California State Senate Passes Bill to Raise Minimum Wage to $13 per Hour

SB 935 Would Give California Highest Minimum Wage in the Nation

LOS ANGELES, CA- On Thursday May 29th, California State Senate voted 21-12 to raise the state's minimum wage to at least $13 per hour by 2017. The bill would also require the minimum wage to be automatically adjusted for inflation annually beginning in 2018. The adjustments would be calculated using the California Consumer Price Index and reductions in the minimum wage would be prohibited if inflation is negative in any given period.

California Partnership (CAP) Director Vanessa Aramayo said "an increase in California's minimum wage is long overdue as it is lower than it was in 1965 when adjusted for inflation. SB 935 will reduce the number of Californian's living in poverty, reduce the number of people going hungry, and increase economic activity in our communities that have been hardest hit by the economic recession and stagnation of wages."

A recent report by Human Impact Partners cites a study that predicts a minimum wage of $13 would help reduce the record high income gap that exists in California today. The study predicts that the income of 7.6 million Californians in families in the lowest quarter of income distribution would rise while the net income of the top 75% of households would not change[1].

California Partnership is a proud co-sponsor of this bill with the Women's Foundation, the Western Center on Law and Poverty, United Food and Commercial Workers Union and the California State Council of Service Employees International CAP is a statewide coalition of community-based groups, organizing and advocating for the policies and programs that work to reduce and end poverty.

DA Jan Scully Honored With Top Leadership Award

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) -

The California District Attorneys Association (CDAA) announced that retiring Sacramento County District Attorney Jan Scully has been selected for the 2014 Edwin L. Miller Leadership Award.* This award is the highest honor paid to an elected district attorney in California.

In the nomination letter signed by 11 elected district attorneys throughout the state, Scully's colleagues asserted, "Jan's tenure as District Attorney has been marked by her leadership in a wide variety of areas - creating new programs and initiatives with respect to victims, underserved neighborhoods, and disadvantaged groups, addressing old problems in new ways, confronting emerging problems, and building within the law enforcement agencies and the justice system to ensure effective prosecution following the highest ethical standards." The nomination letter inventories a variety of Scully's accomplishments, concluding that she "has exemplified integrity, devotion and leadership in the criminal justice arena for two decades as the Sacramento County District Attorney."

It goes on to state "...in constructing collaborative partnerships, in building bridges and reaching out to a wide range of ethnic and cultural groups, and in doing so with a commitment to the highest standards of professionalism and integrity, she has been a leader and example for all prosecutors." Scully was elected president of CDAA in 2005, the first woman to hold that position.

Scully's nomination package includes a letter from the Sacramento County Superior Court signed by an unprecedented 25 Superior Court judges. The letter concludes, "In two decades, Jan Scully has served as a leader with a unique ability to recognize needs, envision programs, and foster collaborations to the benefit of a wide range of parties, and to all citizens served by the criminal justice system. She is well deserving of CDAA's highest award."

Also included is a letter from National District Attorneys Association (NDAA) President Henry Garza who stated, "Jan's career as an elected District Attorney and leader among prosecutors on both the state and national stages make her especially deserving of this award." Scully

Interfaith Council Awards Honors at Power of One Banquet

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The Interfaith Council of Greater Sacramento paid tribute to four honorees at this year's Power of One 2014 banquet on May 15. The Sacramento Cordova Stake of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints provided the venue. More than 200 people attended representing a variety of religions, traditions and organizations.

Recipients of this year's awards given to members of the Interfaith Council for outstanding service in the community included Mary Wesley, Pastor Rick Cole, Dr. Ephraim Williams, and Beth White.

Wesley has been a humanitarian and a doer all her life, involved in many functions in the interfaith arena, and has been president of Jericho Foundation for several years.

"The Interfaith Council brings to the table the issues that affect our community and our greater human needs," Wesley said. "Our concerns overlap and our voices mingle."

Rick Cole of Capital Christian Center took over the pulpit from his father, Pastor Glen Cole, who founded the Sacramento area's first megachurch 34 years ago. Rick Cole sees two important ingredients in the work and purpose of the Interfaith Council.

"One is to break down barriers of misunderstanding among faith groups so that we can appreciate one another and celebrate the work each is doing in our community," Cole said. "The other is to encourage collaboration in our efforts to meet the needs of the underserved in our community."

Williams, pastor of St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church, said that having multiple groups assisting in projects builds positive relationships.

"There are several urgencies within the Sacramento area," Williams said. "(One is to) give one-on-one guidance and assistance to help our young people in the areas of education, citizenship, and how to become a responsible adult. (Another is) to help guide people to become aware of God and establish a relationship with Him."

White is now pastoral associate at Our Lady of Assumption Parish of the Catholic Church in Carmichael, after 12 years as associate director of Catholic Charities of Sacramento.

"I consider her in the same league as Mother Teresa," said the Rev. Michael Kiernan of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Sacramento, "living the gospel here in Sacramento, serving the downtown poor, refugees, immigrants and others in her Catholic Charities work."

The Interfaith Council also presented a "Giving Back to the Community" award of $2,500 to Women's Empowerment of Sacramento, represented by Kate Towson.

The evening began with music by the Camerata Chamber Choir of Sacramento, directed by Mary Wesley, and the Folsom Lake Youth Choir.

Someone asked Singer if he didn't have a problem spending his Wednesday and Thursday nights doing

"No, in our church we're very prone to giving service," Singer told the person. "It was great to be able to see all these different religions meet under one roof. With all the publicity you hear about all these different religions not liking each other - being able to see everybody communicate with one another in one building was great. I was just grateful for the organization that puts this on."

The Interfaith Council of Greater Sacramento was incorporated in 1911 as the Federation of Churches. Jon Fish, a member of the LDS church, is president of the council, and served as master of ceremonies for this event.

"I had 'in person' compliments; I have had phone calls today, and two dozen e-mails all commenting on the quality of it all," said Fish. "Each time they say it was so 'beautiful' and 'elegant' and 'well managed.' Everyone was pleased with the young people serving. Two Catholic priests told me in separate e-mails that they believe what we're doing with interfaith is absolutely essential to our community and its people." ★

Sacramento Zoo Saddened by Loss of Dr. Murray E. Fowler

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento Zoo and the UC Davis School of Veterinary Medicine are saddened by the recent death of Dr. Murray E. Fowler. Dr. Fowler is considered by many to be the father of zoological medicine. He played a large part in the advancement of animal care in zoos, and is fondly remember for his 46 years of service to the Sacramento Zoological Society.

"In Murray Fowler's 85 years, he revolutionized zoological medicine," said Dr. Ray Wack, senior veterinarian at the Sacramento Zoo and clinical professor at the Wildlife Health Center within the UC Davis School of Veterinary Medicine. "He started the first residency program in Zoological Medicine in 1974 and is responsible for training many of the zooveterinarians around the world. Always a gentleman, an advocate for animal welfare, a gifted clinician and father, Murray will be missed"

In 1958, he became an instructor at UC Davis. A few years later, Dr. Fowler agreed to head the first veterinary program to specifically serve the needs of non-domestic animals, whether in captivity or in the wild, a field for which he coined the term "zoological medicine." In 1967, he became the Sacramento Zoo's first regular veterinarian, and this allowed him to pursue his passion for teaching by allowing his veterinary students to gain hands-on experience with zoo animals outside of the Veterinary Medicine Teaching Hospital. In 1974, Dr. Fowler reached out to the Sacramento Zooto propose a joint venture that became the Residency in Zoological Medicine program at UC Davis, the first of its kind in the country. Over the years he actively pursued research to understand and improve the health ofzoo animals and wildlife; he published more than 200 articles in peer reviewed scientific journals and authored or edited 27 books, including the Zoo and Wild Animal Medicine textbook series, considered the definitive resource for the discipline.

Dr. Fowler was an international authority on zoological medicine, traveling to more than 60 countries as a lecturer and consultant. He received numerous awards in recognition of his expertise and life-long contributions to promoting animal health. Dr. Fowler was certified by the American Board of Veterinary Toxicologists, the American College of Veterinary Internal Medicine and the American College of Zoological Medicine, which he helped to establish as a charter diplomat. Dr. Fowler retired from the University in 1991 remaining active in the profession and with the American Association of Zoo Veterinarians (AAZV). After retiring, he became Director Emeritus of the Sacramento Zoological Society Board of Trustees and Professor Emeritus of the School of Veterinary Medicine at UC Davis.

"Dr. Fowler was an icon in the zoo profession whom I was fortunate to get to know as a warm and compassionate ambassador for the animals he loved," said Mary Healy, Director/CEO of the Sacramento Zoo. "He will always be remembered at the Murray E. Fowler Veterinary Hospital at theSacramento Zoo. The Zoo is honored to have a place to celebrate his legacy."

In 2006, the Zoo dedicated its state-of-the-art, on-site veterinary hospital to him in honor of his lifelong contributions to zoological medicine and animal health.

Dr. Murray E. Fowler was a forerunner in his field, an outstanding and gifted teacher, a prolific author and international authority in zoological medicine. He was an advocate for advancing the purpose of zoos to include the support of wildlife conservation as well as provide people a place to get close to nature. The Sacramento Zoo is proud to have a long history of caring for animals and is especially pleased to have counted Dr. Fowler among the Zoo's closest

Mileage Tax Would Put Big Brother in Your Back Seat (and Within Arm's Reach of Your Wallet)

Commentary By Jon Coupal, President of the Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association

California is known as the world capital of the car culture. The automobile played a central role in creating the California Dream, giving people the freedom to travel, to live where they choose and to experience the exhilaration of the open road.

Now, if Senator Mark DeSaulnier gets his way, you'll have to pay a new tax for every mile vou drive. His Senate Bill 1077 would begin with a "pilot program" in one unfortunate yet-to-be-determined city where motorists would pay taxes based on the miles driven. Eventually, the Democrat from Concord hopes to impose his mileage tax on all of us.

Just as many Americans are expressing concerns about government surveillance programs that intrude on their privacy (think red light cameras and the NSA), the mileage tax would give state transportation bureaucrats access to data on where you

Sen. DeSaulnier contends that the state needs the data to calculate your taxes but will keep the information safe. However, in the last year California state agencies, including the departments of Public Health and Social Services, were responsible for data breaches that compromised the personal information of thousands of Californians.

Also, while SB 1077 is obviously a tax increase, DeSaulnier and his tax-raising buddies are trying to say it is a "fee" and not a tax. They know if they get away with calling it a "fee" they can pass it with a simple majority vote and increase it anytime they wish, all without needing to comply with Proposition 13's requirement that higher state taxes receive a two-thirds vote of the Legislature.

This mileage tax will fall especially hard on those who live in suburbs or exurbs and have to commute long distances to work and it will discourage people from taking vacations. Instead of feeling free to explore, Californians will have to take a government meter with them, dinging them with more taxes every mile they travel.

State policies have become increasingly hostile to drivers over the years and the mileage tax would just make things worse. California has the highest gas taxes in the nation and gas prices are second only to Hawaii which, given its location in the middle of the ocean, makes fuel transportation expenses unavoidably high. California, sitting on huge oil reserves, can't claim that excuse.

And even with ridiculously high taxes on gas that are supposed to be dedicated to roads, a Reason Foundation study ranks our state 47th out of 50 (with 50 being worst) for worst roads in the nation. This is because Sacramento politicians have continually raided gas tax funds to spend on unrelated pet projects.

Free and fast movement of goods and people facilitates economic growth. High taxes and congested roads only harm our economy and frustrate hard working citizens who simply want to get where they need to go. Sacramento must stop its bait and switch tactics with the gas tax and make better use of the considerable funds already provided. DeSaulnier's proposal is just another tax increase and it takes us in the wrong direction. ★

Senate Fails To Pass Fracking Bill

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - On May 29th the California State Senate failed to pass SB 1132 (Mitchell & Leno), which would have stopped hydraulic fracturing and other dangerous well stimulation methods while the state studied their risks. The statewide coalition Californians Against Fracking issued the following statement:

"Despite polls showing a majority of Californians in favor of banning fracking, today the California Senate failed to pass SB 1132 to place a moratorium on fracking. The vote is disappointing but not completely unexpected given that the oil industry has spent a whopping $15 million on lobbying activities to defeat the bill and buy influence in Sacramento. State lawmakers will continue to face growing concern about fracking pollution from voters in their communities. Californians Against Fracking calls on Governor Brown to protect California's water, agriculture, public health and climate by declaring a moratorium on fracking now. If Governor Brown is serious about fighting climate change and its severe impacts, including droughts and fires, then he must show real leadership and stop the fracking now."

Californians Against Fracking is a coalition of environmental, business, health, agriculture, labor, political, and environmental justice organizations working to win a statewide ban on fracking in California.

THE RICH LOWRY COLUMN By Rich Lowry

Rove Is Right

It was inevitable that attacks on Hillary Clinton would be deemed sexist. We now know that they will be called ageist, too.

A report in the New York Post's Page Six that Karl Rove told a recent conference that Hillary Clinton might be brain-damaged after a 30-day hospital stay during her illness at the end of 2012 caused a volcanic eruption of denunciation aimed at the Republican strategist. Rove was accused, among other things, of dealing the age card from the bottom of the deck.

Rove denies saying "brain damage," and the Page Six report didn't put quote marks around that phrase. He tells me he's not sure whether he actually said she was in the hospital 30 days (it was three), but regardless, he meant to refer to the entirety of the 30-day episode when she was dealing with a virus, a fall and a subsequent concussion and blood clot between her brain and skull.

If we take Rove's interview on Fox News the day after the Page Six item as the best explanation of his view, his basic points are unassailable -- the state of Clinton's health will play into her decision whether or not to run, she will have to be completely open about the 2012 episode and all of this will be filtered through the fact that she will be 69 if elected and 77 if she serves two terms.

Even if you take at face value everything we've heard about Clinton's condition in December 2012, it was frighteningly serious. The clot, according to The Washington Post, "can cause permanent brain damage, coma or death if not detected and treated in time."

News accounts say it was caught early, and Clinton is performing as ably as ever. But politicians have a long history of lying through their teeth about their health -- see Woodrow Wilson, John F. Kennedy and Paul Tsongas, for example. So Clinton will have to provide a full accounting of the 2012 incident and her overall health.

And as for her age, of course it will be an issue. The problem with being an old candidate in American presidential politics is that people use it against you.

U.S. News & World Report had an item in April 2008 titled "Obama Campaign Plans to Hit at McCain's Age." The Bill Clinton re-election campaign in 1996 feasted on contrasts between the new and old in its lopsided bout with the septuagenarian Bob Dole.

Of course, age is hardly dispositive. Ronald Reagan was the oldest president at age 70 in 1981 and embodied an invigorating optimism despite his years. But age was an issue for him in 1980 and Hillary can potentially trump all this with openness about her medical records, and with an energetic and future-oriented campaign, should she run. Her supporters, in the meantime, hope to deflect any questions with cries of ageism and sexism. It will be a nice change of pace to move on from racism as the Democratic rejoinder of choice to other "-isms" neglected during the past eight years.

But Rove is right: Hillary will have to deal with these questions.

Love is accepting ourselves just the way we are, with all of our flaws and our ever-changing belief system. You are nothing else but who you are. You are not the person you were a year ago. ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Try using that Aries charm to warm up the usual set of workplace naysavers, and then back it up with a solid block of facts and figures to sell your idea to your colleagues.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) While nothing can deter a determined Bovine from following a course you believe in, it helps to have some supporting data and statements by trusted colleagues to make your case.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Take advantage of new information that could help make your career transition easier. The weekend is a good time to re-establish relationships with peopleyouhaven't seen in a while.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Personal matters demand your attention as once-stable situations begin to shift. Quick action to shore things up is called for in order to avoid more problems down the line.

Got Local News? Call 773-1111

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Although your financial picture begins to brighten, "thrift" and "caution" are still the watchwords for fiscally astute Leos and Leonas to live by. Expect news about a family matter.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Before you try to blame a colleague for a workplace problem, make sure you have the proof to back you up. Make some quiet inquiries on your own to try to solicit more information.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Trying to cheer up a depressed friend or downcast family member can be difficult. But keep at it, and your efforts should soon pay off in ways you might have never expected.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Taking a new look at an old and frequently recurring problem might lead you to consider making some surprising changes in the way you had been handling it up till now.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Despite what the naysayers might say, setting your sights on a new goal could be one of the smartest things the typically sagacious Sagittarian has done in a long time. CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Rebuilding an unraveling relationship won't be easy. But you can do it, if you really want to. Just remember to keep the lines of communication open between the two of you.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A new friendship could develop into a close relationship. Meanwhile, reassure an old friend who might be feeling neglected that he or she is still an important part of your life.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You might be feeling that you're still in over your head as you continue trying to adjust to your new situation. But the pressures ease by week's end, giving you time to come up for air.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a gift for sensing the feelings of others. You might consider a career in some aspect of counseling.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

Leem Lubany, Adam Bakri in "Omar"

"Jack Ryan: Shadow Recruit" (PG-13) -- When Russian corporate overlords threaten the world's economy, it's up to one untrained CIA desk worker to stop them (for some reason, maybe the rest of the CIA is busy.) Our hero is Jack Ryan (Chris Pines), protagonist of many a spy novel by Tom Clancy. Ryan starts working for the less-dangerous wing of the CIA, but somehow gets shifted into fieldwork, starting his clandestine adventure dodging assassins in Moscow. While the plot has more holes than the back wall of a shooting range, "Shadow Recruit" keeps things moving so fast that you can't admire its true flimsiness. Director Kenneth -- also starring as the villain -doesn't try to reinvent the global espionage thriller, but he doesn't take many risks with it, either.

"Non-Stop" (PG-13) -- On a crowded flight from New York to London, Air Marshall Bill Marks (Liam Neeson) receives text messages threatening that a passenger will be killed every 20 minutes until ransom money is wired into an offshore account. Don't fret too much about the logistics of telecommunication on a plane, or how people can disappear in such close quarters -- it all just adds to the tension. Much of the vehicle is pieced together from pieces of other airplane disaster flicks. The real engine pushing this ride is Neeson's tight-fisted commitment to his troubled action-hero role. This isn't just "Taken" set in the sky, however. "Non-Stop" is worth standing in line for.

"Devil's Knot" (R) -- In 1993, three 8-year-old boys were found brutally murdered in the small town of West Memphis, Arkansas. Three teenage boys from the poor side of town (dubbed the "West Memphis Three") were tried and quickly convicted for the murders. Public opinion painted them as monsters and Satanists because the teens were outcasts who listened to heavy-metal music. This drama starring Colin Firth and Reese Witherspoon takes a steady look at the facts in the case. However, the understated performances do not bring the subject to light as well as any of the documentaries.

"Omar" -- A young baker named Omar (Adam Bakri) lives in an impoverished Palistinian village, where he's in contact with people plotting to kill Israeli soldiers. Whenever Omar climbs the security wall to the other side, he's doing it to visit his pals and his gorgeous girlfriend (Leem Lubany). One night, however, Omar is taken into custody, tortured and turned out as a double-agent against the militants from his village. The movie follows Omar's ambiguous arc -- is he really going to turn on the people he once supported, or is he realizing something else about the conflict? The film gives no answers, but offers an up-close human look at a bitter conflict that stretches across generations.

Our Region Has Long Been a Popular Racing Venue

On April 25th, at Richmond International Speedway, NASCAR named 12 promising young drivers to its NEXT program, an action taken by the industry giant for the last four years, designed to spotlight NASCAR's rising stars.

"Over the last five years, our sport has undergone a tremendous shift, as we've seen an abundance of talented, young drivers begin to achieve their potential at the NASCAR Sprint Cup Series and NASCAR Nationwide Series level," said Jill Gregory, NASCAR Vice President of Industry Services. "The NASCAR NEXT Program is an instrumental platform to help draw attention to these young drivers, and foster their growth within the sport."

Drivers are selected through an evaluation process that includes input from industry executives and veteran racers. They must be between the ages of 15 - 25, have tangible and expressed goals to achieve a career in NASCAR's Sprint Cup Series, and possess the talent to realize their goals. Applicants chosen have impressive resumes loaded with accomplishments and promise.

As a testimony to the Sacramento region's fertile racing ground, an unprecedented three young drivers have been chosen to NASCAR's 2014 – 2015 Next Program. Brandon McReynolds, 23 and Cole Custer, 16 from BMR Racing in Roseville, and Dylan Lupton, 20, from Wilton are the Next in a wave of young talent, making their way up the NASCAR ladder.

Cole Custer drives BMR's 00 NAPA AUTO PARTS/HAAS Automation entry in select events in the NASCAR east and west K&N Pro Series this season. He also competes in the NASCAR Camping World Truck Series. Custer made notable accomplishments as a 15 year old rookie last year in the east K&N Series, and began the 2014 season with a win at Phoenix International Speedway. Custer found his Brandon McReynolds runs a full schedule with Roseville's Bill McAnally Racing (BMR), touring in the East and West K&N Pro Series, behind the wheel of the NAPA AUTO PARTS #16 Toyota. McReynolds shows promise with four top tens and two top fives in four West series starts. In addition, he holds three top fives and eight top tens in 14 K&N east starts. Brandon's young, strong and a fierce competitor. He is the son of former NASCAR Sprint Series Cup Crew Chief, and current FOX Sports Analyst, Larry McReynolds.

Dylan Lupton, 20, began his racing experience in Karts at 13 years old. He won over 30 races and took two National Championships before graduating into stock car racing and NASCAR's West K&N Pro Series. He won the 2013 NASCAR K&N Pro Series Rookie of the Year award, and 2014 brings his team three top fives and five top tens in five races, driving the #9 Sunrise Ford/ Go Pro/Immersion Media car. ## Boxer Introduces Bill That Would Be A New Gun Grab

In Response to the Mass Shooting at Isla Vista, Senator's Measure Would Give Families and Close Associates New Tools to Help Prevent a Tragedy?

WASHINGTON, D.C. (MPG) - In the to them could commit violence already been purchased if a court wake of the tragic shootings in Isla Vista near the University of California. Santa Barbara last week, U.S. Senator Barbara Boxer (D-CA) today announced that she will be introducing legislation soon to help provide families and close associates of a potentially dangerous person with new options to help prevent gun violence.

"It is haunting that the family of the gunman who committed this massacre in Isla Vista was desperate to stop a tragedy, and yet they lacked the tools to do so," Senator Boxer said. "My bill would give families and associates who fear someone close new tools to help prevent these tragedies.'

The new legislation - The Pause for Safety Act - will include the following provisions:

One, it would help ensure that families and others can go to court and seek a gun violence prevention order to temporarily stop someone close to them who poses a danger to themselves or others from purchasing a firearm.

Two, it would help ensure that families and others can also seek a gun violence prevention warrant that would allow law enforcement to take temporary possession of firearms that have

Three, it would help ensure that law enforcement makes full use of all existing gun registries when assessing a tip, warning or request from a concerned family member or other close associate.

Senator Boxer is pleased that similar legislation has been introduced in California by Assemblywoman Nancy Skinner (D-Berkeley), Assemblyman Das Williams (D-Santa Barbara) as well as state Sen. Hannah-Beth Jackson (D-Santa Barbara).

Millionaire Widow Needs a Prenup Dear Dave,

My husband died several years ago. He always worked very hard, and we did very well financially. I am now 48 and have $3.8 million in assets. I've found a wonderful man who is very stable and loving with a good job, and we're considering getting married. Do you think I need a

Dave Says

- Heather

Dear Heather,

For years I told people never to do prenuptial agreements. I always said if you love your money more than you love your spouse, then you're too immature and selfish to be married.

However, I've changed my tune on this subject a little bit recently. When one or two wealthy people get married, the problems that can arise usually have nothing to do with those two people. The problem is that it can invite a lot of crazy into your lives from the outside. Whether it's a parent, cousin or child, sometimes people start feeling a sense of entitlement when wealth is suddenly thrust into the picture.

You both sound like mature, functional people with good values. In most cases, that's a pretty good indication that crazy isn't in the immediate vicinity. Still, there's a lot on the line. So while I would advise a prenup, you might keep an open mind to revisions somewhere down the road. Make it pretty solid and protective for the first five or 10 years. But then, after you guys have built a life together, you'll hopefully reach a point where you'll feel safe looking at it as all ours.

So, the only reason I'd ever suggest a prenup is when two parties are bringing really unequal amounts to the table. Yours is an extreme situation, Heather, so I'd give it some serious thought. Let him know you want to do this to protect the relationship, so that there's never any hint that the money is a problem or will create problems. If he's as kind and thoughtful as you say, I think he'll understand.

- Dave

AAA or self-insure?

Dear Dave.

What do you think about auto club memberships like AAA?

Dear Jeremy,

I've got nothing against AAA. But honestly, I tend to self-insure through savings for these kinds of things. I've probably used, or had need of, a tow truck twice in the last 20 years. When it comes to this kind of product, I always look at it from the perspective of, "Where does it leave me if I don't sign up for their service?'

Again, I don't think AAA is a big rip-off or anything like that. It's just a type of insurance, if you will, for which I have no need. I guess it could be a handy thing to have if you were in a situation where you were using their services a lot. But if their average customer were like that, they'd probably end up losing money on you.

Bev's Angel Project Needs a New Home

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Bev's Angel Project is an all-volunteer California non-profit corporation that serves over 3,000 children/families each December. Their mission statement is: "Serving the less fortunate and challenged children of Sacramento". They are in need of at least 5,000 square feet of donated space located in the Carmichael/ Citrus Heights/Arden Arcade area. They will pay their own utilities and liability insurance. It is critical for them to have this space September through January in order to serve the children and families they touch during the holiday season. For many children this is their only Christmas.

They work all year long sorting and organizing donations, making quilts and blankets and preparing for the holidays. In December, over 48 Starbuck's stores, as well as other businesses, collect toys for the project from a very generous community. They are also blessed to have the support of Carmichael Kiwanis and Chamber of Commerce.

Bev's Angel Project serves children/families through local schools, CPS, churches, hospitals, sheriff's and fire department, Mustard Seed, Alta Regional Children's Therapy Center, St. John's Women's and Children's Center, and more. With the dedication of volunteers and the generosity and support of the community, they have been able to continue their efforts each holiday season. As stated, they are in serious need of a new home and are reaching out to anyone who may have a space they are able to donate and make a commitment to the project.

The Exciting New World of Implant Supported Dentures

• Has the Security of a Fixed Bridge! • Easier to Maintain Good Oral Hygiene

There are millions of people in the U.S. who are edentulous (meaning without teeth) who struggle daily with dentures. A majority suffer from discomfort as a result of loose or illfitting dentures. Many prosthetic wearers simply withdraw from any type of social engagement as a result of having to wear their dentures.

Lower dentures almost never fit properly. They are loose fitting due to less surface area which can't create a suction, shrinking gum tissue and bone loss, which can cause irritation in the mouth, sores and pain. The only relief is using sticky dental adhesive to help it, but it is very messy, hard to clean off and needs multiple applications throughout the day.

Upper dentures are better than lower dentures due to a suction in the upper palate that keeps the denture in place. However, having the palate covered reduces the tastes of foods and the ability to tell the temperature of foods.

Partial Dentures can be a source of discomfort due to lack of supporting teeth or an illfitting partial. Partials also use clasps to secure to existing teeth which can be noticeable and can put added pressure to the existing teeth.

Now there is a solution to these issues, Implants with "Snap On" Dentures!

2 Implants With Attachments to a Denture $2000 Off

Whether you are new to dentures or have worn them for years, a snap on denture is a great solution to uncomfortable chewing and slippery painful dentures. There are several types of snap on dentures available, including snap on partials. We make your denture or partial fit and function in harmony with the space available in your mouth, and give custom attention to the delicate fabrication of your snap on denture.

A snap on denture gets some support from the implants that it snaps onto. Unlike conventional dentures that rest on the gums, a snap on denture is anchored to multiple implant snaps and is therefore much more stable and comfortable.

Two or more implant snaps can be used on the upper and/or lower jaw. The more snaps that are placed, the more stable the denture will be. Much like a four legged chair would be more stable than a three or two legged chair, the use of denture snaps keep the denture stable, secure and comfortable. These snaps are designed with different levels of retention, customized to the needs of the patient. When the snaps wear out, replacing them is a simple and inexpensive procedure.

If you already wear a conventional denture or partial denture, we can sometimes use your denture to accommodate the snaps to fit on your new dental implants.

If you are interested in learning more about improving your quality of life with an implant retained snap on denture or partial, please contact us for a FREE CONSULTATION today!
