrace. Before this year’s session began, for instance, 94% of Californians had some form of medical care coverage, thanks to Obamacare and a sharp expansion of the state’s Medi-Cal program for the poor to more than a third of the state’s population. This year’s additions push California very close to universal coverage, a long-sought goal of those on the left and Newsom’s oft-expressed ambition. The leftward tilt of the session is also evident in other ways that do not spend money, such as making ethnic studies a requirement for high school education, banning gasoline-powered lawn equipment, imposing new restrictions on guns, or compelling department stores to have gender-neutral toy and child care departments. The Legislature and Newsom also continued to move the state’s criminal justice system leftward, reducing punishment for some crimes and cracking down on police officers who misbehave by lifting the licenses, called “certifications,” they need to be employed. Interestingly, while Newsom endorsed 770 bills that the Legislature sent to his desk, he also vetoed 66 of them, in some cases because, he said, they went just a bit too far. One of his more significant – and surprising – rejections was the latest of many years-long efforts by Democratic legislators to help the United Farm Workers Union expand its tiny foothold among the state’s agricultural workers. Assembly Bill 616 would have allowed pro-union workers to sign cards rather than having an election on whether the UFW should be recognized as a contract bargaining agent. It faced stiff opposition from farmers and Newsom said in his veto message that the bill contained “various inconsistencies and procedural issues related to the collection and review of ballot cards.” The UFW had backed Newsom in his successful victory in a September 14 recall election, and he vetoed the union’s bill eight days later, earning a denunciation from the union’s leaders, who likened the measure to the all-mail state election process that Newsom and legislators have decreed. AB 616 was just one of two bills on the California Chamber of Commerce “job killer” list to reach Newsom’s desk intact. While he vetoed it, he signed the other, Assembly Bill 62, also a union-sponsored measure than bans piecework pay in the garment industry. Legislative leaders tout this year’s session as one of the most expansive in history, and they are correct. The state is now a beacon for the national progressive agenda that President Joe Biden is trying, so far unsuccessfully, to move through Congress. There’s every reason to expect that Newsom and the Legislature will continue to paddle California’s canoe to the left. Republicans are powerless and the influence of Democratic moderates has waned. The only question is whether the economy will continue to churn out enough money to pay for the new benefits without tax increases. # Dear Dietitian Cinnamon

by Leanne McCrate

Dear Dietitian,

My boyfriend is a big believer in dietary supplements. He has type 2 diabetes, and he takes medication for this. He eats right most of the time and exercises three times a week. He recently started taking cinnamon to help improve his blood sugar levels. Does cinnamon really help with blood sugar?

Sharon

Dear Sharon,

It sounds like your boyfriend is exercising good judgment in his diabetes management. It also sounds like he has a kind, supportive girlfriend. Type 2 diabetes is very manageable, but it requires exercise, monitoring blood glucose levels, a healthy diet, and sometimes, medication. Many people may include an integrative approach to diabetes management. One such technique includes cinnamon.

Cinnamon comes from the Greek, meaning "sweet wood." It is a spice found in almost every kitchen cabinet in America and is created from the Cinnamomum tree's inner bark. There are two main types of cinnamon: Ceylon cinnamon and cassia. Cassia is most likely the type of cinnamon in your spice rack, as it is the most common type sold in the US. Cassia cinnamon contains coumarin, which may cause liver damage when taken in high doses. If you plan to take a supplement,

The manner in which cinnamon may help lower blood sugar levels is unclear. Scientists believe the spice helps in two ways. Cinnamon may play a role in transporting glucose into the cell where it belongs, thereby lowering the amount of glucose in the bloodstream. Cinnamon may also improve insulin sensitivity, which is how well your body responds to insulin. In other words, does your body allow insulin to perform its duty?

Several small studies on cinnamon's effect on blood sugar levels have produced mixed results. Different types of cinnamon are used in studies, and doses are variable, making it difficult to compare results. In a meta-analysis of sixteen randomized controlled trials, cinnamon significantly reduced fasting blood sugar levels and reduced insulin resistance. Interestingly, it did not reduce hemoglobin A1C levels, the three-month average blood sugar levels (2). However, other studies have found that cinnamon lowered both fasting blood sugar and A1C.

The American Diabetes Association does not recommend using cinnamon to help control blood sugar levels, stating there is insufficient evidence to show that it is effective (3). Talk to your doctor before deciding to use cinnamon as a part of your diabetes treatment regimen.

Until next time, be healthy!
Dear Dietitian

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site WWW.STOXPOSTING.COM, using the file number assigned to this case 057402-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: Effective January 1, 2021, you may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (855) 313-3319, or visit this internet website www.clearreconcorp.com, using the file number assigned to this case 057402-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. FOR SALES INFORMATION: (844) 477-7869 CLEAR RECON CORP. 4375 Jutland Drive San Diego, California 92117 10/22/2021, 10/29/2021, 11/5/2021 11-5-21

Exit Drills in the Home

On behalf of CALFIRE / Gridley Fire Department Sparky would like everyone to remember the importance of Exit Drills in the Home (EDITH). Everyone should know at least two ways out of their home and know how to operate the necessary locks and latches. All family members should practice EDITH once a year, make it a fun family project. When your family knows what to do and where to go in an emergency it will help keep everyone safe. Have pre-designated locations to meet outside the house like the mailbox or the neighbor's house. Let arriving firefighters know that your family is all together, this helps us account for the safety of all occupants. If someone is not accounted for tell firefighters the possible location that family member could be. For more information and worksheets on EDITH please visit CAL FIRE / Gridley Fire Department Station 74.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. ## Gridley Museum Presents the Day of The Dead Walk

Planning Committee 2021
News Release

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - You are invited to attend and participate in a wonderful community event and walk, celebrating The Day of the Dead!

In case you may ask, what is the day of the dead? It is a traditional and cultural, family oriented Mexican celebration that honors those loved ones that we lost. This celebration dates back as far as the Aztecs who remembered their dead with fiestas and rituals during the harvest season. Therefore, death was also viewed as the beginning of the cycle of the seasons and life. Every November 2nd, it is believed that the souls of the dead return to visit the living families in homes, businesses, and cemeteries. This has also been adopted by religious groups and it has crossed frontiers.

We are proud to present the Day of the Dead Walk event to benefit the Gridley Museum. The Gridley Museum guards the spirit, the soul, and our character. Our heritage! It protects memories, events that define the city and its resident and it needs our community support to ensure that the legacy of our history is guarded for future generations.

During this celebration, we will be honoring the loved ones we have lost due to COVID-19 pandemic. We will be offering informational booths, community health resources, food vendors, games and activities for children, a parade, and a Catrina costume contest offering 1st, 2nd & 3rd place prizes.

This is a FREE event to the public taking place on Tuesday, November 2nd, 2021 at Hazel Street, Downtown Gridley from 6:00 pm to 9:00 pm.

We are inviting non-profit organizations, agencies, and county and state departments to participate at NO COST by registering for a booth space, no later than Tuesday, October 26th. Those interested in participating or sponsoring the event can pick up Sponsorship Forms, Booth Registration Forms and the Participant Agreement form at Ampla Health, Gridley, or can visit the following link to download the registration packet: https://amplahmy.sharepoint.com/:b:/g/personal/rvaldez\_amplahhealth\_org/EU4tOB1ibSFIPi-JCSKIRMQBbq-WJJm9WbjiUcB0OL-ijg?e=piJily.

Gridley Native Serves as a Member of U.S. Navy's "Silent Service"

Navy Office of Community Outreach

KINGS BAY, GA (MPG) - A Gridley, California, native is stationed at Naval Submarine Base Kings Bay, homeport to all East Coast ballistic-missile and guided-missile submarines.

Petty Officer 3rd Class Sydney Foster, a 2015 Gridley High School graduate, joined the Navy three years ago.

Today, Foster serves as a torpedoman, whose responsibilities include maintaining underwater explosive weapons such as torpedoes, rockets and missiles, as well as, small arms and the systems used to launch them.

"We are also responsible for the safe loading and unloading, shipping and storage of these weapons," added Foster. Foster joined the Navy to follow a dream.

"My primary reason for joining the Navy was to fulfill my lifelong goal to be on a submarine," said Foster. "It was something that I knew would challenge me and take me places I've never been."

According to Foster, the values required to succeed in the military are similar to those found in Gridley.

"I grew up working with my dad on our family walnut farm," said Foster. "We did almost everything ourselves and I had a few show steers that I raised myself in high school. It was a lot of hard work but that's a quality I'm proud of and I had that opportunity to develop because I grew up in a rural town in Northern California."

Known as America's "Silent Service," the Navy's submarine force operates a large fleet of technically advanced vessels. These submarines are capable of conducting rapid defensive and offensive operations around the world, in furtherance of U.S. national security.

There are three basic types of submarines: fast-attack submarines (SSN), ballistic-missile submarines (SSBN) and guided-missile submarines (SSGN).

Fast-attack submarines are designed to hunt down and destroy enemy submarines and surface ships; strike targets ashore with cruise missiles; carry and deliver Navy SEALs; conduct intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance missions; and engage in mine warfare.

The Navy's ballistic-missile submarines, often referred to as "boomers," serve as a strategic deterrent by providing an undetectable platform for submarine-launched ballistic missiles. SSBNs are designed specifically for stealth, extended patrols and the precise delivery of missiles.

Guided-missile submarines provide the Navy with unprecedented strike and special operation mission capabilities from a stealthy, clandestine platform. Each SSGN is capable of carrying 154 Tomahawk cruise missiles, plus a complement of heavyweight torpedoes to be fired through four torpedo tubes.

As a member of the submarine force, Foster is part of a rich 121-year history of the U.S. Navy's most versatile weapons platform, capable of taking the fight to the enemy in the defense of America and its allies.

Serving in the Navy means Foster is part of a team that is taking on new importance in America's focus on rebuilding military readiness, strengthening alliances and reforming business practices in support of the National Defense Strategy.

"We are America's away team," said Foster. "The Navy is always out there even though you may not see us and we are always on watch."

With more than 90 percent of all trade traveling by sea, and 95 percent of the world's international phone and internet traffic carried through underwater fiber optic, Navy officials continue to emphasize that the prosperity and security of the United States is directly linked to a strong and ready Navy.

A major component of that maritime security is homeported at Naval Submarine Base Kings Bay.

"We do two big things here in King's Bay: we send SSBNs on strategic deterrence patrols and we forward deploy our guided missile submarines overseas," said Rear Adm. John Spencer, Commander, Submarine Group Ten. "This work is essential to uphold the number one mission of the Navy: strategic deterrence. And this is the only home port for both of these types of submarines on the East Coast."

Strategic deterrence is the Nation's ultimate insurance program, and for decades, Kings Bay has been home to Ohio Class SSBN ballistic-missile submarines. Beginning in 2028, the new Columbia Class ballistic-missile submarines will arrive and provide continuous sea-based strategic deterrence into the 2080s.

As Foster and other sailors continue to train and perform the missions they are tasked with, they take pride in serving their country in the United States Navy.

"Serving in the Navy means challenging myself every day," added Foster. "The Navy has made me a better person and I'm extremely grateful for the past almost four years because of the sense of self-accomplishment I've gotten from doing my part to keep America free and safe from threats to national security." ★

Night Time Logging and The Far Reaching Effects of The Horrific Forest Fires

The effects of the horrific fires will be everlasting especially for the families who lost loved ones and property due to the insane let burn policy of the US Forest Service. Now to make matters even worse the US Forest Service is continuing to cause more harm to the people of the foothill and mountain communities by allowing night time logging by the lumber companies. The night-time logging is causing a severe health hazard especially to the elderly because the residents are deprived of their sleep at one or two in the morning by the logging trucks and other related vehicles.

Let me be clear it is not the fault of the logging trucks because they are probably are not overjoyed by the fact that they have to get up at midnight and go to bed in late afternoon. For the most part they obey the speed limit although I have clocked a couple of idiots going 59 miles per hour in a 35 zone.. The workers are a different story some have no respect for the speed limit through this small community. Neither the logging trucks nor the workers have any fear of violating the speed limit because the California Highway Patrol has been almost nonexistent since Captain Shon Harris of the Yuba Sutter Division retired and become mayor and now councilman in Yuba City California. Come back Shon come back Shon.

Busy Week for CALFIRE Butte Unit

Fire crews attempt to contain a blaze that broke out Sunday afternoon at a residence on Sheldon Avenue, Gridley. Photo provided by Mike Conaty/CALFIRE

By Seti Long

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Shortly after 2:20 on the afternoon of Saturday, October 16th, multiple CALFIRE units were dispatched to a structure fire in a home on the corner of Maine and Laurel Streets, Gridley.

According to Gridley Fire Station 74/CALFIRE Butte Unit Captain, Mike Conaty, units quickly responded to the call and were able to contain the blaze to the room of origin on the second floor of the home. Damage was minor and the home was unoccupied at the time of the fire.

Captain Conaty shares that later that evening, at around 5:30 pm, Gridley Fire/CALFIRE Butte Unit responded to another blaze, this time a vegetation fire north of Richvale. Working late during harvest season, a baler caught fire, igniting the dry grass surrounding it. Due to the dry conditions, the fire quickly grew to 12 acres. Luckily, fire crews kept the blaze within the check it originated in and prevented

BCPH Isolation and Quarantine Orders to Control COVID-19

Butte County Public Health News Release

BUTTE COUNTY, CA (MPG) - To help slow the spread of COVID-19 and to protect vulnerable individuals, the Butte County Public Health (BCPH) Officer, Dr. David Canton, has issued local Health Officer Orders mandating that individuals, as specified in the order, isolate or quarantine themselves to prevent the spread of COVID-19 – pursuant to California Health and Safety Code 120175.

The Isolation and Quarantine Orders are effective immediately for Butte County.

These Orders are issued to protect vulnerable members of the public from avoidable risk of serious illness or death resulting from exposure to COVID-19. All individuals who are exposed to someone with COVID-19 or contract COVID-19, regardless of their level of symptoms (none, mild or severe), may place other vulnerable members of the public at significant risk.

What does the Local Public Health Isolation and Quarantine Order require?

Self-Isolation: Individuals who have received a positive antigen or molecular (PCR) lab test for COVID-19, who are symptomatic with 14 days of being in close contact with a person who had or was believed to have had COVID-19 or if a healthcare provider has informed the individual that they are likely to have COVID-19 must self-isolate at their home or another residence.

Carefully review and closely follow all requirements listed in the California Department of Public Health's (CDPH) Guidance on Isolation and Quarantine for COVID-19 Contact Tracing. K-12 students are required to follow the CDPH COVID-19 Public Health Guidance for K-12 Schools in California.

Notify their Close Contacts that they need to self-quarantine, and then refer these individuals to the CDPH Self-Quarantine Instructions for Individuals Exposed to COVID-19 and the Butte County Quarantine Order.

Self-Quarantine: Applies to close contacts within six (6) feet of an infected person for a cumulative total of fifteen (15) minutes or more over a 24-hour period to a person with COVID-19 during their infectious period, which begins 48 hours before symptoms began (or, in the absence of symptoms, 48 hours prior to the date of the first positive test).

Individuals who are defined as close contacts of a person with COVID-19 must quarantine themselves and follow the CDPH Guidance on Isolation and Quarantine for COVID-19 Contact Tracing.

Fully vaccinated persons are not obligated to comply with quarantine requirements if they do not show signs or symptoms. Fully vaccinated persons are recommended to be tested 3-5 days after exposure and wear a mask in public indoor settings for 14 days after exposure. These individuals may refer to the CDPH Recommendations for Fully Vaccinated People. ★ it from burning into the Cherokee Canal, which it was nearing.

Continuing into Sunday, CALFIRE Butte Unit and Station 74 kept up the hard work, responding to yet another structure fire, this time on Sheldon Ave. in Gridley while units out of Biggs and Richvale addressed another vegetation fire near Aguas Frias Road.

According to Captain Conaty, around 1:45 pm Sunday afternoon, Station 74 was dispatched to a fire that originated in vegetation out back of a home, which then spread to the main structure and into the attic of that residence. As the fire continued to grow, it encompassed an outbuilding. Although crews encountered some challenges, including some explosions from debris that had caught fire, the fire was knocked down. Units from Gridley, Palermo, Oroville responded to aid in the containment, and Captain Conaty estimates that about 25-30% of the main structure was a loss. The outbuilding was destroyed, but no injuries were sustained. The cause is still under investigation.

As a reminder, Captain Conaty adds that the burn-ban remains in effect until our area has a substantial, wetting rain or CALFIRE announces that the burn-ban has been lifted. For more information, please visit CAL FIRE Butte Unit/Butte County Fire Department on Twitter @CALFIRE_ButteCO. ★
