CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - With summer harvests in full swing, the Carmichael Park Sunday Farmers Market will host the first of two produce festivals on August 13. The market's peach outreach will include a bake-off, judged on site by community leaders. Chefs may enter a pie or dessert whose principal ingredient must be

Presentation, taste and texture are criterion for winning recipes; last year's festival attracted nine bespoke efforts and adjudicators awarded first prize to Denise Yuponce's "Mom's Peach Pie." An attorney for the State of California, the Carmichael cook's recipe contained caramelized pecans. Other masterpieces included a peach sorbet, peach cookies and a cream-oozing Peach Pudding Pie.

"Our final choice came down to originality," confided a judge. "The winners showed fresh approaches to classic desserts.' Contrasting with such refinement, the festival's peach eating contest promises a gooey feeding frenzy. Hands-free contestants must adopt in-your-face techniques to consume their pile of fruit and cream.

Running from 9 am to 2 pm, the festival event offers free kids crafts, games, raffles and a peach walk. Chef demonstrations will share recipes and techniques for canning and pickling fruit.

September 10's Tomato Taste-Off aims to generate similar enthusiasm for tomatoes. Farmers will present such varieties as cherry, beef steak, black and green zebra and heirloom toms. A Tomato Taste off will crown a "Best Salsa" champion.

"It's a great way to let people know what produce is in season and bring attention to our local farmers," approves market founder Marie Hall. "Shopping for food shouldn't just be a chore, it should be fun."

State Fair Wraps Up with Great Numbers

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The California State Fair created memories for the entire community this year. It reached record numbers as the one northern California event where everyone is welcome to come out and enjoy the best of what California has to offer.

"The California State Fair is proud to be recognized as the largest showcase of the rich bounty and diversity of our Golden State," said Rick Pickering, CEO and General Manager of the California State Fair. We celebrated agriculture, livestock, horse racing, unique foods, events, rides, and exhibits...some of which people have never seen before.

Food sales grossed an estimated $8.5 million, and there was an estimated $4.2 million in carnival ride sales grossing over $12.7 million in sales revenue; not including hotel stays and other revenue sources for the Sacramento region.

With it being the Fair's 50th year at Cal Expo, there was a lot to celebrate. New this year was the dedication of "Best of CA: Celebrating Farm Workers' Rich Contributions to Food and Agriculture." There was the return of soccer, with the Sacramento Republic FC playing two games. Sponsored by the Tractor Supply Company, the Junior Livestock Sale of Champions raised $270,344 for youth, which was the highest amount in the past 10 years.

Despite being one of the hottest July's in 10 years, with 8 days of triple-digit weather during the weekends, 636,628 attendees enjoyed the Fair.

Out of the 17 concerts,7 completely sold out for the Gold Circle Reserved Seats. More than 32,500 racing fans came to the Miller Lite Racetrack Grandstand for horse racing and special events.

Other notable numbers were; 1,488 beers entered into the Commercial Beer Competition; 2,663 wines entered into the Commercial Wine Competition; 19,662 wine slushies were served in the Save Mart Wine Garden

Scott Jones Speaks About the "Big Lies"

By Paul Scholl

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Sheriff Scott Jones recently reported for duty at the Carmichael Chamber of Commerce luncheon in July. Speaking to local business owners and residents, Jones covered a wide area of topics, many of them weighing heavily on the minds of local residents.

The largely attended event provided many hot button questions from locals for Sheriff Jones on crime, homelessness and services provided by the department.

Jones addressed the prison realignment and the "untruths" of the early release program of criminals. He stated that people are getting out in less than one half of their time served. He laid blame for the growing problem squarely at the feet of legislators.

"There are now over 60,000 Failure to Appear warrants on misdemeanors in Sacramento County" Jones said. This he noted is a result of the Prop. 47 Safe Neighborhoods and Schools Act passed by the voters. Jones called the proposition "The Big Lie".

Sheriff Jones also noted violent crime in California has risen by 11% since the latest propositions have passed. "You are not getting the truth from the current media narrative" Jones

Target Stores, which was not supportive of stopping the propositions when they were on the ballot has seen a $120 million in theft.

As a growing issue in Carmichael, it was shared that 15% of the calls into the department are now related to homeless issues in Sacramento County.

In a recent satisfaction survey, the Sheriff's Department found job the department is doing, and an above 80% approval in the way the department treats those who interact with deputies.

A growing issue now is that sex offenders are registering as homeless, which makes them much more difficult to track and to make sure they are abiding by their court orders.

When questioned by attendees about how law enforcement will manage with the new pot laws, Jones said "The mariby organized crime and always that 80% were supportive of the will be." It was mentioned that it is still a federal crime, and that there is a lot of gray area to be determined on just how the laws will roll out. Don't hold your breath if you are waiting for our legislators to pass around some common sense solutions. Get your Cheetos and Oreos while you can.

Unity Sacramento Celebrating 70 Years of Love

Story by Jacqueline Fox

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Seven decades have passed since Unity Sacramento church incorporated, officially extending the word of Unity Founders Charles and Myrtle Fillmore's "New Thought" approach to Christianity, first from within the modest Crest Theatre in Sacramento's downtown corridor, followed by a move to a converted bowling alley on L Street 20 years later, then, in 1991, from its current home, the site of a former grocery store on Folsom Road in Sacramento's eastside.

In celebration of 70 years of service, Reverend Kevin Kitrell Ross commonly known as "Rev. Key," and his leadership "Dream Team," comprised of nearly a dozen trained Unity teachers and support staff, which includes Ross's wife, Anita, are ramping up their efforts to achieve what is arguably any spiritual congregation's most pressing goal: expanding membership by primarily attracting and retaining younger congregants, bringing them into the fold on the promise of spiritual inclusivity, number one, but also one of hope and peace for all those suffering or seeking to understand whatever social ills may ail them.

"I want Unity to incorporate the practical tools of the fellowship that I was taught, that is no doubt a part of our primary purpose," says Ross. "But what has been missing here is how we can do a better job of applying those tools to heal the divides and

address those on the fringes of our communities."

Call it progressive. Call it new age. Call it whatever you like, which is precisely the point: Unity's New Thought-Ageless Wisdom ministerial approach offers a sacred space for nondenominational worship, where Biblical teachings are interwoven with the beliefs of spiritual leaders from Mahatma Gandhi and the Buddha, to Mohammad and Krishna. There is plenty of room for just about anyone in this house of worship, which operates as a spiritual and metaphysical melting pot of prayer, cultural nourishment, enlightenment, spiritual education, healing and community outreach.

"We are a lot of things to a lot of different people," says Ross, whose office feels more like a day spa than a minister's private space. A water feature trickles almost silently down the back wall behind his desk, the base of which is a massive tree stump, salvaged from a fire. Its top, a finely polished burl slab. No crosses in the traditional sense here, but there is a near-eight-foot long wooden staff propped up in the corner, as well as sculptures and paintings and other religious iconography from Asia and Africa, among other places, hanging on the walls. And the soft, purple recessed lighting is enough to send anyone into a quiet state without much prompting.

"I need a sanctuary from the sanctuary sometimes," Ross says. "It gets to be heavy out there as the day unfolds and being in a quiet space at times to think and contemplate is very important."

Ross, 43, is sporting a pair of turquoise running shoes, buttondown shirt and a contemporary navy jacket, looking more like a hip-hop artist than a minister overseeing a flock of some 600 congregants. A native of Chicago's south side, Ross was chosen from a pool of several candidates to lead Unity Sacramento in 2010. Prior to that, he served as senior minister at Unity Kansas City, the ministry's flagship church and teaching center. The Morehouse College graduate, highly influenced by the words and teachings of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., said he saw a lot of things missing at Unity

Sacramento upon arrival and he set out to see some changes put into place right away, beginning ditional senses first with food.

"One of the things I noticed here is that this area really is a food desert," says Ross. "People who want fresh vegetables or fruits and not fast food, which is on every corner it seems, have to drive miles just to get it. So we started a Farmers' Market and it has just exploded."

More directly aimed at attracting younger members, his team launched the "Dream Center," where youth perhaps at risk for otherwise getting into gangs or simply just needing a place to express themselves and be with their peers, can come and hang out, play pool, talk with a pastor, paint, draw, bang on musical instruments or simply just enjoy a safe space.

"It's very important for young people to have a safe place to express their creativity and enrich themselves," said Ross. "Being in the presence of mentors is also critical."

Unity now also houses a Visions and Education center, offering homeschooled students an extended learning support resource for tutoring and test preparation, as well as an onsite charter school created through a community partnership that can take in 50 students at any given time. Blessings in a Backpack also now occupies space within Unity Sacramento's confines, where it prepares meals for delivery to kids at local schools, clandestinely stuffed into backpacks every Friday to ensure kids in need have access to food for the weekend.

"Blessings in a Backpack puts food into the kids' backpacks so that, on the weekends, when they don't have access to the food from the free or reduced-cost programs they are enrolled in, they can be sure to have something to eat," said Ross.

Sunday services in the traditional senses are offered at 9 a.m., and include a traditional approach with classic hymns and quiet, reflective sermons. Then, at 11 a.m., Ross kicks it up a notch with a high-energy service, featuring contemporary readings, speakers and infectious live music. Unity now offers guided meditation classes by trained Unity teachers, a rotating "Power Hour" sermon series during the week, featuring guest Naomi Anderson before incorporating as Unity Sacramento on May 16, 1947.

John Hinkle held the ministerial reigns and ran Unity from inside Sacramento's Crest Theater. In 1966, Dorothy and Phillip Pierson assumed leadership, purchasing the first permanent home for Unity: an old bowling alley at 1415 L Street, and continued to serve as senior ministers for the next thirty-six years before retiring in 2002.

Nominated as one of the top five mental health friendly churches in the community, Ross has put sound resources and energy into ensuring services for those suffering from mental illness, ramped up significantly when a congregant suffering from depression, set herself on fire.

"That incident was heartbreaking for us," Ross says. "We are on the front lines, because most people who are suffering some form of a mental issue will come to see a minister first. So we now have prayer chaplains, congregants and members of our staff who have been trained to work with individuals suffering from mental health issues. We want to break the stigma of mental illness."

"We have become visible and very active in the interfaith community," Ross said. "We want to build those bridges and extend our ideologies of inclusivity and love. We want to reflect the community where we are and that means reaching out to those who live on the edges of society because of their faith, because of their color, and bring them in."

Ross helped institute Unity's Law Enforcement Accountability Directive or Project LEAD, to help bridge gaps and slowing begin to demolish the walls that have long-divided local law enforcement and minorities.

"We want to make all aspects of worship here as accessible as possible," Ross said. "It's about inclusiveness."

In short, Unity Sacramento has attempted to hold to its roots but get with the times, as many years and ways of delivering the message have come and gone since the Unity movement was founded by Charles and Myrtle Fillmore in Kansas City in 1889. Much has changed since Unity Sacramento was incubated as Christ Unity Church in in 1920, where it served as a teaching center under the guidance of

"Project LEAD has been very instrumental in helping to create more of a transparent process with local law enforcement," Ross said. "Unity is like cream in your coffee. We want everyone to know that we are not just a church. We are also the most loving place on earth."

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE FOR DENTAL OFFICES

New EPA Rule Requires Dental Practices to Install Amalgam Separators and Implement Best Management Practices

Implement Best Management Practices

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) recently issued technology-based pretreatment standards under the Clean Water Act to reduce discharges of mercury from dental offices into municipal sewage treatment plants.

The Dental Office Effluent Guidelines became effective July 14, 2017. This final rule requires dental offices install amalgam separators and two best management practices. Dental offices that place or remove amalgam:

✓ Must install, operate, and maintain an amalgam separator

Unity Sacramento on Folsom Blvd. has an exciting and growing youth

- ✓ Must not discharge scrap amalgam into the sewer
- ✓ Must not use certain kinds of line cleaners, such as bleach

Existing dental dischargers must comply and submit a form to Regional San (see links below) by October 12, 2020. New dental dischargers or ownership transfers must comply within 90 days of their first discharge. If any dental practices already had amalgam separators prior to June 14, 2017, they have until June 14, 2027, to replace them with compliant separators. Dentists who never place amalgam or remove amalgam in limited or unplanned circumstances are exempt.

Who is affected by this new rule?

This rule applies to offices, including large institutions such as dental schools and clinics, where dentistry is practiced that discharge to a municipal sewage treatment facility. It does not apply to mobile units or offices where the practice of dentistry consists only of oral pathology, oral and maxillofacial radiology, oral and maxillofacial surgery, orthodontics, periodontics, or prosthodontics.

Why are these standards necessary?

When dentists remove old amalgam fillings from cavities or place a new filling, mercury in the form of dental amalgam enters the wastewater of the dental office. Mercury from waste amalgam can make its way into the environment from the treatment plant through the land application of sludge or through surface water discharge to the Sacramento River. Mercury is a potent neurotoxin that can have a wide range of health effects. Once released into the aquatic environment, certain bacteria can change mercury into methylmercury, a highly toxic form of mercury that bioaccumulates in fish and shellfish. Eating fish and shellfish is the main source of people's exposure to methylmercury in the U.S.

Asking for Your Vote for Carmichael Honorary Mayor

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - I'm Austin Schlocker and it is an honor to be running for Honorary Mayor of Carmichael 2018. I was born at Kaiser on Morse Avenue in Sacramento and raised in Carmichael, near Ancil Hoffman Park; It was a great experience spending summers in the park and attending camps at Effie Yeaw Nature Center.

I attended El Camino high school, playing sports and participating in student government. I continued to Los Rios Community College District where I lead the Sacramento City College Business Club before transferring and graduating Cum Laude with my bachelor's degree in Communication Studies from Sacramento State University. I am a proud Sacramentan and even prouder Carmichael resident.

But this election isn't about me; when I was younger, just over 2 decades ago, Carmichael was a much more vibrant and wholesome community. We have seen businesses close, neighborhoods change, crime rates increase, homelessness increase, and much more. I am running for this position because I desperately want to see us work back towards prosperity.

As an ambassador for the Carmichael Chamber of

I also want to create educational workshops for business owners and residents to attend that cover important topics such as taxation, marketing, regional issues, and

Commerce, I know that working with business owners is paramount for the success of our community. I fully believe in the Chamber's mission statement, "Business and community members joining together in networking, advocacy and education." Our Chamber and community is unique, we are one of the few Chamber's that allow residents to participate in our Business owners and residents need more opportunities to work together and solve community issues. I propose creating an Honorary Mayor Newsletter so that I can connect with business owners and residents at least once a month to advise on important community issues.

I also want to create educational workshops for business owners and residents to attend that cover important topics such as taxation, marketing, regional issues, and more. As a small business owner, I understand the challenge of staying informed on everything that can affect my community, industry, business, and life. We need a Mayor that is concerned with keeping our members up to date on these vital concerns.

I can't win this election by myself. I have been door knocking and meeting with Chamber members to discuss how I can better serve our community; I have many ideals and strategies on how we can improve business and our community as a whole—but these are just thoughts without the support to implement them.

If you like my ideals, if you want to see Carmichael succeed, we need to work together. You can sponsor my campaign through a tax-deductible donation, raffle donations, buying a ticket from me for our upcoming Mayoral Mingle, and more. Please email your questions about my campaign to austinschlocker@gmail.com; I look forward to speaking with you! ★

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Join they attempt to get him back to his us for our triennial performance of SCREWTAPE, based on one of C.S. Lewis's most well-known SCREWTAPE is about a midlevel satanic bureaucrat, Screwtape, who is training a young demon, Wormwood, to lure his first soul, Mike Green (aka "The Patient"), into their "Father Below's" pit. Mike has very recently become acquainted with Christianity, but is still ignorant of its meaning and authority, a fact which Wormwood and Screwtape take advantage of as old ways of life.

The demons seek to trip Mike up by way of his overprotective mother, a new boss, a demon possessed co-worker, as well as a new love interest, who comes with her own temptress. All sorts of Hell breaks loose as the demons do anything and everything to pop their patient into the pit.

Challenger: It's a Winner!

By Katie Marshall

GOLD RIVER, CA (MPG) - This past week at Gold River Racquet Club, the FSP Gold River Women's Challenger had a week of fun and amazing tennis. This week on and off the tennis court, the tournament had multiple events including a fun-filled kid's day, an amazing business social, and a wheelchair event. These events were filled with memories that will last a lifetime.

In this year's tournament, the number one seed of the tournament was Jennifer Brady. She qualified and advanced to the fourth round of the 2017 Australian Open in her first Grand Slam main draw. She won her first round match at Wimbledon this year. She has won four USTA Pro Circuit and ITF Pro Circuit singles titles. Also participating in this year's tournament was Claire Liu who just won the junior Wimbledon title. She reached the junior French Open final, losing to a fellow American. Also in the tournament, was the youngest participant is fifteen years old, Amanda Anisimova from the United States of America. This year, she was the youngest player to compete in the main draw of a Grand Slam at Roland Garros, since Alize Cornet in 2005. Finally, the oldest woman in the tournament is 46 years old is Kimiko Date from Japan. She reached number four in the world in singles in 1995. She won eight WTA singles titles and six doubles titles.

On Monday night, there was a Pro-Am night of doubles. The doubles teams had three amateurs and one professional on the court playing a round robin. These amateur players got to the give the professionals a run for their money. On Tuesday night, there was the Kid's Day. The Kid's Day allowed the young children to play with the professional players, as well as get to ask the players about being a professional. On Thursday was the Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce Business Mixer. The Chamber of Commerce interacted with other business individuals from the local businesses around the area. For the rest of the week and weekend, the night matches benefited Saint John's for Real Change. The Saint John's for Real Change program is to help young mothers in crisis to improve their quality of life for them and their families. And finally on Saturday there was a Up Down round robin. Up Down is where a wheelchair player plays with a able body person.

Championship Sunday was filled with bittersweet moments on and off the court. Unfortunately, the singles final had an unexpected turn. Ajla Tomljanovic withdrew due to a medical injury. The 2017 FSP Gold River Women's Challenger singles champion is American 15 year old, Amanda Anisimova. Currently, she is ranked number eight in the juniors and number 250 professional in the WTA. This is Anisimova's first USTA Pro Circuit tournament win. The doubles final winners are Giuliana Olmos from Mexico and Desirae Krawczyk from United States. They played a quick and amazing doubles final! It was all around good day for the Americans on the court! The tournament was filled with fun and lots of great tennis! Game, set, match!

First, get a real job

Dear Dave,

I currently have student loans in deferment from earning a degree in hospitality management. My career goal is to own a mobile food vending company, so I'm putting most of the money I make from eBay and ride-hailing services — around $1,000 a month — aside in savings for that. Should I forego my business idea for the time being, and knock out the student loan debt instead?

- Nicholas

Dear Nicholas,

You should put this business idea on hold for now, unless you can start it for less than $1,000. The first thing you need to do is go out, and get a real job. I know you have this dream of being self-employed, but right now you're not doing so well as an entrepreneur.

With a hospitality degree, you can make $30,000 to $50,000 a year within the industry, clean up your mess, and build out the eBay thing on the side. Just think about how quickly you could save up money for a jump into the food truck or mobile food business, then!

Dave Says

Pay your way through it, Nicholas. Don't sit around scraping by on the kind of money you're making now and call that winning. You have a real economic engine at your fingertips, because you have the knowledge from the degree you earned. And it's a valuable degree. If you go in there and bust it, you can escalate yourself upward through that industry in a hurry.

While you're doing that, you can clean up all your student loans and save up money for your food truck. Boom! You're self-employed and you learned a lot of stuff you can use in your new business. Go make some real money, then follow your dream, man!

—Dave

A bad move

Dear Dave,

I have a whole life insurance policy with zero cash value due to loans I took out per the advice of my agent. I finally realized this wasn't a smart move, as I now owe premiums plus interest every year. Am I still on the hook for the policy loans if I forfeit the policy to buy term insurance?

- Tanner

Dear Tanner,

No, you are not. Get your term insurance in place first, then when you cancel the policy your cash value will offset your loans. They won't loan you more than your cash value. It's seldom that they will loan you 100 percent of cash value, so you might actually have a cash value that is above your loan amount. If they have loaned you the full amount of your cash value, it'll be an exact break even, and just canceling the policy means you cancel the interest and cancel the premiums.

It was bad advice to buy the policy, and even dumber advice to clean the whole thing out and sit there paying interest to borrow your own money and pay a premium to keep the loan open.

I recommend 10 to 12 times your income on a 15- or 20-year level term policy. During that 15 or 20 years, of course, you should be getting out of debt and building wealth so that you have a big pile of money and no need for life insurance.

Why does it take another added year to our lives to truly appreciate our family and friends we have enjoyed for so many years? I do realize it takes a lifetime to actually learn all the things we need to know about living our lives for God but it always amazes me that I didn't realize something sooner.

Recently I became even more aware of the blessings of having wonderful loving parents who never burdened me with the trials and sufferings of their own lives. They had suffering beyond most people of having their son taken out of our home and lives forever.

both our parents were raised to know and love the God of the Bible. They both attended Sunday School as youngsters and raised in homes that honored the values of God's Word. Those same values were instilled in our lives in our home structure, even though both of them were raised in different protestant religions.

There is both love and power in the teachings given to us by the God of the Bible. They are guidelines for life that ultimately bring blessings over and over again as we live to honor them. THE ENTREPRENEUR'S SOURCE "Your success is our only business" Consider a Coach

Louis McNerney

For over 31 years, The Entrepreneur Source has been building a reputation in business coaching. We are now North America's leading business ownership and franchise coaching organization.

It began in the mid 1980's when we recognized the fact that 70 percent of the population has a strong desire to be self-sufficient, but only a small number find a way to make it happen - a mere 5 percent. Far too many people give up on their dreams too soon, when education and guidance could show them the way to success.

The Entrepreneur's Source also recognized how many franchisors needed qualified franchisee prospects. Given this fact, we began to make the connection.

With nearly three quarters of the population feeling trapped on their current career path and so many franchisors offering the opportunity for business ownership and financial freedom, it only made sense to bridge the two groups.

To this day, no other coaching group looks at the situation from both sides. We pride ourselves on the ability to give our prospects the most comprehensive, objective, unbiased and meaningful advice available anywhere, allowing them to come to their own conclusions about their future. If business ownership is the ultimate solution, then we have the ability to guide prospects through the entire process.

At The Entrepreneur's Source, our vision has always been to be the one source resource for all things entrepreneurial. We also know that coaching should not stop once you're in business. We coach franchise business owners to get the maximum results out of their franchise systems.

We believe everybody can benefit from coaching. We believe we can help our clients discover answers and opportunities to improve their lives. Our discovery and education-based method of franchise and business coaching allows our clients to discover opportunities that are ideally suited for what they are seeking for themselves and their families. We help our clients use business to achieve their Income, Lifestyle, Wealth and Equity goals.

Regardless of whether you are or ever go into business, the insight and knowledge you gain about yourself and your options are priceless.

With The Entrepreneur's Source our clients will go from Employment to Empowerment. We coach them through the career transition and help them discover new opportunities. In other words: we bridge the gap.

If you have ever considered business ownership, give me a call today and I will work with you on your own journey of discovery. It's life changing. Why not live your dream?
