Holiday Travel Tips from Sac Airport

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Sacramento International Airport (SMF) is ready to serve holiday travelers with festive holiday decorations, live entertainment and abundant options for last-minute shopping. Whether flying out or picking up loved ones, customers are encouraged to arrive early, anticipate delays and be prepared by checking parking lot status and downloading the PassioGO! app.

The biggest crowds are expected Dec. 21-23 with a second rush expected on Dec. 26 as holiday travelers fly home.

If you are catching a flight, the airport recommends travelers arrive at least two hours in advance of flight departure to allow time to park, check bags and to get through security stress free. If you are flying out of Terminal A (United, Delta, American) plan on a 40 minute wait at peak times.

Parking lots will fill and close, so please plan to arrive early, and keep an eye out for signs directing you to open lots, including our new Overflow Lot. Visit the interactive parking map to see current availability and download the PassioGO! app to see real-time parking shuttle status and ETA. If you are picking someone up don't circle the terminal looking for your passenger. Save time and gasoline by using the Free Waiting Area. Visitors can park and wait until their passenger calls to let them know they have their bags and are at the curb ready to be picked up.

Christmas in Cordova - Become the Magic

Story by Trina L. Drotar

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - For the eighth year, Rancho Cordova Police Department, City of Rancho Cordova, Rancho Cordova Police Activities League (PAL), Folsom Cordova Community Partnership (FCCP), Sacramento County Sheriff's Department, CHP, and Sun River Church joined forces to host Christmas in Cordova at Mills Middle School. With help from numerous community organizations, businesses, Boy Scout troop 281, local schools and colleges, and community-minded citizens from the greater Sacramento region, the event was bigger and brighter than ever for more than 800 children who will find Christmas gifts under their trees on Christmas morning.

The event formed from the efforts of the Police Activities League and Folsom Cordova Community Partnership's efforts said PAL Director Jose De La Cruz and FCCP Director Robert Sanger.

Police officers, De La Cruz explained, collected gifts and distributed the gifts to neighborhood families, but with Christmas in Cordova, they're able to serve a larger population.

"We help all members of our community," he said, "to have a better Christmas by enhancing the whole spirit of Continued on page 8

Holiday Magic Lights Up Old Sacramento Waterfront

By Traci Rockefeller Cusack

OLD SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - This holiday season, DOCO (Downtown Commons) proudly presents the 10th Anniversary "Macy's Theatre of Lights," an electrifying and familyfriendly holiday tradition. Taking place on K Street between Front and 2nd Streets, the ever-popular (and FREE) performances return to dazzle guests to the Old Sacramento Waterfront for more than 20 magical evenings this year.

Each holiday season, it takes many dedicated partners, sponsors and supporting businesses to make this elaborate and FREE holiday light show happen. The spectacular annual event is proudly presented by DOCO (Downtown Commons), Old Sacramento Waterfront and the Downtown Sacramento Partnership with generous support from the California State Railroad Museum Foundation, City of Sacramento, Embassy Suites, Evangeline's, Sacramento Kings Kids Club, SacPark, SMUD, Steamers and Tri Counties Bank. Additional support is provided by many actively involved Old Sacramento merchants and small business owners.

With the 60' tall Christmas tree serving as a visually exciting centerpiece, "Macy's Theatre of Lights" was conceived and created by Stage Nine Entertainment's Troy Carlson and is produced by some of California's finest talents in the field of light and sound: Sacramento Theatrical Lighting (STL),

Spectacular family-friendly performances will continue through Christmas Eve. Photo by Charr Crail, courtesy of the Downtown acramento Partnership Associated Sound and Thursdays through Sundays Skywalker Sound, and Emmy-nominated voice actor Bill Farmer, the voice of Disney's Goofy.

The "Macy's Theatre of Lights" artfully mixes the historic charm of the Old Sacramento Waterfront with state-of-the-art sound and lighting technology to create a memorable holiday experience for visitors of all ages. Old Sacramento Waterfront's "Macy's Theatre of Lights" blends a symphony of lights, sounds and visual effects that transport the audience back in time with a reading of the famous poem The Night Before Christmas by Clement Clarke Moore. The narrated reading of the powerful and nostalgic poem is brought to life through theatrical elements and visually-exciting lighting choreography that takes place on the balconies and rooftops of the historic buildings. With updated props and show surprises including "snow" falling on spectators below, the crowd-favorite villain Jack Frost returns this year (always with new tricks up his sleeve) to add dramatic tension and suspense to the show.

Two 20-minute performances are offered on Communications at 6 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. and also on Tuesday, December 18 and Wednesday, December 19. With only one performance only on Christmas Eve, the final "Macy's Theatre of Lights" performance for the season takes place on December 24 at 6 p.m.

As a special – and often surprising - treat on many nights, local celebrities and influential community members will entertain the audience in the guest role of "papa" or "mama" wearing a stocking cap and oftentimes decked out in holiday pajamas. Community members are encouraged to make the Old Sacramento Waterfront a must-visit holiday destination to experience the magical "Macy's Theatre of Lights" performances every season while also supporting the array of locally-owned businesses, shops and eateries available in the historic district.

More information about "Macy's Theatre of Lights" performances and/or other events and activities happening in historic Sacramento is available by calling 916-970-5226 or visiting www. oldsacramento.com.

SMUD Protecting Power Poles from Cars and Trucks

Sharp Rise in "Car-Into-Pole" Accidents Jeopardize Public Safety and Power Reliability

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - SMUD has seen a considerable increase in the number of incidents that involve vehicles crashing into the electric utility's infrastructure, especially power poles. In an effort to mitigate some of those "car-pole" accidents and promote public and worker safety, SMUD is expanding measures designed to reduce the number of vehicle accidents that involve SMUD equipment, thereby reducing the number of associated power outages. The measures are part of an ongoing five-year pilot program that started in 2017.

SMUD data shows an increasing trend of these incidents annually. In 2006 for example, there were 153 accidents where vehicles crashed into SMUD electrical equipment-mostly into power poles. In 2016, there were almost double that number annually-271. Many reasons are cited like increased traffic volume, and distracted and unsafe driving. The result is increased potential for public and worker year and during the second safety hazards and more power outages.

SMUD is focusing its mitigation efforts on power poles and electrical equipment that has been crashed into multiple times over the years. The preventive and protective measures include removing and relocating power poles; redesigning them; installing higher-visibility reflective strips; and installing large, highly visible protective barriers around the power poles, known as "Raptor" technology.

The Raptor is probably the most noticeable power protection tool SMUD is using. It is big and yellow and SMUD has seen an increase in "car-pole" accidents in recent years, so the electric utility is installing some measures to mitigate damage to power poles and other electrical equipment. plastic, and resembles a large of outages for SMUD's wedge of cheddar cheese wrapped around the bottom of the power pole. Some even liken it to the cartoon character "Sponge Bob."

The Raptor is easily installed and is designed to absorb the impact of a vehicle crash, sparing the power pole and preventing a power outage for SMUD customers. The Raptor has been used successfully by other utilities and SMUD has seen benefits too following the first year of the pilot program. By year's end, SMUD will have installed three more Raptors to add to the first three that were installed in 2017, making six in all and more are coming.

Safety is a guiding principle for SMUD. Power reliability is also a top priority. SMUD's Board of Directors, elected by SMUD customers to set policy, has made reliability one of SMUD's core values. While car-pole accidents comprise about five percent of all types of SMUD outages annually, they account for about a quarter of the overall average duration customers. Car-pole accidents also mean lost revenue for SMUD in terms of increased costs for labor and materials to repair and replace damaged electrical infrastructure. A single pole replacement on average costs $15,000, and in some cases up to $40,000, for the five-member crew to replace it and other associated expenses for each incident.

Beyond SMUD's costs, pole replacements can take eight hours or more and cost the community's businesses lost revenue from power outages and associated traffic jams due to lane closures to make the repairs.

SMUD is doing its part to increase public and worker safety and reduce the frequency and duration of outages due to these traffic accidents. SMUD also urges motorists to do their part by driving safely, obeying traffic laws and avoiding anything that may cause distractions. For more information about SMUD and its commitment to public and worker safety, visit SMUD.org.

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - "From The Mayor's Corner" was an idea I received from Bob Ling, the former owner of The Grapevine Independent. In 1999, the Cordova Community Council had a fundraiser in which different citizens participated. My role was to help the Cordova Community Council assist different organizations in our community, and I was able to become the "Honorary Mayor" of Rancho Cordova. Mr. Ling said I should write something for the paper, and that was when he suggested the "Mayor's Corner." I followed his suggestion and began writing an article for the paper. It wasn't a weekly column as it is today, but writing then led me down the path of putting my ideas and thoughts in black and white. Like everyone who has ever written about something or anyone, you learn quickly that not everyone agrees with you every time, and a few may not agree anytime. But that's ok because time teaches you that that's life. Anyway, this column is very enjoyable critically needed permanent and see you next time. *

And Another Thing ...

Not Everyone Agrees With You Every Time, And a Few May Not Agree Anytime

and I thought a little back- supportive housing for ground about the column homeless and disabled vetermay be interesting to some of my readers.

I hope that the coming year will see our representatives in Washington, D.C. in both the House and the Senate work together for the citizens of every state, every city and every unincorporated area in our country. The end result of last month's election changed what was there over the last two years, but I am looking for Congress to put aside the bickering and partisanship that has made it hard for them to move forward. We will see after the New Year goes by if our elected officials (hired public servants) can get down to the jobs they were hired to do. We will have to see if the President and members of Congress will shut the government down or not.

Coming back to Rancho Cordova, we are pretty sure that the rest of Mather Veterans Village will be completed according to schedule. The next 50 permanent supportive homes as part of Phase III are anticipated to be completed in spring 2019, and the 46-bed transitional housing program in the two-story building as part of Phase Two is anticipated to be completed in fall 2019. This project provides ans. We hope to get as many of our homeless and disabled veterans a place to call home right here in Rancho Cordova.

Calendars that many of us receive in the mail can be very interesting, and some are also reminders of what is going on during the month. Some things like July 4th, November 11th, December 25th and a few others are remembered by the majority of our citizens. I recently received The Old Farmer's Almanac Gardening Calendar, and in addition to Presidents' Day and other regular such days, it also lets you know how to grow fresh ingredients in the kitchen, plant delicate fraved-edge flowers that resemble frost on a windowpane, plant peas on St. Patrick's Day, purchase Praying Mantises to protect your garden, and information on squash, pears, different types of kale and more. You can get gardening know-how at Almanac.com/Gardening. That calendar is different than most, but some of them are not only helpful, they also provide beautiful pictures that offer a little bit of a variety in your home.

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - New entertainment and fitness businesses, as well as new restaurants, have opened up shop in the City of Rancho Cordova.

Are you ready to experience the biggest laser tag arena in the Sacramento region? Located at 9823 Old Winery Place, Suite 2, Jas Laser Tag features a two-story laser tag arena of almost 8,500 square feet and offers laser tag games lasting 20 minutes – the longest lasting laser tag games in the region. They also offer a unique bumper car experience, arcade games, and laser detection games.

On opening a location in Rancho Cordova, Jas Laser Tag owner Kevin Gill said, "We saw that the City of Rancho Cordova was expanding, and we're excited to serve the community. With the community's support, we hope to be here for years to come."

While we're on the topic of barbecue, be sure to keep an eye (or two) open for Ono Hawaiian BBQ, which is opening soon in the Rancho Cordova Town Center on Olson Drive. Sourdough & Co. has made its way around the region to Rancho Cordova and will be opening up a location soon at 2823 Zinfandel Drive. If you enjoy Indian food, be sure to put Priya Indian Cuisine on your radar - which will be opening soon at 3101 Zinfandel Drive, Suite 134. Also be on the lookout for Sunrise Waffle and Bowinkles Drive-Thru coming soon to Folsom Boulevard, and Jersey Mike's at 2808 Zinfandel Drive.

Technology is moving fast and new technology-teaching businesses are popping up in the community. Code Ninjas offers tools, classes, and workshops that teach kids how to code through teamwork, logic, math, and problem-solving curriculum.

"There are lots of places where kids can play sports or pursue the arts, but before Code Ninjas, there wasn't a place where kids with a passion for technology can develop their skills at a deeper level than a oneweek camp or workshop," said owner Brian Faulconer. "On top everything, the city has many programs and policies that allow for effective and straightforward business licensing and permitting. Rancho Cordova truly is a business-friendly city. We can't wait to open our doors and are already enrolling students in our founding families program."

Code Ninjas will be open during the week of December 23 with a Grand Opening event set for January 5, 2019. *

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Society for the Blind, a Sacramentobased nonprofit serving blind and low vision people in Northern California, has received a grant from Anthem Blue Cross and CareMore Foundations to create opportunities for individuals to participate in the National Fitness Challenge, an initiative founded by the United States Association of Blind more active lifestyles," Athletes and the parent said Shari Roeseler, exec-Foundation of Anthem Blue Cross and CareMore. Society for the Blind is one of 17 organizations across the nation that is participating in the National Fitness Challenge and is using grant funding to offer adaptive yoga classes, walking groups, running clinics and other sports and fitness activities that can help people who are blind or low-vision to maximize healthy lifestyles. These activities will be offered over the course of eight months to help hundreds of youth and adults to increase physical fitness levels and live healthier lives.

"The goal of the National Fitness Challenge is to help people with visual disabilities to live utive director, Society for the Blind. "The program launched during Blindness Awareness Month in October, and through May 31, 2019, will highlight what people with visual disabilities can do, rather than what they cannot do. We are lucky to live in an age where a person with provide Fitbits, fitness and in the United States do vision loss can achieve most anything they set their mind to doing, and we are grateful to Anthem Blue Cross Foundation and CareMore Foundation for helping us to empower this year's participants."

This year's challenge integrates technology and social media to inspire participants to set goals, create team environments and encourage leadership. Each participant has been provided with a Fitbit Flex 2 wearable – a universal way to measure activities, calories burned and number of steps taken. Participants also have the opportunity to utilize Fitbit Coach, which is a personalized training app that provides adaptive video workouts and audio coaching. Foundation grant funding is being used to nutritional instruction, pertechnical and financial support for all participants.

"Research has consistently shown that individuals who participate in regular physical activity to improve their health have higher energy levels, lower risk of healthrelated diseases, improved lower rates of depression and low vision people. and anxiety," said Ricardo Young, CareMore Health Foundation is committed Medical Director. "We are proud to support members of the Society for the Blind through our collaboration with the National Fitness Challenge, and to create access to activities supporting healthier individuals and stronger communities."

Giving back to the community was the reason heard from the many volunteers who braved the early morning fog to help parents shop for gifts in the temporary shopping mall, wrap presents, entertain children and families, serve lunch, direct traffic, or myriad other duties.

PAL hosted the annual Holiday Run remembering and honoring fallen officer, Mark Stasyuk, on December 8. All funds raised from the 400 participants, he explained, go back into the many programs it sponsors including Junior Giants Baseball, Youth Leadership Council, and Swimstitute on Folsom Boulevard.

Police officers were visible throughout the event, interacting with families and even tossing a football with volunteers by the food boxes donated by Salvation Army.

Gifts that had been donated by organizations, individuals, and businesses were arranged on tables with signs directing shoppers to age appropriate items for boys and girls. Parents selected two gifts for each child on their list and choose one family game or puzzle and one additional family item or a stuffed animal. There was also the opportunity for each shopper to draw a ticket and win a special

An estimated 300 volunteers were on hand throughout the day, according to FCCP Director Robert Sanger. His organization had been hosting a similar event back in 2006 before merging resources with PAL and other groups in an effort to reduce duplication of services and to reach more people in the communities served.

"We work collaboratively together to offer more resources to families," he said.

Turner and Hoyland first met in kindergarten and have worked together for many years building, dressing, and stringing the puppets, writing scripts, and performing shows. The troupe presented five shows to children and adults who were awed by Jamaican Jon, Rudolph wearing sun glasses, and a host of colorful and lively characters. Familiar holiday tunes like "Feliz Navidad," "Jingle Bells," "The Little Drummer Boy," and "Dominick the Donkey" prompted an audience sing along. Laughter was heard. And one little boy, not content to sit on the sidelines, joined the fun on the stage floor

Many families came dressed for an afternoon outing and photos with Santa that were printed and ready within minutes for families to take home and treasure. Santa was indeed a jolly elf encouraging young and old to join the fun. Santa (aka Wayne Harmer, Cordova Community Council's 2018 Volunteer Honoree) takes his job quite seriously and stressed the importance of real gloves and boots and said that people can "look for the

Christmas in Cordova - Become the Magic Thunder Valley Resort Announces New Year's Eve Celebrations

BY Doug Elmets

LINCOLN, CA (MPG) - Thunder Valley Casino Resort is proud to announce a weekend of New Year's Eve Celebrations. Tickets are on sale now for the New Year's Eve Headliner Creedence Clearwater Revisited, and for the New Year's Eve Celebration at Illusions featuring a Live DJ and Radio Host.

Creedence Clearwater Revisited will be performing two shows in Thunder Valley's Pano Hall on New Year's Eve - one at 8:00 p.m. and the other at 10:30 p.m. Countdowns to 2019 will be held in Pano Hall, Illusions, and multiple additional locations throughout Thunder Valley.

In addition to exciting performances, Thunder Valley will host a variety of promotions on the days leading up to 2019, including a weekend full of daily $25,000 giveaways.

"New Year's Eve is going to be a huge celebration this year at Thunder Valley," said Dawn Clayton, General Manager of Thunder Valley Casino Resort. "While our New Year's Eve headliner Creedence Clearwater Revisited will be a huge draw, Thunder Valley will also offer diverse entertainment options and promotions throughout the casino, so there is sure to be an option for all Thunder Valley guests."

For more information on upcoming New Year's Eve celebration, visit www. thundervalleyresort.com.

Sacramento County DA Reports

Stephon Clark Officer-Involved Shooting

On October 25, 2018, the DA's Office received the police report and related materials from the Sacramento Police Department regarding the Stephon Clark officer-involved shooting.

As with any officer-involved shooting incident, we strive to complete our review within 90 days of receiving all of the related reports and materials. The materials submitted by the Sacramento Police Department are voluminous and may take significant time to comprehensively examine. After reviewing these materials, we may determine that additional investigation or information is needed. Our review process may be delayed, depending on the circumstances. We will take whatever time is necessary to complete that process, as we balance our desire to complete this investigation review in a timely manner with the overarching need to ensure any conclusions we reach are the result of a thorough and methodical evaluation of the facts and the law.

As a reminder, the District Attorney's Office does not review these types of shootings or use of force incidents to determine whether the officers could have taken some other action, or used some other tactic, in addressing the situation. In addition, we do not review whether the agency could be civilly liable or whether any policy or procedure of the agency is the "best practice" for this type of incident. These are all valid areas for review, discussion, and potential outcome improvements. However, our review is strictly limited to an analysis of the action the officers actually took and whether that action is a prosecutable crime under the law. If you have questions regarding the officer-involved shooting review process, a copy of the review protocol is available here and answers to Frequently Asked Ouestions are available here. If you would like to leave a message for the District Attorney's Office regarding our review of this shooting, you can send an email to OIS@sacda.org or call (916) 874-2000.

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Matthew Moore, Career Criminal Prosecution Unit

The Honorable Richard Sueyoshi sentenced Armani Lee to 173 years to life in prison. On October 30, 2018, a jury convicted Lee of attempted murder of a police officer, attempted murder, shooting at an inhabited dwelling and felon in possession of a firearm.

On February 4, 2017, Armani Lee got into a physical altercation with a female victim. After the fight was over, Lee pulled out a gun and fired at the victim's apartment. Both the victim's boyfriend and friend were in the apartment at the time of the shooting.

On February 10, 2017, officers tracked Lee to a house and tried to arrest him for the shooting. Lee fled and fired multiple shots at the officers. Officers returned fire and hit Lee, who was then taken into custody.

Lee was sentenced pursuant to California's "Three strikes" law. Lee was previously convicted of two separate robberies, one in 2010 and the other in 2006.

Defendant Sentenced for Attempted Murders of Police Officers, Shooting at Occupied Apartment DATE: December 10, 2018 CASE: Armani Lee (Case #17FE002754)

Attorney Bruce Chang, Cyber Crimes Unit

The Honorable Jaime Román sentenced Chris Cote to 32 years and 4 months in prison. On October 15, 2018, Cote pled no contest to 23 sexual offenses committed against seven victims, including lewd and lascivious conduct with a child under 14 years of age, lewd and lascivious conduct with a child over 14 years of age, unlawful intercourse with a child under 18 years old and oral copulation of a minor under 16 years of age.

Starting in 2011, Cote used social media to contact minors all over Northern California. He represented himself as a teenage boy, engaged in grooming behavior and arranged sexual encounters with multiple children. In several cases, he encouraged the victims to sneak out of their house to meet with him and then drove them to either a hotel room or back to his house to commit the sexual crimes. ★

Slim Randles' HOME COUNTRY Boys, I think We Have a Poet Amonst Us

It was Herb who kicked things off at the world dilemma think tank at the philosophy counter in the Mule Barn truck stop. Herb is like Nature itself. He abhors a vacuum, too.

"Well," Herb said, "it's about that time again."

Three heads swiveled to look at him.

"New Year's resolutions ... you know."

Three nods.

"So Herb, what are your new resolves for the next year?"

I thought I might lose 15 said. "What about your resopounds, take sailing lessons and come up with a good recipe for beef kidneys. How for earning a spot in The Good Place. The heavenly comedy starring Kristen Bell and Ted Danson hasn't even finished its third season yet, but that hasn't stopped the network from renewing it for a fourth year. And that's the best forking news we've heard in weeks!

Cheers to NBC

Jeers to CBS

for not salvaging Salvation. The summer scifi drama starring Jennifer Finnigan ended Season 2 with a huge twist and tons of potential. Sadly, the plug has now officially been pulled, so we'll probably never know what that Earththreatening asteroid really was-or if the network can ever successfully launch a scripted summer show.

Jeers to The Flash for making our flesh crawl. The Scarlet Speedster's November 13 episode got pulses racing by introducing Rag Doll (Troy James), a super-bendy baddie whose nightmarish mask and monstrous movements were not OK with viewers who rely on Barry Allen (Grant Gustin) and his team to be the sunniest heroes in The CW's Arrowverse.

Matt Roush: Live musicals are still a thing on NBC and other networks, but the holiday angle has been shelved for the time being as the subject matter has moved away from year's musicals are decidfamily musicals. (The first disruption was when Jennifer Lopez's busy schedule delayed NBC's planned Bye Bye Birdie musical.) NBC's most Question: Whatever recent December musical 2016, and in lieu of a holiday musical in 2017, instead pegged its Emmy-winning Jesus Christ Superstar Live in Concert for Easter 2018. (Fox stepped in with a lackluster A Christmas Story Live musical last year.) Next edly more edgy, Rent on Fox Jan. 27 and a live version of Hair on NBC in May.

Question: Why does Hallmark and Hallmark Movies and Mysteries have to overlap its Christmas movies by an hour? -Gloria Matt Roush: I've wondered this same thing, although wouldn't it make more sense for the Hallmark channels to air their movies two hours apart (one at 7/6c, the other at 9/8c) instead of at the same hour? Recording and time-shifting solves the problem, of course, but starting Hallmark's weekend originals at 8/7c and Movies and Mysteries' movies at 9/8c does create an odd overlap.

Mitchell Middle School Marauders

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Taking to the mats once again at Cordova High School, Mitchell Middle School hosted their 12th Annual Takedown Tournament on Thursday, December 13th. The tournament that pairs up kids in pools with similar experience and weight included 120 wrestlers from 7 different schools.

The Marauder had 31 wrestlers (9 girls and 22 boys) participate in the tournament. After all the dust cleared the Marauders walked away with a total of 21 medals (three 1st, eight 2nd and ten 3rd place). This tournament is the Marauders main fundraiser for the year. All money collected goes towards new mats and equipment.

The Marauder's Head Coach, Joe Zilles had this to say about his wrestlers, "Over half of our wrestlers are first time grapplers and I'm so impressed with the way all the wrestlers have worked so hard to learn the new moves."

FLC Falcons Bounce Back with Come-From-Behind Win

Men's Basketball RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) -

One night after losing a home game they should have won, the FLC men's basketball team turned the tables and defeated a Contra Costa team that led by 8 points at halftime, 89-85 on Wednesday night in San Pablo. The Comets took an early lead and maintained it throughout the first half by virtue of their 10 three-pointers. After the break, the Falcons' defense clamped down on Contra Costa's shooters and the offense kicked in, scoring 51 second-half points. Zethan Dumpson led the Falcons in scoring for the second night in a row with 31 points, followed by Grant Bellis with 17 and Will Fitzpatrick with 13.

The Falcons improved their early season record to 4-6, already double their total number of wins in all of last season. They will host Las Positas (7-2) on Friday night at 5:00 pm in their final non-conference game before starting Big 8 play next Thursday.

An Inside Look at the Inspector General Situation

By Sacramento County Supervisor Sue Frost

In August, the County Board of Supervisors were thrust into the local media spotlight after Sheriff Scott Jones lost faith in the Inspector General (an independent contractor retained by the County) and terminated his access to the Sheriff's Department. Since then, the Board of Supervisors have held meetings to discuss how to move forward, with the issue finally finding a resolution on December 4th. Since this is the most controversial issue I have been involved with since being on the Board, I wanted to take a moment to try to clearly explain this complicated issue, and let you know my thoughts.

County of The Sacramento has had the position of Inspector General from 2007 until 2012 (when it was eliminated due to budget cuts), and then brought back in 2015 at the request of the Sheriff. Sacramento is one of only five California counties that has an Inspector General. The position was created to work with the Sheriff's Department to improve services and if considered without the a month to essentially do the day, all sides were able the Sheriff's Department review procedures - including but not limited to officer-involved shootings. The Inspector General has been a part-time contractor because, thankfully, there are very few shootings involving Sacramento County Sheriff's Deputies.

One of the reports issued in 2018 was regarding a shooting that resulted in the death of a man named Mikel McIntyre. McIntyre had assaulted a family member, and in the process of evading arrest had struck an officer in the head with a large rock causing significant injury. Soon after, a 911 witness observed McIntyre throwing rocks at cars on the freeway and he began attacking another officer and a K9 unit with more rocks, hitting the K9 in the face. In an effort to protect the general public, officers continued to pursue him, and as he was evading arrest the suspect was shot 7 times and did not survive.

The case was referred to the Inspector General whose investigative authority involves constructive critique offering recommendations intended to improve the Department. It is not their job to determine if the shots fired were lawful. That is the sole responsibility of the DA's office.

Months later in an unprecedented move, the Inspector General (under considerable political pressure) released his report before the DA had completed its investigation. His report gave evaluations and critiques (on use of force and decision making) that could be misleading benefit of the DA's full investigation. The Inspector General is not a use of force expert (neither is the Sheriff), and his findings were disputed by a nationally renowned use of force expert when the District Attorney Investigation and report was eventually released. Dismissing normal procedure was confusing for the public, has been damaging to the morale of the Sheriff's department; and the Inspector General's assessment will very likely be used in civil court against the County of Sacramento, with all legal fees and monetary judgements paid for by County taxpayers.

In the aftermath, the Sheriff questioned the ability of the Inspector General to remain impartial to outside or political influences. He terminated the Inspector General's access to the Sheriff's Department and told the Board of Supervisors that he would like us to hire someone new. This put the Board of Supervisors in a difficult situation, as we were left with an Inspector General who we were paying $10,000 nothing.

As a result, the Board of Supervisors had a series of meetings to discuss how to proceed, given the Sheriff is a co-equal elected official who answers to the people of Sacramento (not the deal, and one I was willing Board of Supervisors). Our discussions mostly revolved around what legal options we had, and what role we want the Inspector General's office to play in the County. All five Supervisors and the Sheriff agreed that we need an Inspector General in the County.

Despite public and private statements from the Sheriff that he continues to support an independent IG, some members of the media choose to spin this issue as a show-down between the Sheriff and the Board of Supervisors when it clearly is not - or to portray it as an attempt by the Sheriff to eliminate transparency from his department by permanently shutting down the Office of Inspector General which is also simply not the case. The Sheriff wanted to ensure we had a process for fair, independent investigations, and to not allow politics to endanger our Deputies and our communities. I completely agree with him.

The issue culminated on December 4th with a final meeting that was widely touted in the media as a showdown between the Sheriff and the Supervisors. But that was a mischaracterization because the Sheriff largely agreed with the majority of Supervisors. At the end of

to come together to find a workable solution despite the tense atmosphere. Nobody got everything they wanted, but nobody gave up too much either. That's the sign of a good to support.

The County Supervisors will invite interested and qualified contractors to bid for the job of Inspector General, so we can restore that office. I believe that this process can and should begin immediately. The previous Inspector General is welcome to bid for it as well. The County clarified that while the Sheriff has autonomy over how to run his Department, the County Supervisors have the right to have an Inspector General who can have specified access to as an independent review to help inform our budget appropriations.

There are some small steps that will need to be taken in order to finalize all the agreements, but for all intents and purposes, this issue is now behind us with all parties in agreement.
