Infection Control a must at Orchard Hospital

By Lisa Van De Hey
Publisher/Editor

The Medical Staff at Orchard Hospital purchased three Ultraviolet Light Decontamination Devices that will be used both at the hospital and the Medical Specialty Center.

The devices will be use in patient rooms and other areas following manual cleaning and decontamination by Environmental Services Staff, Surgery Staff and other places where infectious patients may have been.

One device will be used at the Medical Specialty Center to be used in the waiting room at night once all patients have gone. The others will be used at the hospital in the surgery department to prevent against post operative infections and for hospital isolation and infectious cases.

The size of the room to be decontaminated constitutes how long the treatment should last in the area to assure infections are not acquired in the hospital or Medical Specialty Center.

Inservice training is mandatory for Environmental Services Staff as they work with medical staff to understand how long the device should be in place as each micronism is different.

BY SETI LONG

The following are stories that appeared in the Gridley Herald 25, 50, 75, 100 and 125 years ago:

25 Years Ago (1992)
“Locals Unhappy with new Phone Book.”

The new 1992 Pacific Bell phone book reads “more ads, more information, more help”, but many locals are saying just the opposite. The new books white pages, which contain resident and business phone numbers are no longer broken up into cities, but have every number in Butte County under one 205 pages listing. According to the supervisor at the office handling the phone books, they had only received a few complaints from the surround areas at this point, but delivery of the phone book to all areas had not been completed, and that unfortunately, they expect more complaints to roll in.

50 Years Ago (1967)
“Near Miss”

Harold Whiting and David Stenzel, Gridley young men, narrowly escaped serious injury and death Saturday morning at about 1:30 a.m. when they were run down by Southern Pacific passenger train No.13 at the Hazel Street crossing. The men escaped the car which was pitched across the tracks in such a way that it's wheels were spinning when it landed. City trustees have written Southern Pacific about the need for some kind of warning devices and the need for them to be installed at the crossing.

75 Years Ago (1942)
“142 Sign Up for Night Instruction at High School.”

Enrollment in a special evening class at the Gridley High School indicated a widespread interest in the defense program. Twenty five persons signed up for home nursing instruction, taught by Mrs. B. Talbot, 22 expressed preference for nutrition classwork, taught by Miss Adeline Eager, and 95 persons crowded in to enroll for the first aid workshop taught by Dr. Hollis Carey. Twenty two of the persons joining the First aid instruction classes intend to join the Motor Corps while a second group of 10 want to become first aid instructors themselves.

100 Years Ago (1917)
“Trustees Decide to Purchase Land for Park.”

City trustees came to the decision to purchase 1.62 acres of land adjoining the present city park, at a price of $475 per acre. The land will be added to the park and will make it the largest city park in the northern part of the state.

125 Years Ago (1892)
“Rifle Practice”

At the rifle range, the Chico Rifle Association held their monthly medal shoot. L.W. Brooks captured the first medal and W.J. Costar the second.

Sacramento FBI Teen Academy applications available

The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Sacramento field office is accepting applications for the Spring 2017 FBI Teen Academy. This unique opportunity is open to all high school juniors attending any school—public, private, and home school—in the 34-counties the field office serves. The application package is available for download now.

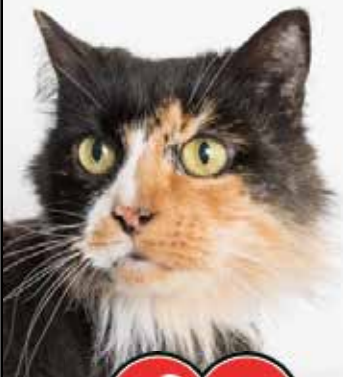

Students selected to participate will spend an entire day at FBI Sacramento field office headquarters in Roseville on Friday, April 7, 2017. Applying and attending the FBI Teen Academy program is free; however, families are responsible for travel to and from the class.

The FBI Teen Academy is a unique opportunity for any student—regardless of career interest—who is curious about the FBI, what the FBI investigates, and how it serves the community. FBI Teen Academy participants engage in activities and discussions about what the FBI does and current topics relative to FBI investigations. Activities may include discussions about cyber safety, terrorism, active shooter situations, and color of law and civil rights investigations; participation in simulated evidence response team and bomb techs scenarios; and frank conversations about online communication and staying safe in an always-connected world.

After completing the class, participants better understand the FBI's role in their communities, grasp the complexity of FBI investigations, can make lifestyle choices to be safer in their day-to-day lives, and what FBI career paths are available. FBI Teen Academy students often remain connected with the field office to facilitate presentations, mentorship, and more.

Pet of the Week

Hi, my name is McCloud! Right now I may look a bit different because I am shaved, my previous owner preferred me to have short hair, but I'm still a cutie! I like to snuggle under all my blankets to get super comfortable so people don't always see me, but I love for people to take a peek under and give me some attention! I have a history with dogs and used to be a mostly indoor cat with access to a backyard. I also really enjoy having a scratching post at my disposal! I'm a sweet girl who would love to find a furever home, so come adopt me today!

Man dies when deputies arrive

At approximately 5 a.m., on January 12, 2017, the Butte County Sheriff's Office (BCSO) received a call from a man reporting his father, Marc Chiasson Sr., 65, who had serious physical and mental health issues, had stopped taking his medication and was making statements about wanting to die. BCSO Deputies Vong Vang and Randall Cooper responded to Chiasson's residence on Cox Lane, in Oroville to conduct a welfare check.

Upon arrival, deputies spoke to the reporting party and determined the elder Chiasson was inside the residence. The reporting party advised that prior to the deputies' arrival Chiasson had been attempting to get a shotgun from a locked safe and was making statements indicating he was intent upon committing suicide. Chiasson became irate when deputies entered the residence, stating he didn't need assistance. He was cursing at the deputies and demanding they leave. Deputies determined Chiasson was in need of a psychological evaluation and due to his agitated state the use of handcuffs would be appropriate for the transport to the hospital.

As the deputies were applying the handcuffs, Chiasson stiffened his arms and struggled briefly to prevent the deputies from handcuffing him. The deputies were quickly able to gain control of Chiasson, and apply the handcuffs by utilizing a wrist lock control hold. No other physical force was used to take Chiasson into custody. Deputies began to walk Chiasson out of the residence; however, as he was walking he began to drag his feet and appeared to be having difficulty walking. Deputies put Chiasson in the back seat of a patrol car, where he then laid down and became unresponsive. Concerned for Chiasson's well-being, deputies checked his vital signs and determined he had a pulse and was still breathing, but was unresponsive. Deputies radioed dispatch and requested immediate response from fire/medical personnel. As the deputies continued to monitor Chiasson, they noted he had no pulse and his eyes would not react to light. Deputies immediately removed him from the patrol car, removed the handcuffs, and began CPR. Deputies performed CPR for 12 minutes. When fire and medical personnel arrived on scene the life-saving efforts continued. Ultimately, it was determined Chiasson could not be revived and he was pronounced deceased at the scene.

Due to the fact that this death occurred immediately after Chiasson was taken into custody, BCSO contacted the Butte County District Attorney's Office and requested they conduct an independent investigation into the circumstances of the incident. The investigation included interviews with responding deputies, as well as family members who were present. Investigators also reviewed body camera footage recording the life-saving efforts undertaken by the deputies. All information obtained from those sources is consistent with details as described above, and there is nothing to suggest that deputies did anything to contribute to Chiasson's death.

The investigation further revealed that Chiasson had a number of medical issues, which will be examined as part of a scheduled autopsy. The autopsy is being conducted by the Sacramento County Coroner's Office. The completion of the investigation is pending the final results of the autopsy and the examination of Chiasson's medical history. Further status updates about the investigation will be released by the Butte County District Attorney's Office.

Sheriff Honea said, "This is an unfortunate incident for everyone involved. My heart goes out to the family of Mr. Chiasson for their loss, and to my deputies who went to extraordinary lengths to save Mr. Chiasson's life, but still experienced his death first hand."

Gridley Thumbs and Roots

By Barbara Ott

Winter fog in the valley! It is an exclamation in its misty thickness, not down to the ground but cold and fuzzy. I become nostalgic on foggy days. I love fossils and dinosaurs. It started when I was nine and it has not gone away. Foggy days remind me of dinosaurs and topical places. I always envision the days of the dinosaurs as bright light through mist, those monster reptiles would soak up the heat from the air and the diffused light. Now I feed those monster's descendants during foggy days and they dart and dash around the yard pooping along the way.

In Oroville there is a great little yard store downtown on Myers St. It used to have dinosaurs for the garden in its' window. I asked if they still order these great dinosaurs. I know I can not afford the seven feet tall brontosaurus, but I have the four foot one in my heart with great desire. I can see it now tucked into the ferns in my yard amidst the hanging birch leaves. Once it is there I will love going out to see it on foggy days.

Butte County in local emergency due to storms

A Local Emergency caused by recent storms has been proclaimed for Butte County. The proclamation was executed by the County Chief Administrative Officer, Paul Hahn and the Board of Supervisors will consider an item during the Board Meeting on January 24, 2017 to ratify the proclamation. The County executed the proclamation in response to substantial damage caused to County roads from heavy rain and flooding, as well as heavy winds which caused downed trees.

Proclaiming a Local Emergency due to the recent storms allows the County to access more resources to better assist with costs to fix local roads and assist residents affected by rising water levels and flooding. The full level of assistance for County roads and local residents still remains to be determined. For now, the County is focused on assessing the damage to County roads, such as the lane erosion on Centerville Road and the shifting of a portion of Oro-Quincy Hwy above Brush Creek. The County is also assessing damages to local residents whose properties were damaged during the recent storms.

Reduce Your Risk of Stroke

Since 1989, May has been designated as National Stroke Awareness Month. Stroke happens when blood flow to part of the brain is interrupted.

Fortunately, perhaps due to increased awareness, stroke death rates dropped 35 percent between 1998 and 2008. However, every year, stroke still kills more than 133,000 people in the U.S., and is a leading cause of serious, long-term adult disability.

Stroke occurs slightly more frequently in women than men, and African-Americans have an increased risk for the disease.

Some things you can do to lessen your risk of stroke are: control blood pressure and cholesterol levels, don't smoke, limit alcohol consumption, eat a healthy diet, and exercise regularly.

There are warning signs of a stroke, and acting quickly when stroke is suspected is critical. The National Stroke Association suggests the FAST test when stroke is suspected:

Face. Ask the person to smile. Note if one side of the face droops.

Arms. Ask the person to raise both arms. See if one drifts downward.

Speech. Ask the person to repeat a simple sentence. Listen for slurred speech.

Time. If you observe any of these signs, call 911 immediately.

Learn more about the disease and its prevention and treatment at www.Stroke.org.

PG&E launches $500 Rebate for electric vehicle drivers

Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) recently announced the launch of the Clean Fuel Rebate for residential, electric customers who are electric vehicle (EV) drivers. The new Clean Fuel Rebate is part of California's statewide Low Carbon Fuel Standard initiative, which aims to reduce transportation-related greenhouse gas emissions by encouraging the adoption of clean fuels like electricity. Transportation is the single largest contributor to greenhouse gas emissions in California at 40 percent.

Today, each mile driven using electricity reduces vehicle-related greenhouse gas emissions by nearly 70 percent, compared to gasoline-powered cars. The electricity fueling EVs in California comes from one of the cleanest energy mixes in the country – PG&E delivers more than 58 percent of electricity to customers from greenhouse gas-free resources.

“Electric vehicles are a critical part of creating cleaner air and meeting ambitious climate goals in California. Administering this rebate is part of our ongoing commitment to electric vehicles by supporting our more than 100,000 customers who are adopting clean fuels to significantly reduce their environmental impact and support the state's clean energy future,” said Aaron Johnson, PG&E Vice President of Customer Energy Solutions.

Key facts about the Clean Fuel Rebate

What is the rebate? The Clean Fuel Rebate is a one-time rebate of $500 starting in January 2017. For using electricity as a clean transportation fuel, eligible EV owners can receive one rebate per owned or leased EV.

Where does the money for the rebate come from? By participating in the statewide Low Carbon Fuel Standard program, PG&E generates credits for the clean electricity it provides to customers who charge their EVs at home. After selling these credits to regulated parties, PG&E returns the revenue to customers driving EVs through the new Clean Fuel Rebate.

Who can apply? PG&E residential customers with active electric service who own or lease a battery EV or plug-in hybrid EV can apply for the rebate. A PG&E account holder may also apply on behalf of a vehicle owner in their household or a tenant in a multi-unit dwelling with the vehicle owner's permission. Community Choice Aggregation (CCA) customers are also eligible to apply.

Since the Clean Fuel Rebate comes from a statewide program, residents who have electric service from another provider in California may be eligible for a similar rebate from their electric utility.

What do customers need in order to apply? Customers need their PG&E account number and vehicle registration documentation for their EV.

When can customers apply? The rebate is available for EV drivers starting now. The amount of the rebate is subject to change after 2017 due to market conditions.

Where can customers learn more and apply? Learn more about the rebate and apply via a simple online application at www.pge.com/clean-fuelrebate-ev.

PG&E's ongoing commitment to EVs

PG&E is partnering with EV charging companies to further EV adoption by building out charging infrastructure across Northern and Central California. This program focuses on extending charging access to places where it has traditionally been limited including workplaces, multi-unit dwellings and disadvantaged communities.

PG&E offers resources to help customers driving EVs learn more and determine which rate makes sense for them. Customers can choose from rates that are equivalent to about $1.00 per gallon of gasoline for overnight charging. Additionally, PG&E helps EV drivers who add EV charging at their households manage their electricity bills.

For more information on the Clean Fuel Rebate, please visit www.pge.com/cleanfuelrebate-ev. To learn more about EVs, rates for EV drivers and other resources, visit pge.com/ev.

County says recycle green waste

Butte County residents have been cleaning up from the recent set of storms and many are finding fallen tree limbs, branches, and leaves on their property. The County encourages residents who are cleaning up green and wood debris to take it to a compost facility in their community instead of bringing it to the Neal Road Recycling and Waste Facility (Neal Road Facility) where it must be put in the landfill rather than recycled due to recent changes.

The Neal Road Facility stopped accepting green and wood waste for recycling on December 1, 2016 after the closure of several biomass energy plants left the facility without an outlet for the material.

Green and wood waste has a beneficial use as source material for compost. Compost and green waste collection facilities accepting green and wood waste are available in Chico, Oroville, Paradise, and the Gridley, Biggs communities. Taking this waste to a local facility can save a trip out to Neal Road and keep this material out of the landfill.

HEARTSHINE

“Share Closet,” for those who need help.

Contestants will start with personal introduction at the pageant followed by the formal wear contest and last, the interview with six judges who will be looking for top role model, poise and professionalism.

“The girls need to have the ability to speak in front of all kinds of different people, this is what they are looking for,” Barnes explained.

The six judges will ask questions from the contestant's resumes or personality traits.

Until the big pageant weekend arrives, Angie is conducting mock interviews with her family to be ready for the big stage.

Visit Heartshine.net for more information or call 530-762-2219 to donate. Paypal is available at heartshinepageants@gmail.com.

Angie's Mother Francean is very impressed with the pageant and the fact the girls are judged on what is inside, rather than what is outside.

Some free contests that are available to the contestants are cover modeling, academic achievement, Miss Congeniality and pet photos along with a selfie contest at the pageant.

Angie attends Feather River Adventist School in Oroville and is looking forward to the Pajama Party where the girls will exchange homemade gifts while playing games and having fun.

Barnes stressed that young girls can join them for events before signing up to compete to get an idea of what is in store to make them more comfortable.

Angie is no stranger to the stage as she competed in the Butte County Fair's Missette Scholarship Contest along with Miss Hawaiian Tropic at age two and Little Miss Capital City where she completed a vast amount of community service.

Even Angie's brothers Noah and Matthew are involved as they were were Ambassadors at a Heartshine Pageant in July and on November 30 they held the Heartshine banner during the Chamber of Commerce Holiday Parade of Lights.

Angie has chosen to plan an Awareness Walk for Skin Cancer as her platform for running. More details to come on this event.

Rubi Tena had 15 points.

The Bulldog freshmen, meanwhile, were 35-33 winners at Orland to improve to 4-2 on the season.

Sycamore 8th Grade Boys Sports Report

Over the weekend, the Sycamore 8th grade boys basketball team competed in the Prab Bains Invitational held at River Valley High School in Yuba City. The pups came away with the championship trophy with victories over Tierra Buena, Barry School, and Franklin Elementary, all of Yuba City. "For an early season tournament, we did a lot of good things. We still have a ways to go," explained coach Mike Erickson. "I am proud of how we competed."

The pups started off with a victory over a very good Tierra Buena team. The pups jumped out to a quick 9-0 lead behind layups from guards Grant Tull and Arden Anderson. The Eagles also had a difficult time stopping pups big man Cameron Erickson who led all scorers with 17 points. The defense was solid in the first half and the pups had given up only 10 points. In the third quarter, a slow pups start helped the Eagles claw back in. The Eagles outscored the Sycamore team 14-2. The pups were able to hold on for the win.

Sycamore Anderson 14, Nicolson 0, Tull 12, Crabtree 0, Lessard 0, Erickson 17, Sencion 0, Cron 3, Norton 0, Dixon 0, Johns 0.

The pups easily cruised passed Barry in the second game. Grant Tull paced the pups with 20 points. "We had a couple players sick, but Grant really picked us up in the second game. He shot very well and picked up the slack." The highlight of the game was a shot as time expired at the end of the first quarter. Arden Anderson took an outlet pass off a rebound and heaved a shot about 70 feet that banked in. "I didn't even see it go in. I didn't see him shoot it. I saw we had the rebound and I was ready to talk to the kids in the huddle when our bench exploded."

Sycamore Anderson 11, Nicolson 0, Tull 20, Crabtree 0, Lessard 0, Erickson 16, Sencion 2, Cron 3, Norton 1, Dixon 0, Johns 0.

The championship game would feature a very strong opponent in Franklin, and a pups team with two players sick. It would be strong rebounding and defense that would prove to be the difference maker. Grayson Norton and Spencer Cron had big tasks, blocking off the Franklin big men. "They chased down most of the loose balls and took away many opportunities. Without that hustle and speed, I don't know if we win this game." In the open floor, Franklin had no answer for Arden Anderson or Cameron Erickson. Erickson led all scorers with 19 points. Chance Nicolson chipped in 7 in the winning effort, including a 3-point play off a fast break layup. For their efforts, Arden Anderson and Grant Tull were selected to the all-tournament team. Cameron Erickson earned MVP honors.

Sycamore Anderson 7, Nicolson 7, Crabtree 0, Erickson 19, Sencion 0, Cron 0, Norton 6, Dixon 0, Johns 0.
