Christmas! The Rancho Cordova holding its 10th Annual Christmas in Cordova this December 19. Through the RCPD Youth Services Unit, the toy drive has been held on various days over the past month for the benefit of 350 families in need.

Sergeant Rich Meredith, PAL Executive Director, Director and Youth Coordinator, said the program was able to collect and receive donations on Black Friday, November 27, of about 500 toys and $900. Likewise, on Wednesday, December 2, the drive collected some 500 toys and over $2,000 towards Christmas in Cordova stated the police department.

Tina Aldama, PAL Crime Prevention Specialist, said PAL has had to make a lot of adjustments throughout the year to maintain its youth outreach activities due to COVID-19 restrictions. "Some of our activities, such as our Junior Giants sports program, have shifted emphasis from sports to reading, being able to still serve about 365 kids through distinct virtual approaches."

Aldama said, "200 families signed up for the toy drive which will help approximately 500 children and we

Sac County Assists Transitional Aged Youth

By Sacramento County Health & Social Services

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Growing up isn't easy, even under the best of circumstances. Unfortunately, not everyone gets the support and guidance they need to take on life's adult responsibilities. For some transitional-aged youth (TAY) between the ages of 18 and 24, that steep learning curve can result in housing instability or homelessness.

According to a 2019 Sacramento County homeless population count, approximately 415 TAY - 8 percent of the total population - were experiencing homelessness. Of those counted: 59 percent were unsheltered and sleeping outdoors; 41 percent were staying in a transitional housing program, a hotel/ motel or vehicle; 42 percent were experiencing long-term continuous homelessness lasting over a year.

"There are so many different milestones that occur during that time frame and a lot of youth may not have the healthiest support system or they might not have any at all. That presents a great challenge in understanding how to navigate those new worlds they're entering at that age," says Angel Uhercik, Homeless Services Program Planner with the Sacramento County Department of Human Assistance. "That's where the guidance from our case managers and our Prevention and Intervention specialists is so key in helping them be successful."

Sacramento County's Prevention and Intervention Program offers housing and a hand up. Partnering with Lutheran Social Services, Waking the Village, Wind Youth Services and the Sacramento LGBT Community Center, they connect clients with housing, short-term financial assistance and services to help youth to navigate resources, including employment, education and anything else clients may need.

"The partners are really well resourced to bridge the access from Prevention and Intervention assistance to a lot of different groups in our community," Uhercik says.

Last year, Chardonnay Blakes, 24, a new mother and college student, found herself homeless. While she was able to couch surf with family, it wasn't sustainable.

"The apartment was way too small, it was a one-bedroom," she remembers. "My brother also takes care of his little brother who is in high school so I had to sleep on the couch with my son."

By Deb Boogaard,

Folsom Mask Making SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - "I said, 'Somebody should do something about that.' Then I realized I am somebody." This Lily Tomlin quote epitomizes the motivation behind Janet Cottrill's decision mid-March 2020 to address the critical need for PPEs during the Covid pandemic. Cottrill, who was not working due to health issues, hoped to make a difference in her community. She co-founded Folsom Mask Makers (FMM) with her neighbor KC Endeman, who created the FMM Facebook page. RN Karla Burgess, retired grandmother Karen Hamer, and Cathy Hamman soon joined the effort as site administrators and the group of helpers quickly grew.

To date, FMM has produced in excess of 60,000 masks, 2,650 scrub caps for medical staff and pediatric oncology patients, 1,310 visual masks to facilitate lip reading, hundreds of 3D printed face shields, and thousands of crocheted and 3D printed ear savers. These critical supplies have been donated to over 350 hospitals, medical and dental groups, care homes, schools, nonprofit and community organizations, and emergency service agencies in Sacramento, Placer, and El Dorado counties.

Stand Strong at the Crossroads

By Thomas J. Sullivan

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - At-risk, out-of-school young adults between the ages of 18-24 living in Sacramento County have until January 30th, 2021 to submit their applications to participate in the Crossroads Youth Employment Program (YEP), said Matthew Rosario, youth services case manager at the Crossroads Job Center in Citrus Heights.

The YEP program offers its participants an opportunity to build employment skills and gain first-time work experience.

Applications are taken first-come, firstserve, Rosario said. He recommends interested youth should call him at 916-676-2540, extension 322 to arrange to pick up an application packet.

"Once they contact the Sacramento Works Center, I'll send them the necessary forms by email to get them enrolled as quickly as possible," he said.

In partnership with the Sacramento Employment and Training Agency (SETA), Crossroads Diversified Services operates the Citrus Heights Sacramento Works Job Center at 7011 Sylvan Road, Suite A in Citrus Heights. The Youth Employment Program (YEP) is a year-round work experience program, funded by the federal Workforce Investment Act (WIOA).

"Right now, 17 positions are available, and the application deadline has been extended to January 30, 2021," Rosario said. The current pay scale is $13.75 an hour for up to 200 hours of work, and the hourly wage will increase to the state's new $14.00 minimum wage level in January

YEP applicants must be interested in giving back to their community, developing leadership skills, attending employment workshops, and completing up to 200 hours of paid work at a local business. Applications are accepted until all positions are filled, Rosario said.

The YEP program is specifically focused on at-risk youth who may not have internet or personal computer access. Program participants may be provided a laptop computer if needed.

"Many of the youth targeted by the (YEP) program are among our most vulnerable," Rosario said. "They have a variety of challenges they are trying to supportive services who may lack the technology to participate in remote sessions," he said. "They just need to call our office to make the necessary arrangements."

The application process consists of completing the YEP application packet, an interview with a case manager and completion of a certification appointment at the job center to enroll into the program. Once the application is completed, all candidates complete a series of pre-employment work readiness workshops to help prepare them to be successful employees, Rosario said.

YEP program participants are expected to complete all required workshops, work experience at a local business, a pre and post-test assessment if applicable and obtain employment after completing the program and/or enroll into post-secondary education, Rosario explained.

The Crossroads Job Center's Citrus Heights branch has shifted its in-person operating hours to "by appointment only" due to the pandemic, Rosario said. The center offers job training and counseling assistance both online and by using Zoom video chat.

"When Covid hit, many local employers we had been working with significantly scaled back their hiring," he said. "That is starting to change as employers are looking again to hire. We chiefly work with employers to find entry-level positions "We're helping at-risk youth with where participants in our program can build employment skills," he said.

"We're taking necessary steps to better prepare our applicants for work in this new job environment," he said. Additional training in workplace safety standards has been updated to reflect California social distancing standards in the workplace, he said.

What makes a successful YEP program

"A positive attitude and an ability to be able to act respectfully and professionally at all times," Rosario said. "We'll help them with communication skills and address any issues, concerns or workrelated problems to ensure their success."

The YEP application checklist includes right to work documents, proof of an employment barrier and federal Selective Service Registration for males over 17 years of age. Proof of an employment barrier can include low income, proof of disability, parenting, pregnancy, probation or homelessness. Youth in former or current foster care environments are also considered with a letter from a social worker or applicable court documents, he said.

Participants learn to navigate the world of work by identifying and exploring future career occupations, employment preparation, leadership development, networking, and skill development.

"Our goal is to have all the participants in the YEP program fully commit to the year-long program," he said.

"Participants must complete mandatory work readiness workshops before they are placed with an employer," Rosario said. "At this time all workshops are done remotely via online video chat or assigned with specific activities to be done by email and Microsoft Powerpoint."

"All of our workshop sessions are via one-on-one appointment and we've scheduled times which are flexible for our participants to attend," Rosario said. Individual workshops include resume writing, career exploration, job searching strategies, interview preparation and mock interviewing.

Once in the program, YEP participants must agree to arrive on time to all workshops, program meetings, and work shifts, Rosario said. "If they are late or cannot make their work shift, they are required to call their case manager or employer in advance."

YEP workshops also place emphasis on "soft skills" which Rosario said are especially critical to the success of new job seekers in the workplace. These include strengthening interpersonal communication skills, critical thinking skills and modeling professionalism in the workplace.

The Crossroads Job Center provides a host of resource services to assist individuals in finding, obtaining and keeping employment. Services include job seeker assessment tools, employment skills workshops, benefits counseling services, state Economic Development Department (EDD) Veterans Services referrals, state certified typing/data entry tests and "Ticket to Work" services.

The "Ticket to Work" program, a free and voluntary program which offers eligible job seekers age 18-64 who receive Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) and/or Supplemental Security Disability Income (SSI) benefits which provides choices, opportunities and support needed to find and keep employment, building a path towards self-sufficiency.

"We're here to help," Rosario said.

For more information on the Crossroads Youth Employment Program (YEP) contact Matthew Rosario, youth services case manager at 916-676-2540, extension 322. The Crossroads Job Center at 7011 Sylvan Road, Suite A, urges all job seekers to contact a workforce development representative at 916-676-2540 to schedule an appointment.

Sublime Flight Captured in Stitches

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - With enormous wing spans, bald eagles know better than to fly too closely - except in battle. But when raptors circle in thermal air, their flight paths cross every 360 degrees.

The phenomenon has been captured in craft by Rosemont quilter Hilary Pollock, an assistant kindergarten teacher who donated her creation to her Orangevale school.

"Our school has the eagle as its mascot," Hilary explains. "Every year we have an 'eagle chase' jogathon, to raise funds. Everyone gets a raffle ticket for participating. This year I decided to donate a quilt for a prize. Online I found a photo of the eagles whose nest is near our school. It seemed just right. Our school likes to put virtues - like resilience and perseverance in context for children. The eagle, who has come back from near-extincthe colors and textures in the photo."

The artist also incorporated the school song in panels surrounding her creation's central panel.

Captured in zig-zag stitches, the lyrics begin: Golden Valley gleams from sunlight

"Dewdrops fill the field so bright.

hearts awaken

Teacher Hilary Pollock displays the quilt she created to portray bald eagles that reside near her school. She holds the hotograph that inspired her art. The quilt was raffled as a fundraiser for Golden Valley Charter Schools.

Winter, Fall..."

Hilary's classes venture outdoors in all seasons. She helps instruct four to six year-olds at Golden Valley River School, tion, sure does that. The where a Waldorf-style photographer gave me curriculum involves teacher colleague was the permission to portray her children greatly with image and I found eight nature. Kindergarteners different fabrics to repeat take regular hikes along river bluffs where a pair of the rare American River raptors have visited for nearly five years. The kids even provided the names Peekaboo and Poppy for the couple's 2017 babies. A year later, they came up with Byrd and Rainbow for the second pair of eaglets. By some self-Seasons change and fulfilling prophesy, the school's emblem - and Summer, Spring, and its fundraiser name

- had been chosen many years before the first eagles appeared in its neighborhood.

Hilary titled her prize quilt "Chasing Eagles - Soaring High." A delighted winner. "Eagles are special to our school," explains the crafter. "They're not just a national emblem, they're also super-inspiring and they lend themselves well to art. They inspire us to fly high – to achieve heights in life. Our children are able to see eagles nearly every day so they don't realize what a big deal it is to have them locally. But they're still in awe every time they see the birds soaring overhead."

River Cats, Susan Savage, Inspire ABC Comedy

By Chip Maxson, Sacramento River Cats

WEST SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Felicity Huffman looks to return to TV in a new baseball comedy based on the story of Susan Savage and the Sacramento River Cats. ABC has committed to producing a pilot written by Becky Hartman Edwards and stars, alongside Huffman, The Peanut Butter Falcon's Zack Gottsagen. Aaron Kaplan of Kapital Entertainment saw the potential and brought together the group that attracted many offers before deciding to partner with ABC.

Based in Sacramento. the project will focus on TV show, Well, I decided characters and loose the life of Susan Savage, CEO and majority owner of the River Cats, a Triple-A minor league baseball team. Savage took over as CEO of the River Cats when her late husband, Art Savage, passed away and asked her not to sell the team.

Susan runs the team with her two sons, Jeff and Brent. The story will highlight overcomhumor, fun, and surprises that go along with minor league baseball.

"There is still a long way to go," reminds Savage, "but it is truly exciting to be at this point. Over the years, whether in an executive meeting or simply talking with one of our longtime fans, something uniquely funny would happen and we would always say that someone should put it in a creativity using new to start writing it down and here we are."

"When Art passed away, there were a lot of questions and I didn't have the answers," Susan continued. "However, this team was his dream so I jumped right in alongside my boys (Jeff and Brent) and we were going to figure this out one way or another. I am so proud of what we have been able ing loss and grief, family to accomplish as a famdynamics at work, and the ily, but along the way there are plenty of goofs and gaffs that we can laugh at now. Add that to our favorite fans, cheeky players, and quirky promotions, and I'm sure there is something everyone can laugh at and relate to."

Savage also added that although the script was inspired by her story, Hartman Edwards writes with her own flare and interpretations.

The pilot filming is set to begin in the spring. Sutter Health Park is the West Sacramento home of the 2019 Triple-A Champion Sacramento River Cats, and proud affiliate of the three-time World Champion San Francisco Giants. There was a tremendous number of customers (we were among them) who went to the Apple Hill businesses to get apples, baking goods, a Christmas tree, and most important, to collect more memories. Like many other couples, when my wife and I had just begun building our family, things seemed to be going so fast that you don't realize how important those memories are. Now when we went to Apple Hill last weekend, one of our daughter's and her boyfriend came, one of our sons and his wife and their five children (five grandchildren) also came for fun and food and a tree. We will always have room in our hearts for the warm feelings that getting together gives us. Merry Christmas does that heard that the FDA author- be getting into something ities have approved the giving of the vaccines that can begin to stop the coronavirus. The news said that the FDA was going to approve one of the vaccines on Thursday. I hope they are correct.

I am going to continue trying to contact the correct people who will work with me to get a Fisher House built next to the Mather VA Hospital. The official name for that VA Hospital is the VA Northern California Health Care System, but the veterans who are treated there would greatly appreciate it if their families could be there and give them their emotional support. You know, the support that only families can give.

Like everyone I have talked to, they are all looking for the end of the year 2020 and hoping that the year 2021 will be the beginning of getting back of a new life because it will be quite different, not being on the City Council. We will have to see how that will work out, but one thing is for sure, I will continue doing everything I can to help our Rancho Cordova veterans. Since we no longer have a Council Member who is a veteran.

I will be letting you know about the last meeting in which I will be a member as soon as it happens. You know, the future hasn't happened yet. But I will appreciate everything that happens today because there are so many things to look forward to in the future. You know, "Yesterday is history, tomorrow is a mystery, and today is a gift. That's why they call it the 'present'."

From Councilman Bob McGarvey, God bless, and we'll see you next time. ★

Who will have Priority for COVID Vaccine?

By Dan Walters CALMatters

There's nothing new about political jousting over shares of a limited but valuable resource.

For instance, Californians have been squabbling for decades over divvying up water supplies among agricultural interests, municipal consumers and the natural environment. The conflict never goes away but increases in intensity every time the state experiences one of its periodic droughts – and this so-far dry autumn may be a harbinger of another such dry spell.

The annual business of writing a new state budget is always an exercise in political rationing. Even in times of prosperity, when the state treasury is awash in tax money, there's never quite enough to satisfy all of the demands and expressions of urgent need. More for schools, more for health care, more for colleges, more for childcare or more for prisons?

Those who hire the most and best lobbyists, shower legislators with campaign contributions and wage lavish media campaigns tend over time to fare the best when Capitol politicians decide who gets how much cash.

The allocations of water serious impacts on the contending parties, but usually they are not all-or-nothing situations. Even the losers generally wind up with something, even if they see it as not enough.

A new political free-forall is just beginning and this time it is all-or-nothing, potentially with life-ordeath consequences – who gets the very limited initial supply of vaccine against the potentially deadly coronavirus.

Gov. Gavin Newsom said last week that he expects California to receive an initial allocation of 327,000 doses of vaccine in mid-December. His administration wants to prioritize vaccinations of health care workers who are most in danger of being infected with the virus.

Few would argue with that intent, but the initital vaccine supply doesn't come close to covering everyone who falls into that general category. California has more than two million health care workers, and even within that group, there's a certain level of competition.

Organizations representing local-term care facilities, otherwise known as nursing homes, are pressing for first-tier priority, contending that their elderly clients are being disproportionately infected, often with fatal consequences.

However, another argument is being made for nurses, doctors and others who are directly caring for COVID-19 victims in hospitals.

Expanding vaccinations beyond health care workers will be even more and money obvious have daunting because no one knows when and how many additional doses of vaccine will be coming, other than sometime next year. After the implicit demand from health care workers is met, who's next?

Two state legislators are pressing for teachers to be placed near the top of the prioritization list, citing the sharp decline in educational achievement while students are confined at home and the urgent need for resuming classroom instruction.

Assemblymembers Jordan Cunningham, a San Luis Obispo Republican, and Patrick O'Donnell, a Long Beach Democrat, said in a letter to state health officials, "Interim reports from across the state show increasing rates of failure among students, especially those in lowerincome neighborhoods. ... Our state's children cannot afford to wait."

A recent national study estimated that lower levels of education among students forced to attend classes via the Internet could result in shorter life spans. Several recent articles, including one in CalMatters.org, have detailed how absenteeism has increased and learning has decreased, especially among poor students.

This is heavy-duty stuff. Deciding who gets - and who doesn't get - the vaccine in the earliest stages of the vaccination effort could be deciding who lives and who dies.

Dan Walters has been a journalist for nearly 60 years, spending all but a few of those years working for California newspapers.

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento Regional Transit District (SacRT) and Food Literacy Center unveiled this year's SacRT Holiday Bus on November 30, 2020.

In keeping with the "season of giving," the colorful 40-foot SacRT Holiday Bus is free to ride, but passengers have the option to donate in the farebox (cash accepted) or use a QR code or link to donate online. This year, all donations will benefit Food Literacy Center.

The SacRT Holiday Bus travels on different routes throughout the Sacramento region spreading goodwill from Tuesday, December 1, 2020 through Friday, January 1, 2021. View the Holiday Bus schedule at sacrt.com.

Food Literacy Center's mission is to inspire kids to eat their vegetables. They teach children in low-income elementary schools cooking, nutrition, gardening, and active play to improve our health, environment, and economy. Did you know that only 4% of kids eat enough veggies and 1 in 3 have type 2 diabetes? Healthy eating is the most effective way to prevent diet related disease. During the pandemic, Food Literacy Center is distributing Veggie Recipe Kits to kids so they can cook a healthy meal at home with their families.

Agents Raid Home in Maricopa County in Voter-Data Theft Investigation — Confiscate 8 Hard Drives, 3 Computers and a Bag of USB sticks | 06 Dec 2020 | On the morning of November 5, Arizona federal officials raided a home in the Fountain Hills area in Maricopa County. The agents confiscated eight hard drives, three computers, and a bag of USB sticks. The house belongs to 56-year-old Elliot Kerwin. The agents were looking for evidence of a cyberattack on an unnamed organization and stolen voter data.

Michigan GOP: Secretary of State Trying to Delete Election Data Amid Audit Calls | 04 Dec 2020 | The Michigan GOP on Friday raised concerns about a memo sent by Michigan Secretary of State Jocelyn Benson that "is pushing for the mass deletion of election data," although a spokesperson for the secretary's office later said the process is routine. The GOP said Benson's office told clerks in Michigan counties to "delete Electronic Poll Book software and associated files" amid calls to audit the election while flagging it was concerning. They were likely referring to a Dec. 1 memo from the Michigan Bureau of Elections, which is overseen by Benson's office, that states "[Electronic Poll Book] software and associated files must be deleted from all devices by the seventh calendar day following the final canvass and certification of the election (November 30, 2020) unless a petition for recount has been filed and the recount has not been completed, a post-election audit is planned but has not yet been completed, or the deletion of the data has been stayed by an order of the court or the Secretary of State."

Arizona Legislature Calls for Immediate 'Forensic Audit' of Dominion Voting Machines | 04 Dec 2020 | The Arizona House and Senate have called for an audit of the Maricopa County election software and equipment following allegations of fraud and other irregularities presented by President Donald Trump's team earlier this week. In a news release Friday, GOP leaders of the Republican-controlled legislature sought an independent audit of Dominion Voting Systems software — used in Maricopa County—called for the audit. State Sen. Michelle Ugenti-Rita, a Republican said that Maricopa County's Board of Supervisors "is supportive of conducting an independent audit of their voting software and equipment," adding: "It is important we maintain all of the voting public's confidence in our elections, and this is a positive step." House Majority Leader Warren Petersen, a Republican, said that "a significant number of voters believe that fraud occurred," citing "the number of irregularities" that allegedly occurred in Maricopa County and elsewhere in

Voting Machine USB Drives Had Totals Altered Overnight, Witness in Nevada Election Contest Alleges | 03 Dec 2020 | A witness brought forward by the Trump campaign in its election contest in Nevada alleged that the memory disks used to store vote totals from election machines during the early vote period had the vote tallies unexplainably changed overnight, according to a presentation at an evidentiary hearing in Carson City on Dec. 3. According to Jesse Binnall, who presented the evidence on behalf of the Trump campaign, the witness, whose name is shielded by a protective order, said that the vote tallies were collected from the machine at the end of every voting day and stored on Universal Serial Bus (USB) drives overnight. "What they would do is they would log these disks in and out. Good practice. And the disks had a serial number on them. And numerous times that disk would be logged out with one vote total on it and logged back in the next morning during the early vote period with a different number on it. Sometimes more, sometimes less," Binnall said. "What that means is that literally in the dead of night, votes were appearing, and books are disappearing on these machines." ★

"I'm going to school and I'm in housing and I feel like I've come a long way in a short amount of time," she says. "I've had ups and downs and I'm glad that I'm not struggling with my child. They made it easier for me and they eased my worries of being a new parent and doing it by myself."

Transitional Aged Youth that need help can contact: Lutheran Social Services, Waking the Village, Wind Youth Services, Sacramento LGBT Community Center.

> Helping Youth – Partner Spotlight

Deisy Madrigal, Prevention and Intervention coordinator with Lutheran Social Services, answers questions about the program:

How do you help clients? We tend to take a very individualized approach. The Prevention and Intervention Program itself is a collaboration between four agencies. Because we're a collaborative, we have the ability to leverage our collective resources and knowledge to work toward the best-fit services for youth.

What are some of the biggest challenges your clients face?

Obviously, the high rent prices that we have here make it nearly impossible for someone who's just starting out in a minimum wage job to even afford an apartment. Even if they're able to get a job, they're having a hard time securing housing because of the large amount of rent they're being required to pay.

What do you enjoy most about your job?

I do love the prevention aspect the most because I feel like it's important to be able to stabilize someone's housing whenever the circumstances allow for it because it minimizes the trauma. ★

City of Rancho Cordova Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) and Public Workshop for Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act CDBG-CV Round 3

NOTICE is hereby given that on Monday, December 14, 2020 the City of Rancho Cordova will release a Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) applications, and funding criteria for the third round of Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act CDBG (CDBG-CV) funding and on Friday, December 18, 2020 there will be a NOFA application workshop held with applicants and local stakeholders to review application criteria, process timelines, and receive feedback from the public on current community needs.

The City expects to receive approximately $487,000 in CDBG-CV funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for the third round of CDBG-CV funding and welcomes applications from eligible non-profits and public agencies to help provide projects, activities, and initiatives that help to respond, prepare, and prevent the negative impacts resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic in the community.

Applicants and members of the public are invited to participate in a virtual public meeting on Friday, December 18, 2020 to discuss application guidelines, criteria, and next steps with CDBG staff.

Applications and application instructions will be released on Monday, December 14, 2020 and will be available online through the City's website at the following web address: https:// www.cityofranchocordova.org/departments/community-development/ housing/community-development-block-grant. All applications must be submitted through e-mail to the appropriate staff person as identified in the "Application Instructions" document.

Applications will be due Friday, January 15, 2021 at 5:00 pm. Late and incomplete applications may be rejected.

It is MANDATORY for applicants that have never received a CDBG allocation from the City of Rancho Cordova to attend the application workshop to be held virtually on Friday, December 18, 2020 at 11:00AM. Call-in information for this workshop will be included in the "Application Instructions" document or by contacting Stefan Heisler (sheisler@cityofranchocordova.org) at (916) 851-8757, or Chance Finley-Ross (cfinleyross@cityofranchocordova.org) at (916) 231-2246.

The release of this notice is part of the City's public notice requirements for the City to provide information on its activities to the public and to provide the public an opportunity to review and comment on those City activities.

Thank you for your interest in the City of Rancho Cordova's CDBG program.

NOTICE REGARDING CHALLENGES TO DECISIONS

Pursuant to all applicable laws and regulations, including without limitation, California Government Code Section 65009 and/or California Public Resources Code Section 21177, if you wish to challenge in court any of the above decisions (regarding planning, zoning and/or environmental decisions), you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing(s) described in this notice/ agenda, or in written correspondence delivered to the city at, or prior to, this public meeting.

ADA COMPLIANCE STATEMENT

In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act, if you need special assistance to participate in this meeting, please contact the City Clerk's Department at (916) 851-8720. Notification 48 hours prior to the meeting will enable the City to make reasonable arrangements to ensure accessibility to this meeting.

Public Notice Extent of Groundwater Contamination Eastern Sacramento County

Groundwater in a portion of eastern Sacramento County is contaminated. Contaminants include resulting from the manufacture and testing of rocket and missile systems and production of chemicals. ated. Contaminants include industrial solvents and chemicals

The map shows the approximate extent of contamination in the vicinity of the Aerojet Superfund Site where contaminant concentrations exceed regulatory standards established to ensure safe long-term consumption. There are currently two regulatory actions (Western Groundwater Operable Unit and Perimeter Groundwater Operable Unit) that require Aerojet Rocketdyne to halt the spread of contamination, remediate the contamination, and restore the groundwater to beneficial use. Aerojet Rocketdyne has installed and is currently operating the treatment systems necessary to remediate and restore the offsite groundwater. Additional system modifications are anticipated to be completed in the next several years. Groundwater in portions of areas south of the Aerojet Superfund Site is also contaminated. Other regulatory actions are addressing these areas.

Drinking water in this area is primarily provided by public water supply systems, which monitor water quality and shut down impacted wells nder the oversight of the State Water Resources Control Board-Division of Drinking Water.

Construction of new private and public water supply wells in Sacramento County requires a county permit. The Sacramento County Environmental Management Department has developed a special review procedure for permit applications associated with wells proposed to be constructed near sites with known groundwater contamination. Before proceeding with plans to construct a well within the general proximity of the Aerojet Superfund Site area, please contact:
