FEMA Camp Fire Community Meets Resistance from Gridley Residents

By Seti Long

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - On Friday December 28th, the Gridley City Council held the Gridley Camp Fire Community public discussion, wherein it laid out the main points of the contract still being negotiated with FEMA, the General Service Agency, and the City of Gridley in regards to the placement of 350 modular housing units on city owned property.

Known details of the contract for the lease of the City Industrial Park assign FEMA the responsibility to further develop the park, installing utility hookups to link each FEMA trailer to high capacity city water, sewer and electric lines that are already in place below the complex. FEMA has agreed to construct interior roadways, curbs, parking sites, security fencing, bike and pedestrian pathways, a second entrance to the park on the north side, sports fields, and more - work that is estimated to cost multi-millions. Additionally, FEMA will expedite speedy construction of a signal light to be installed by Caltrans at the intersection of W.Liberty Road and Hwy 99.

At this time, the lease term between FEMA and the City of Gridley states that FEMA will hold the premises beginning January 15, 2019 through January 15, 2020 with an option to extend the lease until July 1, 2021. If FEMA's presence extends past the July 1st, 2021 exit deadline, City officials state they intend to shut down access to all utilities in an effort to force eviction of any remaining persons. Additionally, the city is asking for a $300,000 site restoration fund to be paid upfront because of an unchangeable clause in FEMA's legal statutes that declares the agency not responsible for the removal and cleanup of any infrastructure it puts in place.

Additionally, FEMA is not responsible for and cannot aid with the inevitable impact new students will have on the schools within the district - a significant issue that could be a deal-breaker for the FEMA Camp Fire Community if the City Council takes heed of the School Districts warnings. Jordan Reeves, Superintendent of Gridley Unified School District pleaded with the council to postpone signing any contracts with FEMA until they could secure essential funding to support the toll incoming students would have on the districts already stressed resources. The district is currently experiencing a shortage of teaching staff and suffering from overcrowding in classrooms. Because FEMA cannot provide any monetary funding, transportation, or physical resources, such as portable classrooms for the estimated 250-400 additional students, the City is allocating funds from the lease contract to ease the strain on the GUSD. The question remains how much exactly and with such an extensive list of resources required by the School District to function through the influx of students and the additional responsibilities it incurs with students relocated from outside districts, will that figure be enough. Students living in the Camp Fire Community have the right to choose to attend school in the Gridley area or return to open schools in Paradise or at satellite locations, with GUSD held responsible for their transportation. The School District has applied for a $1.2 million dollar grant hoping for the additional funding, but will not know if they are approved for another 2-3 weeks. Other funding options are being researched but are limited.

New Roadway Safety Laws Set to Start

SACRAMENTO, CALIF. - New laws approved by the California Legislature in 2018 will affect roadway safety in several ways, including helmet use on bicycles and motorized scooters, modified exhaust systems, and enhanced safety for refuse collection vehicles. To support its mission of providing the highest levels of Safety, Service, and Security, the California Highway Patrol (CHP) is highlighting several of these new laws.

Bicycle hit-and-run on bike path (AB 1755, Steinorth): The provisions of the felony hit-and-run law are extended to cyclists on Class I bikeways (bike paths). Currently, in the California Vehicle Code, a driver involved in a collision resulting in death or injury to another party is required to stop at the scene. This law clarifies that the same vehicle code also applies on Class I bikeways and allows law enforcement to hold individuals accountable for reckless behavior.

Bicycle helmets (AB 3077, Caballero): Persons under age 18 not wearing a helmet on a bicycle, scooter, skateboard, or skates will receive a "fix-it" ticket. A citation is considered non-punitive and correctable if proof that the minor has completed a bicycle safety course and has a helmet that meets safety standards is presented within 120 days to the issuing law enforcement agency.

Helmet use on motorized scooters (AB 2989, Flora): Bicycle helmets are no longer required for riders of motorized scooters who are age 18 or older. Motorized scooters may operate within a Class IV bikeway as well as a Class II bikeway and on highways with speed limits up to 25 miles per hour. Local jurisdictions may pass ordinances to allow motorized scooters on highways with speed limits up to 35 miles per hour. It is still illegal to operate a motorized scooter on a sidewalk.

Certain vehicle exhaust violations no longer correctable (AB 1824, Committee on Budget): A fine will become mandatory, not correctable, when loud motor vehicles and motorcycles are cited. Previously, a driver or motorcyclist who was cited for modified or excessively loud exhaust or muffler systems could correct the violation to avoid a fine.

Passing waste service vehicles (AB 2115, Santiago): When approaching or overtaking a refuse collection vehicle with its amber lights flashing, drivers must move into an adjacent lane, if possible, and pass at a safe distance. If it is not possible, drivers must slow to a safe and reasonable speed. This law provides a safety margin for sanitation workers while they are actively working. ★

Orchard Hospital Distribution Center Still Seeks Items

Story by David Vantress

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - The Camp Fire is starting to fade from the national news. But the needs of the survivors go on.

Survivors are still in need and Gridley's Orchard Hospital is still maintaining its distribution center.

Lynne Spencer, president of the Gridley Area Chamber of Commerce, said the need will only continue to grow with the establishment of FEMA trailers for Camp Fire victims in Gridley.

"We still have a lot of displaced camp fire survivors in our areas and will be here long term and now soon with FEMA housing," Spencer said.

The Orchard Hospital Camp fire Distribution center is in need of the following items; Paper towels; Toilet paper, shampoo, cream rinse; AA and AAA batteries; Flashlights; Pampers; Denture cups; Cleaning supplies, brooms or mops; Propane for propane lanterns/stoves; Electric heaters and Electric blankets; Wet and dry dog and cat food; Cat litter and litter boxes; for those living in local motels paper plates and disposable utensils, as well as two-wheeled upright suitcases.

These items were all asked for by survivors at the distribution center in the last few weeks.

"After the first month, the donations have all but stopped but the need will continue long-term," Spencer said. "We appreciate our community and their continued support."

A special "Thank you" goes to Elaine Alves Bastian for her kind donations of socks, towels, blankets, gloves, and much needed supplies.

The distribution center is open Tuesdays from 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. and Thursdays from noon - 4 p.m. It's located directly behind Orchard Hospital.

Contact Spencer at 530-870-0563 for more information. ★

The New Pi-Line

The new Pi-Line Honoring Publisher W.D. Burlleson
By Josh F.W. Cook

If you want to go big - buy a full-page ad in the paper. I kept perusing through the many names on the FOCUS group full-page ad in the Christmas edition of the Gridley Herald looking for people I know, and then I realized it was a color full page ad. Now that is big big time. In messaging impact, it is equal to 100 letters to the editor.

Most amazing people this year award goes to anyone who had to deliver packages — especially Chrissy at the Gridley Post Office. She always smiles, even when the line of people are sort of grumpy and miffed. The UPS people have been working 70 hours a week. The shift from shopping to shopping on the internet is really high-tech. Delivering packages still requires people.

Lots of discussions lately as Gridley considers building some infrastructure for trailers. Growth in Gridley is always an energizing topic. I remember when I was a Gridley Planning Commissioner, Bill Burlleson would come to almost every meeting we had. He was always interested in what was coming for Gridley, he wanted a thriving community.

Burlleson was at the time of his passing an expert in all things Caltrans. He literally knew more about which way Highways 70 and 99 were going to expand than the engineers at CalTrans. One of the reasons Gridley is four lanes on Hwy 99 and Live Oak is not is because every politician in Gridley felt the pressure when it came to regional transportation dollars.

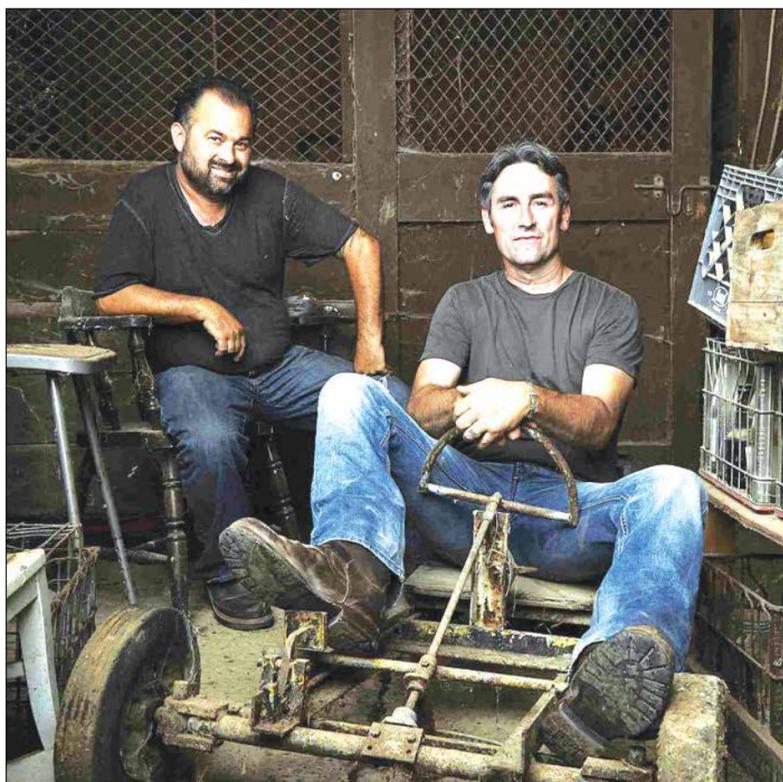

Now we indulge in a bit of nostalgia by reading the Original Gridley Herald Editor Bill Burlleson Pi Line column of January 2nd, 1980 (in italics): What happened in the early 1970's that didn't change the course of Gridley? The realigned Hwy 99E freeway didn't get built. Now, going into the 1980's, the city continues to grow in spite of the Hwy fizzle, and the first shopping center is about to open. In the waning & 70s, there was the flurry of activity towards annexations and homebuilding dampened considerably by the downturn of the economy and skyrocketing interest rates. Sometime in the & 80s, we're going to see these plans realized as the demand for the people needing homes is still there. We might see zoning completed in the next ten years, allowance for light industry, and maybe some more jobs.

Farmers are going to have to solve the problems created by more government regulations. Restrictions on pesticides will continue to plague the crop dusting industry. And rice straw will still be rice straw, unless we see a change to another crop, such as cotton. However, the world demand for rood could change the whole farming picture. Gridley will continue to prosper in comparison to other cities because of its sewage, water, and power situation. But, progress will necessitate more indebtedness for expansion in all utilities and services. More government grants will be pursued. Most of the growth is outside the city limits these days, particularly in mobile homes a sign of the problems in the construction industry.

Postmaster Dick Waterbury says he figures there are 12,000 persons served by the Gridley Post Office. This does not count the overlap with rural Biggs and Live Oak and Oroville Route 2 (Robinson's Corner area). We would guess 18,000 is a better number of people present in the immediate Gridley trade area. And the predictions for the 1980's now become frightening. Can you compute the idea of doubling the population, to 36,000 people in this rural area? It could happen, and probably will. Meanwhile, at the post office, there are more immediate problems. The County of Butte is reassigning new Gridley addresses, sending notices to all the people concerned except for the post office. If you want to receive your mail, fill out a change of address card and leave it at the Gridley P.O. The change of addresses will be county-wide, to get the county organized for the future and expected growth. Happy New Year!★

Many questions remain unanswered and Gridley residents still have issues regarding the Camp Fire Community, not only the huge impact on resources facing the school district, but worries of increased crime and drug problems that seem to trend in FEMA housing sites, misgivings on how that crime will be addressed, traffic increase, overall community safety and the ability of the City to enforce the 2 year lease period.

During the Q&A portion of the meeting, FEMA representatives were put through the ringer when multiple community members asked for details on how they vetted applicants eligibility to obtain housing in a FEMA modular home and how illegal activity was tolerated by the agency. Unclear and vague answers drew angry responses from the crowd. Guest speakers Gridley-Biggs Police chief Al Byers stated that the department was "ready and prepared to keep the community safe" and Sheriff Kory Honea assured residents that every effort would be made by both departments to provide adequate security and short response times to emergency calls. Sheriff Honea also implored FEMA not to tie the hands of the Gridley community with a lack of funding, agreeing that it was unfair for local resources to be used for the new community.

Mayor Bruce Johnson had opened the meeting with the statement that "providing thoughtful and quality assistance will impact our quality of life" as Gridley residents, but to what degree remains uncertain. It was clear that the 100 strong crowd in attendance desired to help those displaced by the Camp Fire but wanted more information and assurances that funding and resources would be provided before they fully supported the placement of the Campfire Community in Gridley. The City Council members and Mayor Johnson plan to take the suggestions and concerns expressed at the meeting into account as they continued to draft the contract with FEMA, and commented that they hadn't come to a complete agreement but that they still needed to move forward. Mayor Johnson stated that "If FEMA can't agree with what we have as an idea, I have no problem walking away from it." ★

Recent Vital Statistics on Traffic Safety

By Seti Long

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - Every year the National Highway Traffic Safety Authority conducts research and compiles data in order to fulfill its mission to "save lives, prevent injuries, reduce vehicle related accidents."

Recent national statistics for fatal accidents in the United States numbered 37,133 in 2017, which is actually down 328 from 2016's total of 37,461. California totals for fatal vehicle crashes numbered 3,602 for the year 2017, with 3,107 being attributed to alcohol impaired driving. Those numbers are also down from 2016, with alcohol impaired fatalities for California 3,837, the highest recorded number in the five year period 2013-2017.

Locally, there were 241 collisions between January of 2016 to the end of 2017 from Highway 99 between the Highway 20 junction in Yuba City and the Highway 149 junction in Butte County. There were 219 accidents during that same time frame on Highway 70, between Marysville and Oroville. The number of those that proved fatal has not yet been compiled. ★

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

CAMP FIRE ASSISTANCE

Dear Editor,
My husband and I were evacuees from the Camp Fire who were given shelter at the fairgrounds in your lovely town.

I wanted to thank all the volunteers and people who gave us so much assistance in such a stressful situation.

From shelter, to clothing, to the fantastic help your local pharmacies gave us in obtaining our medications, I have never experienced the outpouring of caring and generosity that the people of Gridley, The Red Cross, etc., showed us.

We were fortunate that Cal Fire saved our neighborhood and our house, when so many of our friends lost everything and even one of them died in the fire.

As we thought about it later, it was simply Americans taking care of their fellow citizens, just like it was when I was growing up back in the 1950's. Families took care of less fortunate members, and neighbors looked out for each other.

The people of Gridley welcomed us as though we were their neighbors, not refugees from a disaster. My heart-felt thanks to all of them.

Sincerely, Julia K. Chapman ★

Services are pending for Joyce Marie Tomasello, 81, who passed away on November 22, 2018, at her home in North Highlands, CA, after a well-fought battle with pancreatic cancer. She was born in Gerber, California on September 8, 1937, to John and Ola Stahl; she was delivered by her daddy and was one of seven children. As a child, after a typical day of working in the orchard with the family, she would often steal away to a quiet spot with a good book and a slice of cheese. She attended school in Los Molinos, CA, graduating in 1955 with a 4.0 GPA and winning a statewide Bank of America Vocational Arts Scholarship, which she put to good use taking courses in Business Administration at Chico State University.

singing with the Sweet Adelines. In 1985, she moved to the Sacramento area to attend Lincoln School of Law and served as the office manager for a local law firm for three years before realizing that law was not the path she wanted to take. She was married to James Stover from 1987 until he passed in 1996. In 1997, she began working at Music Exchange, where she discovered her love for playing the piano and organ and strengthened her computer skills in building a customer database and music inventory for the store.

Joyce began volunteering with Senior Gleaners, where she met Wane Tomasello. They were married in 2007. Joyce's many interests included reading, singing, playing the organ, computers, gardening in her beautiful yard, sewing, embroidering, knitting, and crocheting. Dave Ramsey Says Average Small Business Owner is Now Over 50

Commentary from AMAC

Invest Now?

Dear Dave,
I'm almost debt-free, and I'll be finishing my master's degree soon. I'm not from this country, so I'll be returning home in the next three to five years. Considering my situation, would investing in the stock market be a good idea? I've been reading that the market is about to crash, so I wanted to get your advice before doing anything.

-Rahm

Dear Rahm,
If someone could accurately predict the stock market with certainty, that person would be a multi-billionaire. Right now, there are also articles out there that say the market is about to boom. There are always "glass half-full" and "glass half-empty" articles floating around. I wouldn't avoid stock market investing based on one ridiculous article you read.

However, in your situation you may not want to invest in the stock market right now. History says you stand a fair chance of coming out with less than you put in if you don't leave the money invested in the stock market alone for at least five years. The market cycles up, and the market cycles down. This really isn't a big problem if you're going to put your money in there, and leave it alone for 20 years or more. But three to five years? The historical data says you've got a reasonable chance of actually losing money.

So, I probably wouldn't invest if you're going to be gone in five years or less. Instead, when you're settled and have a career in your home country, I'd advise looking into how you can invest there. You might even want to do some research, and find out if you can begin investing there now.

—Dave

Designate a percentage

Dear Dave,
I'm debt-free except for my home, and I have a small business with revenues of around $100,000 annually. About half of that is profit, and I typically pay myself 40 percent of the bi-weekly revenue. I'm in the media business, and I need to upgrade some equipment. At what point do I put back a little more money, or pay myself a little less, to make this happen?

-Luke

Dear Luke,
I know what you mean. We're in the media business, too, and around my office it seems like we buy more and newer technology every day. Really, it's like a black hole. You could throw money into it the rest of your life, because practically the very moment you open the box it's obsolete.

We finally decided to designate a percentage of our revenues to equipment replacement. Something is always being replaced, but this way we've got a limit and we've got something set aside to make our technology needs happen. It's like the envelope system. If the envelope's empty, we have to stop buying and put off whatever it is until the cash is available again.

I hope this helps!

Is it really the millennials who are leading the way when it comes to start-up companies? "The truth is that older Americans are in the vanguard of America's small businesses. A study conducted by the information services company, Experian, puts the average age of these entrepreneurs at 50.3 years old," according to Dan Weber, president of the senior advocacy organization, AMAC.

Guidant Financial, small business funding, estimates that a third of small business owners are in their fifties and another 21% are 60 years of age or older.

What drives seniors to start up a new business? Weber says it's because many of them have the know-how, skills and Rolodex – in other words, they are well prepared for the vagaries and surprises of their marketplaces. "Oh yeah, the fact that the fastest growing segment of the population is made up of us older folk probably has something to do with it."

The Small Business Administration, in fact, claims that "the perfect time to leverage experience, passions, hobbies and resources to launch or purchase a small business" is when you are in your 50s, 60s and even your 70s.

The great majority of employers in the U.S. are small businesses. "The statistics show that small businesses are a principal driver of the economy. Companies with fewer than 500 employees account for an amazing 99.7% of American businesses. Even more startling, 89% of employers have fewer than 20 employees," notes Weber.

Small businesses consistently account for as much as two thirds of new jobs created in the U.S., according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. And business is so good these days that the National Federation of Independent Business [NFIB] reports that the small business sector has 38% more job openings than they can fill.

"The U.S. regained the top spot in the World Economic Forum's ranking of the most competitive country (out of 140), after losing that position with the advent of the regulatory onslaught of the previous Administration," says the NFIB.

Weber agrees that the Trump administration can take credit for the booming economy and job market, "notwithstanding former President Obama's boast that it is all due to him. Whatever personal opinion one may have regarding President Trump, you must admit that it is his direct support of business, in general, and small business, in particular, that have been driving growth over the past two years."

And, the president of the Association of Mature American Citizens adds that 40% of the entrepreneurs who have created new small businesses represent a true cross-section of the U.S. population. Weber cites a report by the Kaufman Foundation, which found that they include Hispanic [24%], African-American [9%] and Asian [7.5%] men and women.

In 2017, the first full year of Mr. Trump's presidency, the nation saw "an 82 percent increase in the proportion of minority business owners, specifically with a higher percentage who identified as Hispanic and African American," compared with 2016, the last full year of Mr. Obama's term, says Guidant Financial.

NFIB president Juanita Duggan put it this way: "Main Street optimism is on a stratospheric trajectory thanks to recent tax cuts and regulatory changes. For years, owners have continuously signaled that when taxes and regulations ease, earning and employee compensation increase."

The Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC] [https://www.amac.us] is a vibrant, vital senior advocacy organization that takes its marching orders from its members. We act and speak on their behalf, protecting their interests and offering a practical insight on how to best solve the problems they face today. BY SETI LONG

The following are stories that appeared in the Gridley Herald 25, 50, 75, 100 and 125 years ago:

25 Years Ago (1994)

"Subdivision Worries Red Top Mill Officials"

Red Top Rice Mill president of operations Steve Cribari appeared before the Biggs City Council to express concerns of the company about the proposed Ramsdell/Daily/Reed Development to be built approximately 300 yards away from the mill. "We have quite a large investment down the street from this development," said Cribari. He expressed concern about water quality, engineering planned ponds, the shallow wells of Red Top and contamination. He was quick to assure the builder that Red Top wasn't attempting to stop development, but was trying to protect the mill from any potential law suits.

The Ramsdell/Daily/Reed housing project is proposed to be built along the north city boundary of Biggs between Fourth street on the west and three hundred feet west of the existing Reclamation District 833 ditch on the east, having about 400 feet of frontage along Second street. A change in the original plans of the project brought the number of houses to be built from 29 up to 34. That change was brought about by the demands of Reclamation Area #833 and the planning commission. A final hearing regarding the development has been set for February 14th.

50 Years Ago (1969)

"Seabee Writes About Building Children's Hospital in Vietnam"

Seabee Gary R. Wood, serving with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 3 at Camp Haskins, Vietnam, writes about helping build a children's hospital during his tour. Wood and his family (wife and two sons) have lived in Gridley for the last nine years. With a photo of barefoot and bandaged children saluting the inspection team included, Wood writes in a letter to the Herald about the hospital that, "A lot of hard work has gone into building it by the Seabees, it is really needed. The picture doesn't really show the children that are in a bad way and how bad the old hospital is. I realize how much we need such facilities in parts of our own country, but children are children no matter what race or color, so what little help these children are getting should help their future." Wood was part of the electrical crew that helped get the children's hospital up a running.

75 Years Ago (1944)

"Butte Quota in 4th War Loan"

Butte county's quota in the $14,000,000 Fourth War Loan Drive has been set at $2,850,000 announced J.W. Jepsen, local chairman. Butte county's quota will be $174,347 less than the sum required in the previous campaign. The announcement of Gridley's quota in the campaign is expected as soon as the county quota has been broken down into community portions "School Attendance"

Reports from the Gridley grammar school, which resumed on Monday after a second forced closing caused by the epidemic of influenza, are to the effect that attendance is picking up and will soon be normal again. It is now considered to be entirely safe for the children to attend school and any considerable absences after this week will be looked into by the school authorities..

"Worlds Fair"

Those who failed to see the Worlds Fair at Chicago will have an opportunity to witness some of its wonders and beauties without high expense and with no inconvenience. J.W. Lundy of Oakland will be in Marysville Saturday and Monday Nights, January 13th and 15th, and will deliver his celebrated stereopticon lecture, "The Worlds Fair Under Calcium Light." The lecture will be illustrated by 260 magnificent view of scenes from the fair. ★

"HOLMES & WATSON" D.O.A. COMEDY; "FOX" WINTER TV PREVIEW

A Film and TV Review by Tim Riley

Unless the rules have changed, a film billed as a comedy is supposed to be funny, especially when the lead characters are Will Ferrell and John C. Reilly. After all, they scored plenty of laughs in "Talladega Nights" and "Step Brothers."

They are now reunited in "Holmes & Watson," intended to mine laughs from the story of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's legendary detective and sidekick. Instead, what Sony dumped into theatres on an unsuspecting public should win honors as the worst film of the year.

The origin story does not begin well. Ferrell's Sherlock Holmes is first seen at an English boarding school where he is bullied and taunted. His crush on a pretty classmate ends up with the young lad tricked into kissing the rear end of a donkey (yeah, don't ask).

Holmes gets his revenge by using his brain to get the entire student population expelled with the exception of Reilly's Watson. Thus, a lifelong bond is formed between the two.

The professional partnership formed between old friends has Doctor Watson eagerly trying to establish his legitimacy as co-detective, a title that Holmes seems not so interested in bestowing.

The detective's arch-nemesis is, of course, Professor Moriarty (Ralph Fiennes), first seen on trial for heinous crimes. In the courtroom, the judge impatiently waits for Holmes to turn up as the witness for the prosecution.

Meanwhile, Holmes appears oblivious to the time of his court appointment, as he prances around practicing a dramatic entrance all the while trying on a variety of hats, including a fez that says "Make England Great Again," an anachronistic jab if there ever was one.

Even when he makes it to court with only seconds to spare before the judge would have no choice but to dismiss the defendant, Holmes botches his testimony such that the criminal mastermind is set free to the horrified chagrin of Inspector Lestrade (Rob Brydon).

With the masterful stroke of an inept performance, Holmes comes across as a buffoon whose supposed power of reasoning and logic is completely shattered. But there are no laughs or even giggles to be had with the detective's clown show.

Most of the characters are wasted. Rebecca Hall turns up as American doctor Grace Hart, later re-enacting a famous movie scene with Watson. Her assistant Millie (Lauren Lapkus) is a mute who was raised by feral cats.

As the film comes to a merciful end, Moriarty is hanging out in a saloon where Holmes and Watson are disguised as cowboys. If you stayed in the theater this long, that would be unfortunate.

FOX NETWORK WINTER PREVIEW

Just like any network, FOX will run with proven commodities. Thus a famous celebrity chef returns with "Gordon Ramsay's 24 Hours to Hell and Back," as he seeks to rescue dining establishments across the country on the brink of disaster.

Anyone knows that a restaurant is a high-risk business. Chef Ramsay and his crew transform struggling restaurants with spectacular renovations, fresh new menus and hope for the future.

What's fresh for the winter is "The Masked Singer," hosted by Nick Cannon, with panelists Jenny McCarthy, Nicole Scherzinger, Ken Jeong and Robin Thicke, delivering a top-secret singing competition that features celebrities facing off against one another.

The major twist is that each singer is shrouded from head to toe in an elaborate costume, complete with full face mask to conceal his or her identity. The celebrity guests are apparently well-known, including ones with loads of Grammy and Emmy award nominations.

"The Passage," based on author Justin Cronin's best-selling trilogy of the same name, is an expansive, character-driven thriller that focuses on Project Noah, a secret medical facility where scientists are experimenting with a dangerous virus.

When a young girl is chosen to be a test subject, a federal agent (Mark-Paul Gosselaar) is tasked with bringing her in, but ultimately, becomes her surrogate father, determined to protect her at any cost. ★

Gridley Thumbs and Roots

By Barbara Ott

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - There is a lavender in the front yard that has not quit blooming since I bought it over a year ago. I cannot find its tag but I have taken cuttings and it seems to propagate easily. The bees are happy on sunny days that this plant has many blooms. I'm wondering if there is a micro climate in my yard that is supporting this plant or if it has been developed to be this hardy. It is a vigorous grower. I've cut it back during the summer due to it beginning to sprawl. So far it has not been fazed by the light frosts this winter. I'm wondering what will happen if the temperatures go to freezing. Usually I cut all the lavenders back for winter. This one is so full of blooms that I have not cut it back. At this point in time I'm letting it be to see what happens, I'll keep all of you posted as to what this wonder plant does this winter. If it stays strong and hardy, I'll be spreading it around and cuttings will be available at the Green Thumb Garden Club plant sale in May. I have a lot of plants blooming here and there out of season. I've got penstemon blooms, aloe blooms, coreopsis blooms and of course the "hot lips" is blooming where I haven't cut it totally back. The bulbs are popping out of the ground. The early narcissus are blooming. I have blooms in my porch micro climate of begonias and fuchsias...yep really, I do. I planted one of the begonias in the yard and it is dying back due to frost but the one in the planter has bright green leaves and pretty pink flowers. What a great New Year's gift. ★ without our having to look for Divine Intervention, usually. We tend to be grateful for other things, like calves in the spring, and how clean they look before they discover mud.

We are deeply grateful that tasty rabbits arrive in large litters, and bears don't. When we think about it, we are thankful that we get eggs from hens and not from rattlesnakes, as checking the rattle house each morning could get 'way too exciting.

When you consider that porcupines have quills, and not deer, it gives us pause for praise, and we're happy that it's skunks who carry scent glands and not squirrels.

We are thankful, too, that hurricanes and tornadoes only happen in warm weather. It's bad enough to lose the barn without being chill-factored to death while it's happening. "Turkeys," Dud said, sipping his coffee.

"What?" "I'm thankful turkeys are stupid. Ever looked in a turkey's eyes? Not only is no one home, but there was a mass evacuation sometime during the Eisenhower Administration. A turkey has just enough brains to operate his heart and lungs."

"You're thankful for that?" Doc said. "Sure," said Dud. "If turkeys had been given the rudimentary intelligence of a garden snail, we might be forced to eat sheep on Thanksgiving."

Gridley's Kemmis, Moran Earn Coach, Player of Year Honors

Gridley senior running back Jorge Moran looks for a hole in the Las Plumas line during a game late in the 2018 season.

Gridley head football coach Matt Kemmis addresses his team after the Bulldogs' season-ending loss at Sutter in the CIF Northern Section Division 3 semifinals Nov. 24.

GRIDLEY, CA (MPG) - It's been a good first couple of seasons at the helm for Gridley High School head football coach Matt Kemmis.

After the Bulldogs went 1-9 and missed the playoffs in 2016, a season of turmoil that saw a mid-season coaching change and player numbers dwindle into the teens by the end of the season, Kemmis came in and was able to turn the program around in his first season, leading the Bulldogs to a 9-3 record and the CIF Northern Section Division 3 championship game in 2017.

Those efforts earned Kemmis the Gridley Herald's Coach of the Year honor for 2017. With the loss of a big chunk of the Bulldogs' offense and a big senior class last season, Gridley looked to be in a bit of a rebuilding mode in 2018. But the Bulldogs had another fine season, going 8-4, finishing second in the BVL and again making the playoffs, where they again won a first-round game before falling to perennial rival Sutter in the semifinals this time.

Senior running back Jorge Moran fell just short of the 1,000-yard plateau as a junior in 2017, when he amassed 967 yards on 184 carries with 13 TDs. Moran obliterated the 1,000-yard mark this season, with 189 carries for 1,152 yards and a whopping 26 TDs. Moran's efforts have earned him the Gridley Herald's Player of the Year honor for 2018. It's the second straight year a Gridley player has earned the honor; Bulldog senior quarterback Jace Villapania earned the accolade last year. ★

The Skinny: Football Honors Wrap Up 2018 Season

Gridley Herald
Sports Reporter

Over many years doing this job, I've gotten lots of joy out of it. For sheer unbridled joy, it's hard to beat getting paid to watch football. Or any sport, for that matter! But for me, one of my favorite things has always been giving a little bit of recognition to the athletes and their mentors. I get to do that again today with the announcement of the Gridley Herald's Prep Football Coach and Players of the Year.

After a season of turmoil and turmoil in 2016 that saw Gridley's head coach forced to resign early in the year, and a 1-9 record, the Bulldogs found the right man for the job in Matt Kemmis, who led Gridley to marks of 9-3 a year ago and 8-4 this season - both with accompanying deep play-off runs.

Kemmis is my choice for Coach of the Year again this year. And of course, great coaches don't get to where they are without some great players.

Kemmis had that in 2017 in Jace Villapania, and another standout offensive player this season in running back Jorge Moran. Both players were obvious choices for Player of the Year honors. I love it when these guys make my job easy!

As any real football fan knows, there are four seasons: The preseason; the regular season; the post-season; and the offseason. For area prep football players, it's the offseason, where the work is put in and the foundation laid for next year's success on the gridiron. There's a lot of running, a lot of lifting, and a lot of unglorious legwork to be done these next few months. And in late July, the cycle starts again.

Happy New Year, everyone!
