SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Sacramentoarea residents have something to look forward to when Rellik premieres at the Wizard World Comic Con on June 20th. Rellik is a crime drama that follows the story of two detectives as they investigate a serial killer who is terrorizing Sacramento.

The ultimate goal is for Rellik to grow into a full-season TV show. The crew of roughly 40 people worked for deferred pay in hopes that the pilot will be picked up by an online distributor such as Netflix, Hulu, or Crackle, which would bring steady production work to the Sacramento region. The pilot features Star Trek Voyager's Tim Russ at the helm as director; Sacramento region actors Nick Fenske, Craig DeLuz, Brian Jagger, Charlie Holliday; and many more localarea cast and crew.

Filming for Rellik took place all throughout the Sacramento region, primarily in Carmichael, Roseville, and Dixon. The creator, Jason Knittle, is a Carmichael resident who reached out to friends for possible locations to shoot interior house shots. The City of Roseville also played a major role in making the production possible by making filming permits easy to access. This allowed for shooting in the old Roseville Courthouse-which was Continued on page 13

SMUD Rate Increase Expected Over Next Two Years

By Julia Baum

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- Sacramento-area residents recently weighed in on a utility rate increase proposal at several public workshops hosted by the Sacramento Municipal Utility District. If the increase is approved, residential and business customers could see their bills increase 2.5% in 2016 and another 2.5% in 2017, according to SMUD.

Citing the need to meet Governor Jerry Brown's renewable energy mandate deadline, SMUD would use the extra finances to cover the cost of energy supplies and other operating and maintenance expenses necessary for the project. Signed into law in 2011, Brown's energy mandate requires all California utilities to produce at least 33% of their energy from renewable sources such as wind and solar by 2020.

Julie Lezie, SMUD customer

Julie Lezie, a SMUD customer who attended the May 13th workshop, said she was frustrated by the increases, particularly a $16 system infratructure fixed cost that has steadily increased since its establishment in 2012.

"It started out as $5... Now it's $16," Lezie said during public comment. "Where's it going to top out? For me, it's a third of my bill.

And All That Jazz...

carmichael, ca (MPG) - In addition to park concert dates this summer, a year-round musical event remains one of Sacramento's best kept secrets. Monthly performances by the all-pro Ron Cunha Big Band have packed The Clubhouse Bar and Grill in Carmichael for three years

It's not quite swinging at the Savoy. Space is tight even by sardine standards, and solos often compete with televised home runs for applause. But the music is classy—from Billie Holliday to state-of-the-art jazz—and the price is definitely right. Without cover charge, 17 top Sacramento musicians blow lips off faces for a few bucks, supper, and the tips that tumble into Cunha's much-proffered silver chalice. "We're all friends who've played together for years," explains their affable leader. "Tuesday's an off-night for most guys and I choose charts that are challenging enough to be fun. Playing at this level is not so much a gig as a sociable experience. Audience support is a bonus."

Cunha, 58, has played trombone professionally since his teens. Because The Clubhouse lies between his home and his day gig (he teaches at Jesuit High and directs its award-winning jazz band), Cunha chose the venue for a regular hangout. "The owner hired rock bands, so I suggested he try a big band once a month," he says. "Somehow, it worked. The acoustics are good and we get a great crowd."

Indeed, the event is a hot ticket among diminishing Sacramento jazz spots. Several of Sacramento's top band singers sing with the high-end ensemble; vocalist Vivien Lee is a regular.

"It's truly a jazz band," approves Lee. "So Ron's charts really swing. His musicians feel the nuances of songs—they appreciate there's a singer up there delivering a message."

Fans arriving early enough to snag a table can order appetizers, burgers, pizza, or salads. But first Tuesdays are all about the music. "It's an unapologetically big sound," concedes an audience faithful. "The volume could fill Carnegie Hall. The musicians are relaxed and friendly; they hang with the fans. Solos are mindblowing. The place feels more like Greenwich Village than Fair Oaks Boulevard."

The next Cunha Big Band event is Tuesday, June 2nd from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The Clubhouse Bar and Grill is located at 5150 Fair Oaks Boulevard, near Arden Way. For information, call (916) 979-1422.

Use Birds of Prey to Control Pesky Rodent Populations

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- Rats, mice, and voles are commonly sighted around homes and businesses this time of year. The California Department of Fish and Wildlife (CDFW) encourages Californians to let nature control rodent populations by actively protecting their natural predators owls, hawks, falcons, eagles, and vultures—rather than using poisons to eliminate pests. Environmentally friendly tactics (such as providing tall trees that raptors favor) will encourage these birds of prey to hang around your yard and remove rodents for you.

Most raptors use the same nest for many years and some even pass from one generation to the next. Bald eagles are known to have used the same nest as long as 35 years. That makes them an excellent long-term control for rodent populations in the immediate area.

During breeding season, a family of five owls can eat as many as 3,000 rodents. You can encourage them by hanging a nest box on your property, but please don't do that if you or any of your neighbors are using anticoagulant rodenticides. Remember that poisoned rodents can poison the predators, scavengers, and pets that eat them.

Even though the state Department of Pesticide Regulation (DPR) and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) have restricted public access to the most dangerous rodenticides, all rodenticides—including the types still available to consumers—are poisons that can kill wildlife, pets, and children.

More wildlife could be saved if people would use sanitation, removal, and exclusion to keep rodents out of homes and reduce their numbers. Like most animals, rodents will congregate and multiply where food is available and they feel safe. The easiest way to discourage them is to remove or modify anything that could make them comfortable. Sanitation is the first step to controlling rodents. For example, follow these helpful tips:

Let nature control rodent populations by actively protecting their natural predators—owls, hawks, falcons, eagles, and vultures—rather than using poisons to eliminate pests.

- Keep your home and yard neat and clean. Don't give rats places to hide.
- Remove objects and plants that rodents can hide under, such as wood piles, debris, construction waste, dense vegetation, and ground-covering vines like ivy.
- Pick up fruit that has fallen from trees as soon as possible.
- Secure your garbage in a tightly sealed can.
- Seal water leaks and remove standing water that can attract unwelcome animals, breed mosquitoes, and waste water.

To remove unwelcome rodents, set traps in secluded areas where they've been seen or are likely to travel: close to walls; behind objects; in dark corners; and on ledges, shelves, fences, pipes, and garage rafters. In areas where children, pets, or birds might go, put the trap inside a box or use some kind of barrier for their safety. Check traps daily and wear disposable gloves when removing rodents from traps. Place them in a sealed plastic bag and then into your garbage bin for weekly collection. Wash your hands after handling traps or rodents, even when using gloves.

Once you've removed mice and rats from inside the building, seal the entries they used to get in: openings where cables, wires, and pipes enter buildings and cracks or holes in the foundation, walls, and roofs. Rodents can squeeze into holes as narrow as ½ inch diameter. Use hardware mesh and concrete, plaster, or metal whenever possible. At the very least, stuff stainless steel or copper pot scrubbers or Stuf-fit copper mesh wool into the spaces. All of these are sold online and at hardware and dollar stores.

If you feel you must use rat poison, please carefully follow the label directions for all rodenticides. Only use them in small treatment areas indoors or right against building walls in tamper-resistant bait stations, never out in open field or garden areas where they're most likely to reach wildlife and pets. Much more information and practical advice can be found at www. wildlife.ca.gov/living-with-wildlife/rodenticides.

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - E1 Rancho School has been producing top scholars since 1961. Beginning this summer, El Rancho School will welcome seventh and eighth graders for the first time on campus. Families are welcome to stop by for a tour to learn how El Rancho School is utilizing small class sizes and a technology- and language artsdriven program to produce top academic scholars. The Ritchie Family started El Rancho Preschool in 1961 with Mrs. Allie Ritchie as the only staff member. She was the teacher, bookkeeper, and lunchtime cook who made each child a birthday cake on their special day. Mrs. Ritchie started El Rancho with the idea of teaching four year olds to read, an idea that was unheard of in the early 1960s. For over 40 years, she had a hand in providing individual and small group reading instruction to each and every student. El Rancho grew to include kindergarten through third grade in the early 1970s, and under the principalship of Mrs. Ritchie's daughter, Anne Ritchie, the school expanded to include sixth grade in 1993. Anne Ritchie excitement and interest. Students will develop independence, responsibility, time management and study skills. "Middle school students will be challenged to think critically, write analytically and creatively, and hypothesize with curiosity and self-motivation," says lead middle school teacher Andrea Tagore. "They will have the opportunity to do self-paced work, independent and small-group projects under the guidance of caring, supportive, and knowledgeable teachers." El Rancho School is well known for its personalized and well-rounded educational program. Instruction is tailored to meet the needs of individual students, and this individual attention fosters high-achievement. The school's 15-year average on the Stanford Achievement Test in reading is in the top 3.7% of the nation. The core subjects of English, mathematics, social studies, and science are taught using a combination of old-fashioned and innovative teaching methods, offering students the best of both worlds. Teachers extend the core content into project learning experiences that allow students to explore in depth and utilize technology. Spanish, art appreciation, music, physical education, and health are also taught at El Rancho, rounding out the curriculum. The middle school elective wheel—with courses in nutrition, photography, keyboarding, technology, drama, public speaking, debate, and community servicewill also be offered as El Rancho School expands its student body.

El Rancho School offers a yearround academic preschool, full-day kindergarten through eighth grade, study hall, summer camp, swim lessons, tutoring, and afterschool care. El Rancho School effectively communicates with families via a mobile app, one of few schools who use this technology. Families are invited to stop by for a tour, learn more at www.ElRanchoSchool. com, and follow as fans at www. facebook.com/ElRanchoSchool.

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Rat Pack-era sound is back and live! Relive that incredible musical era when "Chairman of the Board" referred to only one person—Frank Sinatra and the "Board" was Dean Martin and Sammy Davis Jr. It's time to sing and swing again. Mark your calendar now for two special performances on Saturday, May 30th at the Harris Center for the Performing Arts at Folsom Lake College. This event is presented by and features Voices of California (VoCal), Sacramento's very own 60-member men's barbershop chorus.

This is not your grandmother's barber shop quartet sound either. With a large variety of styles and arrangements, even the younger crowd will be surprised by the scope and sound of songs performed by this talented group of men. According to 21-year-old Christian Martin, "I had the opportunity to attend a practice performance for VoCal last year and was not only surprised by the incredible talent of all the performers, but the music and song selections were great. It was nothing like I expected at all, and I am really looking forward to hearing them perform again."

VoCal was founded in Sacramento in 2010, winning their very first chorus championship less than three months later. VoCal has gone on to win many more chorus awards and are the only chorus from the Sacramento area ever to have qualified to compete in the Barbershop Harmony Society's International competition, which they have accomplished twice in the last three years. VoCal currently ranks 25th internationally. Now they will raise their voices just for you, in celebration of the music of the tremendously popular bygone era of the 1950s

On May 30th, VoCal will be joined by two very special musical guest quartets as well: Around Midnight from New York and The Newfangled Four from Los Angeles.

Blair Reynolds, a Fair Oaks resident and longtime member of VoCal, said, "The biggest hurdle we have at times with some of the public is getting past the misconception about what our sound truly is and the presumption that Barber Shop-style music isn't a serious art form. Our group offers so much more than the traditional style and sound expected. You have to see one of our performances to experience it for yourself. It does appear by the current ticket sales for this event, we're making some good headway," Reynolds noted with a broad

In response to the high demand for tickets, there will two performances: a matinee on Saturday, May 30th at 2:00 p.m., followed by the special evening performance the same night at 7:00 p.m. Performances will be held at the Harris Center for the Performing Arts at Folsom Lake College in Folsom, CA.

Advance ticket purchases are highly recommended. Ticket prices are $12.50 for students, $27.50 for standard tickets, and $37.50 for premium seating. All seating is reserved. "Jupiter Ascending" (PG-13) -Jupiter Jones (Mila Kunis) had a ho-hum life scrubbing tiles in Chicago, until the moment she found out she was actually the Space Empress! Jupiter gets set up with Space Warrior Caine (Channing Tatum, in pointy ears) as she is launched into a full-blown space opera of wacky aliens and visually overstimulating planetary vistas. As the Space Empress reborn, Jupiter has to look out for the scheming heirs to the throne -- especially the one played by a pouty Eddie Redmayne, clearly recalibrating his acting muscles after his Academy Award-winning role in "Theory of Everything.

This latest offering from Andy and Lana Wachowski (the sibling duo who gave us "The Matrix") has a mind-blowing array of special effects in every frame. So many that they cease to be special. It seems like they wanted to throw in every cool flourish and nifty bit of sci-fi lore they could think of, but forgot to include a plot or dialog that audiences could care about.

"McFarland, USA" (PG) - A hotheaded football coach loses his job and winds up teaching at a high school in McFarland, California, one of the poorest places in the country. Many of the students are from immigrant families and must work in the fields in addition to school, family responsibilities and the general pressures of being a teenager in a rough place. Coach

Jim White (Kevin Costner) sees how the boys run from one place to the next, and decides the school should have a cross-country team a sport he's never coached.

The movie unfolds rather the way you'd expect an uplifting Disney sports flick would, in perhaps the best way possible. Director Niko Caro does a commendable job of managing the White Savior Syndrome present in many of these kinds of movies. It's a by-the-book underdog story, but still manages to strike a chord.

"The Spongebob Movie: Sponge Out of Water" (PG) - The indefatigable sea-sponge returns for his second feature-length film, with even more fast-paced, off-kilter misadventures. An oddly familiar pirate named Burger-Beard (Antonio Banderas) steals the Krabby Patty formula -- the coveted recipe to the best burgers in Bikini Bottom. The harmless and enthusiastic Spongebob must team up with his pals and Plankton -- the closest thing he has to an enemy -- to track down the formula and save the day. Live action and animation collide. The ultimate absurdity will delight fans and confound those who still haven't got onboard.

"Camp X-Ray" (R) - As a new guard assigned to Guantanamo Bay, PFC Amy Cole (Kristen Stewart) expected something different. She didn't expect it to be such a difficult job. She also didn't expect to form a secret friendship with one of the detainees who'd been locked up for more than eight years. She has to refer to them as detainees, because prisoners are subject to the Geneva Convention. Through small moments and steady pacing, both Cole and Ali go through transformations. Stewart is right for the role; starting as a stone-cold mask of military detachment, slowly warming up with cracks of vulnerability.

Cleaning Up County Roads and Sidewalks

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) -Having clean roads and sidewalks is important for livable communities, and Sacramento County is moving forward with efforts to increase cleanup activities for unincorporated area streets and sidewalks.

Part of the effort to enhance cleanup activities is to remove illegal signage. Plastic signs reading "We buy houses," "Cash for your home," "Need extra money," and "Garage sale," can be seen in most business districts and on busy county streets. Sacramento County Transportation (SacDOT) is removing these unsightly signs from telephone and utility poles, fences, and traffic light poles within the county right-of-way. Businesses that put A-frame signs or other types of signage in the right-of-way are also in violation of county code. Prior to removing the signs, efforts are made to contact the people who are in violation of the county code so that sign owners cannot be located, the signs will be removed and discarded.

Another new focus is graffiti removal. For years, SacDOT has been removing graffiti on County maintained bridges, soundwalls, overpasses, fences, and other county-owned property that is maintained for road purposes. Now, SacDOT will work with private property owners to remove graffiti from their properties. A Notice of Intent to Abate will be sent to property owners whose property is tagged with graffiti and they will have seven days to comply. If the property owner does not comply, a second notice will be sent by certified mail. If the owner still does not comply, SacDOT crews may remove the graffiti. In addition to ongoing cleanup activities, SacDOT is working with the Sacramento County Sheriff and probation community service crews to target and clean they can remove their signs; if up high-impact areas that have frequent incidents of trash and litter along roads and sidewalks.

> Over a year ago, Sacramento County started a program to round up stray carts in an effort to return them to store owners. If owners cannot be identified, carts are discarded. Since the program began, 300 to 400 carts are picked up Street sweeping services are also being increased. A contractor will sweep all arterial, residential, and non-residential streets on a monthly basis.

Crews are out on the road Monday through Friday every week actively looking for cleanup issues. You can help by reporting incidents of illegal signage, graffiti, roadside trash, and strav shopping carts. It's easy; just call 311 or (916) 875-4311. You can also make a report online at www.311.saccounty.net.

Death Without Dignity... California Style

By Doug Haaland

Politicians and liberals live to provide people with a world where everyone and everything "wins." Whether it's water, the environment, or any number of other ills facing our state, the answer to every question is shared sacrifice and more money... your money, to be precise.

In California, the pursuit of fairness has become something of a science for liberals with the ends justifying the "means" by which outcomes are judged, and in recent times the most emotionally justifiable phrase one can utter in pursuit of equality is, "We must save the planet for our children." The difficulty with such pursuits is the role unintended consequences play with their efforts; but fear not, little attention is paid to these factors since "goals" are well intended.

One example is the effort by Assembly Speaker Toni Atkins who recently called for "a dollar a week" increase in California's vehicle license fee to address $59 billion worth of deferred road maintenance. It sounds like such a worthy goal to help California's middle class get stronger and kick start a moribund economy. Like the almond industry advertising that calls for "...just a can a week, it's all we ask." What Speaker Atkins fails to recognize is her meager $52 a year new tax hits the pocketbooks of the very people she intends to make "strong."

At the same time, Senator Kevin De Leon, President Pro Tem of California's Senate, introduced SB 350 as part of the California Climate Leadership Package, which calls for the reduction of fossil fuel consumption by 50% by 2030, 15 years from now.

Should Senator De Leon's bill be signed into law by our High-Speed Showers & Trains Governor it would mean that California's fuel tax revenue drops from roughly $5.5 billion (last figures available from the Board of Equalization) to just over $2.75 billion. These are also, in part, the funds that are targeted at maintaining our roads and highways. So while the Speaker wants more money to address badly needed highway maintenance, the President Pro Tem is calling for a 50% reduction in revenue for the same purposes.

In a story written by Thomas C. Frohlich entitled "States Where the Middle Class Is Dying," middle class incomes in California are declining by the largest percentage in the country. California is once again #1 in yet another category: The State Where the Middle Class Is Dying Fastest. More interesting is the statement by Mr. Joe Valenti, director of asset building at the Center for American Progress, hardly a conservative think tank, pointing out that money in the control of those who make it will create more spending than the same dollars in the hands of high income households.

For the sake of the planet, children, and the middle class of California, will someone put these two people in the same room? It would benefit all Californians if they talk it out and leave our wallets alone. They're killing the golden goose in the Golden State, but then... it's for a good cause.

When with little or no notice your whole world is suddenly turned upside down --- everything abruptly goes topsy-turvy on you --- it can rattle you to your very

It can happen in the blink of an eye in sports; one wrong move can send your fortunes reeling.

It almost happened to your beloved Golden State Warriors in Monday night's playoff game in Houston, won by the Rockets behind James Harden's amazing 45-point outburst, 128-115, to send the Western Conference finals back to Oakland with the Warriors holding a 3-1 lead.

The tectonic plates beneath Warriors Nation shifted dramatically when star Stephen Curry was sent hurtling out-of-control through the air on a play in the second quarter and he crashed to the floor, rolled over and laid face-down along the baseline for several minutes. It was nobody's fault, just a basketball play with an unfortunate result. The raucous Rockets' crowd was hushed. This could be a serious injury for the NBA's MVP, the heart-and-soul of an exciting team trying to win its first title in forty years.

For Warriors fans watching on television, all of their greatest fears, the worst-case scenarios, flashed through their minds. If Curry is done the team is done and all hopes are doomed, the title shot shot.

Thanks to ESPN showing the play --- Curry trying to chase down Houston's Trevor Ariza on a fast break, leaping high into the air going for a pump-fake, then flipping over Ariza's body and crashing down on his head and back with his precious shooting arm awkwardly beneath him --- over and over and over and over again and again, Warriors fans had ample time to assess the potential damages.

It could be a broken left wrist, a broken right arm, a hyper-extended elbow, a dislocated shoulder, a spinal or neck injury, a concussion, or all of the above. Curry could be lost for the duration of the playoffs. The game, the series, the championship opportunity could all be lost. It could be a career-threatening injury and Curry could be lost for good. At times like that, fans usually hope for the best but expect the worst first, because they have been through them many times

There were two Forty Niners Hall of Fame quarterbacks --- Joe Montana, back injury, never quite the same; and Steve Young, yet another concussion, done; a super, two-sport star and Oakland Raiders running back Bo Jackson, drastic hip injury, done; all-star caliber Giants catcher Mike Matheny; concussion, done; just to name a few.

Fortunately, sometimes the athletes can overcome. When 49ers linebacker NaVorro Bowman suffered a horrible knee injury in the NFC Championship Game after the 2013 season, fans surely thought the game and the chance at a Super Bowl were wiped out (they were), and had to wonder if they would ever see Bowman in uniform again. After missing all of last season, he's back at practice, but will he return to form? When Buster Posey's ankle was mangled by a brutal blow from the Marlins' Scott Cousins in 2011 fans knew the season would be lost and wondered if they would ever see Posey behind the plate again. Obviously, Posey made it all the way back to lead the Giants to two more World Series championships. (Cousins hasn't appeared in a MLB game since 2013 and was released by Texas this spring).

Sometimes such dire straits can bring out the best of what's inside through drive and determination. A player or team can rise above rather demoralizing circumstances to recover and perform.

The Boston Red Sox trailed the New York Yankees 3-gamesto-1 in the 2004 ALCS before a last-ditch rally spurred them on to four straight wins and, eventually, to the breaking of the "Curse of the Bambino" by winning their first World Series since 1918. Joe Montana led Notre Dame to a 35-34 comeback win in the Cotton Bowl in 1979, after trailing Houston, 34-12, in the fourth quarter. In 1984, Doug Flutie and Boston College defeated defending national champion Miami, 47-45, on Flutie's last second "Hail Mary" pass to Gerard Phelan that traveled more than 60 yards into the wind. In the 1992 AFC Wild Card Game, Frank Reich replaced Buffalo's injured starting QB Jim Kelly and rallied the Bills from a 35-3 deficit to a 41-38 overtime win over the Houston Oilers in the greatest comeback in NFL history. In 2002, the S. F. Giants were on the verge of clinching the World Series, holding a 5-0 lead over the Angels in the seventh inning of Game Six before.....forget that one! This time, with Curry in the locker room being evaluated, Warriors coach Steve Kerr huddled up his troops and told them, "...this is an opportunity for us... the game is changed now...there's a weird vibe in here...take care of our business as a group...gather ourselves...we have a chance..."

The other Splash Brother, Klay Thompson, who has been struggling with his shooting touch in this series while being preoccupied with defending Harden much of the time, quickly hit a pair of threepoint shots to trim what was once a 25-point lead to thirteen. But even after Curry, thankfully, returned in the fourth quarter, it was too much Harden and too much hot shooting by the Rockets.

Danger: Contents Under Pressure

By Dr. Danika BowenProvost/Vice President of Academic Affairs and Accreditation Liaison Officer at Carrington College

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) -Feeling overworked? Try being a heart! When you are working, it's working. When you are playing, it's working. When you are sleeping, it's working. Your heart is under pressure to perform 24 hours a day, seven days a week. And if you are among the one in three adults in the United States living with high blood pressure, you run the risk of your heart "quitting" on you at any time and you probably don't even Virtually symptom-free, the American Heart Association (AHA) estimates that while more than 78 million people in the United States have high blood pressure, half don't even know it. Uncontrolled and untreated high blood pressure can lead to stroke, heart attack, heart failure, erectile dysfunction, aneurysm, kidney failure, atherosclerosis (fatty buildup in the arteries), and even blindness.

May is High Blood Pressure Education Month. There is no better time to understand the risk factors that lead to high blood pressure and how to best high blood pressure at a higher combat this silent killer.

Blood pressure is the force of blood on the walls of the blood vessels as blood flows through them. According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC), this pressure naturally rises and falls during the day, but when it is consistently too high, it is considered high blood pressure. The medical term is hypertension.

Blood pressure is usually expressed as a fraction, where the first number—systolic pressure—measures the force in the arteries when the heart pumps, and the second number-diastolic pressure—measures the heart at rest. Blood pressure measuring 120/80 is considered in the normal range.

If your blood pressure is closer to 120-139 systolic or 80-89 diastolic, you are considered to have prehypertension. If your blood pressure is above 140 systolic or above 90 diastolic, you are considered to have high blood pressure, or hypertension.

While the exact cause of high blood pressure is unknown, the AHA reports that some potential risk factors for developing the condition are obesity, inactivity, smoking, heavy alcohol use, a high-sodium diet, stress, and heredity, race, and age. African-Americans develop rate than any other race. Men are more likely to develop high blood pressure after age 35, while women are more likely to develop high blood pressure after menopause.

Among the easiest ways to reduce slightly elevated blood pressure or prehypertension are to lose weight; add foods with potassium, magnesium, calcium, lean proteins and fiber to your diet; limit foods with sodium, trans fats and saturated fats; limit alcohol consumption; quit smoking; and avoid secondhand smoke.

If you develop hypertension, depending on the severity, the above tactics are recommended in combination with one or more prescribed medications, all of which should be done under a doctor's care.

Our hearts beat approximately 100,000 times a day, and for someone suffering from high blood pressure, that's 100,000 beats closer to a number of deadly conditions.

Carrington College offers a variety of programs that lead to a certificate or associate degree. Programs prepare students for careers in the medical, dental and veterinary fields. For more information, visit carrington.

"WHEN ASKED ABOUT THE 2016 CAMPAIGN, THREE OUT OF FOUR REPUBLICANS SAID THEY WERE RUNNING FOR PRESIDENT..."

By Rich Lowry

The Price of Cheap Labor

Manicures and pedicures aren't usually news or fodder for commentary, but a blockbuster report in The New York Times has made them a compelling issue.

Under the headline "The Price of Nice Nails," the story cataloged the abusive treatment of workers in New York City's ubiquitous nail salons. The story generated an enormous reaction; it highlighted the poignant juxtaposition of affluent women enjoying what once would have been a luxury, thanks to poor, exploited women with no other options.

It is a tableau that doesn't feel very American or very modern. We thought we had put the age of sweatshops behind us, but we hadn't. It turns out that sweatshops are where New York City women go to get their mani-pedis.

The Times story is, in part, about the ugly underbelly of immigration. The salons are what an industry that subsists on substantial illegal labor looks

Census Bureau numbers say that 59 percent of personal-appearance workers are foreign-born, according to Steven Camarota of the Center for Immigration Studies. By his estimate, about a quarter of those foreign workers are illegal, and judging by the Times report, the number is higher in New York

"Almost all of the workers interviewed by The Times," the report noted, "had limited English; many are in the country illegally. The combination leaves them vulnerable."

Manicurists usually pay a fee of $100 or $200 to begin working at a salon, and then work without pay for weeks or months, before finally getting wages -- of perhaps less than $3 an hour, supplemented by tips. That's assuming that the workers are allowed to keep all of the wages or the tips.

Their stories are heart-wrenching, if drearily predictable. These are women who often don't know the language, don't have any social support, have very few skills in an economy that increasingly demands them, and have little ability to complain about their working conditions, or anything else. What does anyone think is going to happen to them?

When politicians discuss immigration, it is usually in highflying terms. Jeb Bush says that "immigrants create an engine of economic prosperity." Politicians always talk of importing the best and the brightest from abroad. But New York City's salons capture the tawdry reality of illegal immigration.

There is an economic upside to this dispensation. In this case, and in many others, illegal immigration is a subsidy for the upper-middle class that can enjoy cheaper services than it would if the country had a strictly legal labor market and lower levels of overall immigration.

No one wants to hear it, though. When Wisconsin Gov. Scott Walker suggested that the effect on wages of American workers should be the first concern in considering levels of immigration, the political class recoiled in horror. Surely, one reason that salons can pay so poorly is that the supply of illegal workers is so plentiful. And this supply of labor must, at least at the margins, crowd out workers already here who might consider working in salons if pay and conditions were bet-

Camping With

Your Dog

PAW'S DEAR CORNER: We've been invited on a camping trip with several other families. We don't have kids, but our dogs "Sarah" and "Jake" are like kids to us. Is it OK to bring them along? -- Frank J., via email DEAR FRANK: There are three questions you must ask in order to determine whether you can bring along Sarah and Jake:

1. Does the campsite allow pets?

2. Are the other families OK with you bringing pets? 3. Are Sarah and Jake well-socialized to children and to other pets?

While many state and federal parks allow pets at campsites, others don't. Some have specific restrictions, such as, pets are allowed at campsites but not in certain areas of the park where there's an ecological risk. Check the campsite or park's website for specific rules about pets. Also, check the park's safety advisories: Are ent?

Second, since it's your first time camping with this group, ask the other campers if they are comfortable with pets coming along. It's up to you to make sure they are well-behaved and will swiftly obey your commands when off-leash.

If everything checks out, then start planning. Make sure Sarah and Jake have their needs met -- food, toys, leashes. Bring sweaters and booties just in case. Carry cleanup bags and a large trash bag for disposal at the campsite. At night they will need to be kept in the tent or in a portable kennel.

Finally, make sure their heartworm and shots are up to date, and check them daily while camping for ticks, fleas, and burrs.

Send your questions or tips to ask@pawscorner.com.

The initial Annual Percentage Rate (APR) is currently 4.25% for a new Home Equity Line of Credit (HELOC), and is fixed for the first 5 years of the loan which is called the draw period. After the initial 5 year period, the APR can change once based on the value of an Index and Margin. The Index is the weekly average yield on U.S. Treasury Securities adjusted to a constant maturity of 10 years and the margin is 3.50%. The current APR for the repayment period is 5.50%. The maximum APR that can apply any time during your HELOC is 10%. A qualifying transaction consists of the following conditions: (1) the initial APR assumes a maximum HELOC of $100,000, and a total maximum Loan-to-Value (LTV) of 70% including the new HELOC and any existing 1st Deed of Trust loan on your residence; (2) your residence securing the HELOC must be a single-family home that you occupy as your primary residence; (3) if the 1st Deed of Trust loan is with a lender other than El Dorado Savings Bank, that loan may not exceed $200,000 and may not be a revolving line of credit. Additional property restrictions and requirements apply. All loans are subject to a current appraisal. Property insurance is required and flood insurance may be required. Rates, APR, terms and conditions are subject to change without notice. Other conditions apply. A $375 early closure fee will be assessed if the line of credit is closed within three years from the date of opening. An annual fee of $50 will be assessed on the first anniversary of the HELOC and annually thereafter during the draw period. Ask for a copy of our "Fixed Rate Home Equity Line of Credit Disclosure Notice" for additional important information. Other HELOC loans are available under different terms.

A WEEKLY TURN AROUND THE BASES

» BEST PLAYERS AGE 25 AND YOUNGER

» MLB POWER RANKING

» AL CENTRAL IS BEST DIVISION

Three of the best players in the game are age 25 or younger. Bryce Harper (left), Mike Trout (center) and Madison Bumgarner are among the top players at any age.

Youth is Served

The Best 25-Man Roster of Players Age 25 and Younger here have always been players dazzling fans as 20-year-olds, but there seems to be more players in their early 20s starring in the majors now than ever before. If I had to win a World Series in 2015 with only players age 25 and younger, this would be my 25-man roster. For clarity, this is based on ages as of Opening Day this season.

Lineup

C Sal Perez, Kansas City

The Royals' backstop is a veteran of the under-25 team, and still has no competition. He leads all catchers with 42 hits and is batting .292.

1B Anthony Rizzo, Chicago Cubs

The sweet-swinging first baseman has embraced a leadership role for the young Cubs.

2B Jose Altuve, Houston

The 2014 AL batting champ is about 35 points off of last year's average, but he's carrying a .360 on-base percentage and leads the AL with 14 steals.

SS Andrelton Simmons, Atlanta

He's hitting below .250 but has 16 hits for extra bases and has scored 29 runs. No one can hang with Simmons defensively.

3B Kris Bryant, Chicago Cubs

Even though the Cubs delayed his season by a few weeks, Bryant is tied with Rizzo for the team lead with 29 RBIs. I'm impressed by the youngster's .391 OBP.

OF Bryce Harper, Washington

A few years ago when Harper and Mike Trout were recalled within 24 hours of each other, the national debate on who would be the better superstar trended about 55 percent to Harper. Now that he is injury-free (and perhaps a bit more mature), Harper may rival Trout's production in every facet of the game.

OF Mike Trout, Los Angeles Angels

1. Royals

15. Pirates

His 2015 numbers are still working their way toward the top of stats lists, but there's no denying Trout as one of the best players—if not the best—in the game.

OF Giancarlo Stanton, Miami

No one hits baseballs farther than Stanton. Just ask the fans in Los Angeles.

Charlie Miller Athlon Sports Baseball Editor @AthlonCharlie

Bench

1B Eric Hosmer, Kansas City With a .311 average and .910 OPS, his numbers fall just shy of Rizzo's.

2B Kolten Wong, St. Louis

Wong came of age in last year's playoffs and is still improving his consistency at the plate.

SS Jose Iglesias, Detroit

A month ago, Iglesias may have been our first choice at short. Late in April he was hitting .397 but has batted only .241 in his last 17 games.

3B Manny Machado, Baltimore

Machado is on pace for his career best average, on-base and slugging percentages.

OF Yasiel Puig, Los Angeles Dodgers

Puig is still Mr. Excitement in Los Angeles and is learning to channel the excitement into more positive plays and fewer negative ones. The Dodgers certainly hope that his hamstring injury won't linger much longer.

OF Joc Pederson, Los Angeles Dodgers

The young center fielder has more than replaced Matt Kemp defensively and has a higher average and OPS than Stanton.

Rotation

Madison Bumgarner, San Francisco

His numbers this season don't measure up with the others on this team, but his performance last October proved his value in big

Shelby Miller, Atlanta

Miller has become the Braves' reimbursement for the 2003 Adam Wainwright trade. Miller leads the majors with a 1.50 ERA.

29. Brewers

Sonny Gray, Oakland

The Oakland ace keeps getting better. He's 5-2 with a 1.77 ERA for the worst team in baseball.

Michael Wacha, St. Louis

The big righthander is quickly growing into Adam Wainwright II. He's 7-0 with a 1.87 ERA.

Gerrit Cole, Pittsburgh

Already the Pirates' ace, Cole has 63 punchouts in just 57 innings.

Bullpen

Trevor Rosenthal, St. Louis

The Cardinals' closer is coming off of a 45save season and is 14 of 15 this season.

Jeurys Familia, New York Mets

Familia owns 13 saves and 24 strikeouts with just 11 hits and four walks allowed.

Jake Odorizzi, Tampa Bay

Odorizzi's WHIP of 0.961 is second among starters only to Miller on this roster of young pitchers.

Trever Bauer, Cleveland

He's had five starts of six or more innings with one run or less, and just three wins to show for his work in those games.

Nick Martinez, Texas

The Rangers are 8-1 in his starts this season.

Danny Salazar, Cleveland

His ERA is a bit high at 3.50, but he is 5-1 and has 60 Ks and has given up only 38 hits and nine walks in 43.2 innings.

Tough to Omit

C Mike Zunino, Seattle, 3B Nolan Arenado, Colorado, 3B Yasmany Tomas, Arizona, SS Freddie Galvis, Philadelphia, SS Marcus Semien, Oakland, OF Wil Myers, San Diego, OF Avasail Garcia, Chicago White Sox, OF Anthony Gose, Detroit, 1B Freddie Freeman, Atlanta, 2B Joe Panik, San Francisco, C James McCann, Detroit, SS Adeiny Hechavarria, Miami, RP Kevin Siegrist, St. Louis, RP Yimi Garcia, Los Angeles Dodgers

AROUND THE HORN

The American League Central has become the most powerful division in baseball, and it continues to improve. The quintet (Kansas City, Detroit, Minnesota, Cleveland and Chicago) is an aggregate 21 games over .500 and the Indians and Twins are enjoying an upswing. The only other division with a winning record is the National League West, which is two games better than .500... Hunter Pence of the Giants has been back in the lineup almost two weeks now. And no one has enjoyed his presence more than Brandon Belt. The Giants' first baseman is batting .375 with a 1.226 OPS in games with Pence in the lineup. In the eight games the two have played together, Belt has seven extra-base hits, nine runs and eight RBIs...Not that offense has been a huge problem for the Boston Red Sox this season, but designated hitter David Ortiz is batting just .109 against lefties with a .107 on-base percentage. He's slugging just .164, For his career, Big Papi is batting a respectable .264. Ortiz isn't the only Boston batter struggling. In April, Hanley Ramirez hit .293 with 10 homers and 22 RBIs in 21 games. Through his first 19 games in May, Ramirez is batting .229 without a home run or even a single RBI...On the opposite end of that spectrum, Prince Fielder of the Texas Rangers was off to one of the best starts of his career this season. Through 31 games he was tearing up American League pitching at a .333 clip with a pair of homers and 14 ribbies. In only 13 games since then, the Prince has six homers, 18 RBIs and is batting .415...After playing part-time for three seasons, Philadelphia infielder Freddy Galvis posted a .218 career batting average. Now with a chance to play everyday with the trade of longtime shortstop Jimmy Rollins, Galvis is hitting .305...The Cleveland Indians' trio of Corey Kluber, Danny Salazar and Trevor Bauer is the anchor of the Indians' team. Over their last eight starts, the pitching staff has combined for a 1.98 ERA and a 0,922 WHIP and won six of the eight games...If you're looking for the next manager to be fired (and who isn't?) Bryan Price of Cincinnati and John Gibbons of Toronto are good bets. Both teams have underachieved during their respective tenures. Walt Weiss of Colorado, and perhaps, Robin Ventura of the White Sox and Lloyd McClendon of Seattle are feeling a little heat as well...And for a little history, @AceballStats informs us that the great Ted Williams reached base safely four times in 283 games. That's 44 more than the 239 in which he didn't reach base safely.

NUMBERS GAME

The Dodgers are 5-0 this season in games that Zack Greinke starts after a loss. In those five games, Grienke has logged 35.1 innings with a 1.02 ERA and

TURN BACK THE CLOCK

May 29, 1971

The New York Mets sweep a doubleheader at San Diego as pitchers Tom Seaver and Nolan Ryan combine to strike out 26 Padre batters. The two future Hall of Famers allow just 17 base runners over 18 innings. Both pitch complete games.

• Has the Security of a Fixed Bridge! • Easier to Maintain Good Oral Hygiene

There are millions of people in the U.S. who are edentulous (meaning without teeth) who struggle daily with dentures. A majority suffer from discomfort as a result of loose or illfitting dentures. Many prosthetic wearers simply withdraw from any type of social engagement as a result of having to wear their dentures.

Take in our beautiful 37-acre campus and imagine your life with so many exciting opportunities right outside your door. All this ... and it's more affordable than you might think! Your Lower dentures almost never fit properly. They are loose fitting due to less surface area which can't create a suction, shrinking gum tissue and bone loss, which can cause irritation in the mouth, sores and pain. The only relief is using sticky dental adhesive to help it, but it is very messy, hard to clean off and needs multiple applications throughout the day.

Upper dentures are better than lower dentures due to a suction in the upper palate that keeps the denture in place. However, having the palate covered reduces the tastes of foods and the ability to tell the temperature of foods.

Partial Dentures can be a source of discomfort due to lack of supporting teeth or an illfitting partial. Partials also use clasps to secure to existing teeth which can be noticeable and can put added pressure to the existing teeth.

Now there is a solution to these issues: Implants with "Snap On" Dentures!

Whether you are new to dentures or have worn them for years, a snap on denture is a great solution to uncomfortable chewing and slippery painful dentures. There are several types of snap on dentures available, including snap on partials. We make your denture or partial fit and function in harmony with the space available in your mouth, and give custom attention to the delicate fabrication of your snap on denture.

A snap on denture gets some support from the implants that it snaps onto. Unlike conventional dentures that rest on the gums, a snap on denture is anchored to multiple implant snaps and is therefore much more stable and comfortable.

Two or more implant snaps can be used on the upper and/or lower jaw. The more snaps that are placed, the more stable the denture will be. Much like a four legged chair would be more stable than a three or two legged chair, the use of denture snaps keep the denture stable, secure and comfortable. These snaps are designed with different levels of retention, customized to the needs of the patient. When the snaps wear out, replacing them is a simple and inexpensive procedure.

If you already wear a conventional denture or partial denture, we can sometimes use your denture to accommodate the snaps to fit on your new dental implants.

If you are interested in learning more about improving your quality of life with an implant retained snap on denture or partial, please contact us for a FREE CONSULTATION today!
