Partnerships that Really Work

Agencies Share Resources at Monthly Networking Lunch

With many non-profit organizations in the greater Sacramento area, resources are sometimes duplicated or underused. The monthly event strives to "decrease duplication of services and increase knowledge of services provided in the Rancho Cordova, Folsom and greater Sacramento area," said Akia Holland (top right), FCCP's Family Support Specialist.

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - On Wednesday, July 25, more than two dozen Sacramento area non-profit community service providers descended upon the Folsom Cordova Community Partnership (FCCP) building for an afternoon of lunch and sharing at the monthly Connections Café networking event. Attendees enjoyed presentations from Molly Mix, Program Manager at Sacramento Children's Museum, and Valarie Scruggs, Program Manager at One Community Health.

Dignity Health, WellSpace Health, Birth and Beyond, Omni Youth Programs and River City Medical Group staff joined FCCP staff for lunch of rice, beans, chicken, salad and churros. Chatter filled the room as co-workers and friends caught up, talked shop and laughed.

Laughter increased during the round of introductions that kicked off July's event. Each attendee stated their name, agency, and answered the ice-breaker question of where they would travel for vacation and why. Only one location could be given by participants, although some snuck in two. Iceland and Alaska were the day's winners to escape July's triple digit heat wave.

The icebreaker, said Leslie Adorno De Chacing, SMUD's Customer Program Outreach Coordinator, is her favorite part. Although unable to attend Wednesday, she spoke by telephone about SMUD's five year sponsorship.

"SMUD is community owned," said Leslie, adding that SMUD, FCCP and the attending organizations often work with the same populations and SMUD supports resource sharing and exploring means to get resources to the

California Wildfire Relief

By Red Cross

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - More than 90 wildfires are raging around the country. In Northern California, devastating fires are burning across more than 110,000 acres, forcing residents from their homes. The American Red Cross is there, providing shelter and comfort for those affected.

One of several large wildfires in California, the Carr Fire near Redding, California, is now ranked as one of the top 10 most destructive wildfires in California's history. It is only about 23 percent contained. The fire has destroyed more than 1,000 structures and is threatening just over 4,000 more. Mandatory evacuations were ordered throughout the region, where conditions are unpredictable due to variable winds and blazing temperatures. Steep terrain is also challenging firefighting efforts. The city is home to as many as 92,000 people and is located about 100 miles south of the border with Oregon.

More than 1,000 people sought refuge from the inferno overnight in 11 Red Cross and community run shelters in California. Along with community partners, the Red Cross is providing hot meals and distributing comfort kits to impacted families. Red Cross disaster workers have identified additional shelters, and have numerous cots and shelter items on stand-by to be able to respond quickly to provide more help if needed. The Red Cross is working closely with state and local officials to expand the relief response if necessary to make sure people get the help they need.

Cordova Recreation and Park District Celebrates 60 Years of Service

By Alyssa Rasmussen, CRPD

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Cordova Recreation and Park District residents of all ages celebrated the District's 60th Anniversary at the Neil Orchard Senior Center and Lincoln Village Community Park on July 20, 2018. District Administrator, Patrick Larkin, said the occasion exemplified what the organization stands for:

"The 60th Anniversary community celebration was a great opportunity for our residents to see firsthand the benefits and value of recreation and parks. The smiles and fun the attendees were having; dancing, swimming, playing and just enjoying the band and park environment is what CRPD is all about. We create community and facilitate its positive growth. We strive to maintain and sustain a high quality of life for our residents through our parks and recreation services."

The District's Party in the Park highlighting the 60th Anniversary celebration was well attended. Hundreds of residents joined the District in playful reflection of its past, present, and future goals in the Cordova community; with July being National Parks and Recreation month it is the perfect time to celebrate the role of parks and recreation.

In recognition of this role, Larkin said, "We look forward to continuing Goodwill for Fashion: Who Knew?

By Andrew Rose

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Goodwill Industries in the Sacramento area is busily preparing for Style with a Purpose, at the Alta Arden Goodwill location on Saturday, August 4. Though this particular event has a Back to School theme, fun and fashion is in store for all who attend. According to Goodwill representatives, the goal is to make fashion accessible to everyone, to break down the stigma attached with thrifting, to promote eco-fashion and to have on-hand style advice for shoppers free of charge. Regional Manager for Goodwill Industries, Hope Pearson, extends her invitation to customers of all ages and expects them to be impressed. "It's not your average thrift store," Pearson maintains. "Our quality is much higher than most thrift stores."

The happening will feature a number of fashion experts in the Sacramento area, and welcome men, women, and children to get their fashion groove on. Stylists will pre-select clothing items for people of all sizes, and other items will also be showcased. During the event, guests will be able to browse "style stations" where stylists will offer personalized fashion advice. This is Goodwill's second stylists event in the Sacramento area. The first one, held on April 28, was a rousing success. In the process, Goodwill attracts new shoppers to its organization by pointing out how people can, through a little hunting, acquire amazingly inexpensive ways to enhance their wardrobe.

While Style with a Purpose is designed to be a fun event, it supports a serious cause. Each purchase to Goodwill helps improve lives of people who use the organization's services. All purchases of merchandise from Goodwill's stores benefit the nonprofit's mission of helping people with disadvantages achieve self-sufficiency. In 2018 alone Goodwill Sacramento Valley and Northern Nevada provided more than $20 million worth of resources to those in need. Some community organizations benefitted are Next Move Homeless Services, Francis House Center, Wind Youth Services, People of Progress, and Community Link Capital Region. "Our business wouldn't be possible without donations from our community," Pearson asserts. What's more, Goodwill is instrumental in helping people in the community rebuild their lives with its job assistance programs.

Goodwill was founded in 1902 in Boston by Methodist minister Rev. Edgar H. Helms. Helms enacted the progressive idea of collecting household items and clothing in upper class sections of the city. These goods were resold or given to people in need. Thus, the Goodwill credo of not charity, but a chance was put into place. Helms' simple vision is now a nonprofit organization with assets of more than $5.5 billion. Helms described Goodwill Industries as an "industrial program as well as a social service enterprise... a provider of employment, training and rehabilitation for people of limited employability, and a source of temporary assistance for individuals whose resources are depleted."

Goodwill Industries gets results. In 2017, more than 38.6 million people utilized in-person and technological services from the organization to build their professional lives. Also last year, the organization's Good Neighbor program, which provides emergency assistance on a referral basis to agency clients, directly served 72,937 people across 35 countries.

More than a century after Goodwill's founding, events such as Style with a Purpose help perpetuate the success of the organization by bringing in a new, often younger clientele. Betsy Appleton, who puts together the blog goldwilldigger.com, reminds people that dressing snappy is affordable, thanks to Goodwill. On the blog, Appleton describes herself as "a 20-something navigating the waters of adulthood with champagne taste on a beer budget." As a guest on NewsChannel 5's Talk of the Town program in Nashville, Appleton provided frugal fashionistas with a few tricks of the trade. When asked about her best tip for going through the racks, Appleton advised that it's a different experience than walking to a rack in a department store. In fact, she claimed, some elbow grease is required. Appleton explained the digging in being a Goodwill digger. "One is to be patient," she asserted. "Things aren't going to jump out at you. You have to spend time there, be patient, and be persistent."

Appleton added that the reduced monetary investment in clothing bought from Goodwill lends itself to experimentation. A recreational fashion designer can feel free to take the scissors to alter a Goodwill garment, because it didn't cost a lot of money. "There's no harm in doing a little DIY with Goodwill pieces. You don't have a lot invested in them to make them unique and fit you." Appleton was awarded Goodwill of Middle Tennessee's 2016 Ambassador of the Year.

Heather Donaldson, creator of Style with a Purpose, received her inspiration for this event from a similar happening in Nashville, in which her sister Elisabeth participated. A critical care nurse, Heather Donaldson started thrifting out of financial necessity, and now keeps doing it for fun and with a sense of social consciousness. "When I was musician living in Los Angeles, I never had any money but needed clothing that would make me look like a star. Goodwill quickly became my best friend," she reflects. "I could find unique items made of rich fabrics that were often hardly worn. Now that my pocketbook is not as tight, I don't thrift out of necessity, I thrift because I worry about this planet and the effects of fast fashion on the environment. I still find beautiful clothes for a fraction of retail prices and I use what I save to travel and enjoy life."

Donaldson will serve as a stylist for the event along with Caitlin Alfstad, Dev Anglin, Hagen, Keia Mae, Tuyen, Vince Vicari, and Xochitl. Each stylist in the event will be on hand to provide personalized fashion advice. All attendees will be welcome to pick the brains of these local "bloggers, artists, and fashionistas," as described by Donaldson.

Style with a Purpose will take place on Saturday, August 4 at the Alta Arden Goodwill location on 2040 Alta Arden Expressway from 1-4 PM. Light bites and beverages will be served. For more information about Goodwill in this area, go to www.goodwillsacto.org. ★

Special Interest Rates require $25,000 deposited to the account from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., or its affiliates. Wells Fargo may limit the amount you deposit to a Platinum Savings account to an aggregate of $1 million. Annual Percentage Yield (APY) is a blended APY which is based on the Special Interest Rate for the initial three (3) month promotional period and the Standard Interest Rate for remaining nine (9) months. Minimum daily account balance of $25,000 must be maintained to earn the shown Special Interest Rate and blended APY. The account will revert to the Standard Interest Rate for any day the balance falls below the $25,000 minimum daily balance. Interest is compounded daily and paid monthly. The amount of interest earned is based on the daily collected balances in the account. As of 6/13/2018 the standard APYs for a Platinum Savings account in CA with $0.01 to $249,999.99 is 0.01% and with $250,000 and above is 0.05%; for a Platinum Savings account in MT with $0.01 and above is 0.01%. Interest rates are variable and subject to change without notice. 2. Annual Percentage Yield (APY) is effective for accounts opened between 7/9/2018 to 8/31/2018 and is subject to change at any time without notice. The 11-month New Dollar CD special requires a minimum of $25,000 brought to Wells Fargo from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank N.A., or its affiliates to earn the advertised APY. Public Funds and Wholesale accounts are not eligible for this offer. APY assumes interest remains on deposit until maturity. Interest is compounded daily. Payment of interest on CDs is based on term: For terms less than 12 months (365 days), interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or at maturity (the end of the term). For terms of 12 months or more, interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or annually. A fee for early withdrawal will be imposed and could reduce earnings on this account. Special Rates are applicable to the initial term of the CD only. At maturity, the special rate CD will automatically renew for a term of 6 months, at the interest rate and APY in effect for CDs on renewal date not subject to a Special Rate, unless the Bank has notified you otherwise. APY shown offered at Wells Fargo Bank locations in CA, MS, MT, NC, and SC. Due to the new money requirement, accounts may only be opened at your local branch. Offer cannot be: • Combined with any other consumer deposit offer. • Minimum new money deposit requirement of at least $25,000 is for this offer only and cannot be transferred to another account to qualify for any other consumer deposit offer. • If you wish to take advantage of another consumer deposit offer requiring a minimum new money deposit, you will be required to do so with another new money deposit as stated in the offer requirements and qualifications. • Reproduced, purchased, sold, transferred, or traded. 3. The Portfolio by Wells Fargo program has a $30 monthly service fee, which can be avoided when you have one of the following qualifying balances: $25,000 or more in qualifying linked bank deposit accounts (checking, savings, CDs, FDIC-insured IRAs) or $50,000 or more in any combination of qualifying linked banking, brokerage (available through Wells Fargo Advisors, LLC) and credit balances (including 10% of mortgage balances, certain mortgages not eligible). If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the bonus interest rate on all eligible savings accounts, and discounts or fee waivers on other products and services, will discontinue and revert to the Bank's then-current applicable rate or fee. If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the remaining unlinked Wells Fargo Portfolio Checking or Wells Fargo Prime Checking account will be converted to another checking product or closed.

By Bob McGarvey

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - I was looking at some of the books I have collected since Rancho Cordova became an incorporated city, and the title of one of them is Reinventing Government: How the Entrepreneurial Spirit is Transforming the Public Sector. The authors are Ted Gaebler and David Osborne. On February 8, 2005, I had the privilege of meeting both of them in our first City Hall on Gold Canal Drive. It was quite a surprise to meet the authors, especially since Rancho Cordova was the first “new city” in which their book’s policies could be applied. On the face of the book is a quote from President Bill Clinton that reads, “Should be read by every elected official in America. This book gives us the blueprint.” I am told that the Governor of Florida Jeb Bush also ordered a few thousand copies of Ted and David’s book.

Being our first permanent City Manager gave Ted Gaebler the opportunity to use his thoughts and experiences in our new city. He had been working for other cities in the past, and he didn’t have to, as it says in his book, “Scrape the Barnacles off the Ship of State. How do we create Mission-driven governments? The first task is to scrape off the dead weight of accumulated rules, regulations, and obsolete activities.” I truly believe that we were ready, willing and able to take command of our “Ship of State,” and direct our City of Rancho Cordova on its true course into the future. Our next 15 years should be even better.

Now on to other things. My wife and I have been able to take a vacation away from the usual things that are part of everyone’s usual daily lives. We enjoyed some time away from home doing some fishing and catching. We had a chance to go and see a very pretty park in the City of Ukiah, CA that was named surprisingly The City of Ukiah, McGarvey Park; probably an eighth cousin? We rode the Skunk Train out of Willits, CA and really enjoyed the ride.

Something that affected us when we were fishing in Clear Lake State Park was the smoke that was building up in that area. Clear Lake is the largest natural lake in California, but toward the end of our time there, we couldn’t see the other side of the lake because of the smoke from Shasta County’s Carr Fire. There were other fires that were just beginning then too. I know we went to Lakeport a couple of times while we were there, and yesterday, the citizens of Lakeport were told to evacuate because of the Ranch Fire and the River Fire, which are too close to the city. We, like everyone else, hope that they will be fortunate and not lose any of their homes like the over 800 that have been lost in Shasta County’s Carr Fire.

I looked at the moon the night before last as it came up over the horizon, and I was able to take a picture of it with its brown and orange color caused by the smoke from the fires that are burning in our state. My wife, a retired teacher, would use the white of the moon to teach our grandkids when they were just learning about colors. For a little while, the white of the moon or the blue of the sky is a little more accurate by showing the kids the colors in a book, but that is until the fires are out and the smoke is clear from the skies.

I know there are many people in Rancho Cordova who are doing what they can to help others who lose everything when the fires chase people out of their homes and they feel fortunate to have gotten away alive. We are thinking of the family members who were lost and those who are left.

From Vice Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★ community, including this type of networking.

With many non-profit organizations in the greater Sacramento area, resources are sometimes duplicated or underused. The monthly event strives to “decrease duplication of services and increase knowledge of services provided in the Rancho Cordova, Folsom and greater Sacramento area,” said Akia Holland, FCCP’s Family Support Specialist.

Two tables held informational brochures from SMUD, Volunteers of America, National Safe Kids Campaign, Cal-Fresh, Sacramento Family Regional Justice Center, Sacramento Public Library, Covered California, My Sister’s House and other agencies, including the day’s presenters.

At 12:30 promptly, Molly Mix was introduced. Although not originally scheduled to speak, she made an impact on several representatives as she described two of the free programs offered by Sacramento Children’s Museum – ExplorABILITY and The Beary Special Play Date.

ExplorABILITY, held every first and third Sunday, provides an open, sensory friendly space for children from two to ten years old on the autism spectrum. A maximum of 25 children may attend.

“Children are not expected to participate in any certain way,” said Molly.

“In order for play to be meaningful, it has to be spontaneous, and it has to be fun.”

Beary Special Play Date, a free quarterly event, is open to all children with any special needs and their family and friends. The next event is Rhythm and Grooves on September 22. The winter holiday party with Santa will be held December 14. There is no attendance cap.

Molly answered questions and highlighted other museum events and programs.

One Community Health’s Valarie Scruggs was introduced to the eager group. The current name is eight months old, but the organization’s roots are nearly 30 years old. Beginning as CARES (Center for AIDS Research, Education, and Services) in 1989, the group changed to Cares Community Health three years ago and became a Federally Qualified Health Center able to serve more of the general community through its plethora of services at one of its three locations – midtown’s main campus, downtown and Arden-Arcade.

Forty-seven exam rooms and nine heated dental chairs are the tip of this deep iceberg. A teen clinic with a teen-specific doctor is also available as are women’s health care, pediatrics, podiatry, chronic pain management and acupuncture. Vision services will be available by the end of the year, and dental services for women and babies are expanding.

“And we are still a center of excellence for HIV,” Valarie said.

Valarie’s co-worker, Alondra Thompson, spoke about the integration of behavioral health services and the importance of having resources available in a single location.

“We know that the whole person includes the mental wellness,” she said, and that includes having case managers assist patients with housing or transportation.

The 4,000 square foot pharmacy fills over 900 prescriptions daily and, like the laboratory services, is available to anyone. Patient education, nutrition counseling and classes are also available in English and Spanish.

“We have eleven different languages that are represented on our staff,” Valarie said.

During National Health Center week, from August 12 through 18, One Community Health will hold various activities in the clinics. On August 13, from 11 a.m. – 2 p.m., an open house at the center’s Arden-Arcade location will be held with activities for children and a chance for adults to meet the providers.

Several questions were answered before the floor was open to others for event sharing and time to meet and collaborate. Omni Youth Services met with One Community Health as did the Sacramento Children’s Museum.

August’s Connections Café features speakers from Parenting Youth Program and Legal Services of Northern California.

FCCP Executive Director Robert Sanger highlighted some of the partnership’s offerings – family resource and job center, free Zumba classes, quarterly community baby showers, family fun nights and annual events like October’s Harvest Festival. Community support includes assistance with food, diapers, and utility shutoff prevention. “All Sacramento County residents can access services,” he said.

Cordova Recreation and Park District Recognized at State Level

By Alyssa Rasmussen, CRPD

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Flipping through the pages of the current volume of the California Special Districts magazine, you’d come across a familiar name. Cordova Recreation and Park District’s District Administrator Patrick Larkin is featured in a question and answer piece covering Senator Kevin de León’s Proposition 68, which, according to de León, was crafted to address several issues including “park access, repairs to existing park resources, flood control, water quality and preserving our water resources.”

The Cordova Recreation and Park District’s appearance in the statewide publication demonstrates that the District’s mission of “leading the region in recreation and parks through excellence and transparency” is advancing. The District is being sought out to represent legislation that will impact recreation and parks across California.

This is an exciting time for the District. The organization just celebrated 60 years and recently secured funding for the much anticipated two-pool concept for Hagan Community Park. The District has already received a wealth of positive recognition this year – in awards, resolutions, and press – for its innovative and thoughtful park designs. Also, staff have been launching programs and projects that have been bolstered by newer and stronger partnerships.

Larkin became District Administrator at Cordova Recreation and Park District over a year ago – just long enough to help drive these needed and positive changes across the District, its programs and parks. Larkin is a supporter of proposition 68 and believes the bond will “help our neighborhoods in providing an enhanced quality of life by replacing amenities and updating parks that are in need to provide safe, fun places for our residents to gather and play. Our future is very bright, and we look forward to continuing to serve this established and growing community.” ★

Running All Out for Love: East Lawn’s Annual 5K Run

Story and photos
by Paul Scholl

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)
- On not just another early Saturday morning, over 1,000 runners, walkers and joggers showed up early to run for love. The annual East Lawn Fab 40’s 5k Run, is a fundraiser benefitting the Alzheimer’s Association. It b rings out runners from all over to show their love and support for family members who have died or are currently suffering from the tragic disease.

This year’s winner was Jason Holland-Morrison of Elk Grove with a time of 16:36, or a 5:21 minute mile. Second place went to Kevin Clancy of Citrus Heights at 16:48, just twelve seconds off the winning pace.

Other local runners were Jske Swanson of Carmichael finished 30th, Mike Gottardi of Rancho Cordova 36th, Bobby Carpenter of Rancho Cordova 38th, Deanna Palacios 38th, Ron Souza of Citrus Heights 61st, Robert Hammond of Fair Oaks 70th, and Erica Loomis of Citrus Heights finished 99th.

Each year dozens of sponsors line up to support this effort. Their support helps to pay for the great looking t-shirts provided to all the registered runners. Each sponsor gets their logo on the back of the shirt to show they are a part of the “Cure Alzheimer’s” cause. If you recognize any of the sponsors from the list, be sure to thank them for their donations.

Capital Road Race Management managed the runner’s event, which is Sacramento’s official 5k Championship race. It also takes many volunteers to help the great event take shape. Without them it wouldn’t be possible.

If you haven’t warmed up to the family friendly event yet and would like to know more visit www.Fab40s5k.org. ★

Fleet Feet once again had a large group of dedicated runners.

Kevin Clancy of Citrus Heights finished second.

The run for love had over 1000 runners and walkers.

The 8 to 10 year olds set the early pace for the grown-ups.

And the big 5k race begins right on time.

Jason Holland-Morrison won the 5k race and gets congratulations.

Volunteers offered everyone that registered to run the annual t-shirt.

Attention All Dogs, Cats, Hamsters, Chickens, Horses, and Their Owners!

By Advent Lutheran Church

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)
- Each day, every one of us can make a difference for the life of animals. Some might decide to eat only vegetarian or vegan diets. Some might volunteer for their local SPCA. Others might offer their services as a foster home to shelter animals. Others yet might make it their mission to campaign for the end of animal testing, recyclable packaging, or stricter animal-rights regulations of zoos, circuses, and theme parks. For the majority, though, making a difference for the life of animals equates to caring for pets or other domestic animals.

In Christian-heritage countries, care for animals is most closely associated with the month of October, originating from the Roman Catholic celebration of October 4 as the saint day of Francis of Assisi, patron saint of ecology and founder of the Franciscan order. Since the early 20th century, animal welfare has been promoted among secular organizations, too. In many countries around the world, October 4 is observed in an entirely secular fashion as “World Animal Day,” a day of action for animal rights and welfare.

Bringing animals into sanctuaries in early October is not always easy for their owners. Many pets won’t be able to make it through a long worship service or tolerate other animals near them ... and then there’s the issue of what to do about animals defecating inside the sanctuary. In short, it can be very stressful or even impossible to bring your pet to church.

In response to such concerns, Advent Lutheran Church will host a drop-in animal blessing on the church’s front lawn on Saturday, August 11.

Visit members of the congregation and their pastor, Rev. Gabriele Schroeder, between 10am and 1pm. Please bring your pet on a leash or in a crate. Should your pet be unwilling/unable to leave your car, our volunteers can come to your car for a drive-by blessing. All animals welcome!

Child, Family & Adult Services Director Announced

After a national recruitment search and comprehensive interview process, Michelle Callejas was identified as the top candidate based on experience, education and continued commitment to the community.

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The Board of Supervisors, at its July 17 meeting, concurred with the County Executive’s appointment of Michelle Callejas as the Director of Child, Family, and Adult Services Department, effective July 22, 2018. After a national recruitment search and comprehensive interview process, Callejas was identified as the top candidate based on experience, education and continued commitment to the community.

“The County of Sacramento is fortunate to be able to promote such a highly qualified candidate to serve as the Director of the Department of Child, Family, and Adult Services,” said Bruce Wagstaff, Deputy County Executive, Social Services.

Ms. Callejas has worked for Sacramento County for almost 22 years, primarily in child welfare and mental health. During this time, Ms. Callejas has promoted to positions that involve greater responsibility and more complex challenges.

Ms. Callejas has been the Acting Director of the Department of Child, Family, and Adult Services since March 2018, where her primary focus has been on ensuring that there is no disruption to services during the transition to the new department, while also facilitating the move to a new location and supporting staff through the recent organizational change.

Prior to that, Callejas served as the Deputy Director of Child Protective Services (CPS). During this time, she has promoted more transparency to help the community, system partners, and media to better understand the complexities of the work performed by CPS, as well as the wide array of services provided by the program.

Ms. Callejas has a Bachelor of Arts in Criminal Justice and a Master of Science in Counseling, Emphasis in Marriage, Family, and Child Counseling and School Counseling. Ms. Callejas earned both degrees at the California State University, Sacramento.

California Burning Thanks to Obama-Era Environmental Regulations

By Katy Grimes, Investigative Journalist

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The largest wildfire burning in California has now claimed the lives of seven Redding residents. More than 38,000 Shasta County residents have been evacuated because of the Carr Fire.

Cal Fire estimates there are more than 300 fires burning across California as of Sunday morning.

“Since 2012, according to state emergency management officials, there has not been a month without a wildfire burning — a stark contrast to previous decades, when fire officials saw the fall and winter as a time to plan and regroup,” the New York Times reported last week about California’s wildfires.

Many are asking why there are so many fires burning again in California.

What’s the significance of 2012?

It is interesting that the New York Times mentioned the 2012 date, but only attributed the wildfire increases to “the recent historic drought,” and “rising temperatures,” caused by climate change. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Obama-Era Eco-Terrorism Enviro Regulations

Under Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack, “The Obama administration finalized a rule governing the management of 193 million acres of national forests and grasslands, establishing a new blueprint to guide everything from logging to recreation and renewable energy development,” the Washington Post reported in 2012. “The rule will serve as the guiding document for individual forest plans, which spell out exactly how these lands can be used.”

These Obama-era regulations introduced excessive layers of bureaucracy that blocked proper forest management and increased environmentalist litigation and costs. This is the result of far too many radical environmentalists, government bureaucrats, leftist politicians and judicial activists who would rather let forests burn, than let anyone thin out overgrown trees, or let professional loggers harvest usable timber left from beetle kills, or even selectively cut timber. Forests are the ultimate natural renewable resource.

In a 2016 Townhall column, Paul Driessen explains:

“Eco-purists want no cutting, no thinning – no using fire retardants in “sensitive” areas because the chemicals might get into streams that will be boiled away by conflagrations. They prevent homeowners from clearing brush around their homes, because it might provide cover or habitat for endangered species and other critters that will

“Hotter, drier, longer forest fires we are witnessing today have nothing to do with ‘dangerous manmade climate change. They have a lot to do with idiotic forest mismanagement policies and practices.”

PAUL DRIESSEN

SENIOR POLICY ADVISOR, THE COMMITTEE FOR A CONSTRUCTIVETOMORROW (CFACT)

get incinerated or lose their forage, prey and habitats in the next blaze. They rarely alter their policies during drought years.”

“The resulting fires are not the “forest-rejuvenating” blazes of environmentalist lore. They are cauldron-hot conflagrations that exterminate wildlife habitats, roast bald eagle and spotted owl fledglings alive in their nests, boil away trout and trout streams, leave surviving animals to starve, and incinerate every living organism in already thin soils ... that then get washed away during future downpours and snow melts. Areas incinerated by such fires don’t recover their arboreal biodiversity for decades.”

Government Incineration

In the early 1990’s the Clinton administration embraced the Forest Stewardship Council following the Rio Earth Summit. The FSC was created “to promote environmentally sound, socially beneficial and economically prosperous management of the world’s forests.”

Yale 360 contributor Richard Conniff explained: FSC was to work with the timber industry “to set standards covering the conservation and restoration of forests, indigenous rights, and the economic and social well-being of workers, among other criteria. For industry, FSC certification promised not just a better way of doing business, but also higher prices for wood products carrying the FSC seal of environmental friendliness.”

It was an epic fail. All industries using timber-related products were extorted into becoming “FSC Certified.” Paper products, furniture, construction, cabinets, power poles, and hundreds of industries use timber. “A quarter-century later, frustrated supporters of FSC say it hasn’t worked out as planned, except for higher prices: FSC reports that tropical forest timber carrying its label brings 15 to 25 percent more at auction,” Conniff reported. “But environmental critics and some academic researchers say FSC has had little or no effect on tropical deforestation.”

Prior to FSC Certification, environmentalists refused to acknowledge that timber had been prized as a renewable, recyclable natural resource, and the timber industry prioritized proper care of forests.

Fast forward to the George W. Bush administration: “In June 2009, a federal judge sided with environmentalists and threw out the Bush planning rule that determines how 155 national forests and 20 national grasslands develop individual forest plans, governing activities from timber harvests to recreation and protecting endangered plants and animals. Clinton appointee, Judge Claudia Wilken of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California ruled that the Forest Service had failed to analyze the effects of removing requirements guaranteeing viable wildlife populations (Greenwire, July 1).”

By 2012, the Obama administration issued a major rewrite of all of the country’s forest rules and guidelines.

In 2015, Washington D.C. District Court Judge Ketanji Brown Jackson, an Obama appointee, rejected claims from a coalition of timber, livestock, and off-highway vehicle organizations that the Obama sustainability provisions in the 2012 Planning Rule would cause an economically harmful reduction in timber harvest and land use and an increase in forest fires. “Defendants Klamath-Siskiyou Wildlands Center and Oregon Wild, represented by the Western Environmental Law Center, as well as The Wilderness Society and Defenders of Wildlife, represented by Earthjustice, argued that existing federal law provided ample authority for the

As with the Clinton administration in the 1990’s, the Obama administration worked against all drilling, mining, ranching, farming, property ownership, and made it happen through the 2012 eco-terrorism regulations.

specific category, one explanation could be that HBO's high-profile Westworld was airing during the period of ballot voting and was fresher in voters' minds. Jeffrey Wright moved from supporting to lead actor this year, and he's pretty much the heart and soul of that show, so no argument there, but Ed Harris also nominated as lead for what seems more a supporting character? That might have better gone to Highmore. (Also: As Westworld droned on this season, I wonder if some voters now have remorse for giving what was ultimately a disappointing second season so many nominations.)

Question: How is it possible that Freddie Highmore isn't nominated for a leading actor in a drama Emmy for The Good Doctor? His moving portrayal of a brilliant autistic doctor has got to be one of the most challenging roles on TV. --Cathy that are nowadays unavoidable given the surplus of choices, Freddie Highmore's no-show on the Emmys list is perhaps the most inexplicable. An industry myopia regarding most broadcast-network TV is only part of it, but considering the stylistic leap this talented young actor made, transitioning from Bates Motel to The Good Doctor within a year, this is a lamentable oversight. Dave Says

Finding responsible renters

Dear Dave,
I'm a landlord, and I own a few houses and duplexes around town. Recently, I made the mistake of renting to some tenants who were not respectful of my property. Do you have any tips for selecting good renters?
- Joe

Dear Joe,
In my experience, most landlords simply aren't thorough enough with the screening process when it comes to potential tenants. It's difficult to get to know someone — especially in this kind of situation — without spending some face-to-face time with them and digging into their backgrounds a little.
I have several rental properties, so here are a few tips that have served me well over the years. Always require a big deposit up front. In addition, pull a credit bureau report on prospective renters. I also drive by the place they're currently living to see how they take care of things. To me, this is a great indication of how responsible they are, and how they might treat my property. Finally, get proof they've regularly made past rental payments on time.

It's a leap of faith, to an extent, any time you sign an agreement with a new tenant. But there are things you can do to make a more informed decision as to whom you're doing business with!
—Dave

Don't allow them to break the rules

Dear Dave,
A debt collector has been calling members of my family for the last two weeks to get information on me. He identified himself as collector, and I want to pay what I owe, but is it legal for him to do this?
- Kerry

Dear Kerry,
No, it isn't legal. If he identified himself in any way as a debt collector, and spoke with anyone but you about your debt, he broke the law. This is a violation of the Federal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act. You need to file a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) against this collector and his company.

Record the conversation the next time they call. Tell them at the beginning you'll be taping any interaction you have with them from that point forward, and ask your relatives to do the same. That way, you'll have proof to hand over to the FTC or the attorney general.

There's nothing wrong with collecting a debt. If you're a collector or creditor, it's money that is legally owed to you. Still, you must do it within the confines of the law.

Sacramento County DA Reports

Defendant Sentenced for Child Sexual Assault
DATE: July 23, 2018
CASE: Kristopher Jordan (Case #16FE018631)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Brian Morgan, Special Assault & Child Abuse Unit

The Honorable Stephen Acquisto sentenced Kristopher Jordan to 50 years in prison. On June 15, 2018, a jury convicted Jordan of seven counts of committing a forcible lewd act on a child.

In 2014, Jordan started sexually assaulting an 11-year-old male family member.

Gang Members Convicted for Multiple Murders
DATE: June 29, 2018
CASE: David Javier Jaimes & Alex Martinez Camacho (Case #14F01928)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Morgan Gire, Gangs & Hate Crimes Unit

David Javier Jaimes and Alex Martinez Camacho were convicted by a jury for the first-degree murders of Gladis Quinteros and Enrique De La Cruz as well as attempted murder. The jury also found true the special circumstance that both defendants committed multiple murders. Enhancements for personally discharging a firearm causing death and committing the crimes for the benefit of a criminal street gang were also found true.

On May 21, 2013, Jaimes and Camacho were in a car with fellow North Sacra Norteño (“NSN”) gang members. While driving on Birdcage Street, they saw who they believed was a rival Sureño gang member talking with another man and woman. The defendants got out of the car and shot the victims multiple times. The victims died at the scene. The defendants fled and the case went unsolved. A month later, Jaimes and Camacho were again in a car with other gang members. The defendants mistakenly believed they saw Sureño gang members in a truck and followed them. While stopped at the intersection of Arden Way and Morse Avenue, one of the gang members in the car opened fire on the truck, critically wounding the passenger. A nearby sheriff’s deputy heard the shots and pursued the suspect vehicle. During a highspeed chase, a handgun was thrown from the vehicle and was later recovered.

An examination of the handgun revealed a connection to the murders on Birdcage Street. It was also linked to a series of shootings in Sacramento and Citrus Heights. Further investigation showed Jaimes and Camacho were responsible for the vast number of those shootings.

Jaimes and Camacho each face a maximum sentence of life without the possibility of parole plus an additional 180 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for September 21, 2018, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 12 before the Honorable Maryanne Gilliard.

Defendant Convicted of Foothill Farms Murder
DATE: July 26, 2018
CASE: Robert Gene McCormack (Case #16FE012920)

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Omar Singh, Homicide Unit

Robert Gene McCormack was convicted by a jury of the second-degree murder of Kert Lackey and for being a felon in possession of a firearm. The jury also found true the allegation that McCormack personally discharged a firearm causing death. The Court found true that McCormack has a prior 1998 strike conviction for assault with a deadly weapon.

Robert McCormack and his girlfriend invited her ex-boyfriend, Kert Lackey, to their house for dinner. That night, McCormack overheard a loud conversation between his girlfriend and Mr. Lackey. McCormack struck Mr. Lackey twice in the head with an aluminum bat. When Mr. Lackey attempted to fight back, McCormack barricaded himself in the house. Mr. Lackey walked down the driveway toward his car, McCormack exited the house with a loaded 9mm semi-automatic handgun and shot Mr. Lackey seven times. Mr. Lackey died immediately at the scene.

McCormack faces a maximum sentence of 60 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for August 17, 2018, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 34 before the Honorable Pamela Smith-Stewart.

DV Offender Convicted of Attempted Murder, Child Endangerment
DATE: July 30, 2018
CASE: Randy Wallace (Case #17FE015903)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Allison Dunham, High Risk Domestic Violence Unit

Randy Wallace was convicted by a jury of attempted murder with the allegations of premeditation, personal use of a firearm and personal discharging of a firearm causing great bodily injury found true. Wallace was also convicted of two counts of willful child endangerment and making criminal threats.

Wallace and the victim had just ended their relationship. On August 28, 2017, the victim was with her two young children doing errands. When she ran into Wallace on the street, the two got into a verbal altercation. Wallace told the victim he was going to shoot her. He then went into a nearby house, came out holding a gun and shot at the back-rear door and window of the victim’s car where her children were sitting at the time. One of the children received a number of cuts and scrapes from the glass window shattering in his face, including a laceration to his eye. Wallace then shot the victim in the chest, stomach and back of the leg. He hit the victim in the head with the back of the gun before fleeing the scene. Wallace was apprehended on October 5, 2017. The victim suffered life-threatening injuries, but she survived. Wallace has a history of domestic violence and was on active probation at that time of this offense.

Wallace faces a maximum of 38 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for August 17, 2018, at 1:30 p.m. in Department 15 before the Honorable Laurel White. ★

Cordova Football Season Preview

Coach McCoy Hopes to Make Leap in First Season

Story and photos
Keith Jouganatos

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Head Coach John McCoy for the past six years has treated every day like another one at the office. Yet even he knows things have changed since being appointed head football coach at Cordova High School for this upcoming season.

“Now that I’m in charge of not just getting a set group of players ready, but everyone else such as coaches and everyone else with our staff on the same page, that’s been the biggest thing,” said McCoy.

If there was ever a year lined up perfectly for McCoy to get out on the right foot in his Lancers head coaching career then it would be this one. Cordova finished 7-4 last season and 4-1 in the Sierra Valley Conference and reached the postseason for the second consecutive year.

The Lancers bring back a core group of seniors that includes the likes of quarterback Johnle Sanders, who returns to his position under center after going over 1,000 yards both passing and running the football last season. Initially Sanders played defensive back and wide receiver, but due to quarterback issues last season the Lancers were forced to have him throw the football. It was a decision Sanders said needed some convincing at first.

“I honestly didn’t know if I would be able to take on that role because I was so nervous,” said Sanders. “But the coaching staff did an amazing job of convincing me that I could do it and once I was able to get their support I embraced the challenge.”

Sanders’ ability no doubt helped shape Cordova into having the opportunity to possess the offense that they did last season. His arm strength kept defenses on their toes due to the threat of the deep ball and his speed allowed him to get outside of the pocket and make life difficult for defensive coordinators who tried to contain him with a QB spy.

That skillset combined with just six interceptions and a 126.9 quarterback rating allowed Cordova to keep the ball on offense and run as many plays as they could while maintaining a great offensive tempo.

This offensive output was put on full display in particular at home, where Cordova finished the season a perfect 5-0 in front of their home crowd. Yet on the road was a different story as the team went just 2-3 and gave up 20 points or more in each of those defeats.

The Lancers will no doubt be put to the test on opening night of the season when they take on Vista del Lago, a team that beat them both in the regular season and in the playoffs a season ago. It’s a game that McCoy says Cordova has prepared all summer for.

“These guys understand that Vista has had our number as of late and we want to make up for

Cordova will get their shot at redemption on the road to kick off the season on August 17 at 7PM. ★

Cordova’s starting quarterback Johnle Sanders is coming off of a big season in which he threw and rushed for over 1,000 yards.
