RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On October 17, with denim overalls, flannels shirts and boots, Summerset Senior Living of Rancho Cordova hosted resident seniors and guests to its harvest themed and greatly cherished 5th Year Anniversary

Hoedown. Between swelling listeners' emotions with gently picked steel guitar melodies and the rugged vocals of country music band,

Big Trouble, and the vividly dressed and merry dancing of the Associated Square Dancers of Superior California, both patio wings and the residence were treated to a memorable autumn evening. Randi Beasley, owner and Corporate Marketing Director was excited to see that "the event is growing by the year and helping to make the community more acquainted and integrated with the senior residence."

Student Debt Slows Growth After Greater State Investment

Special Report From The Institute for College Access & Success Press Release

OAKLAND, CA (MPG) - New data show that about two in three (65 percent) college seniors who graduated from public and private nonprofit colleges in 2018 had student loan debt. These borrowers owed an average of $29,200, 2 percent higher than the 2017 average of $28,650, according to a report released by The Institute for College Access & Success (TICAS).

After many years of growth in college graduates' average student debt, debt loads have continued to climb but they are climbing at a slower pace. One important factor in the slower growth of student debt appears to be greater state and local support for public colleges, which enroll three-quarters of undergraduates.

"The growth in student loans has slowed in recent years as states have invested more in public colleges, but millions of students continue to struggle with their debts," said executive vice president Debbie Cochrane. "Colleges, states, and the federal government all have an important role to play in reducing the burden of student debt to increase equity in college opportunity."

Between 2008 and 2012, during the budget crises caused by the Great Recession, state and local appropriations fell by $2,000 per student. At the same time, student borrowing rose by nearly $1,100 per student. More recently, as state spending partially rebounded, the student debt situation has improved. With state funding increasing by $1,150 between 2012 and 2016, average student borrowing fell by $500. Other potential factors in changing borrowing over time are discussed in the report.

Student Debt and the Class of 2018, TICAS' 14th annual report on debt at graduation, finds wide variations in debt levels across states as well as colleges. Average student debt at graduation in 2018 ranged from $19,750 in Utah to $38,650 in Connecticut, and new graduates' likelihood of having debt ranged from 36 percent in Utah to 76 percent in New Hampshire. High-debt states remain concentrated in the Northeast and low-debt states are mainly in the West.

The average debt held by four-year college graduates is an important benchmark for college affordability over time and across states because it measures debt levels for students at a comparable point in their academic careers. However, it does not tell the whole story on student debt. The burden of student debt is disproportionately borne by Black students, first-generation college students, and students from low-income families. For example, graduates from lower income families are five times as likely to default as their higher income peers, and 21 percent of Black college graduates defaulted within 12 years of entering college.

This report uses private data that is the only type of data currently available to gauge cumulative student debt for bachelor's degree recipients each year, including both federal and nonfederal loans. While federal data on student loan debt has improved in recent years, little of it includes nonfederal loan debt from private lenders, states, or schools. As documented in the report, college-reported data on student debt levels show that 31 percent of student loan debt in high-debt states is nonfederal debt, underscoring the need for more comprehensive, federally collected debt data.

With far too many Americans continuing to carry the weight of burdensome student debt, the report puts forward a series of policy recommendations for the federal government, states, and colleges. Among those: the federal government should increase and strengthen Pell Grants, make it easier to repay student loans, and make new investments that supplement - not supplant - state funding for public higher education. The federal government should also collect private student loan data to ensure comprehensive data on debt balances and burdens. States should shift merit-based aid to need-based aid, and improve data systems. Colleges can help by examining debt data across demographic groups of students, set aside funds for student emergencies, and set clear, reasonable student budgets. # Spooktaaaaaaaacular Performance!

By Patrick Larenas

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On Sunday, October 20, guests at KP International were entertained at Symphony d’Oro’s Halloween Spooktacular performance, listening to the great masterpieces of cinematic horror music conducted by Pete Nowlen. Ghosts and vampires aside, horror film makers and theatre producers have known that in order to summon the disturbing sensations which terrify you—music is paramount. But music is really not enough, is it...

This Halloween, you will have to be extra cautious at home because cold-blooded beings have awoken to their masters’ calls. And they didn’t wake up for the music either; they’re coming for you, and they seem to know just where you live. “Don’t worry,” you’ll say to yourself, “They’re just dressed up kids!” But when your terrified dog won’t stop frantically barking at the door, you’ll finally realize that that music was not for entertainment. The night has come and you’ll have to endure your door being loudly struck and shaken, again and again ★

By Bob McGarvey

I hope everyone had a good time on Halloween! Whether watching your kids or other kids, or picking a costume, it can be entertaining for everyone who enjoys the Halloween fun. As I have said in the past, this part of the year is the most enjoyable to me because there is something for everyone during this holiday season.

My wife and I used to have a good time window shopping. You could make a day or an evening just looking at the window displays of the stores, which were truly clever in how they would show the clothes or toys or tools, etc. There were perhaps elves working on toys, or models wearing the newest clothes or coats. Today, many people do their shopping online instead of going to the stores. The stores that are still open (because quite a few are closed) have different ideas of how to draw in their customers. “Black Friday(s),” long hours, people waiting for hours outside the stores so they can get their hands on the present(s) first, and things such as that seem to be the “new norm.” There are some people who still prefer to hold the product in their hands instead of accepting a two-dimensional picture of whatever it is on a computer, iPad, phone, etc.

The Mayor's Corner

I couldn’t find the author of this comment, but it fits in many ways. “Be kinder than necessary, for everyone you meet is fighting some kind of battle.” There are so many people in Northern California and Southern California who are doing everything they can to help those who are fighting wildfires in the state. The emotional and physical battles that they are fighting today will leave lasting scars in people’s minds. Many groups are preparing meals that are being taken to help feed the firefighters and others who are trying to stop the raging fires.

The winds are making it almost impossible to stop those terrible fires. The Kincade Fire’s growth in Sonoma County was slower on Monday night because the wind eased up, but the wind picked up again Tuesday and the how to draw in their customers. “Black Friday(s),” long hours, people waiting for hours outside the stores so they can get their hands on the present(s) first, and or fourth blackout. As we have read lately, the fire season is almost all year. It is hard to guess when the fires may be stopped, but I believe that there will be many more people who will be suffering from post-traumatic stress disorder than in the past. The veterans who suffer from war, and now people who suffer from the fires and those who are having a hard time just getting through or away from the fires will not forget some of those frightening moments.

Those of us who live in the City of Rancho Cordova are so fortunate in many ways. There have been some fires here, but nothing like the ones we are seeing almost around us. We are also 85% to 90% above the floodplain in our region. There are always unknown events that will creep up on you and make you wonder, but as long as we continue to believe in each other, I honestly believe that we will be able to keep on helping each other when that help is needed. And we can give a hand to others as long as we can. That is what makes Rancho Cordova the fantastic place it is.

From Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

First, a Proclamation to Public Waldorf Schools AM Winn Elementary and George Washington Carver High School.

On October 7, 2019, AM Winn Elementary and George Washington Carver High School were each presented with a Proclamation from the Rancho Cordova City Council in honor of the 100th Anniversary of Waldorf Education globally.

George Washington Carver High School was the first public Waldorf high school to open in the United States and is currently one of only three public Waldorf high schools in the nation.

Second, aspiring medical professionals have a new career pathway at cordova high school.

Students at Cordova High School seeking careers in medicine will now have a new option to pursue their dreams.

The school’s growing International Baccalaureate (IB) Programme has added a medical pathway to its lineup.

Students in the program can now complete a new, two-year Patient Care career pathway. The Patient Care pathway helps set students on a path to potential careers in medicine, everything from doctors to nurses, medical assistants to physical therapists, and more.

And finally, Cordova Meadows and White Rock Elementary Schools earn State Awards for School Climate.

Cordova Meadows and White Rock Elementary schools have been selected as Silver Award recipients from the California Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports (PBIS) Coalition.

The PBIS Coalition is a framework for supporting the academic, social, emotional, and behavioral success of students to reduce major disciplinary infractions and bullying. Cordova Meadows and White Rock Elementary will be recognized at the fourth-annual California PBIS Conference on October 28 and 29. ★

Building an Inclusive Workforce Makes Cents!

Renee John, Folsom Cordova Community Partnership

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Along with a host of other observations, October is National Disability Employment Awareness month. Why do we need a month for this issue? Finding employment with a disability remains challenging even in today's strong labor market. The unemployment rate for individuals with a disability is more than double that of the general population (U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, February 2019). While many employers desire to be inclusive, they have misperceptions about hiring individuals with disabilities. Here are several benefits to consider:

People with disabilities are capable and creative – Having had to think outside the box most of their lives, individuals with disabilities are not limited by able-bodied perceptions on how to solve problems.

People with disabilities are reliable employees – Research proves time and again that individuals with disabilities are dependable, having reduced absences and reduced employee turnover compared to the general population.

It's not that complicated – Hiring someone with a disability does not mean it will cost the company any additional time or money.

Many individuals with disabilities are experts at accommodating themselves, understanding their needs, and applying for positions that meet their capacity. If accommodations are needed, they often don't cost anything. According to the Job Accommodation Network (JAN), half of all job accommodations cost employers nothing. Of those that do have a cost, the average one-time expense is $500.

Your company may qualify for potential tax credits or other incentives – This includes the Work Opportunity Tax Credit and Disabled Access Credit among others.

It's the law – The Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 prohibits discrimination based on disability in all areas of public life including employment.

All in all, increasing diversity and inclusion in the workplace is good business. In addition to making an impact on profitability, hiring individuals with disabilities has proven to boost employee morale, improve public image and increase market share. For more information on hiring people with disabilities contact your local America's Job Center.

Folsom Cordova's International Baccalaureate Career Programme

By Daniel Thigpen, FCUSD

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Students seeking careers in medicine now have a new option to pursue their dreams at Cordova High School. That's because the school has added another distinction that separates its growing International Baccalaureate program from others in the region: Cordova High was recently authorized to offer the IB Career Programme!

The IB Career Programme allows students to take rigorous IB courses while also completing a two-year Personal and Professional Skills course.

That means students in

Daniel Nguyen and Maritza Negrete feel ready to save lives thanks to the IB Career Programme. Photo by Amy Strawn

the program also can now complete a new, two-year Patient Care career pathway, part of the Folsom Cordova's growing roster of Career Technical Education options for students to explore as they prepare for the real world. The Patient Care pathway helps set students on a path to potential careers in medicine, everything from doctors to nurses, medical assistants to physical therapists, and more. ★

New Location for Veterans Day Event

veterans who will be memorialized with their name inscribed on a brick which will be placed at the Veterans Memorial Plaza at the VA Northern California facility at Mather. Keynote speaker will be David Stockwell, director of the facility.

This year marks the 100th Anniversary of Veterans Day, which originated as "Armistice Day" on Nov. 11, 1919, the first anniversary of the end of World War I. Congress passed a resolution in 1926 for an annual observance, and Nov. 11 became a national holiday beginning in 1938.

Unlike Memorial Day, Veterans Day pays tribute to all American veterans—living or dead—but especially gives thanks to living veterans who served their country honorably during war or peacetime.

The Veterans Day Observance is produced by the Cordova Community Council under the direction of a citizens committee chaired by Mayor Robert McGarvey. Sponsors of the event include American Doniker, KP International Market, Quick Quack Car Wash, Belka and Hagan Families, Atlas Disposal, City of Rancho Cordova, Republic Services, Michael Baker International, Wells Fargo, Mary Nesel of Lyon Real Estate, Assemblyman Ken Cooley, Rancho Cordova Smiles and VA Northern California Health Care System.

Sac Society for the Blind Receives $20K from Wells Fargo

By Kristin Thébaud,
Kristin Thébaud Communications

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Wells Fargo recently awarded Society for the Blind in Sacramento a $20,000 grant to provide education, training and assistive devices to 500 Sacramento-area seniors who are blind or have low vision. The funding will support the group's Senior IMPACT Project that empowers people age 55 and older who have vision loss with alternative non-visual techniques and skills that enable them to perform daily tasks and activities so they can maintain or increase independence.

"With Sacramento's rapidly growing senior population, requests for our services are higher than ever," said Shari Roeseler, executive director, Society for the Blind. "Thanks to Wells Fargo's generous funding, we can provide even more seniors who are blind or have low vision with the support they need to age safely, preserve their independence and connect with their community."

Society for the Blind is the sole provider of comprehensive rehabilitative services for people who are blind or have low vision throughout 27 counties in northern California. The group's Senior IMPACT Project includes a monthly eight-day retreat that gives seniors an immersion experience to learn alternative techniques and skills to travel safely, efficiently and independently. They practice alternative techniques and use adapted tools to perform tasks of daily living including cooking, cleaning, shopping, home maintenance, organization, personal finance and more. They learn how to use the latest in assistive technology to operate computers and mobile devices for home, school and work, and they learn Braille. Participants receive individualized attention from instructors and mentors who are blind or low vision, and they have the opportunity to join discussion groups with peers on issues around vision loss and participate in community activities.

For those unable to attend retreats, Society for the Blind sends instructors to their homes to teach skills and offer resources. The project also includes monthly peer support groups for English and Spanish speakers and workshops throughout the year. The project recently expanded services to the Asian community, offering a monthly support group for Asian language speakers.

"As our loved ones age, one of the highest priorities is to ensure they can navigate the world around them with dignity, even if they experience declines in health or mental and physical agility," said Kären Woodruff, community relations associate manager, Wells Fargo. "Wells Fargo is proud to continue support for Society for the Blind's Senior IMPACT Project, which provides tools for seniors facing changes in their vision or vision loss, allowing them to remain self-sufficient and independent into their golden years."

Celebrating its 65th anniversary this year, Society for the Blind has created innovative ways to empower individuals living with low vision or blindness to discover, develop and achieve their full potential. Society for the Blind has grown from a dedicated group of volunteers to a nationally recognized agency and the only comprehensive rehabilitative teaching center that provides services for a 27-county region of northern California. The nonprofit provides low-vision eye care, life and job skills training, mentorship, and access to tools to maintain independence for more than 5,000 youth, working-age adults and seniors experiencing vision loss each year. For more information or to make a donation, visit SocietyfortheBlind.org.

The Wells Fargo Foundation is the company's primary philanthropic funding arm. As part of Wells Fargo's long legacy of investing in community impact, the company has increased its philanthropic giving 25 times over the past 28 years. In 2018, Wells Fargo reached a new milestone of donating $444 million to directly benefit nearly 11,000 non-profit organizations. To learn more, visit WellsFargo.com. ★

HOW DO I PREPARE FOR A PUBLIC SAFETY POWER SHUTOFF?

WHAT EVERY PG&E CUSTOMER NEEDS TO KNOW

Do you have an emergency kit with nonperishable food, one gallon of water per person per day, medications, flashlights and batteries?

Public Safety Power Shutoff, or PSPS, is a safety program that proactively shuts off electric power lines when there is an elevated fire risk.

All PG&E customers should be prepared for possible power outages that could last for multiple days.

If power is temporarily turned off, customers should consider these questions:

Do you know how to open your garage door manually?

If anyone in your family depends on electricity for their medical needs, have you made preparations?

Do you have a personal safety plan for all members of your family, including your pets?

If you own a generator, is it safe to operate?

Are your mobile phones fully charged? Do you have a portable back-up charger or a solar charger?

COOKING TIPS FOR A SAFE THANKSGIVING

#1 THAWING

Thawing turkeys must be kept at a safe temperature in the refrigerator. The "danger zone" is between 41 and 135°F — this is the temperature range where foodborne bacteria multiply rapidly.

#2 PREPARATION

After working with raw poultry, always wash utensils and work surfaces, as well as your hands with soap and warm water for at least 20 seconds before touching other foods.

#3 STUFFING

For optimal safety, cook the stuffing outside the turkey in a casserole dish. However, if you place stuffing inside the turkey, do so just before cooking, and use a food thermometer. Make sure the center of the stuffing reaches a safe minimum internal temperature of 165°F.

#4 COOKING

Always thaw turkeys completely in the refrigerator. Set the oven temperature no lower than 325°F. Place turkey breast-side up on a wire rack in a shallow roasting pan. Check the internal temperature using a food thermometer — the center of the stuffing and meaty portion of the breast, thigh and wing joint must reach 165°F at a minimum.

#5 LEFTOVERS

Perishable foods should not be left out of the refrigerator for more than 2 hours. To reheat turkey, cut the meat into smaller pieces and keep legs and wings whole — before serving the turkey. Be sure to reheat all your leftovers to a minimum of 165°F.

Trump Should Want a Rapid Impeachment

The Ukraine story hasn't been good for President Donald Trump, and there's only one way out -- to get impeached, and the sooner, the better.

Trump obviously hates the idea of being impeached. He thinks it's unfair, and is raging against the process with every political and legal argument his team can muster and every insult and countercharge he can make on Twitter. But he doesn't have any choice in the matter.

Impeachment is baked in the cake. There's no way that Democrats, having opened an impeachment inquiry (although without a vote), can pull up short now. How could they, after touting revelation after revelation, including a supposed "confession" by Trump's chief of staff?

As impeachment rumbles on, it puts every Trump lapse (Syria, Doral, etc.) in starker relief and places it in the context of the question of whether he should be impeached and removed.

Meanwhile, if support for impeachment is about 50 percent or a little higher, there's every reason for Democrats to stretch it out. The current process suits their purposes nicely. They interview officials in private and then leak the most damaging parts. There's no danger of public hearings bouncing the wrong way ... because there are no public hearings.

The impeachment inquiry also has the advantage of giving the Democratic base what it wants, and creating a strong sense of action against Trump. When Republicans took the House in the middle of Barack Obama's first term, they had trouble controlling the expectations of their own base, which wanted immediate results when the GOP had limited power. Impeachment allows Democrats to forestall such a feeling among their own voters, even though they, too, aren't getting anything substantive done.

This suggests that, as of this moment, House Speaker Nancy Pelosi looks to have judged the politics of impeachment shrewdly, holding off when it still seemed politically premature and striking when the prospect of moving the needle of public opinion presented itself.

Given how impeachment is playing, she should welcome the White House embracing the normal strategy in these fights of attempting to frustrate and delay the inquiry. Not only is this standard approach not fully working -- former and current officials are talking to House investigators regardless -- at the margins it lengthens an inquiry that's working for the Democrats.

All that said, it's always possible the public will tire of the probe, especially if it reaches past the first month or two of an election year.

What can Trump do about any of this? Absent a mea culpa and promise of full transparency, which aren't in the cards for temperamental reasons if nothing else, Trump can't change the dynamic or the timing. But he should be secretly rooting for the rapid arrival of Impeachment Day (and the near-inevitable acquittal in the Senate).

It will be one of the biggest stories of the Trump presidency. Then, like everything else, it will grow old very fast. Impeachment won't be forgotten, but it will fade into part of the tapestry of endless Trump controversies and outrages, from Charlottesville to his Helsinki press conference with Vladimir Putin.

Democrats will believe they struck a decisive blow against Trump, when they really may have helped him turn the page.

How Much Emergency Fund?

Dear Dave,

I know you talk about having an emergency fund of three to six months of expenses set aside. My husband and I are having a difficult time agreeing on exactly how much we should set aside for emergencies. How do you determine the exact amount? --Erin

Dear Erin,

The exact you amount you have in your emergency fund -- whether it's three, four, five, or six months of expenses -- is really more about peace of mind than anything else. Still, there are a few practical things to consider.

If you both have very stable jobs, you'd probably be okay saving three or four months of expenses. But if one of you is self-employed, makes most of their money through commissions, or only one of you works outside the home, it would make more sense to have five or six months of expenses set aside.

Of course, you can always compromise while leaving room for growth. There's nothing wrong starting out with three months of expenses saved, then adding more as time goes by. The main thing is that you're both in agreement, and you both feel safe with the amount of money in your emergency fund! --Dave

Understand Your Investments Completely

I'm new to investing, and recently I began putting money into growth stock mutual funds inside a Roth IRA. On my last statement, it said that my investment had grown. Can you explain how it grew? --Matt

DearMatt,

In most cases, you'll have anywhere from 90 to 200 different company's stocks in a growth stock mutual fund. Over a period of time, some of them will go up and some will go down. If the overall effect is that the group is worth more now than it was before, you made money. The value of that overall group of stocks went up, in other words.

Okay, now pay close attention to what I'm about to say next. I love the fact that you're investing and thinking about the future. It shows wisdom and maturity to be able to grasp the need for a good financial plan now and in the years ahead. However, I'd advise you to not put any more money into that investment until you understand exactly what it is and how it works.

Talk to your financial advisor immediately, and let him or her know you're not clear on things. A quality investing professional has the heart of a teacher. Someone like this will take as much time as necessary to better explain your investment, your options, and answer other questions so you can become an informed investor and, over time, make your own wise investing decisions.

Never put money into something you don't fully understand!

Trump Delivers Major Blow to Globalism

Harold Pease, Ph. D

Fallout from President Donald Trump’s pullout of 28 soldiers from Syria has brought globalist of both political parties to the front in opposition. Turkey used the pullout as an excuse to invade Syria in a centuries-old conflict between themselves and the Kurds who were paid heavily by the American taxpayer to help the United States round up the last remaining fragments of ISIS. With that done the rational for staying in Syria vaporized. Globalist networks did site as rational for withdrawal, Trump’s fulfilling a campaign promise to bring home American troops, but all networks, including Fox, failed to share the military industrial complex part of the story. This we share.

What Trump is about is the most massive change in American foreign policy in a hundred years. We will no longer fight, be wounded, die, and fund endless wars where we have little or no defensive interest. We will no longer serve as the policemen of the world or of the world governing United Nations. Globalists and globalism are out of power—at least in the Trump Administration.

This is the real reason for the three-year-long never-ending multiple impeachment attempts, started even before Trump’s inauguration. Why? Because this is the only president that could not be purchased, controlled, or at least managed, by Wall Street’s globalist special interest group, The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR).

If this is new to readers, hundreds, including previous columns of this columnist, have documented this organization’s globalist aspirations and the power it has had in all elections and administrations since its founding in 1921. The extent of one’s ignorance of this organization demonstrates the power this largely secret combination has had over education, all national medias and government.

So what did the globalist establishment medias omit from the news? That war industries profit from war, thus love war—the same message that President Dwight D. Eisenhower shared in his final address as president, January 17, 1961, warning of the dangers of the military industrial complex.

Globalists, often called the establishment or the deep state, prefer world-wide open borders, the eventual transfer of all political power to international levels, and eventually world government. National sovereignty is their enemy—thus their hatred of Trump’s America first policy. Patriots prefer freedom from excessive government, independence from any governing entity other than Congress, patriotism, and today, the Constitution as written. The choice is uncannily similar to the that of Americans in 1776 – liberty.

Trump told reporters who slammed him “for abandoning the Kurds” by removing 28 soldiers manning the border between they and the Turks. “We don’t have to fight these endless wars. Were bringing them back home. That is what I won on.”

Then he identified the real issue, “Some people—whether you call it the military industrial complex—or beyond... They want me to fight forever. They do very well (financially) fighting. That is what they want to do, fight. A lot of companies want to fight because they make their weapons based on fighting—not based on peace—and they take care of (employ) a lot of people.”

Trump explained, “I want to bring our soldiers back home. We are not a police force, we are a fighting force. We are the greatest fighting force ever. I spent 2 1/2 trillion dollars over the last almost three years rebuilding our military. When I took it over it was an absolute mess. It was totally depleted.” Now, he adds, “We have the most powerful nuclear base by far in the world. We have things that we never had before.”

Continuing, “We have a great modern military but that does not mean that we are going to waste it. It does not mean that we are going to deplete it like we did before with these crazy endless wars. So, Turkey and Syria will hopefully work it out between themselves. Hopefully ISIS (prisoners) will be guarded” because “Russia, Iran, Syria, and, to maybe a slightly lesser extent, Turkey, they all hate ISIS as much as we do. And, it is their part of the world. We are seven thousand miles away (emphasis added)” (MSNBC Press Release with Italian President Sergio Mattarella. October 16, 2019).

On the same day in a subsequent press conference Trump added more, “We were supposed to be there for 30 days. We stayed for 10 years and it is time for us to come home. We are not a policing agent and it is time for us to come home .... The plan is to get out of endless wars to bring our soldiers back home. They are not to be policing agents all over the world.”

Russia and China do not have troops in other countries he argued. How many countries have American troops?

“We are in 90 countries all over the world policing. And frankly many of those countries, they don’t respect what we are doing. They don’t even like what we are doing and they don’t like us.” By not having a military presence in 90 countries we will save tremendous amounts of money, manpower, and lives.

Trump is returning American sovereignty to America and all globalists hate him for it. They will do anything to destroy him. This is what the globalist media outlets have not shared. This omission was intentional.

Soccer Teams Both Win at Home Women's Soccer

The Falcons were able to show their winning smiles again!

Story by Ron Richardson

Prior to Tuesday's match, the Folsom Lake and Santa Rosa women's soccer teams had met nine times over the past 3-1/2 seasons with some interesting results: two wins for Santa Rosa, three wins for FLC, there have been four ties, and never had there been more than two goals scored (combined) in any one match. Tuesday's outcome was a dramatic change of script as the Falcons scored four first-half goals on their way to a dominating 5-0 win over the Bear Cubs. Freshman forward Michaela Clark got the Falcons off to a quick start with a goal in the third minute of play, her team-leading 14th of the season. Three minutes later, sophomore Sarah Scott put the Falcons up 2-0 with her first goal of the season. Both early goals were assisted by Emma Thompson, who now leads the state in that category with 13. Next, Sarah Freed rifled a long shot in the 27th minute and Emily Doty punched in her 8th goal of the season in the 42nd minute to give the Falcons a 4-0 lead at halftime. The offensive onslaught was quite a turnaround from the Falcons' last match, a 1-0 loss to Delta in which they never got a shot on goal. Sarah Freed added one more goal for the Falcons in the second half – her 10th of the season – as coach Ribaud was able to find playing time for his entire squad. The Falcons improved to 11-3-2 overall and 6-3-1 in Big 8 play and will play at Sacramento City (3-10-1 overall, 0-9 in Big 8) on Thursday evening. ★

Men's Soccer

Story by Ron Richardson

The Falcons hosted West Hills-Lemoore on Tuesday evening for their third of four non-conference crossover matches with Central Valley Conference teams, eventually earning a hard-fought 2-0 victory. Despite the Falcons' 11 shots on goal, they couldn't find the net and the two teams went to the halftime break tied at 0-0. The frustration continued in the second half as the Falcons continued to dominate possession but failed to score. But in the 73rd minute, a red card foul on the Eagles' goalkeeper led to a Falcon free kick from just outside the goal area. Sophomore forward Tanner Boyea sent the kick high into the top corner of the net for a 1-0 lead, his fourth goal of the season. With a one man advantage (due to the red card), the Falcons clamped down on the defensive end for the remainder of the match to preserve the shutout. Freshman forward Zwannah Johnson added a goal on a breakaway just before time expired for the Falcons' final tally. The Falcons (10-1-5) will face undefeated and state #3 ranked Fresno City (10-0-5) on Friday afternoon in Fresno before resuming Big 8 Conference play next week. ★

Lady Lancers Volleyball Drop Season Finale Against Valley

Story by James Darnell

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The Cordova Lady Lancers varsity volleyball team didn't finish their fall season exactly as they would have liked, falling at home to Valley 3-2 (14-25, 25-22, 28-30, 25-9, 12-15) last Tuesday evening inside the new Cordova High gym. The night certainly didn't go as planned during what was Senior Night for the program in their season finale, coming up short in the match-deciding fifth set. For Lady Lancers' head coach Kristen Endean, however, it was a bitter end to what she feels was a foundation-building season overall for her club, who finished 3-14 overall, including a 3-7 mark within the Greater Sacramento League.

"I am happy with the growth we showed," she said. "I know we have a lot of potential, and I'm happy with the way my girls fight (through adversity) and come together. But I also know we have a lot of growing to do still." With eight seniors on this seasons' team, Endean paid tribute to her players as the first set of the night featured a seniors-only lineup for Cordova. Endean, who has been around six of the eight seniors during the past four years dating back to her first year as a math teacher, wanted to honor her upperclassmen, whom she admitted will miss having around. "Six of them I had as freshmen in my math class the first year I taught," Endean said. "I have had connections with them and have seen them grow, so it is sad that I'm not going to see them on the court anymore." Those seniors include Gabriela Maduri, Bridget seniors, and narrowly missing out on the CIF Sac Joaquin Section playoffs after finishing in fourth place within league, Endean is looking forward to next season and coaching up her returning players. Sophomore libero Megan Yang, freshman opposite Casaundra Seifert, and senior outside hitter Emika Love were mentioned as key parts of the program moving forward. ★

Garcia, Adriana Flores, Analise Garton, Emily Arnez, Alyssa Perez, and Jalsia Palik. Yet despite losing their season finale, a large group of

NATOMAS, CA (MPG) - On the heels of a disappointing 43-12 loss at Natomas last Friday evening, the Cordova Lancers' varsity football program could certainly hang their heads down. The loss resulted in the team being eliminated from CIF Sac Joaquin Section play-off contention, and saw two key starters lost to injury in senior quarterback Joey Estrada, and senior tailback Kenny Brown. Yet, as the team prepares to host Valley this Friday, November 1, in their season finale scheduled for 7:00 p.m. at Cordova, the Lancers (1-8 overall, 1-2 Greater Sacramento League) are preparing to do what they've done every game all season. Fight until the very end. "We're preparing for the game how we normally prepare," Cordova head coach Jason Bumbaca said. "We're lifting weights and watching film, and have been productive at practice. We're business as usual. These kids amaze me. They love the game of football." In spelling Estrada against Natomas (2-7 overall, 2-1 GSL), senior all-purpose player Brandon Gray tallied 191 yards passing, including an 81-yard bomb to junior wideout James Feao in the first quarter. Gray also rushed for a touchdown on a four-yard scramble play in the second half to cap off his performance. Additionally, junior Tavion Dominguez-Thomas caught five passes for 104 yards in a breakout effort. The Lancers' season finale will end what has been an up and down season for Cordova under Bumbaca, who will be wrapping up his first season with the program. The team certainly hasn't won as many games as he would have hoped, but Bumbaca is pleased with the trajectory of the program going forward under his watch. "There's work to be done obviously," Bumbaca said. "It doesn't look positive in the win-loss column, but these young players have put in a tremendous effort this year even when things weren't going well. I think the program is moving in the correct direction." ★

Cordova Cross Country Preparing For Subsection Meet

By James Darnell

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The Cordova Lancers' varsity cross country team will be taking part in the CIF Sac Joaquin Section Subsection meet next Saturday, November 9, at the Calaveras County Fairgrounds in Angels Camp. The meet provides Cordova the chance to have runners qualify for the Section championships held the following Saturday, November 16 at the Willow Hill Reservoir in Folsom. For head coach Josh Gruver, the upcoming Subsection meet is huge for the program. "We have such a young team and it has been a building process, but we're going to make a really strong push (qualifying as many as possible for Sections)," he said. "We're giving them as much motivation as possible, and things are looking pretty good." Just being able to compete at this juncture is a big deal for Gruver and the team, as last seasons' Subsection and Section meets were postponed several weeks due to wildfires ravaging the region. Although there are ongoing fires in the bay area, the air quality in the area appears to be a non-factor and the meet is set to happen as scheduled. Gruver mentioned several names he expects to perform well at the Subection meet, and potentially qualify for Sections. Those runners would include sophomores Elliot Fry and Elijah Smith, Juniors Michaela Laret and Richard Kozhokar, and seniors Gavin Sullivan and Temara Fletcher, respectively. The Lancers' cross country team also participated in the Greater Sacramento League championship meet this past Wednesday, October 30, however final results were unavailable at the time of printing. Check back next week for an update on which runners the Lancers will be sending to the Section championships, as well as information regarding the GSL meet. ★

Cordova Storm's Alia Cordell Pitches a Perfect 4 Inning Game

By James Safonov, Cordova Storm

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Cordova Girls 12U softball lived out an unbelievable accomplishment by its star pitcher and her catcher this past weekend in the championship weekend tournament. Aila Cordell pitched a PERFECT 4 inning game on Saturday and hit a home run in the Cordova Girls 15-0 softball game win over American River's Killer Cleats. The game was called after 4 innings as a 15 run mercy rule. Not only did Aila pitch a perfect game with the minimum 12 batters faced but she struck out all 12 girls in a historical feat! It was an unbelievable effort. Her catcher Katelynn Catinari caught the game and added a home run as well. Perfect games being pitched are incredibly rare—pitching a perfect game where every batter was struck out is unprecedented! Cordova Storm took 2nd place in the Down and Dirty Gold Bracket out of 27 teams. Great job girls! ★

The Fall Show: Letting the Imagination Run Free

by Margaret Snider

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The arts are alive and well in Rancho Cordova. The Fall Show, presented by the Cordova Community Council at City Hall, represents 145 works by 70 artists. The theme was open, any subject. “When you don’t have to ask artists to really focus on one thing, they can just let their imagination, their creativity, and their passion run free,” said Cheryl Gleason, who manages the Cordova Community Council City Hall art shows.

“Back in 2012, the local art community came to us and said that they really wanted to start sharing art,” said Shelly Blanchard, Cordova Community Council executive director. “It seemed a lot of sense to say, ‘Let’s have an art show.’ We have continued to have quarterly shows ever since.” Artists Rick Sloan and Linda Nunes and a few others artists, Blanchard said, were a big part of starting this tradition.

Jose Lopez’s photograph titled Kitchen of Light and Shadows was chosen Best in Show. “He does not do a lot of digitizing on his photos,” said Gleason, who is also MACC coordinator and curator. “It’s just a true capturing of a moment in time and I think it’s a pretty spectacular photo.”

Lopez said it was a privilege to be exhibiting with fellow artists. “I saw so many other interesting and wonderful items, it was very surprising to see my photo had received that award.” Photography for Lopez is both art and science. “The science... can be perfect, but if the photo doesn’t tell a story or make the viewer
