Office of Assemblyman Ken Cooley

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On September 6, 2022, Assemblyman Ken Cooley presented a resolution honoring Diann H. Rogers as Woman of the Year 2022 at Rancho Cordova's City Council meeting.

Every year, the California State Legislature honors women from their districts for their various contributions to their local communities. Diann H. Rogers is the President and CEO of the Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce. She has served over ten years with the Chamber and is responsible for overseeing the day-to-day operations and program management of the Chamber and is integral to the internal operations and events management for the Best In Business Awards, the Business Outlook & Economic Forecast, and several smaller events throughout the year. Diann also serves the executive director of the Chamber Foundation and in facilitating the esteemed Leadership Rancho Cordova program.

"It is an honor to know Diann and to highlight her dedication to the businesses in eastern Sacramento County and the surrounding region," said Assemblyman Cooley. "I am grateful for her service, especially during the past two years of the pandemic when small businesses were struggling, Diann was the go-to resource for many business owners navigating through the complex grant applications and COVID prevention mandates, continued Cooley."

"To be recognized by Assemblyman Cooley as the Women of the Year is truly an honor. Our community is led by so many amazing women and to be counted among them is a privilege. No one contributes to their community in a vacuum, and I am grateful for our Chamber team and the support of our Board of Directors," said Diann Rogers.

"It is without reservation for me to say serving as the Chamber President & CEO is the best job I've ever

Board Revises Approved FY 2022-23 Budget

Sacramento County
News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento County Board of Supervisors voted on September 7, 2022, to revise the Approved Budget for the 2022-23 fiscal year.

The Approved Budget in June totaled $7.3 billion. With the completion of the County's FY 2022-23 year-end financial closing activities and updated information, an increase of $540 million was proposed, bringing the Budget Recommended for Adoption to $7.9 billion in appropriations. The increase includes a $228 million increase in General Fund appropriations, and a $313 million increase in appropriations in other funds.

The increase in General Fund appropriations included $19 million of additional investments in new or enhanced programs, including addressing critical needs related to homelessness and behavioral health.

Among other additional allocations, the Board set aside $5 million for a pilot project aimed at utilizing property tax rebates for participating multi-family landlords to provide housing at below-market rates.

According to First District Supervisor Phil Serna, who proposed the idea, "It would work much the same as Williamson Act Contracts except that instead of providing a property tax break to farmers who conserve agricultural acreage, the purpose here would be to provide a valuable tax incentive to property owners who agree to offer rental units at affordable rates."

Serna continued by stating, "As far as we know, this idea has not been tried before, but given the dearth of affordable housing, it is incumbent on us to try new, creative ways to keep our constituents from spiraling into the depths of homeless."

The proposal means county executive staff will work in the coming months to design the mechanics of the proposal and deploy it with the intent of assessing its efficacy so that it might be considered for expansion at a later date.

The Board of Supervisors approved the following additional costs, totaling $10 million:

$5 million to establish a reserve for an Affordable Housing Incentive Pilot Program; $3 million to the Neighborhood

"I'm happy to be returning to a destination marketing organization," said Leonti-Nottingham. "Rancho Cordova has changed so dramatically over the last 15 years and is on an excellent trajectory for exciting growth. I enjoy being a part of an organization that has such a strong focus on community development."

Watry joins Visit Rancho Cordova as the organization's new content manager. With over 10 years of experience in journalism and marketing, Watry started his career in newspaper journalism as a general assignment reporter for the New Jersey Herald before moving into the science writing space.

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On September 10 at Rancho Cordova City Hall, actor and Cordova High School grad Ken Rudolph hosted the 7th annual Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame. Shelly Blanchard, executive director of the Cordova Community Council, opened the inspiring evening celebrating 15 individual Rancho Cordova sports heroes, and the Cordova High School 1984 girls basketball team.

The 1984 Cordova Lancers girls basketball team, coached by John McCants, became the first Cordova girls basketball team to snag an undefeated regular season. They achieved an "unheard of" 32-1 overall record enroute to the Sac-Joaquin Section championship. Members of the team were Yvette Collins, Mickie Weekly, Teresa Tillman, Misako Hill, Catherine Hart, Stacy Hom Loftus, Lolita Stokes, Theresa Hill, Daneen Johnson, Sharon Williams, Tina Nichols Starks, Corinne Waller, Anna Reddick Howard and Vivian Chambers. "I think what made us so special is that we actually cared about one another, we were good friends, and we worked hard," Johnson said. "We were committed to basketball... It's an honor to be recognized, for us women to be out there, and I encourage women to just commit to it, follow through with it. If you have the passion, do it."

The 15 individuals being inducted were Steve Abrams

(Cordova '81), Rick Anderson (Cordova '82), Terry Behrens (Cordova '73), Zach Crouch (Cordova '84), Jose De La Cruz (Rancho police officer, service to youth sports through Police Activities League), Coye Francies (Cordova '04), Dianne Yost Goldman (Cordova '71), Frank Griffin (Cordova '87), Fallon Johnson (Cordova '03), Dennis Lamantia (instrumental in many Rancho sports endeavors and programs), Tim McCandless (San Rafael '75), James Montgomery (Cordova '06), CK Moore (Cordova '75), Sheena Hellon Sapaula (Cordova '03), and Debra Green Swain (Cordova '68). These were honored for their participation in sports, coaching, or for their "Heart of a Champion," for living an exemplary life in support of sports and humanitarian pursuits.

Abrams, a coach of youth sports for over 40 years, travels the United States speaking on behalf of colon cancer survivors; he is one himself. "One night my sons and I sat down and watched a video called 'Baseball, the Latin Game' and it showed how the young players in Latin America were wrapping rocks with tape and throwing rocks as baseballs, and using cardboard as chest protectors," Abrams said. "I decided that I was going to do something about that, and that's where Handing out Hope was born." As a result, Abrams has donated more than 10,000 pieces of baseball equipment to children all over the world.

Cross country and track star Rick Anderson gives this advice to kids wanting to make it in sports. "Give it your all and if after a competition, no matter what the sport, if you didn't do your best, then reflect back on it and see was it your fault that you didn't do your best? Was it a bad plan, was it just bad execution of a plan? And learn from your mistakes."

Blanchard said in closing, "Here's a challenge to you all. Consider sharing your great sports stories with the new generation. You just don't know who you will inspire... The truth is, our kids need you and one day, who knows, they may be standing with you right there in the Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame." ★

Women's Empowerment to Hold Brighter Futures Gala

Sacramento women who have overcome homelessness celebrate last year's virtual Women's Empowerment gala at a graduates-only event. The 2022 gala will once again be held in person at the California Railroad Museum. Photo by Diana Miller Photography

By Kristin Thébaud

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Sacramento nonprofit Women's Empowerment invites community members to attend its 21st annual gala at 6pm on Sept. 29 at the California Railroad Museum. Guests will gather in person at the Brighter Futures Gala for the first time since 2019 to raise funds for Sacramento women and children experiencing homelessness and celebrate the accomplishments of program graduates. The event will include dinner, presentations by program graduates, a live auction, award ceremony and more.

The annual gala is the organization's largest fundraiser of the year, raising a fifth of the group's budget to empower women experiencing homelessness to secure employment and safe homes for their families. To purchase tickets, sponsor a graduate to attend, or purchase virtual tickets, visit Womens-Empowerment.org.

“As we step back in time at the historic Railroad Museum, we will honor the resilient women who have graduated from our programs, and celebrate the beautiful, bright futures ahead for the women and children we look forward to serving who have yet to overcome homelessness,” said Lisa Culp, executive director, Women's Empowerment. “We are excited to come together once again with our steadfast community here in Sacramento to ensure that more women can rise from homelessness in the face of a prolonged pandemic and housing crisis. We will need everyone working together in the months and years ahead so women have the resources to secure good jobs and safe homes for their families.”

To ensure safety of guests and graduates, proof will be required of either Covid vaccination or a negative Covid test within 48 hours. The venue is well ventilated with high ceilings and outdoor spaces.

Women's Empowerment is a Sacramento nonprofit providing an eight-week employment-readiness and empowerment program, paid job training, childcare and support services so women and their children can break the cycle of homelessness. Women's Empowerment offers the most comprehensive job-readiness program in the Sacramento area designed specifically for women experiencing homelessness and their children. On average, 70% of women in the program find housing during the ongoing housing crisis. Last year, 142 job placements were achieved by Women's Empowerment graduates. Since its founding in 2001, the award-winning organization has graduated 1,752 women and their 3,879 children. Women's Empowerment is funded through private donations from the community and grants. ## And Another Thing

Would you be interested in a tour of Rancho Cordova?

By Bob McGarvey

When I looked out of the window on Friday morning, I wasn't expecting to see the same type of orange sun which we had seen in a smokey sky in November 2018. That was when California's Camp Fire filled our sky with smoke. There are more than 12 wild fires burning right now in California. Our Rancho Cordova sky is full of smoke from the Mosquito fire. Today is supposed to be the last day the temperatures are over 100 degrees for a while.

Let's hope that by the time you are reading this column our weather will have changed and remains cooler, that the fires are either being put out or are almost out, and that the rain we so greatly need may be beginning to fall.

The history in Rancho Cordova comes through my mind quite often, and I remember some of Rancho Cordova as it was when I came to Rancho as my orders sent me to Mather A.F.B. There were drive in movies in Rancho Cordova on two locations, there were rockets being heard and felt in Rancho from AeroJet's testing, the many military individuals and families who were part of our community's population, and how Folsom Blvd was called both Highway 50 and 'blood alley'. The heavy traffic on Sunday afternoon and evening that came through our community could easily be a part of our history

There is a museum in Rancho Cordova now which is a museum only in the sense that military items are displayed there. It was created by Mr Smith, and it needs to be saved and kept for the future. Our community, and now our City of Rancho Cordova, has a military background which is truly an important part of our history.

I wonder how many would be interested in a tour of Rancho Cordova. I think residents and people who work here may not really know much about the city where they live or work. A tour would, or could, also give students from schools here some history which they could see and touch instead of just be something from a book in a classroom. There are many people who have never been to an historical cemetery like Kilgore Cemetery, an historical Grange Hall, or walk to dredger-tailings where gold was found. There are still enough places in Rancho Cordova for a tour to really be of interest to any people. A tour will be looked at because it shouldn't be ignored.

I looked at the "Little League Causes Big Baseball Problems" article in last week's Grapevine, and I have to put in my two cents worth, too. Looking at how things can be improved in its current, or first location, was decided in 2018 as was said in the article. Not everything needs to be moved to make things better. The idea of moving the RCLL to the Rio Del Oro 130 acre park may be something that may be looked at in the future, but as Councilman Sander said, that planning for little league improvements has taken "far too many years already".

The $12 million legacy renovation project should be moved forward today. The decision which was made four years ago for the RCLL needs to be decided now. Not waiting for more years to go before the kids can play in a better place would be a better decision.

From Bob McGarvey, God bless, and we'll see you next time. ★

Poppoff!

With Mary Jane Popp

Black And White

No way! Absolutely not! Not ever! Is that what you say when Labor Day passes and one should never wear white after Labor Day? There's even a commercial running these days with a man sitting on a beach pondering why he can't wear white after Labor Day. How about you? Well, there is a story behind why you're supposed to follow this rule. So let's check it out before you go eyeing your closet and trying to figure out how to phase the white out of your wardrobe. I did a little research and googled the why. So what are the origins behind it? It's not very exciting, but here goes.

Back in the day, it was established by the so-called "new rich" to distinguish old-money families from the newfound millions. They used fashion rules that only those who were "in" would know about. So, in addition to the white rule, they included wearing the correct sleeve length for certain events and, of course, only wearing white in the summertime. Eventually, when Labor Day became a federal holiday in 1894, the holiday became a natural end point for summer and wearing white. I guess they never thought about the super-hot days that can extend into September like we've had. Really, it would be miserable to be wearing fall-appropriate clothing as the sweat pours down your face. I'm happy to say, these days, fashion rules are much more lax. Besides I'll wear what I want, when I want, so there!!!

That brings up another color mandate...wearing black to a funeral. It's a long-accepted tradition intended to show respect for the deceased. Wearing other colors was a major faux pas, or an out and out slap in the face to mourning family members. By the late 19th century, black clothing had become so associated with mourning that any woman who dared wear black when not in mourning was looked down upon as "dangerously eccentric." The tradition of wearing black at funerals in the west dates back to the Roman Empire, when the family of the deceased would wear a dark colored toga, called a toga pulla. The tradition persisted in England throughout medieval times, when women were expected to wear black caps and veils when their husbands passed away! Yet, in much of Europe, widows in the deepest mourning period wore WHITE, a tradition held on in Spain through most of the 1500s. French queens prior to the Revolution also wore white while in mourning. Kings and queens from 1393 in France to 1993 in Belgium wore white. Personally, I don't like wearing black. I love to celebrate the life of the deceased with perhaps their favorite colors when they lived.

How about this. Yellow has long been a color of mourning in Egypt. Red is a common funeral color in Ghana. The Catholic Church introduced the use of purple in many countries influenced by the religion. Let's just remember the loved one. Color doesn't tell THEIR story, and that's what we want to remember! So color your own life! Image courtesy of Dreamstime ★ had. The impact of what we do is both immediate and long-term. Supporting the prosperity of our local businesses ensures there are jobs, resources, goods and services, and investment in our community. As a friend of mine reminds me – nothing happens until someone buys something. The tangible ripple effect of a healthy local economy benefits us all," said Rogers.

Prior to her tenure with Rancho Cordova, Diann was the Senior Vice President of Operations for the Folsom Chamber. She directed their Government Affairs program for several years before coming onboard full time. As owner of her own company for nearly twenty years, The Rogers Group, Diann served as Executive Director of Northern & Central California Citizens Against Lawsuit Abuse (CALA) for over ten years. She advocated for legislative reform, increased awareness within the public and private sector, the media, and the general public.

Diann and her husband Ron have lived in the Sacramento area since 1996. She is a breast cancer survivor and remains cancer free since 2001. She is an avid soccer fan and alongside her son, earned a black belt in karate at age 40. A year ago, Diann and Ron became first time grandparents.

Monterey Trails HS Student Arrested for Attempted Homicide

Sacramento County Sheriff's Department

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - On Wednesday, August 17, 2022, at approximately 1:59 p.m., school officials at Monterey Trails High School, which is a part of Elk Grove Unified School District in the County of Sacramento, requested medical assistance for a 15-year-old male student having trouble breathing. Fire arrived on school grounds at the same time as the student's parent. The parent transported the juvenile male student to the hospital for evaluation. Sacramento County Sheriff's Office Deputies, who hold the position as the School Resource Officers, spoke to witnesses. Their preliminary investigation indicated that the victim student had suffered multiple blunt force trauma to the upper body by another 15-year-old male student.

Deputies were able to view video footage showing the assault by a fellow student. Deputies identified the suspect student and arrested him for attempted homicide and transported him to Sacramento County Juvenile Hall for booking. The suspect is being held on two felony counts without bail. This is an active investigation. There is no further information on the juvenile suspect nor any more details of the incident at this time. Sacramento County Sheriff's Office Detectives are asking anyone who may have witnessed this incident or who might have cell phone video to please contact the Sheriff's Office at (916) 874-5115 or Sacramento Valley Crime Stoppers at (916) 443-HELP. Tip information may also be left anonymously at www.sacsheriff.com or by calling (916) 874-TIPS (8477). ★

Mommy Can You Hear Me?

A state program that provides children's hearing aids may be expanded to include more families

A proposal to expand a year-old California program that provides hearing aids to children was approved by the state Legislature in the final days of the session that ended Wednesday.

If Gov. Gavin Newsom signs the bills, the expansion will add about 2,000 additional deaf or hard of hearing children who have partial insurance coverage and up to age 21 who are not currently eligible for the income-based Hearing Aid Coverage for Children Program. If approved, it will go into effect Jan. 1, 2023.

"For the families that weren't eligible before this is relief they have been waiting for a long time. Young adults who are aging out of the program will be able to stay on," said Mike Odeh, senior director at Children Now, an advocacy organization focused on children. "We know hearing aids are not just a nice-to-have medical device. It's truly important for all sorts of communication, socialization, and development that are important for kids and youth thriving."

Ensuring more children are eligible is good news for parents and advocates but it raises the question about whether the program, which has been plagued with problems, can actually serve them. In its first year, the program provided hearing aids to a tiny fraction of the 2,300 kids it intended to reach annually. Overall, about 7,000 kids currently qualify but they typically only need devices every three years.

In addition, the application process is complex and takes a long time, families with some insurance coverage are not eligible and few qualified providers who serve children are accepting the program. For physicians and audiologists, the state reimbursement rates are low and they could wait years to get paid, advocates said.

The last-minute addition to the budget bills this week followed a CalMatters story about the program's challenges, a strident letter from the Republican Caucus to the state about the failure of the program to reach more children, and continued work by advocates and Central Valley Assemblymember Joaquin Arambula.

"I'm so grateful," said Michelle Marciniak, founder of Let California Kids Hear, an advocacy organization that works to increase access for deaf and hard of hearing children. "It was a huge weight seeing a certain population excluded from this program."

Earlier this year, as part of the budget process, the Legislature had requested additional funds to improve the program and proposed expanding it to include children with partial insurance coverage. But that proposal did not make it into the governor's revised budget released in May.

Then last week, Arambula carried the language that was inserted into broader budget bills.

"This budget item means so much to so many children and families. I applaud the advocates whose tenacity helped achieve this, and I'm profoundly grateful to the State Administration for working with us to ensure the Hearing Aid Coverage for Children Program can be expanded this year to underinsured children in need," he said in an email. "We know these hearing aids and services are vital in helping these children develop and learn and, most importantly, bolster their well-being and connect with the world around them."

Odeh pointed out that while the expansion is great news, advocates will continue to lobby the state to improve the clunky and long application process, to increase reimbursement for providers and to get more audiologists and doctors to accept the program.

Hearing aids for children typically cost from $3,000 to 10,000 and need to be replaced every three years.

The program, which debuted in July 2021, currently provides hearing aids for children who do not qualify for Medi-Cal, the state's insurance program for low-income residents, or do not have any other insurance. Families must meet certain income requirements. It was created after a 2019 legislative proposal to classify hearing aids as medically necessary so health insurers would have to cover them. That bill was opposed by health insurers and was pulled by the author after the Newsom administration said it would fund a program instead.

In its first year, the program dispensed only 39 hearing aids, according to data from the California Department of Health Care Services, which oversees the program. The agency did not say why the program reached so few children in its first year.

On Aug. 12, the Senate Republican Caucus expressed concern about the program in a letter to the Department of Health Care Services and demanded answers. In the letter, they asked why the program has served so few children and what is going to be done to correct the problems.

"It strains belief that, after a year of operation, this program has only assisted a fraction of those estimated to be eligible, and without explanation," they wrote.

According to the office of Lancaster Republican Sen. Scott Wilk, the caucus has not yet received a response from the Department of Health Care Services.

Agency spokesperson Anthony Cava said it is still preparing a response for the caucus. If the expansion becomes official, Cava said it would update all communication, including websites, applications, and correspondence with the new eligibility information by January 2023.

Getting hearing aids early in life is critical for infants and children. They stand to lose speech, language and social-emotional development if they are not able to hear soon enough, according to a study in the journal Pediatrics.

The goal among physicians is to fit children with hearing aids by the time they are 6 months of age, said Dr. Dan Duran, audiologist and manager of audiology at Valley Children's Hospital in Madera.

Any delays in getting hearing aids make it nearly impossible for kids to catch up to their hearing peers.

"These delays can impact kids in terms of their speech and language development," Duran said. "It can also set them back in other important milestones as they are developing and growing."

Duran said the expansion of eligibility will benefit families who struggle to pay their share of costs after insurance or who wait to gather up the funds or put off getting devices for their children because of cost. He expects the center will be even busier because families come from as far as Santa Barbara and Stockton for care.

Marciniak said the lack of providers accepting the program is a huge problem for families who have to drive long distances to reach them. Expanding the provider list is next on advocates' list of things to do.

For single mom Kimberly Nguyen, in Sacramento, the expansion comes a little too late for her family to use now but it will be a great benefit in the future, she said.

She had been waiting to see if any changes to the program would cover her family because they have partial insurance. After waiting more than a year and seeing no hope for change this year she used money she saved from working extra hours to finally purchase a pair of hearing aids for her youngest daughter last month.

Nguyen has two daughters, 10 and 7, who typically need hearing aids every three years. Next time she hopes the state program will save her thousands of dollars. That is if she can find a provider in Sacramento. Currently the closest doctors on the state's provider list are in San Francisco.

"This is great for all the families who can now access the program and who don't have to worry about how to pay the difference," said Nguyen, who has testified before the Legislature and advocated for the change. Her insurance covers $1,000 of the $6,000 hearing aids she purchased.

At the same time this week, the California Public Employees' Retirement System, which administers health benefits for state and local government employees and retirees, announced that its basic plans would cover hearing aids for children starting in January 2023. That means instead of covering just a fraction of the cost, the insurers will fully pay for the devices. ★

Senate Democrats Kill Proposal to Fund Critical Water Storage

Office of Senator Jim Nielsen

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Senator Jim Nielsen, R-Red Bluff, issued the following statement in response to Senate Democrats killing his proposal on August 30, to fully fund and build Sites Reservoir:

"Here they go again. Senate Democrats need to get their heads screwed on straight. For the second time this year, they have killed critical funding to build Sites Reservoir.

"California is in the third year of a devastating drought. The state budget is flush with money. Doesn't it make sense to get large-scale, above-ground water storage funded and built?"

"What's most frustrating is that voters overwhelming approved building water storage via Proposition 1 back in 2014. Not one shovel has been turned. Not one drop of water has been stored.

"That's shamefully irresponsible and short-sighted of our state's leaders. The future of our children and grandchildren depends on a reliable water supply."

Nielsen offered amendments to Assembly Bill 2201, which would have established the Water

Storage and Conveyance Fund to provide:

$2.6 billion to fully fund Sites Reservoir; and $685 million to repair the Friant-Kern/Delta-Mendota Canals and the San Luis Field/San Joaquin Divisions of the California Aqueduct.

FEMA Fire Management Assistance Granted for the Mosquito Fire

FEMA News Release

OAKLAND, CA (MPG) - The Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) regional administrator authorized the use of federal funds to assist the state of California in combatting the Mosquito Fire burning in Placer and El Dorado counties.

On Sept. 9, the state of California submitted a request for a Fire Management Assistance Grant (FMAG). At the time of the request, the fire threatened approximately 3,600 homes in and around Foresthill, CA. The fire also threatened a high school, middle school, elementary school, Placer County Community Center, a Placer County Sheriff substation, Cal Fire Station 11, two hydro power plants, Foresthill Water Treatment Plant, Foresthill Fire Protection District, Sugar Pine Dam and Reservoir, and two public radio towers for fire and law enforcement communications.

FMAGs provide federal funding for up to 75 percent of eligible firefighting costs. The Disaster Relief Fund provides allowances for FMAGs through FEMA to assist in fighting fires that threaten to become a greater incident.

Eligible costs covered by FMAGs can include expenses for field camps, equipment use, materials, supplies and mobilization, and demobilization activities attributed to fighting the fire.

FBI Field Office Warns of Scammers Posing as FBI Agents

Sacramento FBI Field Office

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Federal Bureau of Investigation Sacramento Field Office (FBI Sacramento) is cautioning the public to be wary of any unsolicited call, especially if the caller claims to be from the FBI.

"Nothing sends a person into a panic like a call from law enforcement, especially when the call informs them that they have been a victim of a crime or may be wanted for a crime," explained Acting Special Agent in Charge Dennis Guertin. "Sadly, that response is something scammers are leveraging with increased frequency, so it is important to educate the public about what to look out for."

Scammers are sophisticated and any unsolicited call, text or email can be a path for a scammer to attempt to gain your trust and separate you from your hard-earned money. To ensure your security and safety:

Never click on links contained in unsolicited emails or texts. The links may route you to fake websites or deploy malicious software on your phone or computer; Never trust the caller ID number; the displayed telephone number can be manipulated with software; Never be afraid to hang up on an unsolicited caller; Always consider sending unsolicited phone calls to voicemail. Most scam call centers will not leave a message; Always check the email address of seemingly official communications and feel free to reach out to your bank or credit card company directly by calling the telephone number on the back of your card to verify if the email is legitimate.

Some scammers impersonate FBI agents over the phone. "The public should not be afraid to hang up on an alleged agent. An authentic FBI agent will find other ways to contact you, if necessary," said Guertin.

An official FBI special agent will never provide you with a badge number or telephone number to attempt to verify their identity without additional verification. Instead, they will direct you to the official FBI website www.fbi.gov to locate the local field office's telephone number and encourage you to make a call.

FBI will never call or email you to do any of the following:

Make demands for money, wire transfers, gift cards, or bitcoin; Coordinate financial transactions of any kind; Threaten arrest.

Reporting scams is an important step to protect yourself and others from victimization. All scams can be reported online on the FBI Internet Crime Complaint Center website, www.ic3.gov, or call your local FBI field office. ★

Defendant Convicted for Shooting Murder

Sac County DA News Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Patrick Noied was convicted by a jury of the first-degree murder of Tayler Wellman-Holochowst.

The jury also found true the allegation that Noied personally discharged a firearm causing the death of the victim.

On May 5, 2021, the victim drove to an apartment complex to sell marijuana to an acquaintance. The victim, the acquaintance and several other individuals smoked marijuana and hung out together in and around the victim's car. Patrick Noied joined the group for some time and then left.

He returned to the victim's car, brandished a firearm and attempted to rob the victim of his marijuana. Noied fired at least two shots into the car striking the victim in the neck and arm. He then reached into the car to grab the victim's bag of marijuana before fleeing. The victim was able to drive his vehicle to a store and ask for help before succumbing to his injuries minutes later. The gun used in the murder was never recovered.

Noied faces a maximum sentence of 50 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for October 14, 2022, at 9:00 a.m. Department 30 before the Honorable Donald Currier. ★

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF BEN JOE DAVIS AKA BEN JOE DAVIS JR. CASE NO. 34-2021-00307070 To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of Ben Joe Davis aka Ben Joe Davis, Jr., deceased.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by James Davis, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting James Davis be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows November 18, 2022, 1:30 p.m. in Dept 129, Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, William R. Ridgeway Family Relations Courthouse, 3341 Power Inn Road, Sacramento, CA 95826.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. The name, address and telephone number of the Attorney for Petitioner is: Kathleen C. Lyon Esq., Aronowitz Skidmore Lyon, 200 Auburn Folsom Road, Suite 305, Auburn, CA, 95603; 530-823-9736

By: M. Tablas, Deputy Clerk STANDARD FAMILY LAW RESTRAINING ORDERS

Starting immediately, you and your spouse or domestic partner are restrained from: 1. removing the minor children of the parties from the state or applying for a new or replacement passport for those minor children without the prior written consent of the other party or an order of the court; 2. cashing, borrowing against, canceling, transferring, disposing of, or changing the beneficiaries of any insurance or other coverage, including life, health automobile, and disability, held for the benefit of the parties and their minor children; 3. transferring, encumbering, hypothecating, concealing, or in any way disposing of any property, real or personal, whether community, quasi-community, or separate, without the written consent of the other party or an order of the court, except in the usual course of business or for the necessities of life; and 4. creating a nonprobate transfer or modifying a nonprobate transfer in a manner that affects the disposition of property subject to the transfer, without the written consent of the other party or an order of the court. Before revocation of a nonprobate transfer can take effect or a right of survivorship to property can be eliminated, notice of the change must be filed and served on the other party.

You must notify each other of any proposed extraordinary expenditures at least five business days prior to incurring these extraordinary expenditures and account to the court for all extraordinary expenditures made after these restraining orders are effective. However, you may use community property, quasi-community property, or your own separate property to pay an attorney to help you or pay court costs.

WARNING: IMPORANT INFORMATION

California law provides that, for purposes of division of property upon dissolution of a marriage or domestic partnership or upon legal separation, property acquired by the parties during marriage or domestic partnership in joint form is presumed to be community property. If either party to this action should die before the jointly held community property is divided, the language in the deed that characterizes how title is held (i.e., joint tenancy, tenants in common, or community property) will be controlling, and not the community property presumption. You should consult your attorney if you want the community property presumption to be written into the recorded title to the property.

ACT Against Hate Alliance News Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The rise in hate crimes has impacted communities throughout the United States creating mistrust and anger from targeted groups. The tie between these crimes and the Covid pandemic is a clear one, with economic peril resulting in even more of a divide between various ethnic groups.

"We have all expressed horror at what is going on – which has become almost a daily occurrence in this country," stated Bob Huff, former minority leader of the California Senate and the sponsor of multiple pieces of legislation in support of underrepresented communities.

"It is time that we pull together our enormous resources and talent to start identifying solutions. Talk without action is not advancing change and change is desperately needed," Huff said.

Senator Huff and his wife, Mei Mei Ho Huff, consultants in government affairs, community/media relations, and business development, have established a new initiative called the ACT Against Hate Alliance (AAHA) to identify the roots of hate crimes and then to identify solutions. In 2022-2023, AAHA will provide innovative programming that brings key stakeholders together to discuss the most pressing issues surrounding hate crime and each aspect of the program to focus on solutions. During his time in California government, Bob Huff was known as a coalition builder whose expertise enabled him to get many important pieces of key legislation passed.

"We committed to taking new action when members of our Asian community reached out to us to ask for help, commenting on the increase in hate crimes—often violent—against Asians in our community and across the nation," said Mei Mei Huff, a well-known leader in California's Asian community for over two decades.

"We see these same problems targeting other groups," said Mei Mei Huff, "and we cannot stand by and relegate the responsibility to someone else hoping they will find solutions. We have the experience and the commitment, and with AAHA, we are focused on finding the solutions we so desperately need."

The inaugural program for ACT Against Hate Alliance was held at the California State Capitol on August 17, 2022, with government leaders speaking on the importance of this new initiative in bringing together leaders from all sectors around a solutions-focused agenda.

Other AAHA programs and events throughout the year will be a mix of remote and in-person activities. All programs will be open to members of government, NGOs, media, academic institutions, and community organizations, as well as to members of the public.

Seed funding for media programming is provided by a grant from the California State Library.

Scammers Use Every Trick to Steal Your Identity, Financial Information

IRS News Release

WASHINGTON, CA (MPG) - Suspicious communications in all its forms designed to either trick, surprise or scare someone into responding before thinking is No. 7 on the 2022 "Dirty Dozen" scams warning list, the Internal Revenue Service announced today, warning everyone to be on the lookout for bogus calls, texts, emails and posts online to gain trust or steal.

Criminals have used these methods for years and they persist because these tricks work enough times to keep the scammers at it. Victims are tricked into providing sensitive personal financial information, money or other information. This can be used to file false tax returns and tap into financial accounts, among other schemes.

As part of the Security Summit effort with the states and the nation's tax industry, the IRS has made great strides in preventing and reducing tax-related identity theft. But it remains a serious threat to taxpayers and tax professionals who don't adequately protect Social Security numbers (SSN) and other personal information.

For example, criminals can quickly file a fake tax return using a stolen SSN in the hope that it has not already appeared on another filed return. People frequently don't know they are a victim of identity theft until they are notified by the IRS of a possible issue with their tax return or their return is rejected because the SSN appears on a return already filed.

Here are some common scams the IRS continues to see. Taxpayers should take extra caution with these schemes, which continue to evolve and change:

Text message scams: These scams are sent to taxpayers' smartphones and can reference things like COVID-19 and/or "stimulus payments." These messages often contain bogus links claiming to be IRS websites or other online tools. Other than IRS Secure Access, the IRS does not use text messages to discuss personal tax issues, such as those involving bills or refunds. The IRS also will not send taxpayers messages via social media platforms.

If a taxpayer receives an unsolicited SMS/text that appears to be from either the IRS or a program closely linked to the IRS, the taxpayer should take a screenshot of the text message and include the screenshot in an email to phishing@irs.gov with the following information:

Date, time and time zone they received the text message; Phone number that received the text message; The IRS reminds everyone NOT to click links or open attachments in unsolicited, suspicious or unexpected text messages whether from the IRS, state tax agencies or others in the tax community.

Email phishing scams: The IRS does not initiate contact with taxpayers by email to request personal or financial information. The IRS initiates most contacts through regular mail. If a taxpayer receives an unsolicited fraudulent email that appears to be from either the IRS or a program closely linked to the IRS, report it by sending the email as an attachment to phishing@irs.gov. The Report Phishing and Online Scams page at IRS.gov provides complete details.

Phone scams: The IRS does not leave pre-recorded, urgent or threatening messages. In many variations of the phone scam, victims are told if they do not call back, a warrant will be issued for their arrest. Other verbal threats include law-enforcement agency intervention, deportation or revocation of licenses.

Criminals can fake or "spoof" caller ID numbers to appear to be anywhere in the country, including from an IRS office. This prevents taxpayers from being able to verify the caller's true number. Fraudsters also have spoofed local sheriff's offices, state departments of motor vehicles, federal agencies and others, to convince taxpayers the call is legitimate.

The IRS (and its authorized private collection agencies) will never:

Call to demand immediate payment using a specific payment method such as a pre-paid debit card, gift card or wire transfer. The IRS does not use these methods for tax payments; Threaten to immediately bring in local police or other law-enforcement groups to have the taxpayer arrested for not paying; Demand that taxes be paid without giving the taxpayer the opportunity to question or appeal the amount owed; Ask for credit or debit card numbers over the phone.

Generally, the IRS will first mail a bill to any taxpayer who owes taxes. All tax payments should only be made payable to the U.S. Treasury and checks should never be made payable to third parties. For anyone who doesn't owe taxes and has no reason to think they do: Do not give out any information. Hang up immediately. For more information, see IR-2022-25. ★
