Nature Center to Host Gala

Parkway Gem "Wild Things" Event in June

by Susan Maxwell Skinner

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Now in its ninth year operating as a non-profit, the Effie Yeaw Nature Center is preparing for its Spring Gala and Auction fundraiser with new patronage. As honorary chair, Ed Goldman follows such luminaries as Magazine publisher Cecily Hastings, Marcy Friedman, Congresswoman Doris Matsui, the late Russ Solomon and Greg Kondos.

Administered by the American River Natural History Association, the facility and its preserve welcome almost 100,000 visitors per year. "The Center has a history in this community" notes retired Effie Yeaw executive Betty Cooper. "Caring supporters keep us open and available for future generations." A portion of funds raised on June 8 will provide free nature enrichment programs for schools that could not otherwise afford them.

Arts Center is a vital art show partner supporting the fundraiser with work by artists from all over the Sacramento region. Jurists are sculptor Gary Dinnen and KVIE auction curator D Neath.

Celebrity artists contributing this year include Pat Mahony, David Peterson, Gregory Kondos, Maria

Winkler and Paula Bellacera. Keith McLane of KLM Auctions will wield the auction gavel and KCRA's Eileen Javora will emcee.

Silent and live auctions will offer other award-winning work. Travel and other lifestyle experience will also be up for bids. From May 14, the art can be viewed in an "Art Where the Wild Things Are" exhibition at the Fine Arts Center (Gibbons Drive), Carmichael. The exhibition will include photographic entries.

A sunset supper and beverages are part of the $100 per person admission for the June 8 gala.

Art Where Wild Things Are runs from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Nature Center in Ancil Hoffman Park. Valet parking is free. Table sponsors are welcome. For information on the event, visit www.sacnature-

Sacramento County, CPS Address Family Homelessness

By Andrea Sandoval, Sacramento County

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Homelessness and housing instability forces families to make hard choices about the necessities of life and can make a significant impact on a family's overall well-being. For families receiving reunification and family maintenance services through child welfare, Sacramento County is helping to address these housing needs with the Bringing Families Home housing program.

The goal of this program is to reduce the number of families experiencing homelessness, increase family reunification, and prevent foster care placements.

Bringing Families Home is a California Department of Social Services grantfunded program that began July 2017 and has already supported 87 families in need of housing services. Over the next year, the program will secure housing for a minimum of 100 Sacramento County families who are completing court-ordered services and working towards family reunification.

"Housing is a basic need and when parents are experiencing homelessness and housing instability, this need is often prioritized over the required services needed for reunification," said Sacramento County Program Planner, Niku Mohanty-Campbell.

To address the housing needs of Child Protective Services families, the Sacramento County Department of Child, Family and Adult Services has partnered with the County's Department of Human Assistance along with the Sacramento Housing and Redevelopment Agency, and other organizations to provide families with an initial assessment, service and support to obtain housing, and short term case management once housing is located.

If your family or a family you know is receiving child welfare services and is interested in participating in the housing program, contact Sacramento County Program Planner, Niku Mohanty-Campbell or email CPSBFHHouseReferral@ saccounty.net.

Launching in May, FHP will help resolve homelessness for up to 600 households.

For additional information on County homeless activities, visit Sacramento County's Responding to Homelessness webpage. ★

Playmakers Raises Money to Fund Free Summer Program

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Playmakers Organization is a local nonprofit that coaches character through leadership and provides free programs to underprivileged and at-risk youth. Playmakers hosted their 10th annual fundraising dinner on Saturday, April 27 at Divine Savior Church in Orangevale.

The evening's festivities included live and silent auctions to raise money for the organization. Proceeds from the event will fund Playmakers' free six-week all-day Summer Character Academy. Playmakers founder Greg "Coach Roz" Roeszler said, "We seek out the kids whose families cannot afford any kind of summer enrichment, so it is extremely important we have funding for our trained coaches and volunteers." The Summer Character Academy will serve at least 100 kids, teaching them teamwork and improving their self-confidence.

Phil Oates, part-owner of the Sacramento Kings, was the keynote speaker of the event. Oates explained that the most important part of coaching is character development. He said, "Coaches sacrifice for their teams and always put the kids first."

"Playmakers are making a difference for kids," said Oates. "They are very

The dinner was donated by Chicago Fire and was served by players from the Rio Americano and El Camino football teams. The teams are working together as part of a unique reconciliation effort after a brawl last season forced them to forfeit

The fundraiser's title sponsor was Fitguard president Ryan Meier. Playmakers sponsor Harrison Phillips of the Buffalo Bills was honored at the event, and Stanford defensive linemen Michael Williams and Jovan Swahn attended as honored guests.

Thanks to many generous donations, Playmakers raised more than $30,000 to fund their Summer Character Academy. The largest donations came from the Country Club Optimists and the Azevedo Foundation.

Coach Roz thanked Playmakers civic group participants — Rotary, Optimists, and Lions — and all of the donors and volunteers for making it possible to help so many kids in the region. "Sometimes kids need extra attention. It's about investing time," said Coach Roz. "That's what we do at Playmakers. That's what we do as coaches. We never give up on

Taste of Carmichael Celebrates 17th Year

Presented by Carmichael Kiwanis Club, The Taste of Carmichael is a tradition that has celebrated local restaurants, wine merchants and community for 17 years.

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Great food, wine, music - and fortuitous weather last week blessed the annual Taste of Carmichael fundraiser. "The big night takes about eight months to plan," said event chair Donna Miller. "One thing we can't plan is the weather and, as Friday approached, we were biting our nails and watching Doppler. But the heavens seemed to smile on us. Not a drop of rain fell all day and into the evening. We're so thankful everything could go as planned."

Presented by Carmichael Kiwanis Club, The Taste of Carmichael is a tradition that has celebrated local restaurants, wine merchants and community for 17 years. The 2019 food-fest packed the La Sierra Community Center with almost 450 supporters.

They sampled everything from pizza to seafood, burgers and salads. Italian, Chinese, Mexican and American cookery made the menu an international sampler. Desserts included fruits, cookies, candies, cakes and tidbits drenched from a chocolate fountain. Wine and beer flowed and scores of prizes were raffled.

In the center's courtvard, live music and dancing aided digestion. Organizers hoped for a bottom line close to the 2018 net of $28,000.

Beneficiaries of this year's proceeds are agencies that assist youth and community. These include the Kiwanis Family House, the Effie Yeaw Nature Center, Shriners Hospital, the American River Parkway, Carmichael Park District, food closets, July 4 celebrations and many schools and arts programs.

"We always try to raise as much money as possible," explained Kiwanian Donna Miller. "But the greatest thing about the event is how it brings our community together."

Madeleine (15) is in11th grade at Cosumnes Oaks High School, Elk Grove.

Second prize was claimed by Justina Ibarra (18) from Sheldon High School, Sacramento. Dr. Bera will display Justina's colorful "Bouquet at the Market" in his DC office. Big Day of Giving

SRCF Expressed Gratitude for Generosity of Sponsors

By Vasey Coman, Sacramento Region Community Foundation (SRCF)

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - During this past Big Day of Giving, nonprofits in the Sacramento region raised nearly $8.4 million from over 23,000 donors who gave 44,000 donations, exceeding the $7.4 million raised last year and bringing the total generated since the inception of this annual giving day to nearly $40 million.

"Yesterday, our community came together to celebrate the nonprofits that strengthen our region and build a better Sacramento area for everyone who lives here," said Linda Beech Cutler, chief executive of the Sacramento Region Community Foundation, which has organized the daylong giving challenge since its beginning in 2013, when research demonstrated local philanthropy lagged national averages.

"When we launched Big Day of Giving, we aimed to grow giving in the capital area by making philanthropy something everyone in our community feels they can do. All these years later, it is incredibly heartening to see a philanthropic spirit thriving," said Cutler.

"This community-wide movement is successful when the people who live here make a difference by chipping in to give back – during Big Day of Giving and every other day of the year, too," she said, noting that the majority of the donations

The organizations that topped the leaderboard represent a breadth of nonprofit sectors – the arts, human services, youth development, the environment, and animal services:

The amount each participating nonprofit raised is available to view on the website.

Along with helping nonprofits raise much-needed funds, the Foundation offers a robust training program to help build the capacity of participating nonprofits in areas such as donor engagement, board development,

"Big Day of Giving has been essential to our work," said Nicholas Haystings, Executive Director of Square Root Academy, which raised $8,335 on May 2 to fund the free STEM education it offers in underserved Sacramento neighborhoods. "We are a relatively new organization, so the Big Day of Giving networking and skill-building trainings have been essential to helping our small staff engage new supporters and grow interest in our programs—which means we can focus more on growing our impact."

Gifts made during Big Day of Giving 2019 will fund diverse services throughout the region. Nonprofit organizations held more than 100 events throughout the region to promote their missions and generate donations on Big Day of Giving, many of which were the result of collaborations between multiple participating organizations and local businesses. Cheers to Gotham for its batty ending. Fox's April 25 series finale was a biff-bang-pow! joy fueled by a full-on Joker, Ben McKenzie's subtly seasoned Gordon and a mostly unseen Caped Crusader who seemed up for the job of protecting our beloved city.

Jeers to The Real Housewives of Beverly Hills

for going to the dogs. Usually, we're all about the Bravo ladies' pack mentality, but their bitching about Dorit dumping a pooch and Lisa (pictured) seemingly leaking the story has us ready to be put down.

Jeers to The Daytime Emmys

for being shut out by the networks. Again. The annual celebration of TV's early shift has been relegated to airing online since 2016, even though the shows honored like big winner General Hospital - all run on broadcast or cable. Nice way to take care of your own, folks!

Cheers to Jeopardy!

for finding a winning way to keep us tuning in. With his $1 million-plus run and often off-putting demeanor, contestant James Holzhauer has without question – given the game-show staple some real buzz.

Antiques Roadshow Returned to Sacramento

SACRAMENTO CA (MPG) -Approximately 22,000 people sent emails in hopes that they would be selected to have their treasures appraised when Antiques Roadshow pulled into Sacramento and set up shop Monday, May 13th at Crocker Art Museum. Two thousand pairs of tickets were distributed to fans and casual viewers from the Sacramento area and far beyond. Each person was invited to bring two items for appraisal, along with the story behind each object.

This is the show's second visit to Sacramento, and according to one lucky viewer and collector of treasures who won tickets both times, this visit was quite different. The first time, the event was held in the Convention Center nearly ten years ago and long lines were normal.

"This time, Antiques Roadshow was a welloiled machine," said Mattie, who has watched the show since its inception and followed its precursor, "The Collectors."

"We didn't have to search for parking because a parking lot was reserved for attendees and a shuttle bus took us to and from the Crocker."

The show issued tickets with times spaced thirty minutes apart, which helped keep lines to a minimum, although some lines were definitely busier than others. The clock appraisers were hoping for people, while lines for Asian art, jewelry, and paintings were longer.

A triage appraisal area was set up in the where preliminary appraisals determined which lines people needed to visit. A watch, it turns out, could end up in the collectibles line if it was a Mickey Mouse watch.

The show works regularly with 150 appraisers who volunteer their time, guru, Sarah, said that Sacramento's event had about 70 appraisers on hand, including Brian Witherell, COO and Consignment Director of Witherell's Auction House located in Sacramento.

The event also enlisted the help of 125 volunteers

ple to guiding them to their appropriate destinations. Some appraisers were in the courtyard and others were Crocker ballroom and adjacent gallery rooms.

As fans of the show Crocker's dining area and KVIE's marketing who performed an array of story behind the object back booth, something that duties from greeting peo- and of the expected 4,000 attendees, 150 segments would be taped based on suggestions from the appraisers. Of those segon the second floor in the ments, the show hopes to pull together three one-hour episodes to air in 2020.

One of those stories was know, there is always a discovered near the feed-was not available when the show visited in 2010. Al and Virginia brought in a doll that she believed to be French. It was German and the clothes were not original. She still loves the doll. Al discovered that his pistols are something that he needs to further pursue by contacting Smith and Wesson as suggested by his appraiser.

This couple did not win the lottery pull for tickets, but they were offered a second chance through a program called "Knock Our Socks Off."

The painting Al carried was given to him by the artist, Jerry Crandall. Al explained that the painting was payment for his legal work for Crandall's divorce.

"Allegedly a lawyer carried this with him," he said about the tiny circa 1855 pistol pointed toward the painting.

Look for Al and Virginia when the credits run next year during one of the Sacramento episodes.

Sacramento police officers secured the street in front of the museum and manned a table in order to examine firearms which include pistols and rifles older than 1899 for the California visit.

Several attendees came in costumes ranging from top hats to Victorian Era dress.

Show fans might have recognized Leila Dunbar, the baseball expert, and Nicholas Lowry, the poster and print expert who looked dapper in his brown plaid suit and waxed mustache.

The consensus from attendees was that the event was fun, well organized, and everyone had a smile.

Leo Austin Carrillo was convicted by a jury of two counts of attempted first-degree murder, assault with a semi-automatic firearm, felon in possession of a firearm and ammunition, and hit and run causing injury. The jury also found true allegations that Carrillo personally used a firearm and inflicted great bodily injury.

On June 24, 2017, Leo Austin Carrillo got into an argument with the victims outside of the Bonfare Market. When the victims left the market, Carrillo followed them in his car and fired multiple shots at them. Two of the bullets hit one of the victims, causing serious injuries. On July 4, 2017, Carrillo drove past a house while his front passenger fired several shots at a group of people in front of the house. One of the bullets grazed the victim's head. As Carrillo was driving away from the shooting, he struck a car driven by an unrelated citizen. The passenger in that car, who was pregnant, was injured and taken to a hospital.

Carrillo was on probation for a 2016 robbery conviction at the time of these offenses.

An allegation that Carrillo suffered a prior strike conviction for robbery will be determined at the sentencing hearing. If that allegation is found true, Carrillo faces a maximum sentence of 120 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for June 14, 2019, at 1:30 p.m. in Department 41 before the Honorable Helena Gweon.

Defendants Convicted for Murder at Surf Motel

DATE: May 14, 2019 CASE: James Martin Baca & Rebecca Irene Temme (Case #17FE005228)

PROSECUTOR: Principal Criminal Attorney Caroline Park, Homicide Unit

James Martin Baca and Rebecca Irene Temme were convicted by a jury of the first-degree murder of Leonora Montoya with the special circumstance that the murder was committed during the commission of a robbery. Baca and Temme were also convicted of two counts of robbery. The jury found that Baca personally used a firearm in the course of the murder and robberies. Baca was also convicted of being a felon in possession of a firearm and his prior strike conviction for burglary was found true.

On March 19, 2017, the defendants met the victims in the North Sacramento area and drove to the Surf Motel for a tattoo. Upon entering the room, James Martin Baca pointed a gun at the victims and demanded their cell phones. The defendants also demanded Ms. Montoya's car keys. When Ms. Montoya didn't comply, Baca shot her. Both defendants then rummaged through Ms. Montoya's pockets, took her car keys and fled in her car. The defendants were later located in Redwood City. With the assistance of law enforcement agencies in Redwood City, Menlo Park, and CHP the defendants were apprehended after a vehicle and foot pursuit.

Baca's criminal history includes convictions for assault with a deadly weapon; possessing dangerous weapons; destroying or concealing evidence for the benefit of a street gang; battery against a peace officer; possession of dirk or dagger; threatening a public officer; and domestic violence.

Temme's criminal history includes convictions for battery upon a peace officer while in custody; aggravated battery while in custody; felony evading a peace officer; and felony vehicle theft.

Both defendants face a maximum sentence of life in prison without the possibility of parole. Sentencing is set for June 28, 2019, at 11:00 a.m. in Department 34 before the Honorable Ernest Sawtelle.

Modern Warfare 2 Doesn't Feel So Modern

By Noah Howard

There's no better way to tell how far you've come than by looking behind you, and by replaying the singleplayer story of 2009's Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 2, it's easy to see how much video game design has changed and progressed over the past decade.

Modern Warfare 2 is, to this day, often considered to have the best single-player story and level design of any Call of Duty, and is frequently regarded as the peak of the shooter design in the late 2000's. It includes famous levels like "Cliffhanger," a stealthy snowstorm infiltration of an enemy base, and "No Russian," the controversial chapter that forces players, embodying a secret American agent, to participate in a terrorist attack so as not to blow their cover. The variety and production values are truly impressive, weaving a consistent story throughout a Michael Bay-like series of action sequences. And yet, even playing on the relatively easy "normal" difficulty, I found myself dying over and over rather than living the dream of being the best soldier on the battlefield. The habits programmed into me by the past ten years of first-person shooters (including some of the more recent Call of Duty games) were not easily undone; my fingers have learned to dance across the controller or keyboard, jumping, leaping, and dodging past bullets in a ballet of movement and agility. Modern Warfare 2, instead, asks me to sit behind a wall, peak out every few seconds to pop off a few enemies, and retreat behind the wall again.

As a result, used to the aggressive forward momentum of 2016's Doom or the agile acrobatics of Titanfall 2, I found myself rushing headlong into the bullets like an over-militarized Captain America...and dying time and time again for my transgression.

While these later shooters create dynamic systems that allow for improvisation and selfexpression, Modern Warfare 2 feels obsessed with controlling the player. You're funneled from encounter to encounter, all of which play out in almost exactly the same way for every person.

This strategy has not aged well. Plenty of video games feel tailored to create a power fantasy, but, crucially, Modern Warfare 2's fantasy includes little of the player themselves. Playing Doom or Titanfall 2, I'm trained, through clever design, to think like my avatar would, and because of the systems' room for improvisation and openendedness, the avatar, in turn, behaves how I think. In Modern Warfare 2, that relationship is onesided; I might be forced to embody my military action hero, but developer Infinity Ward's vision of that hero's mechanics is so specific that the action hero fails to bring any of the person behind the buttons into the game world

Modern Warfare 2 is, to this day, often considered to have the best single-player story and level design of any Call of Duty, and is frequently regarded as the peak of the shooter design.

That wasn't necessarily a problem at the time; Modern Warfare 2 was released at a period of tremendous innovation where developers were just starting to figure out how to tell robust cinematic stories in games. But more recent shooters have shown us that we can have our cake and eat it too, that we can both tell cinematic, engaging stories with thrilling moments and leave room for the player to selfexpress (something that other video game genres in 2009 time had already learned). As a result, despite its major significance for aficionados of video game history, Modern Warfare 2 feels reduced from its pedestal as one of the best first-person shooter experiences in gaming to a merely entertaining diversion.

The Exciting New World of Snap On Dentures!

There are millions of people in the US who struggle daily with dentures. A majority suffer from discomfort as a result of loose or ill-fitting dentures. Many prosthetic wearers simply withdraw from any type of social engagement as a result of having to wear their dentures.

> Now there is a solution to these issues: Implants with "Snap On" Dentures!

Whether you are new to dentures or have worn them for years, a snap on denture is a great solution to uncomfortable chewing and slippery painful dentures. There are several types of snap on dentures available, including snap on partials. If you already wear a conventional denture or partial denture, we can sometimes use your denture to accommodate the snaps to fit on your new dental implants.
