CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Black belts outnumbered black ties at the Carmichael Chamber of Commerce Person of the Year banquet last week.

Martial arts entrepreneur Dave Kovar was honored for national business success and his efforts to motivate young people toward self-improvement. His friends, family and students packed the Arden Hills resort ballroom. They included 30 karate Black Belts (including wife Angelina, son Alex and daughter Melissa). Even event emcee—Good Day Sacramento anchor Tina Macuha—earned her girdle at Kovar’s Sartori Academy in Carmichael.

Accepting his award, Kovar named his father, 99-year-old WWII veteran Len Kovar, as a life mentor.

“He was shot down over Budapest and survived nine months as a prisoner of war and two death marches,” Kovar said. “My father never complains; he regards each day as a blessing. He lives his life with honor and integrity, and he’s still a massive inspiration to me.”

Kovar also embraced family and staff. “As the founder of the company I get the perks,” he said. “Being Person of the Year makes me proud. But the hard work of my team makes good things happen. They’ve always stood by me. We’re all focusing on making the world a better place by empowering people of all ages to contribute to society.”

Other 2022 Chamber of Commerce honorees included: Almond Orchard Dentist Gabrielle Rasi (Businesswoman of the Year); Carmichael Times Publisher Paul Scholl (Businessman of the Year); Sharon Ruffner (Volunteer of the Year). Outstanding Community Service awards went to Carmichael HART founder Scott Young and to Dr. Leonora Lee of Kaiser Permanente. SMUD was named Business of the Year.

A portion of event proceeds supported Non-Profit of the Year, the Carmichael Parks Foundation.

“It was an honor to be recognized by the Chamber of Commerce for our hard work and support for the community at the Carmichael Times and Messenger Publishing Group. We aim every week to make Carmichael a better place to work and live,” Scholl said.

New Water Restrictions

By Rachel Becker,
CALMatters.org

As a dry summer looms, California Gov. Gavin Newsom ordered water suppliers across California to step up their local drought responses, but fell short of requiring water rationing or setting a state-wide conservation target.

Despite pressure from experts urging a strong mandate, the order leaves the exact conservation measures up to the urban water providers and major water wholesalers that supply the vast majority of Californians. It does not affect agricultural water providers, or the small water systems that are especially vulnerable to drought.

Newsom also ordered state water regulators to consider banning irrigation of decorative lawns at businesses and other institutions.

California’s water watchers said that the order wasn’t enough.

“I would have liked to see a more directed state-wide mandate that would have taken into consideration regional per capita water-use levels,” said Newsha Ajami, chief strategy officer for research at Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory. “However, I am glad to see he is initiating efforts to curb outdoor water use and banning non-functional turf.”

Water systems, however, applauded Newsom for leaving water conservation up to local agencies.

“The Governor’s Order today recognizes the diversity of California communities and their water supply conditions,” Jennifer Pierre, general manager of the State Water Contractors association of public water agencies, said in a statement. “Ordering agencies to exercise their specific plans strikes that important balance of state-wide needs and local action.”

Under the order, which will require emergency regulations that are expected to take effect mid-June, local water suppliers must act as if their water supplies have dipped by at least 10 to 20%.

Each agency has spelled out what actions this degree of reduction — called a stage two water shortage — will trigger in their required Water Shortage Contingency Plans. This could include cutting the number of days when outdoor irrigation is permitted.

“That’s what we’re aiming towards: That everyone has a clear message of the need to conserve, but tailored locally based on the experiences of those suppliers,” said Jared Blumenfeld, California’s secretary for environmental protection.

Ukraine: A Cause Worth Fighting For

Story and photos by Elise Spleiss

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - It was the day that changed their lives forever, February 24, 2022. Friends and relatives in Ukraine started calling. Facebook was full of reports of bombings. It was unreal.

The Ukrainian community in the Sacramento region is a close-knit group from all walks of life who work well with all people in their lives. It is estimated to be over 100,000 Ukrainians in the greater Sacramento region, many who came for their religious freedom.

Therefore, when the attack by Russia on their homeland began, it was a smooth transition, turning their attention from their everyday lives, to working together strategizing plans to get help as soon as possible to their families in the Ukraine. In the words of community leader Vlad Skots, "America/Ukraine we are one family we help each other, businesses and others in the community were reaching out to see how they could come alongside their friends and co-workers who now needed their help.

The Ukrainian American (UA) House in Rancho Cordova is a "nonprofit focused on promoting business relations between Ukraine and the United States." It is now in the forefront of working to get aid to their family and friends.

According to their website, "On February 26, a citywide interfaith prayer service for Ukraine was held at the Spring of Life Baptist Church, a Ukrainian church in Orangevale together with the UA House. It was opened by senior pastor of the church, Vadim Dashkevich. Together with pastors, priests, government officials, public officials, public figures and the Mayor of Sacramento, we prayed to our Lord for Ukraine." As Vlad said, "We rely on God for many things, but for others we must rely on ourselves. We immigrated here and have successfully found the "American Dream" to be a reality is the Skots family. Stephan Skots, owner of USKO Ukrainian Realty in Sacramento, the oldest of 10 brothers, was the first to arrive. He came in 1997 at the age of 20 to escape Communism. He now has five daughters, the last three girls were born in the U.S. He employs 25 agents. He offers his office for regular fellowship breakfast meetings for Ukrainian community leaders to continue keep up with the status of the war and their people's needs.

Four of his brothers from ages 19 to 24 followed him. Their parents, had connections in the U.S. and wanted them to come here for a good education. Stephan learned English at Adult School and opened a business. He brought his brothers here, sponsored and took care of them. He sent them to school and they worked together. The five remaining brothers are still in Ukraine with their parents.

Vlad Skots is Chairman and Co-founder of Ukrainian American House in Rancho Cordova and CEO of USKO Express, Inc, a national trucking company founded in 2006.

Vlad grew up in a very small village in western Ukraine, the seventh of 10 brothers, no sisters. He came here in 2001, knowing no English. He attended school during the day, worked as a janitor, in construction and a truck driver. As a truck driver, driving through all 48 states in America and marveling at their beauty, he fell in love with the transportation business and started his own company." He now has 100 employees.

He appreciated that he, "as a simple guy who grew up in a small village and came here with only a high school diploma, without money, parents or language could build and operate a successful business".

Two other organizations have been instrumental in bringing the Ukraine community together to help spearhead this daunting task.

Branch Manager Mikhail Tkach, Ukrainian Federal Credit Union in Citrus Heights, is helping with fundraising. They provide money grams and money transfers free of charge to credit union members.

Bethany Slavic Missionary

Church in Sacramento is a mainstay of the Ukrainian community. With a congregation of over 1,000, the church and its pastor lead the Ukrainian community. All requests for help go through the team at the church.

According to Vlad Skot, the three things needed most are: 1) Prayer! "We pray about it all. God can help us the most"; 2) Funds to purchase medical supplies and for defense items which can be purchased locally; 3) "Contact your legislatures, raise your voice, they have a moral imperative to help Ukraine more than they are now". He sees more help from the public and businesses than the government.

Many have commented that from 1989 to today - before this war - a new generation has grown up in Ukraine. Their country is different than their parents' and grandparents', more developed, more open, with freedom of religion, freedom of politics, no fear of persecution. Only God knows how this will end.

A Return to the Stage

SCSO to Debut in Renovated Concert Space

Story by Shauna Boyd

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento Choral Society and Orchestra (SCSO) are celebrating their 26th year performing in the Sacramento Region with a debut concert in the newly renovated SAFE Credit Union Performing Arts Center (1301 L Street, Sacramento, CA 95814) on Saturday, May 14 at 8 PM.

The SCSO will partner with guest chorus Schola Cantorum of Sacred Heart Church in Sacramento to perform the dramatic and romantic Requiem by Giuseppe Verdi, which is billed as a work of virtuosic brilliance. Verdi wrote the work in Latin, and the performers will sing it in Latin with the English translation printed in the programs and projected above the stage. "It's a powerful and operatic work that demands large choral forces," said SCSO President and CEO Jim McCormick. So, SCSO Music Director Donald Kendrick will conduct 175 chorus singers, four accomplished soloists, and 52 orchestra members – for a total force of 232 performers on stage.

The artists are eager to finally perform in the renovated concert venue after the forced hiatus due to COVID-19. During the shutdown, the SCSO members were planning their comeback, raising more than $120,000 to pay for new choral risers. McCormick said the investment was "a legacy for the future," showcasing the courage and dedication of the SCSO to put in that work without any indication of when they'd be back on the stage. "It says something about our resilience," said McCormick.

The Sacramento Choral Society and Orchestra (SCSO) will return to the stage on May 14 for their first performance since 2019, debuting in the newly renovated SAFE Credit Union Performing Arts Center. Photo of past performances by Ronald B. Johnson

And now, with the upcoming performance on those new risers, McCormick said it feels like SCSO is "rising again." The risers will wrap around the orchestra, which McCormick said will create an incredible "balance of sound." With the sopranos behind the violins, the tenors and altos behind the brass and woodwind instruments, and the basses singing behind the cellos, the complementary tones will blend together seamlessly on the stage. And a new Constellation Sound System will amplify all the performers with a natural, high-quality sound. McCormick said these new features will "raise the quality and level of professionalism."

The concert will be dedicated to the people of Ukraine and all oppressed people, and it will open with a performance of the Ukrainian National Anthem.

McCormick said that "music is so healing" and Requiem is often referred to as "the Mass for humanity," expressing great sadness but also great hope, so the performance is fitting "at a time of war when people are in need of solace."

The SCSO recorded a performance of Verdi's Requiem 11 years ago at the Mondavi Center in Davis, CA, and those CDs will be available for sale for $10 each, with proceeds going to Ukrainian relief. Additional donations for Ukraine will also be accepted.

The performance will also honor the memory of Sacramento's celebrated restaurateur Biba Caggiano, who passed away in August 2019. "She put Sacramento on the map when it comes to food," said McCormick. "She was fiercely Italian, and no one was more Italian than Giuseppe Verdi," so the SCSO felt the Requiem they held Zoom meetings to practice, it couldn't replicate the joy of singing together in one space. McCormick said this community of singers have dearly missed "the journey" of regular rehearsals and performances, and they are excited for their return to the stage.

After the concert, a reception will be held in the lobby so attendees can meet the talented orchestra members and singers – including distinguished soloists Jennifer Forni, Soprano; Linda Baird, Mezzo Soprano; Robert Breault, Tenor; and Timothy Jones, Baritone who are flying in from across the country for this performance.

SCSO Music Director

Donald Kendrick, who has been conducting for more than 30 years, said, "We're very excited to bring this piece of music, the best thing [Verdi] ever wrote in his life, to the newly refurbished theater, debuting the new risers, and employing the new sound system. ...

This performance promises to be one the most significant things we have done in a long time."

Kendrick said it will be an "unbelievable, unforgettable evening."

Through its performances, the SCSO seeks to transform our communities through the power of music, believing that the performance and appreciation of live music are vital to the well-being of society. Music elevates our experiences; it evokes the deepest mysteries of life and inspires all who hear it. And live music in particular creates a sense of shared experience that cannot be replicated: "That's what great music does; it provides a platform to bring people together," said McCormick, "it's a coming together of a community."

performance would be an ideal time to honor her legacy.

McCormick said the concert will be a significant moment for the audience, coming back to experience live orchestral and choral music after the lengthy shutdown, and also very therapeutic for the performers, who haven't been able to sing together in person for the last two years. Although

Already, 41% of 385 water suppliers have reached or surpassed this level of shortage, administration officials said.

State officials tally 55 water providers — or about 14% of the water systems reporting their conservation efforts to the state — that have not yet activated their water shortage contingency plans.

Bottom of Form

Many residents, particularly in cities and towns, appear to be ignoring the state's pleas to take the drought seriously and cut back: In January, Californians used nearly 3% more water statewide compared to before the drought emergency was declared.

Overall, from July through January, Californians cut back by less than 7% statewide compared to 2020, according to state data.

The increase came during the second-driest January on record, despite Newsom's call in July for Californians to voluntarily cut back water use by 15% percent.

Over the past several weeks, administration officials have made appearances across the state, live-streaming the same request against backdrops of drought-tolerant landscaping: urging Californians to conserve water as another dry summer looms.

The tour appears to have been laying the groundwork for a water conservation mandate, but one far more complicated than the mandate former Gov. Jerry Brown issued during the last drought, which called for water suppliers to cut back by an average of 25% statewide.

"A mandate that identifies a reduction target I think is an easier message for people to understand," said Heather Cooley, research director with the Pacific Institute, a global water think tank.

Still, she said, there are benefits to tying Newsom's conservation order to water providers' existing plans for weathering dry spells: "They should be able to get started on it immediately."

The news comes on the heels of the driest January and February on record. Historically dry conditions prompted California water regulators to cut deliveries from the state aqueduct to 5% of requested supplies, down from 15%.

Though rain and snow quenched the parched state Sunday and Monday, severe drought nevertheless continues to clutch nearly all of California. Across the San Joaquin Valley, North Coast, and the deserts of California's southeast, extreme drought remains entrenched.

As of last week, reservoir storage had dropped to just 69% of average across the state, and the dwindling snowpack shows little hope of substantially refilling them in the dry months ahead.

Newsom's order is more nuanced than the statewide conservation mandate that former Gov. Jerry Brown issued at the height of the last drought in 2015.

Under Brown's mandate, water suppliers were required to conserve 25% statewide, with each assigned a specific conservation target depending on their existing use. Those that failed to conserve enough faced escalating consequences that could include fines.

This time, Newsom has taken a more localized approach, instead ordering water providers to activate stage two of their water shortage contingency plans.

Urban water suppliers are required to submit these plans for drought and other water shortages every five years, and they spell out how water systems will respond when their supplies dwindle.

Water systems step up their planned responses in six stages, depending on the severity of the water shortage. A stage one shortage reflects a 10% hit to the system's water supply, and could trigger a range of actions including calls for voluntary conservation. A stage six shortage reflects a catastrophic cut to 50% of the system's supply, and could trigger requirements to reduce water use by half including bans on landscape irrigation.

Felicia Marcus, a former chair of the State Water Resources Control Board, called the step welcome, yet "the least we can do... We need to put all of this on speed and change the expectation that this is a short-term moment to get through. I hope the water board and other agencies think big (versus) tinkering at the margins."

CalMatters data reporters Jeremia Kimelman and Erica Yee contributed reporting. Rachel Becker is a reporter with a background in scientific research. ★

Easter Everlasting

The last couple of years have been a special time for Easter and hope and alas, heartache too. We have made it through two years of Covid, Delta, and Omicron and now we begin a third year of question marks as to how we will cope. But we made it, and now it's time for rebirth and renewal called Easter! So get out your traditional happy things from baskets to bunnies, from lilies to love sharing services. We need to look ahead and not back so we can keep hope going strong. Will there be trials? Yes! Can we get through it? I have no doubt.

Just trust in your own traditions and beliefs. It doesn't matter how you celebrate as long as you have faith in what God gave us...strength and the way to make life better! So let's get to those fun traditions and celebrate to the max with love in our hearts.

Peter Cottontail will once again lead the way. He is universal and secular, but I have been led to believe that the hare and not the rabbit should be the leader of the pack. Since ancient times, the hare has been the symbol for the moon. Why? Legend has it the hare never closes its eyes, not even for a single blink. Maybe it's because of the fact that hares, not rabbits are born with their eyes open. Rabbits are born blind. Fertility might enter the picture too since rabbits beat hares big time being more prolific.

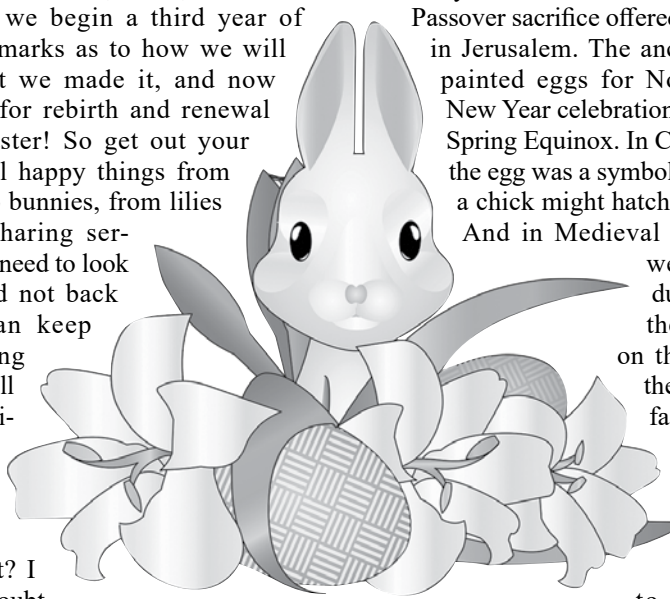

Got to have colored eggs right? Got a few historical reasons. At the Passover Seder, a hard-boiled egg dipped in salt water symbolizes both new life and the Passover sacrifice offered at the temple in Jerusalem. The ancient Persians painted eggs for Nowrooz, their New Year celebration falling on the Spring Equinox. In Christian times, the egg was a symbol of new life as a chick might hatch from the egg.

And in Medieval Europe, eggs were forbidden during Lent and then eggs were on the menu after the strict Lenten fast.

Did you know lilies came from Bermuda? Goes back to the 1880's when Ms Thomas P Sargent fell in love with the beautiful lily that naturally blooms in spring and brought back bulbs to her home in Philadelphia from Bermuda. Now they are a permanent symbol of Easter too.

And please don't forget to include in your prayers and reflections for those people in the Ukraine for the suffering they are enduring. That includes those still in country and the millions who have fled their country. Say an extra prayer that they will be able to return to what is left of their homes and cities to rebuild and once more be the free people they once were. There is much to be grateful for, and share that gratitude with those you love. It is truly a blessed time. May you and yours have a solemn celebration with the hope for a happy life and rebirth. ★

Free District 6 Umpire Training Clinic

District 6 Little League Press Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The District 6 Little League will be holding a free Umpire Clinic for men, women and teenagers on April 10 from 8 A.M. to 1 P.M.

The clinic will be hosted by the Rio Linda Little League and will take place at Babe Best Park, located at 7525 10th Street. This clinic is for beginning and current umpires.

You will be taught a variety of techniques and there will be experienced umpires there to answer any questions. If you already have gear, be sure to bring it. If you don't have gear, talk to the D6 representative, or your fellow umpires to see who has equipment to get you started. It is also suggested that you bring a lunch with you.

Being an umpire is a great way to spend your weekends. You make your own schedule, so you can work as much or as little as you want. In addition, you can choose whether you umpire baseball, softball, or both. There is an umpire shortage all around the Sacramento Valley, so there really is good money to be made out there. Training is free.

Sacramento State, Los Rios Police Investigation Leads to Arrest of Suspect

Sacramento State News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Sacramento State and Los Rios police detectives have arrested a man suspected of sexual battery at Sac State and Cosumnes River College (CRC).

The suspect is Nico Traversie, 28, who was arrested on March 28 in the 8600 block of Mellowoods Way in Sacramento on suspicion of committing three counts of sexual battery in violation of California Penal Code section 243.4(c)

(1). Traversie subsequently was booked into Sacramento County Main Jail.

On March 2, Sacramento State Police received two separate reports of a sexual battery occurring on campus. Officers investigated and issued a Timely Warning Notification to the community.

On March 7, Los Rios police were flagged down by two females who reported a sexual assault on the CRC campus. A crime bulletin was sent to employees and students.

The investigation was assigned to a Sac State detective, who worked with the Los Rios Police Department, which had received a report from CRC of a similar incident and suspect description. The investigation determined that the same suspect was believed to be responsible for the incidents at both institutions.

The Sacramento State Police Department encourages witnesses with information regarding this investigation to contact the dispatch center at 916-278-6000. ★

Second Installment of Property Taxes Due April 11

Sacramento County Press Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The deadline for paying the second installment of your 2021-2022 Sacramento County property taxes is coming up very soon. Payments are due no later than April 11, 2022. Late payments will incur a 10 percent penalty plus a $20.00 cost for each tax bill. Partial payments are not accepted.

Payment must be received in the Tax Collector's Office by 5 p.m. on April 11, 2022, or either postmarked or paid through our website by April 11, 2022. The Tax Collector also wants to remind property owners to include the appropriate installment payment stub from the tax bill or website, or write the parcel number of the property on the check being submitted to make sure that you receive proper credit for the payment. Payment may be mailed to P.O. Box 508, Sacramento, CA 95812-0508. Be sure to mail your payment early enough to ensure a timely postmark and avoid penalties.

Making Payments

Property taxes may be paid by e-check or credit card through Sacramento County's Online Property Tax Bill Information System or over the telephone at 1-844-430-2823, using the 14 digit parcel number. For a convenience fee, a contractor will process your credit card payment if you elect to pay the annual property tax bill using this method. This convenience fee is not revenue to the County. There is no fee to make a payment via e-check.

To avoid penalties, transactions made either on the internet or over the telephone, must be completed before midnight on the payment pay by date. Debit and credit cards will be processed as a credit transaction, and therefore the convenience fee will apply.

Please plan ahead and do not wait until the last minute to make your payment. If you are unable to get through on the internet or telephone, causing you to miss the payment deadline, penalties will NOT be waived. Please verify your data entry very carefully when making online payments. If your payment is rejected by your financial institution FOR ANY REASON, you will be charged a $53.00 return payment fee as well as penalties if your payment is rejected after the due date.

If you use your bank's Online Bill Pay service, a paper check will be printed and mailed to the Tax Collector. Because the check is sent without a payment stub, please enter the parcel number, current year's bill number and installment being paid in the online account number field for payment identification. The date on the check issued by your bank is considered the postmark, make sure you are aware of the bank's timeline, on issuing the check. Some banks take five to seven business days before the check is issued, and penalties will apply if the check is dated after April 11, 2022.

How to Obtain Information about Your Tax Bill

If you have not received a tax bill, you can obtain your tax bill information and payment stubs (coupons) at the Tax Collector's website, over the automated telephone system or by contacting the Tax Collector's Office at (916) 874-6622.

Sacramento County offers an online email subscription service for property tax information to receive e-mail notifications when the annual secured property tax bills are available each year and reminders before the first and second installments delinquent dates. This service is provided at no cost to subscribers. Visit www.saccounty.gov and enter your email address or mobile number under the "Connect with us" header, located at the bottom right-hand of the page.

For additional information about property taxes, the Sacramento County Tax Collector's website provides answers to most common questions from taxpayers regarding property taxes and links to tax bill information and online payments. Failure to receive a tax bill does not relieve the property owner of their liability to pay taxes in a timely manner or give the Tax Collector reason to cancel penalties imposed for late payment. ★

 STANDARD FAMILY LAW
 RESTRAINING ORDERS
 Starting immediately, you and your spouse or domestic partner are restrained from:
 1. removing the minor children of the parties from the state or applying for a new or replacement passport for those minor children without the prior written consent of the other party or an order of the court;
 2. cashing, borrowing against, canceling, transferring, disposing of, or changing the beneficiaries of any insurance or other coverage, including life, health automobile, and disability, held for the benefit of the parties and their minor children;
 3. transferring, encumbering, hypothecating, concealing, or in any way disposing of any property, real or personal, whether community, quasi-community, or separate, without the written consent of the other party or an order of the court, except in the usual course of business or for the necessities of life; and
 4. creating a nonprobate transfer or modifying a nonprobate transfer in a manner that affects the disposition of property subject to the transfer, without the written consent of the other party or an order of the court. Before revocation of a nonprobate transfer can take effect or a right of survivorship to property can be eliminated, notice of the change must be filed and served on the other party.
 You must notify each other of any proposed extraordinary expenditures at least five business days prior to incurring these extraordinary expenditures and account to the court for all extraordinary expenditures made after these restraining orders are effective. However, you may use community property, quasi-community property, or your own separate property to pay an attorney to help you or pay court costs.

 Do you or someone in your household need affordable health insurance? If so, you should apply for Covered California. Covered California can help reduce the cost you pay towards high quality affordable health care. For more information, visit www.coveredca.com. Or call Covered California at 1-800-300-1506
 WARNING-IMPORANT INFORMATION
 California law provides that, for purposes of division of property upon dissolution of a marriage or domestic partnership or upon legal separation, property acquired by the parties during marriage or domestic partnership in joint form is presumed to be community property. If either party to this action should die before the jointly held community property is divided, the language in the deed that characterizes how title is held (i.e., joint tenancy, tenants in common, or community property) will be controlling, and not the community property presumption. You should consult your attorney if you want the community property presumption to be written into the recorded title to the property.

Dave Ramsey Says

financial responsibility and the importance of education are great things. It sounds like your son is a bright, motivated young man, too.

I talk to adults all the time who are decades older, but still don't grasp the concepts of maturity and responsibility like this kid does already. With the kind of start you're giving him, I think he's going to grow up to be a very successful adult. Keep up the good work, and let that young man know how proud you both are of him!

— Dave

The Idea's the Same

Dear Dave,

I own a small business. How much should I have in a business emergency fund when my annual sales are around $100,000? Currently, I have two months of expenses set aside.

— Theresa

Dear Theresa,

Generally, I like the idea of small businesses having about six months of expenses on hand. That kind of cushion usually eliminates the need for borrowing money. It also provides peace of mind. And if you've been an entrepreneur very long, you know that's an invaluable thing.

Having a personal emergency fund set aside is a little different than having one in place for your business. When it comes to personal finance, I recommend having three to six months of expenses set aside. The basic idea is the same, though. A fully-funded emergency fund gives you an option — besides debt — when unexpected things happen!

I Wouldn't Go That Far

Dear Dave,

Our son is in high school, and he has a part-time job. He makes good grades, and we have always tried to teach him how to save and handle money according to your advice. He has even managed to set aside a few thousand dollars for college. My wife and I were talking the other night, and I brought up the idea of charging him a small amount for rent, maybe just $20 or $25 a month, to help him be even better prepared for the real world. What do you think about this?

— Keith

Dear Keith,

I appreciate the fact that you're looking for teachable moments. But making a high school kid pay rent? No, that's a little over the top.

Listen, you and your wife are already way ahead of a lot of parents. Teaching him

'Job killer' List Tests Capitol's Ideological Bent

By Dan Walters
CALMatters.org

California is a deep blue state, markedly and proudly hewing to the left of the nation's political centerline.

California's Legislature, utterly dominated by Democrats, leans a little further to the port side of the political scale.

That said, there are ideological fault lines within the Democrats legislative supermajorities, some fairly obvious, others faint. Their existence explains why outcomes are not always as predictable as one might think, given one-party domination.

A prime example of that unpredictability is what happened, or didn't happen, on legislation to overhaul medical care by having the state assume total control over its provision — a long-standing holy grail for the Democratic Party's progressive activists.

The state Senate had passed a version of the single-payer legislation in a previous session, but it was bottled up in the Assembly. Last year, a new version, Assembly Bill 1400, moved fairly easily through Assembly committees to reach the floor, but when the Legislature reconvened in January, it ultimately died there without a vote.

"I don't believe it would have served the cause of getting single payer done by having the vote and having it go down in flames and further alienating members," the bill's author, San Jose Democrat Ash Kalra, told disappointed supporters later. He added that the measure, needing 41 votes to pass, was short by "double digits."

Gov. Gavin Newsom, who had been a strident advocate of single-payer health care while campaigning for the governorship, didn't make any effort to secure votes for it in the Assembly and most members were apparently unwilling, in an election year, to vote for something that would require an immense tax increase to implement.

The demise of AB 1400 was, among other things, another win for the California Chamber of Commerce's "job killer" list, an annual exercise by the state's business community to identify and block legislation that it considers to be the most onerous.

For a quarter-century, the list has served as a guide to the Capitol's ideological temperament because it generally includes the highest-priority legislation of those on the left, such as labor unions and environmental and consumer protection advocates.

Although the Legislature has trended to drift leftward since the list was first issued in 1997, the chamber and its allies have rung up an impressive kill ratio.

Typically, several dozens bills are placed on the list and it's rare for more than one or two to be passed by the Legislature and signed by the governor.

In 2021, for instance, 25 bills were targeted, and just two made it to Newsom's desk. He vetoed one and signed the other, Senate Bill 62, which eliminates piece work payment for garment industry workers.

The chamber's 90%+ record in stopping bills it designates as "job killers" faces another test this year. It has issued a preliminary list of 11 bills with more to be added later.

The 2022 list includes a new "wealth tax" on the state's richest residents, a bill that would allow workers to refuse to perform their jobs if they feel unsafe and an extension of the California Environmental Quality Act's mitigation provisions to effects on disadvantaged communities.

The latter two, along with several others, would expand opportunities for lawsuits to enforce their provisions — thus renewing the annual jousting between business groups and personal injury attorneys over who can sue for what action, dubbed "tort wars."

Fundamentally, the fate of bills on this year's list will be another indicator of just how far left the Legislature is willing to go.

Defendant Sentenced for Fatal Stabbing

Sacramento County District Attorney's Office

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Honorable Stephen Acquisto sentenced Stephen Jackson to 26 years to life in prison. On March 4, 2022, a jury convicted Jackson of the first-degree murder of Jaitu Keys. The jury also found true the allegation that Jackson personally used a knife in the commission of the murder.

On November 9, 2019, Jackson and a friend went to a high school football game together. After the game, Jackson asked the friend to come inside his house but she declined. He then hid a device with GPS tracking in the trunk of her car. The friend left and went to meet the victim in Carmichael. The victim joined the friend in her car and sat in the front passenger seat to talk. Jackson approached the car, smashed the front passenger window and stabbed the victim four times, including once in the heart. The friend drove the victim to the hospital where he was pronounced deceased. ★

Attending a River Cats Game?

By Shaun Holkko, sports editor

WEST SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - As the weather begins to warm up, many Sacramentans are beginning to search for activities to do this summer.

One activity that could be fun for the whole family is going out to Sutter Health Park in West Sacramento for a River Cats game. The Triple-A affiliate of the San Francisco Giants kicked off a new season on Tuesday, April 5.

It has been a dramatic last three years for the River Cats organization. In 2019, the last "normal" Minor League Baseball (MiLB) season played before the COVID-19 pandemic, Sacramento stood atop the Triple-A world as champions.

Next in 2020, the River Cats were unable to immediately defend their crown as the entire 2020 MiLB season was cancelled because of the pandemic. Then in 2021, the minor leagues returned and Sacramento was unable to repeat as champions.

For fans who have been unable to attend a game since 2019, there are a few differences at the home of the River Cats, aside from the name of the venue shifting from Raley Field to Sutter Health Park.

"Definitely a lot has changed in the world

and over here at Sutter Health Park (since 2019)," said Troy Loparco, Vice President of Ticket Sales & Marketing. "Some of the main things you would notice that would be different (is) we're doing mobile ticketing. So that's going to be in the parking lot as well as tickets are going to be all digital. We are a cashless facility as well. Our clear bag policy would be the other big change that we have."

Sutter Health Park will be accepting payments via debit and credit cards as well as mobile wallets like

Apple Pay and Google Pay. For those fans who are tech savvy, you can now order food on the MiLB at-bat app allowing yourself to order food from your seat before receiving an alert via text message letting you know that your order is ready.

For those who may be old school, preferring physical tickets and cash money, fear not as employees at Sutter Health Park are ready and willing to help.

"We do have mobile ticketing assistance," Loparco said. "As you're coming up, you'll see there's a mobile ticketing booth that we'll have out there if anybody does have any extra questions before they get to the ticket window or before they're coming into the stadium. So, we do have other avenues of help as well."

However, the mobile ticketing booth is not your only source of assistance when attending a River Cats game.

"Of course in advance if they ever wanted to email into tickets@rivercats.com or even call into our "HITS" line which is 916-371-HITS (4487) with any questions before they come out, we're always happy to help in advance to make it as smooth as possible," Loparco said. "And we're always going to be sending out 'know before you go' information as well."

When last season began, Sutter Health Park sold tickets in pods to follow local health guidance. Although, when the state of California reopened in June 2021, the ballpark followed suit opening back up to 100% attendance, as it will be for the 2022 season.

"We are an outdoor, open-air facility," Loparco said. "What we've been doing is just staying up to date and as accurate and timely with any CDC guidelines that we have in the state and county."

The River Cats have 25 fireworks nights planned on the 75-game 2022 home schedule. The first fireworks show will be on Friday, April 8, which is also Solon Bobblehead Giveaway night. The Solons were a minor league baseball team that played in Sacramento off and on from 1903 to 1976.

Single game and ticket packages can be purchased over the phone at (916) 371-HITS, email at tickets@rivercats.com or online at rivercats.com.

"Our main goal is to be the best facility to come have a family friendly time out here at the ballpark," Loparco said. "Come enjoy River Cats baseball and everything that we have going on in the community."

"I think after the last two years, people are really looking for a fun time to spend with their friends, their families, in a safe, fun, clean environment. I think that's what we provide out here at Sutter Health Park. As long as everybody comes out smiling, happy and ready to cheer on the River Cats, I think they'll be ready to go." ★

Will This be a Bounce Back Season?

WEST SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - There's just something special about night baseball.

The Sacramento River Cats, the Triple-A affiliate of the San Francisco Giants, opened the 2022 season Tuesday, April 5, under the lights at Sutter Health Park against the Sugar Land Space Cowboys.

For River Cats outfielder Bryce Johnson, when the sun goes down, he excels.

"Being able to play underneath the lights, I always love night games," Johnson said. "We just played all these spring games during the day. So being able to get underneath the lights and in front of everybody feels great. That's my favorite part about it is playing night baseball. There's nothing that beats it."

The switch-hitting outfielder said he had played in one Opening Day night game previously when he was with the Giants' Single-A affiliate, the San Jose Giants, in 2018.

Members of the local press interview various River Cats players at media day on Saturday, April 2 at Sutter Health Park in West Sacramento.

Unsurprisingly, that happened to be one of his best games of the season.

From Single-A to the big leagues, players around Major League Baseball are happy to be back and that the MLB lockout is over.

"(I'm excited) just to be playing," said right-handed pitcher Sean Hjelle. "Obviously, we had the lockout and everything happen. We didn't know how long things would be delayed. It's just good to be playing and on time. I think minor leagues didn't lose any games so we're on time and it's just good to be back."

Many players like Hjelle didn't let the 99-day lockout affect their offseason preparation.

"You still had to take care of business and get your off-season workouts in because you never knew when it was going to happen and when it was going to end or what not," Hjelle said. "So, you just prepare for everything starting on time and if it's delayed then you just go from there at that point."

One relatively fresh face for the River Cats is Ka'ai Tom who signed with the team before the conclusion of last season.

"I'm just very happy that San Francisco signed me at the end of the season last year," Tom said. "When I came over it was just a lot of fun. Everyone had good vibes and worked together. I'm just happy to be part of this organization and being given an opportunity to hopefully make it to Oracle Park."

Tom achieved a lifelong goal at the beginning of the 2021 season, making his major league debut with the Oakland Athletics before eventually joining their rivals on the other side of the bay with a stop in Pittsburgh in between. The 5-foot-9 outfielder said spring training went "pretty good" and recognized his coaches for that.

"It's a credit to the coaching staff just being transparent," Tom said. "Letting you know what goals that they're expecting out of you. Asking our feedback and what we feel or anything. The transparency overall shows why we were successful last year as well and it's looking to be that way again."

The River Cats reached the pinnacle of Triple-A in 2019 when they won the championship. Then in 2020, the Minor League Baseball (MiLB) season was cancelled in its entirety due to the coronavirus pandemic. Finally, the River Cats were unable to defend their title in 2021.

Now in 2022, the team is poised for a bounce back season.

"We got some exciting players on this team," Johnson said. "Every night, every day, we're going to end up probably having someone doing something crazy, something pretty cool. So, I would say come out and check us out. "(It's) not going to be boring, I can tell you that." ★

Frequently Asked
Toni Says® Medicare Questions

Toni King

This week's Toni Says Medicare column has a different twist and consists of frequently asked Medicare questions from Toni Says® readers around the United States. Thank you from Toni Says® team for allowing us to help you navigate the maze of Medicare.

1. "What if" I did not enroll in Medicare Parts A and B when I should because I do not want to pay that extra Part B premium each month? I do not go to the doctor, and I do not take any prescriptions. Can I enroll later?

Toni's Says®: If you are past 65- and 90-days years old, not working full-time with true company benefits and decide to enroll in Medicare Part B; YOU must wait until Medicare's General Enrollment Period, which is January 1 – March 31 of each year to enroll. You will now be penalized an additional 10% more for each 12-month period that you could have had Part B but did not sign up for it. Say you wait 3 years, which will be a 30% penalty. You will pay this late enrollment penalty for as long as you are on Medicare. Remember, you have ABSOLUTELY NO doctor coverage if you do not have Part B. You will pay 100% out of pocket for doctor care and any outpatient care, including Hospital, MRI, radiation, chemotherapy, and X-rays, etc. You will not be a HAPPY CAMPER! Get Part B when you are not working full-time with company benefits.

2. "What if" I am past 65, have retired from work with company benefits and need to get Part B. What do I do?

Toni Says®: Before you have been terminated from your group plan and/or not working full-time, apply for Medicare Part B. Seek which plan best fits your needs such as a Medicare Supplement or a Medicare Advantage Plan. Talk to your doctor about what plans they accept. Search for which Medicare Prescription Drug Plan covers your prescriptions. Since you are leaving company benefits and receiving Medicare Part B, you only have 60 days to get Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage. Try and do everything as soon as you become eligible for Part B. Contact the Toni Says Medicare Call Center at 832/519-8664 for Medicare planning that meets your specific Medicare needs.

3. "What if" my adult children or a friend help make my medical and financial decisions?

Toni's Says®: Make sure that your decision maker is a signer on all your legal documents, such as your power of attorney, medical power of attorney and living will. The only way your care can be discussed with an insurance company, or any health care professional is with the person who has been named your power of attorney. This does not mean that you are losing control of making your own decisions but helps make sure that you are making wise medical and financial decisions.

4. "What if" I am on a limited income and cannot afford my prescription drugs or the Part B premium?

Toni Says®: Contact or visit the Medicaid office and see if you qualify for Medicaid's QMB or SLMB. Call your local Social Security office or apply online for "Extra Help if you do not qualify for Medicaid. Each year the amounts change. Get proactive about your Medicare! No one can do it for you. The worst Medicaid or Social Security can say regarding qualifying for extra assistance is NO.

Take your time and search which Medicare option meets your needs. Email Medicare questions to info@tonisays.com or call 832/519-8664 for Medicare help.

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The office of Representative Ami Bera, M.D., announced that the representative secured over $3.76 million in federal funding to directly support nine local projects throughout Sacramento County.

The investments will support vital water infrastructure projects in Citrus Heights, Folsom, and Orangevale, improve public safety in Elk Grove, fund the construction of a youth center in Rancho Cordova, and much more.

"This funding will go a long way in making Sacramento County healthier, safer, and stronger for generations to come," said Ami Bera, M.D.

to discuss fighting inflation

On Wednesday, March 30, representative Ami Bera, M.D., met with President Biden at the White House alongside New Democrat Coalition colleagues.

He raised directly with the President the urgent need to combat rising costs that are squeezing American families and small businesses.

The New Democrat Coalition also discussed the need for the Senate to quickly pass the America COMPETES Act, bipartisan legislation that strengthens the capacity to make more goods and jobs here in the United States.

Bera said he was proud to vote for this bill in the House:

"It was an honor to bring the voices of Sacramento County to our nation's highest office. As your Representative, I will continue to push for policies that fight inflation, lower costs for CA-07 families, and grow the American economy and middle class."

"It is my greatest honor to serve you in Congress. Please know that my office is here to help in any way that we can. My office has helped return over $10.6 million to local taxpayers - everything from stalled tax returns to backlogged veteran's benefits."
