State Announces Tax Changes

Sacramento, CA - (Business Wire)

The Franchise Tax Board (FTB) has announced tax law changes and free tax services available for California taxpayers' filing their 2008 state personal income tax returns.

Delay of Refunds

Due to the state's persistent cash and budget problems, the State Controller announced that he may have to delay refunds for 30 days starting February 1, 2009, for both personal and business taxpayers. FTB is still processing returns as normal. However, it is likely this delay will affect state refunds for most early filers. Returns that have not completed processing before February 1, may have their refunds held for 30 days.

Law Changes

Mortgage relief - New state law for 2007 and 2008 provides relief for people who have been through foreclosure or had their home mortgage modified. Usually, taxes are paid on debt that a lender forgave or cancelled. Now this amount may be excluded from taxable income. California and federal limits differ.

Net operating losses suspended for 2008 and 2009 for taxpayers with net business income of $500,000 or more - The time limit to carry forward losses increases from 10 to 20 years. Starting in 2011, taxpayers can carry back losses for two years. Carry backs are limited to 50 percent of losses for tax year 2011, 75 percent for 2012, and 100 percent in 2013.

Business tax credits - For taxpayers with net business income of $500,000 or more, business tax credits are limited to 50 percent of the net tax for 2008 and 2009. Be sure to review our tax forms instructions for specific details.

Same-sex marriages - Couples wedded on June 16, 2008, and before November 5, 2008, must file as married. However, the California Supreme Court has agreed to review the challenges to the passage of Proposition 8, which eliminated the right of same-sex couples to marry. The California Attorney General has stated he believes these marriages are valid and will defend them in the court action. Affected taxpayers should follow the court action since the decision may impact their marital status. FTB will provide updates following the Supreme Court decision on its website.

Charitable contributions - Taxpayers can contribute to any of 15 charities listed on the tax return. Contributions will reduce refunds or increase taxes owed. Those who itemize their deductions may take a charitable contribution deduction on next year's return. New this year are the:

- California Ovarian Cancer Research Fund
- Municipal Shelter Spay-Neuter Fund
- California Cancer Research Fund
- ALS/Lou Gehrig's Disease Research Fund

Standard deduction - The standard deduction for single or married filing separately is increased from $3,516 to $3,692. For joint, surviving spouse, or head of household filers, it increased from $7,032 to $7,384.

Personal exemption credit - The personal exemption amount for single, married filing separately, and head of household filers jumps from $94 to $99. For joint or surviving spouses, it increases from $188 to $198. The dependent exemption credit changes from $294 to $309 per dependent.

Estimated tax payments - Starting in 2009, estimated tax payments for the first and second quarters increase from 25 to 30 percent. The percentage drops to 20 percent for the third and fourth quarters. Also new, fewer people will be required to make estimated tax payments. Now, they are required only when the tax owed after timely tax payments and credits is expected to be $500 or more ($250 for married/RDP filing separately). The prior threshold was $200. To avoid penalties, the estimated payments for taxpayers with income of $1 million or more must be at least 90 percent of the taxes owed.

Electronic payment requirement - New law requires that individuals who make a 2009 estimated tax or extension payment larger than $20,000, or with total 2009 tax liabilities of more than $80,000, must make all future payments electronically.

Free e-file Services

ReadyReturn is FTB's completed tax return program where FTB completes the tax return for the taxpayer. It is based on information already collected from employers such as W-2s. ReadyReturn has been expanded to include more people this year. Nearly 1.9 million taxpayers who last year earned wages from a single employer, filed either as single or head of household, only took the standard deduction, claimed no more than five dependents, were renters, or can be claimed as a dependent are eligible.

CalFile is FTB's no-cost, direct to FTB, online filing program. It is available in both English and Spanish to more than 6.5 million taxpayers on FTB's website. CalFile accepts income of up to $326,379, itemized deductions, and some tax credits.

Check your My FTB Account - Check your My FTB Account on our website to get information such as your estimated tax payments, any balances due, state W-2 information, or FTB issued 1099 forms. Claiming the wrong amount of estimated tax payments is the top error made on returns.

Pay taxes online - FTB's Web Pay allows taxpayers to authorize a payment from their bank account on a specific date to satisfy their return balance due or extension payment. Pay on or before April 15 to avoid penalties and interest. Taxpayers can also pay estimated tax or make any bill payments online. New this year, sign up for e-mail reminders of upcoming estimate payments due. For a fee, taxpayers can also pay their taxes with their American Express, Discover/NOVUS, MasterCard, and Visa cards. FTB also accepts payments made via Western Union.

Other Changes

Designate contact person on your tax form - You can now designate a third party contact person, such as your tax preparer or family member, by checking a box. This feature gives FTB permission to contact your designee to get information if needed to process your return, discuss math errors and offsets, or provide the status of your refunds. It does not authorize the designee to receive any refund checks, or bind the taxpayers to anything.

Supervisor Susan Peters officially staThe Cougars of OLA defeated 2-time defending champion, St. Ignatius, 36-30, in overtime to claim the prestigious Jesuit Junior Classic title on Monday, January 19. Lead by Tourney MVP, Casey Reilly, the Cougars used their size to great advantage as Reilly and fellow post and All Tourney performer, Andrew Augustine, pounded the boards and rang up points (12 and 14 respectively) in dominating the paint and the eventual tourney championship. St. Ignatius hung tough and eventually forced overtime in trying to claim its third consecutive tournament title. Lead by Swingman Steve Heath and dead-eye shooter, Scotty Coyle, the Tigers staged a 9-point comeback to take the lead 30-28 with 30 seconds remaining. OLA frantically moved the ball up court and Patrick Risley found Augustine inside for a tough basket to tie the game as regulation time expired. In overtime, the cougars made 6 free throws and the Tigers could not respond as OLA emerged with the hard fought win.

The Jesuit Junior Classic hosted 24 teams in a modified double elimination tournament over three weekends. This is the 41st year that Jesuit High School has hosted this wonderful junior high school level, boy's basketball tournament, which involves most of the Parochial Athletic League schools. With the support of the Hawkins Officiating Service, the Jesuit High School Administration and various students from the Jesuit Work Study Program, the event went very smoothly. The tournament is very grateful to the schools, coaches, parents and especially the students, for participating in this year's event.

Additional results from the other "Trophy Round" games on Monday, January 19, 2009: In the third place game, also decided in overtime, St. Francis defeated division rival Sacred Heart, 37-34. Led by all-tourney players Devin Hunt and Andrew Gosselin the Wolves fought back to claim the 3rd place trophy over a game Sacred Heart squad led by all-tourney selection, Austin Harney. In the fourth place game, Louis Macklin led St. Charles to the victory over Holy Spirit, 49-41. Holy Spirit was led by up and coming 7th grader and all-tourney performer, Steven Lahey. The fifth place game pitted St. Mary's against Presentation with the Mustangs of St. Mary's emerging victorious 48-41. St. Mary's was led by all-tourney selection Austin Johnson while Presentation was led by Steven Wright. In the Consolation Championship, St. Robert's and all-tourney player Cory Lutz defeated Gloria Dei and their all-tourney selection Matt Venenburg, 40-24.

Who Needs Reality TV?

"Because I liked the Eighties, and I was really cute and thin in that decade," I say, still hoping to fit into the stirrup pants of that same era. Shoulder pads minimize my middle, right? I mean, were all the women's magazines of that time lying? I think not.

"You can't buy that," Nicole says as she sees me eyeing a silver handbag. "You're too old for a silver bag. You could wear bronze, though."

What—I am suddenly in the Accessory Olympics and have just been bumped down one, based on my age?

"I thought you said I needed to dress younger."

"I said you look like a grandma." Like this is a better label?

"But I am grandma aged, even if I don't have any grandkids yet."

"And put those back," she says, taking some sunglasses out of my hands. "Those are wangster."

"What?"

"When white people try to do gangster bling. That's what it's called. Wangster."

Oh, good grief. This girl needs her own TV show. It could be called "What Not To Wear and How Not to Be." She could get a scholarship at the Police Academy, just based on her fashion policing.

It's enough to make you go home and put on your "I Give Up" top.

Enrollment Explodes at Los Rios Colleges

Sacramento - Nearly 7,000 more students are crowding into classrooms at American River, Cosumnes River, Folsom Lake and Sacramento City colleges this first day of the spring semester.

"This looks and feels more like a fall start than the beginning of the mid-year semester," said Los Rios chancellor Brice Harris.

According to Los Rios officials, a weak economy, high unemployment and skyrocketing fees at four-year universities are all driving more students to Sacramento's community colleges. "We knew we would see an enrollment increase this spring, but we really didn't expect 84,000 students on our doorstep today," Harris said.

The enrollment explosion comes at a time when the State is experiencing the worst budget deficit in its history making future funding uncertain for all state funded agencies including community colleges. The Los Rios District began this 2008-09 academic year with a $12 million budget cut and has been waiting since November, when Governor Schwarzenegger first asked the Legislature to consider mid-year budget cuts, to see what further funding loss it will sustain.

"Frankly this growth is unprecedented," said Harris, "community colleges are increasingly the institution of choice for a growing number of students who feel 'shut-out' or 'priced-out' of other colleges and universities. We will continue to keep the doors to these colleges open, but funding pressures will make it increasingly difficult for students to get the classes they need and to finish their education in a reasonable amount of time."

What Budget Crisis?

by Jon Coupal

Humans have been around for tens of thousands of years. And yet, as recently as a thousand years ago, there was a broad consensus—even among the most highly educated -- that the world was flat. The problem with “consensus” is that it becomes groupthink. If an idea has no challengers, it becomes difficult to disprove and those who speak against the established orthodoxy are always marginalized.

There seems to be a consensus in California that we have a “Budget Crisis.” But if “crisis” is defined as a situation where impending disaster is a probable outcome -- think Cuban Missile Crisis -- then the notion that California is in the midst of crisis needs to be challenged.

In support of the crisis mentality for California’s predicament is the contention that California is “going to run out of money” by February. This is inaccurate for two reasons. First, even with significant reductions in tax revenues to the state and local governments, California remains a tax producing behemoth. Because of its $1.6 trillion economy, California will generate tens of billions of dollars more than next-ranked Texas.

The distinct nature of California’s economy reveals the second inaccuracy. It is not California that is running out of money, it is California government that, more accurately, has a cash flow problem. And government is going to run out of money only if one assumes a continuation of the rate of spending based on previous years. But why should we be forced to make this assumption?

It is not a “crisis” if you are merely driving down the freeway. It is a crisis if you fail to slow down when you get to your exit. Reducing government expenditures when revenues decrease should be as natural as slowing down a car when approaching an off ramp -- and we can do it without invoking the “C” word.

You want a real crisis? Talk to the folks at Circuit City and Mervyns. Except for inventory liquidations, there is no more revenue coming in the door. Could those corporations and thousands of other small and large businesses going through bankruptcy have avoided this fate with a ten or fifteen percent reduction in revenue? Probably.

Although the vast majority of Californians have indeed been convinced that government is in the midst of a budget crisis, our political leaders have another problem on their hands: Not everyone cares. As recently reported in the Sacramento Bee, citizens are more concerned with their own issues than with the threat of a government shutdown. It is not that they want failure, it is simply that they don’t see a direct impact on them.

For that reason, and motivated to ensure that the voting public will resign itself to a tax increase, our political leadership has taken steps in an effort to engage -- or frighten -- the public. Sure, if asked, the taxpaying public would prefer that California governments’ books be balanced, but the majority of citizens do not rely directly on government for their livelihoods.

The first scare tactic -- and one targeted specifically at the productive segment of our population -- is the threat to pay tax refunds with IOUs. But is this really necessary? We have our doubts.

It turns out that there exist in the vaults of governments billions of dollars of unused funds. Whether it is redevelopment money, excess revenue from the tobacco tax or millionaires’ tax, the account balances of dozens of funds under the control of the state do not reflect the level of poverty we are being told.

What is sorely needed now is a healthy dose of skepticism about the threats now being issued by our State Controller, State Treasurer and Director of Finance. Just one question illustrates this concern. We have been told that, without a resolution of the budget deficit, California would be shut out of the bond market. If that is true, then how did California just recently manage to sell almost $350 million in Department of Water Resource Bonds? Obviously, someone still recognizes that debt issuances by California are a worthy investment.

All this is not to say everything is coming up roses in the Golden State. To the contrary, government’s rampant overspending continues and we indeed have a cash flow problem. But let’s not accept without critical analysis a “cure” for a problem that now appears to be significantly overstated.

Jon Coupal is President of the Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association -- California’s largest taxpayer organization -- which is dedicated to the protection of Proposition 13 and promoting taxpayers’ rights.

Sheriffs Praise Senator Cox's Legislative Record

California's sheriffs presented local senator - Dave Cox - their highest honor for his hard work in supporting law enforcement and public safety. This is Cox's third award since his election to the State Senate.

In recognition of his long-standing record of supporting law enforcement and public safety, the California State Sheriffs' Association named Dave Cox, who represents twelve Northern California counties, "Outstanding Senator for 2008."

"It is my privilege to represent the people of the First Senate District and to support law enforcement officials," Cox said in accepting the recognition for his work. "They are the dedicated men and women who risk their lives to make our communities safer."

The association's president, Placer County Sheriff Edward Bonner, praised Cox for his commitment and public service.

"Senator Cox is a dedicated public servant who cares about the communities he represents. He works hard to ensure that law enforcement officials have the necessary tools to serve and protect residents."

Consistent with his past record, Cox provided critical support of the issues that are important to law enforcement officials. During this year's legislative process, Cox championed law enforcement programs such as COPS, Cal-MMET, Rural and Small County law enforcement funding and mentally ill offender crime reduction grant funding.

Modoc County Sheriff Mark Gentry added, "Senator Cox is an exceptional representative for his constituents. He pays attention to rural communities and its residents, and understands the issues that concern us."

El Dorado Sheriff Jeff Neves thanked Sen. Cox for his years of public service. "Senator Cox is a great leader who represents his constituents well in the state Capitol. He has consistently made himself and his office accessible."

Senator Dave Cox represents the residents of the First Senate District, which includes all or portions of Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, El Dorado, Lassen, Placer, Plumas, Modoc, Mono, Nevada, Sacramento and Sierra Counties.

Pet of the Week: Bright Eyes

who abruptly brought her back due to a "lifestyle" change. It was traumatic for her but she is rallying. Bright Eyes is up to date on her shots, has tested negative for FELV/FIV, has been spayed, treated for fleas and worms, and has been micro-chipped. Her adoption includes a free office visit

Bright Eyes' name is fitting because of her huge, round eyes that make her as cute as a doll. Every time you look at her you can't help but smile. She wants to show off and make you proud of her. Bright Eyes would be perfect for a senior who wants a quiet companion. She needs a calm environment where routine is the order of the day. She's close to 2 years old, very dainty and sweet. She could live with another cat as long as his/her personality was aloof. Living with a dog would probably be an unfortunate roommate situation for Bright Eyes because she is easily intimidated but it would really depend on the dog. Bright Eyes will only get sweeter with time. She was returned after a year with her original family at a participating veterinarian and a 4-pound bag of science diet food. If you can offer her the security and loving reassurance she needs please contact the LAPCATS, a non-profit support group of the Sacramento County Animal Shelter, at lapcatsrescue@comcast.net or call 916-247-(CATS) 2287.

POPPOFF!

with Mary Jane Popp

- 3) Understanding what leads to fulfillment.
- 4) Understanding the importance of your relationship to yourself, others, and God.
- 5) Understanding the relationship between True Self and our purpose.
- 6) Creating meaningful relationships.
- 7) Knowing if we guide our life in accordance with our beliefs: Do we have a personal relationship with God?

A couple of good examples of these relationships come from folks like little Opi from "The Andy Griffith Show" turned Director of blockbuster movies... Ron Howard. Ron told Dr. Chirban how his relationship with his father nurtured his creativity and supported his discovery of his True Self.

Another success story comes from Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor who was motivated to gain respect among her colleagues, peers, and the American public. She finds it extremely satisfying to help others with their problems. Quoting Teddy Roosevelt, she described happiness as "work worth doing."

To be self-aware we need to know our individual characteristics, including our temperament and personality, our virtues, habits, and hobbies, and all that we have acquired. True Coming Of Age leads us along the path to authentic living. It requires us to discover and understand who we are, evaluate our personal commitments in relationships, and recognize our connection to our soul. Dr. Chirban is Clinical Instructor at The Cambridge Health Alliance at Harvard Medical School. His credentials alone can fill a column, but suffice to say, with the names he has talked to, he gets it from the people doing and getting things done!

Need more info? Log on to www.drchirban.com. In the meantime, keep searching for the real you. It is unique and beautiful! There is only one of you!

Check out the "POPPOFF" Radio show Monday thru Friday on AM-950 KAH1 10 AM - Noon for provocative fast-paced informational and entertaining radio listening!

COMING OF AGE

Who am I? What am I? What does life have in store for me? And how do I succeed? These are common questions we all seek answers for! Dr. John Chirban found some profound principles from such American notables as Tom Hanks, Ron Howard, Diane Sawyer, Sandra Day O'Connor, and Maya Angelou. In his groundbreaking book "True Coming of Age", Dr. Chirban puts forth fundamentals for fulfillment and purpose that identifies three key aspects of our nature in order to create a setting for authentic change. These connections include:

1) THE SPHERE: How you connect with your true self. This is your emotions, your thoughts, and the 7 intrinsic qualities defined by the good Doctor as: spontaneity, reasoning, creativity, free will, spirituality, discernment, and love.

2) THE OTHER SPHERE: How to build and examine all the relationships you are in. The degree to which we are able to make emotional engagement with others depends on how much influence our True Self, exerts on our self.

3) THE GOD SPHERE: How you bring faith, spirit, and spirituality, as gained through your religious beliefs, existential ideas, belief systems, and ideas of a higher power, into all our relationships.

But then you have to connect all the parts of your life to direct your actions, and here Dr. C helps us expand self-awareness with:

- 1) Recognizing and accepting your 7 intrinsic gifts.
- 2) Understanding your true self.

Drexel University Opens Center For Graduate Studies In Sacramento

Center Establishes Nationally Ranked, Philadelphia-based Drexel in California

Gloria Mirazo (Wells Fargo employee), member, inaugural Drexel class in Sacramento; Tobey Oxholm, Drexel Senior Vice President; Kevin Johnson, Mayor, City of Sacramento; Angelo Tsakopoulos, Chairman, AKT Development; Kenneth Harms (Turner Construction Company), member, inaugural class; Drexel Mascot, Mario the Magnificent, is behind.

SACRAMENTO – Drexel University welcomed its first students in Sacramento this month as its Center for Graduate Studies began classes in four of nine master’s programs slated to start this year.

Drexel officials and faculty were joined by newly elected Sacramento Mayor Kevin Johnson to mark the historic opening of the Center, which is housed in 20,000 square feet of space just blocks away from California’s State Capitol at One Capitol Mall.

“A little over seven months ago, we announced our intention to bridge the miles between our cities with a common vision toward expanding higher education opportunities in California,” said Drexel University President Constantine

Papadakis. “In this short period, we have been embraced by so many community, business and education leaders. Now, we begin our partnership with students – future business and community leaders for the Greater Sacramento area.”

Founded in 1891 in Philadelphia, Drexel is the nation’s 16th largest private university and is ranked as one of the nation’s most innovative universities by US News & World Report. Drexel is widely recognized for its focus on experiential learning through its co-operative education program, technology and use-inspired research.

The Center will offer higher education at the cutting edge in its classrooms that have been outfitted with $1 million in state-of-the-art technology that brings the world to the Center and makes classes and presentations available on the Web and via podcast. “We are confident that Drexel University’s proven, dynamic approach to learning will more effectively position our students for leadership and success,” Papadakis said.

The Center’s initial master’s programs include: Business Administration, Higher Education, Information Systems, Library and Information Science.

“Drexel has built its success on partnerships with the community,” said Carl “Tobey” Oxholm, Executive Vice President for Drexel University who is spearheading the university’s effort in Sacramento. “We are excited by the welcome we’ve received and the partnerships we have already established with business and civic groups throughout Northern California.”

The university began exploring opportunities in the Greater Sacramento area in 2007 after University President Dr. Constantine Papadakis was approached by a group of community leaders led by Angelo K. Tsakopoulos, a prominent real estate developer and the founder and owner of Sacramento-based AKT Development. The Angelo K. and Sofia Tsakopoulos family, William and Claudia Cummings, the Wayne L. Prim Family and their partners have offered Drexel University more than 1,100 acres to build a major undergraduate campus in Placer County. “Sacramento is an extraordinary place to bring Drexel’s innovative approach to education,” Oxholm said. “We view the Center for Graduate Studies as the beginning of a long relationship with this region.”

In September, the university will add five master’s programs in: Engineering Management; Nursing Education & Faculty Role; Nursing Leadership in Health Systems Management; Science of Instruction; and Human Resource Development. The university plans to add additional programs based on the community’s needs. All programs will meet the university’s high standards and be equivalent to those taught in Philadelphia.
