Election Corruption is Now Widespread

Commentary by Katy Grimes Reprinted by permission

Thousands of voters in the June 7th California Primary election showed up at the polls across the state to discover their political party registrations had been changed.

Hundreds of "dead voters" were recently uncovered in Southern California, the majority of them in Los Angeles County. Some of these deceased voters have even been voting for years, the Los Angeles Times reported.

Fraudulent dead voters are concerning, but voter fraud is an even bigger problem in close races where election outcomes are decided by only a handful of votes, says Linda Paine, founder of the Election Integrity Project.

But after the June 7th primary, dead voters may be just the tip of the iceberg.

Thousands of Republican and Democratic voters reported to the Election Integrity Project that they arrived at their designated polling stations on June 7th to find that their party affiliation was changed. Most reported being re-registered "No Party Preference," California's version of "Decline to State." Others said their registrations were dropped, or they received the wrong ballot, which in many cases prevented them from voting for President in the primary.

The Election Integrity Project's Linda Paine said they noticed a pattern in several Southern California counties during Election Day. However, as the polls closed, Paine said they were contacted by large numbers of voters throughout the state upset that their party affiliation was changed, and had to vote using a provisional ballot. What Election Integrity Project wants to know is how many other voters this happened to.

I See Dead People

In 2014, California State Senator Alex Padilla, D-Los Angeles, was elected Secretary of State. But his race caught the attention of the Election

There is more than one entity eyeing every vote and every voter in the State of California.

Integrity Project when not one of the 4,681 Los Angeles County polling stations had the vote-by-mail indicators on the check-in rosters on Election Day. Linda Paine said volunteers described chaos at the polls as Inspectors and Coordinators realized there was no way to crosscheck who had already voted.

Election inspectors reported they received a list of 700 names of vote-by-mail voters they were to manually enter onto the check-in roster on Election Day morning. "It is difficult to understand just how this could have happened," Paine said. "All responsible businesses have procedures in place to ensure quality control so that materials printed on behalf of their company or organization are accurate." But this did not happen in LA County.

Election Integrity Project volunteers reported that some Inspectors gave up the effort to determine who voted by mail before Election Day and simply gave every voter a regular ballot. Reports also indicated that without time for the Inspectors to ensure the vote-by-mail indicator was in fact placed next to the correct voter, mistakes were made and voters who were regular voters were forced to vote provisionally.

"Provisional ballots are simply regular ballots that are placed in a special Provisional envelope that must be processed after Election Day," Paine explained. "The processing of Provisional ballots often takes up to 30 days after Election Day. Voters who want their vote to count on Election Day will be disappointed if they vote provisionally. All Vote-by-Mail and Regular ballots are counted before their ballots are counted."

Los Angeles County Anomalies

Paine said Alex Padilla's challenger, Pete Peterson, a Republican, lost by about 400,000 votes, of which approximately 350,000 came just from Los Angeles County.

The Election Integrity Project had documented more than 60,000 anomalies and irregularities on the voter rolls in Los Angeles County in 2013. Because the county did not respond to the report, it can be assumed that nothing was done about it, Paine said.

By 2014 the Election Integrity Project provided additional reports to the LA County Registrar. Countless citizens and citizen groups also contacted their representatives on the Board of Supervisors about voting irregularities. The Board authorized an internal audit, prior to the November 2014 election. The audit was ironically underway during the November election when the vote-by-mail data failed to make it to the polling locations.

Linda Paine was contacted by a whistle blower who told her someone in authority must have discovered that the vote-by-mail indicators were missing, but did

Best Of The Best Celebrated at the State Fair

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Nearly 675,000 people celebrated the best of California during the annual California State Fair, the largest single event in Northern California. The California Exposition and State Fair has a positive $300 million economic impact on the Sacramento region annually, and receives no funding from the government.

As a premiere State-wide event, the State Fair looks at a number of statistics in evaluating its success. For example, competitive entries increased this year by 21 percent to 21,441 entries compared to 17,753 in 2015. Representing the work of talented Californians, the new photography competition generated 2,256 entries. As the number of Craft Beer breweries continue to increase in California, the State Fair competition saw an 11 percent increase in Craft Beers vying for the coveted Blue Ribbon, with 1,204 entries. Sponsored by the Tractor Supply Company, the Junior Livestock Sale of Champions experienced a 20 percent increase in funds raised by youth selling the top 56 award winning animals. The $236,400 raised for youth this year was the second highest amount in the past 10 years.

The 2016 California State Fair was packed full of more than 3,000 exhibits and events that featured technology and agriculture and celebrated the best of the Golden State. Advance admission sales were up by 7.2 percent. The Best of California Brewfest drew 2,015 guests, up 31 percent from the previous year's 1,535 guests.

"For more than 160 years the California State Fair has remained the one constant setting for showcasing the best of California. From award winning wines, craft beers, fine arts, photography, horse racing, livestock, concerts and entertainment, to

Seventy years of reading, learning and community was marked by recent Arden-Dimmick Library celebrations. Following a four-month closure for refurbishment, the facility welcomed customers back to books.

The library began 1946 service in tight quarters at Arden School. Post-war population growth soon demanded more space; this was supplied with a move to Arden Town Shopping Center. Several migrations later, the facility reached its current location on Watt and Northrop Avenue. The branch opened as Arden Library in 1971. A 1999 name change -- and substantial facility expansion -- resulted from a $800,000 gift from Dimick family benefactors.

Earlier this year, Arden-Dimmick branch closed to allow installation of new furniture, shelves, children's equipment, a teen area and more seating. The library is now among the Sacramento Library System's busiest facilities, supplying 70,000 books and other services to 28,000 subscribers.

Arden-Dimmick Library is located at 891 Watt Avenue (Corner of Northrop Avenue), Sacramento. ★

County Supervisor Susan Peters joined library supporters to celebrate the Arden-Dimmick Library's recent anniversary and re-opening. Public Library director Rivkah Sass (left), admired a County resolution for the occasion with Friends of the Library co-founder Carolyn Martin and Branch Supervisor Kerri Moore.

A True Water Emergency Threatens the Delta: Your Voice Matters

Commentary
by Don Nottoli, Sacramento County Supervisor

California decision makers are at a historic crossroads in the long-standing California water crisis. The outcome will permanently alter the Sacramento -San Joaquin Delta. Your voice can steer these decisions in the right direction and now is the time to speak up.

On July 26, 2016, the State Water Resources Control Board will begin a series of hearings that will help determine whether the Governor's proposed twin tunnels project will continue to move forward. During these proceedings, agencies and water contractors will suggest that the Governor's proposed $16 billion rate-payer funded twin tunnels project is a necessary improvement to a water system on the brink of collapse. They will also claim the project is necessary to improve the Delta ecosystem. These claims are simply not true. In fact, re-plumbing the Delta may actually accelerate the decline of its environment.

The 44-foot diameter, approximately 35-mile long twin tunnels will syphon millions of gallons of water per minute out of the Delta and send it south. If constructed, this project will harm local economies amounting to a loss of tens of millions of dollars annually. It will negatively affect family farms, agricultural operations, and Delta river communities disrupting a generations-old way of life. The project will also negatively impact recreation and water quality, degrade delicate environmental ecosystems, and harm fish and other endangered species.

The Delta Counties Coalition consists of local elected leaders from five counties whose communities will be permanently harmed if the twin tunnels are built. The project was developed without adequate local input and would irreversibly damage the Delta by depleting its watershed, would benefit one region of the state at the expense of another, and will not produce a single drop of new water.

More cost-effective solutions exist that the Delta Counties Coalition supports, such as creating more surface and underground storage, improving Delta levees to help move water more efficiently through the Delta, and greater regional solutions such as stormwater capture, wastewater reuse, and local desalination. We urge decision makers to implement these solutions, which are good for all of California.

You can help. Speak up. Contact Governor Jerry Brown and your local and state elected leaders to voice your opinion and concerns about the twin tunnels project. For more information, please visit www.delta.saccounty.net/.

State Water Resources Control Board Hearings on WaterFix Begin

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The State Water Resources Control Board began public hearings on the Department of Water Resources' (DWR) request to add three new points of diversion for California WaterFix. The opening three days of the hearings began with policy statements from the Natural Resources Agency and U.S. Department of the Interior followed by public comment.

The questions before the Board, defined by the members themselves for Part I of the hearings, are narrow: Does the new point of diversion alter water flows or affect water quality such that there would be injury to any legal user of the water, and does the project in effect initiate a new water right? Part II of the hearing, expected to begin in early 2017, will address fish and wildlife, recreation, and other public trust issues.

DWR has presented evidence showing that the proposed change will neither initiate a new water right nor injure any other legal user of water. DWR's testimony regarding its petition for change to its water right permit and the petition for the new points of diversion include these key points

- WaterFix would create more flexibility to better balance water quality and water supply (and fish protection which will be discussed in Part II).

- DWR and the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation do not seek a new or expanded water right or any modifications to the water quality standards upstream or downstream of the proposed diversion points.

- DWR has a proven track record of meeting the Water Board's Delta water quality standards and WaterFix would operate within the standards established by the Water Board. Meeting existing or future water quality standards would be easier with the flexibility provided by California WaterFix.

- WaterFix will be operated in real-time. While modeling can perform an assessment of potential water operation effects, water project operators handle complex situations on a daily basis to stay in compliance with water quality standards.

Part I of the hearings is expected to take several months. For regular updates on the hearings, follow the new California WaterFix blog.

technology, science, farming and food, the 2016 State Fair was a huge success," said Rick Pickering, CEO of the California Exposition & State Fair. Pickering added, "in the face of a heat wave and tragic events around the nation, hundreds of thousands of guests came out to celebrate the sense of community, good will and unity that the State Fair provides."

Paid Attendance decreased by 11 percent to 511,224 from a record year of 577,646 in 2015. Total Attendance decreased by 14 percent to 673,237 from a record year of 787,833 total visitors in 2015. Yet through a period of national tragedy and a local heatwave, business and community pride at the State Fair remained strong during the 17-day run. According to exit survey data, 92 percent of visitors were satisfied with their State Fair experience, and more than 95 percent felt their State Fair was a good value, up from 74 percent in 2015. ★

Two-Alarm Commercial Fire Damages Arden Area Restaurant

Sac Metro Fire Special Report

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Around 10:30p.m. on July 23rd, Metro Fire crews were dispatched to the 2700 block of El Camino Avenue in the Arden area for smoke from a building. First arriving crews reported heavy smoke from a FlapJacks restaurant in a commercial strip mall.

Firefighters immediately began to force entry into the building, where they located a smoldering fire in the kitchen, which had spread to the false roof/attic area. The location of the fire created significant challenges for crews. Truck companies, both on the roof and inside the structure, coordinated closely with engine companies so the seat of the fire could be located and extinguished, while protecting adjacent businesses.

A second alarm was requested, bringing total units assigned to nine engines, six trucks, three medics, and multiple chief officers. With clear objectives, the more than 60 firefighters on scene contained the fire to the kitchen and false roof/attic area of FlapJacks, saving all other units in the strip mall. No firefighters or civilian injuries were reported. The cause of the fire is currently under investigation. ★

Two-Alarm Fire Damages Carmichael Townhouse

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Shortly before 1pm on July 26th, Metro Fire crews were dispatched to the 3800 block of Olivebranch Lane in Carmichael for reports of smoke from an attic. First arriving crews found heavy fire coming from a townhouse and initiated an aggressive fire attack in order to contain the fire to the attic, while protecting the adjacent unit.

With afternoon temperatures over 100 degrees and a well-involved attic, firefighters were prepared for a rapidly-spreading fire. A second alarm was quickly called, bringing the total number of firefighters on scene to nearly 50. Crews were able to contain the fire to the attic of the townhouse, protecting the majority of the living quarters from damage, and completely saving the adjacent home. No firefighters or civilians were injured, and the damage is estimated at $150,000. The cause of the fire remains undetermined; Fire Investigators were unable to rule out the HVAC system as the cause. ★

Federal Grant Expanded to Provide Fire Extinguisher Training to the Public

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - In October of 2015, Metro Fire received a grant for $467,116 from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) in order to hire three new Fire Inspectors to inspect over 800 residential care facilities in its jurisdiction. Under this grant, inspectors could also provide training to care facility staff in the proper use of fire extinguishers. Recognizing the value of this training, Metro Fire requested an amendment to the grant, which would allow our staff to offer this program to all our community members. FEMA recently approved the request, and Metro Fire is excited to announce that fire extinguisher training is now available, free of charge, to all the communities we serve.

"The questions we all need to ask ourselves: Do I know how to effectively use a fire extinguisher on a small fire? Will I recognize a situation where the priority needs to be exiting the house, instead of trying to put out a fire?" Metro Fire Marshal, Assistant Chief Greg Casentini states, "Most people have seen a fire extinguisher and have basic knowledge on its use, but there's more to it than that. Knowing how to safely, quickly, and effectively use one, as well as when to evacuate immediately, are skills that may save your life, and they are key components in our community fire extinguisher training."

Join Metro Fire at one of the training sessions listed below, and in just a few minutes, you will be better prepared to protect your family and your home.

SMUD Unveils Another Electric Vehicle Fast-Charge Station

Drivers Can Charge Up To 80 Percent Of Their Car's Battery In Less Than 30 Minutes

SMUD Director Renée Taylor attaches a Nissan Leaf to the new SMUD electric vehicle fast charger at 7825 Lichen Drive in Citrus Heights, just off of Interstate 80. This new station can charge most EVs in less than 30 minutes. Photo courtesy SMUD

CITRUS HEIGHTS, CA (MPG) - Electric vehicle (EV) drivers have a new resource in the Sacramento region—a fast-charge station located immediately adjacent to the Interstate 80 freeway at 7825 Lichen Drive in Citrus Heights. The fast-charge station is just the second in the region to accommodate most types of EVs manufactured by foreign and domestic automakers, and it's one of the first installed in the U.S. by a utility. SMUD installed the first electric vehicle fast charger in the region last year near at its headquarters at the 6200-block of S Street in Sacramento and plans to open more fast-charge stations in the coming years.

EV drivers will pay approximately $2 per "gallon" to charge up using the station—about 40 percent less than the current price of gasoline. By using technology that charges vehicles at 480 volts—four times that of a standard household outlet—fast-charge-capable vehicles such as the Nissan Leaf, Chevy Spark EV, BMW i3 and others can fill up about 80 percent of their batteries in 30 minutes or less.

"By installing another fast charger near a major freeway, we're making it easier for EV drivers to travel farther from home and worry less about finding their next charge," said Ralph Trout, electric vehicle project manager at SMUD. "In the time it takes to have a cup of coffee, drivers using our new station can hit the road with their vehicles' batteries nearly topped off."

SMUD has also offered special electric vehicle rates for home charging since 1993. Today when drivers charge with one of SMUD's EV rates, they'll pay around 60 cents equivalent per gallon when charging after midnight. Overall, drivers can save upwards of $1,800 per year by choosing an electric vehicle.

Environmental leadership is one of the SMUD Board of Directors' core values, and this project is the most recent result of a 25-year effort by SMUD to improve local air quality by advancing clean alternative-fuel transportation and cleaner power sources. Funding for this station comes from the sale of carbon credits.

CDPH Announces Intent to Award $13 Million in Grants to California Reducing Disparities Pilot Projects

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - California Department of Public Health (CDPH) Director and State Public Health Officer Dr. Karen Smith announced today the intent to award nearly $13 million in grants to help reduce mental health disparities in communities that have traditionally been underserved.

The funding will be distributed to 11 pilot projects statewide that provide mental health services to five target populations, including African American, Asian and Pacific Islander, Latino, Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer and Questioning (LGBTQ), and Native American communities. The grant monies, which will be distributed over the course of five and a half years, are part of CDPH's California Reducing Disparities Project (CRDP). This will be the third release of CRDP grant funds. In all, CDPH will award $60 million to 41 contractors and grantees between 2016 and 2022.

"The California Reducing Disparities Project recognizes that many of the promising mental health services in our most diverse communities need additional support in order to improve their effectiveness," said Dr. Smith. "CDPH is committed to funding organizations that are doing meaningful work in their communities to reduce mental health disparities but are not often considered for large grants."

Disparities in mental health services are found among all races, ethnicities, sexual orientations, and gender identities and expressions. Even though they make up the majority of the state's population, communities of color are less likely to receive quality mental health care services than their Caucasian peers. Members of the LGBTQ community frequently report that mental health providers do not know how to address sexual orientation and gender identity concerns, or over-emphasize these issues in treatment, even if it is not the reason the person sought care.

The primary goal of the CRDP grants is to invest in new and existing community programs that have shown promise in reducing mental health disparities in these underserved communities. The grants are awarded to small organizations that have annual budgets of less than $500,000 and need organizational support in order to meet the Project's implementation and evaluation requirements. Each organization receives six months of technical support to develop a scope of work, detailed five-year budget, and an evaluation plan.

The CRDP is funded by the Mental Health Services Act (Proposition 63) that was passed in November 2004. This act imposes a one percent income tax on personal income that exceeds $1 million.

The 11 awardees receiving grants totaling $1,180,000 in funding for include:

- African American:
1. California Black Women's Health Project – Los Angeles County
 2. Healthy Heritage Movement – Riverside County
 3. Whole Systems Learning – Riverside County

- Asian and Pacific Islander*:
1. Hmong Cultural Center of Butte County – Butte County
 2. Muslim American Society: Social Services Foundation – Sacramento County

- Latino:
1. Humanidad Therapy and Education Services – Sonoma County
 2. Integral Community Solutions Institute – Fresno County
 3. Latino Service Providers – Sonoma County

- LGBTQ:
1. Gay & Lesbian Center of Bakersfield – Kern County
 2. Gender Health Center – Sacramento County
 3. San Joaquin Pride Center – San Joaquin County

nothing about it. There are too many checks and balances in place for it to be missed.

Following the 2014 election, armed with five years of data of voting irregularities and anomalies (2011 – 2015), the California Committee for the US Civil Rights Commission reviewed the Election Integrity Project's research and determined that a public hearing was warranted. On August 28, 2015 California citizens from across the state testified of their eyewitness accounts of "how chaos and corruption was destroying the integrity of California's election process," Paine said.

What Happened On California Primary Day?

When Mary (not her real name), a Republican Pacific Palisades Southern California resident, checked in at her polling location Tuesday June 7th, she was told she was registered "No Party Preference."

"I'm not a non-partisan voter," she said. In fact, Mary said many voters at her polling location – Republicans and Democrats – were told they were registered NPP.

Mary challenged the poll workers, and even showed them her Republican Party registration card and Republican Voter Pamphlet she had recently received by mail. "They said 'Listen lady, you can't vote. You're not a Republican,'" Mary said.

Mary said she demanded their names and a signed document saying she couldn't vote. She demanded the poll workers' superiors' name. And then she said it got weird. Mary said the three female poll workers told her they weren't even from California; they said they had been flown in from Rhode Island to work the California Primary.

Several other voters who also asked for anonymity each said they witnessed poll workers opening the privacy sleeve of voters' ballots to read the ballot. Instead of putting the ballot through the reader, the poll worker placed the ballots in a box marked "ballots" under the table. Linda Paine said she received many reports of this happening at polling stations throughout the state.

My calls to the Secretary of State's office were not returned.

Los Angeles County Test Ground

Paine said this pattern was documented in 2012 in Los Angeles County, but not on the large scale as the California Primary Election June 7.

In the 2014 Primary, approximately 1,200 poll workers in Los Angeles "changed their mind about working at the polls," all at the same time, resulting in a poll worker crisis. Linda Paine said she happened to be at the Los Angeles County Registrar's office for a meeting, when she overheard two citizens being told they had to speak Spanish if they wanted to be poll workers. She inquired and was told it must have been because all the poll worker positions were filled and they were just looking for interpreters. At the time Linda Paine was told this, robo-calls and emails were being sent to people all over the county looking for poll workers. Something did not add up for Paine.

The Election Integrity Project members called out their volunteer force and asked them to report when they got the emails and calls in order to determine what areas were impacted so that they could provide volunteers in those areas to help. But despite the calls for help in finding poll workers, Paine's volunteers were turned away and told the positions had already been filled.

Election Anomalies

Paine said the Election Integrity Project members documented June 7 Primary Election Day anomalies, and found disturbing, consistent patterns. "We believe the problem is the Secretary of State's with Vote Cal system," she said. "It's the same problems all over the state."

The Election Integrity Project

is going to compare polling data in the counties with the statewide data, but they are required to purchase this data from every California County, as well as the data from the Secretary of State.

California's Election Issues

Following the hanging chads incident in Florida in the 2000 presidential election, Congress passed the Help America Vote Act in 2002, which mandated sweeping reforms, including a statewide voter registration system that would eliminate ineligible voters.

But California failed to comply, and for 12 years was the only state that was still not compliant with the act. In 2014, newly elected Secretary of State Alex Padilla announced upon being elected that he planned to have California compliant within the year.

"In California, the attendants relied upon to watch the election system are failing its citizens," the Election Integrity Project said in a 2014 report. Election watchers are now volunteers, trained by the Election Integrity Project to carefully monitor California's elections to ensure that each vote is lawfully cast and accurately counted.

The 2014 report by Election Integrity Project found California's election system had serious vulnerabilities, no centralized computerized system, no statewide voter registration list, poor National Voter Registration Act list maintenance, non-compliance with statutes protecting lawful voters, and suspected voting fraud.

The report also found key election officials were roadblocks to election integrity. "Whether this stems from negligence or design, or a misguided central focus on 'voter experience,' the result is the same: Corruption. The injury to lawful voters is patent."

The initial Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is currently 4.25% for a new Home Equity Line of Credit (HELOC), and is fixed for the first 5 years of the loan which is called the draw period. After the initial 5 year period, the APR can change once based on the value of an Index and Margin. The Index is the weekly average yield on U.S. Treasury Securities adjusted to a constant maturity of 10 years and the margin is 3.50%. The current APR for the payment period is 5.120%. The maximum APR that can apply any time during your HELOC is 10%. A qualifying transaction consists of the following conditions: (1) the initial APR assumes a maximum HELOC of $100,000, and a total maximum Loan-to-Value (LTV) of 70% including the new HELOC and any existing 1st Deed of Trust loan on your residence; (2) your residence securing the HELOC must be a single-family home that you occupy as your primary residence; (3) if the 1st Deed of Trust loan is with a lender other than El Dorado Savings Bank, that loan may not exceed $200,000 and may not be a revolving line of credit. Additional property restrictions and requirements apply. All loans are subject to a current appraisal. Proper insurance is required and flood insurance may be required. Rates, APR, terms and conditions are subject to change without notice. Other conditions apply. A $375 early closure fee will be assessed if the line of credit is closed within three years from the date of opening. An annual fee of $50 will be assessed on the first anniversary of the HELOC and annually thereafter during the draw period. Ask for a copy of our "Fixed Rate Home Equity Line of Credit Disclosure Notice" for additional important information. Other HELOC loans are available under different terms.

Brown Signs Bill Providing Help for Those Claiming Refunds on Tax

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - A bill sponsored by the Board of Equalization (BOE) to streamline and simplify refunds on tax liabilities is now signed by the governor and will become law January 1, 2017. AB 1856, authored by Assemblyman Matt Dababneh helps taxpayers making installment payments by only requiring they file one claim for refund, rather than one for each installment payment they have made on a single liability.

"Running a business is challenging enough without having to keep track of multiple layers of paperwork," said BOE and Legislative Committee Chairwoman Fiona Ma. "It is my goal and that of all our members to simplify and streamline our taxpayers' dealings with government agencies so they can spend more time on achieving success in their business ventures."

In several cases, BOE taxpayers have been barred by the statute of limitations from recovering all of the installment payments they made to the BOE, even though their tax debt was cancelled or reduced to an amount less than the total payments received—because they made payments after the original claim had been filed, but did not file additional claims to cover the later payments. The new law will allow taxpayers making installment payments to file a single claim for refund before the entire liability is paid in full.

For specific help, please contact the BOE at 1-800-400-7115.

Bera Announces Nearly $800k Grant for Runway Upgrades to Mather Airport

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Congressman Ami Bera (CA-7) announced last week a major grant from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) for upgrades to Mather Airport's runways. The grant of $788,500 will be used to rehabilitate and upgrade the taxiway to FAA standards and to install runway lights along the taxiway. Congressman Bera was joined by Airport Director John Wheat and Airport Chief Administrative Officer for Planning and Development TJ Chen, and will discuss other ongoing projects to improve the safety and efficiency of the airport.

"This investment in Sacramento Mather Airport is great news for our community," said Congressman Bera. "Improving the conditions of the runway and safety with lights is critical to attracting, maintaining, and expanding private investment and economic development in the area. Making our airport more convenient and efficient to passengers and businesses has a positive impact on our community and our economy."

"Sacramento County is grateful of the efforts made by the Congressman to secure Federal funding from the FAA to improve the airfield at Mather Airport, which is a vital component of the aviation and cargo infrastructure for the Sacramento region," said Airport Director John Wheat.

This grant will fund the rehabilitation of approximately 670 feet of the existing connector Taxiway B-North that is needed to maintain structural integrity of the pavement. It will also fund the installation of a new Taxiway B-North edge lighting system to enhance safe airfield operations during low visibility conditions.

SB 1146 Turning Christian Colleges Upside Down

Commentary from SaveCalifornia.com

Democrats in control of the California Assembly Judiciary Committee have passed SB 1146 to redefine Christianity at Christian-format colleges by forcing support of the unnatural, unhealthy, unbiblical, and tyrannical homosexual-bisexual-transsexual agenda.

Thursday afternoon, SB 1146 was approved on a party-line vote, with Democrats in favor and Republicans opposed, with the exception of Republican Brian Maienschein of San Diego not voting.

"The First Amendment sets out religious and secular spheres, and we need to keep them separate," said committee member James Gallagher, a Yuba City Republican. "We don't want government involved in religion and we don't want religion controlling government, right? But with this bill, no matter what you do, you're going to infringe on a religious sphere and have the government deciding what is religious and what is not."

Another Republican committee member, Donald Wagner of Irvine, said SB 1146 "betrays a fundamental misunderstanding of what faith is." Wagner said, "Faith is a way of life. Faith comes first," adding that SB 1146 "derives from a thoroughly flawed perspective" by prohibiting and punishing Christian colleges' religious principles and practices.

SB 1146 allows students to file lawsuits against their religious-based colleges, challenging the colleges' right to have Biblical standards on sexuality, gender, and marriage in admissions, housing, employment, student counseling, and outside groups allowed on campus.

For example, the bill forces Christian colleges to allow homosexual and transsexual activists on campus to challenge students' moral beliefs. SB 1146 would permit homosexual-couple housing and transsexual-policy restrooms on campus, and likely prohibit counseling a student to overcome homosexuality. And SB 1146 would prohibit Christian colleges from firing a professor who becomes a homosexual or transsexual activist, indoctrinating students to support sin.

"SB 1146 is passing because too many colleges and other well-meaning opponents of the bill have made the mistake of lobbying the author, who's made his tyrannical bill a little less onerous with each amendment, enabling it to advance by sleight of hand," said Randy Thomasson, president of SaveCalifornia.com, a statewide pro-child, pro-family organization that promotes moral virtues for the common good. "If Christian colleges want SB 1146 defeated, they need to unapologetically mobilize every single supporter to call and demand SB 1146 be defeated. In this election season, they must launch bold religious-freedom campaigns with students in key Assembly districts this summer."

SB 1146 will next be heard in the Assembly Appropriations Committee in August when the Legislature returns from its month-long recess.

Sacramento County DA Reports

Defendant Convicted of Attempted Rape, Assault, Robbery of Elderly Woman; Defendant Convicted for Series of Rapes; Defendant Sentenced for 3-Month Crime Spree

DATE: March 30, 2016 CASE: Carlton Beard PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Matt Chisholm, Adult Sexual Assault Prosecution Unit
The Honorable Richard Sueyoshi sentenced Carlton Beard to 15 years in prison. On February 24, 2016, a jury convicted Beard of two counts of forcible rape.

On July 17, 2015, the victim rented a motel room for Beard, who was homeless at the time. He asked the victim to help him rent a room so he did not have to sleep on the streets. After checking into the room, Beard forcibly raped the victim two times.

DATE: April 22, 2016 CASE: Mitchell Leahy PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Megan Eixenberger, Career Criminal Prosecution Unit

The Honorable Donald Currier sentenced 35-year-old Mitchell Leahy to 17 years, 4 months in prison. On March 14, 2016, a jury convicted Leahy of first-degree robbery with use of a firearm, first-degree burglary, and grand theft of a firearm.

On August 29, 2013, Ryan Yarbrough returned to his Folsom home and saw that his sliding glass door had been taken off the tracks. Mr. Yarbrough discovered he was missing a .45 caliber semi-automatic handgun, a .40 caliber semi-automatic firearm, and his grandfather's retirement ring from the Oakland Police Department. Fingerprints lifted from the sliding glass door matched Leahy.

On September 2, 2013, Vickie Lovingood returned to her Orangevale home and noticed her French doors were open. When she entered one of the bedrooms, she saw a man rummaging through her dresser drawers. He was also holding one of her tote bags that appeared to be full of items. When confronted, the man reached towards his waistband and pulled out a gun. Mrs. Lovingood backed away and the man fled. Fingerprints lifted from the French doors matched Leahy.

On October 25, 2013, Mrs. Lovingood contacted the Sacramento County Sheriff's Department to report a man she saw in a news report of a burglary in Granite Bay looked like the man she saw in her house. The Granite Bay burglary took place on October 23, 2013. A 14-year-old girl was home alone at the time and called 911 when she realized a man was attempting to enter the house through a sliding glass door. Leahy was located nearby. Detectives found burglary tools, a firearm, jewelry and other property belonging to multiple victims in his truck.

DATE: June 24, 2016 CASE: Joseph McKeever PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Bruce Chang, Adult Sexual Assault Prosecution Unit
Joseph McKeever was convicted by a jury of attempted rape, assault to commit rape during the commission of a residential burglary, and home invasion robbery. The jury also found true the crimes were committed against an elderly victim.

McKeever saw the 72-year-old victim walking her dog in the Foothill Farms area of Sacramento. He followed the victim to her home and forced his way into her residence. When the victim tried to escape, McKeever punched her in the face, grabbed her arms, and threw her on the ground. McKeever then got on top of the victim, choked her, and sexually assaulted her. McKeever also took $900 in cash from her purse.

When McKeever's mother recognized a composite sketch she saw on the news as her son, she called the Sacramento County Sheriff's Department to report her son was the suspect.

McKeever faces a maximum potential sentence of 14 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for August 19, 2016, at 10:00 a.m. in Department 41 before the Honorable Helena Gweon.

DATE: June 24, 2016 CASE: Jose Gomez-Garcia PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Matthew Chisholm, Adult Sexual Assault Prosecution Unit

Jose Gomez-Garcia was convicted by a jury of six felony counts of forcible rape, two felony counts of forcible sodomy, and one felony count of forcible oral copulation. The jury also found true a multiple victim enhancement on eight counts.

From June 2002 to October 2002, Gomez-Garcia raped three women by force. Each victim was taken to a deserted warehouse parking lot and violently raped. Two of the victims were sodomized. Gomez-Garcia controlled each victim by grabbing them around the neck and making threats. All three victims immediately reported the sexual assaults to law enforcement. DNA recovered from each of the victims was analyzed by the District Attorney's Crime Lab. The three cases were linked to each other, but not to a suspect.

In 2004, Gomez-Garcia was arrested for illegal re-entry after deportation, which resulted in a federal felony conviction. While in custody, federal authorities collected Gomez-Garcia's DNA. In 2010, there was a DNA hit to Gomez-Garcia, who by that time had been deported to Mexico. Extradition proceedings were initiated and he was returned to Sacramento in 2014 to face these charges.

Gomez-Garcia has a prior 1998 strike conviction for shooting into an inhabited dwelling.

He faces a maximum potential sentence of 261 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for August 18, 2016, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 24 before the Honorable Shelleyanne Chang. ★

Felix Hernandez has been one of the game's top pitchers for the past decade but still needs a few more quality seasons to beef up his Hall of Fame résumé.

Headed for the Hall?

Active players in line for baseball's highest individual honor

Just days before Ken Griffey Jr. and Mike Piazza were scheduled for enshrinement in the Baseball Hall of Fame, ESPN released its "Hall of 100," a list of the game's 100 greatest players as voted on by a panel of experts. Babe Ruth was No. 1, and both Griffey and Piazza made ESPN's list.

On that list were 10 active players, some of whom will eventually land in Cooperstown. Here's a look at each of the 10, and a look at their Hall credentials. Included are each player's Wins Above Replacement numbers according to Baseball-Reference.com, through July 24, along with other key stats. The year in parentheses is the player's first season in the majors.

93. Felix Hernandez, SP, Mariners (2005)

50.8 WAR, 147-105, 3.12 ERA

With just one Cy Young Award and two 15-plus-win seasons, Hernandez is far from a sure thing to reach the Hall. "King Felix," 30, still needs to rack up more quality seasons, but his career WAR ranks him 97th among pitchers, and his 2,197 strikeouts (57th all-time) and his 8.48 per nine innings (27th) show his elite talent. While it should be noted that he has spent his career in a pitcher's park, a few more good seasons should give him Cooperstown credentials.

92. Adrian Beltre, 3B, Rangers (1998)

86.9 WAR, .285/.337/.476, 427 HR

Beltre would be an atypical Hall selection. He's never won an MVP (he finished second in 2004 with the Dodgers, and third with Texas in '12), and he's been to just four All-Star games, the first coming at age 31. But most fans would be stunned to know that Beltre ranks 31st in career WAR among position players and finished in the top 10 of his league in WAR eight times. Beltre's flown under the radar because 31 percent of his career WAR value comes from his defense, but his ranking by ESPN's panel suggests he has a chance at enshrinement.

85. Bryce Harper, OF, Nationals (2012)

21.4 WAR, .282/.374/.510, 117 HR

Harper posted an astounding 9.9 WAR at age 22 last season, which ranked first in the National League among position players, and he has already appeared in four All-Star games. His numbers have fallen dramatically this year — a 1.9 WAR, thanks to an awful .249 batting average on balls in play that's .125 lower than last year — and while it's probably premature to include him on a top-100 list, there's no denying that Harper has HOF ability.

78. David Ortiz, DH, Red Sox (1997)

54.2 WAR, .286/.380/.552, 527 HR

WAR is somewhat unkind to "Big Papi," rating him 149th among position players — that is, if you consider Ortiz in that category, since he's played only 277 career games in the field. The failure to add defensive value is the primary reason for a lower ranking. Given his role on title teams, where he repeatedly came up huge on the big stage time and time again, and his reputation as one of his generation's most feared hitters, voters probably won't hold that against him. That said, as a hitter alone, his WAR ranks below a list of non-Hall-of-Fame position players that includes (but isn't limited to) Jose Cruz Sr., Chet Lemon, Robin Ventura, Will Clark and John Olerud.

65. Ichiro Suzuki, OF, Marlins (2001)

59.9 WAR, .314/.357/.405

Though mostly a singles hitter, Ichiro may have 3,000 MLB hits by the time you read this. No Hall-eligible player who reached that milestone outside Rafael Palmeiro (who failed a performance-enhancing drug test in 2005) has been denied enshrinement. Add another 1,278 hits in Japan through his age-26 season, and professional baseball's all-time hit king likely earns a bronze plaque.

40. Mike Trout, CF, Angels (2011)

44.0 WAR, .305/.400/.559, 158 HR

The greatest player at the moment, Trout, who is just 24, has been the AL's WAR leader in each of his four full seasons and is leading it again in 2016. He hits, he runs, he fields, and barring some spectacular collapse, he should make the Hall with ease.

39. Miguel Cabrera, 1B, Tigers (2003)

67.2 WAR, .320/.398/.559, 427 HR

Cabrera's glove has subtracted from his career WAR numbers. But there's no debating the bat, which has led him to eight top-10 WAR finishes and helped him rank 84th all-time among position players. Still an All-Star caliber player at 33, Cabrera is likely assured of enshrinement as-is.

31. Albert Pujols, 1B-DH, Angels (2001)

100.2 WAR, .309/.394/.575, 579 HR

The 21st-best all-time position player according to WAR. The only thing standing between the 36-year-old Pujols and the Hall is retirement.

26. Clayton Kershaw, SP, Dodgers (2008)

51.8 WAR, 125-58, 2.39 ERA

Assuming current back issues don't derail Kershaw, the 28-year-old could eventually have an argument as history's greatest pitcher given his composite sub-2.00 ERA since 2013.

21. Alex Rodriguez, DH, Yankees (1994)

118.0 WAR, .295/.380/.551, 696 HR, 2,084 RBI

WAR rates A-Rod as the 12th-best position player ever. All but one of those ahead of him was a sure-fire Hall pick. The exception was Barry Bonds (No. 2), who spent the last part of his career under performance-enhancing drug suspicions. Rodriguez, suspended for PED use in 2014, could suffer from the same voter treatment Bonds has received so far.

AROUND THE HORN

Are the Mariners throwing in the towel on 2016? On July 20, Seattle traded left-handed reliever Mike Montgomery (who had a 2.34 ERA with 54 strikeouts in 61.2 innings for the Mariners this season) and Class AAA righty Jordan Pries to the Cubs for first baseman Dan Vogelbach and righthander Paul Blackburn. The deal makes sense for both teams; the Cubs had just two lefties, Clayton Richard and Travis Wood, in their bullpen, and Richard was pitching horribly. Montgomery, who had started 16 games for Seattle in 2015, was limiting lefties to a .164 batting average and should move into a set-up role. Vogelbach, 23, was hitting .318/.425/.548 with 16 homers at AAA and has been a top prospect in that system for years, but at 6-0 and 250 pounds, and with All-Star Anthony Rizzo blocking his path at first, his future as a Cub appeared to be limited. Pries, 26, is a lower-level prospect, but the Cubs will put him in their AAA rotation and think he could help the big league club at some point. Blackburn, 22, had a 3.17 ERA in 102.1 Class AA innings this season, and the Mariners believe he'll be a No. 4 starter for them as soon as next season. ...

On Monday, the Cubs added perhaps the game's most gifted closer in Aroldis Chapman, acquired from the Yankees for pitcher Adam Warren and prospects Gleyber Torres and Billy McKinney. Torres (age 19) is regarded as one of baseball's top shortstop prospects, and McKinney (21), an outfielder, has appeared on several top-100 prospect lists in recent years. ...

The Rangers may have lost Prince Fielder for the season, but could that make Texas better? Fielder went on the DL on July 20 and was pondering neck surgery for a herniated disc — the same one he had surgery on two years ago — which would end his season. Fielder hit .212/.292/.334 in 89 games this year and was replaced by Jurickson Profar at first. The 23-year-old Profar was considered baseball's top prospect as recently as three years ago and has hit well (.304/.351/.435) since his late-May promotion from the minors. Profar is a natural second baseman, and with Rougned Odor entrenched there, Texas had not been able to find a full-time role for him. Teams are reluctant to bench players with huge contracts like Fielder's, which pays him an average salary of $23.77 million through 2020. ...

Commissioner Rob Manfred has not been shy in suggesting overhauls to make the game move faster, and Manfred, while not offering a specific proposal, says that MLB is considering the possibility of limiting the number of relievers a team can use in a game. Through July 20, the average game was lasting 3:04, up 16 minutes from 2005.

NUMBERS GAME

That's San Francisco pitcher Madison Bumgarner's career ERA through his first 203 career games, of which 200 came as a starter. According to the MLB Network, that's just 0.01 behind former Giants Hall of Famer Carl Hubbell (1928-43) at the same stage, though Hubbell pitched 1,380 innings compared to Bumgarner's 1,306.2.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK

July 31, 1934

The Cardinals pull out an 8-6 road win at Cincinnati; the game is notable because both starting pitchers, Dizzy Dean and Tony Freitas, throw all 18 innings.

The Exciting New World of Implant Supported Dentures

• Has the Security of a Fixed Bridge! • Easier to Maintain Good Oral Hygiene

There are millions of people in the U.S. who are edentulous (meaning without teeth) who struggle daily with dentures. A majority suffer from discomfort as a result of loose or illfitting dentures. Many prosthetic wearers simply withdraw from any type of social engagement as a result of having to wear their dentures.

Lower dentures almost never fit properly. They are loose fitting due to less surface area which can't create a suction, shrinking gum tissue and bone loss, which can cause irritation in the mouth, sores and pain. The only relief is using sticky dental adhesive to help it, but it is very messy, hard to clean off and needs multiple applications throughout the day.

Upper dentures are better than lower dentures due to a suction in the upper palate that keeps the denture in place. However, having the palate covered reduces the tastes of foods and the ability to tell the temperature of foods.

Partial Dentures can be a source of discomfort due to lack of supporting teeth or an illfitting partial. Partials also use clasps to secure to existing teeth which can be noticeable and can put added pressure to the existing teeth.

Now there is a solution to these issues: Implants with "Snap On" Dentures!

Whether you are new to dentures or have worn them for years, a snap on denture is a great solution to uncomfortable chewing and slippery painful dentures. There are several types of snap on dentures available, including snap on partials. We make your denture or partial fit and function in harmony with the space available in your mouth, and give custom attention to the delicate fabrication of your snap on denture.

If you already wear a conventional denture or partial denture, we can sometimes use your denture to accommodate the snaps to fit on your new dental implants.

If you are interested in learning more about improving your quality of life with an implant retained snap on denture or partial, please contact us for a FREE CONSULTATION today!
