The Art of the City

Story by Trina L. Drotar

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG)

"We make an art of having fun, more fun than anywhere else in the region," said Mayor Budge during her State of the City address. Fun was definitely on the ticket for all who attended the three for one event. Artists, art collectors, and others feasted upon an array of finger foods, viewed and bid upon silent auction 6" x 6" masterpieces, and purchased other small masterpieces including a "Mona Lisa." Some buyers, at the end of the evening, took home half a dozen or more of the tiny pieces which served as a fundraiser for the Cordova Community Council. At $20 apiece, artwork was made available to everyone.

Paintings, textiles, drawings, and mixed media artworks covered the downstairs and upstairs walls of City Hall for the annual fall art exhibition, juried this year by KVIE host Rob Stewart. The exhibit will remain until January, although several pieces were sold Thursday evening before 6 p.m. Symphony d'Oro ensemble performed background music.

More music was to be had when the crowd moved into the American River rooms to hear Mayor Linda Budge's State of the City address. Following the presentation of the colors by the Cordova High School Air Force ROTC, Cordova High School's Chamber Choir sang "Star Spangled Banner," followed by "I Believe," a Jewish song that was dedicated to all victims of hate. The choir of ten girls and three boys held tea lights and lit those as they joined in the singing.

As for what's working in Rancho Cordova, it appears from the presentations that everything is working. Who would have expected the city of 70,000 to draw visitors from South Korea to its Independence Day celebration and hear that they were "blown away" by the fireworks and felt the community's spirit.

"There is so much happening in this city," said Marc Sapoznik, executive director of Visit Rancho Cordova referencing Cordova Community Council's Executive Director Shelly Blanchard's presentation of events overview that included Sports Hall of Fame, MACC opening and the exhibits and

Help Turn the Tide of Opioid Use

Sacramento County Release

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Progress is being made as opioid prescriptions in Sacramento County are decreasing, but more work needs to be done to prevent opioid overdose emergency department visits and deaths.

Opioids can have a number of serious side effects even when used appropriately; when used for non-medical purposes, opioids can become highly addictive.

To provide solutions, Sacramento County is an active participant in the Sacramento County Opioid Coalition that is comprised of a regional coalition of healthcare professionals, community-based organizations, law enforcement, county agencies and concerned citizens.

The Sacramento County Opioid Coalition goal is to work collaboratively on a comprehensive plan to address the opioid epidemic effectively with the following strategies: promoting safe prescribing; expanding treatment access; promoting safe medication disposal; encouraging early intervention treatment and recovery, overdose prevention; expanding public education and media outreach.

"Opioid misuse and dependency is a complex public health issue that requires a multidimensional community response," said Dr. Olivia Kasirye, Sacramento County Public Health Officer. "Through the Sacramento County

Aging Cordova Community Pool to be Replaced

By Trina L. Drotar

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG)

Built in the early 1960s, the Cordova community pool complex at Hagan Park began to show its age on and below the surface as outlined in a May 2014 evaluation by Aquatic Commercial Consulting. The complex housed three distinct pools and closed the last pool in July 2015, forcing several power users and groups like the Cordova Blue Marlins, Cordova High's swim team, and the Sacramento Synchronized Swim Team - the Cordettes - to move trainings, productions, and meets to other area pools. Also affected was the community at large who came for recreational swimming, to teach their children and grandchildren how to swim, or just to enjoy the pools.

There is light at the end of a very long tunnel according to the presentation at Rancho Cordova City Hall on October 23rd by Cordova Recreation and Park District (CRPD) and LPA, the consulting firm working on a new two pool project that is expected to break ground in 2019. The road has been bumpy and not always straight as many residents and pool enthusiasts know.

The 2014 evaluation highlighted many problems with the half century old pool complex. Cosmetic blemishes

Opioid Coalition, we're bringing together local organizations and citizens committed to saving lives through collaboration and action. We're engaging the medical community, providing law enforcement with life-saving tools, promoting safe medication disposal, and working to raise awareness about opioids in our community."

Sacramento County, in 2016, had 241 opioid overdose emergency department visits and 55 opioid overdose deaths. The numbers trended down in 2017 and in that year, Sacramento County received a State grant of naloxone nasal inhaler kits that were distributed to law enforcement agencies and community-based organizations. The drug naloxone reverses an opioid overdose and is vital for saving lives. A goal of the Sacramento County Opioid Coalition is to increase naloxone availability in our community through distribution to law enforcement agencies, people who use opioids, and to friends or family members of those at risk of an opioid overdose. To date, the Sacramento County Opioid Coalition has over 140 stakeholders and has distributed 1,450 life-saving naloxone kits.

And Another Thing ...

"All of Us Denounce War—All of Us Consider it Man's Greatest Stupidity"

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - History. One hundred years ago in 1918, the world suffered the loss of millions of people because of World War I. In the United States, around 4 million soldiers were mobilized and 116,708 personnel died. Mather Field was one of 32 Air Service training camps that were established after the United States entered World War I in April 1912. In January 1918, the United States Department of War sent a cadre of officers to the Sacramento, California area to survey sites for an aviation school. More of Mather's history is fascinating and covers many pages and chapters, which are easy to find.

More history. Another event that happened 100 years ago was that the world was hit with the "Spanish flu" pandemic, which killed perhaps 50 million people worldwide. Over 600,000 people died in the United States. Like the rest of the world, those who were most likely to die from the flu were young adults. As you can see from the numbers above, the flu killed many more people in 1918 than war. Now, with all that "good news" passed on to you, I must admit that I didn't miss that part of history that is sometimes called the "good old days."

I read a book called The Good Old Days-They Were Terrible! by Otto L. Bettmann. The "good old days" can bring back memories you may want to remember, according to my grandparents, but from the majority of the population, they were really only good for a privileged few. When the "Great Depression" hit on October 29, 1929 and continued for about 10 years, it was the worst economic downturn in the history of the industrialized world.

Our "Great Recession" made it very hard for many for about five years, but many of the "privileged" today were able to get through the recession without losing everything like they did in the "Great Depression." Accurate history is difficult to find sometimes, especially when the "history" is written by someone who writes history the way they think history should have been, rather than a book that shows how rough history was and how the people who really lived it acted and spoke.

This column will hit the newsstands two days before Veterans Day is celebrated, when many of our veterans come to Rancho Cordova's Veterans Day Observance in person and give us a chance to thank them for serving our country. The numbers who had to serve in the wars of the past are shrinking, and there are fewer citizens who are serving in the military in today's wars. Veterans will continue to be part of our country's past, present and future.

As President Ronald Reagan said, "All of us denounce war—all of us consider it man's greatest stupidity. And yet wars happen and they involve the most passionate lovers of peace because there are still barbarians in the world who set the price for peace at death or enslavement and the price is too high." We know there will always be people who will serve our country in order to save our country and the people they love. Those people are the people we will be honoring on November 11, 2018; those who fought in the past, and those who are fighting today. It is much more "politically correct" today to thank people who served or are serving their country than it was in the 1960's. (More history.)

From Vice Mayor Bob McGarvey. God bless, and see you next time. ★

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Matthew Moore, Career Criminal Prosecution Unit

Armani Lee was convicted by a jury of attempted murder of a police officer, attempted murder, shooting at an inhabited dwelling and felon in possession of a firearm.

On February 4, 2017, Armani Lee got into a physical altercation with a female victim. After the fight was over, Lee pulled out a gun and fired at the victim's apartment. Both the victim's boyfriend and friend were in the apartment at the time of the shooting.

On February 10, 2017, officers tracked Lee to a house and tried to arrest him for the shooting. Lee fled and fired multiple shots at the officers. Officers returned fire and hit Lee, who was then taken into custody.

Allegations that Lee suffered prior "strike" convictions for robbery in 2010 and 2006 will be determined at sentencing.

Lee faces a maximum sentence of 139 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for December 7, 2018, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 28 before the Honorable Richard Sueyoshi.

Defendants Convicted of Multiple Child Sexual Assault Charges

DATE: November 6, 2018
CASE: Chantell Gosztyla & Richard Gosztyla (Case #18FE004488)

PROSECUTOR: Principal Criminal Attorney Nancy Cochrane, Special Assault & Child Abuse Unit

Chantell Gosztyla and Richard Gosztyla were convicted by a jury of multiple counts of lewd and lascivious conduct against a young family member.

The defendants sexually assaulted the victim together for more than one year. When they were apprehended in Napa County, they had with them passports and $9,000 in cash. It is suspected that they were planning on fleeing the country.

Both defendants face a maximum sentence of life in prison. Sentencing is set for December 14, 2018, at 1:30 p.m. in Department 21 before the Honorable Steve White.

Defendant Convicted of Shooting at Family Members in Front Yard

DATE: November 7, 2018
CASE: Markees Brown (Case #17FE017680)

PROSECUTOR: Markees Brown was convicted by a jury of three counts of first-degree attempted murder with premeditation and deliberation, three counts of assault with a semi-automatic firearm, three counts of shooting at individuals from a car, shooting at an inhabited dwelling and felon in possession of a firearm. The jury also found true multiple firearm enhancements.

Markees Brown was dating a young woman who was in an ongoing dispute with members of a family who lived in the Strawberry Manors neighborhood. On September 11, 2017, members of that family were out in the front yard, including a 4-year-old boy. Brown and another individual drove up to the family's residence. Brown then got out of the car, pulled out a semi-automatic handgun and shot four times at the residence. No one was struck by the gunfire. Brown got back into the car and drove away. Several family members were able to identify Brown as the shooter.

Allegations that Brown suffered three prior first-degree residential burglary convictions from 2015 and 2016 will be determined at the sentencing hearing.

Brown faces a maximum sentence of 118 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for November 30, 2018, at 10:30 a.m. in Department 19 before the Honorable Ernest Sawtelle. ★

Know These Fraud Prevention Tips

Rancho Cordova Police Department

By Ashley Downton

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The Rancho Cordova Police Department (RCPD) has received reports from residents about scams occurring throughout our community, with a particular focus on the elderly. RCPD wants to offer residents scam prevention and reporting tips.

Fraud Prevention Tips

- Never give telemarketers or strangers your credit card number, bank account number or Social Security number, and never authorize bank drafts. No one should be asking for this information from you unsolicited.
- Don’t fall for the “grandparents scam.” Scammers will call you and pretend to either be, or know, your grandchild. They will request that you send money either through wire transfer or gift cards to post bail to get them out of a legal situation. If you receive this call, consult other family members before sending any money or committing to any further course

- of action.
 - Never pay for a service using gift cards that are not related to the business or transaction being conducted. Once you have provided the gift card number and PIN, your money is gone. Anyone who demands payment via a gift card is a scammer, always.
 - If someone requests money from you in the name of a charity, listen carefully to the name of the charity requesting money. Fraudulent charities often use names that sound similar to a reputable, well-known organization, such as the “American Cancer Association” instead of the American Cancer Society.
 - Ask for a financial report before you donate. A reputable charity will always send you one.
 - Investigate before you invest. Never make an investment with a stranger over the phone. Beware of promises that include the terms “get rich quick” or “a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity.”
 - If you feel like someone is trying to scam you by phone, your best protection is to just hang up. You can also tell these callers politely that you are not interested, don’t want to waste their time, and please don’t call back.
- Report a Scam
RCPD is asking residents to report any and all criminal activity. If you are a victim of a scam, please report it in the following ways:
- If a subject is at your home and you feel they are trying to scam you, call 9-1-1.
 - If you feel you have been scammed, make a report by calling our non-emergency line at 916-362-5115 or online at <http://www.ranchocordovapd.com/>.
 - Please also report the scam to the appropriate agency or company that someone is claiming they are from, such as the IRS, PG&E, etc.
- By working together, we can continue to make Rancho Cordova a safe place for all! ★

The Politics of E15

Commentary
by Dr. Mark Hendrickson

On October 9, President Donald Trump announced that he was lifting the EPA's ban on summertime sales of E15—a motor fuel blend consisting of 15% ethanol instead of the usual 10%. Trump's announcement is telling. It teaches much about politics, trade policy, and the sorry state of the environmentalist movement.

That Trump's announcement was politically motivated is obvious. The proposed new policy was announced during a campaign visit to Iowa. A crucial biennial election looms, and Trump unveiled his plan there to give a boost to the electoral prospects of Republicans in the Corn Belt.

Such a move was politically necessary after Trump's tariffs on Chinese imports triggered retaliatory tariffs that reduced American food exports to China and cut

American farmers' incomes. The president needed to demonstrate to farmers that he is looking out for their interests. The call for greater use of E15—which would increase the demand for corn—was music to the ears of many voters in the Farm Belt.

This sequence of events—economically disruptive tariffs followed by a policy designed to mitigate or offset those disruptions—illustrates a profound truth about political economy. The great Austrian economist Ludwig von Mises elucidated this truth in his essay, "Middle-of-the-Road Policy Leads to Socialism." [Stay calm; I am NOT suggesting that Trump wants socialism.]

Mises' point was that government intervention into markets, however well intentioned, inevitably impacts prices and patterns of production. Intervention helps some and hurts others. Those who now have a government-induced problem, like American farmers after the imposition of tariffs, expect the government to solve that problem. But whatever government does in the attempt to offset the damage its policies caused will further distort markets. This will stimulate cries for further intervention. Thus, the tendency of intervention is to breed further intervention.

Trump's trade policy is developing as a "two steps forward, one step back" process. (Let's hope it doesn't end up being one step forward for every two steps back!) Clearly, the proposal for increased usage of E15 is a government subsidy to corn growers and the ethanol industry. It moves us even farther away from Trump's professed goal of dropping all tariffs, trade barriers, and subsidies. Realistically, given our current political alignment, zero subsidies for American agriculture is inconceivable for the foreseeable future.

I have written before about the negative economic effects of using corn-based ethanol as a motor fuel. The negative environmental impacts are significant, too. Although some green groups, such as the Sierra Club, have warned about the environmental consequences of corn-based ethanol in the past, they have remained strangely silent about Trump's plan to increase its usage. Apparently, they are too busy trying to use the climate change issue to scare Americans into embracing socialism to challenge a policy that truly is environmentally harmful. This underscores my long-held belief that preserving a healthy environment is not the primary goal of environmentalists.

40% of the American corn crop already gets burned up in our vehicles' engines. That represents millions of acres of land that are converted from wildlife habitat to tillage. It causes the use of who-knows-how-many tons of fertilizers that unnecessarily contaminates water (e.g., red tide in Florida).

Worst of all, any government policy that hastens the pace of water consumption in the Midwest, where aquifers already are dangerously depleted, is environmentally shortsighted. If environmentalists really cared about the environment more than they want to increase government control of the economy, they would oppose corn-based fuel more vigorously than they oppose fracking. Fracking does not jeopardize our precious water supply; corn-based ethanol does.

The good news is that Trump may not have the legal authority to revise existing limits on E15. If not, then his Oct. 9 announcement could be a stroke of political genius: It could help Trump's party retain control of Congress at no cost to the environment.

Horseshoe Lake Project Nears Completion

Construction on the Horseshoe Lake Enhancement Project project ended on Oct. 29 and seeding is underway. Photo courtesy Sacramento Regional Parks

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Sacramento County Regional Parks is nearing completion on a restoration and enhancement project located at the Horseshoe Lake parcel at the Cosumnes River Preserve. This project was funded by two grants totaling more than $1,000,000.

In Sept. 2017, the Environmental Enhancement Fund, administered by California Department of Fish and Wildlife's Office of Spill Prevention and Response, granted Regional Parks $89,900.00. The Delta Conservancy Prop 1 grant funded the remaining $942,631.00 of the project in Jan. 2018.

The project was designed to restore the lake and surrounding upland areas, improve water quality and aid in groundwater retention while providing habitat for the giant garter snake, the Sandhill crane, the western pond turtle, the western toad and the California tiger salamander, all considered threatened or of special concern species.

"We are very thankful for the generosity of the Environmental Enhancement Fund and the Delta Conservancy," says Liz Bellas, Deputy Director of Regional Parks. "These grants are allowing us to preserve the land that threatened species need to survive."

Construction on this project ended on Oct. 29 and seeding is underway. During construction approximately 88,000 cubic yards of invasive water primrose was removed to restore 30 acres of open water wetlands habitat, including 10 acres of perennial and 20 acres of seasonal water that previously existed in the lake bed.

This projects is working with Galt Union Elementary School District students to plant and maintain new valley oak trees to ensure the long-term sustainability of the nesting structure of the heron/egret/cormorant rookery around the lake.

CHEERS & JEERS

Jeers to TV's War on Rodents

Single Parents squished a guinea pig named Pickle in its October 10 episode (Devin Trey Campbell's Rory hosted the memorial, pictured) and Legacies' Hope sacrificed a rat for a spell during the series premiere. If anyone lays a finger on Mickey Mouse, ya'll are gonna be answering to us, mmmkay?

Adam Levine, Kelly Clarkson, Jennifer Hudson and Blake Shelton of The Voice.

Jeers to CBS

for being so hell-bent on letters. Between three NCIS-es, FBI, S.W.A.T., Magnum P.I. and Criminal Minds' BAU, it's a daily struggle to keep all of the damn initials straight, much less what some of them actually stand for. We thought ABC was the alphabet network.

Cheers to Seth Meyers

for REALLY nailing his first SNL hosting gig. The former Weekend Updater's joyful return to the studio was a blast to behold, especially since it allowed the alum to appear in more skits than he ever got to do back when he was busy as the show's head writer.

Cheers to The Voice

for nailing the four-part harmony with its judges. The hook, of course, is the vocal competition, but let's be real: The reason to stick around for all the battles rounds and whatnot is the sassy, hard-earned know-how that Kelly Clarkson and J-Hud happily serve along with O.G. mentors Blake and Adam. ★

ASK MATT

BY MATT ROUSH TV Guide Senior Critic

What Do You Think Of The Haunting Of Hill House?

Question: I'm so happy someone else enjoys PBS's The Durrells in Corfu. I hope that the success of Netflix's Bodyguard (also starring Keeley Hawes) means more people discover Keeley's other amazing projects. Now, as for the real point: What did you think of The Haunting of Hill House, if you have had a chance to watch any of it yet? —Ellys

The Haunting of Hill House briefly the day it premiered, but can't say much more until I actually get around to finishing it. Which I hoped to do by Halloween, although I have several other viewing projects to get through before I'll have time to dive back in. And time is the real issue here. While I prefer the Shirley Jackson source material to this haunted-family saga, which spends way too much time away from the actual house, my real issue with the Netflix version is, as is so often the case, bloat. There were some very scary moments in the episodes I watched—many of them borrowed from Jackson—but there's no justification for this story stretching over 10 very long episodes. When I hit the midpoint and saw one episode was 1 hour, 10 minutes in length, that's when I decided I had to move on. You could watch nothing but Netflix and still not be able to see it all. I don't have that luxury, and many of the people I talk to about this issue feel much the same way.

SSPCA Receives Over $100,000 in Grants

Petsmart Charities Donates to Help Pets Find Forever Homes

By Sarah Varanini, SSPCA

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Sacramento SPCA recently announced their receipt of two new grants of $50,000 and $51,821 from PetSmart Charities, the leading funder of animal welfare in North America. The grants are designed to increase intake and help the Sacramento SPCA transport and relocate pets so they can find forever homes.

Since 2016, the Sacramento SPCA has transferred close to 1,000 animals from overburdened shelters in Northern California to their location in Sacramento. In 2018 alone, the Sacramento SPCA transferred 328 animals from Antioch Animal Services, Contra Costa County Animal Services, Placer SPCA, Stockton Animal Control, Sacramento County Animal Control, and weekly visits to Sacramento City Animal Control on Front Street.

The relocation of these pets not only allows the overburdened shelter to have open kennels for incoming animals, but gives the pets transferred the opportunity to find loving homes in a new environment.

A $50,000 grant from PetSmart Charities was used to purchase a new transfer van, allowing the Sacramento SPCA to transfer even more animals per visit to overburdened shelters. A $51,821 grant from PetSmart Charities will soon completely renovate a new area at the Sacramento SPCA for intake and assessment of these transferred animals before they are ready to find their new families.

"In the past, we could rescue six large dogs, or eight medium dogs or about a dozen and a half small dogs or cats," said Kenn Altine, Sacramento SPCA CEO. "With the new PetSmart Charities van, we can load eight large crates and dozens of small and medium crates by using the folding shelves.

We can bring back a wide mix of sizes that matches the needs of the partner shelter and the space availability here at Sacramento SPCA." Employees from the Sacramento SPCA recently drove this new animal transfer vehicle to Kettleman City to transfer 15 dogs from areas affected by Hurricane Michael.

"Pet transport continues to play an important role in reducing pet homelessness and can provide a better chance for pets to find loving homes," said David Haworth, DVM, Ph.D. and president of PetSmart Charities. "We are thrilled to not only provide funding to support the transport of these pets from overwhelmed areas, but also increase the Sacramento SPCA's capacity to provide quality care to pets on the journey to find their forever home."

welfare organizations and non-profits to apply for funding support. Funding from PetSmart Charities can help to cover the costs associated with pet transportation, veterinary and shelter care and vehicle maintenance and modifications. With the help of its animal welfare partners, since 1994, PetSmart Charities has helped more than 8 million pets in need find forever homes. ★

Also Gives Support to Seniors Through Philanthropic Partnership Program

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Alisco Inc., the premier linen and uniform rental services company, recently joined the Eskaton Foundation's Philanthropic Partner Program to better support senior citizens as they age, helping them remain independent, but also provides volunteer opportunities and education forums about the aging experience for Alisco employees.

Seniors are an often overlooked demographic when it comes to charitable giving. In fact, in the United States, only two percent of all giving is directed to senior causes.

"Our donation allows us to support seniors through the innovative health, housing and social services the Eskaton Foundation provides to seniors," says Mark Kotsios, general manager, Alisco Sacramento.

Eskaton, which means "the dawning of a new day," is a community-based nonprofit whose mission is enhancing the quality of life of seniors to transform the aging experience. Eskaton Foundation supports the needs of seniors in the greater Sacramento area.

Alisco is a fourth-generation family owned and operated business, founded in 1889, that was recognized by the prestigious Hohenstein

Institute for having invented the linen and uniform rental industry. Celebrating 129 years of business, Alisco provides linen and uniform rental services to customers that include restaurants, healthcare, automotive industry and industrial facilities. With over 180 locations, Alisco provides world-class service to over 355,000 customers in 14 countries. Learn more at <http://www.alisco.com>. ★

could be remedied, but here were underlying problems with copper piping and the issue of how to bring the complex up to current codes and where the money would come from. Many community members wanted to simply repair the pools and renovate the mid-century era charm of the three pools, including the diving pool with its underground observation window permitting viewers to watch divers enter the water. Others, however, understood the costs associated with renovating and opted for a new pool.

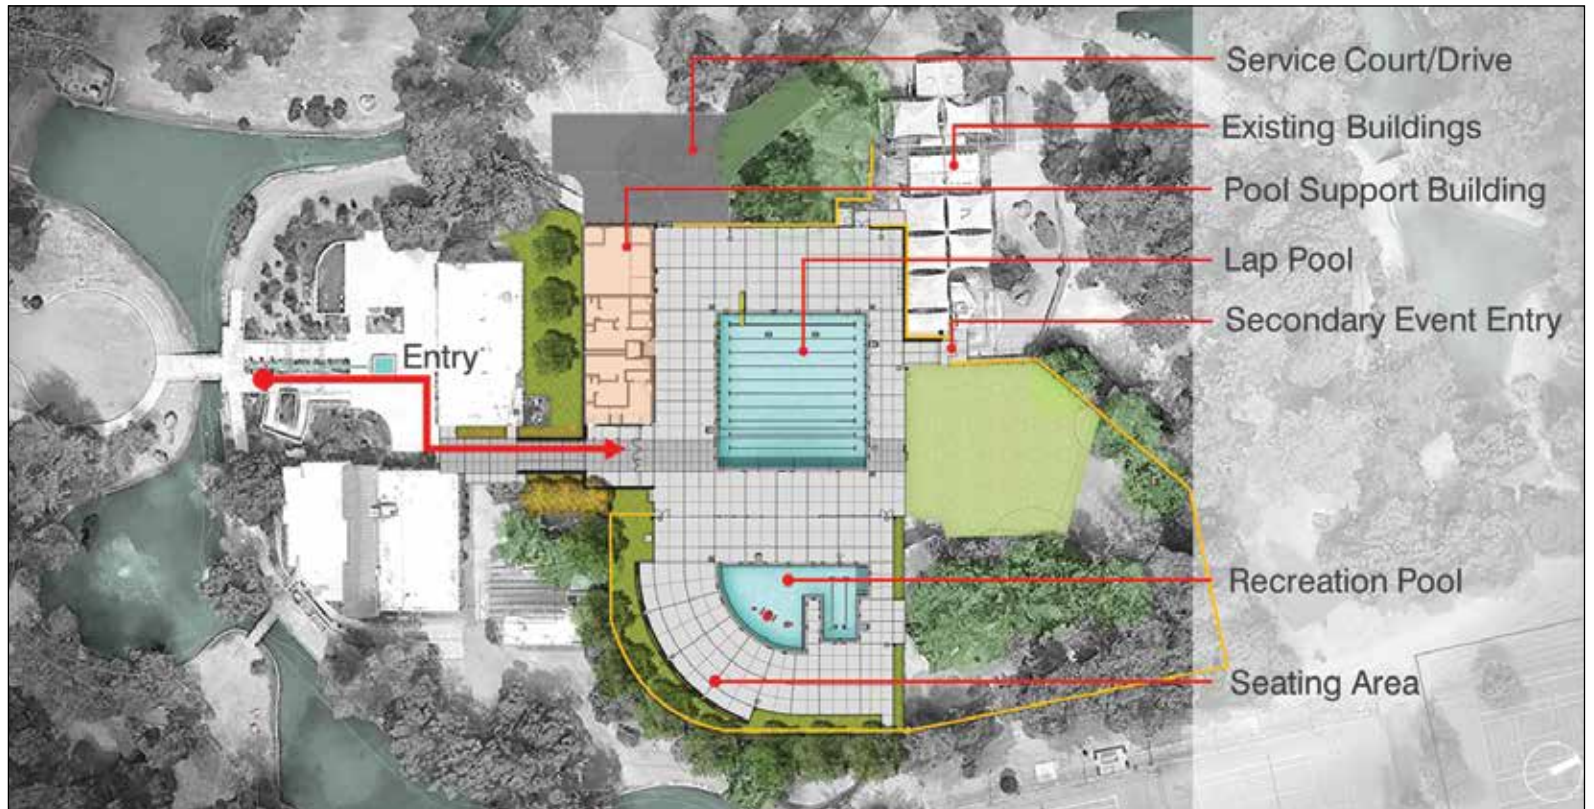

Pools, it turns out, aren't money makers, yet they are used and desired by the community. Whether renovation or replacement, the pool was one of the main projects the community asked for during a series of workshops held in Rancho Cordova. In 2016, Measure J entered the picture, allowing the park district to obtain a $5 million dollar loan, said CRPD District Manager Patrick Larkin. That money, he added, would fund a one pool concept as presented to the community in February. The single pool would be for recreational swimming, said Larkin, effectively leaving out some of the pool's largest stakeholders – Cordova High's swim team, Cordova Blue Marlins, and the Cordettes.

A contribution of an additional $3.4 million dollars from the City of Rancho Cordova allowed the district to reconceive the plan to include an additional pool with water features for children, a larger building, fixtures, and the expansion of the lap pool from eight to ten lanes, still four lanes short of what had been available in the original complex.

"It's a huge win for this community," said Larkin. "The pool is a fixture in this community."

The original complex, he explained was "ahead of its time, a benchmark for other towns across the country," and said that the three pool concept was popular with users. The diving pool with its observation window, the lap/competition pool, and the children's wading area regularly drew people from inside and outside of the park's expansive district. The new project may not include the nostalgia of bygone days, but it will be pools for the community, thanks in part to the contribution by the City of Rancho Cordova.

"Our two agencies are working well together on a community-first model approach," said Larkin.

Community members, CRPD board members and staff, City of Rancho Cordova staff, members of the power user groups, and other interested parties filled the room to learn, most for the first time, of the two pool project presented by LPA staff Anthony Harris, Kevin Sullivan, Dennis Berkshire, and Arash Izadi. The event even included frosted cupcakes, a nod towards a community member at February's meeting who wanted frosting on the cupcake, referring to wanting more than just a basic swimming pool.

"We heard you," said Sullivan, referencing the feedback received from the February community workshop. "A lot of what you talked about has been incorporated into this plan."

The PowerPoint presentation led attendees step by step through the project from a bird's eye view of the pool complex as it would have been with water in the pools to several views of the project to a timeline and to potential enhancements that can be added at a later date.

The lap/competition pool will be used by Cordova High's swim team, Cordova Blue Marlins, and the Cordettes. The water is colder than that in the recreation pool which has space for lap swimming, water play features, and a zero depth entry.

Potential enhancements include the possibility for shade canopy, a covered entrance, night lighting, and a scoreboard that was requested by a community member. Those items, explained Sullivan, will depend on the budget. Larkin also said after the presentation that he is seeking additional funding through private and corporate sponsorships, crowd sourcing, and partnerships. He has already contacted SMUD.

Izadi showed slides of the current project as it is rendered with new pavement, a reoriented front entrance, a second entry for events. More filters, pumps, and other mechanical needs for the second pool, he explained, means expanding the building. The floor plan showed the ticket window, life guard station surrounded by glass permitting views to both pools, and the item that garnered the most excitement – fully operational, enclosed, and separate locker rooms.

"Nice," was heard from several people.

Berkshire said that the lap pool will measure 75 feet by 60 feet and can accommodate water polo, meets, a variety of water aerobics, and will be used by major groups. A full set of stairs along the one side of the shallow end of the pool will also be added. ADA compliant features for the pools include double handrails, lift, and the zero-depth entry of the recreation pool.

"The entire pool deck will be at one consistent level," said Izadi, who presented additional information about the project. This again drew a lot of community approval.

Community input about the water features and other potential enhancements followed the presentation and many questions were asked about use, funding, and safety. Many people remained to engage with one another or with LPA or district staff.

"This is where it should have been five years ago," said one man.

Cordova Blue Marlins Head Coach Amy Hanrahan wrote that she is "excited that the pool project is finally getting underway." The team has been using Rosemont High School's pool and has had to hold smaller home meets or hold them at the competition's pool.

"It will be great to have our home pool back," she wrote.

Blue Marlins Parent Board President Stephanie Tadlock wrote that she is glad to see that more community needs will be met and that "being able to expand on the single pool concept from February's presentation and add more features that will accommodate a wider variety of ages at the facility was a bonus to see included in the design."

Falcons Sports Update

Women's Volleyball
RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Despite resting two key players with nagging injuries, the Falcons defeated Diablo Valley in straight sets on Friday night at Falcon Gym, 25-11, 25-17, 25-20. Big 8 kills leader Caitlin Dillon and FLC blocks leader contributed with 10 assists, 10 digs, and 2 service aces. The Falcons (16-7 overall, 9-4 in Big 8) are currently tied for 3rd place in the Big 8 with Delta with just three matches remaining in the regular season. They'll travel to Sac City on Friday.

the bigger picture is focusing on ways to improve as the playoffs draw near. They'll continue that quest as they finish out the regular season with two home matches this week, against Modesto (4-10) on Tuesday and Diablo Valley (7-7) on Friday.

Alicia Wilson both sat out Friday's match, hoping to get healthy before the playoffs begin in 2+ weeks. The Falcons responded with an excellent match, led by 'do-everything' Kennedy Crawford. Crawford's stats line included 10 kills, 5 service aces, 17 assists, 4 digs, and 1 block. Crawford wasn't alone, though, as Kristen Whitney and Valerie Hutton both stepped up their game as well. Men's Soccer

With an exhilarating late goal in stoppage time, the FLC men's soccer team handed previous Big 8 leader Delta College their first conference loss on Friday afternoon, winning 2-1 at Falcon Stadium. Both teams entered the match knowing the stakes; Delta held a slim one-point lead over the Falcons prior to the match, meaning the winner would be the Big 8 leader going into the final week of the season. Though the Falcons lost a 1-0 battle to Delta over a month ago in Stockton, they had the home field for Friday's rematch. Falcon sophomore forward Chase Gray gave the Falcons a 1-0 lead in the 35th minute with a header off a corner kick by Adrian Jimenez. The state-ranked #8 Falcons (now 6-1-1 in Big 8 play) had taken over first place by 2 points over #5 ranked Delta (now 5-1-2).

Women's Soccer

The Falcons hoped to spoil Sierra's undefeated season on Friday afternoon, but were sent home from Rocklin with a 4-0 loss to the Wolverines. The #2 ranked team in California, Sierra improved their remarkable record to 20-0 (15-0 in Big 8) and have already wrapped up the Big 8 title. While the Falcons were hoping to play spoiler, related activities, the Rancho Cordova Concert Band, Symphony D'Oro, Kids' Day, Memorial Day, HeartStoppers Haunted House, and the fireworks that impressed locals and visitors. Events were held on one hundred days last year.

The Art of the City Celebration

Sapoznik's job is to bring people to the city and fill the sixteen hotel properties. During the past year 800,000 visitors came to the city and he looks forward to that number increasing to one million. The economic impact of the events and visitors reached $162 million with $6 million going into the general fund.

Two new hotels are slated to open in 2019. From the sound of the audience, many were surprised to hear that Rancho Cordova hosts the largest rugby tournament in the United States. It's also host to gymnastics, rowing, pro cycling, and will host the PAC 12 next year, and no one can forget that the California Capital Air Show is held at Mather each September. "We're excited for 2019," he said.

Diann Rogers, CEO and President of Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce, acknowledged the board and ambassadors and showed a short video. Beth Tincher, SMUD's government affairs representative, said that SMUD is "celebrating 41 years of energy efficiency" and introduced the woman everyone was anxious to hear.

"Good evening, Rancho Cordova," boomed Mayor Linda Budge. "Welcome to the art of living in Rancho Cordova."

The evening, she said, was about celebrating all of the artists who make up the city of Rancho Cordova — painters, sculptors, writers, architects, engineers, musicians. From the show of hands as she called out each art form, the entire audience was comprised of artists.

Budge presented the top 15 accomplishments of 2018 beginning with birthday celebrations including 15 years of cityhood, 60 years of Cordova Recreation and Park District, and 100 years of Mather Air Force Base.

"We asked for art and art happened," she said.

Mills Station Arts and Culture Center (MACC) opened in February and has hosted several exhibits, talks, and other activities. The city, she added, boasts several public art murals and mosaics. She didn't leave out the performing arts and Sunday afternoon concerts at KP International.

She spoke of the importance of partnerships, including the $3.4 million contribution to the Hagan pool replacement project that was presented to the community a week earlier. And she praised the new businesses choosing Rancho Cordova to call home. Hacker Lab opened this year, and the Barrel District features six breweries, two distilleries, and one meadery.

Job growth is expected to continue. Rancho Cordova, she said, has "more jobs in the private sector than in the public sector," which brought cheers from the audience. Those 65,000 jobs are just shy of the city's population. Ribbon cuttings and ground breakings take place monthly. New homes, schools, and parks are also being built.

The Community Enhancement Fund covers a lot of programs in public safety, arts, entertainment, and sports. Mayor Budge highlighted several projects, and each attendee received a "Citizen Report" showing funds going to crime suppression, school garden programs, after-school education and safety programs, Cordova Lancers, Leaders and Legends Mentors programs, MACC, Fourth of July parade, Art Ark, Lincoln Village fitness course, neighborhood abatement to pick up trash and recover shopping cars, and other projects to enhance the community.

The Mather Heritage Trail opened this year with a 1.4 mile biking and walking path, and the city has taken innovative approaches to homelessness, she said, including using navigators and Mather Veterans Village, which is in its last phase of construction and will serve more than 100 homeless veterans and provide them the "dignity of living in their own home," again drawing audience applause.

"Take a minute and thank our veterans."

Rancho Cordova Police Department's neighborhood policing brings officers into the neighborhoods where they get to know residents. The program has been so successful that the department is being contacted by other jurisdictions. The team has grown with new school resource officers and K-9 detectives.

Volunteers in Neighborhood Services (VINS) was praised, as was the work of student interns who designed renderings for the city's new civic center to be located on the north side of Folsom Blvd. next to Folsom Lake College where the city recently acquired nine acres.

"The budget is balanced with a healthy reserve" was probably a relief to the citizens given how many services and events the city offered or sponsored.

"Rancho Cordova will remain a safe and healthy city, as good to live in 100 years from now as it is today," said Mayor Budge. "We want to be proud to call Rancho Cordova home."
