Santa Claus Comes to Town

Boulevard Lights up for Christmas Visitor

Story and photos
by Susan Maxwell Skinner

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Clear skies – and faux snow -- blessed the 16th annual tree lighting ceremony in Carmichael Park last week.

Leading a community count-down, Supervisor Susan Peters ignited thousands of fairy lights on the 50ft park Christmas tree and surrounding illuminations. Peters' date was puppy Phoebe – the County's new First Dog. The mini-schnauzer was rescued and adopted by Peters following the retirement of elderly predecessor Ernie, who prefers to stay home on cold evenings these days. Part of Phoebe's big night out was a nose-to-nose with Santa Claus.

Big band carols heralded dignitary arrivals and scores of children stood patiently in line for an audience at the gilded throne with the merriest VIP of all. An estimated crowd of 1500 attended. Food trucks fed the

Sac RT Now Holding Open Meetings on Future Plans

By Susan Peters, County Supervisor

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento region has significantly changed since the Sacramento Regional Transit (SacRT) network was first established 30 years ago and now an effort, SacRT Forward, is underway to rethink the purpose and design of the region's entire transit network.

Community Outreach Meetings are being held this month. SacRT Forward is exploring wholesale changes to the transit network including a "blank slate" look at how to position transit competitively long-term in the region. That's important because traditionally transit services have been focused on downtown employment, but more recently trends have been emerging to redesign transit services to compete for distributed work trips as well. Land use, travel patterns, economic centers and transportation technology in our region have transformed and SacRT believes so should the public transportation system.

El Camino High Celebrates New Arts Center

Story and photos by Susan Maxwell Skinner

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - After decades on teacher and student wish lists, El Camino High School's new arts center is a reality. Opened last week, the $15 million theater complex will host school productions and community events. A 2012 bond measure passed by area voters enabled funding for this and other recent San Juan Unified School District projects.

Eighteen months in construction, the 12,200 square-foot building began its first semester of use immediately after ribbon-cutting. Celebrations included performances by the school choir and orchestra. The drama department will present its first major production – "The Wizard of Oz" in March, next year.

For students, the stateof-the-art theater promises welcome change from past performances on a makeshift Continued on page 3

Bye Bye Mattress Program Surpasses 3 Million Mattresses Recycled in California

Program Has Diverted More Than 100 Million Pounds of Materials From Landfills

By Scot Murdoch

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) -

The Mattress Recycling Council's (MRC) Bye Bye Mattress Program (Program) announced today it has recycled more than 3 million mattresses in California since its inception in 2016. The Program offers no-cost, environmentally friendly alternatives to Californians disposing of old mattresses through local collection sites, public events and collaborations with local retailers and solid waste providers.

"Reaching this milestone in less than three years of operation is a significant achievement," said MRC's Managing Director Mike O'Donnell. "We share the Program's success with our dedicated contractors and participating collection sites across California. We also have continued support from elected officials that voted for this law in 2013."

More than 80 percent of mattresses can be recycled and turned into new consumer and industrial products. For example, old mattress foam is recycled into carpet padding, mattress springs are sold as scrap steel, which is melted to make building materials and other steel products, and wood from box springs is chipped and used as landscape mulch.

"The MRC Program is one of the most effective Product Stewardship Programs Butte County is associated with," said Steve Rodowick, recycling coordinator with Butte saves us money, manpower and above all, valuable landfill space."

A recycling fee collected when consumers buy mattresses and box springs in California funds the Program. MRC uses the fee to establish free dropoff locations and collection events throughout the state. Collected mattresses are then transported from these sites to regional recyclers that dismantle and recycle mattress components. Consumers may take their old mattresses to more than 230 drop-off locations and collection events throughout California. The Program also County. "This program recycles mattresses collected sand mattresses, while also by retailers, hotels, universities and other sources that discard mattresses in large volumes.

"Our work with the Mattress Recycling Council fulfills our mission to provide youth in San Joaquin and Tuolumne counties with an opportunity to develop work skills and preserve California's environment," said Deborah Phillips with the Greater Valley Conservation Corps, a San Joaquin Office of Education program. "In less than a year, Greater Valley Conservation Corps crew members have helped recycle more than two thou-gaining the experience they need to move into green sector careers."

In addition to recycling, the Program works to prevent illegal dumping, which includes the Illegally Dumped Mattress Collection Initiative. By working with local communities, this $1 million initiative has helped remove more than 63,000 improperly disposed-of mattresses from alleys, sidewalks and other public spaces throughout California since 2016.

"The Bye Bye Mattress Program exemplifies California's leadership in a sustainable and circular economy by creating green jobs," said O'Donnell. "After less than three years, we've made progress toward reducing our environmental footprint, conserving landfill space and supporting California's statewide recycling goals."

The Mattress Recycling Council was formed by the mattress industry to operate recycling programs (known as Bye Bye Mattress) in states that have enacted mattress recycling laws -California, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Since its inception in 2016, the program has recycled more than 3 million mattresses in California collected from a network consisting of local governments, solid waste facilities, nonprofit organizations and small and minority-owned businesses throughout the state. CHP Goes "Online" to Help Alert the Public

By Fran Clader, CHP Media

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - When a person goes missing, every second counts. As the statewide coordinator for the AMBER, Silver, and Blue Alert programs, the California Highway Patrol (CHP) understands that time is of the essence and is using technology to help expedite the recovery process.

"Whether a child or at-risk adult has gone missing or a dangerous suspect is on the run, time and details are vital," said CHP Commissioner Warren Stanley. "Using technology gives everyone involved in the process another tool to reach the appropriate audience with the information."

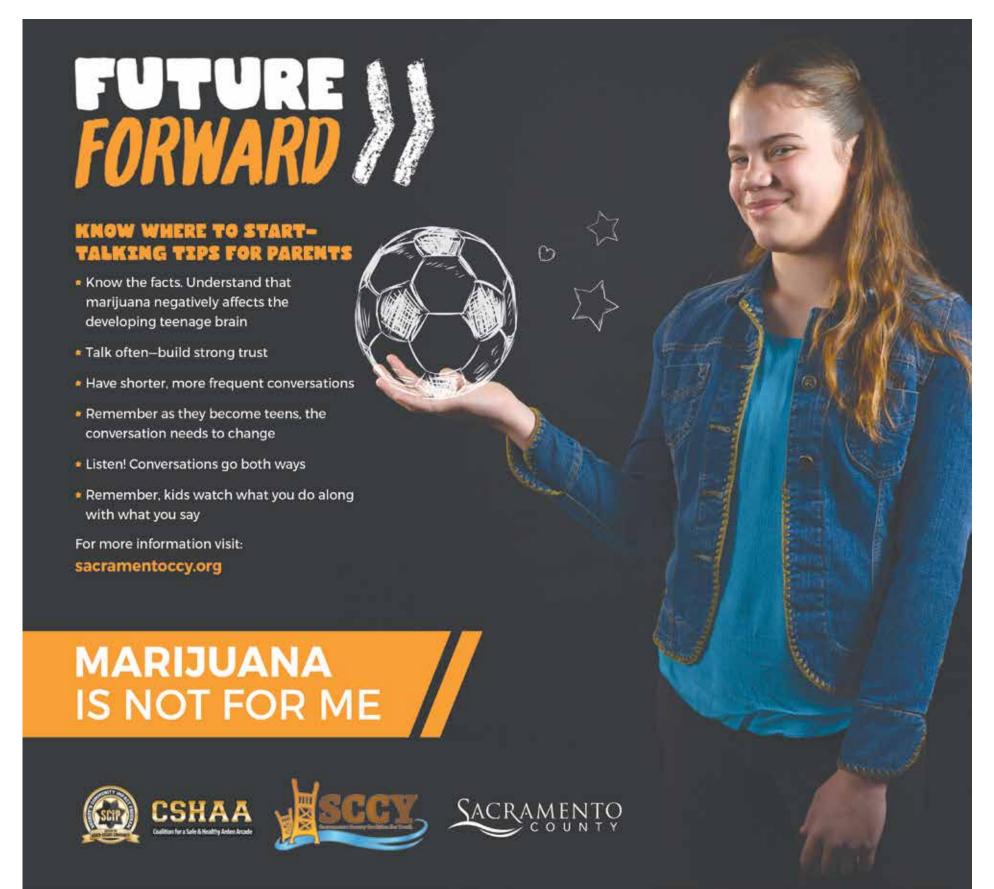

As part of the various notification procedures when an alert occurs, the CHP's Emergency Notification and Tactical Alert Center (ENTAC) will distribute the critical information to cell phones in the affected geographic area through the Wireless Emergency Alerts (WEA) program. As a result, millions of consumers with WEAcapable devices and services are armed with potentially lifesaving information.

Due to the limited number of characters available through the WEA, the CHP is now embedding a link in each message that will direct the user to the public-facing Web site at https://www.chp.ca.gov/news-alerts. Once there, the user will find all active alerts, along with access to related flyers that can be downloaded and distributed.

Social media is also being used to help expedite and grow the audience for alerts distributed by the CHP. The public, media, and law enforcement are encouraged to follow a new Twitter account managed by ENTAC - @CHPAlerts. Posts from this account will be limited to active AMBER, Silver, and Blue Alerts.

Since July 2002, the CHP has issued nearly 300 AMBER Alerts for abducted children. Less than a decade later, in January 2011, California enacted the Blue Alert system to apprehend individuals wanted following the violent attack of a law enforcement officer; eight Blue Alerts have been issued to date. Two years later, the Silver Alert system went online in California and there have been nearly 1,400 alerts issued for missing, at-risk adults since January 2013.

The mission of the CHP is to provide the highest level of Safety, Service, and Security.

stage in the school cafeteria. El Camino-trained actors (including household names like Jessica Chastain and Kate Levering) nevertheless began stellar careers performing at this cabbagescented venue.

School band director Kevin Glaser – a driving force behind making the long-awaited theater a reality -- was greeted with a standing ovation on opening night. "Looking around me, there is nothing I would change," he told the audience of 500. "Except this should have happened 25 years ago."

Glaser thanked the school district, students, parents, alumni, voters and taxpayers. "This is the beginning of a new era for El Camino and the community," he predicted. "The arts center is not just for our students, it's for everyone.

"Stick to your dreams,"

A driving force behind the building project, band director Kevin Glaser greets retired school drama teacher Lee Elliot. Elliott (81) journeyed from Ohio to attend the theater opening.

Glaser advised students. "And they will happen."

The theater was constructed by McCarthy Building Companies in collaboration with HGA Architects & Engineers. El Camino High School is located at 4300 El Camino Avenue. The new building can be viewed from Eastern Avenue. Other projects enabled by the 2012 bond measure are Rio Americano High School's Center of the Arts and Bella Vista High School's science wing. Casa Roble High School's Student Union & Administration Building is also under construction. ★

Advent Attitudes

By Pastor Rich Reimer

It is a well-known slogan. "Attitude Determines Altitude" in life. We approach the Christmas Season bombarded by cultural attitudes of hostility, confusion, discouragement, and sadness. How can we keep from adopting these toxic emotions, especially during this special time of the year?

The Christmas narrative found in the Bible is filled with attitudes that lift us out of the cultural cesspool of demoralizing attitudes.

the positive attitudes of HOPE, JOY, PEACE AND LOVE!

The advent attitude of Hope is seen in the star that the Magi from the East followed to Bethlehem. That star triggered the long held hope that one day God would set this world right. One day, the Jewish Prophets declared, God would send His Messiah to rebuild the Jewish Temple in Jerusalem, defeat the enemies of God's people, and inaugurate a new way of governing God's world with justice and peace. One of the best definitions of hope I've ever came across is this one by Ray Johnston in his book "The Hope Quotient". Hope, he says, is a state of mine or attitude that believes "God has better days are ahead!" During this busy holiday season set your mind to look forward, to trust God to usher in better days.

The advent attitude of Joy is The Christmas Story illustrates seen in the message given by the angelic host. In the Luke's Gospel account, there was a group of lowly shepherds out in the fields. It was night when the sky burst open with light and angelic joy. "I bring you Good News of great JOY that will be for all people." Who doesn't like good news? Good news launches within us a response of joy. Something big, something positive, something unheard of is happening! The Good News is that God has visited us in our human context. No more prophets shouting, no more scholars writing, but a personal visit from the Creator to His creation! What a headline! Listen for the voices of good news this Christmas season.

The next advent attitude is Peace. Most know the familiar phrase, "peace on earth". This attitude comes to earth because God is sending one who the prophet Isaiah has given the title "Prince of Peace". This Prince of Peace will not only offer inner tranquility or peace of mind but more importantly the way to have peace with our Creator. Most people know the feeling of being disconnected or alienated from their Creator. In the birth of Jesus, the Prince of Peace, we have one who will effectively build a bridge and reconcile us to God. Once a person has made peace with their Creator life begins to make sense and a huge burden is lifted. There is a new sense of freedom and confidence. What a gift that is for Christmas!

The last Advent Attitude is Love. Love is more than a feeling of emotional attachment to another, more than amorous passion. Love in its core is commitment. God demonstrated His love for us by literally moving into our neighborhood in the person of Jesus. It is unimaginable that the unseen, spiritual being of which none greater can be conceived actually took on human skin and personality. What sacrifice! What commitment to us in our human condition. God fully identified with us by becoming one of us, in the person of Jesus. This is the historic and true meaning of Christmas.

If you want to hear my full sermons on these four Advent Attitudes you are welcome to show up on Sunday mornings at 10:00AM starting Sunday December 2nd.

SAFE Credit Union Awards City Year Sacramento with $20,000 Grant

By Carole Ferguson, SAFE Credit Union

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Calling out the cheer, "Two, four, six, eight, who do we appreciate? City Year! City Year" staff members from SAFE Credit Union marched into the Oak Park, California, offices of City Year on a recent rainy morning to surprise the nonprofit with a $20,000 grant.

City Year Executive Director Jeff Owen and Development Manager Maggie Lawrence were on hand to accept the donation. "This is going to go a long way in our work to help students who really need some support, and our amazing AmeriCorps members who are working 10 hours a day for peanuts," Owen said.

City Year sends near-peer mentors to under-served schools in Sacramento to help students succeed. City Year representatives cheer students as they arrive to school each day to honor them for their hard work and to pump them up for the day. students overcome challenges that may lead them to dropping out of school. They also assist with tutoring students in math and English to stay on track to graduate with their peers.

"City Year shines in its mission," said SAFE Credit Union Community and Advocacy Engagement Manager Amanda Merz. "City Year's dedication leading financial instituto helping at-risk students over hurdles and standing by them to ensure their success really spoke to us here at SAFE. By staying in school, these students will have a better foundation to build a more financially secure and personally satisfying life. We are proud to be able to assist City Year with its efforts to help our community's students."

SAFE Credit Union is a tion in Northern California with more than $2.8 billion in assets and more than 229,000 members. SAFE is a not-for-profit, community-chartered credit union with membership open to businesses and individuals living or working in Sacramento, Placer, Yolo, El Dorado, Sutter, Butte, Nevada, Solano, Costa, Yuba, Amador, and by the NCUA. www.

Lighting Up the Holidays

Be Safe and Efficient With Our Holiday Lighting Tips

SMUD Special Release

Many people will fill their homes with lights this holiday season. But before you hang them with cheer, check out our tips on how to be safe and save money this holiday season.

Money-saving tips:

- Switch to LED holiday lights. LED lights come in a variety of colors and use nearly 80 percent less energy than conventional lights. LED holiday lights are cool to the touch and generally much more durable than incandescents. You can even buy LED holiday lights at SMUDEnergyStore. com. SMUD energy experts have done the work for you and selected a variety of high-quality lights for • Use one long extension vou to choose from.
- Use a programmable timer so your lights are only on when you want them to be. There are many options out there, including some "smart timers" that work with your smart phone.

Safety tips:

- Inspect all of your holiday decorations and look for broken or cracked sockets and frayed or bare wires. Damaged light sets should be immediately discarded.
- When installing lights from a ladder, stay away from all overhead power lines and electrical service lines, and take your time moving up and down the ladder. Most injuries related to

- holiday lights involve falls from ladders.
- Avoid installing holiday lights from or on your roof unless using proper safety gear, including a harness or guardrails.
- Only use Underwriter's Laboratory (U.L.) or Factory Mutual (F.M.) approved electrical devices, extension cords and lights. These approvals indicate the product has been tested for electrical safety and reliability when used as advertised.
- · Always follow the manufacturer's instructions when stringing lights. Most brands recommend against connecting more than three sets of lights or combining LEDs and other types of lights in a single strand.
- cord instead of linking several shorter ones. And never run extension cords through standing water or across walkways.
- Always unplug lights and electrical cords before connecting and hanging them.
- Keep paper, ribbon and other decorations away from holiday lights.
- Unplug or turn off all decorative lights before going to bed or leaving your home.
- · Make sure outdoor electrical outlets have shock-protecting Ground Fault Circuit Interrupters (GFCI).
