RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - San Juan Soccer Club on Wednesday held a grand opening for their newly built three-field soccer complex in Rancho Cordova. The fields span over ten acres, allowing the club to run the many activities required for their 42 teams and 1000+ members without having to travel outside city limits. Sacramento has become the largest registered youth soccer city in the US, leading to an ever-increasing demand for quality fields in the area.

The complex was made possible in part due to the efforts of the four-man field committee the club put together, consisting of board members Ron Trengove, Jeff Rucker, Mike Liston, and Warren Holt. "We knew there was a need for a home," said

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Annual bills for Sacramento County unsecured property taxes for fiscal year 2018-2019 were mailed on July 13, 2018 and are payable without delinquent penalties through August, 31, 2018.

Unsecured property tax bills are mailed to all owners of unsecured property in July of each year. If you owned unsecured property in Sacramento County, such as a boat or aircraft, or if you leased or owned fixtures and equipment related to a business on January 1, 2018, and do not receive a tax bill by August 7, 2018, please contact the Sacramento County Tax Collector's Unsecured Property Tax Unit at (916) 874-7833, between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday excluding holidays.

NOTE: Non-receipt of a tax bill does not excuse delinquency or allow the tax collector to cancel penalties or collection costs.

Tax bills become delinquent if not paid in the Tax Collector's Office by 5:00 p.m. on August 31, 2018, or received by mail bearing a postmark of August 31, 2018.

If the tax bill is not paid by the delinquency date, a 10% penalty and collection cost will be added. DMV registration may be withheld on boats if unsecured property taxes are reported delinquent. If a tax bill remains unpaid after October 31, 2018, additional collection costs and monthly penalties at the rate of 1.5% will be added to the base tax.

Payments may be made by mail or in person at the County Tax Collector's Office located at 700 "H" Street, Room 1710, Sacramento, CA 95814, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, holidays excluded.

Lincoln Village Community Park is Ready to Party

By Alyssa Rasmussen, CRPD

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Outfitted with a newly resurfaced swimming pool, fresh walkways and a 5-piece par course, Lincoln Village Community Park's enhancements encourage park-goers to celebrate. The timing is perfect too. On July 20th, the park will host Cordova Recreation and Park District's annual Party in the Park, where the District will also celebrate their 60th Anniversary.

The Lincoln Village Park Pool

renovation was completed in May. The pool was re-plastered, new tiles were installed and updated drains were added. The Re-plaster Project was funded by a grant from the County of Sacramento.

Funded by the District's My Parks Enhancement Fund, formerly known as Measure J, the Walkway Replacement Project replaced all asphalt pathways in the park with new accessible concrete sidewalks.

And perhaps the most exciting addition to the park is the par course, an outdoor 5-piece adult fitness course installed on resilient safety surfacing. The course is perfect for individuals that prefer a more relaxed and social atmosphere, or for those wanting to exercise while accompanying children to the park. The Par Course Project was made possible with both a Community Enhancement Fund grant from the City of Rancho Cordova and the District's My Parks Enhancement Fund.

Check out these wonderful enhancements, and while you are there, join Cordova Recreation and Park District to celebrate 60 years at the Party in the Park. With live music, vendors, a 60th Anniversary Photo Gallery, lots of activities for kids of all ages, free swimming (5:30-7:30 p.m.), and a wine and beer garden, the park is ready to put on a party for the whole community!

Field of Their Dreams

San Juan Soccer Club Gets a New Home Field

“I’ve been in the club since I was six, and we haven’t had fields that whole time. Finally graduating and now just getting the fields is a bummer, but seeing the younger kids get to start fresh is cool,” said high school senior Abigail Trengove. Photo by Jeffery Galinovsky

Trengove.

Just who has a home in the soccer world and who doesn’t has become a hot-button issue of late. With the surprising failure of the U.S. Men’s National team to qualify for the World Cup, many in U.S. Soccer have clamored for a better approach to youth development. This includes finding a fix for the pay-to-play model that has stunted the growth of soccer-loving kids in low-income houses.

Trengove, who also serves as the club’s uniform and equipment coordinator, is very much aware of this issue. “We’re not immune to that. We’re part of the problem,” Trengove admits. “I will say that what we do is provide a sort of elevated experience. More educated coaches, higher level of competition, national competitions, travel, deals, and exclusive relationships with big companies like Nike.”

From the club’s viewpoint, they are doing what they can as a nonprofit. “We do have a bit of a scholarship fund for those that find the finances challenging,” added Rucker. “We’re definitely not the least expensive option on the marketplace, but we feel that we have raised the bar for what we offer our members.

“With the surprising failure of the U.S. Men’s National team to qualify for the World Cup, many in U.S. Soccer have clamored for a better approach to youth development. This includes finding a fix for the pay-to-play model that has stunted the growth of soccer-loving kids in low-income houses.”

People that know about us know that there is a difference, and they are willing to pay for that difference.”

A change is coming, says clubs president Warren Holt. “It’s a work in progress. It’s going to take another ten years. I think the failure of the men’s national team not qualifying for the World Cup made the federation try to bring everyone together a bit more. So I think everyone’s going to benefit from it.”

For those just starting with the club, the benefits are immediate. For high school senior Abigail Trengove, it’s bittersweet. “I’ve been in the club since I was six, and we haven’t had fields that whole time. Finally graduating and now just getting the fields is a bummer, but seeing the younger kids get to start fresh is cool.”

Underclassman Alexa Myers cited fewer potholes and better parking lots, locations, and practice times among the many things she’ll now enjoy. “We used to not get home until 10:30pm. They’d just book us in the latest practice slot because there weren’t enough fields for everyone.”

“It also wasn’t in a great location so we’d have to partner up going to the parking lot,” added Trengove.

So while it’s always nice to have your teammate’s backs, the players at San Juan are happy to only have to do that on their new, beautiful fields. ★

Office of Naval Research Awards Aerojet Rocketdyne Contract to Develop Advanced Torpedo Propulsion System

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Aerojet Rocketdyne has been awarded a $2.6 million Phase I contract by the Office of Naval Research to develop a prototype torpedo propulsion system under the agency’s Torpedo Advanced Propulsion System (TAPS) program. The primary goal of the program is to improve the engine efficiency of the U.S. Navy’s MK48 Heavyweight Torpedo.

“Aerojet Rocketdyne began developing torpedo propulsion systems in the early 1950s,” said Aerojet Rocketdyne CEO and President Eileen Drake. “We will carry this legacy forward as we develop the technologies needed to enhance the capability of the MK48, which is used by the U.S. Navy on all classes of submarines as their most capable anti-submarine and anti-surface weapon.”

Phase I of the TAPS program, which could last up to 24 months with options, will explore increasing the efficiency of the Otto-fueled engine that currently powers the MK48. If awarded, Phase II of the program would include integrated full-scale system testing in an MK48 propulsion section.

“Aerojet Rocketdyne is committed to serving the needs of the Navy’s undersea warfighters, and this project is a key part of our ongoing power and propulsion support,” said Vice President of Rocket ShopSMDefense Advanced Programs Tyler Evans. “We intend to leverage our advanced technology and modern manufacturing techniques to enhance the efficiency of the MK48.”

Aerojet Rocketdyne, a subsidiary of Aerojet Rocketdyne Holdings, Inc. (NYSE:AJRD), is an innovative company delivering solutions that create value for its customers in the aerospace and defense markets. The company is a world-recognized aerospace and defense leader that provides propulsion and energetics to the space, missile defense and strategic systems, tactical systems and armaments areas, in support of domestic and international markets. Special Interest Rates require $25,000 deposited to the account from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., or its affiliates. Wells Fargo may limit the amount you deposit to a Platinum Savings account to an aggregate of $1 million. Annual Percentage Yield (APY) is a blended APY which is based on the Special Interest Rate for the initial three (3) month promotional period and the Standard Interest Rate for remaining nine (9) months. Minimum daily account balance of $25,000 must be maintained to earn the shown Special Interest Rate and blended APY. The account will revert to the Standard Interest Rate for any day the balance falls below the $25,000 minimum daily balance. Interest is compounded daily and paid monthly. Interest rates are variable and subject to change without notice. 2. Annual Percentage Yield (APY) is effective for accounts opened between 7/9/2018 to 8/31/2018 and is subject to change at any time without notice. The 11-month New Dollar CD special requires a minimum of $25,000 brought to Wells Fargo from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank N.A., or its affiliates to earn the advertised APY. Public Funds and Wholesale accounts are not eligible for this offer. APY assumes interest remains on deposit until maturity. Interest is compounded daily. Payment of interest on CDs is based on term: For terms less than 12 months (365 days), interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or at maturity (the end of the term). For terms of 12 months or more, interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or annually. A fee for early withdrawal will be imposed and could reduce earnings on this account. Special Rates are applicable to the initial term of the CD only. At maturity, the special rate CD will automatically renew for a term of 6 months, at the interest rate and APY in effect for CDs on renewal date not subject to a Special Rate, unless the Bank has notified you otherwise. APY shown offered at Wells Fargo Bank locations in CA, MS, MT, NC, and SC. Due to the new money requirement, accounts may only be opened at your local branch. Offer cannot be: • Combined with any other consumer deposit offer. • Minimum new money deposit requirement of at least $25,000 is for this offer only and cannot be transferred to another account to qualify for any other consumer deposit offer. • If you wish to take advantage of another consumer deposit offer requiring a minimum new money deposit, you will be required to do so with another new money deposit as stated in the offer requirements and qualifications. • Reproduced, purchased, sold, transferred, or traded. 3. The Portfolio by Wells Fargo program has a $30 monthly service fee, which can be avoided when you have one of the following qualifying balances: $25,000 or more in qualifying linked bank deposit accounts (checking, savings, CDs, FDIC-insured IRAs) or $50,000 or more in any combination of qualifying linked banking, brokerage (available through Wells Fargo Advisors, LLC) and credit balances (including 10% of mortgage balances, certain mortgages not eligible). If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the bonus interest rate on all eligible savings accounts, and discounts or fee waivers on other products and services, will discontinue and revert to the Bank's then-current applicable rate or fee. If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the remaining unlinked Wells Fargo Portfolio Checking or Wells Fargo Prime Checking account will be converted to another checking product or closed.

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - There was a static display on the Purple Heart Truck Run in your City Hall parking lot from 3:30 PM to 5:30 PM on July 17, 2018. While it was there, I had the opportunity to give a proclamation from the City of Rancho Cordova in honor of the Military Order of the Purple Heart. The truck is run in partnership with the Wounded Warriors Family Support Organization. In some locations, the purpose of the truck is to raise money and awareness for severely wounded veterans. While it was at City Hall, the truck raised information and awareness of what some of our veterans have given to us and our country. It was truly an honor to give them the proclamation from Rancho Cordova.

July has so many events packed into it that it is impossible to keep up with them all, but here are a few of them. On July 1st, we celebrated our 15th birthday as an incorporated city. On July 2nd, we had our only City Council Meeting in July followed by a 15th Birthday Celebration. On July 3rd and 4th, we enjoyed the Fourth of July celebration at Hagan Park and our wonderful Fourth of July Parade, which included seven youth bands and many large and small groups and individuals. On July 8th, we celebrated a ribbon cutting at J.J. Pfister Distilling Company. July 9th was the Rancho Cordova annual Elected Officials Reception. We had the official opening for the second year of the Robert J. McGarvey Elementary School in some of the Anatolia neighborhoods. The Rancho Cordova Luncheon is on July 20th, and there are many more events! But, my wife and I will be missing the rest of the events in July because we will actually be on vacation! What an idea!

And Another Thing ...

Summertime Summary

And another thing, Doug Larson who was an American journalist said, "The trouble with learning from experience is that you never graduate." I learned, actually all of us learned, when we first became a city that every day, the schools of hard knocks and experience do educate you, but they also show you that no one graduates from those schools. When I was working for Pac

Bell, one of my co-workers asked our boss a question and didn't get an answer. He said, "But you're the boss. You are supposed to know everything." In response, our boss said, "I do know everything, but I don't know that!" So much for knowing everything.

And going back to the column from June 29th, I said I was going to get the rest of the signatures on that Declaration of Independence from the county on July 4, 2002, and here they are: Anthony Pescetti, Bob McGarvey, Curt Haven, George Burnash, Mike Mitchum, Susan Roberts, Terri McGarvey, Ken Green, Larry Leroy Ladd, Lloyd House, Dave Roberts, Burt M., Linda Budge, Tim Murthy, Alma Callen, Therese Buke, Tom Wentz, Rebecca Sloan, Ross Farrow, Harry A. Madden, and Don Childs signed the Declaration on July 4, 2002. There was one signature I have to admit we couldn't read, so if anyone can pass on the information about who that second to the last signature on the Declaration belongs to, I will get it on the column. Thanks to whoever you are who gave us your signature.

From Vice Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

Children's Book Donations Needed

Donations of children's books can be dropped off at the main office or at FCCP's Job Center location at 10826 Gadsten Way in Rancho Cordova.

By Robert Sanger, FCCP

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Folsom Cordova Community Partnership, a non-profit serving Rancho Cordova, Folsom, and surrounding areas, is seeking children's book donations for their "Little Free Library." The "Little Free Library" was built by a Boy Scout in April 2015 and registered with the support of the Rotary Club of Rancho Cordova Sunrise.

FCCP strives to keep the library filled with books for children that are visiting the Family Resource Center with their parents to encourage early literacy activities. Studies show children born into poverty will experience 30 million fewer words within the first three years of life than their peers of higher income households. This word gap continues to grow as the year's progress, causing slower development and growth for children who are economically disadvantaged. FCCP's "Little Free Library" is one way this multi-faceted agency seeks to bridge the gap in opportunity for low income families. FCCP's main office and Family Resource Center is housed in the shopping complex at 10665 Coloma Road, Suite 200, next to Sacramento County's Women's Infants and Children nutritional program, Mi Rancho Market and other social service partner services. Donations of children's books can be dropped off at the main office or at FCCP's Job Center location at 10826 Gadsten Way in Rancho Cordova. ★

Greg Kihn Happy to be Back Out on the Road

By Rich Peters, MPG Editor

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)
- Rock and Roller Greg Kihn is a rarity among the music world. Sitting down to speak with the singer/songwriter, band leader, radio personality and author, it was interesting to hear his perspective of a successful career in both sides of the media and the evolution of music both on and off the stage.

Long time Bay Area radio host and DJ, Kihn made a name for himself as a media personality after a successful career as a rock and roll artist, reaching #2 in the US Top 100 charts in 1983 with his hit single Jeopardy. Throughout his five decade career, Kihn has recorded 13 Top 100 singles and eight Billboard Top 200 albums while playing alongside some of the biggest name in the world.

“Over the years I never changed. I still have the same Fender Telecaster - I’m just a Telecaster guy.”

friends. “I was a classic rock DJ and some of the bands I played, I knew them personally,” explained Kihn. “I either played with them or toured with them or recorded with them. So every time I’d whip out a song, chances are I knew the guys and it was a lot more fun.”

Whether songwriting, recording, touring, working in radio or writing novels, the inspiration remains. “It was all part of being creative because whether you were writing a novel or writing a song, it didn’t matter as long as the creative juices were flowing.”

Kihn recently stepped away from radio after more than 15 years and he is once again enjoying life back in the studio and on the road. The release of his 2017

a brief stint in the Greg Kihn Band during mid-80s before his own career took flight.

When asking Kihn if he is the only person to ever get the high wired Satriani to mellow out his playing style he recalled, “I think so . . . We used to change the set like every other day. I would throw in stuff that I knew would screw up Joe but of course you can’t screw up Joe because he’s already there, he’s already got everything down.”

Kihn continued to praise the talented Satriani: “You know how musicians are back stage. You’ll be playing every (Rolling) Stones song you knew or every Led Zeppelin song or whatever, so we’d be messing around with some songs and try to stump Joe and you couldn’t stump him - the guy knew every song in the world.”

Kihn’s appreciation for music is admirable. He has written several books surrounding the history of Rock and Roll including Rubber Soul: a murder mystery novel that takes place during the rise of the Beatles and most recently Painted Black: the tragic tale of the “death and misadventure” of Rolling Stones founding member Brian Jones.

“The turning point in most musicians’ lives is the Beatles on Ed Sullivan,” proclaimed Kihn. “The Beatles and the Stones - that was it for me. That was my generation.”

Despite all of the different career paths and music industry changes over the decades, one thing remains the same: Kihn’s guitar rig. “Over the years I never changed. I still have the same Fender Telecaster - I’m just a Telecaster guy - and I’ve had the same one since probably the early 70s,” said Kihn proudly. “I’ve had the same guitar and the same amp, which is a Fender Super Reverb. It’s a Fender through a Fender.”

As Kihn explained, “Rock and Roll is a constantly mutating art form.” But some things are set in stone.

Greg Kihn is set to play the California State Fair on Friday, July 27 at 7pm on the Golden 1 Stage. ★

CA Democrats Paint Rosy Picture of Failing California

By Katy Grimes, Investigative Journalist

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The future of California is not looking as rosy as the state’s Democrat Party politicians want us to believe. Whenever challenged on the stability of his economy, Gov. Jerry Brown’s knee-jerk retort is, “California is the fifth largest economy on the planet,” as if the size of the economy in the most populous state in the nation is relevant. With nearly 40 million people, California now feels and looks like a Banana Republic in the cities, as well as rural areas in the state.

Whether you are forced to check the public defecation map to navigate the streets of San Francisco, are on the 57 freeway in Santa Ana looking at miles of homeless tent cities and camps, or you are dodging heroin-addicted homeless zombies around the State Capitol and on residential streets in Sacramento, the results are the same — Nearly one-third of the nation’s homeless population lives in California.

California today is not the California I grew up in. And our Democrat politicians keep telling us to just get used to it.

Too many tax-paying Californian earners are leaving California for lower tax, higher-liberty states, willing to forgo the beautiful California weather for more freedom. This does not bode well for California’s future any longer, with the tone deaf Socialist-Communist-Democrats saying we’d all better get used to this. And lest I forget to mention it, this is Jerry Brown’s California where our four-term governor wants to outlaw private ownership of automobiles, supports universal single-payer health care, and issues in-state “visas” for illegal aliens... and constant tax increases are the only way the state and its largest cities seem to operate.

Even while watching the significant outmigration of the middle class, as well as hundreds of millionaires and billionaires, nearly every city has a tax increase on the November ballot.

Solving Growing City Budget With Tax Increases – AGAIN

In 2012 when Jerry Brown was getting his Proposition 30 sales and income tax increase on the wealthiest Californians, Sacramento city voters also passed Measure U, a “temporary tax” to allow the City to enact a half-cent sales tax for six years with all revenue going to the City’s General Fund.

Proponents claimed the “temporary measure” was needed to stop the loss of city services and jobs blamed on the recession. The City of Sacramento said Measure U was needed to restore and protect City services. “The intent was to restore police and fire services, park maintenance and other essential services that were cut between 2008 and 2013.” The city made it appear unthinkable that voters would deny police, fire and parks their rightful budgets.

Most city residents already noticed the loss of city services along with skyrocketing city utility/services bills.

“Budget officials initially projected the tax would generate $31.8 million in the current fiscal year,” sacbee.com reported in 2015. “Instead, Measure U dollars are now expected to reach $41.5 million this year and remain nearly $10 million above original projections for the next four years.”

But Measure U is set to expire in March 2019. So what does Mayor Darrell Steinberg and the City Council do? They put Measure U back on the ballot for November, to double the size of the tax and make it permanent, saying “inclusive economic growth” makes it necessary. “I’m confident when people see what we can do with a full penny, they will respond favorably,” Steinberg said.

If you aren’t familiar with “inclusive economic growth,” you may want to pour a whiskey when you read, “Inclusive growth is economic growth that is distributed fairly across society and creates opportunities for all,” according to many “Sustainable growth” organizations. It’s largely used in third-world countries, so I’m curious why Sacramento Mayor Darrell Steinberg chose this feel-good wording... unless perhaps he agrees that Sacramento is turning into a third world city.

In 2017, a city report found a 30 percent spike in homelessness over the past two years, which many in the region felt underestimated the problem.

And to our south, L.A.’s homelessness surged 75% in six years .

At the root of the financial problem in nearly every California city, as well as at the state, is swelling pension obligations, — though no one in Sacramento City Hall wants to admit this is what the Measure U tax increase is really about. “As the costs of pensions and employee salaries increase, the city of Sacramento is forecasting budget deficits beginning next year,” sacbee.com reported. “Those gaps are expected to reach $25 million by 2022.”

In April, legislative Democrats killed three bipartisan bills that would have made significant changes to the future of California’s pension system. Rather than agreeing to reduce the risk taxpayers face in the $1.2 trillion public pension and health obligations, particularly if we face another recession, Democrats killed the bills, opting to grow the state employee pyramid scheme instead. “Sen. Connie Leyva, D-Chino, countered that she wanted to find ways to encourage more people to join pension programs instead of 401(k) plans,” sacbee.com reported. “I just think we need to do everything we can to get our young people into defined-benefit plans,” she said, proving that their only plan is to bring in more state employees.

“CalPers, CalStrs and the State health plan have a total of $1.2 trillion in unfunded liabilities. For years CalPERS has been lying about their return on investment, claiming it to be 7.5%. Instead in 2014-15, per State Senator John Moorlach, it is actually 2.4%.”
The pension overhaul bills the committee rejected were:

- Republican Sen. John Moorlach’s Senate Bill 1032, which would make it easier for local governments to separate from CalPERS without paying the hefty termination fees that CalPERS charges to fund pension obligations for defunct agencies. If an agency quits CalPERS without paying the fees, CalPERS slashes the pensions it provides to the agency’s former workers.

- Moorlach’s SB 1031, which would prohibit pension funds from providing cost-of-living adjustments to retirees if the pension fund has less than 80 percent of the assets it would need to pay the benefits it owes. Most retired public employees can receive cost-of-living adjustments of 2 percent each year, but some contracts allow up to 5 percent. Moorlach’s proposal would have applied only to state workers hired after Jan. 1, 2019.

- Democrat Sen. Steve Glazer’s SB 1149, which would have allowed new state workers to opt for a 401(k) plan instead of a pension. The concept is attractive to younger workers who do not intend to be career civil servants. The University of California is offering a similar plan, and 37 percent of new workers are choosing 401(k) plans instead of pensions.

Which came first – the explosion of homeless on California streets, rivers, parkways and highways, or the unfunded pension crisis? Irresponsible politicians created both.

There is so much that’s wrong with California, but not so much that it could not be fixed if we could just rid ourselves of the irresponsible, selfish, malignant, unstable Democrats in government – the same Democrats who put labor unions over people, illegal aliens over citizens, and their own power over the well-being of their constituents. Even New York Magazine agrees: Democrats Must Be More Ruthless — When They Have Power – NYMag.

Don’t Cry for Angela Merkel

Angela Merkel is, her supporters like to gloat, the leader of the free world. Just don’t ask her to spend as if she is. Donald Trump has made the German chancellor one of his favorite rhetorical targets, especially over Germany’s anemic defense expenditures. This has led to worries about the future of the trans-Atlantic alliance, and reflexive support for Merkel among the American political elite. Trump shouldn’t openly mock Merkel, or suggest that there have been annual dues to NATO that Germany has failed to pay. Trump tends to view foreign countries like contractors trying to scam him in a development deal. This scants history, geo-strategy and the national pride of other countries -- as usual, Trump would benefit from at least a gesture toward statesmanship. Yet Germany’s defense spending, or lack thereof, is a disgrace. One would think the country would have been embarrassed onto a different trajectory after German troops -- Panzergrenadierbataillon 371, to be exact -- had to use broomsticks instead of guns in a NATO exercise in 2014. But Germany evidently doesn’t embarrass easily. NATO countries, after a long vacation from history after the end of the Cold War, agreed at a summit in Wales in 2014 to spend 2 percent of their gross domestic product on defense annually within 10 years. It is the biggest economy in Europe and fourth largest in the world that is the serious laggard. Germany spends all of 1.2 percent of GDP on defense. As Elisabeth Braw points out in Foreign Policy magazine, its military is short on tents and winter clothes, most of its tanks aren’t battle-ready and it has a shortfall of about 20,000 officers and NCOs. It is promising to get to 1.5 percent GDP ... by 2025 (when a Trump second term would be ending). Merkel is happy to browbeat other EU countries over their fiscal and migrant commitments, but please don’t bother her to spend on her own defense. The old saw is that NATO exists to “keep the Soviet Union out, the Americans in, and the Germans down.” But the last item, given the deep streak of pacifism in postwar German politics, is no longer apt. The EU, not military conquest, is now Germany’s tool for European influence. Germany still has a gauzy view of what matters. Its foreign minister has argued that its development aid should count against its goal for military spending, fundamentally confusing soft and hard power. Needless to say, if Vladimir Putin is tempted to challenge NATO somewhere on its periphery, he’s not going to be dissuaded by Germany’s foreign-aid budget or its openness to Middle Eastern migrants. It’s not clear how seriously Germany takes the Russian threat (although it sent some troops to Lithuania last year). Germany has been supportive of the proposed Russian pipeline, Nord Stream 2, that would make Europe more dependent on Russian natural gas and bypass Ukraine. It’s Trump, the alleged tool of Putin, who has been complaining bitterly about the project. With Putin looming to the East, NATO remains a vital tool of Western power. It’s not an imposition to ask that Germany act like it.

CHEERS & JEERS

by Damian Holbrook

Cheers to Denis Leary (pictured) for joining Animal Kingdom. Part predator, part protective father, the Rescue Me alum fits right in with the low-lives of the gritty crime drama as Deran's (Jake Weary) long-MIA pops. We just know his scenes with Ellen Barkin's always-savage mother-hen Smurf are gonna be off the leash!

Jeers to NBC for not championing Champions. Mindy Kaling's whipsmart comedy starring Anders Holm and J.J. Totah should have been promoted as the perfect pairing to Will & Grace. Instead, they all-but ignored the appealing freshman gem, messed with the scheduling and now it's been officially axed. Must-See TV like this one deserved better!

resurrection. It's been announced that Jon Bernthal's Shane-- who was killed once by Rick, then a second time as a zombie!--will show up again next season. Most likely as a ghost, and probably just as unlikable as when he was alive.

Cheers to Supergirl for making Winn a hero in his own right.

Jeremy Jordan's nerdy DEO tech was always the Winn beneath bestie Kara's wings (sorry), but when the actor opted to exit at the end of Season 3, the writers sweetly sent him off to help the Legion of Superheroes battle evil in the future. Who needs powers? ★

ASK MATT

BY MATT ROUSH TV Guide Senior Critic

IS THAT HETTY LANGE IN THE INCREDIBLES?

Question: PLEASE tell me I am not going crazy. There is a character in the new Incredibles movie that looks exactly like Linda Hunt's character Hetty Lange from NCIS: Los Angeles. What's up? Or have I totally lost it? --Dee costume designer and confidante. She was also in the first movie, which premiered in 2004, years before NCIS: LA came along-- and while many do see in Edna a marked resemblance to Linda Hunt, the reported inspiration was famed Hollywood costumer Edith Head (look her up, you'll see the likeness). Edna's voice, by the way, is provided by Incredibles writer/director Brad Bird.

Matt Roush: You must be referring to the character of Edna Marie "E" Mode, the superhero

Question: That was a wonderful tribute to Richard Benjamin Harrison (aka "the Old Man") on Pawn Stars. It was so well-produced, I am wondering if they prepared it ahead of time while he was ill? --David B

Matt Roush: I'm sure that must be the case. I read that Pawn Stars was not currently in production when "the Old Man" passed last week, and he had been ill for some time, so it would surprise me if the producers hadn't compiled that tribute well in advance. For fans who missed it, the complete episode can be screened on history.com. To submit questions to TV Critic Matt Roush, go to: tvinsider.com ★

Sacramento County DA Reports

Defendant Sentenced for 13 Counts of Sexual Assault

DATE: June 29, 2018

CASE: Andy Kelly (Case #17FE019449)

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Monica Robinson, Special Assault and Child Abuse Unit

The Honorable Geoffrey Goodman sentenced Andy Kelly to 129 years to life in prison. On April 20, 2018, a jury convicted Kelly of 13 counts of sexual assault including committing an act of oral copulation or penetration on a child 10 years old or younger, intercourse with a child 10 years old or younger, and lewd or lascivious acts with a child under the age of 14.

From 2015 to 2016, Kelly molested a young family member. DNA evidence was recovered and corroborated the child's description of what happened to her.

Defendant Sentenced for Kidnapping, Carjacking, Sexual Assault

DATE: June 29, 2018

CASE: Eddie Ray Jones Jr. (Case #16FE019308)

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Kevin Jones, Adult Sexual Assault Prosecution Unit

The Honorable Patrick Marlette sentenced Eddie Ray Jones Jr. to 65 years to life in prison. On January 11, 2018, a jury convicted Jones of two counts of kidnapping during a carjacking, two counts of robbery and one count of oral copulation by force or fear with kidnapping and use of a dangerous or deadly weapon or firearm allegations. The jury also found true a use of a firearm allegation on all counts.

On September 10, 2016, Jones was inside a restaurant on Mack Road when the female victim entered the restaurant with her 2-year-old granddaughter. After purchasing food to go, the victim returned to her vehicle and began placing her granddaughter in her car seat. Jones approached the victim from behind, told her he had a gun and pointed it at her through his coat pocket. He proceeded to order the victim into the vehicle and to drive. Over the next hour, the victim was forced to drive around while Jones smoked drugs. He then pulled out the gun, switched seats with the victim and drove to a secluded area where he forced the victim to orally copulate him. He then stole money from the victim's purse, dropped her and her granddaughter off on the side of the road and drove off in her vehicle. Jones was arrested later that month after leading police on a high-speed vehicle chase and attempting to escape on foot.

The victim was able to describe Jones' distinctive tattoos and picked him out of a photo lineup. DNA evidence found on the victim's shirt was also analyzed by the District Attorney's Crime Lab and was a match to Jones.

Defendant Sentenced for Sexually Assaulting Two Family Members

DATE: June 29, 2018

CASE: Robert Dew (Case #17FE000718)

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Monica Robinson, Special Assault & Child Abuse Unit

The Honorable Trena Burger-Plavan sentenced Robert Dew to 20 years in prison. On May 22, 2018, a jury convicted Dew of eight counts of committing lewd acts on a child under the age of 14. The jury also found true a multiple victims allegation.

In 2016, Dew sexually assaulted a 5-year-old family member. During the course of the investigation into the assault, it became known to law enforcement that Dew had also sexually assaulted another family member from 2000 to 2002.

Defendant Convicted for Murder of Moped Business Partner

DATE: July 13, 2018

CASE: Kyle Billy Fletcher (Case #15F02336)

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney William Satchell, Homicide Unit

Kyle Billy Fletcher was convicted by a jury for the first-degree murder of Daniel Aiello and possession and transportation of methamphetamine for the purpose of sales. The jury also found true that Fletcher personally used a dangerous weapon.

Daniel Aiello had known Kyle Billy Fletcher for several years and was his business partner at Midtown Moped, a moped shop on X Street in Sacramento. On April 14, 2015, Mr. Aiello accused Fletcher of embezzling from the business and informed him that he filed a police report. On April 15, 2015, the Sacramento Police Department responded to a report of loud noises at the business. Officers found Fletcher in the process of moving a surveillance system from the business to his vehicle and detained him. Shortly after, officers located Mr. Aiello deceased inside the business with a belt around his neck. Officers also located approximately 50 grams of methamphetamine in Fletcher's vehicle. An autopsy was performed and the cause of Mr. Aiello's death was determined to be strangulation.

Fletcher faces a maximum sentence of 30 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for August 24, 2018, at 9:30 a.m. in Department 11 before the Honorable Trena Burger-Plavan. ★

Insurance after diagnosis

Dear Dave,

I started looking at life insurance policies after my wife and I had our daughter. During the screening process, I found out I had testicular cancer. I went through treatments, and the doctors have officially declared me to be in remission. Still, I can't find a life insurance company that will work with me. I have a small policy through my employer, that is equal to double my salary. Do you have any suggestions for finding additional coverage?

-Nate

Dave Says

Dear Nate,

It's great news that you're in remission. I'm really happy for you, buddy. I know your wife is thrilled, too.

I would advise conducting a search of every "guaranteed issue" company and policy out there. The term, guaranteed issue, means they don't do a medical check. The problem is these policies generally run 10 to 20 times more per thousand than those where you qualify medically. So, you're not going to get a lot during this time.

Check at work, and see if you can buy more and add it to the coverage they already provide. Some employers provide a double-up option if you're willing to pay for the additional coverage. If you can, and the price is reasonable, do it. If you have a mortgage, call the mortgage company and get mortgage life insurance. It's gimmick insurance — and something I don't normally recommend — but many times you can get it without medical clearance.

Once you get past that three-to-five-year window where many insurance companies will work with you again, try to find a good, level term life insurance policy with coverage that's 10 to 12 times your income, and drop all this other stuff. In the meantime, pick up anything else you can find — even if it's those little $10,000 policies banks sometimes attach to your checking account for $20. Pile up those little odds and ends, until you get as much coverage as you can within reason.

God bless you and your family, Nate.

“California at Bat” Chronicling the State’s Baseball History Opens July 29 at the California Museum

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The California Museum announced “California at Bat: America’s Pastime in the Golden State” will open on Sun., July 29, 2018. The all-new exhibit chronicles California’s baseball history from the Gold Rush to present, revealing its legacy of all-stars and the contributions of female, African American and other players who broke barriers to broaden its enduring appeal. Featuring more than 200 rarely-seen artifacts, highlights include uniforms, equipment and ephemera from Jackie Robinson, Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, Willie Mays, Sandy Koufax and others, along with objects from Pacific Coast League teams and from Edmonds Field, home of the Sacramento Solons until 1960.

“We are thrilled to present ‘California at Bat,’” said California Museum Executive Director Amanda Meeker. “Although the major leagues didn’t arrive until the 1950s, Californians have enjoyed baseball for 160 years. This exhibit offers an unprecedented opportunity to view artifacts representing the sweep of California baseball from 19th century town ball to the legends of baseball’s Golden Age and the heroes of the modern era.”

Curated by the California Museum, “California at Bat” was developed in collaboration with Stephen Wong, author of three Smithsonian Books, including “Game Worn: Baseball Treasures from the Game’s Greatest Heroes and Moments” (2016). A renowned baseball historian and collector, Wong contributed expertise and more than 80 artifacts from his personal collection illustrating many of baseball’s most famous

Highlights include New York Yankees rookie uniform game worn by Joe DiMaggio in 1936, the only season of he wore number 9. Born and raised in the San Francisco Bay Area, DiMaggio is best known for his 56-game hitting streak in 1941, a standing record in 2018. Photo courtesy California Museum players. Highlights include:

- New York Yankees rookie uniform game worn by Joe DiMaggio (1914-2000) in 1936, the only season of he wore number 9. Born and raised in the San Francisco Bay Area, DiMaggio is best known for his 56-game hitting streak in 1941, a standing record in 2018.
- Boston Red Sox home uniform game worn by Ted Williams (1918-2002) in 1950, the season his career nearly ended after breaking his arm in the All-Star game. The San Diego native was the last player to bat over .400 in a season (.406 in 1941).

- San Francisco Giants home jersey game worn by Willie Mays (b. 1931) in 1965, the season he led the NL with 52 home runs and won his second NL MVP Award. Considered the game’s greatest all-around player, Mays has lived in California since moving with the Giants in 1958.
- Los Angeles Dodgers road jersey game worn by Sandy Koufax (b. 1935) in 1966, the last year of his MLB career and the year he won a third Cy Young Award. A resident of California since moving with the Dodgers in 1958, Koufax is also remembered for sitting out Game 1 of the 1965 World Series when it fell on Yom Kippur, and for pitching baseball’s eighth perfect game on Sept. 9, 1965.

“As a native Californian who is deeply passionate about baseball and the history of the game, I’m proud and honored to have been a part of ‘California at Bat,’” said Stephen Wong. “I’m delighted to share my collection with members of the public in this extraordinary new installation revealing the state’s significant contributions to baseball.”

Contributions of Californians who broke barriers are also explored. For example, Jackie Robinson (1919-1972), the first African American to play MLB in the modern era, is heralded through a 1947 Brooklyn Dodgers team-autographed ball, along with a ticket and program from his April 15, 1947 debut. In addition to ending the segregation that had relegated African Americans to the Negro Leagues since the 1880s, Robinson was also the first to win a NL MVP Award, reflected by his 1949 trophy on display.

Accomplishments of California women are shown through uniforms from the All-American Girls Professional Baseball League of the 1940s and modern softball Olympians, while artifacts from Japanese American and Mexican American leagues emphasize the sport’s role in facilitating social and political networks in disadvantaged communities.

In addition, the exhibit surveys the state’s baseball history before the arrival of the majors in 1958. Uniforms, equipment and ephemera revisit the Pacific Coast League’s Sacramento Solons, San Francisco Seals, Oakland Oaks, Hollywood Stars, San Diego Padres and Los Angeles Angels, while objects from Edmonds Field, home of the Sacramento Solons until 1960, recall the local baseball park experience.

“California at Bat” will open in a public event on Sun.,

July 29 from 12:00 to 4:00 p.m. Highlights include $5.00 reduced admission; presentations by Stephen Wong, Matt Stone and Alan O’Connor; 19th century “base ball” demonstrations; Home Run Challenge and Speed Pitch games; baseball card evaluations; beer garden (21+); food trucks; hands-on kids’ activities and more. AMAC: Trend Toward a Four-Day School Week is Gaining Momentum Across the Country

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Schools across the country are opting to give teachers and students a day off on Fridays. It’s a way to save money, they say. According to the National Conference of State Legislators “approximately 560 districts in 25 states have one or more schools on a four-day schedule.” Teachers and stay at home moms seem to like the trend but households where both parents need to work to make ends meet, it poses difficulties. “Families with children too young to stay at home alone will have the added expense of daycare,” points out Dan Weber, president of the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC].

Weber says that in addition many low-income parents rely on subsidized school breakfasts and lunches and that having to feed their kids an extra day a week can pose a problem. The Department of Agriculture says more than half of the nation’s high-poverty schools offer breakfasts and lunches to students at no cost.

Meanwhile, there’s evidence to suggest that the savings for school districts that adopt shorter school schedules are minimal at best.

Paul Hill, a Research Professor at the University of Washington Bothell, is an expert in the field of public education. In an interview published in The Atlantic he was asked why school superintendents, if they know the savings may not be significant, elect to shut down on Fridays.

His response: “They hope to save money even if the odds are low. But there are two other reasons people go to it: at least initially, I think superintendents were enthusiastically thinking they could find a way to get more time for teachers to collaborate and maybe actually improve instruction. But the other was that teachers and families with stay-at-home moms and so on were all pretty glad to have that one day extra on the weekend where they could do things like take their kids to the doctor. So it was a combination of hope for academic benefits and real family and quality-of-life benefits.”

Weber says it would appear that the benefits of the four-day school week accrue principally to stay-at-home parents and teachers. “They would not outweigh the disadvantages for students and households where both parents work. Consider also the fact that the remaining school days would be longer under such a revised schedule and could prove to be difficult, especially for younger students.”
