By Susan Maxwell Skinner

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Kath Friedrich and husband Tim Blaine established a goat farm so their disabled son would have a meaningful occupation. Their Rio Linda operation hosts visits from other disabled adults and produces milk and cheese as a sideline.

Descended from Swiss goat farmers, Kath - a retired attorney and law professor - took to dairying like goats to green grass. Even with a commercial interest in the herd, leaping little goat babies still enchant the mom of three.

A recent kid explosion brought her own family an early spring. In barns at Rio Linda farm and at home in Carmichael, all Friedrich's pregnant does delivered within a week.

"The moms were on course to deliver in March, explains Kath. "Then the big rains came in February. One first-time mom birthed three kids at Rio Linda. Two did not make it; her surviving baby was too weak to feed. I brought mom and baby back to Carmichael and we nursed the little one. Goats are terrific moms but this one seemed to know she'd delivered too early; she accepted human intervention. I milked her; my son and I bottle-fed the baby five times a day. In a week, the pair were fit to return to the farm."

With the next big onslaught of February rain, Kath anticipated flooding in Rio Linda. She also knew the farm barn would be overcrowded if the remaining babies all came at once. The goatherd decided to evacuate some of the moms.

Annual Creek Week Has Volunteer Opportunities

By Matt Robinson

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Creek Week 2019 is around the corner. Join other Sacramento County residents to clean-up and beautify our creeks, Apr. 4 to 14. Creek Week offers all ages the opportunity to appreciate, explore and learn how to protect our local creeks and aquatic life. There will be plenty of fun and educational activities for the whole family to enjoy!

The Sacramento Area Creeks Council kicks off activities with the Creek Week Splash-Off on Thursday, Apr. 4, starting at 11 a.m. This year's Splash Off will be at Camp Pollock, 1501 Northgate Blvd. Dr. Roland Brady will be awarded the 2019 Creek Steward Award for his extraordinary efforts to organize and carry out the clean-up of Steelhead Creek.

There will be educational events and activities all week throughout Sacramento County with the big finale on Saturday, Apr. 13, starting at 9 a.m. All involved are then invited to celebrate their efforts at Carmichael Park (5750 Grant Avenue) from noon to 2 p.m.

Volunteers are responsible for making the Creek Week experience work. Last year, more than 2,000 volunteers removed more than 19 tons of trash from neighborhood creeks and the Delta.

You can be part of an area-wide volunteer effort to improve and enhance our urban waterways by removing trash and invasive plants to help support a healthy creek system by volunteering for this annual spring cleaning of our waterways.

For more information on Creek Week activities and to find out how you can volunteer, go to the Creek Week website. ★

The Butterfly Effect

By Trina L. Drotar SACRAMENTO

REGION, CA (MPG) - The Western monarch butterfly population has declined, according to Xerces Society, by 99.4% in fewer than four decades. Angela Laws, Monarch and Pollinator Ecologist at Xerces Society, said that although this species' numbers have been declining since the 1980s, the "sharp drop in numbers this year is alarming."

Extinction is a possibility for this iconic brown and orange species. Environment California, Xerces Society, lawmakers, ecologists, and citizens throughout the state are working to preserve the Western monarch.

Cruisin' for Kids SMUD Rates to Go Up?

By Trina L. Drotar

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Cappuccino Cruisers has a lot to celebrate as it enters its 25th year in the Sacramento Region. This classic car club is open to vehicles from 1979 or earlier and is probably the longest running weekly event in Northern California, according to Ray Marchese, the group's contact.

From mid-April through October each year, car owners and enthusiasts gather to share information, show off a bit, and celebrate classic cars. On Wednesday evenings, they gather in Folsom from 5 – 8 p.m. and they welcome newcomers and any make or model of classic car.

Each week, the club collects non-perishable foods for the local food bank and once a month different groups of vehicles are featured for the club's theme nights. Woodies, wagons, and delivery trucks are a favorite with enthusiasts as are the T-buckets, rat rods, and hot rods. Rancheros and El Caminos also have quite a following.

One of the nights features orphans, which include Tuckers, Edsels, Vegas which Ralph Nader loved, even an amphibious car from the 1960s. These are the one-off vehicles that just did not find a place in America's car culture. They are sometimes maligned, like the Edsel, but they are also much loved by their owners and other aficionados.

"In June prior to 9/11, our theme night was 40s night spotlighting the cars, the war, the USO. After 9/11 happened, we decided that we needed to remind people where those freedoms came from," said Marchese. Folks with restored military vehicles are invited to bring their cars and trucks out to display. In past years, the Red Cross has attended. Folsom's American Legion presents colors, and Marchese selects patriotic music for the event. In the tribute tent, a list of the names of those who lost their lives on 9/11 is displayed as are memorabilia that belonged to members' parents or grandparents.

In addition to the weekly gatherings, this active group participates in several fundraising events throughout the year including the April 27 "Spring Fever Cruisin' for Kids' Sake" in Citrus Heights to benefit Sacramento Shriners' Hospital patients. There will, Marchese said, be music, vendors, a raffle, and lots of 1979 and older vehicles. "Registration and raffle money go to benefit Shriners'."

This event is the start of what looks to be a busy year for this active group. In May, the group heads to Roseville to host its annual "Cruisin' for K-9s and Roseville SPCA" to raise funds for Placer SPCA and Roseville

Police Department's K-9 unit. Music, raffle prizes, food, and a display of new vehicles will be on hand.

Memorial Day weekend brings the group to the Folsom Zoo. "With the help of sponsors, we buy and give away up to 500 passes," said Marchese. Home Depot supplies plants and the club also hosts a how-to clinic where children can pot a plant to take home.

July is the "Nostalgic Cruise of Dreams" in Folsom, and for those who cannot make it to Reno for Hot August Nights, this group will have a "Hot August" in Cameron Park. The "Denio's 9-11/First Responders Tribute" is scheduled for September as is the annual Carmichael favorite, "Picnic in the Park." Cappuccino Cruisers will close the year with its annual "Christmas is for Kids Toy Drive" in Folsom.

To date, Marchese estimates the club has donated more than $200,000 in canned foods, toys, and money to various local organizations. And the group does it while having fun and working very hard to put on the shows and events.

Giving back to the community includes stuffing 30,000 plastic eggs for Folsom's Easter egg hunt one day and returning the next day to assist with the event. And it can include stepping up for unexpected community needs like it did in 2017 with its "Firestorm 2017" event which raised over $1500.00 in cash, canned goods, and gift cards or a special raffle to raise funds to replace a man's wheelchair.

In 2017, the club's donations topped $12,500.00 which does not include the many volunteer hours Marchese and others give to make the events happen.

"The philosophy we adopted in the very beginning is that if we're going to do something to help somebody, as much as we can, we want to be able to see the results," said Marchese, so the group supports local organizations like Shriners' Hospital or the local food bank.

"We just enjoy doing what we do."

Special Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The SMUD Board of Directors is holding two public workshops and a public hearing to discuss proposed rate changes.

The Chief Executive Officer & General Manager's Report and Recommendation on Rates and Services, released by SMUD CEO & General Manager Arlen Orchard, outlines a proposed rate increase of 4.75 percent in 2020 and 4.50 percent in 2021 for all customer classes, a commercial rate restructure, and a proposed charge for on-site renewable electricity generation.

While SMUD has been able to reduce its overall costs by 2 percent, there continue to be new spending requirements that cause SMUD rates to increase. The rate increase will be used for wildfire mitigation, including the increased cost of wildfire insurance and additional vegetation management; additional capacity to ensure reliability during peak demand; technology to support cybersecurity and customer experience; and investments for new renewable energy resources, and building and transportation electrification to meet carbon reduction goals.

Also included in the report are the following proposals: A grid access charge for customers with on-site generation facilities, such as solar, that access the SMUD grid.

The proposed grid access charge will be effective January 1, 2020 and includes grandfathering provisions for existing customers with on-site generation facilities. Under the proposal, the cutoff deadline to be grandfathered is March 31, 2019; There will be a discount for customers with on-site generation facilities who are also on our low-income Energy Assistance Program Rate (EAPR). Proposed also is a rate restructure for businesses and other non-residential customers that better reflects the cost of providing services, and to improve consistency which will make it easier for business customers to transition between rate classes.

Detailed information on the proposed rate action and a complete copy of the Chief Executive Officer & General Manager's Report and Recommendation on Rates and Services can be found on smud.org/RateInfo, and at all Sacramento County Public Libraries.

SMUD will work closely with customers and other stakeholders — including community groups, service organizations, business groups, elected officials and more — to discuss these changes.

In addition, two Board of Directors' workshops and a public hearing will be held for customers to learn more about the process and comment on the proposed changes. All three meetings will be held at SMUD's Customer Service Center, Rubicon Room, 6301 S Street; Sacramento, CA 95817. The Public Workshop will be on Tuesday, April 23, 2019 – 10:00 am; The Public Workshop will be on Thursday, May 9, 2019 – 6:00 pm; The Public Hearing will be on Tuesday, June 4, 2019 – 6:00 pm

Accommodations are available for disabled individuals. If you need a hearing assistance device or other aid, or have questions about the proposal, please visit smud.org/RateInfo or call SMUD at 855-736-7655. ★

The Butterfly Effect

begin to understand the impact we are having on the habitats that monarchs, as well as native bees, beetles, and birds, depend on to survive.”

The Wildlife Conservation Board met in Sacramento on March 7 and approved guidelines for the Monarch and Pollinator Rescue Program. Grant project applications will be announced on the board’s website. Applications will be accepted year round for one of the four annual review periods. Funds may be used for restoration or enhancement of breeding habitat on private or public lands and may be used for seasonal or temporary habitats.

At a presentation at Pietro Talini’s Nursery in January, Laws said that the Thanksgiving count of the Western monarch showed an 86% drop since the 2017 count. “Several factors come into play,” she said, “and one is the loss of habitat and loss of food.” She is currently working with City of Sacramento District 3 councilmember, Jeff Harris, to plant a butterfly garden at Niños Parkway in South Natomas and encourages others to do the same.

Since the majority of the overwintering land is located on private property, residents and land owners may be the best hope for the species, whose numbers are down to an estimated 200,000 from its high of 10 million in the 1980s.

Native milkweed is necessary for the butterfly’s survival and is being lost due to land development and herbicide use. It can, however, be planted, as Laws and Harris are doing, in gardens and other locations. The milkweed is critical since it is where the butterfly lays its eggs and the caterpillar feeds on the plant so that it can grow and become a monarch.

Native nectar plants are also necessary since they provide the food for the adult monarch. Both plants need to be available in order for the monarch to thrive through its complete lifecycle and during overwintering.

According to Xerces Society, “the Sacramento Valley, Sierra Nevada Foothills, and Coast Range are vital to the survival of the first generation of monarchs produced each spring,” and the group is urging the state to work to protect the butterfly by protecting its habitats from pesticide use, better manage overwintering sites and restore breeding and overwintering habitats.

Other ways that individuals can help are to contribute to citizen science by making and logging observations of the monarch, stop using insecticides and herbicides which not only harm the butterfly, but these can also kill milkweed. Xerces Society and Environment California also encourage people to encourage others to do the same.

According to Tierra Curry, a senior scientist at the Center for Biological Diversity, increased habitat has helped the Eastern monarch butterfly numbers to rebound, but she said that a single good year is not an indicator of future years and calls for continued protection.

In June, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will make a determination whether to add the monarch to the list of threatened species under the Endangered Species Act of 1973. USFWS has been reviewing data since the request was submitted in 2014.

Their 20-mile drive to Carmichael caused more excitement than anticipated; a flock of healthy babies was birthed overnight. “I could hardly believe my eyes when I discovered them all in the barn in the morning,” she says. “One mom had three little ones. They deliver quietly. Their kids are cleaned, on their feet and feeding within 30 minutes” with the prancing new additions. “Having goats to care for has made our son more confident,” reports his mom. “The babies give him something extra to love. Our goats all take that love willingly.” ★

By County Supervisor Susan Peters

Through the generosity of The Carmichael Times this column serves to provide an update about matters affecting the unincorporated communities of Arden Arcade and Carmichael.

Office Hours At Carmichael Egg Hunt
 This month I will hold "Office Hours" during the Carmichael Egg Hunt in Carmichael Park on Saturday, April 20. My "office" involves me setting up a table at this event and residents can drop by and talk about items of interest. I'll be available to visit on a "no appointment necessary, first come basis" before and after the children dash for eggs that morning. I started holding "Office Hours" in 2005 and now it has become an annual tradition at several community events. Everyone seems to find these informal gatherings more convenient and easier than making a formal appointment downtown at the County Administration Center.

CARMICHAEL COMMUNITY UPDATE

The Egg Hunt starts at 10 am sharp rain or shine and my "office" will be open 9:30-10:30 am that morning. In addition, there will be a pancake breakfast that runs from 7 to 11 am sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Carmichael. For more information about the egg hunt, call the Carmichael Recreation and Park District at 916-485-5322 or go online to carmichael-park.com.

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento History Museum will officially re-open to the public on Saturday, March 30, 2019 at 10 a.m. The museum was temporarily closed earlier this year for a much-needed renovation project that included removing the escalator and remodeling the ground floor space.

To celebrate the re-opening, the Sacramento History Museum will offer free admission that one day only along with free activities such as gold panning, storytelling, crafts and period games for kids.

"The successful renovation project was a big step in our long-range strategic plans to reposition and refresh the Sacramento History Museum," said Delta Pick Mello, Executive Director of the Sacramento History Alliance. "Now that the outdated escalator has been removed and the space redesigned with a more open and welcoming layout, we are pleased to invite the community to revisit the Museum, and also consider it for upcoming events and exciting activations."

DOVIA Presents Annual Awards

By Trina L. Drotar

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - On March 14, volunteers were recognized by Directors of Volunteers in Agencies (DOVIA) at Shriner's Hospital for Children - Northern California. Nearly 100 people attended the annual awards ceremony which recognized three categories of volunteers - Youth Volunteer of the Year, Individual Volunteer of the Year and Outstanding Achievement in Volunteer Engagement.

Rachele Doty, CVA is the board's chair and presented the welcome to all nominees, their friends and families, judges, and Brian Ricks from Assemblyman Ken Cooley's office. Doty said that each of the nearly twenty-five nominees present received certificates from DOVIA and from Cooley's office. He was unable to attend this year but is very supportive of the awards.

The Youth Volunteer of the Year award was presented to Abby Schumacher, who Doris Henke, a decades-long volunteer with Snowline Hospice received the Individual Volunteer of the Year award. She received a certificate and a $100 honorarium gift for Snowline Hospice. Henke has spent a lifetime giving back to the community in El Dorado County where she has lived since the 1960s.

"Doris Henke is a name to be recognized and remembered. Her name is truly synonymous with love and caring because of the profound difference she makes in the lives of others," wrote Bonnie Davis, CVA, Director of Workforce and Volunteer Services for Snowline Hospice. Davis nominated Henke for the award. "It is impossible to quantify the hundreds or thousands of lives she has touched through the years. This loving wife, encourager, mother, caregiver, businesswoman, selfless giver, community developer, friend, ministry-builder, and mentor lives an intentional life of service to others and is a shining example of 'giving your all'."

The Individual Volunteer Award of the Year is new this year, said Doty. "We had always focused on the youth volunteer, and

The final award for Outstanding Achievement in Volunteer Engagement award was presented to Darlene Cullivan, CVA of Eskaton for her work. "I am honored to receive this special award as it demonstrates Eskaton's vibrant philanthropic culture. Eskaton is grateful for the over 2600 volunteers who invest their time, talent and compassion to enrich the lives of seniors. I am inspired Eskaton volunteers illustrate our belief that Age is Beautiful."

Nominees were judged by Carla Lehn, CVA, Cole Forstedt, and Valeri Mihanovich and had, Doty said, a difficult time making the final decision this year because all of the nominees were "so wonderful." Volunteer service must have been performed in Sacramento, Yolo, Placer, or El Dorado counties during the 2018 calendar year.

Service includes work release time, without pay or for student course credit, and each nominating organization must provide service for the larger community, not simply for its members.

Nominees were involved with Access Leisure and Paralympic Sport, Sacramento Food Bank and Family Services, ACC Senior Services, Sacramento Sheriff's Explorer Program, Habitat for Humanity of Greater Sacramento, Breathe California Sacramento Region, yolo County 4-H, Project R.I.D.E., Inc., Sacramento Tree Foundation, First Call Hospice, Sacramento SPCA, Foothill Therapy Dogs, Sutter Hospice, Oak Park Community Center, Gardenland/Northgate Neighborhood Association, and Junior League of Sacramento, Inc., Snowline Hospice, Eskaton, and Fairytale Town.

"DOVIA exists to support the volunteer managers, to provide networking, continuing education and support," said Doty who has held several board positions. DOVIA presents at least one event each month.

The Green New Deal Plus Modern Monetary Theory Equals Socialism

Commentary by Dr. Mark Hendrickson

Thank you, Representative Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez. The Green New Deal (GND) she has unveiled is most illuminating. It is now unmistakably clear that AOC, Bernie Sanders, and other democrat socialists in the Democratic Party don't want "socialism lite" but rather they want the federal government to take control of the "commanding heights" of the economy. Although they may settle for the variant of socialism in which businesses remain nominally private, even as the government dictates what they must do, they plainly want central economic planning, albeit with a 10-year rather than five-year plan.

This is no exaggeration. The GND essentially calls for conscripting the American workforce and putting us to work in accordance with what the elite government planners want instead of what "we, the people" want. They propose to replace our market economy, in which privately owned businesses compete to see who can best supply the needs and wants of the people, with a command economy in which government is the master and citizens build what the planners say must be built.

Here are some planks in AOC's GND:

- The elimination of fossil fuels in 10 years, which would entail the closing of all gas stations, replacing them with electric-charging stations; replacing or retooling tens of millions of vehicles that travel by land, sea, or air (with the alarming acknowledgment "we aren't sure that we'll be able to get rid of ... airplanes [in 10 years]"); replacing all power plants that use fossil fuels with wind and solar, and eliminating all jobs involved in the exploration, extraction, refining, and transportation of fossil fuels.

- "Retrofit every building in America."
- "Overhaul ... agriculture."
- "Provide job training and education to all."
- "Guarantee a job with family-sustaining wages"
- "Provide high-quality health care [and] housing."
- "Ensure universal access to healthy food ..." and much, much more.

What the GND proposes – essentially, rebuilding America's physical plant and infrastructure from top to bottom – is physically impossible to do in 10 years. In fact, it couldn't be done in 100 years. The economy would collapse long before then in the chaos that socialist economies always experience as the inevitable consequence of replacing market prices with government edicts.

The GND is economically impossible, too, although its proponents seem to think that they can bypass economic reality by implementing what is called MMT—Modern Monetary Theory, a new label for the old, failed practice of printing more money.

In everyday economic life, money acts like a claim on goods and services; if you have enough of it, you can obtain what you want. Under MMT, the government has access to as many fiat dollars as it wants—a virtually unlimited supply. (Fiat currencies are not backed by anything material but are created out of thin air and rely on legal tender laws to compel people to accept them as payment for goods and services.) Using its monopoly power over money, MMT in practice would give the federal government unlimited purchasing power. That would enable the government to outbid all private interests for labor, materials, equipment, etc. In short, what the government wants, the government gets, and private individuals and businesses are correspondingly deprived.

What about inflation—wouldn't printing all those additional fiat dollars cause prices to rise? According to MMT, the government can prevent inflation by draining purchasing power away from the private sector through higher taxes. Thus, while printing more money increases the government's purchasing power, inflationary pressures would be offset as government removes purchasing power from the private sector. MMT is a game rigged so that the government always wins and the private sector always loses. No wonder socialists love MMT!

There is a well-known word that describes overwhelming power that government wields over people: tyranny. MMT boils down to government using its monopoly over money to dictate and control production, obliterate free markets, suppress private enterprise, and impoverish the people—i.e., socialism. A more apt name for MMT is Money Monopoly Tyranny. Indeed, MMT is a destructive tool tailor-made to assist the implementation of the socialistic Green New Deal.

Legislation to Ban Sale of Nitrous Oxide

- 'Whippits' - Unanimously Passes First Committee

Senator Jim Nielsen's Measure – SB 193 – Will Help Save Young Lives

By Nghia Nguyen

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Senate Public Safety Committee unanimously passed Senate Bill 193, a measure to ban smoke shops from selling "whippits."

"Nitrous oxide is a legal chemical for legitimate use, but when abused, it is extremely lethal," said Senator Jim Nielsen (R-Tehama), who authored the measure. "Young people buy and inhale this gas to get 'high' because they mistakenly believe it is a 'safe' substance."

Senator Nielsen added, "Let's try to eliminate the opportunities that are so accessible to this killer substance."

Specifically, Senate Bill 193, if passed and signed into law, would prohibit smoke and tobacco shops from selling nitrous oxide.

Lawmakers heard heart-breaking stories including a mother's grief over the brain damage and struggles of her son and a young man's fight to recover from spinal cord degeneration when he was confined to a wheelchair. Both tragedies were due to nitrous oxide abuse.

Nitrous oxide use is

difficult to detect because it does not stay in a user's bloodstream for long.

Barbara Lodge, a mother of a son who was addicted said, "Although my son has committed to a life of sobriety, the reality is that any day or night, he can walk into any smoke/tobacco shop and be tempted to buy everything he needs to resume using this deadly drug."

According to the National Institute on Drug Abuse, recreational use of nitrous oxide can lead to "death from lack of oxygen to the brain, altered perception and motor coordination, loss of sensation, limb spasms, blackouts caused by blood pressure changes, and depression of heart muscles functioning."

Following his son's

confinement to a wheelchair, Patrick O'Brien asked Senator Nielsen to introduce this measure to help prevent other families from the anguish he and his family endured.

Mr. O'Brien said, "My 19-year-old son was able to walk into a smoke shop to easily, legally and cheaply purchase a large quantity of a nitrous oxide. In my opinion, there isn't a viable reason to sell this substance in a smoke shop. My concern about whippits and the damage it causes to the central nervous system led me to reach out to Senator Nielsen and share my story."

Senate Bill 193 will now move onto the Senate Committee on Business, Professions and Economic Development for its consideration on April 8.

Senator Nielsen represents the Fourth Senate District, which includes the counties of Butte, Colusa, Glenn, Nevada, Placer, Sutter, Tehama and Yuba. To contact Senator Jim Nielsen, please call him at 916-651-4004, or via email at senator.nielsen@sen.ca.gov.

TV GUIDE MAGAZINE CHEERS & JEERS

By Damian Holbrook

Cheers to Project Blue Book
for its X-ceptional odd couple. Hynek (Aidan Gillen) and Quinn (Michael Malarkey) were an engaging, prickly pair that kept Season 1 of History's UFO drama grounded even as the skies filled with cases ripped from real life.

Jeers to American Idol for focusing on the wrong talent. ABC's reboot returned to find a new singing star, but the season premiere spent so much time on the jokey vibes between judges Lionel Richie, Katy Perry and Luke Bryan, most auditions barely had a chance to shine.

Jeers to Netflix
for not completing its Grand Designs. The addictive British series about outlandishly constructed homes has been running in the UK for 19 seasons—plus spin-offs!—yet there are only two years of episodes available for streaming. Way to undervalue an incredible property.

Cheers to USA's Suits
for its finely tailored season finale. In addition to delivering a crafty twist that showcased the always awesome Wendell Pierce (as exiting partner

Hynek (Aidan Gillen) and Quinn (Michael Malarkey) were an engaging, prickly pair that kept Season 1 of History's UFO drama grounded.

Robert Zane), fans also got a hookup between Donna and Harvey (Sarah Rafferty and Gabriel Macht) that was as hard-earned as it was hot. ★

ASK MATT

BY MATT ROUSH TV Guide Senior Critic

Should I Check Out Mom On Cbs?
Question: A lot of people recommend watching Mom, but when I heard it was created and written by Chuck Lorre, the same guy who made The Big Bang Theory, it was an instant "nope!" But since I trust your TV judgment, is it worth watching? —Thelma
Matt Roush: These questions are tough to answer, because while I have been on record from the start as a fan of Mom, that style of comedy isn't to everyone's taste. If you flinch at the very thought of The Big Bang Theory, then maybe a sitcom in the same style—big broad jokes in front of a studio audience—won't be to your liking. But I've always found Mom to be a cut above the Chuck Lorre norm, more in the mode of a show like original Roseanne or Grace Under Fire, as it tracks the lives of mostly working-class people trying to put their lives together while in recovery from addiction. These characters often suffer serious setbacks, but never lose their blunt sense of humor. Mom began as more of a domestic comedy but has evolved into a female buddy comedy about hard-working Christy (Anna Faris), her more outrageous also-in-recovery mom Bonnie (Allison Janney) and their core group of friends in a support group. (Kristen Johnston joined the gang this season as a boisterous ex-con.) I recommend Mom, while acknowledging that it might not be your beverage of choice.

United Way Announces Sacramento Foster Youth Summit in April

Stephanie Bray of United Way stands with keynote speaker September Hargrove, emcee Kitty O'Neal from KFBK and local foster youth at the annual Women United Luncheon where she called for a summit to address foster youth graduation rates.

By Kristin Thébaud

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG)

United Way is gathering foster youth and community leaders working on foster care issues for its inaugural Foster Youth Summit on April 5 from 9 am-3 pm at the Sacramento State Ballroom, 6000 J Street.

The summit will identify opportunities to increase the number of foster youth who graduate from high school and go on to complete post-secondary education. Summit findings will be released as a report that will determine the direction of United Way's foster youth programs. For more information and to sign up: YourLocalUnitedWay.org/FosterYouthSummit.

Stephanie Bray, president and CEO of United Way California Capital Region, announced the summit to 300 supporters at United Way's 17th Annual Women United Luncheon on March 21. More than $78,000 was raised through the luncheon for United Way's programs that are preparing foster youth for success in college and career. Since 2002, United Way's Women United action group has raised more than $2 million for programs for local foster youth.

"It's time to take our work to the next level," Bray said at the luncheon. "For far too long, we have talked about the drop-out and homelessness rates for foster youth. We know that no one person or organization can do this alone. So we are convening a public forum to discuss how we move the needle on high school graduation and college or career attainment for foster youth so that fewer struggle as they transition into adulthood."

Nonprofit service providers, state and county foster youth advocates, school districts, foster youth and other supporters will come together for a deep dive into community level data, a foster youth panel on real-world implications of the data, breakout sessions and a keynote speech by Jennifer Rodriguez, JD, executive director of Youth Law Center and a former foster youth.

At the luncheon, Bray cited a 2018 Annie E. Casey Foundation report that noted without any support, California foster youth drop out of high school at a rate of 24 percent, 30 percent do not have stable housing and 51 percent are unemployed.

"That is so much lost potential," Bray said. "We at United Way believe that every child, including each foster youth, has the opportunity to achieve. Imagine the impact if we don't invest in our foster youth's potential."

Bray referred to luncheon keynote speaker September Hargrove as an example of how foster youth achieve success, not only for themselves but for communities across the country. Hargrove, a former Sacramento foster youth who volunteered with United Way a decade ago, is now VP of global philanthropy at JPMorgan Chase & Co., leading the company's $150 million commitment to Detroit through neighborhood revitalization, small business, financial capability and workforce development.

For nearly 100 years, United Way California Capital Region has brought local people together to make community change happen. Today, the nonprofit is bringing people together across Amador, El Dorado, Sacramento, Placer and Yolo counties for its Square One Project, a 20-year promise to significantly increase the number of students in our region who graduate from high school ready for success in college and beyond.

United Way believes ending poverty starts in school and is working to ensure kids meet important milestones and their families receive support and resources. To learn more and make a donation: YourLocalUnitedWay.org. ★

Sacramento County DA Reports

Defendants Convicted for Robbery Spree of 14 Businesses

DATE: March 26, 2019

CASE: Malcolm Brewer, Glen Conway & Shane Williams (Case #17FE023299)

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Satnam Rattu, Homicide Unit

Malcolm Brewer was convicted by a jury of 14 counts of robbery with 11 enhancements of being personally armed with a gun and two additional enhancements where another participant in the robbery was armed with a gun. He was also convicted of being a felon in possession of a gun. A separate jury convicted Glen Conway of three counts of robbery with two enhancements of being personally armed with a gun and an enhancement where another participant in the robbery was armed with a gun. Conway was also convicted of being a felon in possession of a gun.

A third defendant, Shane Williams, pled no contest to seven counts of robbery and seven enhancements where another participant in the robberies was armed with a gun.

The three defendants and two other perpetrators went on a robbery spree from November 10, 2017 to December 13, 2017. Over this time, they committed 14 separate robberies at fast food restaurants, gas stations, convenience stores and gaming stores. There were 19 separate victims, including both employees and customers. In most instances, the defendants wore masks, gloves and had a getaway driver waiting when they fled the scene. The defendants were identified through clothing, vehicles, phone records and DNA.

Allegations that Brewer and Conway each suffered a prior strike conviction for residential burglary under California three strikes law will be determined at the sentencing hearing.

Brewer faces a maximum sentence of 79 years in prison. Conway faces a maximum sentence of 33 years in prison. Brewer and Conway will be sentenced on April 26, 2019, at 9:00 a.m. Williams faces a maximum sentence of 13 years and 4 months in prison. His sentencing is set for April 12, 2019, at 9:00 a.m. All three sentencing hearings will be held in Department 42 before the Honorable Allen Sumner.

Defendant Convicted of Multiple Real Estate Fraud Charges

DATE: March 21, 2019

CASE: Richard John Canacari (Case #18FE022389)

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Susan Nelsen, Real Estate Fraud Unit

Richard John Canacari was convicted by a jury of two counts of filing or causing to be filed a false or forged document in a public office, two counts of possession of a forged document with intent to defraud, two counts of passing a forged document, and one count of grand theft. The jury also found true aggravated white-collar crime allegations.

Canacari and the victim were married, but separated in 1991. The victim owned a home as her sole and separate property. On July 6, 2016, Canacari recorded a forged Grant Deed transferring the home owned by his estranged wife to himself. He then used a forged and fraudulent Sacramento County Superior Court Judgment and Order that purportedly granted him the home, which he used to obtain a $200,000 loan with the home as security. In his effort to secure the loan, he signed an additional Grant Deed on March 23, 2018. The lender funded the loan on May 9, 2018, based on Canacari's fraudulent documents and representations.

Canacari has a prior 1992 felony grand theft conviction for fraudulently borrowing $40,000 with the same home as security and without his estranged wife's permission.

Canacari faces a maximum sentence of 12 years state prison. Sentencing is set for April 19, 2019, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 29 before the Honorable Geoffrey Goodman.

This case was investigated and prosecuted by the Sacramento County District Attorney's Office Real Estate Fraud Unit. ★

Requiem for the Masses—with its German text and emphasis on consoling the living, Brahms' decidedly non-Latin Requiem was unlike anything that had come before it.

Richard Pan Breaks Another Promise

By Christina Hildebrand, A Voice for Choice

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - State Senator Richard Pan, the author of SB 277, a law that requires kindergartners to get twenty-seven different doses of medication and fifteen different shots or forego a public education, has introduced SB 276, a bill that would require government permission for a doctor to opine that certain vaccines could harm a patient. This is an unprecedented and dangerous intrusion into the doctor-patient relationship, likely violates doctor's free-speech rights, and contradicts Pan's own public promises from just a few years ago.

Pan has claimed there is a problem with "medical exemptions" - i.e., official opinions by a doctor that if a child is vaccinated, that child could suffer harm. Medical exemptions are extremely rare, and doctors grant them only if a child or a family member suffers from things like a debilitating disease (such as leukemia), or if a child or a family member had a well-documented negative reaction to a vaccine or one of its ingredients. Just 0.7% of students obtain such an exemption, up from 0.2% before the passage of SB 277, a change that is not statistically significant. The total number of children exempt from the state's vaccine requirements (i.e., including those 1.1% exempt due to disabilities) has actually dropped since the passage of SB 277, going from 2.6% to 1.9%, indicating that Pan's plan is a solution in search of a problem.

Pan's legislation would require doctors to get permission from a government department -- the state Department of Public Health, before issuing an opinion for a patient on this issue. Such interference in the doctor-patient relationship is unprecedented, and the only analogous laws have been in state's requiring state approval of abortions -- something that has been universally deemed improper.

Pan's planned attempt to crack down on doctors would almost certainly get in the way of a doctor making an evaluation based on empirical, scientific evidence. "Imagine being the parents of a child who the federal government concluded was injured because of a condition that made them susceptible to vaccines, and then your family doctor tells you she is too terrified to exempt your younger child from those same vaccines, because the thought police might take her license," said Christina Hildebrand, President and Founder of A Voice for Choice Advocacy, a non-profit that advocates for medical freedom. "I can't imagine what good would come from the government regulating a doctor's free will to diagnose as he sees fit - it starts to resemble regulation of free speech," Hildebrand concluded.

Pan, a politician representing the Sacramento region, is a regular beneficiary of campaign contributions from the pharmaceutical industry, averaging just shy of $100,000 from it every legislative session. He is the top recipient of such funds in the state legislature, and the pharmaceutical industry, in turn, is his largest contributor.

"Any legislation or action on behalf of drug-makers that interferes with a doctor's individual judgment will be hotly contested," said Hildebrand. "We cannot let government determine what is in the best interests of any individual, overriding the doctor-patient relationship. Every doctor and patient in the state should be alarmed if such action is brought forward. If this can be done with vaccinations, what medical treatment will be next? Patients need to be able to trust their doctors and not worry that they are being pressured or worried that their honest, scientifically based medical judgment will be overruled by a legislatively appointed official who has never met them."

COMPUTER INSIGHTS

GETTING STARTED WITH COMPUTERS

Here are a few of computer facts. I hope they whet your appetite for more over the coming weeks.

Did you know the first Personal Computer (PC) was the MITS' Altair 8800? Introduced in the mid-1970s, it looked nothing like the desktops and laptops we have today. It only had a single main processing chip, ran at 1 MHz, and stored instructions in 1K of RAM. If you wanted to save what you were working on, you put it on a cassette tape or 5-1/4" floppy disk. All that plus a power supply, keyboard, and a whole lot of wires would have been sprawled all across the desk. A hobbyists delight!

Now 40 years later, PCs are much more than toys for hobbyists. They are indispensable tools seen at home and on nearly every work desk in companies all over the world. They are thousands of times more powerful, utilize millions of times more memory, and files can be saved on drives a billion times larger using a simple key stroke. A laptop can be so small that you can effortlessly work on it from bed!

Today, whether you are into the IBM-based PC's or an aficionado of the comparable Apple's Mac computers, what you can do with your system is almost endless. Send and receive emails, write letters, create presentations, keep schedules, play games, draw pictures, edit photos, network with others, save important information, and maybe even program your "neat big thing."

On the internet, you can get questions answered, visit websites, shop for products, do banking, find partners to date, and even attend an auction.

In the next weeks we'll talk about doing these things safely, best practices, maintenance "must do's", and many tips and tricks that you'll want to know.
