The War on Military History

military history has been all but banished from college campuses. In an article on this strange deficit in the National Review, John J. Miller chalks it up to "an ossified tenure system, scholarly navel-gazing and ideological hostility to all things military."

History departments are dominated by a post-Vietnam generation of professors for whom bottom-up "social history" is paramount, and the only areas of interest are race, sex and class. History focusing on great events and the "great men" central to them is retrograde -- let alone military history that ipso facto smacks of militarism. Hence, the rout of military history from the academy that Miller catalogs.

Edward Coffman, a former military historian at the University of Wisconsin, studied the 25 best history departments according to U.S. News & World Report rankings and found that a mere 21 professors out of more than 1,000 listed war as their specialty.

The gatekeepers of the profession practically proscribe traditional military history. John A. Lynn recently looked back at the past 30 years of the prestigious academic journal The American Historical Review. He found no articles on the conduct of World War II, the American Revolution or the Napoleonic Wars. There were articles that discussed atrocities in the English Civil War and in the American Civil War and an article on World War I -- on women soldiers in the Russian army.

That military history has been chased from the academic field is especially perverse given that, when the classes are offered, they are popular with students. And military history, as a discipline, is as vital as ever. Writing on the American Heritage's Web site, Sarah Lawrence College professor Frederic Smoler argues that "the past 30 years have seen a brilliant expansion in the intellectual and methodological breadth of military history," beginning with the publication of John Keegan's 1976 classic "The Face of Battle."

None of this is enough to overcome the deep intellectual bias against military history. New Republic contributing editor David A. Bell locates that bias deep in the social sciences: "The origin of these sciences lie in liberal, Enlightenment-era thinking that dismissed war as primitive, irrational and alien to modern civilization."

Brave men always will be necessary to defend freedom, and what they have done deserves to be remembered, and studied.

DID YOU KNOW THAT NON-COMPLIANCE WITH FEDERAL LAWS COULD COST BUSINESS OWNERS PERSONALLY, OR COST THE BUSINESS, (LARGE OR SMALL) UP TO $1,000,000 IN FINES AND UP TO 10 YEARS IN PRISON?

Business owners know there are laws every business must follow. However, results of a recent survey by zTelligence and Fellowes Inc., (July 2005), showed only 13.1% of business owners recognize the term "FACTA." That could mean that nearly 87% of all business owners aren't aware that FACTA:

- Is federal legislation that went into effect June 2005
- Can shut a business down whether you have two or two thousand employees
- Can result in major fines by the FTC for non-compliance
- Provides another avenue for lawyers to file lawsuits against businesses on behalf of customers or employees

FACTA is only one piece of legislation that affects business. There are others:

- HIPAA Security Rule
- Gramm, Leach, Bliley (GLB) Safeguard Rule
- Numerous individual state laws (such as the Texas Whistle Blower Statute)

We can help.
 Our Affirmative Defense Response System™ (ADRS) can help at virtually no cost to the business owner.

Shorter Days = Greater Danger!

Free Women's Self Defense Seminar

Beware the 'dark side'! As days get darker earlier with the season criminals get bolder. With the season's change dark mornings and earlier nights invite trouble for those unaware of their surroundings.

Criminals seek the dark and target the unaware. With the time change comes greater danger.

Robinson's Taekwondo is offering a free clinic on personal safety and self-defense. Women are especially vulnerable as they are often exposed to danger as they pick up and drop off family members in school or shopping mall parking lots. Taking personal responsibility for your safety, increased awareness of trouble spots and simple self-defense skills can save lives.

The first family name in Sacramento martial arts, Robinson's Taekwondo is providing the 90-minute seminar free, from our family to yours, Friday November 14th beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Our instructors will help raise awareness of dangerous situations and locations, show how to escape an attacker's hold and give everyone who attends a safety 'mindset'.

Visit any of the eighteen Robinson's Taekwondo locations throughout the Sacramento area, or reserve space now at www.robsonstkd.com.

Bicyclist Struck By Hit And Run Vehicle

On November 1, 2008 at approximately 12:52 a.m., a young Hispanic male was riding his bicycle in an unknown direction on Watt Avenue just south of Karl Drive. The bicyclist was struck by an unknown vehicle traveling northbound on Watt Avenue. After the collision, the vehicle immediately fled the scene without stopping or rendering aid to the bicyclist. A witness that was traveling northbound on Watt Avenue observed the bicyclist lying in the roadway and called 911 at approximately 12:54 a.m. The bicyclist was transported to Mercy San Juan Medical Hospital with major injuries. The bicycle was located at the scene with minor damage which appeared to be consistent with falling to the ground and not getting run over.

On November 4, 2008 at approximately 9:26 a.m., the bicyclist died from his injuries. The bicyclist's identity is unknown at this time and will be released through the Sacramento Coroner's Office pending further investigation.

If anyone has information regarding this collision contact the CHP North Sacramento Office at (916) 338-6710, Attn Officer Dutton or Officer Andrews.

This collision is still under investigation.

WOULDA' COULDA' SHOULD'A'

It would have been better with red sauce! It should have sounded more sensational! It could have been better if the plot were more viable. Sound familiar? It's the bread and butter lines for CRITICS !!! Don't get me wrong, I too follow in the hallowed footsteps of those who can make or break creative endeavors. But I prefer to refer to myself as a REVIEWER instead. The difference, you ask? In my humble opinion, a Reviewer looks for the best in things and notes the less worthy. A Critic looks for the worst in things, and feels they have bestowed the crown jewels upon you if they give you a kudo or two. Let's be honest. How many times have you agreed with a Critic anyway... those little demi-gods who come from on high? They can be nasty, petty, offensive, and downright derisive!

What training does it take to be a Critic? Must you have gone to a Culinary Institute, attend a Film School, have some sort of degree, or at least appeared in front of a Microphone or Camera? Nope! Nope! And a BIG NOPE! What you do have is a Restaurant Critic with only their own eating preferences to go by...

Movie Critics who think "The Attack of the Killer Tomatoes" was an epic...and Radio and TV Critics who couldn't put two sentences together on camera to save their souls. I don't mind if these so-called Critics give me their opinions. After all, this is just entertainment in many forms. I do hate it when they hold themselves so high their godly towers topple the hard work of those who try so hard to be creative from food to entertainment to fashion. The world as we know it will not end if the meat is a little too well done or movie makers make a stinker or two. Some of the worst movies ever made were box office successes.

It's time we take back our pride... pride in our own decisions without the pontification of others. I'll wear the clothes that make me feel good, not what's in vogue! I'll put ketchup on my eggs, if that's the way I like it! I'll watch "Plan 9 From Outer space" even if they called it a turkey, and not be embarrassed.

It's fun to experience new styles, new ideas, new opinions, even new tastes. But the bottom line is... I eat, drink, wear, and watch what I want, when I want, because I want to...not because someone else tells me to. I gotta' be me...good, bad, or indifferent...even if it is a fashion faux pas, nes pas? You might discover your opinions are pretty special...one-of-a-kind. Cloning isn't particularly clever! Be proud of who you are, the way you look, and the way you think! Like the snowflakes that fall from the Heavens, you are different and beautiful in your own way!

straight talk for teens

When friends want to cheat off you

by Lauren Forcella

Dear Straight Talk: I'm a freshman in high school taking advanced placement classes. I work hard for my grades. As I was leaving Civics recently, after a turning in a test, "Lisa," who was sitting by the door, asked for the answer to one of the questions. I didn't know what to do, so I told her. Then she kept asking about question after question and I kept giving her the answers. It was end of class, so everyone was making noise, and this teacher is oblivious anyway, but still, I didn't like it. Then, when I got an A, and Lisa got an A, too, it made me kind of mad. How can I stop kids from cheating off me without being a snob? It sometimes happens over the phone, too, with friends copying sections of my essays word-for-word. I just don't know how to tell them not to. I want to have friends. — Lodi, CA

From Betsy, 20: I know you want people to like you, but don't sell out. I used sarcasm as my weapon. Someone would whisper, "What's number six?" and I'd say, lightly, "Wouldn't you like to know!" They soon stopped bugging me.

From Emily, 16: I've had phases where I asked the person next to me for the last few homework answers. Though appreciative of those who "helped" me, I respected more those who denied me. Taking credit for someone else's work is not only unethical, skipping those last questions could be the difference between an A and a C on your next test. About losing friends, there's the saying: "Those who care don't matter, and those who matter don't care."

From Ashley, 21: The next time this happens, offer to study together. That way you can make friends and still do the right thing.

From Mariah, 16: I'd give them the wrong answers. Or have your parents talk with the school about the oblivious teacher. If they can't tough out the class, they should drop it.

From Farren, 21: Even if you're nice about it, most teens are vicious if you don't let them copy your work. People always asked me for answers in high school and often they hated me because I wasn't necessarily nice about turning them down. If I thought someone was copying my test, I would fill in the wrong answers. Sometimes, if a person normally did their work, I'd let them copy my homework. But seriously, the slackers didn't deserve it. It sucks that they don't have enough time, or they're going through a rough spot, but that doesn't mean you do their work for them. Free rides don't help people. Just say, "You know, I spend a lot of time doing my work and if you don't understand the material I wouldn't mind helping you, but if you just want the answers, ask someone else."

Letting someone cheat off you is worse than being a cheater. It represents a weak character — and repercussions for getting caught will be the same as for the cheater. You work hard to earn an A, so represent that! Be a leader others look up to, not a wimp who dispenses answers.

From Graham, 15: I'm also a freshman in honors. If anyone asks me for homework answers, I say, "No, but I can help you figure it out!" Think of it this way: if people get mad because they can't cheat off you, are those the friends you want?

From Elise, 17: Stand up for what you believe. True friends will understand.

From Peter, 21: People always wanted my help, too, and I'm a nice guy so I'd help them. But letting people copy isn't helping them, it's hurting them — and it's wrong. Refusing to help someone cheat shows you've got morals. If you're worried about your social status, remember: nobody likes a cheater.

Putting the Fun Back in Funeral

Above all, I shall insist on a closed casket. Nobody else can do my makeup right, and no viewing will be allowed. Instead, a lovely—and retouched—photograph of me at my prime will rest atop the casket lid. Since I am still hoping for a prime, this photo has yet to be chosen.

As for music, I plan to choose the catchiest songs of the day, so that whenever my loved ones hear them on the radio it will remind them of me.

I've thought about making one of those goodbye videos with inspiring last words and expressions of love for one and all, but the camera adds 40 pounds—I'm sure of this—so I'll see how the diet goes and then try it. My comedian kids will probably run it backwards anyway, and laugh like hyenas and miss the whole point.

The tricky part, really, is the timing. Nobody wants to live past the point of real quality of life, yet many of us do, lingering past our time with a heartbeat stronger than a brain. But at least one of my kids, Brandon, has the solution to this problem, and I may borrow his idea. He says when he gets to be elderly, he's going to hire some hit men. They are to come and visit every six months, to ask Brandon who they are. When he can't remember, they're to shoot him.

And then, like I say, follow my instructions for the perfect funeral.

Small Businesses Praise Sen. Dave Cox's Work

In his tenacious fight for a stronger economy, Senator Dave Cox once again was given high marks for his voting record. The National Federation of Independent Business—the Voice of Small Business—gave Dave Cox a perfect score after careful review of lawmakers' voting record.

"Protecting jobs and job opportunities in California is important," said Senator Dave Cox who represents twelve counties in the Northeastern part of the state. "I am appreciative of the recognition but I was simply doing the job I was elected to do."

The National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) is the leading small business association representing small and independent businesses.

A nonprofit, nonpartisan organization founded in 1943, NFIB promotes and protects the right of small businesses to own, operate and grow.

"Small business is the driving force behind California's economy. These are family-owned businesses that employ many Californians and lawmakers must do all we can to help them succeed," Cox concluded.

Recently, the California Chamber of Commerce and the California Taxpayers' Association gave Cox high marks for his voting record.

Senator Dave Cox represents the residents of the First Senate District, which includes all or portions of Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, El Dorado, Lassen, Placer, Plumas, Modoc, Mono, Nevada, Sacramento and Sierra Counties. Contact his office at 916-651-4001, or via email at senator.cox@sen.ca.gov.

Pet of the Week: Alice

When Alice arrived at the LAPCATS adoption center, a non-profit support group of the County shelter, she settled right in on her comfy bed. Every day, she patiently waits as volunteers enter the room to open the cages one by one. She has been in a cage on and off for almost 2-months and welcomes any petting she can get. Alice loves to hangout and help with paperwork. She adores people-watching and waits for a "hello" or "pretty girl" from the adoption center visitors. She is approximately 4-years-old but there is something about her that signs wisdom, as though she has lived through many things; if only she could tell her story. Alice is a good girl with the other cats in the center and would love to have other cats in her new home, but she would be content without cats too. All she really wants is a human friend that will pet her and play with her. Alice is up to date on shots, has tested negative for FELV/FIV, has been spayed, treated for fleas and worms, and has been micro-chipped. Her adoption includes a free office visit at a participating veterinarian and a 4-pound bag of science diet food.

For more information about Alice e-mail lapcatsrescue@comcast.net or call 916-247-(CATS) 2287.

Thank You for Your Sacrifice

Veterans Day: A Day to Thank Those Who Have Served

by Senator Sam Aanestad

President Ronald Reagan once told us that; "Some people live an entire lifetime and wonder if they have ever made a difference in the world, but the Marines don't have that problem."

On November 11th, we honor and celebrate veterans here in California and throughout the United States who have bravely served our country. Our nation's more than 23 million veterans deserve our commendation and respect for upholding the traditions and values that embody what it means to be an American. We also must not forget those who valiantly served and sacrificed their lives for our freedom.

The recent passage of the Senate Republican sponsored Gold Star Family License Plate law -which allows families to honor U.S. Armed Service active duty members who died while serving their nation - reminds us that Veterans Day is also about the sacrifices made by families and loved ones.

Other Senate Republican sponsored legislation passed this year would provide for the continuation of the Cal-Vet Home Loan program. This program helps veterans and active duty personnel achieve the American Dream of homeownership by making low-interest financing available to qualified veterans.

Veterans and their families have sacrificed so much to preserve our way of life. That's why I proudly authored SB 630 last year on behalf of all veterans in California. The measure authorized $30 million in lease revenue bonds from the Public Buildings Construction Fund to prevent any further delays with the construction efforts of Veterans Homes in both Redding and Fresno. California's veterans have always answered the call of duty and it is their selfless service that continues to inspire.

Veterans Day celebrations began in November 1919 when the Armistice was signed at the conclusion of World War I. President Woodrow Wilson spoke these words: "To us in America, the reflections of Armistice Day will be filled with solemn pride in the heroism of those who died in the country's service and with gratitude for the victory, both because of the thing from which it has freed us and because of the opportunity it has given America to show her sympathy with peace and justice in the councils of the nations..."

With the ongoing wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, this message of noble service still rings true today. What was first known as Armistice Day, and a celebration of those who served in World War I, was officially renamed Veterans Day in 1954 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower. The holiday now honors veterans who served in both times of war and peace.

It is on this day that we remember the sacrifices of men like Raymond Jacobs of Redding, who died earlier this year.

Jacobs was one of the six United States Marines who raised the first American flag on Mount Surabachi on Iwo Jima on February 23, 1945. This flag was later replaced by the flag in the famous flag raising photograph taken by Joe Rosenthal of the Associated Press. He was the last survivor of either group of flag raisers and is now at rest in the Northern California Veterans Cemetery.

Northern California is home to thousands of men and women who have served this country during wartime, like Quincy's Joe Knadler. He served in the U.S. Navy for almost 12 years and was one of many teenage boys during World War II who didn't let their youthful age prevent them from entering military service and fighting for our freedom.

Veterans like Raymond Jacobs and Joe Knadler have my deepest respect and gratitude as do those who served in Vietnam and still others who are serving in Iraq and Afghanistan today.

Take the opportunity this November 11th to thank your neighbors and friends who have answered the call to serve our Northern California communities. I am proud of all of our California veterans and will continue to do whatever I can to show my appreciation for their selfless service.

Senator Sam Aanestad proudly serves the 4th Senate District covering 12 Northern California counties.

Composting: It's good for your lawn, your wallet and the community

by Annie Parker

It's that time of the year again when the days grow shorter, the nights are cooler, and millions of leaves begin to fall from the trees. Because Sacramento County has thousands of trees and hundreds of acres of lawns, a tremendous amount of yard waste is generated during the fall. Instead of filling up your green waste container week after week, why not try composting instead?

"Fall is a great time to have some fun and get composting as there is an abundance of brown (carbon) and green (nitrogen) rich materials that are required to compost, including dried leaves, grass clippings and even coffee grounds," said Doug Eubanks, Recycling Coordinator with the Department of Waste Management and Recycling.

Compost is great to mix with potting soil as a soil amendment to be blended into the soil around garden plants. Composting will improve the general health of your soil, aid in erosion control and help control soil fertility.

It generally takes from three to six months to create a single batch of compost. While there is no single "correct" method for composting, there are several variations based on the scientific composting principle of aerobic decomposition. All it takes is a few months to create a valuable product that can help you save some money and help the community by extending the life of the landfill.

"In a recent survey of our customers, we estimated that almost 9,000 tons annually of plant debris and food scraps were diverted from the landfill through the efforts of backyard composting," said Eubanks. "We do see a spike in yard waste this time of year, and backyard composting saves valuable landfill space."

If you receive County curbside garbage and recycling service, To learn more about composting and get a copy of a composting guide, contact the Sacramento County Department of Waste Management and Recycling's composting page at <http://www.sacgreenteam.com/education/composting.htm> to learn more about composting. You may also request a free copy of the Sacramento Backyard Composting Guide or download a copy from the website.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF SONIA GARZA

NO. 34-2008-00023631-PR-LA-FRC

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both of Sonia Garza.

A petition has been filed by Sylvia Marley in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting that Sylvia Marley be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. This will avoid the need to obtain court approval for many actions taken in connection with the estate. However, before taking certain actions, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action. The petition will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

The petition is set for hearing at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. No. 129, at 3341 Power Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826, Probate, on December 3, 2008.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the date of the hearing noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may request special notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Section 1250 of the California Probate Code.

The name and address of petitioner or petitioner's attorney is:
