Story and photos by Susan Maxwell Skinner

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - On a summer night in 2012, Gemily West lost her boyfriend and the pets she had since childhood. Returning from a walk on the old Garfield Elementary School grounds, she and boyfriend Harison Long-Randall and the four dogs she called "fur kids" were hit by a drugged motorist.

Harison's leg was severed and the lifeless bodies of Australian cattle dogs Winry, Zury, Bindie, and Evie were strewn across the road. Gemily needed 42 metal pins and a steel rod to rebuild her right limb.

"I wanted to heal to be there for Hari," recalls Gemily. "When he died after 13 days, I felt I'd lost everything. There seemed no future."

She could not work or walk.

Agony continued as she endured the criminal trial of driver Paul Walden (now imprisoned for life) and acrimonious estrangement from Hari's kin.

After three years of surgeries and therapy the 26-year-old feels her life has now turned around. "I'm back on track because of my new kids," she said. Acquired from breeders, puppies Kiry, Breezy, and Honey resemble and share some of the same blood lines of the dogs

"New puppies are a distraction," she said smiling. "It doesn't matter that you're hobbling on crutches, they still

With the same skill that made champions of her lost babies, Gemily trained Honey and Kiry as service companions. "Honey was made for me," explains Gemily. "She pulls me upstairs and helps my stability, she helps my post-traumatic stress. ... When I panic, she grabs my attention and makes me focus on her. I sit with her close and she calms me. My dogs fill my life with a joy I never thought I'd have again. They do my heart good; it's like getting some of my family back."

More comfort has come from fellow El Camino High School graduate, David Pierce. The restaurant worker reconnected with Gemily in the painful

"She'd been lost during a military family's move two years before," Gemily marvels. "I believe the spirits of my dogs guided her safely to where she'd get help to find her people." — GEMILY WEST

On the playing field, a fragment of old yellow police tape blew from nowhere and wrapped itself around my feet. I felt Winry, Zurie, Bindie, and Evie's spirits rushing past me; like they were saying, 'Hey mom, we're happy you're here. We're all having fun again."

Stranger things have happened. On two separate occasions since the accident, missing Australian cattle dogs mysteriously found their way to the West's yard. Still on crutches, Gemily caught the first dog. "She was red," she said, "and for a fleeting second I thought my precious Winry had come back to me.'

An implanted chip allowed the dog's owners to be traced. "She'd been lost during a military family's move two years before," Gemily marvels. "I believe the spirits of my dogs guided her safely to where she'd get help to find her people. Her name was Tasha.

"When her owners came here to get her it was like Tasha was back from the dead. I believe my dogs helped her. They always loved being part of a family." ★

Five Simple Steps to Keep Pets Healthy Over the Holidays

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (STATEPOINT) - When making holiday plans, consider your pets' health needs. Here, five veterinary experts weigh in on steps to keep pets happy and healthy amid the hubbub.

Resist Those Pleading Eyes

According to veterinary nutritionist Dr. Dottie LaFlamme, high-calorie tidbits contribute to caloric overload and bad habits, while lacking necessary nutrient balance.

"Just one teaspoon of beef fat can contain almost twice the calories a small dog should consume in daily treats," LaFlamme said, adding that feeding from the table also promotes begging behavior. "If you must give pets a treat, feed it in their bowl after the meal to help with portion

Avoid Holiday Hazards

The holidays can be toxic to pets. Chocolate poisoning is one of the most common accidents during the holidays, according to veterinary critical care specialist and toxicologist Dr. Justine Lee. Other food foes include grapes, raisins, bones, unbaked yeast bread dough, alcohol, and xylitol, a common sugar substitute.

Likewise, "Potpourri liquid contains detergents that can cause severe ulcers and burns in a cat's mouth, while tinsel can act as a severe linear foreign body when stuck in a cat's stomach and intestines," she said.

If you're hosting, ensure houseguests pet-proof pill bottles.

Take Preventive Measures

Owners often experience a false sense of security about parasite prevention when the weather turns cooler. However, the holidays are no time to take a break from heartworm prevention, even though heartworms are spread by infected mosquitoes, said veterinary parasitologist Dr. Patricia Payne. Why? Because preventives work retroactively on heartworm larvae acquired earlier in the

"There's no way to accurately predict past or future transmission, so the American Heartworm Society recommends year-round heartworm prevention for dogs and cats," Payne said. "Make sure to put a reminder on your holiday calendar to give routine monthly preventives to pets."

Give the Gift of Activity

"When we removed hunting from pets' daily lives, we reduced their physical and mental activity," said veterinary behaviorist Dr. Jacqueline Neilson. "When pets lack mental stimulation, they can become bored and depressed, and often create their own stimulating activities, such as chewing items or barking at passersby." Beat this concern with food puzzles and toys that require pets to work, play, or "hunt."

"Consider your pet's personality when choosing holiday gifts," says Neilson. "If your dog likes to chew things, a food toy that needs to be squeezed between the jaws may be ideal. Herding breeds may prefer a toy they can nudge.'

Travel Prep

An estimated 30 million people travel with their pets annually, and holidays are primetime for hitting the road. Flying? Check your airline's pet requirements. For car travel, invest in a carrier.

'Your pet will appreciate a safe haven while traveling," said Dr. Robert Stannard, who recommends adding a favorite blanket to provide a sense of familiarity. Travel bowls, favorite toys, and medications are necessities, not luxuries. Just be careful not to overfeed.

"Like us, pets can get motion sickness," said Stannard. "Don't feed your pet right before leaving, and limit food during travel to help prevent digestive upset."

With a few precautionary measures, your four-legged family members can have a happy, healthy holiday season.

Californians See Immigration More Positively than the Rest of U.S.

USC Dornsife/LA Times Poll Shows Californians See Immigrants as Creating Economic Challenges, but Believe American Society Is Strengthened by Their Presence

Californians are more likely to see immigrants as positive for American society compared to the U.S. as a whole, according to a USC Dornsife/LA Times Poll conducted by SurveyMonkey. Fifty-nine percent of California voters, compared to 49 percent of U.S. voters, reported that immigrants strengthen society, while 35 percent of California voters and 43 percent of U.S.

In California, despite the positive feelings for immigrants, 41 percent of voters believe that immigrants make things harder for them financially, while 10 percent say immigrants make things easier, and 39 percent saying they make no difference.

"It's not surprising that Californians are much more positive about the benefits of immigration than voters nationally, but even our state's residents recognize that immigration can present economic challenges as well," said Dan Schnur, Director of USC's Jesse M. Unruh Institute of Politics. "It's a testament to California voters that they understand that the long-term positive contributions that immigrants can provide are worth the short-term financial challenges that may arise."

Other findings from the poll show that the majority of California voters—59 percent report that unfairness in the economic system that favors the wealthy is a major problem in the United States. Thirty-nine percent cited over-regulation of the free market as a bigger issue in the country. However, 44 percent of California voters said that the government gets in the way of their opportunities while 39 percent said that Washington doesn't make a difference either way.

"Voters of both parties are increasingly worried about the Sen. Ted Cruz supporters in impact of income inequality, but they don't seem to be willing to trust their government to fix the problem without creating other problems," Schnur said. "The challenge for our presidential candidates will be to overcome these broader doubts with policy proposals for economic growth that voters can trust."

Youth and minority populations echo the sentiment of the majority of California voters that inequity within the economic system is a major issue. Seventy-four percent of 18-29 year olds agreed that it is a bigger issue than over-regulation of the market, as well as Black (70 percent), Asian (68 percent), and Hispanic (62 percent) voters in California. Fifty-four percent of White voters also Voter opinions on immigration vary widely based on partisan affiliation. Fifty-three percent of California Republicans and 64 percent of U.S. Republicans believe that immigrants mainly weaken society, while 75 percent of California Democrats and 66 percent of U.S. Democrats believe immigrants mainly strengthen society. Nationally, only 29 percent of Republicans think immigrants strengthen society.

The divergence of opinions is further evidenced when broken out by candidate support. Eightyone percent of Hillary Clinton supporters and 80 percent of Sen. Bernie Sanders supporters in California believe that immigrants bolster society. Nationally, 66 percent of Clinton supporters and 85 percent of Sanders supporters agree with the statement.

Meanwhile, a large majority of Donald Trump and California—73 percent and 75 percent respectively—believe that immigrants mainly weaken American society. Sixty-one percent of Ben Carson supporters agree, but 53 percent of Sen. Marco Rubio supporters in California believe that immigrants actually improve society. Nationally, 82 percent of Trump supporters believe immigrants mainly weaken society, with 73 percent of Cruz supporters, 56 percent of Carson supporters, and 45 percent of Rubio supporters in agreement.

California voters are generally more hopeful about cultural diversity while national voters are divided. In the Golden State, 56 percent of voters said that they are hopeful about the changes in cultural diversity in the country over the past few years while 41 percent report that they are worried. Nationally, 50 percent of voters report feeling worried about diversity compared with 47 percent who said they are hopeful.

Few Californians, only 13 percent, said they think the federal government increases opportunities for them. Responses divide along party lines in the state with 68 percent of Republicans and 29 percent of Democrats reporting that the government gets in the way of opportunity; while 20 percent of Democrats and 8 percent of Republicans believe the government increases opportunity.

Nationally, voters are more likely to feel that the government gets in the way of opportunity, with 52 percent agreeing with the statement.

Trump and Carson lead California

Republican race, Clinton dominates Democratic field.

In the Republican primary race, Donald Trump and Ben Carson continue to lead the field, with 20 percent of California voters saying they would vote for Trump and 19 percent for Carson if the election were held today. Fourteen percent of Californians say they favor Sen. Marco Rubio, followed by 11 percent for Sen. Ted Cruz, 6 percent for Carly Fiorina and 4 percent for former Florida Gov. Jeb Bush.

In the Democratic field, Hillary Clinton holds a sizable lead, with 48 percent of California voters versus 32 percent who favor Sen. Bernie Sanders.

The USC Dornsife/LA Times SurveyMonkey Poll survey was conducted Oct 29 - Nov. 3, among 2,009 registered voters in California and an additional national sample of 3,035 registered voters in the United States. Error estimates for this survey are +/- 3 percentage points for California registered voters and +/- 2.5 percentage points for registered voters in the United States.

Respondents for this nonprobability survey were selected using an algorithm from among the 3 million people who take surveys on the SurveyMonkey platform each day. Data for the survey-which also included interviews with adults not registered to vote—have been weighted for gender, age, race, education, and region using the Census Bureau's American Community Survey to reflect the demographic compositions of California and the United States.

A Day of Seeking Solutions

Listening Provides Answers to Your Needs

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Everyone is looking for solutions: a more fulfilling career path, a deeper sense of purpose, hope, and health are on their wish list. The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carmichael-in collaboration with The Albert Baker Fundhas a day planned for those seeking such solutions. This cost-free event will be held on Saturday, Dec. 5th, from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the La Sierra Community Center, 5325 Engle Road in Carmichael.

The day begins with a talk given by national speaker Jill Grimes, C.S., a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, and is followed by an interactive career workshop moderated by Robin Glenn Jones, Career Coordinator for the Albert Baker Fund.

In her talk titled, "God is speaking—are we listening?' Grimes will discuss the practical application of spiritual law to everyday challenges, which does not fail to bring right outcomes. Grimes' ideas are based on the teachings of Jesus as recorded in the Bible, and as provided in the ground-breaking work on spiritual healing: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

"So are you ready to hear your own healing language?" asks Grimes. "God's healing love is contemporary and understandable. It is universal and unconditional, not denominational. It gives you peace."

Grimes has been a practitioner of Christian Science healing for over 25 years. She has been involved in numerous healings through the application of spiritual law, including depression, diseases, addictions, and broken bones. Grimes travels throughout the country sharing this spiritual approach to life. She makes her home in Tucson, Ariz. with her husband.

Immediately following the talk the interactive career workshop, moderated by Mr. Jones, will take place for those who have registered for that second phase of the event. Who should attend? Career professionals, job seekers, students, job changers. Included in the workshop will be opportunities for sharing spiritual insights and experiences regarding career search and connections, networking with industry professionals, helping college students and graduates to make new career connections, and learning new job search skills by gaining new spiritual insight/ perspective by learning to move beyond the groundlevel conversation of changing careers.

To register for the career workshop portion of the event, go to The Albert Baker Fund "Career Alliance" website: http://www. abfcareeralliance.org./event-registration. Lunch will be included and contributions for the cost of the lunch will be welcome.

Career Coordinator Robin Jones is charged with managing the Career Alliance program of The Albert Baker Fund. He believes that everything he has loved doing in his career has prepared him for this. He's been a successful sales and management professional, as well as a recruiter, coach, teacher, and Christian Science practitioner.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Don't feel sheepish about looking to spend more time with that special person during the upcoming holidays. Do it because it's the right thing to do.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Never mind letting misunderstandings repair themselves. Consider speaking up while the healing process can be shorter and sweeter and leave fewer scars.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Romance is easily awakened in the Geminian heart, especially around the happy holiday season. So go ahead and make those plans with that special someone.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Moon Children can glow with their own inner light as the holiday season magic takes hold. It's a very special time for Cancers and Libras together. Enjoy.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) It's a good time for you fabulous Felines to take pleasure in your special gift for, well, taking pleasure! Look for this holiday season to give you every reason to purr.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) This is a good time to let others who are in your life get a little closer to you. You'll both find out what you've been missing for far too long.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Open up your eyes and see some welcome surprises you've missed or overlooked for too long. What you find can lead to other favorable changes.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) What you expect to be potentially troublesome might simply be especially challenging and well worth your efforts to check out. Good luck!

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A friendship might not seem as trustworthy as you'd like. OK. Ask your questions, get your answers and settle the matter once and for all.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A family situation moves into a new area because of (or, maybe, thanks to) some decisions you might have felt you could not avoid making.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You could be cutting it very close if you hope to make those holiday plan changes in time to avoid problems. Get a friend or family member to help.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"Minions" (PG) - The little yellow guys in goggles got their own feature-length movie, and it's right-on-brand for them: brightly colored slapstick and harmless nincompoopery. The hapless helpers behind the super-villain in "Despicable Me," it turns out, have been serving bad-guys since the dawn of time -- T. Rex and Dracula are on their resume. After going for a long time without a master, a few intrepid minions leave their home in Antarctica to pledge lovalty to the first female super-villain, the dastardly Scarlett Overkill (voiced by Sandra Bullock.)

Whether or not you've seen "Despicable Me," you're likely familiar with the Minions' shtick. They've been featured in various promotions and even incorporated into unrelated fields. They speak in hyper-gibberish, bump into each other and are seemingly good-natured stooges. It's hard to keep that fresh for a full run-time, but viewers under 10 certainly won't mind. "Ant-Man" (PG-13) - While he's the tiniest hero in the Marvel Cinematic Universe, Ant-Man is disproportionately strong both in terms of super-powers and movie appeal. Scott Lang (Paul Rudd) just got out of prison for stealing, but he's exactly the right kind of thief for a special heist. Dr. Hank Pym (Michael Douglas) recruits and trains Lang to wear a super-suit that can instantly shrink him to ant-size while amplifying his strength.

The mission: steal back Pym's size-changing research before his former protege (Corey Stoll) can use the technology for evil.

The smaller-scale heroics of Ant-Man call for a little more humor than Marvel movies are accustomed to using. For this, Rudd is a great pick, even it isn't his brightest performance. He's the "Who, me?" kind of hero who doesn't fit the typical bill, but can still adapt to the role as the story goes along.

"One & Two"(R) - Two teleporting teen siblings live under their tyrannical father in a walled-off bit of isolated farmland. The family lives with mostly handmade stuff, no electricity and regular prayer. After sundown, brother and sister Zac (Timothee Chalamet) and Eva (Kiernan Shipka) play out in the lake and meadow with their inexplicable ability to disappear in a puff of mist and instantly reappear elsewhere. Their father's cruelty drives Eva to teleport outside the farm, where she's plunged into the modern world. The acting, effects, music, tone and visuals are all top-notch. It's the story that can't deliver and feels unfinished.

"Partisan" (R) - On the outskirts of a maybe postapocalyptic town, there exists strange commune led by a lone man named Gregori (Vincent Cassel). With a handful of women and a score of children, Gregori is the sole father figure, protector, teacher and, as it turns out, childassassin trainer. Conflict comes when there's some hint of rebellion from Alexander (Jeremy Chambriel), who is Gregori's favorite 11-year-old assassin-in-training. It leads to a dead-end, however, as the lack of context in this unexplored dystopia (somewhere Europe-y) leaves big holes in our understanding of what's going on and why Gregori is so dang crazy.

After Paris, Empty Symbolism

The instant online symbol of global support for Paris after last week's attacks was a roughly rendered peace symbol with an Eiffel Tower in the middle of it. The French designer Jean Jullien sketched it as soon as he heard the news of the atrocity. He called it "Peace for Paris," and it immediately became a sensation on social media.

Its success is a sign of the times. We have become experts at treacly online mourning. We take grotesque atrocities and launder them into trite symbols and slogans that are usually self-congratulatory and, of course, wholly ineffectual. The 19th-century author William Dean Howells once said, "Yes, what the American public wants is a tragedy with a happy ending." On social media, the happy ending is the widely shared and tweeted image or hashtag.

After the slaughter at the offices of the satirical French magazine Charlie Hebdo earlier this year, it was "Je suis Charlie," or "I am Charlie." It was a well-intentioned expression of solidarity, so long as you overlooked the absurd presumption of it.

You are Charlie? Oh, OK. Then draw a sketch of Muhammad and post it online. Better yet, do it over and over again, until you get constant threats and your office is firebombed, just as a warmup. No, you aren't Charlie (for that matter, Charlie isn't even Charlie anymore -- it's given up on mocking Islam for understandable safety reasons).

The "Peace for Paris" image is simple and emotive, if inapt. Paris doesn't need to give peace a chance. It doesn't need to make love, not war. It doesn't need to be more understanding or more hopeful. It needs to be better protected by all those unsentimental means that have been neglected in recent years, or overwhelmed by the growing threat of ISIS.

Paris -- and more broadly France and the West -- needs more surveillance of suspected terrorists and police raids; a more restrictive immigration policy that doesn't create large, unassimilated Muslim populations, or welcome terrorists as refugees; and a serious, multilayered campaign to destroy ISIS and deny it the safe havens from which it recruits and trains, and plots against the West.

If someone can come up with a catchy symbol for that, I'll embrace it (although "La Marseillaise" isn't so bad: "To arms citizens/ Form your battalions/March. march"). Meanwhile, spare me the #PrayforParis hashtag. Forgive me if I'm unmoved by lighting up world landmarks in red, white and blue, or your putting a tricolor filter on your Facebook profile picture. And please don't tell me, in the words of the designer Jean Jullien, that "in all this horror there's something positive that people are coming together in a sense of unity and peace."

Nothing positive comes from innocents getting shot down in cold blood for the offense of going to a concert on a Friday night. If there aren't going to be more -and worse -- attacks in our cities, the path ahead won't be one of unity and peace. It will be the hard, thankless work of protecting civilization from its enemies.

Helping Pets in Need

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: As the holiday season swings into full gear, many people may be looking to do something more enriching than just shopping for gifts and getting things we don't really need. Please encourage your readers to consider donating to their local shelter or offering some of their time as volunteers to help pets during the holidays and year-round. -- Avid Volunteer in Virginia

DEAR AVID: You told them, and I thank you! The holidays can be a very hectic time for many people. But finding time to volunteer at your local shelter, or helping to host a fundraising or pet-supplies drive, can be an enriching experience and a break from shopping and planning for holiday events.

While some local shelters don't have a formal volunteer program, many do. The first step is to contact the shelter or visit its website to find out if it accept volunteers, what jobs they're expected to do, and how to apply. If you have children who are interested in volunteering, find out the minimum age and what kids can do if they're too young to volunteer.

For example, the adoption center at Boston's MSPCA Angell center requires a sixmonth commitment of two hours per week from volunteers, who handle a variety of tasks from cleaning habitats to feeding the animals, walking dogs, socializing with smaller animals, or interacting with visitors. That's quite a commitment, but the volunteer program often is completely filled each year.

Single-day or weekend volunteer activities also may be available, often as group events. These are a great way to get familiar with being a shelter volunteer.

Send your questions or tips to ask@pawscorner.

The initial Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is currently 4.25% for a new Home Equity Line of Credit (HELOC), and is fixed for the first 5 years of the loan which is called the draw period. After the initial 5 year period, the APR can change once based on the value of an Index and Margin. The Index is the weekly average yield on U.S. Treasury Securities adjusted to a constant maturity of 10 years and the margin is 3.50%. The current APR for the repayment period is 5.75%. The maximum APR that can apply any time during your HELOC is 10%. A qualifying transaction consists of the following conditions: (1) the initial APR assumes a maximum HELOC of $100,000, and a fotal maximum Loan-to-Value (LTV) of 70% including the new HELOC and any existing 1st Deed of Trust loan on your residence; (2) your residence securing the HELOC must be a single-family home that you occupy as your primary residence; (3) if the 1st Deed of Trust loan is with a lender other than El Dorado Savings Bank, that loan may not exceed $200,000 and may not be a revolving line of credit. Additional property restrictions and requirements apply. All loans are subject to a current appraisal. Property insurance is required and flood insurance may be required. Rates, APR, terms and conditions are subject to change without notice. Other conditions apply. A $375 early closure fee will be assessed if the line of credit is closed within three years from the date of opening. An annual fee of $50 will be assessed on the first anniversary of the HELOC and annually thereafter during the draw period. Ask for a copy of our "Fixed Rate Home Equity Line of Credit Disclosure Notice" for additional important information. Other HELOC loans are available under different terms.

THE BELL BY GERRY SCHOUL

The Moment of Decision

When Dusty Baker was in the dugout for San Francisco, one of his key strategies was managing the "inning of decision" --- the point in the baseball game that Dusty identified as the moment of truth.

And the truth is, Baker, who recently landed the managerial position of the Washington Nationals, was very good at his job with the Giants (10 years, 840-715), the Chicago Cubs (4, 322-326) and the Cincinnati Reds (6, 509-463). His record of 1,671-1,504 ranks him 17th on the list of winningest MLB managers, with a better winning percentage (.526) than eight of those listed ahead of him. Johnny B. Baker, who played high school and junior college ball in Sacramento and still lives in the area, was a member of the initial class of inductees into the Sacramento Sports Hall of Fame in 2013.

Baker was a two-time All Star during his 19-year playing career, and in 20 seasons as a manager his teams won five division titles and placed second six times, though he has a disappointing 19-26 postseason record. He was chosen NL Manager of the Year three times and was second in the voting three times. He took S. F. into the 2002 World Series against the Anaheim Angels --- any solid Giants fan should recall what happened there.

The point of all that, besides giving Dusty a nod, is that Baker knows what he is doing (though he has had a few issues with his pitching staffs along the way) and his strategies have been effective.

The moment of decision cannot only alter the outcome of a game, but also the future course for a player or team.

Take the San Francisco Forty Niners --- please. They visited their house of horrors, otherwise known as Century Link Field in Seattle, Sunday and left with a familiar result --- a fifth straight defeat at the home of the Seahawks. The moment of decision came very early in the 29-13 loss.

After the opening kickoff, the Niners began their first series with a pair of runs up the middle, directly into the teeth of an ampedup Seattle defense, that netted two yards. That set up an obvious passing situation for recently promoted quarterback Blaine Gabbert --- the predictable result was a sack for loss, a punt, great field position for the Seahawks, and a quick touchdown for the home team jacking up the volume of the already deafening crowd. It was all downhill from there for the 3-7, last place 49ers.

The team has had a few fateful moments of decision in recent seasons that finds them in that place they are today. The Niners decided to hire Jim Harbaugh as coach, who quickly turned them into a winner. They decided to go with Colin Kaepernick at quarterback over Alex Smith --- successful for a while, until the league made adjustments to Kaepernick's style of play, and his production and that of the offense was greatly diminished. They decided to part ways with Harbaugh and things got worse. They have decided to go with Gabbert at QB over Kaepernick (who has been placed on season-ending injured reserve under conspicuous circumstances).

Gabbert played well in his first start that resulted in a win over Atlanta. Why not cut him loose immediately against Seattle to see how he would respond, to surprise the Seahawks and have them guessing from the start? Rather than the same old grind-it-out approach when the team has nothing to lose, why not open it up to see if Gabbert has any potential as the QB of the future? He played reasonably well as the game went on, but the ultimate outcome was decided early.

The team that decided to move out of The City and into new Levi's Stadium fifty miles south in Santa Clara, driving some uncomfortable wedges between it and their faithful fan base for the sake of a lot of money, must conquer some "moments" in the near future to be competitive

After a string of poor draft classes the last few years, a strong one is a must. The team may have as many as twelve picks next time. The defense, that allowed an all-time team record 209 rushing yards to undrafted Thomas Rawls out of Central Michigan (filling in for Marshawn Lynch), needs more help. The offense, that is last by a lot in scoring in the league, needs a ton of help.

Some top-flight "big uglies" up front on the offensive line should be a top priority to get the running game going and to protect Gabbert, if he is the guy going forward. Since it appears that Kaepernick will be leaving the scene, another QB must be added; wouldn't it be great if they don't bypass a local guy this time (never forget about Aaron Rodgers) and are able to land Jared Goff from Cal.

Whenever sophomore Christian McCaffrey elects to enter the draft --- get that guy! The nation's leader in all-purpose yards, McCaffrey rolled up a Stanford school-record 389 total yards in Saturday's 35-22 Big Game victory over Cal, the Cardinal's sixth straight in the series. He ran 29 times for 192, caught a 49-yard TD pass and returned a kickoff 98 yards for a score. Goff did his best to keep the Bears in the game, completing 37 of 54 pass attempts for 386 yards, two scores, no interceptions. Three Cal receivers had seven receptions each, led by Bryce Treggs' 102

Cal has a strong history of advancing offensive skill-position players into the NFL. Currently on rosters are receivers Keenan Allen (Chargers), DeSean Jackson (Wash.), Marvin Jones (Bengals): running backs Shane Vereen (Giants), Justin Forsett (Ravens), Lynch (Seahawks), C.J. Anderson (Broncos); tight end Richard Rodgers (Packers) catching some passes from Aaron, just to name a few. Stanford checks in with QB Andrew Luck and TE Coby Fleener (Colts), TE Zach Ertz (Eagles), WR Doug Balwin (Sea.) and Ty Montgomery (G.B.)

Former offensive stars out of Cal include greats such as Tony Gonzalez, Chuck Muncie, Wesley Walker, Craig Morton; Stanford: John Elway, Jim Plunkett, Gene Washington, James Lofton, Tony Hill, Ed McCaffrey (Christian's dad)

In the moment, it might be a good decision for the 49ers not to look any farther than their own backyard.

Sacramento County

CASE: Adams Lugo

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Kelly Jobe, Special Investigations Unit

Thirty-one-year-old Natashia Adams Lugo pled no contest to four felony counts of identity theft and admitted to a prior attempted robbery strike conviction. The Honorable Michael Bowman sentenced Lugo consecutive to a Placer County identify theft case for an aggregate term of 14 years, 8 months in state prison.

Lugo was an employee of the Job Journal, LLC. After she was fired in February 2014, she used Job Journal's bank checking and routing numbers to pay more than $40,000 of her own debt. She also used Job Journal's bank account information to fraudulently fund $17,200 worth of payments into her own child support account.

After Lugo was fired from another job at Balanced Body in June 2014, she fraudulently used the personal identifying information of Balanced Body and some of its customers to steal more than $11,000.

CASE: Gary Dale Baker

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Amy Holliday, Adult Sexual Assault Prosecution Unit

On November 10, 2015, the Honorable Ernest Sawtelle sentenced Gary Dale Baker to 62 years to life in prison. On July 20, 2015, a jury convicted Baker of nine charges including rape, forcible oral copulation, felony sexual battery, and first-degree burglary. The jury also found true allegations of committing a rape during the cours e of a first- degree burglary and the victim was over the age of 65 at the time the crimes were committed.

On November 24, 2010, Baker sexually assaulted the 75-year-old victim in her residence at a south Sacramento senior living apartment complex. Although DNA evidence was located, there were no matches to a possible suspect. On September 20, 2012, the same suspect returned and again sexually assaulted the victim, who was then 77 years old. DNA evidence was obtained, but there were again no matches to a possible suspect. On December 11, 2012, the suspect returned to the victim's residence a third time and attempted to sexually assault her. He fled before completing the acts. A Sacramento police detective suggested the victim's family install a motion activated camera in an attempt to obtain an image of the suspect. On December 18, 2012, the suspect returned and attempted to gain entry.

Detectives reviewed the footage and immediately recognized the person to be then Sacramento Police Officer Gary Baker. Baker was arrested and terminated from the Sacramento Police Department on December 20, 2012. The District Attorney's Laboratory of Forensic Services confirmed that Baker matched DNA evidence taken from the victim and the crime scene in 2010 and 2012.

CASE: Marvin Todd

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Dinah Mielke, Misdemeanors Unit

The Honorable Cheryl Meegan sentenced 72-year-old Marvin Todd to 9 months county jail. He was also placed on 3 years formal probation and will be required to register as a sex offender for the rest of his life. Restitution and a no contact order were made for the victims.

On October 5, 2015, a jury convicted Todd of sexual battery, sexual exploitation, and battery in separate assaults against two patients.

On February 17, 2014, Todd touched the breast of a female patient without her consent during a psychotherapy session. On March 13, 2014, Todd walked a second female patient into the lobby after an evening counseling session and forcibly kissed her. The victim attempted to push him away, but was unsuccessful. When Todd forcibly kissed her again, the victim was able to push him off and break his hold.

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG - On Friday, Dec 4th. Molly's Revenge and special guest vocalist Christa Burch with the Rosemary Turco Irish Dancers will present a festive evening of music, song, and dance. The performance will include Christmas songs played with a Celtic twist, as well as new numbers for yearly attendees of the performance.

Molly's Revenge, whose lineup includes bagpipes, fiddle, whistle, guitar, mandola, and bodhran have toured extensively in the U.S. as well as Australia, China, and Scotland. The band is known for its unique and infectious on-stage enthusiasm. Their arrangements of traditional jigs and reels bring these dance tunes up-to-date with a driving, hard-edged accent that always leaves audiences shouting for more.

The California-based group has toured since 2000 as a four- and five-piece acoustic band, releasing eleven CDs along the way. Just last year, Molly's Revenge and Christa Burch recorded a collection of Celtic Christmas and winter-themed music at a remote windswept retreat in the redwoods of the Mendocino coast. This beautiful holiday album will be available at the shows.

Guest vocalist Christa Burch possesses a singular voice: warm, supple, expressive, intimate, and instantly recognizable. Part of a vibrant new generation of American folk singers, Christa deftly marries intuitive musicianship and storytelling through song. To balance the gentle beauty of Christa's songs, the Turco Irish dancers will bring a percussive, joyful, and colorful exuberance to the

As always, this 10th Annual Celtic Christmas Celebration will capture the traditional spirit of the season and warm the hearts of all who attend.

Don't miss this festive performance on Friday, Dec. 4th, at 7:30 p.m. The performance will take place at the beautiful St Michael's Episcopal Church, 2140 Mission Avenue, Carmichael, CA 95608. Tickets are $20 in advance, $24 at the door, and $10 for kids. For more information or to purchase tickets online visit: www.brownpapertickets. com/event/2461403.
