Carmichael Recreation and Park District Receives Award for Patriots Park

Carmichael Recreation and Park District received The California Park and Recreation Society District II Facility Design and Park Planning Award for PATRIOTS PARK.

Carmichael Recreation and Park District celebrated the Grand Opening of Patriots Park on November 15, 2008. Over 500 people attended the ceremony which included a parade of children, a color guard, fire trucks, speeches, ribbon cutting, and the official raising of the American Flag. The celebration also included the introduction of 7 heroes for the "Wall of Honor".

Since 1973 the site was the home of a sign that read "future park site". Some residents believed they would never see a park at the site in their lifetime. In 2006 the Carmichael Recreation and Park District had 5 undeveloped park sites.

The District sold 2.8 acres of park land at the site to develop the balance of 3.6 acres.

The neighbors of the Palm Avenue Park Site participated in several park planning sessions led by Beals Alliance Landscape Architects. Neighbors were enthusiastic and supportive of the idea of developing a park that would offer new amenities to the community. The neighbors even created a park association dedicated to assisting with the design and providing a watchful eye on the park. They developed an e-mail list to keep neighbors updated on the progress. The neighbors settled on a tot-lot playground, 5-12 year old play apparatus, half basketball court, butterfly garden, walking trail and open turf area. One community member even donated 4 large granite boulders to the park. As the park design process evolved the community became involved in the idea of building a monument that would honor local heroes. A neighbor that had grown up near the park site and attended the local high school was killed in the Iraq war in June 2007. This tragedy inspired the community to honor all heroes connected to the community. Thus, the idea of a "Wall of Honor" was born. The "Wall of Honor" was built to pay tribute to members of the Carmichael community who gave their lives for their country or community. The "wall of honor" features a flag, three granite boulders, and a paved area with seating. The inaugural 7 heroes listed on the wall represent the military, CHP, Sheriffs, and Fire Department. A program has been developed to add heroes annually to the "Wall of Honor" at the anniversary of the park opening. The District will rely on the community to nominate heroes for the wall.

Mercy Surgeon Brings New Robotic Capability to N. California and Beyond

Stephen Maxwell, MD, of Mercy San Juan Medical Center is bringing a new dimension of robotic surgery to the people of Northern California. In fact, to find another da Vinci robotic trained surgeon who performs the same multiple surgeries to the lungs and esophagus, you'd need to go to Portland to the north, Los Angeles to the south and Denver to the east.

"This opens the door for many cases to be performed in a minimally invasive way," Dr. Maxwell says. means significantly reduced pain to the patient, smaller incisions, a shorter hospital stay and faster recovery times."

Dr. Maxwell is a thoracic surgeon who performs various procedures involved with treating cancers and other diseases of the lungs and esophagus. He decided to learn the intricacies of the da Vinci robotic system because "it's the latest advancement in proven, minimally invasive technology."

Mercy San Juan, located in Carmichael, has the newest edition of the da Vinci, with 3-D, high-definition vision and surgical arms with greater range of motion than previous models. Dr. Maxwell actually performs the surgery from a console a few feet away from the patient, using a viewfinder to look into the patient's body while he determines the robot's every move with hand controls and foot pedals.

Dr. Maxwell has performed other minimally invasive to procedures in the chest cavity but and cancer-related says the da Vinci makes the job prostate and kidney procedures.

easier by providing the surgeon with more control and precision. And looking into the body at the console gives him unparalleled vision. "It's a fantastic voyage, like being transported into the patient's chest," he says.

In addition to thoracic surgery, Mercy surgeons also use the da Vinci robotic system perform hysterectomies

Symphonic Winds Plays to Full House

Brett Ruona, soprano, performs a duet with Dave Rollins, trombonist

The Sacramento Symphonic Winds, at the direction of Dr. Les Lehr, performed to a full house on March 29 at the La Sierra Community Center in Carmichael. The presentation "Let's Dance", offering selections from Ballet, Big Band and Broadway, had those in attendance dancing in their seats all through the performance.

San Francisco Bay area soprano Brett Ruona thrilled the crowd with various opera selections, her voice filling every corner of the room with song "as sweet and beautiful as is sung by birds in the morning hour". Her performances included "Je suis Titania" from Mignon and "Glitter and Be Gay" from Candide. Also presented were "Ballet Music from Prince Igor", "Variations on Barnacle Bill, the Sailor", "Vientos y Tangos", "Symphonic Dances from Fiddler on the Roof' and Big Band signatures.

Everyone received a special impromptu performance, a "Blue Moon" duet with Ms. Ruona and Dave Rollins, trombonist. It was as enjoyable as a second dessert.

This was the final concert of this year's series. For more information about the upcoming season, or to find out about other appearances go totheirwebsitewww.sacwinds.com.

The Symphonic Winds would like to thank everyone who came to their performances this past season. They are truly grateful for the local support of those who enjoy the concerts, and those who support them as sponsors.

Could it Lead to More?

Dear Dave,

We've been following your plan, and it's been a real blessing to us. Last week, my mother-in-law told my husband that they haven't paid their property taxes yet - $3,000 was due in January. I love my in-laws, but they're big spenders. They've got plenty of money and love to take lots of trips. We make good money, too, and could help them out, but we're afraid this may be just the tip of the iceberg. What's your advice on handling this?. - Kelly

Dear Kelly,

This is a really touchy situation. First of all, you shouldn't do anything. Your husband needs to handle this, because he's their son. Even if you make kind, polite suggestions, they'll assume you're the one withholding from them. You don't want to be labeled as the evil daughter-in-law!

I understand your position and agree that you don't want to enable their bad habits. Giving a drunk a drink is never a good idea. But this is family we're talking about. You should try to find a way to help them if you can. If that help includes money, make certain you know exactly where it goes. When you give someone $3,000 (the amount needed for the taxes) you earn the right to have a say in what's happening.

Maybe your husband could go have coffee with them and just talk about things. He could explain how you guys are getting out of debt, and living on a budget to get control of your money. He could tell them how it's been a fabulous thing for your marriage and your finances, and that he'd love to show them how you're doing it.

I've got a feeling that mom and dad didn't raise their son to have dessert first and then eat his vegetables, but that's exactly what they are doing. They need to pay their property taxes before they go running off on a bunch of fancy trips. From what you said, they've got the money to take care of what needs to be done and have some fun, but if they don't correct their course, they're liable to have their financial dignity stripped from them.

As long as your husband explains things gently, lays out the boundaries in a loving and diplomatic way, yet remains firmly determined not to make things worse by enabling them, I think everything will be alright.

Safe From Foreclosure

Dear Dave,

We're going to be renting a house while we save up to build our dream home. How can we make sure the house is safe from foreclosure? - Andy

Dear Andy,

A smart owner of rental property asks questions and does some research to find out if you're what he wants as a tenant. You can do the same thing! Ask up front about the situation and about their financial stability. Let them know you'd like some assurance for you and your family that they're not a foreclosure risk.

You also want to be sure your lease allows you to stay in the house if there's a foreclosure. Check with a lawyer to see if this will help in your state.

If the house is worth lots of money, or it's already paid for, chances are you'll be fine. If he's unwilling to talk about this, or he tells you he got into real estate after seeing how profitable it could be during a late-night infomercial, you'll probably be a foreclosure victim!

Never Seen Times So Good

Ronald I. Harrison, Retired Assistant Chief Counsel for the Department of Transportation."

by Julie Parker

In 1960, Ron Harrison moved to Carmichael from the Bay Area with his wife and young daughter to attend McGeorge School of Law. His small family moved to a duplex on Rowena Way, during which time his second child was born. "The rent was $100, but we had to pay another $10 a month for the water cooler,"

They next moved to a house on San Marque Circle, which was one of four original model homes, and had also been a nursery, thus, providing a variety of foliage. "It was a three-bedroom, probably 1,100 square feet, if that, and we paid $104 monthly rent. While we lived there, a third child came. We lived down the street from Starr King, so the kids could walk to school. We didn't have special amenities. My poor wife got a little tired of hanging clothes on the

The lady who owned the house

$104 principle on the house."

He remembers the nearby Short Stop, a so-called "junk store," where "the kids' grandfather used to buy them little things."

Ron played in several tennis tournaments at Carmichael Park, and joined Arden Hills for $150. "Now, I think it's close to $20,000 to join. Previous owner Sherm Chavoor would be turning in his grave if he knew he was missing out on something like that."

The Westerner drive-in theater provided family outings. speakers' tone was certainly not stereophonic. If you could actually hear the dialog, you were happy if you could understand it. But, it was cheap and you could take the kids, and bring your own popcorn and drinks; have a night on the town, so-to-speak."

His brother lived across the street, and since their sons were around the same age, they coached their kids in baseball. Starr King was in the Eastern Division. "Our first team, in the Farm division, was called the Bees. There weren't any uniforms; just a hat and a shirt, with each boy wearing scruffy looking pants. Because the boys were so young, the skill level was very uneven. When it came time to draft players, and we weren't sure about the playing level of certain boys, we would decide on who had the best looking mother." They coached the boys each year, as they graduated up each level, including Ron's second son who joined up a couple of years later. Ten vears after that, when Ron re-married a woman with a 5-year-old son, he began managing Little League again, this time in the Carmichael League at Carmichael Park, also following this son up the ranks each year.

"My wife particularly enjoyed one occasion, when she had to buy athletic supports for the whole team, because none of them had any, and it was a requirement. She waited outside the restroom as the boys attempted to put them on. Periodically, I'll be approached by a man in his 30s or 40s; a boy I used to coach. 'Do you remember when I hit that homerun or caught that great fly ball?' His face will be beaming. It's quite a kick, and rewarding after being a coach for so many years."

In 1970, they moved into a house they had built near Ancil Hoffman Park. He remembers the Loading Chute bar, a Thrifty drugstore, "where we used to get 10 cent ice cream cones for the kids," and a Army-Navy surplus store on the northeast corner of Marconi and Palm, and Serritella's on the adjacent corner. "The original owners of Serritella's were very entertaining. The husband would sing, and everyone would join in. He would sing great Italian songs, and some sing-a-long, semi- bawdytype songs. He would coax his wife to join in, who also had a beautiful voice, although she was a little more reluctant."

Ron's home is cozily tucked into a dead end street, surrounded by nature. "I can look out my back window, watch deer and turkevs walk through my yard. There are no streetlights, so I can see the stars. I think my wife would like to buy and design a new house, but as long as I'm around, it's probably where we're going to stay."

What Had Jesus Finished?

Lead Pastor, Rev. Richard Reimer

I heard a talk a while ago where the speaker declared that God's DNA is "missional". What he meant was that the God of whom the Bible speaks moves toward us, the people of his creation. This is the story of the Bible a God who creates and populates the earth and then with purpose and intention moves toward us and eventually breaks into actual time and space in the person of Jesus Christ. We call this the incarnation of God in Jesus. We celebrate this in-breaking at Christmas. Isn't that a definition of a missionary; one who goes to others?

This "going to" implies a purpose. In military terms it is the mission. God, in coming to earth in the person of Jesus, didn't just come for a friendly visit. God came with a specific agenda in mind. God has a mission. We see that mission accomplished in Jesus' final words uttered from that cruel Roman cross. "It is finished!" What had Jesus finished? He had finished the mission of making provision for our forgiveness and opened the way for us to be reconciled to our creator once and for all. It was not a cry of defeat but of victory! The price he paid was death. But we were worth it in His eyes. It is what God desires.

mission. Jesuscame-that's Christmas. Jesus died – that's Good Friday. Jesus rose from the grave - that's Easter! All people are the object of God's mission and he calls us to join him as emissaries of his mission. There is no

Every 15 Minute Program Held at Rio Americano High School

On Tuesday, March 31st at a retreat where they wrote letters and Wednesday, April 1st, Rio Americano High School of Sacramento conducted their Every 15 Minute Program. This program is titled Every 15 Minutes, because prior to this program Every 15 Minutes nationwide someone was either injured or killed in an alcoholrelated traffic collision. With the help of this program that number has now been increased to Every 30 Minutes. On Tuesday, March 31, 2009, living dead students were pulled out of their classrooms by the grim reaper and participated in a mock car crash involving other students. The mock car crash was conducted on the football stadium of the campus and involved students who were injured, killed and one arrested for drunk driving. CHP Officers, Sac Metro Fire Fighters, Paramedics, Sacramento Chaplaincy, the County Coroner and the CHP Helicopter participated in the mock traffic collision. Students involved in the collision were transported to the hospital, morgue and the County Jail.

On the evening of the first day the students involved were sequestered to their parents on how it feels to be killed in a car crash. There was be a mock funeral in the gym which the entire student body attended. A video of the previous day's events was shown. Some of the students and parents read their good-bye letters they wrote to their loved ones.

This program is an attempt by the California Highway Patrol, High Schools and Public Safety Agencies statewide to combat underage drinking and driving. The following agencies participated in this program: California Highway Patrol, Sacramento Metropolitan Fire Department, Mercy San Juan Medical Center, California Highway Patrol Air-Operations, Sacramento County Coroner's office, Sacramento County Law Enforcement Chaplaincy, and the Sacramento County Main Jail.

Any school that is interested in conducting their own program should contact their local CHP office. Funding for this program is provided by a grant from the California Office of Traffic Safety through the Business, Transportation and Housing Agency.

straight talk for teens

Will teens smoke more dope if pot is legal?

by Lauren Forcella

Dear Straight Talk: : I'm writing about marijuana legalization, which is being discussed in California. As California's largest cash crop, I understand the appeal to solve the state's economic problems through regulating this drug, but I worry that more teens will become addicted and at younger ages. From your vantage point, do you think legalization will cause an increase in use among teens? — Gary, Huntington Beach

Charles, 23, Sacramento CA: We have lots of freedom in America. People do what they want in the privacy of their homes no matter what the government says. The argument that kids will smoke more pot if it's easily obtainable is flawed. It's already freely available! Prohibition was a disaster and the current drug cartels will continue as long as pot remains illegal. I'm pro drug control, however, there is no ethical difference between the 21-year-old who drinks and the 21-year-old who smokes

Emily, 16, Sacramento CA: Teens do drugs mainly because it's sneaky and illegal. If weed was legal, they wouldn't find as much rush in it and would cut down. But that doesn't mean it should be legalized — more people, into adulthood, would ruin their lives with it.

Jacob, 20, Arcata CA: Marijuana is already legal in California for medical purposes. Fully legal, the price and tax will skyrocket like for think if people could try it legally, cigarettes, and people would smoke less due to the higher prices.

Ashley, 21, Auburn CA: If cigarettes and alcohol are legal, marijuana should be, too. It's not as bad for you and lots of people already use it. But there should be no advertising, and no other drugs should be legalized.

Michael, 17, Fair Oaks, CA: It's no worse than cigarettes and alcohol, so yes, legalize it. But it bothers me that it's being debated as a fix for the economy instead of on its own merits. Right now 80 percent of young people don't see weed as bad. But remove parental disapproval (a big reason many teens don't use) and use would probably go up. My worries: Would we become slower and dumber? How will second-hand smoke affect Elizabeth, 20, Rocklin CA: It shouldn't be legalized. There would be more dropouts, more unemployment, more "high" drivers, more obesity.

Graham, 15, Fair Oaks CA: People who want to smoke pot already do. Once legal, people will buy it highly taxed rather than from a dangerous underground network and it won't be laced.

Lara, 17, Fair Oaks CA: The mind is amazing and right now we need good minds. People think weed enlightens you but it doesn't. Regular users just can't remember what a natural high feels like. Yet, I am for legalizing it. I've smoked it, and I paying taxes and lowering crime, and if money went for education and health awareness, fewer people would get addicted.

Dear Gary: I live, breathe, and teach addiction-free living and here is why I support marijuana legalization: When alcohol prohibition ended, when cigarettes became commercially viable, use increased for both. But since the 1970 ban on TV ads for cigarettes — and a society-wide increase in health consciousness — both cigarette and alcohol consumption per capita have decreased. I believe the same thing would happen with marijuana. At first, due to novelty, use would increase, but if advertising was barred and money went into education around marijuana, I believe use would fall rapidly below current levels. Another improvement would be the availability of weaker grades of cannabis (teens today smoke pot 10 to 15 times stronger than their parents smoked). Marijuana is no more a gateway to harder drugs than alcohol — the real gateway is the black market. By legalizing marijuana, youth exposure to the black market will become almost non-existent — and after an initial "honeymoon" of increased use, I believe use will drop off.

HAPPY BUNNY DAY

I can't believe that just around this time last year, Rick and I were in the Holyland, walking the same ground that Jesus Christ walked some two centuries ago. We walked the path of his crucifixion and then on to the place where he was interred and also where he arose. Were they the exact spots? When two thousand years go by, that would be hard to say for sure, but it was close enough for me. It was the experience of a lifetime. And now, it's time for Easter once again, an important religious feast of the Christian liturgical year to celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ which his followers believe occurred on the third day after his crucifixion sometime in the period AD 27-33. Many traditions have evolved over the years, so I put together some of the possibilities for you...just for fun.

How about Easter eggs? Despite claims that Easter eggs were originally pagan symbols, there is no solid evidence of this. It was not until the 18th century that Jakob Grimm theorized a putative connection with a goddess of his own whom he named Ostara, a suggested version of Eostere. At the Passover Seder, a hard-boiled egg dipped in salt water symbolizes both new life and the Passover sacrifice offered at the temple in Jerusalem. The ancient Persians painted eggs for Nowrooz, their New Year celebration falling on the Spring Equinox. In Christian times, the egg was a symbol of new life just as a chick might hatch from the egg. The Easter egg tradition may have celebrated the end of the privations of Lent. In Medieval Europe, eggs were forbidden during Lent. It was during Easter that the consumption of eggs resumed after the strict Lenten fast.

Then there's the cute Easter bunny. It's universal and secular in its appeal. But, and this one is big. I was told that the hare, and not the rabbit, should be treated as the true symbol of Easter. Historically, since ancient times, the hare has been the symbol for the moon. And the legend says, the hare never closes its eyes, not even for a single blink. The reason for having such a belief may be rooted in the fact that hares, not rabbits, are born with their eyes open. Rabbits are born blind. There is also a fertility thing in there some place. Maybe, that's why the rabbit is more familiar in America. Rabbits beat hares big time in being more prolific.

And who doesn't love the Easter Lily? Its acceptance in America dates back around the 1880s. It came in with the rise in the Easter observances by the Protestants. It took some time to find acceptance. The native American lilies like the Madonna lily bloom in the early summer. It could be forced to bloom early in hot houses, but it was a hassle. In the 1880s, while in Bermuda, Ms Thomas P Sargent became familiar with a beautiful lily that blooms naturally in springtime. She fell for this lovely white Bermuda lily and brought its bulbs back home in Philadelphia. And so the story goes.

There are many stories to go around, but the fact remains, this is a truly blessed time! May you and yours have a wonderful celebration of the renewal of life and rebirth!

Pet of the Week: 50+ Rabbits

In less than 24 hours 66 rabbits were brought to the Sacramento County Animal Shelter after being found neglected and abandoned. The rabbits were left with no food or water and some had medical problems. Extra cages and staff were called into the shelter to help with the overwhelming number of animals. Now, rabbits of all sizes and colors are waiting at the shelter to be adopted. Approximately 50 rabbits still need homes. These rabbits have been brought back to good health by shelter staff and are now able to show their range in personalities. If you see a

Sheriff's Community Meetings

The Board of Supervisors has made public safety its number 1 budget priority but support to prevent crime still is needed from Carmichael residents and businesses. Please help by attending the regular community meeting for your area hosted by the Sheriff's Department.

The meetings report on recent neighborhood activity and are perfect for the public to interact with law enforcement and other attendees (California Highway Patrol, Code Enforcement and Department of Transportation representatives typically participate). Meetings for North Carmichael are held on the first Tuesday of every month at 6:15 p.m. at the Living Hope Community Church, 5301 Dewey Drive near Palm Avenue.

The southern portion of Carmichael meets on the last Tuesday of every other month at 6:30 p.m. at the Sheriff's Service Center, 4005 Manzanita Avenue. April 28 is the next meeting.

For more information, please contact Carmichael's Crime Prevention Specialist Francie Fitzsimmons at 487-4309.

SMUD Invites Public Input On Rates

Proposed increase still keeps rates among lowest in California

At its meeting this Thursday. the Sacramento Municipal Utility District(SMUD)BoardofDirectors will consider the need for a general rate increase that would go into effect later this year. If the Board decides to proceed, it would hold public workshops and a hearing before initiating any rate changes.

SMUD General Manager and CEO John DiStasio is recommending a two-step rate action. The first step would be a 9.5 percent rate increase to take effect September 1, after the Sacramento region's demanding summer peakuse period is over. The second step would be a 3.5 percent rate increase in January 2011.

The economic recession has electricity greatly impacted revenue, while turmoil in the credit markets has caused borrowing costs to rise and interest earnings to plunge. There are other factors as well that are adversely affecting SMUD's budget and have contributed to SMUD staff requesting the rate increase from the Board of Directors: • SMUD's reserve fund, which is needed to cover unforeseen emergency rate hikes. • SMUD and other utilities are vying to secure contracts for more renewable energy, for which costs disruptions in the wholesale power market, could be depleted, forcing SMUD to seek immediate

- SMUD needs to upgrade an aging energy infrastructure to ensure continued reliability and meet new federal grid security and reliability requirements.
- SMUD's natural gas contracts executed in 2008 were significantly more costly than the contracts they replaced.

SMUD is making every effort to limit the impact of economic factors on its customers through aggressive cost containment in all discretionary areas of the 2009 budget and is continually reassessing spending until the economy stabilizes. "Our first priority is maintaining outstanding customer service and reliability. We have cut every expense not critical to providing this service level," said DiStasio. "Given the extreme external uncertainties we must take measures now to avoid serious financial consequences for our customers in the future."

SMUD has implemented many belt-tightening measures to lessen the rate impact to its customers: • In 2008, SMUD saved about $65 million through budget cuts and other mitigating factors such as early completion of Rancho Seco decommissioning and recouping funds from companies that overcharged SMUD during the energy crisis.

- SMUD staff has cut its budget by $25 million in 2009 and up to $40 million by 2011. Some of those cuts include reducing the number of positions through attrition.
- SMUD is also forgoing cost of living adjustments for its nonunion employees, which make up about half of SMUD's payroll.
- Staff is delaying some capital projects related to system expansion and those not needed due to slower customer growth, which will save money. SMUD delayed capital projects in 2008 that saved about $30 million. These delays will not diminish the quality of SMUD's reliability or customer service in any way.

Even with the recommended increase, SMUD rates would still be among the lowest in California and would be approximately 23 percent lower than those of neighboring PG&E. If the Board of Directors adopts the proposed rate increase, a residential household using 750 kilowatt hours in a month would see its bill increase by about $8 to a total of $86.22 and by about $3 in January 2011. Customers participating in the SMUD Energy Assistance Program will see their bills increase by an average of less than $5 and by less than $2 in January 2011. Public presentations, workshops and hearing:

This spring, SMUD staff will undertake an extensive public process to meet with, inform and gather input from as many customers as possible about the proposed rate increase. SMUD will conduct presentations throughout the service territory. The SMUD Board of Directors will also hold two public workshops and a public hearing at SMUD Headquarters located at 6201 S Street: First Board workshop:

April 23, 2009 at 6 p.m. in the SMUD Headquarters Conference

Second Board workshop:

May 13, 2009 at 9 a.m. in the SMUD Headquarters Conference

Public Hearing:

June 4, 2009 at 6 p.m. in the SMUD Headquarters Auditorium

More information on the proposed rate increase and the schedule for meetings can be found on smud.org. Customers who have questions may call Rob Landon, SMUD Rates Administrator at (916) 732-6222. Written comments may be sent to him at rates@smud.org or MS A451, SMUD, P.O. Box 15830 Sacramento, CA 95852-1830.

Prayers & Novenas

THANKSGIVING NOVENA TO ST. JUDE O Holy Saint Jude, apostle and martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need. To you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given so great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition, in return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Saint Jude pray for us all who invoked your aid. Amen. Say three Our Fathers, three hail Marys and Glorias. Publication must be promised. This novena has never been known to fail. I have had my request granted and will fill to publish my thanksgiving.

2nd Annual Memorial 5K Run/Walk

Benefit for the Alzheimer's Aid Society of No. California

The Messenger Publishing Group has agreed to be the lead print media sponsor for the 2nd Annual Memorial 5K Run/Walk, a benefit for the Alzheimer's Aid Society of Northern California

Perhaps the most unique 5K Run/Walk event of the year, the run starts and ends in beautiful EAST LAWN Memorial Park at 4300 Folsom Blvd., Sacramento. The race director is Rich Hanna and Capital Road Race Management, and this event is the "City of Sacramento 5K Championship". It is scheduled for Saturday, 25 July 2009 at 8:00 a.m.

The excitement includes both elite and amateur runners and walkers, beginning with a Kid's Fun Run, as well as families and sponsors moving along a fast, scenic 5K course. Starting at EAST LAWN Memorial Park, the route traipses through the fabulous forties neighborhood on M Street before returning to the Park for one gorgeous, final-mile loop to the finish at the highest point in the city of Sacramento.

Many sponsors and other companies and groups are forming run/walk teams. Families will be running and walking in memory of a loved one with Alzheimer's. Both elite and amateur runners and walkers will be participating. Age divisions begin with a Kid's Fun Run for ages 11 and under. Divisions will proceed with 12 & under, 13-15, 16-18, 19-24, 5 year increments to age 80+. Awards will follow the event. Prizes will be awarded for overall winners and top three finishers in each division. All kids receive medals.

As many as 5.2 million people in the United States are living with Alzheimer's, the 7th leading cause of death in America. It is estimated that 10 million baby boomers will develop Alzheimer's in their lifetime. The Alzheimer's Aid Society of Northern California assists people from Fresno to Yreka, and all of their services are free. All proceeds from this event will be used here in our community. For more information contact Sal Arrigo Jr., Alzheimer's Aid

Society of Northern California (916)448-7001 or visit our website at www.Memory5k.org or www.Memory5k.com The Messenger Publishing Group includes the American River

Messenger, the Carmichael Times and The Mercury, which serves Roseville, Rocklin and Placer County.

CHAUTAUQUA PLAYHOUSE

to open Tartuffe on April 3

Chautauqua Playhouse announces the opening of TARTUFFE by Jean Baptiste Moliere, adapted by Bill Trzeciak, opening April 3rd, at the Playhouse. The show will run on Fridays and Saturdays at 8:00pm and Sundays at 2:00 pm through May 3rd. All performances will be held at the Chautauqua Playhouse, 5325 Engle Road in the La Sierra Community Center in Carmichael. Admission is $17 general and $15 students, seniors, children and SARTA members.

This is a sparkling original version of one of the great comedies of the French theatre! Into the home of the wealthy Orgon comes Tartuffe, a fraud and pious impostor who succeeds magnificently in winning the respect and devotion of the head of the house. Will Tartuffe's duplicity be exposed? Will Orgon come to his senses? A delightfully funny and pointed farce!

For tickets and additional information call the theatre at (916) 489-7529 (PLAY)

Information and tickets are also available through the Chautauqua Playhouse website: www.cplayhouse.com

The production is directed and designed by Robin Henson and features Rodger Hoopman, Richanne Baldridge, Michael Beckett and many others. Costumes are by Sayuri Nina Pinckard.
