and promote social equity.

In celebration of PMLB Month, CRPD has chosen to feature the story of one community member each week during the month of July to showcase community pride, recognize individual contributions and encourage the utilization of parks and recreation services.

By Cady Nagy-Chow,
Cordova Recreation & Park District

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - This year, Cordova Recreation & Park District (CRPD) has joined other parks and recreation agencies statewide in recognizing Parks Make Life Better!® Month (PMLB Month). Parks Make Life Better!® Month is a celebration of Parks and Recreation as a community service, and a demonstration of how these services model compassion and inclusivity,

For Mariah Palmer, Parks Make Life Better!® Month means the world to her, literally. Her relationship with Cordova Recreation & Park District is one that led her to worldwide competitions and championships, including a 2nd place team finish and an individual top ten placement at the International Cup. After watching her sister participate in the Baton Twirling program at Mather Sports Complex (MSC), Mariah began twirling with Revolution Twirl Club at age 10.

“I only ever remember practicing at Mather. I spent eight hours a day, every single day, over summer there when I was young. I see the days I spent practicing at Mather as the ones that built important relationships for me. Some that mean so much to me personally, and some that have opened doors in the business world. It’s like a home to me, and where I’ve met some lifelong friends,” Mariah said.

Mariah enjoyed the sport and the program’s environment so much that she twirled throughout her career at Oakmont High School, competing at the local, regional, national and international levels. Her dedication and passion for twirling manifested in the form of full-ride scholarship offers to both the University of Hawaii and the University of Memphis.

Because she had family in Memphis, Mariah chose to accept

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Leadership Rancho Cordova (LRC) launches a new class on a year-long exploration of our city this fall, and the search is on for eager participants.

In the spirit of developing community leaders, the program, offered by the Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce, LRC enters its fourteenth year and boasts more than 250 alumni – many currently serving in community leadership roles throughout the city and region.

“The next class of approximately 25 will be selected to represent a broad mix of backgrounds, ages, ethnicities and employment – a key ingredient to a successful

Workshop for County Businesses Required to Subscribe to Services

By Susan Peters,
Sacramento County
Supervisor

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - The Regional Solid Waste Authority (SWA) will be holding a workshop on Tuesday, August 13, to seek input on code changes intended to increase generator waste compliance levels in accordance with mandates required by the State of California. These mandates will affect all businesses that generate four or more cubic yards per week of all solid waste (including trash, recycling and organics).

The SWA needs business engagement and consensus on developing workable solutions to be successful in meeting these state mandates. Both Sacramento County and the City of Sacramento are under intense compliance pressure from the California Department of Resources, Recycling, and Recovery (CalRecycle) to achieve greater compliance with existing commercial sector recycling regulations as a result of the Mandatory Commercial Recycling Act (AB 341) adopted by the California Legislature and implemented by CalRecycle. It requires recycling by all businesses that generate four or more cubic yards of solid waste per week. In addition, AB 1826 requires businesses generating 4 or more cubic yards of trash and recycling to recycle their organic waste.

Currently, SWA code allows businesses to decline recycling services from their trash service provider and seek those services elsewhere. The proposed plan would require SWA franchisees to provide recycling and organics services to a business unless that business provides documentation their recycling services are provided by another recycler or by self-hauling.

The workshop on requiring businesses to subscribe to services for trash, recycling and organics will held at 1 pm in the County Board Chambers, 700 I Street, in downtown Sacramento. If you have questions, please email SWAInfo@sac-county.net. ★

In Case You Missed It: We're Number 1 In Gas Taxes

By Jim Stanley,
Assembly Republican
Communications

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Thanks to Democrats' latest gas tax increase, Californians filling up their gas tanks are noticing some extra pain at the pump. With this 6 cent per gallon increase, our state is now home to highest gas taxes in the country. You'd expect that with all that extra tax revenue, Californians would be driving on some of the best roads in America. You'd be wrong. The American Society of Civil Engineers gave California roads a "D" on its most recent infrastructure report card, while Transportation for America called California's roads the second-worst in the nation. Weeks ago, Assembly Republicans called for a one-year delay in the tax increase. Not a single Democrat supported the proposal. Instead they doubled down on a regressive tax that's not delivering results. This is an ongoing effort to deliver accurate and factual information about the activities of your local representatives in Sacramento, and how their votes either improve or negatively impact the lives of Californians. For more information, please contact Jim Stanley at (916) 319-2075 or Jim.Stanley@asm.ca.gov. ★

PG&E is Updating Contact Information for Public Safety Power Shutoffs

By Brandi Merlo,
Pacific Gas and Electric Company

SAN FRANCISCO, CA (MPG) - Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) is sending postcards to more than 240,000 customers encouraging them to update their mobile number, email and other key information so the company can contact them in advance should it become necessary to temporarily turn off power for safety this fire season. These customers, who live throughout PG&E's service area, have incomplete or no contact information on file. It is important that all customer information is up to date so PG&E can share important wildfire safety alerts. In addition to notifying customers directly, PG&E also will provide outage updates and information through channels such as social media, local news, radio and the pge.com website. "With the 2019 wildfire season now upon us, we all need to be better prepared to stay emergency-ready and to keep our families and friends safe," said Laurie Giammona, PG&E's senior vice president and chief customer officer. "We are asking our customers to be sure we have their latest contact information so we can do our best to reach them in advance of a potential Public Safety Power Shutoff event." The Public Safety Power Shutoff program is one of many additional precautionary safety measures in response to the 2017 and 2018 wildfires that the company is putting in place as part of its Community Wildfire Safety Program intended to reduce wildfire threats and strengthen communities for the future.

Extreme weather threats can change quickly. PG&E's goal, dependent on weather and other factors, is to send customer alerts through automated calls, texts and emails at 48 hours, again at 24 hours, and again just prior to shutting off power. Besides updating their contact information to prepare for Public Safety Power Shutoffs, PG&E encourages customers to do the following: Have an emergency plan for wildfires and discuss it with your friends, family and neighbors; Update or create a go bag or 72-hour kit that can be used if you need to evacuate; and clear defensible space around your home or business. PG&E thanks the over 390,000 customers who have taken action to ensure they will receive its wildfire safety alerts since June 1, 2018. For customers who have not yet confirmed or updated their contact information, PG&E strongly encourages everyone to do so by visiting www.pge.com/mywildfirealerts or by calling the PG&E contact center at 1-866-743-6589. Pacific Gas and Electric Company, a subsidiary of PG&E Corporation (NYSE:PCG), is one of the largest combined natural gas and electric energy companies in the United States. Based in San Francisco, with more than 23,000 employees, the company delivers some of the nation's cleanest energy to nearly 16 million people in Northern and Central California. Sac Metro Air District Gets Funding for Emission Reductions

By Sarah Gallivan,
Prosio Communications

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento Metropolitan Air Quality Management District (Sac Metro Air District) has successfully obtained millions of dollars through the California Air Resources Board's (CARB) Cap-and-Trade program for fiscal year 2018/2019, which will be used to meet the goals of AB617, the Community Air Protection Plan. This plan seeks to reduce emissions in low-income, disadvantaged communities, whose residents are disproportionately affected by air pollution. The Sac Metro Air District pioneered mobile source incentive programs, which create innovative and creative approaches for deployment of lower-emitting vehicle and equipment technologies and are now

uplicated throughout the United States. "With this latest round of funding, the District will use its expertise to build upon its successes identifying and tailoring programs that assist businesses, government agencies, non-profits, schools and other entities with zero emission incentive projects," said Sacramento County Supervisor and California Air Resources Board member Phil Serna who also serves on the District's Board. This money will supplement current funding that protects the health of regional residents by reducing air pollution emissions and greenhouse gases through incentive programs. "With the help of our regional partners, and under the leadership of Supervisor Serna who represents us on the CARB Board, the District has been successful in advocating for Cap-and-Trade funds for the Sacramento region," said District Board Chair and City of Sacramento Vice-Mayor Eric Guerra. "Projects that were implemented with Cap-and-Trade money such as electric school buses and Our Community CarShare reduce emissions, protect public health and expand the growing number of clean mobility options in the region, particularly for underserved communities." The over $14 million dollars that will be administered by the Sac Metro Air District will result in hundreds of projects, which will protect public health and improve regional air quality by reducing emissions in the Sacramento region. The District has also asked CARB to add flexibility to its existing program guidelines in an effort to expand funding opportunities to those that do not currently qualify. ★

Support the Back to School Block Party at Staples

By Patrick Larenas

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On July 27 to 28, Staples of Rancho Cordova will be hosting their Back to School Block Party, a 2-day neighborly event, to help teachers preparing for the new school year. Staples Operations Supervisor Mark Light said, "Every year we invite teachers to stock up on school supplies at discounted rates to make sure they use their limited resources as wisely as possible." Come join the Boys Scouts, Girls Scouts, Police Department, Fire Department and Folsom Cordova educators at the event. Everyone in modern life has felt the care and support teachers provide at schools—especially in large city regions; they perform a critical socializing role for the next generations, but teachers' salaries are generally low for the services they render. "At Staples we long realized it's not just business people who come in; it's also teachers that are coming and spending their own money for their classes," said Light. "Many times it's difficult for the school district to get those funds for every class, so individual teachers may choose to go the extra mile to give students a special experience." In response to this, Staples will be offering their Classroom Rewards program where teachers can enroll at staples.com/classroomrewards; once enrolled, parents can visit the website, select a teacher and support that teacher throughout the semester when shopping at Staples; and the teacher earns 5 percent every time you shop for school supplies. Staples will price match any competitor retail or online, so reward your student's classroom! Staples is located at 2690 Sunrise Blvd, Rancho Cordova, CA ★

Class XIV begins in September with a kick-off reception at City Hall, followed by a two-day retreat to immerse themselves in leadership fundamentals and begin the process of teambuilding.
In October, the class begins monthly "modules" and explores topics such as the state of volunteerism, local government, arts, history and culture, education, economic development, recreation and tourism, and public safety in Rancho Cordova, along with leadership lessons relevant to each sector.
The group will also develop and execute a class project – the signature of their class. Past class projects have included the design and installation of artistic bike racks placed around the city, a photographic history of Rancho Cordova, a summer family film series and refurbishing the dog park at Hagan Park.
There is a fee to participate and there are significant time commitments for modules, project development and execution. But organizers believe the effort is worthwhile.
"LRC provides graduates who make a difference in the economic health and quality of life in our community through active community engagement," said

Diann Rogers, CEO and President of the Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce. "Leadership Rancho Cordova provides graduates with the tools necessary to be an effective leader in their community, business or elected office."
Leadership graduates agree.
"LRC is a wonderful experience for those who want to get connected with the community and learn how to make a phenomenal difference in the lives of the citizens in Rancho Cordova," said Laurel Bane, alumnus of the program – Class XIII. "If you want to make an impact and have fun doing it, this program is for you."
Recruitment is currently under way, and deadline for applications is August 30th.

By Bob McGarvey

If you were born a few years before 1969, where were you when...

My wife's cousin and I were trout fishing in a stream early in the morning. I was able to catch a few rainbow trout, and Steve caught some rainbow trout and one German trout. It was definitely larger than all the other fish which we caught. We were really enjoying ourselves, but I was really glad that he had a watch on because he said we had better get out of the stream and get to the restaurant which wasn't too far away. He knew the area very well, so we were able to get inside very quickly. We got some ice tea, sat down, and watched the TV. The owner, his employees, and all of his customers couldn't do anything except watch TV, hold their breath, and see history being done before our very eyes. Apollo 11 was the spacecraft that first landed humans on the Moon. Commander Neil Armstrong and lunar module pilot Buzz Aldrin, both Americans, landed the Apollo Lunar Module

The Mayor's Corner

Science is Increasing our Knowledge About Many Things Faster Every Day

Eagle on the Moon on July 20, 1969, at 20:17 UTC. It was almost unreal that something like that could happen. Landing a man on the Moon in the 1960s was President John F. Kennedy's goal when he talked about what he believed our country could do. We were in a race with USSR to enter space, to land on the moon, and also involved in a race to get the most accurate intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The goals and hopes and promises which were heard and talked about when the 1960s began went crashing down when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated. Martin Luther King was assassinated and Bobby Kennedy was next to be killed. The Vietnam War increased as the 60s passed on. And yet, just for a moment, on that day of July 20, 1969 it seemed like everyone had a chance to stop demonstrations and see something wonderful and amazing when Astronauts landed on the Moon.

Different people remember some of the good things that happened then, and unfortunately some of the bad, but I remember one of the good things at the beginning of the 50s and that was a show during that time. It was "The Late Show" hosted by Steve Allan. One of the sketches in his show was about the dog that was put into orbit by the USSR in November 3, 1957. They kind of changed the name of Sputnik 2 in which the dog was placed, and went something like this, "Oh, I want the little doggy in the Mutnic. How I want that cute little pup. Oh, I'd buy me that doggy in the Mutnic. But it's nine hundred miles straight up."

Today's computers are able to do so much more than the computers which were on Apollo 11, and science is increasing our knowledge about many things faster every day. But, personally, I think it is sad that the space program ended when it did. Eugene Cernan, commander of Apollo 17, still holds the record of being the last man to walk on the surface of the Moon. No one else has visited the Moon since December 14, 1972. I hope the people of today who are developing rockets will send our Astronauts to the Moon, and Mars, and not let everything stop again. Men and women had the knowledge and skills in 1969 to land someone on the Moon. I hope the men and women of today will repeat that feat and beyond.

From Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

Apollopalooza Commemorates the 50th Anniversary of the Moon Landing

By Cheryl Holkan, Aerospace Museum of California

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Two Sacramento area STEM learning institutions, the Aerospace Museum of California and Powerhouse Science Center are coming together to bring guests Apollopalooza, a family-friendly event that will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Apollo 11 moon landing. This special event will take place at the Aerospace Museum of California on Saturday, July 20 from 10:00AM-4:00PM.

Highlights of Apollopalooza include the premiere of the Aerospace Museum of California's new Moon Mission Virtual Reality Experience, exclusive Apollo artifact tours, a NASA Mad Science show, and several activities hosted by both the Museum and Powerhouse Science Center in the exhibit hall. A Smithsonian affiliate, the Aerospace Museum of California will also feature exclusive Smithsonian programming and NASA films in the Museum's theater.

Michael Galane, Executive Director for the Powerhouse Science Center stated, "We're excited to partner with the Aerospace Museum of California and SAFE Credit Union to bring this one-of-a-kind event to the Sacramento area. Tom Jones, Executive Director for the Aerospace Museum of California noted: "Northern California has a rich aerospace heritage and having these two STEM learning centers collaborate together to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the moon landing will make this a memorable event for the greater Sacramento community."

Members of both Aerospace and Powerhouse are offered deeply discounted tickets to the event. Tickets to the event are available for purchase online at aerospacedca.org/tickets.

Apollo 11 was launched from the Kennedy Space Center on July 16th, 1969 with a crew of three astronauts: Buzz Aldrin, Neil Armstrong, and Michael Collins. Four days later, on July 20th, Neil Armstrong's first steps on the moon were broadcast worldwide on live television. Armstrong's quote, "One small step for man, one giant leap for mankind" as he stepped on the surface for the first time is remembered as one of the most iconic moments in NASA history. The crew landed in the Pacific Ocean on July 24th, 1969, fulfilling President John F. Kennedy's national goal: to land a man on the moon and safely return him before 1970. ★

Senate Republicans to "Keep the Promise"

By Jacqui Nguyen

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Members of the Senate Republican Caucus are keeping the promise to the most vulnerable members of our communities. Senate Republicans voted in support of Senate Bill 81 which will improve transparency and accountability for regional centers, provide rate increases for service providers who serve the developmentally disabled community, and suspend the Uniform Holiday Schedule used during recessions as a budget savings tool.

According to a rate study report released in March, provider rates for the developmentally disabled community are underfunded by $1.2 billion. SB 81 is a budget trailer bill and will provide up to $250 million annually from the state budget for provider rate increases.

Senate Republican Leader Shannon Grove (R-Bakersfield) issued the following statement:

"Senate Republicans advocated for a full 8 percent across-the-board increase and we will continue to keep our promise to help the developmentally disabled community. While $250 million is only a fraction of what is truly needed, it is a down payment for service providers who care for the most vulnerable members of our society. This is a significant step in the right direction, but more still needs to be done," said Senate Republican Leader Shannon Grove.

Senate Bill 81 excludes 12

service categories including: Infant Development and Early Start Programs; Independent Living Programs; Activity Center; Social Recreation Program; Rehab Work Activity Program.

In February, Senate Republican Leader Grove delivered a letter to the Chairs of the Assembly and Senate Budget Committees requesting several budget items for the 2019-20 fiscal year. This included an 8 percent across-the-board rate increase for providers who serve the developmentally disabled community and a request to reinvest the savings from the closures of the Developmental Centers (DCs) back into the community.

Senate Republicans Offered a Solution to Assist Independent Contractors

By Jacqui Nguyen

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Republican Senator Mike Morrell (R-Rancho Cucamonga) who is the Vice Chair of the Senate Labor, Public Employment and Retirement Committee voiced his opposition and voted against Assembly Bill 5 which seeks to codify a workforce decision that was handed down by the California Supreme Court in 2018. AB 5 was heard in the Senate Labor Committee and passed on a partisan vote by 4 to 1.

Last year, the state's highest court ruled on the Dynamex Decision which created a new test to determine whether a worker is an employee or an independent contractor. The new test does not account for the diverse workforce in California and will take away the flexibility that many workers currently enjoy as independent contractors.

Senate Republican Leader Shannon Grove (R-Bakersfield) introduced Senate Bill 238 which would have kept California's workforce supportive of independent contractors. Co-authored by all Senate Republicans, SB 238 also received support from numerous business organizations, but Senate Democrats killed the legislation in the Senate Labor Committee in April.

Senator Morrell stated that SB 238 would have assisted all independent contractors, not just specific industries.

"In making laws, we should do so with a mindset of opportunity for all and favoritism toward none. Whereas SB 238 would have treated every industry equally, AB 5 chooses winners and losers and is an egregious example of crony capitalism. I do not fault those who pursued and got carve-outs in AB 5. They had little choice but to look out for their own. The process, however, is a telling commentary on both the terrible ruling in Dynamex and the misguided approach legislative Democrats have taken to the issue. We cannot lose sight that we are not just talking about jobs, but livelihoods. This will be another serious blow to our economy," said Senator Mike

Morrell.

"Single mothers and student Uber drivers will be greatly affected once the Dynamex Decision is codified into law. My legislation, SB 238, is a common-sense solution that would have helped the 2 million independent contractors who call California home. Unfortunately, partisan politics intervened which leaves the livelihood of millions at risk," said Senate Republican Leader Shannon Grove.

Senate Republican Leader Shannon Grove represents California's 16th Senate District which encompasses large portions of Kern, Tulare and San Bernardino counties and including the cities of Bakersfield, Barstow, California City, Exeter, Frazier Mountain, Joshua Tree, Mojave, Needles, Ridgecrest, Rosamond, Taft, Tehachapi, Twentynine Palms, Tulare, Visalia, Yucca Valley and portions of the Kern River Valley. Travel Advisors Caught in the Crosshairs of California Senate

Proposed Legislation Would Set Back Decades-Old Business Model, Disrupting Thousands of Small Businesses

Submitted by American Society of Travel Advisors

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - If California Assembly Bill 5, currently making its way through the California Senate, is enacted without amendment, thousands of travel advisors in California and across the country will no longer have the option of rendering their services as independent business owners to the agencies that currently engage them, according to a survey conducted by the American Society of Travel Advisors (ASTA).

Like numerous other industries, travel agencies have come to rely heavily on the services of independent contractors, and this arrangement provides substantial benefits to both independent advisors and the agencies engaging them. Specifically, agencies gain a measure of flexibility where traditional employment relationships are either impractical or uneconomical, while advisors have the freedom to set their own hours and schedules, establish their own rates, select the customers with whom they will work and market their own brands.

Unfortunately, however, recent developments have put this mutually advantageous system at great risk. Last year, the California Supreme Court issued its decision in the case of Dynamex Operations West, Inc. v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 4 Cal. 5th 903 (2018), in which the Court adopted the so-called "ABC Test" to determine a worker's status as either an employee or an independent contractor for purposes of wage order claims. In doing so, the Court overturned the common law "right of control" test established in the Borello decision upon which travel agencies and businesses in hundreds of other industries in California had relied upon for nearly three decades.

Recently, the American Society of Travel Advisors conducted an industry survey in order to assess the likely impact of this harmful legislation on the independent contractor community. The preliminary results paint a clear picture.

First, this is an established industry that is about to be thrown into upheaval by Assembly Bill 5. More than half of independent contractors (ICs) have been in their role for more than seven years.

The vast majority of respondents to our survey (85%) are very satisfied with their status as an IC and 93% of independent advisors reported that the freedom to set their own hours and work schedules was an important factor in choosing the IC business model.

If required by law to become agency employees, 41% of independent advisors responded that they would choose to leave the industry or leave the state for one that allows them the flexibility they currently have.

Now Assembly Bill 5, currently pending before the Senate Labor, Public Employment and Retirement Committee, aims to codify the holding in the Dynamex decision, making the ABC Test applicable to nearly everyone in every industry in the state. Because in most cases traditional travel agencies engaging workers to sell travel will be unable to satisfy the ABC Test, passage the bill would mean that thousands of independent advisors will no longer have the option of rendering their services as independent business owners to the agencies that currently engage them.

As the bill has moved through the legislature, exemptions have already been added for insurance agents, physicians, dentists, direct salespersons, real estate agents, barbers, architects, and others.

While the Senate considers Assembly Bill 5, it is critical that it be amended to clearly state that workers engaged to sell travel in the travel agency industry will be evaluated under the standard in place in California for nearly 30 years prior to the Dynamex decision.

Rebranded in 2018 as the American Society of Travel Advisors, ASTA is the leading global advocate for travel advisors, the travel industry and the traveling public. Its members represent 80 percent of all travel sold in the United States through the travel agency distribution channel. Together with hundreds of internationally-based members, ASTA's history of industry advocacy traces back to its founding in 1931 when it launched with the mission to facilitate the business of selling travel through effective representation, shared knowledge and the enhancement of professionalism. Space Launch System Receives Four RS-25 Engines

Aerojet Rocketdyne delivered four RS-25 engines for integration with NASA's Space Launch System core stage from its facility at NASA's Stennis Space Center to NASA's Michoud Assembly Facility.

STENNIS SPACE CENTER, MS (MPG) - Aerojet Rocketdyne recently delivered four RS-25 engines to NASA's Michoud Assembly Facility (MAF) for integration with the core stage of NASA's Space Launch System (SLS) in anticipation of the rocket's first flight on the Artemis 1 mission.

"The Space Launch System is a foundational element of our nation's deep space exploration architecture that will allow humans to return to the Moon and eventually set foot on Mars," said Eileen Drake, Aerojet Rocketdyne CEO and president. "Built on the proven propulsion system that powered space shuttles to orbit for more than three decades, SLS will enable more complex exploration missions and will send astronauts and large cargo farther and faster than any rocket in history."

The RS-25 engine, an advanced version of the Space Shuttle Main Engine, has a strong legacy of safely and reliably powering human spaceflight. All four of the RS-25 engines that will fly on the first SLS flight also flew during the Space Shuttle Program; they have since been updated with new controllers and adapted for the unique operating environment of SLS. The engines will be operated at a higher power level than was used during the shuttle flights, providing SLS with additional thrust.

"Aerojet Rocketdyne engines have powered every astronaut launched from U.S. soil and, with SLS, we will build on this strong legacy," added Drake. "There is no other rocket built or in production with the lift capability of SLS."

In addition to the RS-25 engines, Aerojet Rocketdyne is also providing the RL10 engine that will power the SLS upper stage, known as the Interim Cryogenic Propulsion Stage (ICPS), as well as the composite over-wrapped pressure vessels and reaction control system thrusters. The ICPS is complete and ready for integration with the rest of the SLS rocket components at Kennedy Space Center.

Earlier this year, Aerojet Rocketdyne delivered the jettison motor, which is part of the Launch Abort System that will ensure crew safety in the event of a launch or pad anomaly. Additionally, Aerojet Rocketdyne has assisted in refurbishing the main engine for the service module, and delivered the reaction control system engines for the Orion crew module and eight auxiliary engines for Orion's European Service Module, which will ride atop the SLS.

Aerojet Rocketdyne, a subsidiary of Aerojet Rocketdyne Holdings, Inc. (NYSE:AJRD), is a world-recognized aerospace and defense leader that provides propulsion systems and energetics to the space, missile defense and strategic systems, and tactical systems areas, in support of domestic and international customers. The US women are winners, not victims

The women of the U.S. national soccer team are famous for being extraordinary athletes, repeat world champions -- and plaintiffs.

The team's lawsuit alleging pay discrimination against the U.S. Soccer Federation has done much to define its identity. A nearly perfect run through the World Cup has been widely interpreted as vindication of the merits of its case, so much so that fans chanted "equal pay" after the U.S. victory in the final over the Netherlands and booed the head of FIFA, the sponsor of the World Cup, during the trophy ceremony.

It's not to take anything away from the women's achievement -- they never trailed the entire tournament -- to note that the equal-pay complaint is almost entirely bunk.

It is true that the American women, who sweat and practice as much as their male compatriots (perhaps more, given their superior results), don't make as much. But the women's game isn't as popular or profitable, which fundamentally drives pay.

The total prize money for the women's 2019 World Cup was $30 million, with the champion taking away about $4 million. The total prize money for the men's 2018 World Cup was $400 million, with the champions winning $38 million.

This seems blatantly unfair, until you take into account the completely different viewership and revenue from the two events. FIFA raked in more than $6 billion from the 2018 men's World Cup. The women's 2019 World Cup has been projected, when all is said and done, to make about $130 million.

The women's tournament this year may have garnered about a billion viewers across all platforms, nothing to sneeze at, but the 2018 men's World Cup had more than a billion viewers just for the final game.

The lawsuit's explanation for a smaller audience for the women's team is what it calls "manufactured revenue depression," a deliberate effort by the federation to squelch the women's reach and undercut their ticket prices. Perhaps the federation should have done more, and can do more, to promote the women's game, but the smaller women's audience can't be the work of one organization.

Another element of pay for women's and men's players is their play for professional leagues, where the scale of the audiences is, again, vastly different.

The National Women's Soccer League has two strong teams that average more than 10,000 fans per game, but the other seven teams in the league average fewer than 5,000. Sky Blue FC, based in Piscataway, New Jersey, averages 1,432.

By way of comparison, the worst of the men's Major League Soccer teams, the Chicago Fire, averages 11,417. The best-attended team, Atlanta United, has drawn roughly 70,000 people for four home games this season, about the total attendance for all NWSL games so far.

The women and men have two different collective bargaining agreements, and different World Cup hoops to jump through, so making direct apple-to-apple comparisons is complicated. It's hard to argue, though, with the simple approach the women say that they have proposed in the past -- revenue sharing based on how much money they bring in.

There's risk to this arrangement if the women underperform, but this group is nothing if not self-confident, and so far has always delivered.

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Local residents who bring an unopened pack of diapers to any Leatherby’s Family Creamery location on July 20 from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. will receive a free scoop of ice cream as part of Daddy Dave’s Diaper Drive, benefiting the Sacramento Life Center. The drive, which takes place during National Ice Cream Month, will provide diapers for low-income moms in the Sacramento area and honor the life of the ice cream shop’s founder Dave Leatherby Sr. who passed away earlier this year and supported the Sacramento Life Center for decades.

“This is a really special drive, as it not only fills an important need, but honors my late father who was so beloved in this community and who had such a heart for helping low-income pregnant women and teens in the Sacramento area,” said Marie Leatherby, executive director, Sacramento Life Center. “We hope everyone comes out on July 20 to help women in need and enjoy a free scoop of Leatherby’s ice cream in honor of my dad.”

According to The Nation, a third of American families struggle to afford enough diapers. The 2018 article quoted a study that found families would leave a child in a diaper too long, risking diaper rash and urinary tract infections, and others would bleach a wet diaper, dry it and reuse it. The Sacramento Life Center’s diaper drive will ensure that every mother who walks into its main clinic can receive free, clean diapers for her children.

The Sacramento Life Center’s mission is to offer compassion, support, resources and free medical care to women and couples facing an unplanned or unsupported pregnancy. The Sacramento Life Center’s licensed Sac Valley Pregnancy Clinic includes a primary clinic and two Mobile Medical Clinics that provide all services for free, including pregnancy tests, STD tests, ultrasounds, peer counseling for men and women, education and resource referrals. The nonprofit also offers a school-based teen education program, a 24-hour hotline and a program for women experiencing reproductive grief. In the matter of the Adoption Petition of: CLAUDETTE WARD, ADOPTING PARENT
Case No.: 18AD00151
CITATION TO PARENT
DATE: August 19, 2019
TIME: 11:00
DEPT: 124
TO THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA
TO: Thomas Isack, DSS Social Worker and anyone claiming to be a parent or having any interest regarding the minor child, JULIAN DURELL WARD, born October 18, 2010 in Sacramento, California

By order of this Court you are hereby notified that you may appear before the judge presiding in Department 124 of this Court on August 19, 2019 at 11:00 am at 3341 Power Inn road Sacramento, California, then and there to show cause, if any you have, why JULIAN DURRELL WARD should not be declared free from your custody and control for the purpose of freeing JULIAN DURRELL WARD for placement for adoption.

The following information concerns rights and procedures that relate to this proceeding for the termination of custody and control of said minor as set forth in Family Code Section 7860 et seq. 1. At the beginning of the proceeding the court will consider whether or not the interests of the minor do require such protection; the court will appoint counsel to represent him, whether or not he is able to afford counsel. The minor will not be present in court unless he requests or the court so orders. 2. You are required to be present at the hearing; however, if you appear without counsel and are unable to afford counsel, the court must appoint counsel for you, unless you knowingly and intelligently waive the right to be represented by counsel. ASK MATT

BY MATT ROUSH TV Guide Senior Critic

Will Another Network Pick Up The Cool Kids?

Question: I just loved The Cool Kids. Excellent stories that I think fans from 50 years old and up could relate to. Any possibility it will return? – Louise C.

Matt Roush: Very unlikely. The show was produced by the Fox studio for the Fox network, and now that the studio has been folded into the Disney empire, the only hope is that ABC or another Disney property would suddenly become interested in it. If that were the case, we’d probably have heard by now.

Question: After all this time on The Walking Dead, how can there still be electricity, charged car batteries, flashlights with fresh batteries, ammunition and food? – Roger

Matt Roush: You have a point, but keep in mind that much more time has passed for us in the nine years since The Walking Dead launched than it has for the survivors of the zombie apocalypse, whose story has spanned just about half that much time (roughly five years, according to some sites’ calculations). The story still often concerns the risks the characters go through to forage for supplies and sustain themselves with food and even create their own ammo. It’s a survival story as much as a horror fest, and we are getting glimpses of a civilization that has carried on even as our heroes rebuild their own world.

Bumbaca Eager to Get Ball Rolling at Cordova

By James Darnell

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - With football season fast approaching, new Cordova High School varsity football coach Jason Bumbaca is eager to hit the ground running with his new team—literally and figuratively.

Bumbaca, a coach that prefers to utilize a bruising ground game and an attacking defense, was hired in March to replace former head coach John McCoy. Bumbaca is stepping into an exciting situation as he takes over a program that advanced to the second round of the CIF Sac Joaquin Section Division IV playoffs a year ago, after earning themselves a Greater Sacramento League championship during the regular season with a flawless 4-0 mark (6-6 overall).

Prior to landing the job with the Lancers, Bumbaca has spent the past 14 seasons as a coach at the high school level, including stints at Santa Clara High School, Del Mar High School, and Wilcox High School, respectively. This past season while at Del Mar, Bumbaca was recognized as the Wedemeyer Memorial Coach of The Week by the San Francisco 49ers in Week 8.

For Bumbaca, coming to Cordova is an ideal situation.

“I love the area and love the sense of community,” he said. “The school has a ton of athletes, and I like the pride within the program. I'm looking to bring my family up there and live in a community where my kids will go to school.”

Currently, the Lancers are smack dab in the middle of the Section's “dead period” where no football activity can take place. The team had four weeks of football activities that began in June, however for the time being Bumbaca and his team are limited to lifting weights and conditioning.

But soon enough the team will be able to put the pads back on and get to work, which has Bumbaca champing at the bit to coach up his new players.

“I'm pretty excited,” he said. “There's a bunch of talent on the team, we just have to get them to all get together with the new offense and the new defense, as well as the new coaching staff. We're trying to get as much time with each other as possible so we can build those relationships to trust one another on Friday nights.”

Coming Full Twirl First Annual Capital Creative Showcase

that scholarship and move to Tennessee to pursue collegiate twirling at the age of 17. When asked how CRPD/ Revolution Twirl Club program helped prepare her for the collegiate and professional world, Mariah said, “These long days of physical and mental work prepare our athletes for a full-time job. The girls I coach are 16-17, ready to compete in France with the world team and then twirl professionally. I was the same. Hard work and dedication are learned in this program, and the characteristics you build, you can continue adding to with a little bit more work,” Mariah said.
In 2013, Mariah returned to her roots and moved back to Sacramento to raise her daughter. A few years later, Mariah found herself missing the team environment and athletic component of twirling. Though she only had one year of dance training, her experience with twirling at MSC prepared her to make the Sacramento King’s Dance Team in 2016. “The twirling program opened up professional opportunities in the dance world for me. Normally that door would be closed, but going through this program allowed me to combine my twirling training with a bit of dance, to still be an asset to a professional NBA dance team. Plus, now I still have a great network that keeps professional doors open, like coaching or judging,” Mariah said.
Part of this network includes Kellie

Pearlman, Mariah’s former coach and current Revolution Twirl Club Coach. “Kellie is like family to me,” Mariah said. When Mariah returned to her community, she found a way to give back to the program that shaped her into the professional athlete and person she is today. Following in the footsteps of Kellie, through coaching, Mariah gets to share her knowledge of the sport and mentor young twirlers in life. Kellie, who also began twirling in her youth with Cordova Recreation & Park District and returned to coach for the program years later said, “and to think it all started with a rec class at Hagan Community Park!”
While Mariah coaches Baton Twirling, her daughter participates in CRPD’s Kuk Sool Won program, Jr. Kings Clinics, or other activities held at MSC. “There’s so many great things offered here, and I would rather my daughter be running around, staying active, than sitting at home in front of a screen. The complex has so many options, which is great. Especially because you never know what you’ll like until you try it!” Mariah said.
With the variety of program options for her daughter to try while she is working, and a tighter budget to manage while she completes her master’s degree, Mariah feels grateful for parks and recreation facilities like Mather Sports Complex. “Going through parks and recreation classes is so helpful, especially the financial aspect for families. Competitive teams are so expensive, and you can get the same, or almost the same, training for less through rec. Plus, the opportunity to try classes without a huge commitment is also great for the little ones,” Mariah said.

Beyond twirling and programs for her daughter, Mariah believes another great thing about frequenting Mather Sports Complex is seeing friends who participate in the adult programs and the evolution of her home. “While I’m coaching, sometimes I run into friends playing in the adult sports leagues. That’s fun because some of them were basketball players I met when I was young practicing here. All of us got really excited when the floor was redone with the Kings. Plus, we got to be first to utilize the remodel! All of the upgrades have been incredible,” Mariah said.
Mariah’s experiences showcase not only the lifelong physical benefits of program participation, but also the incredible relationships. “You meet other program participants when you’re around each other all the time, and when you spend enough time together, lasting friendships form,” Mariah said.
Kellie and Mariah recommend Baton Twirling because it helps improve confidence, hand-eye coordination, dance and life skills. Visit www.crpdc.com for more information about Revolution Twirling Club’s classes offered by CRPD at Mather Sports Complex. ★

Mom is a social butterfly with a green thumb. When her big garden and home became too much, we knew exactly what we wanted in a community: gardens to tend and new friends. Our search brought us to Eskaton Lodge Gold River. When we toured, we knew. The people were so friendly, and the patio gardens seemed to call her name. Here, they care about what Mom calls well-being, and I am experiencing peace of mind.
