Carmichael's "Dancing Postman" Bows Out

Story and photos by Susan Maxwell Skinner

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - One of the most recognized men in Carmichael, Ricardo Douglas, has been part of the community for 30 years. When a band strikes up in Carmichael Park, the public sees him out dancing. At his Post Office window, he estimates he has helped around two million customers. This month, the 6ft 2in clerk hung up his XL uniform and retired from bureaucratic life.

He and 90 postal colleagues celebrated with a 7 am potluck. "Anything social has to happen before our delivery guys start their rounds," he explains. "I'd made my farewell speech before most Carmichael people were even out of bed." The retiree had many to thank: "I was a Marine corporal when my Staff Sergeant, Fred Cooks, suggested I'd be good at postal work. I had a photographic memory and I understood data. It was one of the best suggestions in my life. Two postal workers, Mark and Ken Goto, coached me for my job interview. Personnel manager Helen Schuck hired me. Her daughter, Frances Jones, was my first supervisor.

Douglas, then 22, signed on as a distribution clerk in 1988. The Post Office was then on Palm Drive; it moved to front Carmichael Park four years later. The clerk enjoyed short commutes. "I rode my bicycle to work from my Marconi Avenue apartment at 3:45 am," he recalls. "We broke down big cages of mail every morning; we sorted packages, magazines and letters. Then we distributed everything to carriers before 8:30 am. I had to memorize 1150 street segments of 57 postal routes. These days, much of this is done by machine."

Soon Douglas joined window clerks at the front counter. "They're called sales and service associates these days," he says. "I had a lot to learn; the public was more challenging than I'd thought. You got used to grumpy old men, but from your window, you also encountered a huge range of human emotion. Someone might have just lost a spouse; a battered wife might be starting a new life; an immigrant might be fearful of officialdom and struggling with a new language."

A modern phenomenon, he observes, is young people who don't know how to mail - or even write - a letter. "All transactions in their lives have been electronic," he explains. "The process of getting a

School District Making Many New Curriculum Changes Open to the Public

By Jacqueline Fox

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Beginning with 2018-19 school year, students enrolled in The San Juan Unified School District will begin studying history and social sciences through a new lens, one that will push them to engage more deeply, think and write more critically and leave high school with a deeper understanding of state and local civics processes.

Also, a new law requires the inclusion of the study of historical contributions by individuals who have heretofore been omitted from the curriculum: members of the LGBT (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender) community, as well as those living with disabilities.

The changes, says Nicole Kukral, program specialist with The District's Division of Teaching and Learning, stem from the 2012 adoption of Common Core standards, as well as mandates under The FAIR Act, established with the 2012 passage of SB 48. Parents and members of the community will have a chance to preview the pending curriculum changes at an information night at the district's offices on Tuesday, April 17 from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. in the San Juan Unified board room at 3738 Walnut Ave., Carmichael.

So what's changing exactly? According to Kukral, new standards and texts (secondary materials) will require students to go beyond rote memorization of events, dates and facts. They will need also to demonstrate an ability to analyze events critically, draw their own conclusions and express their views verbally and in writing.

Students also will be spending more time studying "primary" materials, such as copies of historical documents, journals, letters and maps created by historical and cultural

Local Volunteers to Help Raise Money for Homeless Women and Children

By Kate Towson

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Arden-Carmichael resident Sheryl Sookman and East Sacramento resident Donna Valentine have been friends and colleagues for over fifteen years. Donna and her husband Jon, recently moved to East Sacramento from the Bay Area eighteen months ago. Sheryl followed in their footsteps in December, moving to the Arden-Carmichael area.

Both had worked in the meeting and event-planning industry, and were colleagues before they were friends. Now, Sheryl is semi-retired, contracting on special projects, and Donna is the AVP Meeting and Event Manager for Wells Fargo - which is where she first found out about Women's Empowerment.

"A colleague in the community relations department told me about Women's Empowerment and described how they helped homeless women and children," Donna said. "It sounded like just the right organization for me." Donna mentioned the organization to Sheryl, who felt like her background owning a placement service and doing career coaching would be a good fit.

"I've worked in human resources for a long time," Sheryl said, "so immediately at the orientation I knew this was the type of place where I could contribute my experience

The Playmakers: “Team Means Family”

Story and photos
by Rich Peters, MPG Editor

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - “Family: I am a Playmaker. I have been blessed with coaches who care about me, pour into me, coach me hard, and love me. Someday I may be a Mom or Dad. I will be prepared to finish the job and pay-it-forward. That is what a Playmaker does, and I am a Playmaker. I will not tolerate bullying, speaking negatively about someone, or being unkind. Team means family.”

That is the first of the four core values in the Playmakers Creed that program founder and executive director Greg “Coach Roz” Roeszler instills into his student athletes from day one. Established in 2009, The Playmakers Organization is more than just an after school program, it’s a family. Family, followed by Academics, Serving Others and Winning With Honor.

There are three components to the program: Character and Leadership, Reading and Literacy and Sports and Recreation. “The program is about integrating sports with character,” according to Skycrest Elementary 5th grade teacher Jinne Calvi.

Skycrest Elementary in Citrus Heights is just one of four current locations that the program is currently serving, along with schools in Rancho Cordova, Folsom and Woodland with expansion to Antelope and Rocklin on the horizon.

The nonprofit program is for third, fourth and fifth graders from all different backgrounds and walks of life. They are referred by their teachers, but participate after school voluntarily. “We are old school,” said Coach Roz. “We have the toughest kids that don’t want to go to other programs.”

With Coach Roz in charge, the program is facilitated by Sacramento State student-athletes and fraternity brothers. Sac State senior and former Phi Kappa Tau president Alec Romero has been working with the Playmakers for three years and has become Coach Roz’s right hand man. He manages the rest of the coaches and has dedicated a lot of time and hard work to help make the program what it is today.

Fellow Phi Kappa Tau brother and Sac State sophomore Peter Francisco is the newest coach and had only been on the job for a couple of days but was already leading the charge on the basketball court, running layup drills and teaching the Playmakers how to both follow directions and compete.

The program starts off in the classroom after school with the Playmakers doing their homework then openly discussing anything that may be on their minds. The coaches are there for them and help guide a very structured but free speaking conversation. The class then transitions into a few warmup exercises before heading outside, in a single file line, to play whatever seasonal sport they may choose.

Coach Roz teaches the idea of what he calls the “reverse pyramid.” This is the counter sports culture idea that the veterans and leaders of the team actually go last, rather than first. “Pups, seniors, leaders,” Roz explained. “In life, you earn the right to go last.” This prepares the Playmakers for the idea that sometimes in life you must put your family first – something that Coach Roz and his team are teaching by example.

It is clear that the Playmakers are more than willing to learn and in return lead, but just need that extra guidance from the likes of Coach Roz and his team. While it’s not always easy, by the end of each new concept, both on and off the court, everyone is on the same page and working together as a team – and team means family.

To support the Playmakers, join them at their annual BBQ dinner on April 28 from 6-9pm at the Divine Savior Church located at 9079 Greenback Lane in Orangevale. There will be a number of guest speakers, a tri-tip dinner and drinks, entertainment for all and a silent auction. Tickets are $40 and available at theplaymakers.org. ★

Women’s Empowerment Releases Redesigned Get a Job Kit

The Award-Winning Kit Features Tools to Help Job Seekers Excel

By Kate Towson

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Women’s Empowerment is excited to announce the release of their 2018 model of The Get A Job Kit, which includes updated content and tools that reflect the latest job market trends. The award-winning Kit is an all-in-one career organizer, designed to help organizations across the country empower job seekers of all ages and backgrounds.. The 2018 model organizes and simplifies the job search process into three phases: Preparing for the Job Search, Securing the Position and Excelling in the Workplace.

“In today’s competitive job market, it’s crucial for job seekers to not only have the tools to secure a job, but to excel in that job,” said Lisa Culp, executive director of Women’s Empowerment. “With a special focus on the importance of soft skills in retaining employment, the newly updated Get A Job Kit includes the most recent industry trends and tools so job seekers can achieve success every step of the way.”

The Get A Job Kit was launched under Women’s Empowerment’s name in April 2014 after the business was donated by local entrepreneur Shirley Willey, who had created and run the business for nearly 25 years. The social enterprise trains graduates of Women’s Empowerment’s nine-week job-readiness program in the production, customer service, quality assurance, forklift operation, shipping and receiving industries. Over the course of five weeks, trainees are paid to assemble the Get A Job Kits to fill customer orders while receiving hands-on training, performance evaluations and relevant job experience.

Since launching the small business, Women’s Empowerment has sold 15,000 Kits to high schools, veteran’s programs, nonprofits, vocational and technical colleges and anti-recidivism programs. Sales of The Get A Job Kit have doubled the first quarter of the year with the new design and updated content.

The Get A Job Kit has appeared on The Oprah Winfrey Show and CNBC, and in the Wall Street Journal, Washington Post and Los Angeles Times. All profits from the sales of The Get A Job Kit are reinvested in the program, ensuring homeless women are able to continue accessing this vital paid training program.

Women’s Empowerment is one of the only nonprofits in Sacramento providing paid job training to women who are homeless. Since 2014, more than 91 women have graduated from The Get A Job Kit training program, with more than 70% securing employment.

“As homelessness continues to rise in Sacramento, paid training programs like The Get A Job Kit are an innovative solution to this community problem,” said Culp. “Paid training creates a viable pathway for women, once homeless, to become economically self-sufficient and provide for their families.”

The Get A Job Kit is one component of Women’s Empowerment’s programs that end homelessness for women and children in Sacramento. Women’s Empowerment was featured on NBC’s The TODAY Show in 2015 for offering the most comprehensive job-readiness program in the Sacramento area designed specifically for women who are homeless and their children. The award-winning organization has graduated 1,503 homeless women and their 3,500 children. Last year, 92 percent of graduates found homes and 77 percent found jobs or enrolled in school or training. The program combines self-esteem courses, job training, health classes and support services to help homeless women across diverse ages, races and cultures. Women’s Empowerment is funded through private donations from the community and receives no government funding except for in-kind rent from the County of Sacramento. and actually make a difference." A key piece of Women's Empowerment's program is ending homelessness by helping women secure jobs through job-readiness training.

Sheryl helped students at Women's Empowerment gain valuable job interviewing skills by helping out with mock interview day and the resume-writing workshop. And then Sheryl and Donna both volunteered as career mentors to homeless women attending Women's Empowerment's program.

"These women are so strong and resilient," said Donna. "The minute you meet a graduate of Women's Empowerment, and you realize what she's had to overcome, you see how hard she's working to change her life."

Now, Sheryl and Donna are volunteering to help Women's Empowerment with its largest fundraiser of the year: The Celebration of Independence. Every year, this Gala raises more than one-fifth of Women's Empowerment's operating budget and relies on a committee of volunteers to help with everything from selling tickets, to procuring auction items, to setting up on the night of. In addition to five hundred donors and community leaders that attend, seventy-five graduates of the program attend as well, wearing ball-gowns donated by the community.

Since Sheryl and Donna had spent their careers planning meetings and events, this felt like one more opportunity where their skill-sets could make an impact.

"While volunteering to help with this Gala I've realized just how important of an event it is," said Sheryl. "This Gala is more than just a social gathering. It raises a significant amount of Women's Empowerment's budget every year, so as a volunteer I know that this event will do so much for homeless women and children in our community."

Sheryl and Donna are currently soliciting ball gowns and formal dresses for the event, as well as silent auction items from golf courses and more. Their main focus is managing the event on-site the night of, including setting up the silent auction and cleaning up when the event is over.

"Sheryl and I have been planning events for a long time, so we're looking forward to being able to help things run smoothly at the event," said Donna. "We know how important even the smallest details are to the overall success of the night. Plus, we're both really looking forward to seeing the graduates in attendance, and really seeing them shine in the spotlight."

After the event is over, Donna and Sheryl are looking forward to continuing their volunteer work with Women's Empowerment. "We really enjoy volunteering together," Sheryl said. "We talk about Women's Empowerment all the time now! I've gained so much from my time there. You realize that these women have so many talents, skills and work experiences to offer our community. They just need that one employer who is willing to take a chance on them." ★ document in the mail is a mystery to them. Much like a bartender, you listen and try to make helpful suggestions. I could often glance at people in line and know what they wanted before they even spoke. I learned to be ready for anything that came at me." Committed to service, Douglas learned Spanish. "I also memorized phrases like, 'Do you want to buy stamps?' in Arabic, Croatian, Russian, Chinese and Japanese," he says. "It's gratifying to see eyes light up when someone hears 'thank you' in their own language."

The clerk also put thousands of hours into mastering sign language. "Because several local agencies cater for the deaf, Carmichael has a higher than normal population with hearing impairments," he explains. "Many of these people heard about me. They came to my window and automatically began signing. I was proud to help."

Aged 54, Douglas opted early retirement. "I wanted to enjoy my new home and a new life with my new wife," he explains (he will this month wed sweetheart Marianne DeSilva, a realtor with Security Pacific in Fair Oaks). The couple plans to travel the nation by RV and revel in outdoor living that decades of office work prevented. "Working long hours in the Post Office, I also missed out on many social and family events," says the future bridegroom. "It will feel great to have a normal life, with Saturdays off."

On Carmichael turf, fiancée DeSilva often feels like a celebrity's date. "Everywhere we go, people know him," she says. "We ran into nine of his customers recently in the Safeway store. They recognize Rich whether he's in uniform or not.

To everyone, he's Ricardo from the Post Office."

Douglas (christened Richard) is nevertheless as Celtic in origin as the kilt he sports for special occasions. "My name changed when I worked part-time for a tobacco dealer in Citrus Heights," he explains. "His Cuban patriarch translated everyone's names to Spanish. I got so used to it, that eventually I put 'Ricardo' on my uniform name tag. Everyone who came to my window called me that for years.

A 20-year ballroom enthusiast, the clerk is also a strapping and familiar figure on the tiles. "When I'm out dancing, some people know me as Ricardo from the Post Office," he says. "At the Post Office, some people knew me as Ricardo who dances in the park. So, I'm the dancing postman. I figure that's all the fame one man could ever need." ★ figures of import. For example, the study of Colonialism and Christianity in California has historically involved a somewhat one-dimensional lesson on the Franciscan Priest, Junipero Serra and perhaps an assignment to build a replica of one of the 21 California missions, with scant focus on the plight of the indigenous people who were converted in the process.

Under the new standards, students may study journals, not just by Father Serra himself, but also the writings, art work, letters and other documentation produced by the Mission Indians themselves to gain a broader understanding.

"Instead of being told what to think, students will be grappling with bigger questions, attempting to understand history and the social sciences through a multi-perspective lens," said Kukral. "The idea is that we are really shifting into understanding that history is more than just a collection of facts."

The FAIR Act, says Kukral, widens the study of individuals who have helped shape historical change or events. Kukral said some of the changes may ruffle feathers, but she wants to reiterate that the new curriculum will focus on individuals' contributions to society, not their personal lives. ★

"We know some of the changes, especially those following the law, will give some pause," said Kukral. "But The FAIR Act requires the study of the contributions from certain people and that we have students talk about their struggles for civil rights. Where it applies, we will call out the fact that there are people in history who are or were lesbian and or gay. But by no means do we intend to study the personal lives of these individuals."

In May parents will have a chance to see the new text books, Kukral said. Full implementation of the new materials and frameworks will take place during the 2019-2020 school year. ★

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - I recall a church growth seminar from years ago where one of the speakers told the group gathered that if they want to change a community or society, every church ought to have a school. Schools change lives!

Long before that statement was made, God put the idea and passion in the heart of Mrs. Elsie Hall to serve children in our community. Elsie, a member of American River Community Church, started this ministry to children on the church campus in the fall of 1967. The name Wonder-Land School was suggested by Mr. Nick McCreery. A Board comprised of church members was formed and the plan was to start a church sponsored pre-school with fully qualified teachers and licensed by the State of California. This took a full year. Once licensed the school offered a half day program of learning and enrichment for ages 2-5 and followed the San Juan School District schedule.

Wonder-Land Christian Preschool & Daycare Turns 50!

As more and more women were pushed into the work force, the need for safe, convenient and affordable child care grew and so did the school. Hours and days of operation were extended and a second license was obtained under the church's welfare exemption to include day care for children up to age 18, but limited by the Board to 6th grade. Transportation to and from nine local elementary schools was offered via church owned vans.

Mrs. Hall retired in 2005. Her daughter, Mrs. Nancy McCreery and her husband Nick both served alongside Mrs. Hall from the beginning as co-founders. Nancy directed the school from 2005 to 2013. Since then the school has had two directors. The school has had many ups and downs in this historic journey and is flourishing today with over 80 community families being served. The current director is Mrs. Jessica Massey.

The Carmichael community is invited and urged to attend the 50th Anniversary Celebration for Wonder-Land School on Saturday, April 28 from 2:00 to 5:00PM. Come tour the classrooms, meet former directors and staff, meet former graduates and current families. Come rejoice in God's vision for this outstanding outreach and ministry to families of young children!

Jerry Brown Responds to Federal Request for National Guard Personnel

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. today responded to the federal government's request for additional California National Guard personnel with the following letter. The accompanying agreement, submitted this afternoon for review and approval by the federal government, can be found at <https://www.gov.ca.gov/wp-content/uploads/2018/04/4.11.18-Letter-and-Agreement.pdf>
 April 11, 2018

Dear Secretary Nielsen and Secretary Mattis:
 Pursuant to your request, the California National Guard will accept federal funding to add approximately 400 Guard members statewide to supplement the staffing of its ongoing program to combat transnational crime. This program is currently staffed by 250 personnel statewide, including 55 at the California border.
 Your funding for new staffing will allow the Guard to do what it does best: support operations targeting transnational criminal gangs, human traffickers and illegal firearm and drug smugglers along the border, the coast and throughout the state. Combating these criminal threats are priorities for all Americans - Republicans and Democrats. That's why the state and the Guard have long supported this important work and agreed to similar targeted assistance in 2006 under President Bush and in 2010 under President Obama.

 But let's be crystal clear on the scope of this mission. This will not be a mission to build a new wall. It will not be a mission to round up women and children or detain people escaping violence and seeking a better life. And the California National Guard will not be enforcing federal immigration laws.

 Here are the facts: there is no massive wave of migrants pouring into California. Overall immigrant apprehensions on the border last year were as low as they've been in nearly 50 years (and 85 percent of the apprehensions occurred outside of California).

 I agree with the Catholic Bishops who have said that local, state and federal officials should "work collaboratively and prudently in the implementation of this deployment, ensuring that the presence of the National Guard is measured and not disruptive to community life."
 I look forward to working with you on this important effort.
 Sincerely,
 Edmund G. Brown Jr. ★

The Revival of Gibson Ranch

Commentary by Doug Ose

April 1, 2018 marked the seventh anniversary of Sacramento County's decision to privatize the management and operation of Gibson Ranch Regional Park.

As many will recall, Gibson Ranch Regional Park was closed day, my entity is responsible for all operating expenses, horse boarding continues, deferred maintenance projects are reimbursable, etc. Any interested party is able to see the approved documents by researching the subject on the County website.

While not everybody is pleased at what has happened, the terms of the lease have been met. The park has been open every day since April 1, 2011. The County did not pay a single dime toward operating expenses through May 31, 2017, at which time the lease was amended through a public process to change some of the financial terms. Horses are still boarded at Gibson Ranch. Deferred maintenance was corrected and reimbursed to us.

by RVs. The country cabins have been rehabilitated. Each week-end we host countless family barbecues, picnics, and birthday parties. There is a community yard sale on the first Saturday of each month. Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts regularly use the park for troop activities. We have hosted the Sacramento Valley Women's Soccer League for a few years. We regularly host large community events that inject economic activity into our region. You can check the website www.gibson-ranchpark.com to see the range of activities that occur.

The decision to privatize made so many years ago by the Board of Supervisors has proven to be the right choice on so many levels. The park is open. The park is open at less than 25% of the to public use on the day after Labor Day, 2010 due to the fiscal condition of the County. The net annual cost of operating the facility on a day-to-day basis was about $400,000.00 per year. After closing the facility, the County was still budgeting over $200,000.00 per year for the park.

Pursuant to a public process, the County ended up leasing the park to an entity I own. There were several requirements in the original lease: open every

Behind the scenes, the results are very positive. In 2017, the park had over 120,000 visitors. Annual revenue from operations exceeds $700,000.00. The park is cleaned daily. There are no homeless people residing in the park. The bathrooms are clean and stocked. Over forty weddings occurred at Gibson Ranch in 2017, and we expect over fifty in 2018. An agricultural "farm to fork" operation has been established. We now have the capacity to handle dry camping cost to the taxpayers that had previously been incurred. The activities and programs offered within the park are meeting the active and passive recreational needs of the community.

This has been and remains a good thing for our community, though it is by no means perfect in every way. We continue to try to improve the park. You are invited to drop by announced or unannounced to see for yourself what Gibson Ranch has to offer. ★ the family, if the transmission in the car goes out, or your home's heating and cooling unit needs to be replaced. There are many more crises that can come upon a family other than a loss of income.

I don't mind if you two lean toward the three-month side of expenses, since your income is pretty stable. But always remember, an emergency fund should contain three to six months of expenses, not income.

Thank you for your service, sir. —Dave

What happens to the debt?

Dear Dave, I've started your personal finance course in high school, so I'm asking this for the entire class. What happens to your debt if you pass away with no relatives or heirs to take responsibility for what you owed?

Dear Elizabeth, In many cases it simply does not get paid. Relatives or heirs of the deceased are not responsible for a friend or family member's debt, except in cases where they have been a co-signer on that debt. Let's say someone's parents died, and at the time of their death they had $100,000 in debt in their names only. The only way that debt will be paid is if they owned enough stuff — if they had enough in the way of assets — to pay the debt. If they owned a $200,000 home, the house would have to be sold in order to pay the debts. Their estate would be the only thing standing good for the debt. If they owned nothing, and had no co-signers on any of the debt, the creditor would not get paid. The bank lost that money.

Elizabeth, I hope that helped. Please tell your teacher I said thank you for leading the class! —Dave

"O SON OF SPIRIT!

The best beloved of all things in My sight is Justice; turn not away there from if thou desirest Me, and neglect it not that I may confide in thee. By its aid thou shalt see with thine own eyes and not through the eyes of others, and shalt know of thine own knowledge and not through the knowledge of thy neighbor. Ponder this in thy heart; how it behooveth thee to be. Verily justice is My gift to thee and the sign of My loving-kindness. Set it then before thine eyes."

Invalid Property Tax Assessments Remain Unpaid to Thousands of Businesses and Commercial Properties in Carmichael

The following is a copy of the letter sent to all Sacramento County Supervisors regarding: Refunds to Carmichael Taxpayers – Sacramento County Taxpayers Association, et al v. County of Sacramento, Carmichael Recreation and Park District, et al, Sacramento Superior Court Case No. 34-2014-80001869.

Sacramento County Supervisors Peters, Kennedy, Frost, Nottoli and Serna:

It has been nearly two years since Superior Court Judge Christopher E. Krueger ruled that the Carmichael Recreation and Park District (CRPD) violated state law by charging an illegal assessment on approximately 13,000 residential home owners, apartment and commercial properties for the tax years 2014-15 and 2015-16. To date, it is estimated that less than 10 percent of the more than $1.3 million collected has been returned to taxpayers. This latter figure has also now increased with the addition of ongoing interest.

As the Presidents of the statewide Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association and the Sacramento Taxpayers Association, we are formally requesting that the Sacramento County Board of Supervisors direct the County of Sacramento to issue a refund to all affected residential and business owners, who were subject to the unlawful collection of this property tax assessment over the foregoing two tax-year period.

CRPD's property tax assessments were held to be invalid in accordance with the Sacramento County Superior Court decision, Sacramento County Taxpayers Association, et al. v. County of Sacramento, Carmichael Recreation and Park District, et al., Case No. 34-2014-80001869, court order dated May 19, 2016. The ruling by the Court negated the assessment on the grounds of numerous violations of the California State Constitution (Proposition 218), designed to protect taxpayers by limiting the methods by which local governments can both establish or increase taxes, fees and property tax assessments such as the subject case. Please refer to the Court's decision for further information regarding these thousands of unlawful property tax assessments.

Currently, taxpayers must apply for a refund through a circuitous, arduous, and complex written refund process that also includes disclosing otherwise confidential, non-public full property tax bills for these two separate tax years. Many people do not even have bills going back several years; that process becomes another refund barrier, or disincentive.

Any purported refund process was designed to fail and limit the refunds rightfully due your taxpayers. In fact there was only one undated (and personally unaddressed and without property reference) cryptic letter that was apparently mailed to some, but possibly not all, taxpayers.

The letter, sent in the fall of 2016, contained the following incorrect and ambiguous reference of an application deadline: "Applicants are encouraged to mail a completed refund application with required supporting documents by November 30, 2016 as directed on the form." (SCI Consultants, which oversees the refund process, confirmed the application deadline to be June 30, 2018 for FY 2014-2015 assessments; and June 30, 2019 for FY 2015-2016 assessments).

This is a serious matter affecting more than 13,000 of your taxpayers, and should be diligently addressed now.

As background, the proponents' campaign never disclosed the actual thousand dollar-plus levies on businesses, apartments and commercial properties. Further, nowhere in any written materials were the true facts disclosed. The assessment barely passed, and with a related vote count largely out of public view. This issue is not about parks, but fairness and accuracy by our local government and their proxies.

Additionally, information on the taxpayers, and amounts paid, are all computerized and readily available. The County was able to originally bill everyone within CRPD boundaries, and we only ask that refunds be coordinated in a like process. This should not be politically complicated if there is a will.

Property taxpayers within CRPD boundaries who were unlawfully assessed and had previously paid an additional direct levy tax on their residential or commercial properties, are entitled to a full refund. The simplest way is for the Sacramento County Board of Supervisors to order forthwith the return of these already-paid property tax funds to your 13,000 constituents and taxpayers. After all, they followed what they were told was the law.

Thank you for your timely attention and cooperation. Please do not hesitate to contact either of us should you have any questions.
