RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The Rancho Cordova Athletic Association hosted its 5th Annual Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony on October 12, at City Hall. The sold-out event was hosted by celebrity emcee and Rancho Cordova native, Ken Rudolph, who wowed and wooed the crowd with personal anecdotes about the famous Lancers who were inducted that night.

This year's inductees continue to expand the Rancho Cordova Sports

Hall of Fame's figural list of "Who's Who" in the Rancho Cordova Sports Legacy. Current Vice-Mayor David Sander, Ph.D, opened the evening by emphasizing that the Rancho Cordova Athletic Association exists to continue this legacy by promoting youth sports in the City, "Where every kid gets to play."

Individuals inducted this year: Dr. Jim Champa (Football & Wrestling), Tom Doherty (Coach), Bill Ferreira (Heart of a Champion), Billy Ferreira (Heart of a Champion), Steve Finch (Baseball), Doug Hinton (Baseball), Don Martinez III (Wrestling), Chris Nyman (Baseball), Mike Ondina (Baseball), Robert 'Pete' Reed (Coach), Jacquemar Robinson (Track/Body Building), Annie Klimecki-Roe (Swimming), Tom William (Football). Certainly not to be forgotten was the group induction of the entire 1985 Cordova High Lancer Football Team and Coach Max Miller, who became the first Sac-Joaquin Section team to nail down an unheard of 14-0 season.

The individual and group achievements of these coaches and

California Capital Airshow Draws Record Crowds

Liz Fox Johnson,
California Capital Airshow

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The California Capital Airshow (CCA), presented by Sacramento County in partnership with the City of Rancho Cordova, made good on its promise to bring a thrilling fourteenth annual airshow to the Sacramento region. The October 5 and 6 event drew its largest crowds to date with headliner U.S. Navy Blue Angels plus hours of entertainment on the ground and in the air. Family-friendly ticket pricing offered expanded opportunities for children to attend the show for free in order to experience its aviation and STEM activities first hand.

CCA's free Friday night kick-off event, Blues & Brews, offered fans a meet and greet with their favorite performers. Proceeds from the first-ever brew fest, included as an optional part of the evening, will benefit the airshow's scholarship program.

The action ramped up Saturday and Sunday with an extensive roster of world-class civilian and military acts. Team Oracle, the Aftershock Jet Fire Truck, Vicky Benzing Barnstorming and the F-16 Viper Demonstration Team kept audiences on the edge of their seats with heart-pounding speed and aerobatics, while a moving tribute featuring several warbird aircraft honored the 75th anniversary of D-Day, and collaborations with the California Air National Guard as well as Travis and Beale Air Force bases honored the every-day heroes serving in the United States military within the Sacramento region. The U.S. Navy Blue Angels closed out the show each day with their dynamic formation flying demonstration known for its unparalleled precision.

Tens of thousands of spectators enjoyed over a hundred acres of ramp space that included miles

SMUD Helps Sponsor the Hubble Space Telescope Exhibit

By Lindsay VanLaningham, SMUD

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Among a crowd of Sacramento leaders, SMUD announced a partnership with the Aerospace Museum of California and a $50,000 sponsorship to host NASA's Hubble Space Telescope Exhibit for local students to experience a once-in-a-lifetime STEM education experience.

The announcement came as dozens of area leaders, residents and children got a sneak peek of the exhibit as it opened its doors to the public for Fall 2019.

"This is an incredible opportunity to expose students to science, technology, engineering and math in a new and innovative way," said SMUD CEO and General Manager Arlen Orchard. "Our goal is to help the museum inspire and expose students from all over the region to the expansive possibilities in STEM education and STEM-related careers, so they truly can reach for the stars."

The exhibit features a scaled replica of NASA's Hubble Space Telescope and includes hands-on, interactive activities that allow students to explore the technology used in space to gaze at distant stars, planets and galaxies. They will also be able to learn about the new James Webb Space Telescope and how it will contribute to our knowledge into the future.

The exhibit will be on display through December 2019 and is expected to draw thousands of visitors.

In partnership with the museum, SMUD's goal is to reach 15,000 students with this STEM education experience, particularly those in historically underserved communities. A large portion of the grant provides transportation funding for Title I schools, as well as free participation in the program; teacher membership; and continuing education resources.

"We're excited to host this amazing exhibit in California for the very first time," stated Executive Director for the Aerospace Museum Tom Jones. "The Hubble Space Telescope exhibit is a perfect complement to our other artifacts that can help tell the story of aerospace from the beginning to well into the future."

Funding for this project comes from SMUD's Sustainable Communities Initiative that seeks to leverage resources for community partners in order to provide increased access to employment, healthcare, STEM education and more. This is one of many projects that will enhance the Sacramento community.

Sacramento Fugitive Returned from Denmark to the United States

Federal Bureau of Investigation Press Release

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) announced Mark Anthony Smith, 55, fugitive wanted for crimes against a child in Sacramento County, was returned to the United States following his extradition from Denmark. Smith, who was wanted for federal unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, was located in Copenhagen, Denmark on July 5, 2019, and detained by the Danish authorities pending extradition to the United States. He was then taken into custody by agents with the Federal Bureau of Investigation Sacramento Field Office on October 4, 2019, in Copenhagen, Denmark, and escorted to Sacramento, where he arrived on October 4, 2019. Smith was then transferred to the custody of the Sacramento State Police Department – the police department for California State University, Sacramento – and booked into the Sacramento County Jail. On May 4, 1995, Smith was charged in Sacramento County with two felony counts of committing a lewd and lascivious act upon a child under the age of 14 and one felony count of attempted kidnapping for the purpose of committing a lewd and lascivious act upon a child under the age of 14. The federal warrant for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution was obtained on February 9, 1996. The FBI Sacramento Field Office, FBI Legal Attaché Office in Copenhagen, INTERPOL, Department of Justice Office of International Affairs, and Sacramento County District Attorney’s Office worked collaboratively to ensure Smith’s arrest. Smith’s return was funded by the United States Government’s “Project Welcome Home,” which provides funding to assist in the transportation of federal fugitives to the United States. The FBI continues to work with its law enforcement partners to apprehend criminals charged with state crimes who then flee the jurisdiction. Photos and descriptions of many fugitives wanted by the FBI can be found on the FBI’s Wanted webpage on www.fbi.gov or the FBI’s Wanted app. Inquiries regarding Smith’s detention and pending prosecution should be directed to the Sacramento County District Attorney’s Office. ★

Cordova High JROTC Instructor Flies with Blue Angels

By Daniel Thigpen, FCUSD

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Msgr. Phil Magreevy, who instructs Cordova High School’s Air Force JROTC, recently got the opportunity of a lifetime: to fly with the Blue Angels! Magreevy, a 20-year Air Force veteran, was nominated by a community member to take flight at the California Capital Airshow Oct 5-6. The instructor took several of his students so they could watch the flight from the ground. “As I closed that canopy up ... I was really thinking, ‘You guys are flying with me in spirit,’” he told students the next day during a class lesson in which he showed videos of his flight and explained the science behind aeronautics. ★

Local First Responders Conduct Drills for Campus and Community Safety

Sydni Fagan, FCUSCD

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The Folsom Cordova Unified School District’s top priority is the safety of our students and staff. As part of its community-developed Safety Action Plan, the District has worked with Rancho Cordova and Folsom Police and Fire departments to organize three active shooter training drills for officers and SWAT team members at all three comprehensive high school campuses: Cordova High, Folsom High, and Vista del Lago High. The drills used volunteers, who role played as students and staff, to make the situation more realistic to the officers in training. During a training at Folsom High, Jennifer Serran, the District’s Risk Management Specialist, provided volunteers with resources on what to do in the event of an active shooter. She coordinated all three of the drills with law enforcement and provided steps explaining how to react, how to read your surroundings and what to do if all else fails. Volunteers also got some training through these exercises. Many different situations were designed for first responders to read campuses and locate the “shooter.” Volunteers were given cue cards of what to do or say to play into the simulation. Officers in training needed to listen to the roleplayers, listen to the shots, stay focused on their priorities and effectively communicate with the other officers. Police departments utilized training time to prepare for the worst, however, this practice prepares all of us for any scale of emergency. For any questions about the District’s emergency preparedness, please contact Jennifer Serran at jserran@fcusd.org. ★

California Capital Airshow Draws Record Crowds

Continued from page 1 of static aircraft displays and interactive STEM experiences. The show offered free admission for up to six children under the age of 15 with the purchase of one Adult General Admission ticket. In addition, over 4,000 tickets were donated to schools, youth organizations and veteran’s groups. A portion of sales will go toward supporting CCA’s scholarship programs and educational youth events as well as revenue-share programs for other non-profit organizations volunteering with the show.

“We are so grateful to our volunteers and community partners who help us make this show happen every year” said Darcy Brewer, executive director, CCA. “While it’s a thrill to see the Blue Angels and other performers fly over two days, the greatest thrill for us is knowing that we have inspired young people to dream big and explore the world of aviation and STEM.” Planning is already underway for the 2020 California Capital Airshow. By Bob McGarvey

I received an op-ed from the California League of Cities Executive Director Carolyn Coleman outlining a homelessness crisis in our state. When I went to the United States Conference of Mayors Conference this year, one of the seminars focused on something that seems to be obvious to all the Mayors: homelessness is worsening. California is rightly frustrated, like all the Mayors of the cities who were there and are trying to find a solution to that problem. We have been successful in Rancho Cordova helping some of the formerly homeless veterans with programs at Mather Community Campus get back on their feet and get back together with their families.

There are problems with that program today because the federal government (U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development) doesn't seem to be interested in helping that program as it was in the past. Its interest in getting people off the streets is just fine but not offering the programs that were so successful in the past doesn't make much sense. At least it doesn't make sense to me. I guess we'll have to keep close attention to what is done and what isn't done while we continue to try to help get more people off the streets.

The Mayor's Corner

Who Was Your Most Favorite Teacher While You Were Growing Up?

On to other things in life like teaching for example. I read a commentary about making lives. A dynamic speaker and former middle school teacher named Taylor Mali responded to a critic who was putting teachers down. The topic of education came up, and a successful business executive said, "The problem with our education starts with teachers. What can we expect from people who think teaching is the best way to make a living? Those who can, do. Those who can't, teach." A guest protested that they'd been a teacher for 20 years and that was simplistic and unfair. "Really?" the executive said. "Then be honest, what do you make?"

The teacher said let me tell you what I make. "I make children read, think, write, wonder and talk about important things, such as the world and their role in it. I encourage them to be skeptical without being cynical, and to be optimistic without being naive. I make them feel proud and grateful to live in America where people are entitled to be treated fairly and with respect and judged by their accomplishments and character, not by their color, creed or the size of their bank account."

There was more said than what you see here, but there are many things teachers do than many people realize. Most people who are successful are successful because of what their teachers gave them. Think of it. Who was your most favorite teacher while you were growing up?

From Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

MEMORIAL NOTICE

Craig Gilbert Zueger

December 18th, 1957 to September 14th, 2019

Craig Gilbert Zueger, A.K.A. "Outlaw Grandpa", "Mr. Mom", "Zueg", and "Zig", died peacefully at the age of 61 in his home in Elko, Nevada the evening of September 14th, 2019. Craig was born to Gilbert and Sharon Zueger in Jackson, California on December 18th, 1957.

Craig loved the outdoors and had always planned to hit big gold panning. He loved fly fishing and telling fish tales to his brothers. Craig had a huge heart and was very kind and generous. He could always make jokes of the little things in life and loved a good laugh. Craig grew up in Rancho Cordova where he is well known for his accomplishments in football and wrestling. He moved to Houston, Texas where he worked construction and had his first daughter. He then moved back to California to be near family and had his other 2 daughters.

In the early 1990's he moved his family to Northern Idaho, to be near his parents where he was a stay at home dad to his 3 girls. His proudest, happiest moments were anytime spent with his kids. Eventually, he moved to be near his daughters and grandchildren, in Colorado, and finally in Elko, Nevada, where he was also a member of the Knights of Columbus at St. Josephs Catholic Church.

Craig is preceded in death by his brother Joel. He is survived by his parents, siblings Karen, Eric and Scott, his 3 daughters, Marcina, Zara and Savoie and his 6 grandchildren. A funeral service will be held at St. John Vianney Catholic Church in Rancho Cordova on November, 4th at 11:00 AM.

Educating Senior Citizens About Voting Options

By Janna Haynes,
Sacramento County

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - With the March 2020 Presidential Primary right around the corner, the Sacramento County Department of Voter Registration and Elections (VRE) aims to register every eligible voter in the County, increase voter turnout and educate every voter on voting accessibility and options. The VRE Outreach Team is visiting local senior living facilities and community centers to speak with the aging population about their voting options in 2020. These presentations consist of an overview of the changes to voting in Sacramento County due to the Voter's Choice Act, instruction on how and when to update their voter registration, as well as general information about their voting options for the upcoming 2020 election cycle. These presentations are intended to educate our senior population to prepare them to exercise their right to vote in 2020.

More about the Voter's Choice Act

Sacramento County is one of the original five counties in California that implemented the Voter's Choice Act in 2018, expanding voting opportunities for all residents. VRE saw positive results in the primary and general election in 2018 and looks forward to improved ease and access for voters as we enter the 2020 Election cycle.

As a reminder, here are the changes the VCA allows:

Choose how, when and where you want to vote.

By Mail: All registered voters will receive a ballot in the mail. Place the voted ballot inside the envelope provided, sign the envelope and return – your postage is paid!

Vote Center: With the passage of the California Voter's Choice Act, traditional polling places have been replaced with Vote Centers that are open for up to 11 days, including Election Day. This means voters can choose when, where and how they want to vote – at ANY Vote Center in the County. Avoid the lines, vote early!

At the Vote Center you can drop off your completed ballot OR vote in person. There is even weekend voting!

Vote Centers open for 11 days.

Vote Centers open for four days.

Drop Boxes – Voted/signed ballots may be placed in any of the 57 secure Drop Box locations throughout Sacramento County.

Eligible residents can also register to vote, update their registration and cast their ballot at a Vote Center, even on the day of the election.

A complete list of locations can be found online and will be provided in the Sacramento County Voter Information Guide that will be mailed out prior to the election.

For more election and voter information, visit the Sacramento County Voter Registration and Elections website.

To register to vote visit the California Online Voter Registration website. ★

Reporting from the World Summit of Nobel Peace Prize Laureates

Exclusive MPG Report
by David Dickstein

MERIDA, MEXICO (MPG) - They held a World Summit of Nobel Peace Laureates last month in Mexico and a softball game broke out.

If the above phrasing sounds familiar, Rodney Dangerfield liked to joke, “I went to a fight the other night, and a hockey game broke out.” After attending what was billed as a forum to “address global issues with a view to encourage and support peace and human well-being in the world,” only to walk away disappointed, I knew that by borrowing from the late comedian, I’d have the perfect, albeit sad introductory line.

The batters of my metaphorical softball game were the Nobel Peace Prize winners whose three days in the Yucatan Peninsula included sit-downs with the press. The credentialed journalists were the pitchers, and by throwing mainly softball questions, the mostly Mexico-based contingent squandered the rare opportunity of asking tough and/or insightful questions to the distinguished do-gooders. In all, 30 Nobel Peace Prize laureates attended the event, representing themselves or so much stuff that, um, that one can say,” King said. “He’s talked about sh*tthole nations, the way he’s spoken about Mexicans – there’s a host of things I see that come across as if he does not like certain groups of people.”

So far I hadn’t heard a specific example of Trump being a racist, and as King continued with her response, she seemed to go further astray.

“Anyone who does not agree with him or stands up to him almost becomes enemy No. 1,” she said. “He just attacks, and it’s not always driven by race – it’s driven by Trump. That’s the bottom line. He’s a different kind of person than what you’d call your typical racist because ... look at the way he spoke about Senator [John] McCain. Who does that? The army vet, the reporter, it’s on and on and on and on.”

King is a delightful woman who I had the pleasure of sitting next to on the plane to Mexico City. And what an honor and thrill it was when my offer of my blanket was warmly accepted when she felt a chill halfway there. All that aside, I would be remiss as a journalist if I didn’t say that my question didn’t con-when she said, “Racism is just a word that’s being banded and thrown about and thrown at the president, in my opinion, unjustly. President Trump is not a racist.”

After a good laugh over a question her PR person said had never been asked before, Bernice King gave a thorough, thoughtful response:

I don’t like that is a part of your ideological system I shut you all the way down. I discount that there may be something in your makeup that is very beautiful, very powerful and has truth to it. But we don’t allow ourselves to open up to people unless they think mostly like us. And if we continue to do that then we’re going to have friction and tension and conflict.”

Attending his ninth World Summit was Frederik Willem de Klerk, former president of South Africa and a 1993 Nobel Peace Prize winner with Nelson Mandela for their role in ending Apartheid. The political prisoner he freed and would later succeed him as the country’s leader. De Klerk’s response to a question on migration was refreshing in that he was the only laureate to say that nations cannot open the floodgates for immigrants.

“Migration is not only a problem between the USA and Mexico,” de Klerk said. “Look at the hundreds of thousands of people crossing Africa into Europe to escape from dangerous situations, from hunger and joblessness, and the problems the European countries have in assimilating these migrants. Migration is a problem around the world and it’s going to become a bigger problem. In the case of Europe, the population is shrinking, and just to keep the economy at the level

1992 for her work championing rights of indigenous peoples and reconciliation between ethnic groups. The morning of her so-called press conference, during which she and her guest panelists gobbled up all but the last few minutes for questions, Tum was on a different panel on migration. She believes that no one flees their country unless they’re desperate, and their sole objective is to live where they are safe. Assuming that’s true, I asked Tum why the caravans originating in Honduras and El Salvador make the long and dangerous journey to the United States instead of seeking asylum in the first safe country they reach, which so happens to be her homeland of Guatemala? “How open are the arms of your country, or is your nation happy when the refugees continue on to Mexico to ultimately be handled by the USA?” Her response, through an interpreter, was so off the mark, I may as well have asked if she likes meatloaf on Tuesdays. Even her panelist friend told me she completely dodged the question. Clearly, Tum is riding the Peace Prize train without practicing what she preaches. Hypocrisy reared its ugly head several times during her abbreviated Q&A; at the start she urged the media to ask tough questions.

A fixture at these near-annual events is Lech time because the collapse of communism throughout Europe happened faster than anyone predicted.

“My strategy was Poland first, but then East and West Germany reunified and there was a snowball effect in other countries of the [Eastern] Bloc,” Walesa said. “The speed actually surprised President Reagan and myself, too.”

Asked about Trump’s chances to win a Peace Prize this December, the Polish activist danced the polka around the question, responding through an interpreter that while the world leader diagnoses situations in a correct way, the solutions he applies are wrong.

“He wants to move in a different direction than the whole world is heading,” said the man who won his Nobel Prize by doing just that. Walesa used Trump’s policy on protecting the nation’s southern border with Mexico as an example. “He says there are too many people coming into the United States. There should not be a wall, but money invested in Mexico to create jobs. And once this is done, this will level the disproportion between the countries.”

Trump’s mistake, Walesa said, is “forgetting that people behave like interconnected containers of water.” He elaborated. “There is a great disproportion in development in the world. It’s not Mexico’s fault of this disproportion. It’s the United States’ fault. We need to move the water from one container to another. We need to level the disproportion.”

Walesa didn’t sound like he’d put money on Trump winning a Peace Prize this year or any year. Despite efforts to keep the peace, namely making historic inroads with North Korea and in the Middle East, all without war breaking out, Trump seems to be on the same prizeless path as some past Republican presidents. Reagan engineered the end of the Cold War, and Richard Nixon, by normalizing relations between the U.S. and China, forced the Soviet Union to yield to pressure for detente with the United States.

The last GOP president to win the Peace Prize was Theodore Roosevelt in 1906. Since then, Woodrow Wilson, Jimmy Carter and Barack Obama have been so honored in addition to Vice President Al Gore – all Democrats. This from an organization that as late as last month’s World Summit of Nobel Peace Prize Laureates said the selection committee has no political bias. ★ winning organizations. The softball field, just to close out the sports-related figure of speech, was next to the working press room inside a world-class convention center in Merida, capital of the state of Yucatan.

Poor organization and logistics made covering the event a living hell, but of greater importance to you readers is how the Nobel Peace Prize winners responded to the questions that didn’t kowtow to the people of honor, few and far between as they were. Most journalists asked pandering softball questions like this one to Dr. Bernice King, the youngest child of revered Dr. Martin Luther King: “As a privileged white woman who can’t relate to the struggles of people of color, what can those like me do to help?” Knowing the organization, that eye-roller will probably get that woman a permanent invitation to all future World Summits. That would be a travesty with the white journalist already feeling so privileged and all.

Then a real question from the press was asked. My first of two called on MLK’s daughter to substantiate claims she made earlier at the World Summit about the leader of the Free World: “You have repeatedly called President Trump a racist. Can you give one example of something racist he has said or done?” King fumbled with her response, often looking to her handlers for help.

“Um, I mean there’s tinued to trip King up. She seemed to ramble and contradict herself.

“Out of his mouth I have heard him denounce white supremacy. I’ve heard that,” King said. “Whether or not he denounces it in a way that pushes away those who support him is another discussion. Those are the examples I have. It’s hard for somebody to believe he’s not racist. I can say that just because .... There are some things he’s done policy-wise that’s helped to uplift some of the black community. The First Step Act in terms of prison reform .... Racism is prejudice plus power. Racism is when you think an entire group of people is inferior to you or your peer group. I don’t know if anyone has examined that. Does President Trump feel that all blacks or Mexicans are inferior as a group? That’s a question we have to ask and determine.”

My second question for King, a quasi-lighthearted one, made the civil rights activist laugh out loud, which, all professionalism aside, was pretty cool. I asked, “When the family sits down for Christmas dinner, what’s the conversation like with Cousin Alveda at the table?” Alveda Celeste King, for those who don’t watch Fox News, is a civil rights activist, former Georgia congresswoman and a vocal supporter of the President. The 68-year-old niece of MLK has defended Trump on many occasions, including on national TV

“Because our family has such strong unconditional love for each other we do not let those kinds of things tear us apart as a family,” she said. “We have strong, vehement disagreements about how President Trump conducts himself. She is a Christian and she is also a minister, but at the end of the day she does what she does. I say what I need to say, she says what she needs to say.”

King then spoke much like the minister she is and her father was: “One thing I’ve learned about different opinions and ideologies is if you sit down and listen long enough and shut down your right to be right and allow yourself to hear what a person is saying, you might discover a bit of truth. That’s how my father developed his philosophy of non-violence. He was able to read and study a lot of different philosophers and theologians. Even those he didn’t agree with. So, if we’re going to create a more humane world, we have to learn to do that. Alveda has taught me because she’s so strong in what she feels and believes. We had a discussion over Labor Day weekend, and I sat and really listened to some of the things she was saying, and as I thought about them holistically there was some truth in that, and I had to acknowledge that. We have a tendency with people we disagree with to disagree with them fully. If there’s something specifically that where it is they will have to take in migrants. But I have sympathy for any country that says, ‘We can’t take anybody who wants to come into the country. We have to have an immigration policy that also puts importance on the interests of our country. We need migrants with specific skills.’ So, immigration policy should strike a balance between humaneness and protecting the interests of the country.”

Participating in her sixth World Summit was Rigoberta Menchu Tum, a Guatemalan Indian who was awarded the Peace Prize in Walesa, who won the Peace Prize in 1983 for founding Poland’s anti-communist Solidarity movement that played a key role in the collapse of communism in Eastern Europe. My question for the former Polish president, a pro-capitalist, was whether he would have been more successful developing his country as “The America of the East,” as he declared in 1991, with a businessman in the White House, Trump, than an actor-turned-politician, Ronald Reagan. Walesa said that it probably wouldn’t have mattered who was the U.S. president at the

The Secret to Being Organized

Pam Young's Corner

Let People Help You

If you are a caregiver, do you find it hard asking for help when it comes to your home? If that's a problem for you, this story may help make it easier to ask for help when you need it.

Incidentally, we all need help in areas we aren't competent in. We get accountants to help with our bookkeeping, and lawyers to help with legal issues and we're willing to get help with electricity and plumbing problems, but for some reason when it comes to our homes, we caregivers have a crazy notion we should be able to take care of everything ourselves.

The whole self-help movement implies you can do everything yourself. Lord knows you've tried, but how's that working for you?

Women are usually in service-rendering businesses; teachers, doctors, nurses, and mothers (even though being a mom isn't considered a business, it really is). As a life coach, today, I worked with a lovely woman from PA who has been an RN for thirty years. She explained how much she adores her calling because she loves to help people.

When I asked her to explain more about the feeling of helping others, she said, "When I help a patient, I feel happy knowing, because of me, that person is happier. I don't feel arrogant, just important in being part of another's well-being and happiness." She went on to tell me she is respected by the doctors at the hospital she works in and she's eager to go to work every day.

Because her home was in critical condition she asked a doctor friend if he thought she had Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD). The doctor asked her these questions: "Do you get to work on time?" (Yes.) "Have you ever missed going to work?" (No.) "Do you pay your bills on time?" (Yes.) With these answers, her friend said, "No you don't have ADD. This woman was relieved (as if having Attention Deficit Disorder was some kind of fatal disease).

After reading a lot of the material I've written about ADD, she decided to get another professional opinion. This next doctor gave her a test. She passed having ADD with flying colors, but was, at the same time devastated to think something was wrong with her brain. It was important for me to talk her into the joy of having ADD, because it's a wonderful thing to have as long as you understand how to live with it!

When I suggested she get help with getting her home organized, she said, "Oh I'd be too embarrassed to let someone in to do that." When I explained I wasn't going to leave her alone until she agreed to bring someone in, she realized I was serious and she came up with a person's name that was actually her best friend and had been in her home and already knew of her dirty little secret.

Once she'd agreed to get help from this person, I said something to her she'd never thought about before and maybe you haven't either. "Do you realize you'll be giving your friend an opportunity to feel happy knowing because of her, you are happier? She won't feel arrogant, just important for being part of your well-being and happiness. And just think, if you don't ask for help, you'll be a happiness hoarder!" We don't think that we're happiness hoarders when we don't ask others for help, but really we are. By reflecting her words about how she feels helping others to apply to someone's feelings for helping her, she got excited to call her friend.

Don't be a happiness hoarder. Ask for help.

2020 Medicare Part D Changes. . .Released!

Reader Alert: Effective October 1st, the new Medicare.gov website was released ... Webinar on understanding how to navigate the new Medicare.gov site is Wednesday October 23 at 3:00PM visit www.ToniSays.com for more information.

Toni:
Last year, the 2019 Medicare and You handbook did not include the 2019 Part D deductibles and "Donut Hole" costs, and I got in the "famous" Medicare donut hole last March.

I know it is only September, but I would like to get prepared and really cannot find the answer online or at the Medicare.gov website. Please inform me what the 2020 Medicare Part D costs. I did not see the 2020 Medicare Part D costs in either in the handbook or Medicare website. I look forward to what you have to say.

- Carrie League City Area

Carrie:
You are correct that the 2020 Medicare and You handbook did not have the 2020 Part D deductibles or out of pocket maximums. I did not foresee it being updated until October 1st .

But guess what?? For the Toni Says® Medicare newspaper column readers, we have a big surprise! I know what the Medicare Part D cost, copays and Donut Hole will be for 2020.

Below are the findings regarding the 2020 Medicare

Part D costs.

2020 Medicare Part D costs and copays are explained below.

Part D changes for 2020 are:

- Initial Deductible: will be increased by $20 from $415 in 2019 to $435 in 2020.
- Initial Coverage Limit: will increase by $200 from $3,820 in 2019 to $4020 in 2020 where the 2020 "Donut Hole" begins.
- Out-of-Pocket threshold cost: or ( TrOOP ) will increase from $5,100 in 2019 to $6,350 in 2020.
- Coverage Gap (Donut Hole): begins once you reach your Medicare Part D plan's initial coverage limit ($4,020 in 2020) and ends when you spend a total of $6,350 out-of-pocket in 2020.
- Does the Donut Hole go away... in 2020 is now called the Donut Hole Discount Donut Hole Discount: Part D enrollees will receive a 75% Donut Hole discount on the total cost of their brand-name drugs purchased while in the Donut Hole. The discount includes, a 70% discount paid by the brand-name drug manufacturer and a 5% discount paid by your Medicare Part D plan. The 70% paid by the drug manufacturer combined with the 25% you pay, count toward your TrOOP or Donut Hole exit point.

For example: If you reach the Donut Hole and purchase a brand-name medication with a retail cost of $100, you will pay $25 for the medication, and receive $95 credit toward meeting your 2020 total out-of-pocket spending limit.

- Donut Hole Generic Drug Costs: one will pay a maximum of 25% co-pay on generic drugs purchased while in the Coverage Gap (receiving a 75% discount). For example: If you reach the 2020 Donut Hole, and your generic medication has a retail cost of $100, you will pay $25. The $25 that you spend will count toward your TrOOP or Donut Hole exit point.
- Catastrophic coverage: $3.60 for generics with a retail price under $72 and 5% for those priced greater than $72. For brand-name drugs, pay $8.95 for those drugs with a retail price under $179 and 5% for those with a retail price over $179.
- Prescriptions not in formulary: If your prescriptions are not in your Part D formulary, then YOU WILL pay 100% of the prescription drug cost. Always verify that your prescriptions are in the Part D plan chosen.

The NBA Salutes Its Chinese Overlords

Little did Dr. James Naismith know when he invented the game of basketball in Springfield, Massachusetts, in 1891 that, more than a century hence, it would become beholden to its Chinese overlords.

The NBA disgraced itself kowtowing to Beijing after the general manager of the Houston Rockets, Daryl Morey, tweeted his support for Hong Kong protesters. The words he associated himself with — “Fight for Freedom. Stand with Hong Kong” — would seem uncontroversial. Who doesn’t hope for the best for plucky demonstrators trying to advance democracy against an overweening imperial dictatorship?

Morey, though, failed to adequately account for the feelings of the dictatorship. “I was merely voicing one thought,” he said, in a groveling tweet after deleting his original offending one, “based on one interpretation, of one complicated event. I have had a lot of opportunity since that tweet to hear and consider other perspectives.”

The “other perspectives” are those of people supporting a regime that is determined to crush Hong Kong underfoot, maintain a one-party state that stifles all internal dissent, brutally repress Uighur Muslims, grab the South China Sea, build up its military with an eye to a future confrontation with United States and rewrite the rules of the international order to its liking.

But who’s to judge?

In its own lickspittle statement, the NBA said that Morey’s views “have deeply offended many of our friends and fans in China, which is regrettable.” It appears that the Chinese-language version was even more craven, saying that the league is “extremely disappointed” in the GM’s “inappropriate” tweet.

If you follow the NBA and missed the part where Red China stole the league’s soul, it’s only because you haven’t paid enough attention to the international business. China is a huge and growing market for the NBA. When Chinese sponsors and partners of the Rockets began to pull out, the team and the league buckled.

The joke of it is that here at home the league flaunts its woke social conscience. The NBA used the leverage of its All-Star Game coming to Charlotte to force changes to a North Carolina bathroom bill, in the name of “equality.”

One would think that reeducation camps for a million Uighurs is much worse than any choice North Carolina makes about its restrooms. The NBA should be repelled by China’s policies, which run counter to everything that the NBA purports to stand for.

This episode exposes the league’s gutless hypocrisy. So long as social activism is costless, the NBA is all about its values. As soon as there is any price, it is willing to salute smartly at the dictates of one of the most cynical, self-interested regimes on Earth.

Of course, any profit-generating enterprise is going to care about its bottom line most of all. That shouldn’t efface all sense of decency and self-respect, though. James Harden, the Houston Rockets star, has grown very rich and famous playing an American game in an American league. His reaction to Morey’s tweet was unequivocal: “We apologize.”

He thus neatly encapsulated the willingness of a segment of the American business elite to express a kind of national loyalty to a nation that isn’t its own.

A Key Element in Getting Out of Debt

Dear Dave,

I’ve got about $3,000 in credit card debt. Would it be a good idea to transfer the balance from my credit card to another one that has a much lower interest rate?

– Tammi

Dear Tmami,

Lots of people who find themselves in your shoes make the switch to low-interest rate credit cards. A lower interest rate will help you save a little money in the short-term, but the drawback is it can also make you feel like you’ve addressed your problem with debt when you really haven’t. You’ve got to change the behavior and the mindset that put you in that situation in the first place. Besides, most low-interest, or no-interest, credit card offers are only good for a short period of time. There’s always a catch!

I discovered long ago that personal finance is only about 20 percent head knowledge and 80 percent behavior. Emotion is a key element to getting out of debt and staying out of debt. You’ve got to get really mad at debt, the impact it has on your financial life, and attack it with a vengeance. Think about how many times debt has been a negative influence on your life. My guess is there were many occasions in the past when you could have done great stuff – I’m talking about meaningful, important things – if you hadn’t had to send a bunch of money to those bozos at the credit card company every month. I want you to really think about it.

How about this? First, cut up your credit card and close the account. Then, sell some stuff and take a part-time job nights or weekends for just a little while. You could wipe out all your debt in less than a year by doing that and starting to live on a strict, written, monthly budget.

If you don’t get mad about it and take a stand against debt, and become determined you’re never going to fall into that trap again, you’re liable to find yourself back in the same situation or worse! – Dave

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF AMY ADELINE POLK
CASE NO. 34-2019-00263945

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both of Amy Adeline Polk, deceased A Petition for Probate has been filed by Jerry Polk, in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting Jerry Polk, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows October 23, 2019 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129 at Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento 3341 Power Inn Road Sacramento, CA 95826. IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. The name, address and telephone number of the Attorney for Petitioner is: Heather S. SUMMONS

SUMMONS (Family Law)
NOTICE TO RESPONDENT (Name): Temeko D. Meeks

Petitioner's Name is: Stephen F. Meeks Jr.

CASE NUMBER: 16FL07327

You have 30 CALENDAR DAYS after this Summons and Petition are served on you to file a Response (form FL-120) at the court and have a copy served on the petitioner. A letter, phone call, or court appearance will not protect you. If you do not file your Response on time, the court may make orders affecting your marriage or domestic partnership, your property, and custody of your children. You may be ordered to pay support and attorney fees and costs. For legal advice, contact a lawyer immediately. Get help finding a lawyer at the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp), at the California Legal Services website (www.lawhelpca.gov), or by contacting your local county bar association.

NOTICE-RESTRAINING ORDERS ARE ON PAGE 2:

These restraining orders are effective against both spouses or domestic partners until the petition is dismissed, a judgment is entered, or the court makes further orders. They are enforceable anywhere in California by any law enforcement officer who has received or seen a copy of them.

FEE WAIVER: If you cannot pay the filing fee, ask the clerk for a fee waiver form. The court may order you to pay back all or part of the fees and costs that the court waived for you or the other party. The name and address of the court are: William Ridgeway Family Relations Courthouse; 3341 Power Inn Road Sacramento, CA 95826

Story by Ron Richardson

The Falcons took control of a close match with an unrelenting offense against Cosumnes River on Tuesday night, resulting in a comfortable 3-0 win over the Hawks at Falcon Stadium. The Falcons controlled the ball and outshot the Hawks in the first half, but had many near misses from close range – including two Penalty Kicks – that prevented an early runaway. But sophomore forward Tanner Boyea found the net in the 23rd minute on a free kick that scooted through the wall of defenders for a 1-0 lead that the Falcons would never relinquish. Dylan Huft added a goal later in the half after a pass from Ethan Atterberry found Huft in front of the goal. After taking their 2-0 lead into the halftime break, the Falcons added another goal early in the second half when Adam Ratto placed a perfect ball to Atterberry for a 3-0 lead. Meanwhile, the defense was making life miserable for the Hawks while Falcon goalkeepers Gerardo Perez and Arman Salimi - who split the keeper duties, each playing a half – kept any hopes of a CRC goal out of the net. ★

Story by Ron Richardson

The Falcons went in to Rocklin on Friday afternoon with a share of first place in the Big 8 and an undefeated record of 10-0-1, but lost a seriously close battle against Sierra, 3-2. The Falcons started the scoring with an early goal by freshman Michaela Clark – her first of two on the day – and looked like they would run away from the Wolverines as they dominated possession time and pelted the goal with shots. Two of those shots hit the post, while the others were stopped by Sierra’s goalkeeper, allowing the Wolverines to stay close. After Sierra scored to tie the match in the 40th minute, the teams went 35 minutes before another goal was scored. With some offensive adjustments at halftime, the momentum that the Falcons had in the first half shifted to the Wolverines in the second half. Sierra took a 2-1 lead in the 75th minute, only to see Michaela Clark tie the score a minute later with her second goal (and second assist from Emily Doty). But momentum is a fickle thing, and the Wolverines retaliated with what turned out to be the winning goal five minutes later, then fought off the Falcons’ desperation attack to secure the 3-2 win.

The disheartening loss leaves the Falcons at 10-1-1 overall and 5-1-1 and tied for 2nd place in the Big 8. The Falcons will conclude the first half of their Big 8 schedule on Tuesday afternoon when they host Cosumnes River at 3:30 pm. ★

Women’s Volleyball Sweeps Diablo Valley

Story by Ron Richardson

The Falcons maintained the momentum from last weekend’s stirring victories in Santa Cruz with 3-0 blitz of Diablo Valley on Wednesday night at Falcon Gym, winning 25-8, 25-15, 25-12. Granted, Diablo Valley is having a tough year (now 0-14), but the Falcons played like a cohesive unit even with the entire bench logging substantial playing time.

The Vikings clearly had no answer for freshman outside hitter Julin Kenison, who put up big numbers despite playing sparingly. Freshmen Jenna Matheson, Hailey Coad, and Adri’ane Bellamy took advantage of extended play time, contributing to the victory with kills, blocks, and big serves. Backup setter Taylor Coate had an excellent game feeding the offense, and freshman libero Saki Yamamoto provided numerous digs. ★

Lancers Back In Playoff Conversation With Win At Florin

Story by James Darnell

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Cordova Lancers’ varsity football team earned its first win under new head coach Jason Bumbaca this past Friday with a dominant 26-7 win at Florin.

The Panthers play their home games at Monterey Trail High School, but with the way the Lancers (1-7 overall, 1-1 Greater Sacramento League) played on the night, the venue wouldn’t have mattered. Whether it was senior running back Kenny Brown ripping off long runs en route to a 261-yard, two touchdown performance offensively, or senior defensive lineman Tim Apole registering five sacks on the defensive side of the ball, the Lancers simply wanted it more. After going winless during a daunting preseason schedule, then dropping a nailbiter in their league opener against Johnson one week prior, the Lancers knew they had to get back on track versus the Panthers (0-7 overall, 0-2 GSL).

“It was great,” Bumbaca said of the win. “Super excited for the kids to get a win, excited for the coaching staff as well. We’ve been putting in a lot of work, so I’m glad it finally paid off.”

Highlights included a 29-yard scoring scamper from sophomore Trevontae yard touchdown plunge by Brown. Brown was not done, however, as he rattled off a 91-yard touchdown sprint in the fourth quarter to essentially put the game out of reach for the Panthers. Senior quarterback Joey Estrada also would connect with junior Tavion Dominguez on a 19-yard scoring strike before the game concluded. Defensively, Cordova forced five turnovers, including interceptions into a bye week, with a little extra time to prepare for their next game at Natomas on Friday, October 25. The Lancers now find themselves thrust back into the playoff picture with a 1-1 league record, with Valley currently atop the standings at 2-0. Cordova will host Valley in the regular season finale for both teams on Friday, November 1, with a potential league title on the line. ★

Department of Toxic Substances Control

October 2019

Public Notice

The mission of DTSC is to protect California's people and environment from harmful effects of toxic substances by restoring contaminated resources, enforcing hazardous waste laws, reducing hazardous waste generation, and encouraging the manufacture of chemically safer products.

EMERGENCY PERMIT

University of California, Davis
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

2315 STOCKTON BLVD.
SACRAMENTO, CALIFORNIA, 95817

On September 20, 2019, University of California at Davis School of Medicine (UCD) requested an Emergency Permit from the California Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) for onsite treatment of expired chemicals at 2315 Stockton Blvd., Sacramento, CA 94817. The items to be treated are 2 one-liter containers of Tetrahydrofuran. The chemical is potentially reactive and unsafe for transport in its present state. DTSC has determined that the chemical poses an imminent and substantial endangerment to human health and the environment if not properly managed.

Clean Harbors Environmental Service has been contracted to conduct this treatment. The treatment involves the addition of liquid solution to the containers to stabilize the chemical. Once the chemical is treated, it will be transported offsite for proper management. Therefore, an emergency permit should be issued. This Emergency Permit is effective from October 04, 2019 through December 02, 2019. The Emergency Permit includes measures to minimize any adverse impact to the community and the environment.

CALIFORNIA ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY ACT (CEQA): DTSC has determined that the project is exempt from the requirements of CEQA and has filed a Notice of Exemption (NOE) with the State Clearinghouse. The Emergency Permit, NOE, UCD's request for this project are available for review at the file room located at:

student-athletes set records that still stand today, and their accomplishments are nothing short of stellar, with many going on to college and professional sports as athletes, team captains, leaders and coaches at all levels. Others became community leaders and impressive, influential professionals in education, law, medicine, fundraising, CEOs and other important positions that continue to touch lives and encourage lessons learned from sportsmanship.

The evening began with an adult cocktail hour that was paired with delectable appetizers prepared and artfully served by the Cordova High Culinary Academy students. Past inductees and local dignitaries were welcomed and recognized, as were the event's sponsors, which were an impressive mix of individual, civic and corporate groups. ★
