CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Foundation students of Carmichael's only high ing hands school have a 60th anniversary coming up. La Sierra graduates of years boyfriend Road alma mater on September 14.

Closed in 1983, La Sierra's campus is now run by Carmichael Park District as a center for arts, sports, education and civic gatherings. The old school nevertheless remains close to the hearts of thousands who trod its drafty halls. For best friends Charlene (Svec) Tyson and Brenda (Beers) Mock, organizing the 60th reunion is a labor of love. "I thoroughly enjoyed my years at la Sierra," explains Tyson. "Friendships from here have lasted all my life."

Tom and I got married after high school and we lived happily ever after. I think that's a good example." Friends for life, Beers Mock and Tyson are on the committee that will invite hundreds of alumni - by now all septuagenarians – back to the senior lawn this fall.

Time to Put His Feet Up for Good

By Paul Scholl

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) -A long-time Carmichael storefront will be closing soon. Coffman's furniture, which was opened in 2006 by Dave Coffman, has decided to put their feet up for good. Citing the every-growing difficulties of running a small business in the State of California and the County of Sacramento, Dave says a small town furniture store, even in a good location, just can't keep up with some of larger big box stores or online sales in today's furniture market. "The point and click generation has changed things, and not necessarily for the better."

Dave has seen a lot in his 33 years in the furniture business. He started with another company in 1986. He ran most of the Oak Stores in Northern California for about 20 years.

When he opened

he stood by local manufacturers, primarily selling locally made products, much of which was designed and manufactured in Sacramento. He has sold only USA manufactured sofas for many years.

Health issues have also had something to do with the recent decision. Although

Los Rios and Partners Address College Affordability

Los Rios Community College District Press Release

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Los Rios Community College District announced the largest set of investments to address college affordability in Los Rios history. In total, Sutter Health, SAFE Credit Union, Wells Fargo and VSP Global will contribute $752,500 resulting in 1,234 Promise Scholarships that will remove financial obstacles to education for low-income students, like textbooks and living expenses, which are not typically covered by existing aid programs.

The new funds build on the state's newly announced two-year California College Promise Program, which guarantees free tuition for all first-time, full-time California community college students. These investments and state funds, along with partnerships with the City of Rancho Cordova and the City of West Sacramento and their respective Promise programs for the residents of those cities, will help Los Rios students reduce the financial barriers to academic success.

"Los Rios is committed to solving the financial challenges that our students face," said Brian King, Chancellor of the Los Rios Community College District. "We are proud to partner with the committed leadership at Sutter Health, SAFE Credit Union, Wells Fargo and VSP Global to address college affordability by building on the state's investment in our students and providing the support our students need to achieve their academic goals."

The combined total marks the largest contribution to address college affordability in Los Rios' 50-plus year history.

Sutter Health is providing the largest investment toward the Promise effort, committing $512,500 over five years. In a single year, this funding will support 180 students with $500 Promise Scholarships helping reduce financial barriers and to support students' post-secondary and workforce success. Additionally, a portion of the investment will be added to the Los Rios Promise Endowment, ensuring that students

FAIR OAKS, CA (MPG) - In April, out of the blue, Nick Javier began experiencing pain in his right leg. It was so severe he couldn't walk, and a lump formed. After an x-ray, an ultrasound, and various blood tests came back inconclusive, Nick asked for an MRI. The images showed a mass, and a biopsy revealed it was sarcoma – a rare malignant

After finding out he had cancer, Nick and his wife Joan decided to go skydiving: "It was literally a template for everything we've gone through," said Nick. "It was pretty scary jumping out of that plane, and then there was a moment of bliss when the parachute opened. It's helped us think through and deal with everything."

The following day they met with the surgeon, who recommended amputation to remove the stage 3 tumor that had invaded the lower portion of his leg. A second MRI, just a day before the surgery, showed that the tumor had doubled in size in just a month. "It's a miracle that it stayed local in my leg," said Nick. "God's hand was in the explained that this type of candetails."

Joan said, "I could feel everyone praying for Nick." While Nick was in surgery, Joan was overcome by a beautiful image: "I envisioned balloons going up to heaven — each with a prayer inside for Nick. ... I felt such awe and wonder, and that everything was going to be alright."

After the tumor was removed, doctors found that it was synovial sarcoma, which is very rare —affecting between one and three out of a million people young adults. "I always said he was a big kid, and one in a million," said Joan.

Nick and Joan Javier's faith has helped them through Nick's cancer diagnosis and amputation, and they are optimistic about the future.

cer sends out "sleeper cells" that could cause new tumors to grow, so Nick has to undergo extremely aggressive chemotherapy. Starting on July 15, he'll spend five days in the hospital receiving chemo and then three weeks at home recovering, repeating the cycle four or five times.

Joan said that this type of cancer responds well to the proposed treatment, so Nick has an excellent prognosis: "The challenge is that they haven't had each year—usually children and a 65-year-old with this cancer, so they don't know how he'll respond, but I said, 'They don't know Nick. ... He's ready."" come out the other side cancerfree," said Nick. "They say God never gives you more than you can handle, so we've been leaning on that credo, and so far it's been true. ... It's really been a miracle."

Joan had her own battle with cancer last year — a stage 2 melanoma. Doctors had to remove the lymph nodes from one side of her face and neck, and Joan was incredibly lucky that the cancer had not yet spread into her lyma miracle too," she said.

Nick said, "Our faith is strong. We've been married 26 years, and God has always been the center of our life. He never ceases to amaze us. ... Our faith has buoyed us and has continued me feel whole."

to provide inspiration and encouragement."

For 45 years, Nick has been working as an MC for weddings and corporate events, and while waiting for his diagnosis he even worked events on crutches. Now he's had to reassign all his 2019 bookings to colleagues while he focuses on his recovery. Joan works as a lease negotiator, and is now only working part time while she helps care for Nick.

Nick also hosts DJ Trivia phatic system. "They called that Nights three times a week, and shortly after the surgery he was already back at it. "They took my leg, but they didn't take by mind or my intellect," said Nick. "The fact that I can still do this under the circumstances makes

Nick and Joan have lived in Fair Oaks for 18 years, and they have received so much support from the people of the community. Joan said, "It's really been humbling."

While walking their dog recently, a neighbor came out to push Nick's chair. "Little things like that show what a great community this is," said Nick.

"It's community at its best," said Joan. "It takes a village."

A fundraiser through Go Fund ME has already raised over $15,000 of the $20,000 goal, which will create a financial safety net for the Javier family. If you would like to donate to "A Leg Up for Nick," visit www. gofundme.com/nick-javier-ampextremity-fund.

Shelly Orio, Sacramento County District Attorney's Office

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - On October 13, 2016, Cameron Kambiz Razavi pled to two county code violations of permitting substandard dwelling units, and permitting junk and rubbish to accumulate at the Twin Gardens Apartments (Case #16MI010801).

As part of the plea agreement, Razavi was ordered to pay $15,000 to the Sacramento County District Attorney's Public Safety & Community Improvement Fund for investment in the community. The District Attorney's Office announced that $11,000 of those funds will be distributed to the Carmichael Parks Foundation. The Foundation will use these funds to provide scholarships for children to participate in day camps, sports programs and meals.

Razavi was also ordered to do community service, correct all building and code violations, require his management staff to complete Rental Housing Association courses, and correct all of the code violations at his other apartment complex, Belfort Arms Apartments. The progress of the agreement was to be monitored every 90 days by the Court.

DA Anne Marie Schubert states, "This plea agreement is another example of how we are able to work both in the courtroom and in the community to prevent crime, hold offenders accountable and reduce the opportunity gap. I am proud of the work community through investments in local attention of the District Attorney's Office by Sacramento County Code Enforcement and other county agencies. When it was discovered that tenants were living in apartments without a permanent heat source, the County relocated the tenants due to the cold weather. A number of additional code violations were found and remained uncorrected for several months. Many children lived in the apartment complex. Sacramento County Code Enforcement and the Sacramento County Sheriff's Problem-Oriented Police (POP) team investigated this case and were instrumental in the successful

After repeated court appearances where Razavi failed to show proof that he corrected the violations, the Honorable Kevin McCormick ordered him to serve 20 days in jail. Mr. Razavi's case continues to be monitored by the Court to ensure he complies with his conditions of probation. If conditions of probation are not followed, he faces more jail time.

Los Rios and Partners Address College Affordability

Continued from page 1 benefit from Sutter's generosity for generations to come. They will also be using some of their contribution to create an endowment for the Los Rios Colleges Foundation Student Emergency Fund, which will build a sustainable source of funding to provide emergency grants to Los Rios students in their time of greatest need.

"As a not-for-profit organization, Sutter Health reinvests in the communities we serve. We appreciate the opportunity to form strong partnerships that support impactful programs, which help meet our communities' most pressing needs," said Keri Thomas, vice president of External Affairs, Sutter Health Valley Area.

"Education is one of the foundational pillars to the health of any community. We hope that these Promise reassurance and spark the inspiration students need to continue pursuing their dreams and reaching for their goals. Students of today will help shape our communities of tomorrow," he continued.

Wells Fargo was the first corporate partner to support this effort, giving $90,000 total over the past two years. Their gifts will fund 80 of the 120 inaugural Promise scholarships this fall, at $500 per student, and another 90 scholarships next year. Their gift will also support an additional $10,000 for the Los Rios Colleges Foundation Student Emergency Fund.

SAFE Credit Union's gift of $120,000 will be shared between the Los Rios Promise Scholarship, providing 120 student scholarships, as well as supporting students who serve as program assistants at the STEM Center at American River College's innovative new STEM building under construction. SAFE's first pledge payment created the Los Rios Promise Endowment, and 10% of all future Promise Scholarship gifts will be invested into the endowment so that funding can support Los Rios students in perpetuity.

VSP Global's recent gift of $30,000 to the Promise Scholarship will scholarships provide the help support 54 students with $500 scholarships and $3,000 contributed to the Los Rios Promise Endowment. Several years ago, VSP Global designed 'Professional Pathways - with VSP Global,' a school-to-work/college program in partnership with Los Rios, Cordova High School, Folsom Lake College and the City of Rancho Cordova. The program helps local underserved students successfully transition to a path aligned with their career aspirations following high school.

The cities of Rancho Cordova and West Sacramento have been leaders in this effort, having dedicated local voter-supported tax measures to help residents of their cities with the cost of attending college. In Rancho Cordova, those funds have supported student tuition fees, book vouchers and other mandatory fees. In West Sacramento, the funds have covered tuition and other student fees as part of the city's West Sacramento Home Run program.

Along with the generous support of corporate partners, the Los Rios Promise effort is supported by a number of individual donors, who are making it possible for the Los Rios Colleges Foundation to award 40 Promise Scholarships in 2019-2020.

The Los Rios Community College District is one of the nation's most respected learning institutions and the second-largest community college district in California, serving the greater Sacramento region. Los Rios includes: American River, Cosumnes River, Folsom Lake and Sacramento City colleges; and six major education/ outreach centers.

Vicky Boatwright is New Rotary Club President

Doug Haaland, Carmichael Rotary Club International

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Carmichael Rotarians and guests recently met at the Main Event Grill at Ancil Hoffman Golf Course for the club's annual installation of officers for the 2019-20 Rotary year. Vicky Boatwright accepted the presidential Rotary gavel from outgoing president Greg Herrera.

In her remarks, President Vicky announced R.I. President Mark Daniel Maloney's theme for 2019-20, Rotary Connects the World, which asks Rotarians to strengthen the many ways that Rotary Connects the World, building the connections that allow talented, thoughtful, and generous people to unite and take meaningful action through Rotary service.

She went on to enumerate the many programs and projects the club has supported in the past and briefly outlined plans for the coming year. In her professional life, President Vicky is one of two Government Affairs Coordinators with Anheuser-Busch Companies' North American Zone.

She joined Rotary in 2012 and at the club level, served as President Elect, Treasurer (2x), Finemaster, and Crab Feed Fundraising Chair, in addition to participating in most of the club's community projects.

At the district level, she served on the District Conference Committee.

The Rotary Club of Carmichael was chartered in 1948 and President Vicky holds the distinction of serving as its first woman President. The club's Rotarians are excited by her enthusiasm to serve and anxiously anticipate the wonderful things she has

Cheers to Stranger Things' Secret Weapons.

After being a bit backburnered in Season 2 of the Netflix hit, Will Byers (Noah Schnapp) – the kid who first took us to the Upside Down! - is back with some juicy stuff for Season 3, as is our new favorite, Max. We should all be as lucky as Eleven to have a bestie like her.

Matt Roush: If it were ever to happen, it would have happened by now. Suits will have to settle for love from its fans, and media champions including the cover story in the current issue of TV Guide Magazine.

Middle-Class Joe Cashes In

The American middle class just got a lot richer. Joe Biden, who invariably and tiresomely refers to himself as "Middle-Class Joe," made $15 Obama administration.

According to one estimate, it takes an annual income of $420,000 to be in the top 1% of earners. Biden made 26 times that in 2017. He used to be remarkable among top politicians for not being $400,000 a year, enough to make the top 1% in Delaware.

This doesn't discredit policy proposal, but it shows that in inveighing against the 1%, many top Democrats are attacking Americans. If Biden has felt any guilt, he has yet to show it.

We shouldn't begrudge Biden, or anyone else, getting what the market is willing to pay him, and spending it on things he enjoys. But what's true of Biden is as true of other denizens of the 1%, a category that includes people across all sorts of industries and professions.

What distinguishes the buck-raking of a politimillion the first two cian like Biden is that he years after the end of the is simply cashing in on his fame, rather than adding any true value the way an entrepreneur does, or providing important services like a doctor or an accountant.

Writing books (often with the help of a ghostwriter) and showing very wealthy, but even in up and giving speeches the old days of straitened is perhaps the easiest circumstances, he and his money in America, and wife were making about it is uniquely the path to wealth of politicians.

> This road is so paved with gold that even Sandinista-friendly any particular Democratic avowed socialists can make a bounty, as Bernie Sanders has without apology, indeed with a prickly defensiveness. "I didn't to write a good book, of the vast majority of use tax loopholes to keep from paying more than necessary to the IRS, as Biden can attest. The Wall Street Journal reports that the former vice president, a longtime critic of tax loopholes exploited by the rich, himself used a loophole that Democrats have long tried to eliminate to save about half a million on his tax bill.

> Biden is by no means the lead scourge of the wealthy in the Democratic field. He's been outflanked on this issue by Sanders and Elizabeth Warren, who herself made nearly a million dollars last year. At a recent fundraiser, he said that rich people shouldn't be demonized. Of course, Biden was talking to a room of fellow rich people.

> On CNN the other night, he was back as usual to calling himself Middle-Class Joe. It's probably too much to ask him to give up that shopworn self-image. Still, he and many of his colleagues would be truer to how they live their own lives if they began to more fully embrace and promote the idea of their fellow Americans getting
