Small Business Nails Big Award

by Susan Maxwell Skinner

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Skip Wahl's restaurant measures less than 1500 square feet and seats 36. Yet its kitchen satisfies more than 400 appetites a day and recently earned accolades as Small Business of the Year for the 8th Assembly district.

Celebrating the award, Assemblyman Ken Cooley treated his office staff and Chamber of Commerce members to lunch at the El Camino Avenue eatery. In uniform tee-shirt, Wahl waited table with the same energy that has steered his business for more than 10 years. "I am here 70 hours a week," reported the business owner. "There are no complaints from me. I believe that to succeed, that's how you do it."

Manteca-raised, Wahl slogged his way through CSUS business studies waiting and bartending for Chili's Tex-Mex chain. At 32, he was a restaurant manager. "I met my wife when we were both working for Chili's (Beth Wahl is now an elementary school principal), so I have our workplace romance to thank them for," says the 51-year-old. "But you reach a time when you ask yourself if there's more to life. Big corporations can be a grind. I needed flexibility to be involved in family life. I also wanted to do something in my neighborhood. My restaurant is a mile and a half from home."

"After 17 years at Chili's, burgers and sandwiches were what I knew. I've tried to make mine a little more gourmet." Skip's mini beef Wellingtons are stuffed with mushroom duxelles and wrapped in puff pastry. Garlic Parmesan fries perfume the premises and much of the block. Salads dish the unexpected: one modified Caesar recipe is grilled. "It's different from throwing a bunch of Romaine in a bowl with dressing." Wahl considers. "Charring lettuce for 30 seconds produces quite a different flavor."

His kitchen has backed any number of community fundraisers. Approves Assemblyman Cooley: "Small businesses play a vital role in revitalizing communities. Skip's Kitchen makes a difference in people's lives by supporting other small businesses, youth sports, schools, churches and local programs."

Though the restaurant has also won numerous people's choice polls, awards are not why Wahl is in business. "We try to make the lives of the people around us better," considers the entrepreneur. "In turn, the

and California Policies are the Grinch that stole Christmas

Ted Gaines

Commentary
by Ted Gaines

Are you ready for the most expensive holiday season in forever? Hold on to your wallets, because high inflation and wrongheaded California policies are the Grinch that stole Christmas, pressuring family budgets and diminishing our quality of life.

If you've gone to the grocery store or shopping mall, you've witnessed a spike in inflation like we haven't seen in decades. The consumer price index surged 6.2 percent from a year ago in October, the highest increase since 1990. But the story is actually worse. The October monthly increase was itself 0.9 percent, which would indicate an annualized increase of nearly 11 percent.

As famously put by Nobel Prize winning economist Milton Friedman, inflation is always a monetary phenomenon. When the federal government flooded the country with stimulus dollars without accompanying goods and services, inflation was entirely predictable.

What does this mean for the average working family? It means that every item on your holiday dinner table will cost more. Gifts for your children will cost more. Heating your house will cost more. Gas, hotel rooms, movie tickets, clothing, haircuts will all cost more. Inflation robs purchasing power from each and every dollar you make.

Workers may be seeing increased wages, but when they don't keep up with price increases, people become poorer even as they earn more.

As ugly as the picture is nationally, California is worse. Our state isn't responsible for the flood of dollars driving inflation, but it's stacking bad state policies on top of bad federal policies and making it tougher for families to make ends meet.

For example, so called "green energy" policies drive our residential electricity costs more than 50-percent higher than the national average. A California specific

A Right to Housing?

By Manuela Tobias, CALMatters.org

The law says that every student is entitled to a free public education.

What if it said the same about housing?

That's what Darrell Steinberg, the mayor of Sacramento, believes to be the key to addressing California's homelessness. He recently proposed an ordinance that would require the city to provide at least two housing or shelter options to people living on the streets.

If those options weren't available, the person could sue the city. But if the homeless individual turned down the available options, they would be compelled to come inside, albeit using social workers, not police.

In the latest episode of the California Housing Crisis Podcast, The Los Angeles Times' Liam Dillon and CalMatters' Manuela Tobias interview Steinberg on his proposal, and how it has evolved over the years.

"I want to put out what I believe, which is fundamentally, that the public policy of the society must be that people live indoors," he said. "Ninety to 95% of that is the government's obligation. The last five to 10% may fall on some individuals."

Aside from housing or shelter, two of the options that a person must be offered include spaces at "Safe Ground" sanctioned tent encampments, hotel rooms, tiny homes and trailers.

"People have a much better chance to get permanent housing if they're indoors rather than outdoors," Steinberg explained. "We can't get mental health treatment or substance abuse treatment for people living on the river."

But, like the rest of the state, Sacramento is far from able to provide at least a single shelter bed per person, much less an affordable housing unit. If approved by the City Council, Steinberg's plan

Board Adopts Final District Map

By Kim Nava,
Sacramento County

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Board of Supervisors, at its Dec. 7 meeting, voted to adopt the Final Supervisorial District Map.

The Final Map is a result of the Board of Supervisors' direction on revisions to the earlier draft maps presented at its Nov. 2, 16 and 17 Board meetings, as well as public input.

Following the Nov. 17 Board meeting, at which the Board approved the Final Draft Map, Sacramento County's Geographic Information System (GIS) team worked with National Demographics Corporation (NDC), the County's redistricting consultant, to proof the district lines suggested by the Board. They also compared it to the district lines, Census blocks and legal boundary descriptions for all jurisdictions in Sacramento County, including cities.

NDC and the County's GIS team made minor adjustments to the Final Draft Map to address miscoding of census blocks, to avoid sliver precincts and new ballot types, and to adhere to the Board's recommendations on Nov. 16-17. Geographic descriptions of each supervisorial district boundary are also available.

County residents can utilize the interactive map titled, "Final Supervisorial District Map" to view the new lines and see where they reside within them.

Additionally, the County offers several district lookup tools and online maps. Because those tools use different source data, the County is coordinating the update to the tools simultaneously in order to provide consistency among the tools. The update will be completed in January 2022.

The public submitted more than 200 written comments containing suggestions for redistricting and supervisorial boundary lines. The public also submitted their own maps for consideration, either hand-drawn or drawn using the mapping tools available.

Every ten years, following the Census count, the resulting census data is used to geographically define electoral districts, at all levels of government, through a process called redistricting. Redistricting ensures that each of the electoral district boundaries have about the same number of people and comply with the Federal Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Visit Sacramento County's redistricting webpage for information about redistricting, including the redistricting process, written public testimony, meetings and workshops, public comment, and draft and final maps.

Sacramento County Supervisors are Phil Serna, District 1; Patrick Kennedy, District 2; Rich Desmond, District 3; Sue Frost, District 4; and Don Nottoli, District 5. ★

What has changed, however, is how people think the issue must be addressed: While voters were evenly split last time about spending money on short-term solutions such as shelter and on long-term solutions such as housing, 57% said officials should focus on "short-term shelter sites."

Senator Nielsen Urges Caution on Projected $31 Billion State Surplus

Office of Senator Jim Nielsen

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Senator Jim Nielsen, R-Red Bluff, issued the following statement in response to the Legislative Analyst's Office report, The 2022-23 Budget: California's Fiscal Outlook, which projects a $31 billion surplus.

"A $31 billion surplus is not an invitation to build future spending obligations.

"Legislative Democrats used up their bag of tricks last year to avoid triggering the Gann Limit, which restricts how fast state spending can grow.

"The Gann Limit, which was passed on the heels of Prop. 13, expressed the wisdom of voters. The surplus either needs to go back to taxpayers or be used for essential functions, like education, infrastructure and paying down debt.

"As the vice chair of the Senate Budget and Fiscal Review Committee, I urge The Legislature and the governor to proceed with caution."

Sacramento County Grand Jury Recruiting for 2022-23

Sacramento County Superior Court Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County's Superior Court announced today that it has officially opened its application process seeking new jurors to serve on the 2022-23 Sacramento County Grand Jury. Nineteen Sacramento County residents, and 11 alternates, will be selected from among the qualified applicants to volunteer for the term which runs from July 1, 2022, to June 30, 2023.

The Grand Jury is the independent watchdog over the county's government agencies and services. Jurors investigate the performance of county, city, and local governing entities ranging from school districts to the criminal justice system to health and welfare agencies. Additionally, the Sacramento County Grand Jury is authorized to hear criminal indictments, and jurors have the rare opportunity to visit detention facilities throughout the region.

"The Grand Jury is entrusted by the public to investigate and report on local government operations and to ensure responsibilities are being fulfilled honestly and with integrity," explains Grand Jury Foreperson Deanna Hanson. "It is also our duty to make certain the public understands our work and has the opportunity to be involved."

The current Grand Jury recently issued a report on COVID-19 vaccine mandates for K-12 public schools. It also received significant news media coverage earlier this month on its report regarding the serious safety concerns facing the Del Paso Manor Water District. Anyone may file a complaint against a county government entity with the Grand Jury for review and investigative consideration. All Grand Jury activities are conducted in secrecy.

Jurors act as volunteers and receive a small stipend for their work. To be considered as a Grand Juror, applications must be received by January 28, 2022. Anyone applying must be a Sacramento County resident over the age of 18. Further qualification requirements are available on the Grand Jury website. Those who initially qualify will be interviewed, with the final Grand Jury empanelment taking place on June 3, 2022. To apply, visit the Grand Jury website at: www.sacgrandjury.org. ★

DWR Announces State Water Project Allocation

Department of Water Resources Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Today, the Department of Water Resources (DWR) announced its initial State Water Project (SWP) allocation for 2022 along with several steps to manage the state's water supply in anticipation of a third dry year with reservoirs at or near historic lows.

Given the unprecedented drought conditions, the SWP's initial allocation for December 1 will focus on the health and safety needs for 2022 of the 29 water agencies that contract to receive SWP supplies. DWR has advised these water agencies to expect an initial allocation that prioritizes health and safety water needs and that the SWP will not be planning water deliveries through its typical allocation process until the state has a clearer picture of the hydrologic and reservoir conditions going into the spring.

DWR is focused on prioritizing water supply in four categories: water for health and safety needs and Delta salinity control; water for endangered species; water to reserve in storage; and water for additional supply allocations if the hydrology allows.

"Despite a wet start to the water year, conditions have dried out since that first storm, and we are still planning for a below-average water year. That means we need to prepare now for a dry winter and severe drought conditions to continue through 2022," said DWR Director Karla Nemeth. "We will be working with our federal partners and SWP contractors to take a conservative planning approach to balance limited water supplies with the needs of residents, businesses, and the environment."

In addition to limiting the initial allocation to health and safety needs, DWR is making plans to adjust SWP operations this winter and spring. DWR is capturing and storing water when possible, in Lake Oroville and south of the Delta in San Luis Reservoir to increase available supplies for 2022 and will continue to do so throughout the winter. Health and safety demands for the Bay Area and Central and Southern California will be met with water available from the Delta as well as water stored in San Luis Reservoir. Water in Lake Oroville will be reserved to maintain Delta water quality, protect endangered species, and meet senior water right needs. Beyond minimal exports to meet South Bay health and safety needs, water stored in Lake Oroville will be used for south of Delta deliveries only if hydrology conditions improve. DWR plans to conserve as much storage as possible in Oroville in anticipation of a third dry year, and potentially a dry 2023.

Also, today, DWR along with the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, submitted a new Temporary Urgency Change Petition (TUCP) to the State Water Resources Control Board. If approved, the petition would allow for the State Water Project and the Central Valley Project to operate under modifications to the water quality and water right permit requirements in the Delta from February through April 2022, should conditions warrant. These modifications may be needed to conserve water in Lake Oroville to ensure minimum health and safety water supplies are available later in the year if dry conditions persist. If significant precipitation materializes in the next few months, standards may be met through natural means and modifications to SWP and CVP operations may not be necessary.

DWR is also delaying the removal of the Emergency Drought Salinity Barrier in the Delta. The rock barrier across West False River was scheduled to be removed by November 30, however drought conditions have persisted and leaving the barrier in place will enable a more efficient drought response in spring 2022 if needed. DWR plans to create a notch in the barrier in January 2022 to allow for fish passage and boat traffic until April 2022.

"It is going to take a multi-pronged approach to successfully respond to these unprecedented drought conditions," said Nemeth.

Each year, DWR provides the initial State Water Project allocation by December 1 based on available water storage and projected water supply demands. Allocations are updated monthly as snowpack and runoff information is assessed, with a final allocation typically determined in May or June.

The lowest initial allocations were 5 percent in 2010 and 2014. Last year, the initial SWP allocation was 10 percent, however due to increasing dry conditions, the final allocation was lowered to 5 percent. ★ gasoline blend, cap-and-trade charges for transportation fuels, and the highest gas taxes in the nation add up to five-dollar gas all over the state. That spells poverty for working families, commuters, rural drivers, and energy intensive businesses.

It's no surprise that California, a state that's turned shoplifting into an unpunished hobby, pushes policies that rob families and businesses every time they turn on the heat or fill their tanks.

Inflation is a stealth tax, making every dollar worth less. California residents are punished again by a policy-driven cost of living that strains our citizens to the brink.

Our governments should open their eyes and see the damage they cause to the very people they claim to help. This year, they are leaving a lump of poverty in working-class stockings. I hope for wiser policy in 2022, but that would indeed take a Christmas miracle.

California's 'Tort Wars' Heating Up Again

By Dan Walters
CALMatters

One of the Capitol's most enduring conflicts pits personal injury attorneys and their allies in consumer advocacy groups against corporate interests and their insurers.

The two factions clash incessantly over what events are deemed wrongful acts (torts), who can sue over those acts and what monetary damages can be awarded.

Dubbed "tort wars," the conflict has raged for decades in the Legislature, in the courts and occasionally via ballot measures, each side depicting itself as the good guys and the other as rapaciously evil. Millions of dollars are spent each year on lobbyists, media strategists, political campaign advisors and other tools of the political trade.

The intensity of the war varies from year to year, and 2022 is shaping up as one its hotter periods as the factions propose dueling ballot measures. One would effectively undo a 1975 law that limits damages for "pain and suffering" in medical malpractice cases, while another would place a new limit on the fees that personal injury attorneys can claim.

That 1975 law, entitled the Medical Injury

Compensation Reform Act (MICRA) and signed by Jerry Brown during his first year as governor, limits non-economic damages for malpractice to $250,000. Its passage was not only a big win for medical providers and their insurers but the opening salvo of the war.

The attorneys not only have tried — very unsuccessfully so far — to repeal or modify MICRA but have sought to expand opportunities to sue and collect damages and fees, such as allowing them to intervene in cases that ordinarily would be handled by local or state legal authorities.

Business groups and insurers, meanwhile, have not only attempted to blunt the attorneys' expansive ambition but to carry the MICRA model of damage limits into other potential injury cases.

In 1987, 12 years after MICRA was enacted, the speaker of the state Assembly, Willie Brown, mediated extensive negotiations between the warring factions on a truce, culminating in the infamous "napkin deal" worked out in Frank Fat's restaurant near the Capitol with Brown hopping from table to table.

Quickly ratified by the Legislature, it gave lobbyists for every interest involved something to take back to their clients, including a slight modification of MICRA and new protections for the tobacco industry from lawsuits by smokers for cancer and other illnesses.

The napkin deal truce lasted for a few years, but tort wars resumed in the 1990s and have been waged ever since on specific issues, including several unsuccessful efforts to change MICRA. One subset of the conflict, involving roughly the same interests, has been perennial jousting over workers' compensation, the employer-financed, multi-billion-dollar system that covers job-related injuries and illnesses.

A ballot measure that would indirectly but effectively repeal MICRA is already qualified for the 2022 ballot even though the anti-MICRA coalition has failed repeatedly in the past to undo what the Legislature and Jerry Brown wrought 46 years ago.

Meanwhile, the Civil Justice Association of California, an umbrella organization of business and insurance interests, has unveiled its own initiative measure that would limit lawyers' contingency fees in personal injury cases to 20% of monetary judgments, sharply lower than the traditional one-third or more. The goal, obviously, is to make attorneys less willing to take on cases.

The stage is set, therefore, for the competing factions to spend tens of millions of dollars to persuade voters, which would be a tiny fraction of the many billions of dollars at stake in the outcome. And regardless of what happens next year, the immense stakes mean tort wars will continue to rage indefinitely.

Dan Walters has been a journalist for nearly 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers. ★

Help your New Year's Resolutions Stick

Dear Dave,

I thought I was going to get control of my money and make a lot of other positive changes in my life this year, but very few of the things I wanted to accomplish happened. I started strong, and began with serious intentions, but somewhere along the way I lost focus. Can you give me some advice for making and sticking to my resolutions in 2022?

Dave Ramsey Says

that means the most to you and write it down. You're more likely to succeed if you can focus on a single goal, and you have a greater chance of achieving it if you write it down — on paper, on purpose. And make sure the resolution you choose is very important to you. Writing down a goal just because it's what someone else is doing, or because it sounds like a good idea, isn't good enough. If your goal isn't yours, it won't happen.

Second, set benchmarks. Let's say you want to pay off your credit cards before July. You need to make that goal measurable throughout the year by setting benchmarks. If you owe $5,000 on your credit cards and want to pay them off in six months, you need to pay about $833 towards them every month. Write your benchmark down beneath your goal, and make a plan for how you're going to get it done.

Three, find an accountability partner. A great accountability partner isn't afraid to ask how your goals are coming along, and they'll call you on it when you're slacking. If you set a financial goal, a good accountability partner isn't going to be the friend who always asks you to go shopping. Studies have shown that having a strong accountability partner increases the likelihood of achieving a goal dramatically.

And finally, make sure you reward yourself along the way. It's tough to stay motivated when hitting your goal takes a while. Lots of folks start out at full speed, only to see the momentum disappear over time. You might treat yourself to a night at the movies when you've paid off the first $1,000 on your credit cards, or maybe a nice, new shirt when you've paid off half the card.

Sometimes life doesn't work out the way we think it will, Isaac. Our priorities can change, and our goals may change, too. If that's why you didn't make your resolutions happen this year, that's fine. Just don't make the mistake of thinking it's too late to change and improve your life!

Bera Votes to Strengthen U.S. National Security

Office of Representative Ami Bera, M.D.

WASHINGTON, DC (MPG) - Representative Ami Bera, M.D. (CA-07) voted for the Fiscal Year 2022 National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA). The NDAA, which passed the House of Representatives with strong bipartisan support and provides the annual budget for the Department of Defense, includes three key amendments authored by Bera.

"Our service members are among the most hardworking and dedicated people our country has to offer, and they deserve our full and unwavering support," said Representative Bera, who serves as Chair of the House of Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Asia, the Pacific, Central Asia, and Nonproliferation. "That's why I proudly voted to provide a much needed pay raise for our brave men and women in uniform, while equipping them with all the necessary tools to do their jobs safely and effectively. This defense authorization bill also strengthens U.S. national security and our abilities to confront growing threats facing our country at home and abroad, including by addressing strategic challenges posed by China, combatting climate change, improving deterrence against cyberattacks, and reinvigorating our global alliances and partnerships."

The Bera-supported legislation includes several critical provisions, including: Providing a 2.7 percent pay increase for U.S. service members; and, making historic changes to the Uniform Code of Military Justice to better combat sexual assault in the military.

The bipartisan defense bill includes multiple Bera-led amendments, including: Authorizing U.S. participation in the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness Innovations (CEPI), a public-private partnership developing vaccines for COVID-19 and other highly infectious pathogens (The House passed in July Rep. Bera's Securing America's From Epidemics Act, authorizing U.S. participation in CEPI);

Supporting Taiwan's ability to defend against PRC military provocations by further assisting Taiwan's defensive asymmetric capabilities; and Requiring the Department of State and Department of Defense to report on the utilization of the Synchronized Predeployment and Operational Tracker (SPOT) data base to help expedite Special Immigrant Visa processing for our Afghan partners and allies.

Since arriving in Congress, Representative Bera has been a strong advocate for our military, service members, and veterans. ★

Citizen Redistricting Commission's Last-Minute Change

Dear Madam Chairman:

The Carmichael Chamber of Commerce is respectfully writing to object to the Citizen Redistricting Commission's last-minute Assembly maps of December 8, 2021, splitting the unincorporated City of Carmichael into two separate Assembly Districts. Carmichael is a community of interest (COI) that should not be divided.

As the organization that represents the business and residents of Carmichael, we feel we have our pulse on the interests of Carmichael and its neighboring business communities. The Carmichael Community, over its history, has rejected annexation into the City of Sacramento and shares no shared values, no common law enforcement, no common school districts, and no common areas of social, economic, or ethnic interest. Therefore, Carmichael as a whole should be included in the same Assembly District as its closely related unincorporated neighbors of Foothill Farms, Fair Oaks, Gold River, and Orangevale.

The entire community of Carmichael shares the same School District (San Juan Unified School District) as its unincorporated neighbors in Fair Oaks, Gold River, Orangevale, Citrus Heights. Children from all parts of the school district take their children through Open Enrollment to schools in Carmichael.

The entire community of Carmichael shares the same Law Enforcement (Sacramento County Sheriff) as Fair Oaks, Gold River, Orangevale, and the City of Rancho Cordova (who contracts with the Sacramento County Sheriff).

The Carmichael Community also represents the following Communities of Interest that will dramatically be affected by this split.

Slavic Community of Interest in Carmichael – The Slavic community is well established in Carmichael and extends into Citrus Heights, Foothill Farms, Fair Oaks, Orangevale, and Rancho Cordova. To separate the western portion of Carmichael would separate the Slavic Community who has many businesses, churches, and families located in Carmichael.

Carmichael Senior Citizen Community of Interest – Carmichael has the most significant senior citizen concentration in Sacramento County, with over 20 assisted living and senior housing facilities. This is much in common with Fair Oaks, Citrus Heights, and Orangevale, which share large senior citizen populations. Dividing Carmichael would dilute the Carmichael Senior Citizens Community of Interest.

We believe that the current Legislative District map puts our community at a considerable disadvantage. We feel our voice will be fractured, and this takes away our ability to truly ensure that elected officials represent the needs and concerns of solely our community.

We appreciate the Commission's willingness to hear from the people and their community organizations. The Carmichael Chamber of Commerce respectfully requests the 2020 Citizens Redistricting Commission restore Carmichael as a whole Community of interest to an Assembly District.

If we can answer any questions, please feel free to contact us at 916.481.1002.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Julie DePrada-Schott
Carmichael Chamber
Executive Director

Wonders of Christmas

As I sit and look at the wondrous Christmas tree Rick and I decorated last evening, my mind took a detour down memory lane looking back over the last two years when the pandemic became a frightening reality. Who would have thought we would still be wearing masks, sticking out our arms for the next booster, and not allowing ourselves the warmth of hugs and handshakes? I guess the most depressing of all is whether we will ever be out of it totally. Husband Rick has been a rock through it all as he struggles with some major health issues that began right before the pandemic really took hold. My admiration for him cannot be expressed in words.

But as I looked at the tree, I began to hear a song in my head and I started humming it. Remember the movie White Christmas when Bing Crosby sang these words "When I'm weary and I can't sleep, I count my blessings instead of sheep, and I fall asleep counting my blessings." Well, I wasn't in bed, but I began to look back over these two years and realized I had many blessings.

First of all, even with major health issues, I still had my Rick as we celebrated our Golden Wedding Anniversary in January. That's 50 years of ups and downs from seeing him off to Vietnam just a few months after we married to illness and disappointments, but still holding on to one another through thick and thin. We may be moving a little slower, but you can't keep us down. We're animal lovers, so I am thankful we have had wonderful dogs that gave us so much joy. That includes the two we have now, and the fun we had at the "Woofstock" Dog show in Vallejo. Rick and I, along with Ice and Trekker, dressed up in tie-dye to celebrate the 60's. Trekker, the big boy, was in the show and did well, but it was just a fun day! By the way, I took needle in hand and made the costumes for our four-legged babies. We still enjoy the beautiful California sunsets and the friends we love. We miss the many events, but Rick is still making his world famous fudge we share with those fiends. I'm still grateful for being able to do my POPPOFF Radio Show on FM-104.5 & AM-950 KAH1 Monday through Friday and to write this column so I can share my heart with you.

So, as the wonder of Christmas approaches and this year comes to an end, I will count my blessings and leave you with this thought from Alfred Lord Tennyson... "HOPE SMILES FROM THE THRESHOLD OF THE YEAR TO COME WHISPERING IT WILL BE HAPPIER." ★

Donations Needed for Sacramento Life Center's Baskets4babies Drive

By Kristin Thébaud,
Thébaud Communications

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Local residents can help low-income new moms in Sacramento this holiday season through the Sacramento Life Center's annual Baskets4Babies drive running through Dec. 31. The drive stocks the Sacramento Life Center's baby needs center so the nonprofit can provide a basket of needed items to every patient who gives birth in 2022. Donations can be made in any increment, but $50 guarantees a new mother has everything she needs to bring her baby home from the hospital, including diapers, clothing, bottles, formula, homemade blankets, bibs, bathing supplies and more. A pledge of $50 per month guarantees a mother can return each month to the baby needs center for additional necessities until her child is 2 years old. Donations can be made online at www.saclife.org.

"It's been an exhausting year for everyone, but especially for pregnant women and new moms in need," said Marie Leatherby, executive director, Sacramento Life Center. "Having supportive people surrounding them makes all the difference. Our baby baskets give pregnant mothers practical and necessary items and show them they have a community of support."

The Sacramento Life Center's mission is to offer compassion, support, resources and free medical care to women and couples facing an unplanned or unsupported pregnancy. The Sacramento Life Center's licensed Sac Valley Pregnancy Clinic includes a primary clinic and mobile clinic that provide all services for free, including pregnancy tests, STD tests, ultrasounds, patient advocacy for men and women, education and resource referrals. For more information about the Sacramento Life Center or to make a donation, visit www.saclife.org.
