Eppie's Says Goodbye

Eppie's Great Race Concludes After 45 Years of Tradition

The Eppie's Great Race Foundation and the Johnson family decided to end the Great Race after its 45th year, noting that Eppie was 45 years old when he started the event. Photos by Rick Sloan

By Susan Peters,
County Supervisor

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Eppie's Great Race (otherwise known as the World's oldest no swim triathlon) concluded after its 45th year on Saturday, July 21, and celebrated its contribution to our area's history.

Founded by the late Sacramento-area restaurateur/entrepreneur Eppie Johnson in 1974, the race became an annual summertime tradition for elite athletes, fitness enthusiasts and families. This last contest featured a 5.82-mile run, a 12.5-mile bike route and a 6.35-mile kayak paddle held along the scenic American River Parkway. It started and finished at the William B. Pond Recreation Area located at the end of Arden Way.

The race was organized by the Eppie's Great Race Foundation and the primary beneficiary is the Therapeutic Recreation Services Division within the Department of Regional Parks which provides therapeutic recreation opportunities for individuals with disabilities residing in Sacramento County. To date more than one million dollars have been raised for therapeutic recreation services since the race's inception.

The Foundation and the Johnson family decided to end the Great Race after its 45th year, noting that Eppie was 45 years old when he started the event. While this unique challenge will fade into history, the Foundation will continue to sponsor Eppie's Kids Duathlon, featuring running and bicycling, for children ages 3 to 13, in the fall – and the Foundation is set up to continue funding Sacramento County Therapeutic Recreation Services despite the triathlon's demise. ★

Check This Out — Librarian Rules at Chamber Meeting

by Susan Skinner

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - "Your library is a shared resource; get out and share it," commands Rivkah Sass. Carmichael business people got the message when the feisty director of Sacramento County libraries addressed the Chamber of Commerce.

The executive – who started her career as a children's librarian in Washington State – was recently named in a stellar lineup of "Women Who Mean Business" by Sacramento Business Magazine. Daughter of a Manteca dairy farmer, Sass runs the fourth-largest library system in California with an iron fist, a velvet glove and a sense of humor.

Taking her Sacramento job in 2008, Sass inherited an institution reeling from an internal embezzlement scandal.

Perpetrators have since served jail time and much of the stolen money ($500,000 of $800,000) was recovered. An iron-clad system, explained Sass, is now in place to prevent similar occurrences. "We now have the best financial management in world," she says. "We want the public to trust we're doing a good job with their money."

Sass is proud that programs introduced under her aegis now serve customers from cradle to (almost) the grave. She boasts of recently checking out a pressure-washer to clean her home deck. "Our Library of Things can loan you anything from a sewing machine to a musical instrument or a go-pro camera," she says. "We can help you apply for a passport; publish a book; get free or discounted museum passes; earn a high school diploma or help your child get ready to read. Anything you need to learn, you

A recent "Lunch at the Library" program served meals to children in 13 county locations, including Fair Oaks and Arcade libraries. "If kids are hungry, they can't learn," Rivkah explained. "If kids are readers, they're thinkers – and they can make a difference."

"In a world where there is so much competition for our personal resources, it's critical to know there's an agency that can help stretch family dollars," she says. "Many people don't know it costs nothing to get a library card. Walking through the door and making that discovery is so important. I'm proud to be a librarian because we provide what anyone can take advantage of. We help people realize their dreams." ★

California Wildfire Relief

By Red Cross

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- More than 90 wildfires are raging around the country. In Northern California, devastating fires are burning across more than 110,000 acres, forcing residents from their homes. The American Red Cross is there, providing shelter and comfort for those affected.

One of several large wildfires in California, the Carr Fire near Redding, California, is now ranked as one of the top 10 most destructive wildfires in California's history. It is only about 23 percent contained. The fire has destroyed more than 1,000 structures and is threatening just over 4,000 more. Mandatory evacuations were ordered throughout the region, where conditions are unpredictable due to variable winds and blazing temperatures. Steep terrain is also challenging firefighting efforts. The city is home to as many as 92,000 people and is located about 100 miles south of the border with Oregon.

More than 1,000 people sought refuge from the inferno overnight in 11 Red Cross and community run shelters in California. Along with community partners, the Red Cross is providing hot meals and distributing comfort kits to impacted families. Red Cross disaster workers have identified additional shelters, and have numerous cots and shelter items on stand-by to be able to respond quickly to provide more help if needed. The Red Cross is working closely with state and local officials to expand the relief response if necessary to make sure people get the help they need.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

You can help people affected by disasters like wildfires and countless other crisis by making a gift to American Red Cross Disaster Relief. Visit redcross.org or text REDCROSS to 90999 to make a $10 donation. Your gift enables the Red Cross to prepare for, respond to and help people recover from disasters big and small. Contributions may also be sent to your local Red Cross chapter, or to the American Red Cross, P.O. Box 37864, Boone, IA 50037-0864. ★

Goodwill for Fashion: Who Knew?

By Andrew Rose

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Goodwill Industries in the Sacramento area is busily preparing for Style with a Purpose, at the Alta Arden Goodwill location on Saturday, August 4. Though this particular event has a Back to School theme, fun and fashion is in store for all who attend. According to Goodwill representatives, the goal is to make fashion accessible to everyone, to break down the stigma attached with thrifting, to promote eco-fashion and to have on-hand style advice for shoppers free of charge. Regional Manager for Goodwill Industries, Hope Pearson, extends her invitation to customers of all ages and expects them to be impressed. "It's not your average thrift store," Pearson maintains. "Our quality is much higher than most thrift stores."

The happening will feature a number of fashion experts in the Sacramento area, and welcome men, women, and children to get their fashion groove on. Stylists will pre-select clothing items for people of all sizes, and other items will also be showcased. During the event, guests will be able to browse "style stations" where stylists will offer personalized fashion advice. This is Goodwill's second stylists event in the Sacramento area. The first one, held on April 28, was a rousing success. In the process, Goodwill attracts new shoppers to its organization by pointing out how people can, through a little hunting, acquire amazingly inexpensive ways to enhance their wardrobe.

While Style with a Purpose is designed to be a fun event, it supports a serious cause. Each purchase to Goodwill helps improve lives of people who use the organization's services. All purchases of merchandise from Goodwill's stores benefit the nonprofit's mission of helping people with disadvantages achieve self-sufficiency. In 2018 alone Goodwill Sacramento Valley and Northern Nevada provided more than $20 million worth of resources to those in need. Some community organizations benefitted are Next Move Homeless Services, Francis House Center, Wind Youth Services, People of Progress, and Community Link Capital Region. "Our business wouldn't be possible without donations from our community," Pearson asserts. What's more, Goodwill is instrumental in helping people in the community rebuild their lives with its job assistance programs.

Goodwill was founded in 1902 in Boston by Methodist minister Rev. Edgar H. Helms. Helms enacted the progressive idea of collecting household items and clothing in upper class sections of the city. These goods were resold or given to people in need. Thus, the Goodwill credo of not charity, but a chance was put into place. Helms' simple vision is now a nonprofit organization with assets of more than $5.5 billion. Helms described Goodwill Industries as an "industrial program as well as a social service enterprise... a provider of employment, training and rehabilitation for people of limited employability, and a source of temporary assistance for individuals whose resources are depleted."

Goodwill Industries gets results. In 2017, more than 38.6 million people utilized in-person and technological services from the organization to build their professional lives. Also last year, the organization's Good Neighbor program, which provides emergency assistance on a referral basis to agency clients, directly served 72,937 people across 35 countries.

More than a century after Goodwill's founding, events such as Style with a Purpose help perpetuate the success of the organization by bringing in a new, often younger clientele. Betsy Appleton, who puts together the blog goldwilldigger.com, reminds people that dressing snappy is affordable, thanks to Goodwill. On the blog, Appleton describes herself as "a 20-something navigating the waters of adulthood with champagne taste on a beer budget." As a guest on NewsChannel 5's Talk of the Town program in Nashville, Appleton provided frugal fashionistas with a few tricks of the trade. When asked about her best tip for going through the racks, Appleton advised that it's a different experience than walking to a rack in a department store. In fact, she claimed, some elbow grease is required. Appleton explained the digging in being a Goodwill digger. "One is to be patient," she asserted. "Things aren't going to jump out at you. You have to spend time there, be patient, and be persistent."

Appleton added that the reduced monetary investment in clothing bought from Goodwill lends itself to experimentation. A recreational fashion designer can feel free to take the scissors to alter a Goodwill garment, because it didn't cost a lot of money. "There's no harm in doing a little DIY with Goodwill pieces. You don't have a lot invested in them to make them unique and fit you." Appleton was awarded Goodwill of Middle Tennessee's 2016 Ambassador of the Year.

Heather Donaldson, creator of Style with a Purpose, received her inspiration for this event from a similar happening in Nashville, in which her sister Elisabeth participated. A critical care nurse, Heather Donaldson started thrifting out of financial necessity, and now keeps doing it for fun and with a sense of social consciousness. "When I was musician living in Los Angeles, I never had any money but needed clothing that would make me look like a star. Goodwill quickly became my best friend," she reflects. "I could find unique items made of rich fabrics that were often hardly worn. Now that my pocketbook is not as tight, I don't thrift out of necessity, I thrift because I worry about this planet and the effects of fast fashion on the environment. I still find beautiful clothes for a fraction of retail prices and I use what I save to travel and enjoy life."

Donaldson will serve as a stylist for the event along with Caitlin Alfstad, Dev Anglin, Hagen, Keia Mae, Tuyen, Vince Vicari, and Xochitl. Each stylist in the event will be on hand to provide personalized fashion advice. All attendees will be welcome to pick the brains of these local "bloggers, artists, and fashionistas," as described by Donaldson.

Style with a Purpose will take place on Saturday, August 4 at the Alta Arden Goodwill location on 2040 Alta Arden Expressway from 1-4 PM. Light bites and beverages will be served. For more information about Goodwill in this area, go to www.goodwillsacto.org. ★

Disabled American Veterans Help Send Kids to Summer Camp

Disabled American Veterans California Chapters 35 and 93 have raised a grand total of $31,296 since 2015 for their support of Camp Corral, a summer camp unique to children of veterans.

By MPG Staff

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - For the fourth consecutive year, DAV California Chapters 35 and 93 in the Sacramento region have joined together to support Camp Corral. The mission of the camp is to transform the lives of children of wounded, injured, ill, and fallen military heroes by providing a unique summer camp experience.

"The vision behind Camp Corral is one where kids, ages 8 to 15, are free to be kids, far away from the day-to-day challenges they face as children of military service members and veterans," according to an official statement. "We partner with some of the best camps around the United States to host each session. Camp Corral has proven to be a 'week of a lifetime,' providing kids non-stop fun with activities like canoeing, swimming, fishing, arts and crafts, ropes course challenges, horseback riding, and more. Campers have the priceless opportunity to connect with other kids who understand the unique challenges that come with military life. Each of our host camps provides top-quality programming that teaches the skills needed to build emotional resilience. The positive effects may follow a child for a lifetime.

This year, DAV California Chapters 35 and 93 were able to raise over $9,000. Since 2015, the Chapters have raised a total of $31,296 for their support of Camp Corral.

Running All Out for Love: East Lawn's Annual 5K Run

Story and photos by Paul Scholl

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - On not just another early Saturday morning, over 1,000 runners, walkers and joggers showed up early to run for love. The annual East Lawn Fab 40's 5k Run, is a fundraiser benefitting the Alzheimer's Association. It brings out runners from all over to show their love and support for family members who have died or are currently suffering from the tragic disease.

This year's winner was Jason Holland-Morrison of Elk Grove with a time of 16:36, or a 5:21 minute mile. Second place went to Kevin Clancy of Citrus Heights at 16:48, just twelve seconds off the winning pace.

Other local runners were Jske Swanson of Carmichael finished 30th, Mike Gottardi of Rancho Cordova 36th, Bobby Carpenter of Rancho Cordova 38th, Deanna Palacios 38th, Ron Souza of Citrus Heights 61st, Robert Hammond of Fair Oaks 70th, and Erica Loomis of Citrus Heights finished 99th.

Each year dozens of sponsors line up to support this effort. Their support helps to pay for the great looking t-shirts provided to all the registered runners. Each sponsor gets their logo on the back of the shirt to show they are a part of the "Cure Alzheimer's" cause. If you recognize any of the sponsors from the list, be sure to thank them for their donations.

Capital Road Race Management managed the runner's event, which is Sacramento's official 5k Championship race. It also takes many volunteers to help the great event take shape. Without them it wouldn't be possible.

Fleet Feet once again had a large group of dedicated runners.

Kevin Clancy of Citrus Heights finished second.

The run for love had over 1000 runners and walkers.

The 8 to 10 year olds set the early pace for the grown-ups.

And the big 5k race begins right on time.

Jason Holland-Morrison won the 5k race and gets congratulations.

Attention All Dogs, Cats, Hamsters, Chickens, Horses, and Their Owners!

By Advent Lutheran Church

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Each day, every one of us can make a difference for the life of animals. Some might decide to eat only vegetarian or vegan diets. Some might volunteer for their local SPCA. Others might offer their services as a foster home to shelter animals. Others yet might make it their mission to campaign for the end of animal testing, recyclable packaging, or stricter animal-rights regulations of zoos, circuses, and theme parks. For the majority, though, making a difference for the life of animals equates to caring for pets or other domestic animals.

In Christian-heritage countries, care for animals is most closely associated with the month of October, originating from the Roman Catholic celebration of October 4 as the saint day of Francis of Assisi, patron saint of ecology and founder of the Franciscan order. Since the early 20th century, animal welfare has been promoted among secular organizations, too. In many countries around the world, October 4 is observed in an entirely secular fashion as "World Animal Day," a day of action for animal rights and welfare.

Bringing animals into sanctuaries in early October is not always easy for their owners. Many pets won't be able to make it through a long worship service or tolerate other animals near them ... and then there's the issue of what to do about animals defecating inside the sanctuary. In short, it can be very stressful or even impossible to bring your pet to church.

In response to such concerns, Advent Lutheran Church will host a drop-in animal blessing on the church's front lawn on Saturday, August 11.

Visit members of the congregation and their pastor, Rev. Gabriele Schroeder, between 10am and 1pm. Please bring your pet on a leash or in a crate. Should your pet be unwilling/unable to leave your car, our volunteers can come to your car for a drive-by blessing. All animals welcome!

*The initial Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is currently 4.50% for a new Home Equity Line of Credit (HELOC), and is fixed for the first 5 years of the loan which is called the draw period. After the initial 5 year period, the APR can change once based on the value of an Index and Margin. The Index is the weekly average yield on U.S. Treasury Securities adjusted to a constant maturity of 10 years and the margin is 3.50%. The current APR for the repayment period is 6.50%. The maximum APR that can apply any time during your HELOC is 10%. A qualifying transaction consists of the following conditions: (1) the initial APR assumes a maximum HELOC of $150,000, and a total maximum Loan-to-Value (LTV) of 70% including the new HELOC and any existing 1st Deed of Trust loan on your residence; (2) your residence securing the HELOC must be a single-family home that you occupy as your primary residence; (3) if the 1st Deed of Trust loan is with a lender other than El Dorado Savings Bank, that loan may not exceed $200,000 and may not be a revolving line of credit. Additional property restrictions and requirements apply. All loans are subject to a current appraisal. Property insurance is required and flood insurance may be required. Rates, APR, terms and conditions are subject to change without notice. Other conditions apply. A $475 early closure fee will be assessed if the line of credit is closed within three years from the date of opening. An annual fee of $50 will be assessed on the first anniversary of the HELOC and annually thereafter during the draw period. Ask for a copy of our "Fixed Rate Home Equity Line of Credit Disclosure Notice" for additional important information. Other HELOC loans are available under different terms.

California Burning Thanks to Obama-Era Environmental Regulations

By Katy Grimes, Investigative Journalist

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The largest wildfire burning in California has now claimed the lives of seven Redding residents. More than 38,000 Shasta County residents have been evacuated because of the Carr Fire.

Cal Fire estimates there are more than 300 fires burning across California as of Sunday morning. "Since 2012, according to state emergency management officials, there has not been a month without a wildfire burning — a stark contrast to previous decades, when fire officials saw the fall and winter as a time to plan and regroup," the New York Times reported last week about California's wildfires.

Many are asking why there are so many fires burning again in California.

What's the significance of 2012?

It is interesting that the New York Times mentioned the 2012 date, but only attributed the wildfire increases to "the recent historic drought," and "rising temperatures," caused by climate change. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Obama-Era Eco-Terrorism Enviro Regulations

Under Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack, "The Obama administration finalized a rule governing the management of 193 million acres of national forests and grasslands, establishing a new blueprint to guide everything from logging to recreation and renewable energy development," the Washington Post reported in 2012. "The rule will serve as the guiding document for individual forest plans, which spell out exactly how these lands can be used."

These Obama-era regulations introduced excessive layers of bureaucracy that blocked proper forest management and increased environmental litigation and costs. This is the result of far too many radical environmentalists, government bureaucrats, leftist politicians and judicial activists who would rather let forests burn, than let anyone thin out overgrown trees, or let professional loggers harvest usable timber left from beetle kills, or even selectively cut timber. Forests are the ultimate natural renewable resource.

In a 2016 Townhall column, Paul Driessen explains:

"Eco-purists want no cutting, no thinning — no using fire retardants in "sensitive" areas because the chemicals might get into streams that will be boiled away by conflagrations. They prevent homeowners from clearing brush around their homes, because it might provide cover or habitat for endangered species and other critters that will

"Hotter, drier, longer forest fires we are witnessing today have nothing to do with 'dangerous manmade climate change. They have a lot to do with idiotic forest mismanagement policies and practices."

PAUL DRIESSEN
SENIOR POLICY ADVISOR,
THE COMMITTEE FOR A CONSTRUCTIVE TOMORROW

get incinerated or lose their forage, prey and habitats in the next blaze. They rarely alter their policies during drought years."

"The resulting fires are not the "forest-rejuvenating" blazes of environmentalist lore. They are cauldron-hot conflagrations that exterminate wildlife habitats, roast bald eagle and spotted owl fledglings alive in their nests, boil away trout and trout streams, leave surviving animals to starve, and incinerate every living organism in already thin soils ... that then get washed away during future downpours and snow melts. Areas incinerated by such fires don't recover their arboreal biodiversity for decades."

Government Incineration

In the early 1990's the Clinton administration embraced the Forest Stewardship Council following the Rio Earth Summit. The FSC was created "to promote environmentally sound, socially beneficial and economically prosperous management of the world's forests."

Yale 360 contributor Richard Conniff explained: FSC was to work with the timber industry "to set standards covering the conservation and restoration of forests, indigenous rights, and the economic and social well-being of workers, among other criteria. For industry, FSC certification promised not just a better way of doing business, but also higher prices for wood products carrying the FSC seal of environmental friendliness."

It was an epic fail. All industries using timber-related products were extorted into becoming "FSC Certified." Paper products, furniture, construction, cabinets, power poles, and hundreds of industries use timber. "A quarter-century later, frustrated supporters of FSC say it hasn't worked out as planned, except for higher prices: FSC reports that tropical forest timber carrying its label brings 15 to 25 percent more at auction," Conniff reported. "But environmental critics and some academic researchers say FSC has had little or no effect on tropical deforestation."

Prior to FSC Certification, environmentalists refused to acknowledge that timber had been prized as a renewable, recyclable natural resource, and the timber industry prioritized proper care of forests.

Fast forward to the George W. Bush administration: "In June 2009, a federal judge sided with environmentalists and threw out the Bush planning rule that determines how 155 national forests and 20 national grasslands develop individual forest plans, governing activities from timber harvests to recreation and protecting endangered plants and animals. Clinton appointee, Judge Claudia Wilken of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California ruled that the Forest Service had failed to analyze the effects of removing requirements guaranteeing viable wildlife populations (Greenwire, July 1)."

By 2012, the Obama administration issued a major rewrite of all of the country's forest rules and guidelines.

In 2015, Washington D.C. District Court Judge Ketanji Brown Jackson, an Obama appointee, rejected claims from a coalition of timber, livestock, and off-highway vehicle organizations that the Obama sustainability provisions in the 2012 Planning Rule would cause an economically harmful reduction in timber harvest and land use and an increase in forest fires. "Defendants Klamath-Siskiyou Wildlands Center and Oregon Wild, represented by the Western Environmental Law Center, as well as The Wilderness Society and Defenders of Wildlife, represented by Earthjustice, argued that existing federal law provided ample authority for the

KATY GRIMES
INVESTIGATIVE JOURNALIST

Forest Service to promulgate the Planning Rule provisions, which place emphasis on ecologically sustainable forest management," Earthjustice reported.

As with the Clinton administration in the 1990's, the Obama administration worked against all drilling, mining, ranching, farming, property ownership, and made it happen through the 2012 eco-terrorism regulations.

So-called environmentalists have a very narrow view of nature, not recognizing that without management, which means an appreciable amount of logging, they are actually hurting wildlife and the long-term health of the forest. And now California is on fire. ★

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER

ESTATE OF ROBERT E. DAVENPORT
CASE No. 34-2018-00236791
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both of Robert E. Davenport. A Petition for Probate has been filed by Christine D. Davenport in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Christine D. Davenport, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows October 2, 2018 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129 at Superior Court of

California, County of Sacramento 3341

Power Inn Road Sacramento, CA 95826.
IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. The name, address and telephone number of the Attorney for Petitioner is: Carolyn D. Cain

ASK MATT

BY MATT ROUSH TV Guide Senior Critic

WHY ISN'T FREDDIE HIGH-MORE AN EMMY NOMINEE?

Question: How is it possible that Freddie Highmore isn't nominated for a leading actor in a drama Emmy for The Good Doctor? His moving portrayal of a brilliant autistic doctor has got to be one of the most challenging roles on TV. --Cathy given the surplus of choices, Freddie Highmore's no-show on the Emmys list is perhaps the most inexplicable. An industry myopia regarding most broadcast-network TV is only part of it, but considering the stylistic leap this talented young actor made, transitioning from Bates Motel to The Good Doctor within a year, this is a lamentable oversight. On further analysis of this specific category, one explanation could be that HBO's high-profile Westworld was airing during the period of ballot voting and was fresher in voters' minds. Jeffrey Wright moved from supporting to lead actor this year, and he's pretty much the heart and soul of that show, so no argument there, but Ed Harris also nominated as lead for what seems more a supporting character? That might have better gone to Highmore. (Also: As Westworld droned on this season, I wonder if some voters now have remorse for giving what was ultimately a disappointing second season so many nominations.)

a credit bureau report on prospective renters. I also drive by the place they're currently living to see how they take care of things. To me, this is a great indication of how responsible they are, and how they might treat my property. Finally, get proof they've regularly made past rental payments on time.

Finding responsible renters

Dear Dave,
I'm a landlord, and I own a few houses and duplexes around town. Recently, I made the mistake of renting to some tenants who were not respectful of my property. Do you have any tips for selecting good renters?
- Joe

Dear Joe,

In my experience, most landlords simply aren't thorough enough with the screening process when it comes to potential tenants. It's difficult to get to know someone — especially in this kind of situation — without spending some face-to-face time with them and digging into their backgrounds a little.

I have several rental properties, so here are a few tips that have served me well over the years. Always require a big deposit up front. In addition, pull collector, and spoke with anyone but you about your debt, he broke the law. This is a violation of the Federal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act. You need to file a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) against this collector and his company.

—Dave

Don't allow them to break the rules

Dear Dave,

A debt collector has been calling members of my family for the last two weeks to get information on me. He identified himself as collector, and I want to pay what I owe, but is it legal for him to do this?
- Kerry

Dear Kerry,

No, it isn't legal. If he identified himself in any way as a debt Record the conversation the next time they call. Tell them at the beginning you'll be taping any interaction you have with them from that point forward, and ask your relatives to do the same. That way, you'll have proof to hand over to the FTC or the attorney general.

There's nothing wrong with collecting a debt. If you're a collector or creditor, it's money that is legally owed to you. Still, you must do it within the confines of the law.

Sacramento County DA Reports

Defendant Sentenced for Child Sexual Assault

DATE: July 23, 2018
CASE: Kristopher Jordan (Case #16FE018631)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Brian Morgan, Special Assault & Child Abuse Unit
 The Honorable Stephen Acquistio sentenced Kristopher Jordan to 50 years in prison. On June 15, 2018, a jury convicted Jordan of seven counts of committing a forcible lewd act on a child.
 In 2014, Jordan started sexually assaulting an 11-year-old male family member.

Gang Members Convicted for Multiple Murders

DATE: June 29, 2018
CASE: David Javier Jaimes & Alex Martinez Camacho (Case #14F01928)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Morgan Gire, Gangs & Hate Crimes Unit
 David Javier Jaimes and Alex Martinez Camacho were convicted by a jury for the first-degree murders of Gladis Quinteros and Enrique De La Cruz as well as attempted murder. The jury also found true the special circumstance that both defendants committed multiple murders. Enhancements for personally discharging a firearm causing death and committing the crimes for the benefit of a criminal street gang were also found true.

On May 21, 2013, Jaimes and Camacho were in a car with fellow North Sacra Norteño (“NSN”) gang members. While driving on Birdcage Street, they saw who they believed was a rival Sureño gang member talking with another man and woman. The defendants got out of the car and shot the victims multiple times. The victims died at the scene. The defendants fled and the case went unsolved. A month later, Jaimes and Camacho were again in a car with other gang members. The defendants mistakenly believed they saw Sureño gang members in a truck and followed them. While stopped at the intersection of Arden Way and Morse Avenue, one of the gang members in the car opened fire on the truck, critically wounding the passenger. A nearby sheriff’s deputy heard the shots and pursued the suspect vehicle. During a highspeed chase, a handgun was thrown from the vehicle and was later recovered.

An examination of the handgun revealed a connection to the murders on Birdcage Street. It was also linked to a series of shootings in Sacramento and Citrus Heights. Further investigation showed Jaimes and Camacho were responsible for the vast number of those shootings.

Jaimes and Camacho each face a maximum sentence of life without the possibility of parole plus an additional 180 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for September 21, 2018, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 12 before the Honorable Maryanne Gilliard.

Defendant Convicted of Foothill Farms Murder

DATE: July 26, 2018
CASE: Robert Gene McCormack (Case #16FE012920)

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Omar Singh, Homicide Unit
 Robert Gene McCormack was convicted by a jury of the second-degree murder of Kert Lackey and for being a felon in possession of a firearm. The jury also found true the allegation that McCormack personally discharged a firearm causing death. The Court found true that McCormack has a prior 1998 strike conviction for assault with a deadly weapon.

Robert McCormack and his girlfriend invited her ex-boyfriend, Kert Lackey, to their house for dinner. That night, McCormack overheard a loud conversation between his girlfriend and Mr. Lackey. McCormack struck Mr. Lackey twice in the head with an aluminum bat. When Mr. Lackey attempted to fight back, McCormack barricaded himself in the house. Mr. Lackey walked down the driveway toward his car, McCormack exited the house with a loaded 9mm semi-automatic handgun and shot Mr. Lackey seven times. Mr. Lackey died immediately at the scene.

McCormack faces a maximum sentence of 60 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for August 17, 2018, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 34 before the Honorable Pamela Smith-Stewart.

DV Offender Convicted of Attempted Murder, Child Endangerment

DATE: July 30, 2018
CASE: Randy Wallace (Case #17FE015903)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Allison Dunham, High Risk Domestic Violence Unit

Randy Wallace was convicted by a jury of attempted murder with the allegations of premeditation, personal use of a firearm and personal discharging of a firearm causing great bodily injury found true. Wallace was also convicted of two counts of willful child endangerment and making criminal threats.

Wallace and the victim had just ended their relationship. On August 28, 2017, the victim was with her two young children doing errands. When she ran into Wallace on the street, the two got into a verbal altercation. Wallace told the victim he was going to shoot her. He then went into a nearby house, came out holding a gun and shot at the back-rear door and window of the victim’s car where her children were sitting at the time. One of the children received a number of cuts and scrapes from the glass window shattering in his face, including a laceration to his eye. Wallace then shot the victim in the chest, stomach and back of the leg. He hit the victim in the head with the back of the gun before fleeing the scene. Wallace was apprehended on October 5, 2017. The victim suffered life-threatening injuries, but she survived. Wallace has a history of domestic violence and was on active probation at that time of this offense.

Wallace faces a maximum of 38 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for August 17, 2018, at 1:30 p.m. in Department 15 before the Honorable Laurel White. ★

The Exciting New World of Snap On Dentures!

There are millions of people in the US who struggle daily with dentures. A majority suffer from discomfort as a result of loose or ill-fitting dentures. Many prosthetic wearers simply withdraw from any type of social engagement as a result of having to wear their dentures.

Now there is a solution to these issues: Implants with "Snap On" Dentures!

Whether you are new to dentures or have worn them for years, a snap on denture is a great solution to uncomfortable chewing and slippery painful dentures. There are several types of snap on dentures available, including snap on partials. If you already wear a conventional denture or partial denture, we can sometimes use your denture to accommodate the snaps to fit on your new dental implants.

Implants as low as $99.00 per month

If you are interested in learning more about improving your quality of life with an implant retained snap on denture or partial, please contact us for a FREE CONSULTATION today!
