Grand Old Flag Gets Brand New Home

Story and photos generally Susan Maxwell Skinner Purple

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Some patriots make huge efforts for their flag. A band of Carmichael brother and sister veterans lobbied for four years to get a flagpole so they could salute their nation's emblem at Oakmont senior residence. The Greatest Generation's dogged determination paid off as the Stars and Stripes last week rose over their home. Above, a CHP helicopter hovered in tribute. Congressman Ami Bera presented a US flag that had recently flown above the United States Capitol. A bugle sounded and warriors of WW II, Korea and Vietnam theaters recited the Pledge of Allegiance. The Engle Road facility counts 23 veterans – six of WW II vintage - among residents. One of its Vietnam survivors, "the General" Michael Crawford, retired as a two-star general with two Silver Stars, two Purple Hearts and a Distinguished Flying Cross on his jacket.

Oakmont picked up the $5,200 tab for the new steel and aluminum staff. "Original plans for this property included a flag pole," explained WW II and Korea veteran Bill Davies. "For some reason it wasn't put in. I'm from a five-generation military family; we always flew a flag at our home. The emblem means so much to people who have served under it."

This unflagging campaigner and friends picked up the baton and eventually nudged Oakmont administration to erect the edifice. Davies shepherded it through the permitting process with visits to county hall, and was among the first to salute when the 25-ft pole rose in the residence courtyard. "We're elated," says the 91-year-old. "Old Glory's flying 24/7

Mira Loma Community Signs Steel Beam for New Science Building

San Juan Unified School District

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Hundreds of Mira Loma High School students, staff and community members took a moment to sign their name onto a steel beam that was installed onto the frame of the school's future science building.

The excitement for Mira Loma's signature project was buzzing throughout the day as students penned their names to the beam, and iron workers continued working to frame the new building piece-by-piece a short distance away.

"I think it's nice that we get to sign this beam, and then all the students will have their name in this building forever," said sophomore Andy Chittenden.

San Juan Unified Assistant Superintendent of Facilities, Maintenance & Transportation Frank Camarda said the Mira Loma science building is right on track to open by August 2020, in time for the next school year. Passersby that have noticed the steel work going into place will soon start to see a roof go up, and work on solar-paneled car parts in the parking lot area will begin in the next couple of months.

"It really is a great thing for our campus to actually see it being built," said James Hill, science department chair.

The two-story science building will include "next-generation" classrooms and labs for all of the sciences including chemistry, physics, physical and earth science. An outdoor observation deck and flex space are also included in the design.

"It's really exciting to see the project come to life. We've spent a lot of time doing site work, so this part, where you see the vertical construction is really exciting," Camarda said. The signed steel beam is the final piece installed and celebrated by the construction crew with what is known as a "topping out ceremony" where it is swung into place with an American Flag attached to it.

Staff and students at Mira Loma are indeed excited for the future, not only for the science building but for the trickle-down effect of how the building will affect other programs as well.

"I'm impressed that science gets its own separate building and then (other) teachers that don't have a classroom can move into the other classrooms," sophomore Melissa Moskvych said.

Mira Loma's science building is funded by Measure N and is being built by DPR Construction and was designed by Lionakis Architects. Construction Management firm ICS is overseeing the project in conjunction with San Juan Unified staff.

Democrats Vote to Crush, Destroy Independent Contractors

From the Office of Senate Republican Leader Shannon Grove

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On September 10th, members of the California Senate Republican Caucus voted against Assembly Bill 5 which would threaten the livelihoods of many California independent contractors. AB 5 undercuts workers' freedom in many industries to choose independent work and threatens their employment status. The author of AB 5 offered carve-outs for several wellconnected professions which favored certain industries

On the Senate floor tonight, Senate Republican Leader Shannon Grove (R-Bakersfield) introduced an amendment to AB 5 which would have conformed California's test for employment with an existing federal standard and offered parity across the board. Senator Brian Jones (R-Santee) presented a separate amendment that would have delayed the implementation of the Dynamex decision for two years.

In addition, other members of the California Senate Republican Caucus offered amendments to AB 5 that would provide exemptions for the following industries: forestry, health care professionals, newspapers carriers and distributors, physical therapists, interpreters, translators, single truck owner-operators, non-profits, franchisors, franchisees, and design who were excluded from AB 5. Senate Democrats blocked these efforts to protect the employment status of independent

"Over 2 million Californians choose to work as independent contractors and AB 5 only protects certain industries. I am proud to have stood with my Republican colleagues in offering better solutions to protect workers in industries such as healthcare, transportation, and newspapers carriers and distributors. If the governor truly believes in supporting a California for all, then he needs to do the right thing and veto AB 5." - Senate Republican Leader Shannon Grove (R-Bakersfield)

"I opposed Assembly Bill 5 because it undermines the principle of equal treatment under the law and deprives many Californians the right to be their own bosses. The bill's Christmas tree of exemptions is a prime example of the Legislature picking winners and losers. Why should some people enjoy an exemption while others such as newspaper carriers and language interpreters and translators do not?" - Senator Patricia Bates (R-Laguna Niguel)

creation of the gig economy giving economic opportunities to folks outside of the traditional workplace. AB 5 will not only limit an individual's ability for flexible employment, but will destroy entire industries across California. Independent contractors and small businesses are the backbone of a thriving California economy." - Senator Andreas Borgeas (R-Fresno)

"This bill has morphed into an unworkable mishmash of industry exceptions, which ultimately picks winners and losers based on who is politically-connected. A simple test should be, if you have a business license, you're a businessperson!" - Senator Brian Dahle (R-Bieber)

"AB 5 exemplifies everything that is wrong with one party rule in Sacramento - those with influence (i.e. union leaders) and those with money (i.e. campaign donors) get their way. Everyone else, particularly hard-working California families, are left out. In the Capitol absolute power corrupts absolutely." - Senator Brian Jones (R-Santee)

"AB 5 employs a one-size-fits-all approach that won't work for Californians. We're talking about college students, single moms, and many other hard working individuals who need flexibility to pay their bills. The majority party is once again taking away choice from the very people they were elected to serve." - Senator John Moorlach (R-Costa Mesa)

"By choosing to exempt some industries, but not others, Democratic legislators and unions are picking winners and losers through a process that gives the distinct appearance of impropriety and is another indication that Sacramento Democrats continue to embrace a slide toward socialism." - Senator Mike Morrell (R-Rancho Cucamonga)

"California has become a hostile place to do business. Tonight, the Legislature turned this hostility toward millions of independent contractors. With the exception of a few professions, Assembly Bill 5 will restrict a worker's ability to work flexible hours that fit their needs." - Senator Jim Nielsen (R-Tehama)

"Make no mistake, AB 5 is an abuse of the legislative process by big labor union bosses who want to force companies who give opportunities to independent contractors into making their contractors join the union. As amended, AB 5 picks winner and losers, and the big losers will be the people of California who chose to work independently and pursue their own dreams and will be prevented from doing so by this onerous legislation." - Senator Jeff Stone (R-Riverside County)

"A legitimate owner operator trucker is the quintessential independent contractor. This classic 'little guy' has put his or her heart, soul and personal resources into building an independent business. By excluding these truckers from AB 5, the Legislature has capriciously eliminated their livelihood." - Senator Scott Wilk (R-Santa Clarita)

Senate Republican Leader Shannon Grove represents California's 16th Senate District. ★

Story and photos by Susan Maxwell Skinner

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Carmichael Park Foundation's third "Dinner in the Park" gala last week raised a record $60.000 for park beautification and youth scholarship programs. Ticket sales came close to sell-out point at 380 guests.

Entirely alfresco, the soiree ambled over two hidden-gem reserves. VIP sightings included Assemblyman Ken Cooley, Supervisor Susan Peters, Sacramento DA Anne Marie Schubert, Carmichael Honorary Mayor Kelli Foley and Chamber of Commerce President Jim Alves.

Cocktail hour was bathed by sunset among fragrant rose arbors in Sutter Community Garden. In adjacent Jensen Botanical Gardens, tables were linendraped for a moonlit meal. Musicians played in both venues and a rock band serenaded dinner.

River City Brewing Company, Rev Azteca and Pro-Train menu planner supplied appetizers. Beverages came courtesy of Cooper, Sean Minor and Jackson Family wineries and Bella Bru Café. River City Brewery supplied beer. Food for volunteers was donated by Strings Italian Café, Togo's and Raley's. For the sit-down dinner, Carmichael's mushrooms, smoked tri-tip and glazed chicken. Fruit tarts and chocolate truffle torte were desserts.

An after-dinner auction offered six experience packages. Top earner was a Montana fishing vacation, which fell for a bid of $2900. An additional $14,000 was raised by a fund-a-need opportunity.

Event sponsors included Charles Schwab; Thomas Sharp CFP; Hensel Phelps Construction; Dignity Health Mercy San Juan Medical Center; Assemblymen Ken Cooley; Berkshire Hathaway Home Services; Eskaton Village of Carmichael; Gabrielle Rasi DDS; Advanced Home Health and Hospice; the Alyst Group and Carmichael water District. On-site sanitation was donated by Wilkinson's Portables.

"The generosity of our guests was overwhelming," said Foundation president Sharon Ruffner. "It shows how much our community cares about its parks and youth opportunities. Thanks to the evening's fundraising, no child will be turned away from programs because their family lacks funds."

The next Dinner in the Park is scheduled for September 12, 2020.

FDA Reiterates the Importance of Vaccines

U.S. FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The U.S. continues to experience cases and outbreaks of measles, largely due to unvaccinated or under-vaccinated segments of the population. Measles can be a serious disease. This year has seen the greatest number of measles cases reported in the U.S. since 1992, and since measles was declared eliminated in 2000. Of those diagnosed with measles, approximately 10% have required hospitalization. The majority of cases are among people who were not vaccinated. The Measles, Mumps, and Rubella (MMR) vaccine has been approved in the U.S. for nearly 50 years. It is highly effective and very safe. As a result of its use, measles was declared eliminated in the U.S. in 2000, rubella in 2004, and since 1989, mumps cases have decreased

The Threat of Red Britain

Tory Prime Minister Boris Johnson has, to his credit, seized the initiative in the battle over whether Britain will truly exit the EU, and on what terms.

But no one can know how this high-stakes gamble will turn out. Johnson just lost his slender parliamentary majority, and the prospect of a new election looms. If things break the wrong way, the winner could be opposition leader Jeremy Corbyn, a throwback leftist redolent of the bad old days of Britain's self-imposed stagnation.

It's hard to exaggerate the threat represented by Corbvn and Co. taking control of our most important ally. In U.S. terms, Corbyn is a mashup of Bernie Sanders and the Squad, mixing orthodox socialist economics with a hostility to U.S. foreign policy and Israel.

He is a figure that time is supposed to have forgotten. He inveighed from the back benches against Labor's turn away from the old-time religion under moderate prime minister Tony Blair. When with -- no joke -- the he mounted an unlikely leadership bid in 2015, he found an audience, much as Bernie Sanders did in 2016. Now, the old-time religion is a few lucky breaks away from power.

Corbyn's past, and present, is littered with valentines to left-wing thugs. He cozied up to the IRA in the 1980s when it was trying to decapitate the British government by bombing. He wrote for a pro-Soviet newspaper during the Cold War. He called the Russian invasion of Ukraine "not unprovoked." He's said warm things about Hamas and Hezbollah, and can't bear to condemn Islamic terrorism without also criticizing the West.

It's no accident that his Labor Party has become lousy with anti-Semites.

His left-hand man, John McDonnell, shadow chancellor of the exchequer, is fond of implicit threats of violence. To wit, "Any institution or any individual that attacks our class, we will come for you with direct action." He has called Torv MPs "social criminals." This from the man in line to become, in our terms, secretary of the treasury of one of the great banking centers on the planet.

If McDonnell's style of rhetoric has a grim revolutionary cast, it's for good reason. In an interview Trotskyist Alliance for Workers' Liberty years ago, he said that the most important influences on him were "Marx, Lenin and Trotsky, basically." Corbyn has expressed similar sentiments. At least they don't leave any doubt where they are coming from. If Corbyn had his way, it would be as if Margaret Thatcher never happened (indeed, McDonnell has mused about going back to the 1980s to assassinate her -- you know, the way many people do about Adolf Hitler).

Corbyn's program would renationalize sectors of the economy, punish shareholders and landlords, and impose stiff new taxes. If his campaign against capital crashed the pound, he'd surely be inclined to respond with capital controls, truly taking Britain back to the

Every election in a democratic society is important. But Britain in the coming weeks will be faced with unquestionably momentous choices: Whether to take back its full sovereignty from the EU, and whether to throw in with a dangerous radical. Its modern history, and perhaps that of the West, is in the balance.

THE SACRAMENTO BEE

Tainted Skin Cream Results in Mercury Poisoning

By Andrea Sandoval, Sacramento County

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - A Sacramento woman is currently in the hospital in a semi-comatose state after using a Pond's-labeled skin cream tainted with methylmercury. This is the first reported case of methylmercury poisoning of this type linked to a skin cream in the United States. The woman obtained the skin cream through an informal network that imported the cream from Mexico. This type of cream is used by consumers as a skin lightener and to remove spots and wrinkles. The mercury was not added by the Pond's manufacturer, but by a third party after purchase.

"Sacramento County Public Health urges the community to immediately stop using similar skin creams imported from Mexico due to the risk of contamination with methylmercury," said Sacramento County Public Health Officer Dr. Olivia Kasirye. "Methylmercury is extremely dangerous to adults and children."

Sacramento County Public Health is working closely with the California Department of Public Health to test similar creams in the Sacramento-area for methylmercury. Methylmercury can enter the nervous system and can cause severe illness among household contacts, especially in pregnant and breastfeeding women and children. Signs and symptoms include the following:

Difficulty concentrating, memory loss; Nervousness, irritability, anxiety; Depression, insomnia; Headaches; Weight loss, fatigue; Tremors, numbness or tingling in hands, feet, or around the lips

Children with prolonged exposure may show these symptoms: Pink hands and feet; Skin flaking; Excessive saliva or thirst, gum disease; Irritability, poor appetite; Poor muscle tone, leg cramps; High blood pressure, and a rash.

In California, over the last nine years, there have been over 60 poisonings linked to foreign brand, unlabeled, and/or homemade skin creams that contained the less toxic form of mercury, mercurous chloride or calomel.

For those who use imported skin creams from Mexico:

Stop using them immediately; Put the cream in a closed Ziploc bag and bring to your doctor; Go to the doctor and get tested for mercury in your blood and urine; Contact CDPH at (510) 981-4354 or AskEHIB@ cdph.ca.gov. For free medical advice in English or other languages, call California Poison Control at 1-800-222-1222

For more information or to view a list of skin creams that have been tested and confirmed to have mercury, visit the Department of Health Services website. ★

Bill to Reclassify Independent Truckers as Employees Passes State Senate

AB 5 Spells the End for Independent Trucking in California

From The California Trucking Association

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The California Senate approved Assembly Bill 5 (AB 5), a measure that will put tens of thousands of owner-operator truckers, who service agriculture, retail and other industry sectors, out of business. Despite efforts by the California Trucking Association (CTA) to amend the measure in a way that would protect independent truckers, Assembly Bill 5 by Assemblywoman Lorena Gonzalez (D-San Diego) passed with an overwhelming XX-XX vote.

"AB 5 could have been amended to address worker misclassification issues, as well as protect the 70,000 predominantly minority-owned truckers currently operating as independent contractors," said Shawn Yadon, CTA's CEO. "There is no reason why protecting workers does not include defending the right of tens of thousands of drivers who have built their businesses around the independent owner-operator model, invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in their trucks and have operated their own businesses for decades."

Since the bill's introduction, CTA has advocated for changes to AB 5, including requirements for operating authority, ownership of vehicles, exclusivity and transparency about pay. These changes would have set a clear criterion and established independence in a way that protected employees from misclassification without hurting entire sectors of the business community.

Instead, AB 5 proponents created a scenario in which they chose winners and losers by carving out some professions while excluding others. In an attempt to address some of the concerns of California's owner-operators, AB 5 was amended to allow drivers working within the construction industry to continue operating as independent truckers for a two-year grace period. However, AB 5 will severely limit work opportunities for tens of thousands of independent owner-operators in other business sectors.

In California, more than 136,950 trucking companies remain primarily small, locally owned business with small fleets and independent drivers.

"AB 5 will have implications that will go beyond employment classification," said Yadon, CTA's CEO. "Like the rest of the nation, California is experiencing a shortage of truck drivers, this measure will aggravate the problem by removing thousands of drivers from rosters as many have indicated they will move to other states or seek a different line of work all together."

AB 5 now heads to Governor Gavin Newsom for his signature. If signed into law, AB 5 would deny a significant segment of the trucking industry the ability to continue operating as independent owner-operators, forcing them to abandon the investments they have made in their vehicles and taking away their flexibility to set their own schedule and determine their own destiny for their business.

Governor Newsom has until October 13, 2019, to approve or veto this bill.

Part soap, part spoof and all we wanted from a reunion, Fox's hit featuring the original 90210-ers as embellished versions of themselves is a sharp and smart love letter to the old show and their late pal Luke Perry. Megaburgers at the Peach Pit for everyone!

Jeers to Netflix

Jeers to NCIS

for not locking in Cote de Pablo full-time. Bringing back Ziva for three measley episodes this season just isn't enough, folks. She was one of the most important characters of the show and it hasn't been the same since she left, so how about you make like Gibbs (Mark Harmon) and get the job done?

Why Are The Yellowstone Kids Brats?

Question: I absolutely LOVE Yellowstone. I know there are things that we haven't yet uncovered about John Dutton (Kevin Costner), but down deep he seems like a strong man who puts family first. Perhaps he was distant after losing his wife, but the contempt his children have for him...I just don't get.

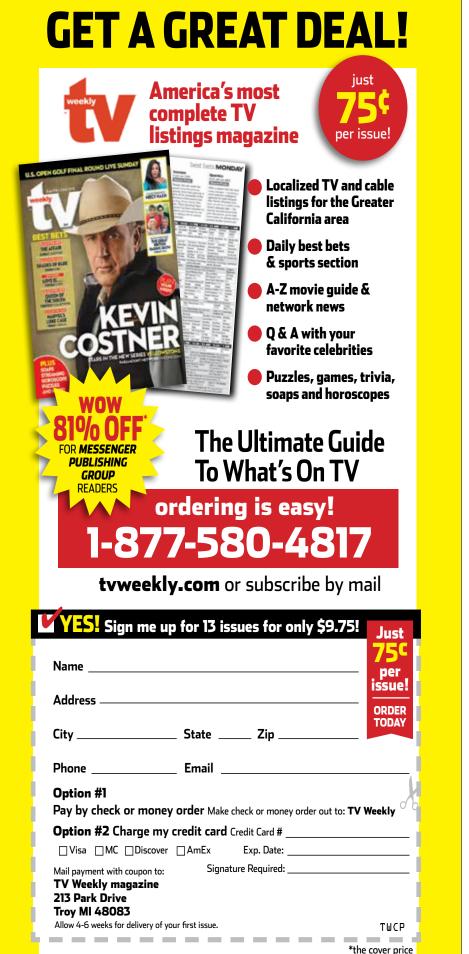

Matt Roush: Revisiting

Thoughts? - Kim

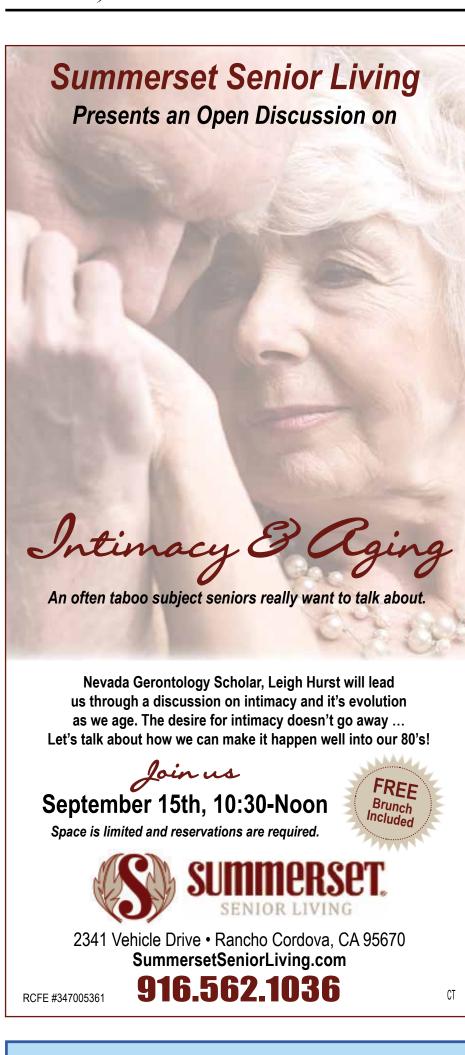

The the subject since Yellowstone had its emotional season two finale on August 28, and this echoes the recent discussion in this column about Beth's vicious loathing for brother Jamie. The way I see John Dutton is as a classic antihero, whose drive to build and save his ranch was achieved so ruthlessly that it pretty much destroyed his family, made worse by the premature death of a wife who (while also a tough cookie from what we've seen in flashbacks) could have smoothed out his rough edges. His children obviously did everything they could growing up to incur his favor, or even love, often at the cost of their own souls. They all see their own damage as coming from the top, blaming their father even as they revere and fear him. It's complicated, as it ought to be, and casting Kevin Costner in the role, working against his own early career image as an admirable hero, reminds me how it felt back in the day when they would cast someone like Henry Fonda or James Stewart against type as a villain.
