Happy Birthday to You

By Paul Scholl

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - A birthday is always better with a big party to go along with it. The City of Rancho Cordova threw a big party for all the residents to celebrate birthday number 15.

With lots of big smiles, handshakes, hugging neighbors and great music the celebration was a hit from the moment people lined up for the free Kona Ice at the end of another hot summer day.

The celebration was held at Rancho Cordova City Hall on Monday, July 2 from 6:30 pm to 8:30 pm.

Rancho Cordova has come a long way in a short time to become one of the most vibrant cities in the state. It has strong economic growth and a very promising future as it reaches adolescence at 15.

Mayor Linda Budge, one of the original founders who pushed hard to make Rancho Cordova a city, said, "15 years ago we set out to create a city as good to live in in 100 years as it is to live in today. We have an incredible future ahead of us."

The opening welcome was offered by Congressman Ami

Bera, kicking off the celebration. It was followed by a wonderful extended 14 selection birthday performance by the Rancho Cordova River City Band.

City councilman Bob McGarvey, a fellow founding father of cityhood said, "It's been a very short, and long 15 years. The people of Rancho Cordova know they are a part of it. We've been so grateful for what the people have done with us, and now they can see the results."

With the recent improvement of the economic climate in the city, there is even more to celebrate. Diann Rogers, Executive Director of the Chamber of Commerce, said, "We are so grateful to the city and we are glad to have the partnership of prosperity. We are looking forward to the next 15 prosperous years for the community."

Rancho Cordova has much to celebrate this birthday, and everyone acknowledges that it starts with those who live here. ★

Smoke-Related Health Alert

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA - The Sacramento Metropolitan Air Quality Management District, in consultation with Sacramento County Public Health Officer, Dr. Olivia Kasirye, is advising residents to take precautions and minimize outdoor activities due to smoke being transported into Sacramento County from the County Fire burning in Yolo County and Napa County.

If you smell or see smoke, take the following actions:

- Everyone should minimize outdoor activities if you can see or smell smoke, even if you're healthy
- Children, the elderly and people with respiratory or heart conditions should be particularly careful to avoid exposure
- Stay indoors with doors and windows closed as much as possible
- Asthmatics should follow their asthma management plan
- Contact your doctor if you have symptoms of cough, shortness of breath, or other symptoms you believe to be caused by smoke
- Those with heart disease should especially limit their smoke exposure since PM can cause heart attacks

"The smoke from wildfires can pose a health risk for anyone, but is especially harmful for older adults, young children, and those with existing health conditions," said Sacramento County Public Health Officer, Dr. Olivia Kasirye. "If you see or smell smoke limit outdoor activities," she added.

A Treetop View of Maintaining Our Roads

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - With the summer construction season underway for the Sacramento County Department of Transportation (SACDOT), you can expect to see crews out on the roads, and sometimes in the trees, working to fix or maintain thousands of miles of roadway within the unincorporated areas of Sacramento County.

Part of this road maintenance to improve the public travel-ways involves protecting and maintaining the vegetation along the right-of-ways for driver and pedestrian safety. The SACDOT Tree and Landscape division is responsible for maintaining County-owned roadway frontages, medians, pedestrian walkways, soundwalls, bike lanes, and overpasses.

The SACDOT crews create aesthetically pleasing landscaped areas while also providing a safer environment by removing hazardous limbs and dead vegetation. This summertime maintenance work also helps reduce the potential for storm related problems when the rain and high wind season hits. Of course, these Tree and Landscape crews are out later in the year to tackle storm-related emergencies, as well.

The Tree and Landscape crews also focus on removing encroachment violations in Sacramento County. This includes trees and shrubbery growing upon private property that are lower than 13.5 feet over the roadway or obstructing the visibility of an intersection or a traffic control device, such as a stop sign. When these issues occur, the SACDOT Right-of-Way Management section works with property owners to correct violations. SACDOT contracts some of the work to ensure the maintenance is completed in a timely fashion.

If you're out and notice vegetation issues on or near right-of-ways in the unincorporated areas of Sacramento County, the public is encouraged to contact SACDOT by calling 311 or reporting issues online at www.311.saccounty.net.

Korea and World War III - Almost

By Jerald Drobesh,
US AIR FORCE

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- Recently there has been high tension and talks of a possible confrontation and even a nuclear war with North Korea. But this is not the first time we have been in this position with them.

In the early 1970s, as a Captain in the US Air Force, I was assigned to Kunsan Air Force Base on the west coast of South Korea. This was an old US Air Force Base from the Korean War days, in the 1950s. At that time, I was the Air Force Chief of Aircraft Maintenance at the base, and part of my job was to prepare our assigned F-4 Fighter/Bombers for emergency launch with nuclear weapons, if the situation required it.

The F-4 twin jet Fighter/Bomber was, at the time, was one of the fastest and best aircraft ever built. My job required that I have a Top Secret Security Clearance, because I was required to brief the Wing Commander on the status of all our assigned aircraft, and sit in on all Top Secret briefings about the status of the North Korean armed forces and their preparations for War. I remember well, as if it was yesterday. It was one of the most important briefings I had ever attended. It was the early 1970s, and by the time the briefing was over, I knew that we could be at war at any minute.

The North Korean forces, according to the briefing, were moving their fighters, bombers, tanks, military equipment, and soldiers up close to the border between North and South Korea. This would put them just minutes flying time from our aircraft at Kunsan AFB. This had never happened before and I remember thinking, at the time, that our base may not exist after the next few days, or sooner.

That night I walked down to the flight line where our F-4 Fighter/Bombers were stationed and ready for war. My job was to check with the airmen assigned to repair and prepare the aircraft, and to have them all ready for launch if the orders were given by Headquarters. We were an inch away from World War III and I could feel it in the air.

That night, I talked to my maintenance airmen assigned to the aircraft. They didn't know, at the time, how close we were to war and I couldn't tell them. There wasn't a need at that time for them to know, but they were ready. All the F-4 aircraft that were flyable were loaded with bombs and ready for immediate takeoff to their assigned targets. I remember thinking that night on the flightline that this could be it.

I enjoyed my job and all the assigned men were great to work with. Being that I once flew jets myself in the Air Force, I knew how the pilots must have felt - that they may never see their families again - if we went to war. This was the real world and possibly the end of our beautiful planet as we knew it. I had a difficult time sleeping that night. It's hard to tell someone who hasn't been stationed on the front lines with nuclear weapons involved what it feels like. But that's what we were trained for - and we all knew what was at stake.

Fortunately, we all survived or I wouldn't be writing this article. For some reason the North Koreans began to remove their jets, tanks, equipment, and troops back from the border, and I never heard why. At that time, Chinese and Russian troops were supporting the North Korean communist troops and maybe their leaders realized that once a nuclear war started in Korea that it could speed to their countries and it wouldn't stop until everything was gone.

We may never know what happened, but events in today's news are a reminder to me of that time when I was there, and I saw how close we came. I believe that cooler heads in China, Russia, and North Korea prevailed. They knew we had a very large number of nuclear weapons and would use them if threatened, but China and Russia had them as well.

I believe the fact that we did have nuclear weapons and advanced aircraft to deliver them was possibly the reason why we didn't go to war. What's interesting to me is that at that time, and even now, the world didn't know how close we came to World War III, but I was there!

May GOD continue to bless this beautiful planet and let's do everything we can to keep it special and alive! ★

$10 Million in Refunds Claimed Across Region Through United Way's Help

Tax Help for Late Filing to Continue Through Summer

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Nearly 8,500 households in the Sacramento area took advantage of United Way-led free tax help programs for the 2017 tax year, resulting in more than $10 million in money claimed through the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC), other credits and refunds. The in-person Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program, led by United Way California Capital Region with support from Citi Community Development, helped 7,422 local households, and United Way's MyFreeTaxes.com helped 1,066 users file taxes. Thanks to two-year funding from Citi Community Development, free tax help was significantly expanded across the region in Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sacramento and Yolo counties this year, increasing the number of households helped by more than 2,500 and resulting in more than a $3 million increase in refunds for the region compared to last year.

A limited number of appointments are still available this summer for households looking for help with late filing and which earned $54,000 or less in 2017. IRS-certified volunteers will provide free basic tax return preparation with electronic filing and will help local households claim tax credits, including federal and state EITC, Child Tax Credit, and Credit for the Elderly or the Disabled. This year, more households are eligible to earn up to $6,500 in federal and state EITC, including those who are self-employed. To make an appointment, call 2-1-1 in Sacramento, or (916) 498-1000 if living outside the city, Monday-Friday from 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

"This free tax help is crucial to ensuring our local families are financially healthy, and we are grateful to our funders and partners and 433 volunteers who have already served more than 16,000 hours to help local families," said Stephanie Bray, president and CEO, United Way California Capital Region.

Funding support from Citi Community Development is enabling United Way California Capital Region to increase the capacity and reach of the local VITA program to meet additional need and demand this year and next. The funding is helping to expand the number of sites offering free tax preparation and to increase the number of volunteer tax preparers.

"Nearly 20 percent of households in the Sacramento region are living on low incomes, and nearly half lack the savings to sustain an unexpected shock to income," said Vicki Joseph, Northern California market manager for Citi Community Development. "By expanding access to free tax preparation services, United Way is enabling more families in need to benefit from this vital tax credit and helping to build their financial resiliency."

Thanks to two-year funding from Citi Community Development, free tax help was significantly expanded across the region, increasing the number of households helped by more than 2,500 and resulting in more than a $3 million increase in refunds for the region compared to last year.

Local households that made $66,000 or less in 2017 were eligible to file state and federal taxes online for free at MyFreeTaxes.com, sponsored by United Way Worldwide. The site provided households with free tax help so they could maximize refunds and credits and save an average of $200 in preparer fees, guiding users through federal and state filing with software powered by H&R Block.

Other sponsors of United Way's 2018 free tax preparation programs include the U.S. Internal Revenue Service, SAFE Credit Union and SMUD. For a list of collaborating partners, visit YourLocalUnitedWay.org/VITA.

United Way California Capital Region is leading these free tax help programs as part of its Square One Project, a 20-year promise to significantly increase the number of local students who graduate from high school ready for success in college and beyond. Household financial well-being is a key factor in student success. Through nine decades of work and research across Amador, El Dorado, Sacramento, Placer and Yolo counties, the local United Way believes ending poverty starts in school and is working to ensure kids meet important milestones for success in college or career. Recreational Waters and E. Coli

New Year to Bring New Faces in FCUSD Schools, District Office

The Central Valley Water Board Will Be Conducting A Year-Long Study on the Lower American River to Determine the Primary Sources of E. Coli

There have been no water-related illnesses for our rivers and streams reported to the Sacramento County Public Health Division. SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Every natural water body can be a conduit for pollution, trash, bacteria, algae and microorganisms. Sacramento County and the Sacramento Area Sewer District are collaborating with the California Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board (Central Valley Water Board) to fund their weekly E. coli water sampling at nine sites on the American River.

Most E. coli strains are harmless and do not cause human illness. They are the helpful bacteria found in the intestines of mammals – humans, pets, wildlife and birds. Increased levels of E. coli does not necessarily equate to an increased exposure risk for swimmers. E. coli are generally found in all recreational waters.

The Central Valley Water Board will be conducting a year-long study on the Lower American River to determine the primary sources of E. coli. The study will begin this summer and is designed to more fully understand the primary sources of E. coli and any increase exposure risk to those recreating in the Lower American River.

The County Public Health Officer is the local authority in determining if a recreational area needs to be closed. Closures would be considered for a known communicable disease outbreak or a known sewage release. There have been no water-related illnesses for our rivers and streams reported to the Sacramento County Public Health Division. E.coli-related illness cases are required by Title 17 law for medical providers and labs to report E. coli-related cases to County Public Health. County Public Health investigates every reported case of E. coli-related illness to identify the source and stop the spread of the disease. If the County Public Health Officer decides there is a risk to the general public, a public notification is sent out.

Anyone enjoying public waterways should always follow healthy swimming habits:

- Do not drink recreational water or use the water for cooking.

- Do not enter the water if you have cuts or open sores, as these are pathways for bacteria to enter your body.
- Avoid algae blooms (brightly colored water) and trash in the water.
- Wash your hands or shower after swimming.
- Pay attention and follow any warning signs and postings. Do not access a water body if posted warnings indicate it is not safe to do so.
- Contact your healthcare provider if you have concerns regarding your health after swimming in recreational waters.

Learn more about E. coli, healthy swimming habits and the Lower American River monitoring map and test results on the Sacramento County Regional Parks website.

New Year to Bring New Faces in FCUSD Schools, District Office

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Beginning in the next school year, Folsom Cordova will be welcoming new leaders who look forward to the opportunity to grow the achievements of our schools and to build strong relationships with our students, families, and staff.

The Board of Education has approved the following selections:

Assistant Principal, Cordova High School: Joel Francisco

Francisco is a longtime educator who has held many leadership positions - both at the site and the state level - since he began teaching English Language Arts/English Language Development at Mills Middle School 17 years ago. Those roles have included serving as the Northern California representative on the project team for the English Language Proficiency Assessments for California (ELPAC), as well as an administrative designee at his school site this past year.

He replaces outgoing Assistant Principal Jerad Hyden, who has accepted the position of Principal at Cordova High School.

Principal, Kinney High School: Michelle Flowers

Flowers brings an extensive background in alternative education leadership to her new role in Folsom Cordova.

For the past three years, she has served as the principal of King Continuation High School in the Davis Joint Unified School District. Since 2017, she also has served as that district's manager of student services, responsible for monitoring and improving student attendance across the district.

Flowers replaces outgoing principal Dana Carrigan, who has accepted a position as the next principal of Mills Middle School in Rancho Cordova.

Principal, Cordova Villa Elementary: Richard Tapia, Ed.D.

Since 2014 Tapia has led the campus of Empire Oaks Elementary in Folsom and previously was the principal of Cordova Gardens (2010-14) and Cordova Lane (2004-10) elementary schools. He will fill the vacancy left by Principal Jessica Hutchinson, who has accepted the principal position at Rancho Cordova Elementary.

Assistant Principal, Mills Middle School: Jenna Schuette

Schuette is a veteran educator who began her teaching career at Cordova Meadows Elementary School. She spent a decade as a teacher at Mills Middle School and another eight years as the school's academic support coach.

Since 2016 Schuette has served as Folsom Cordova's Academic Support Coach, helping increase teacher collaboration and facilitating strategies to improve student achievement. From March through June of 2018, she served as the interim principal of Carl Sundahl Elementary School in Folsom.

Principal, Cordova Gardens Elementary: John Bliss

For the last four years Bliss has served as the principal of Folsom Middle School, and he fills the vacancy at Cordova Gardens that will be left by outgoing Principal Karen Redfield, who is retiring. Bliss joined Folsom Cordova in 1998 as a teacher at Cordova High School. In addition to his tenure at Folsom Middle School, Bliss has previously served as a vice principal at Folsom High School.

Principal, Mitchell Middle School: Dan Anklam

Anklam, who has served as the principal of Cordova High School since 2010, will become the new principal at Mitchell Middle School. He fills the vacancy that will be left by Jim Huber, Ed.D., who was recently selected as the District's new Director of Curriculum and Instruction. At Mitchell, Anklam will continue to support the campus wide International Baccalaureate Middle Years Programme, whose students continue on in the program at Cordova High. Anklam began his teaching career in 1988 at Mitchell before moving on to Cordova High, where he spent the last 25 years of his career.

Athletic Director, Cordova High School: Mark Beamish

Beamish is a physical education teacher and coach in his third year at Cordova High School. In his 16 years of teaching throughout the region, he has served as an athletic director at Mt. Diablo High School and American Canyon Middle School, and has many years of coaching experience in softball, baseball, and football.

By Bob McGarvey

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - I hope everyone had a great 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th of July, but the 4th of July holiday is over. We had a wonderful 4th of July parade (with seven marching bands), and there were more things to see and do this year than last. Now, after honoring our country and our great city, it's time for the sales to begin (in the stores which are still open) for back to school supplies, swimming suits, clothes for the fall season, and of course, 2019 cars and trucks coming in early. There are also special sales for the "few" 2018 vehicles (thousands and thousands), which are still on the lots. We also had time to slide in and celebrate our 15th birthday for the City of Rancho Cordova.

In 10 years (2028), when we celebrate our 25th birthday, we will really be celebrating because we will no longer have to pay the Revenue Neutrality Tax. We had to agree to pay the taxes demanded by the county before we were allowed to vote. It was stated in the 1966 United States Supreme Court case Harper v. Virginia Board of Election, "Mr. Justice Douglas delivered the opinion of the court... We conclude that a State violates the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment whenever it makes the affluence of the voter of payment of any fee on electoral standard. Voter qualifications have no relation to wealth nor to paying or not paying this or any other tax." Demanding such taxes in Sacramento County, or all of the State of California for that matter, has never been taken to court; so, not being an attorney, I can only say that as a citizen of the United States, I don't think we should have had to pay taxes before we could vote on cityhood.

And Another Thing ...

"Imagine, Dream, Believe."

We have been able to do more in our city than any of us imagined we could do when we first began on July 1, 2003. With the over 55,000 people who put in so much hard work and talent that day, and now almost 75,000, we have never stopped moving forward. Even through the Great Recession, we showed the world what is possible when we put our hands together and believe in ourselves. On the wall of my office at City Hall, I placed "Imagine, Dream, Believe." That applies to each of us, to our City, to our State, and to our Country.

Our grandchildren are enjoying having summer off from their jobs. We tell them that their mom and dad have jobs so they can get paid. The argument that their jobs are to learn doesn't always sink in with them, actually it very seldom works, but we still like it anyway. Something that we do like very much is how much our grandkids love to read. They get tired with their own things (and can't get their hands on their brother's stuff too), so they grab a book, lay back, and are able to use their minds to create the people, places and things in the story they are reading. Being able to develop and use their imaginations does so much more for them than they know. Especially when they have to go back to (excuse the term) school in just a few weeks.

I know the majority of schools are closed during the summer, but some schools go year-round, especially in the Elk Grove Unified School District that has two of their schools in Rancho Cordova. The Robert J. McGarvey Elementary School in the Anatolia neighborhood is one of those year-round schools. Having a school carry your name is such an honor, and it only opened for "business" 11 months ago. Its second year will begin on July 19, 2018. It is a wonderful school.

From Vice Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

Local Church to Host Health Equipment Loan Program

By Rev. Paul Janke

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - For a good number of years now, Cordova Lutheran Church, 10400 Coloma Road, has stocked a number of medical equipment items to be loaned to church members and friends as needed. In working with Occupational Therapist Cheryl Chester of ProHealth, a home health agency, it has been determined that there is a great need in the eastern end of Sacramento County for medical equipment to be loaned to individuals who are financially unable to purchase the same.

Cordova Lutheran has elected to enthusiastically endorse the sponsorship of a health/medical equipment loan program to be called Project H.E.L.P. (Health Equipment Loan Program).

This FREE service to the community will include the loan of canes, crutches, wheelchairs, walkers, walker trays and walker bags, transfer chairs, bath chairs, raised toilet seats, reachers, sock aids, gait belts, etc. (also known as DME, durable medical equipment), to persons who cannot afford to purchase an identified item. The church already has items in stock, and is looking to purchase additional needed items, as well as receive donations from former patients who are willing to donate items to the program.

Project H.E.L.P. will be staffed with volunteers from the church and community, and will be open one day a week, Tuesdays, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, beginning July 10, 2018. Equipment items will be stored at the church site, 10400 Coloma Road. Requests for equipment loans and offers of donations can be made by calling the church office at 1-916-363-5687 and speaking with church staff or leaving a message on the answering machine. ★

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Cordova Creek Trail Study

(Comments on the Bicycle Trail Plan)

The proposed bicycle trail would follow the current easement from Beclan Drive to the outflow into the American River.

Dear Editor,
The building of a bicycle trail following Cordova Creek, "the ditch" to us older folks, was a bad idea forty years ago and a worse idea now. I know the problems associated with the construction and maintenance of bicycle trails, having worked for the County of Sacramento for five years patrolling the bicycle trail along the Lower American River and twelve years patrolling the bicycle trails around Folsom Lake State Recreation Area. The Rancho Cordova City Council, is again, considering a bicycle trail along Cordova Creek. The proposed bicycle trail would follow the current easement from Beclan Drive to the outflow into the American River. This drainage ditch was never constructed with any other idea in mind than the conveyance for water. There is no buffer zone for a trail and there are many choke points where there is just not enough room in which to put a bicycle trail. Some backyard fences would have to be moved and some utility poles would have to be relocated. Currently, the City Council has only spent a grant of $126,850* and leveraged another $17,400* of local funds for the feasibility study.

To name just a few of the negative impacts, for those of us that live immediately adjacent to Cordova Creek, a bicycle trail would mean, a total lack of privacy, increased crime such as vandalism and burglary, a decrease in property values and environmental damage. For all residents within the City, it would mean increased taxes to build and maintain the trail. There would be associated Law Enforcement costs. There would be ongoing liability and safety issues for our kids of putting a bicycle trail within feet of an often times a deep flowing drainage ditch and how would this trail cross the major streets of Dawes and Coloma Road?

At the Community Open House, held on May 17, 2018, the representative from Alta Planning and Design had no answer for that last question of how this trail would cross these two major roads. As for keeping children out of the creek, Alta's answer was the possibility of a four foot metal fence. In my opinion, neither answer was satisfactory.

Yes, there is a need for improved bicycle safety in all areas of the City of Rancho Cordova and we could use improvements to our current bicycle lanes but an ill-advised bicycle trail to nowhere is not the answer.

*Respectfully Submitted,
Steven Fisher
Resident of Rancho Cordova*

Game Plots

The Popular Apocalypse

By Noah Howard

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The video game industry is rarely labeled as “original,” and this year’s Electronics Entertainment Expo (E3) illustrated exactly why. Video games’ largest publishers showcased Metro: Exodus, Dying Light 2, Days Gone, The Last of Us Part 2, Rage 2, Gears 5 and Fallout 76. Their common thread? Every one of these flagship, multi-million dollar titles is a post-apocalyptic action game, usually with some sort of zombie or zombie-like enemy. 2018’s store shelves will be utterly saturated with games in the vein of Mad Max and 28 Days Later, and yet despite the saturation, every one of them will likely sell exceptionally well.

Video games have an utter obsession with the post-apocalypse going back decades, to an extent not reflected in any other popular media. The two seem to be a match made in heaven; a primary allure of video games is the ability to escape one’s own life and do anything they desire. When a developer is tasked with contextualizing utter freedom in terms of a logically coherent, immersive game world, where better to turn than an anarchic wasteland? Without the binding ties of society and rule of law, the player can believably do whatever they want without the logical necessity of some in-game police coming down on their heads. Even linear, cinematic experiences with little real player freedom benefit from the narrative shortcuts a post-apocalypse allows. Why are we killing thousands and thousands of zombies/people? Easy, this world is kill or be killed in a battle for survival, so further moral justification for Mass violence seems, from the writer’s perspective, otherwise unnecessary.

Such justification feeds into why the trend is stronger now than it’s ever been. Developers leveraged the computing power of the new generation of consoles not to create photorealism, but to create massive, living worlds in which players can roam free. Open worlds became “stylish” as franchises that were once linear began to expand with huge environments to explore. And as video games began to lean more and more into their most unique artistic asset, the ability to create a sense of player freedom, the need for justifications for such complete freedom spiked upwards. As a result, we have E3 2018, where game after game resorts to the post-apocalypse as its narrative shortcut.

This is hardly a criticism; because video games aren’t primarily a narrative medium, narrative shortcuts are easily excused if they accommodate exciting gameplay and interesting worlds, both of which post-apocalypse games often excel at. And even then, video games have occasionally used post-apocalyptic settings not as writing crutches but as tools to explore the complex moral questions of survival and freedom; 2013’s The Last of Us did exactly that, and is widely considered the best-written game ever made (though its incredible-looking sequel may be looking to snatch that title from its predecessor). There’s a reason why, despite the saturation, the industry is showing few signs of fatigue. The post-apocalypse both literally and figuratively, remains extensively unexplored, and video games are uniquely positioned to trek into the lawless wilderness.

Developers leveraged the computing power of the new generation of consoles not to create photorealism, but to create massive, living worlds in which players can roam free.

Johnny Cueto Shines in Rehab Start

WEST SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - On a hot Friday evening, fans filed into Raley Field to catch a glimpse of a big league fan favorite.

Johnny Cueto threw 69 pitches, allowing just four hits and a walk while striking out six over four dominate innings in his latest rehab stint for the River Cats. The bullpen would do the rest as Sacramento would shutout the Fresno Grizzlies 4-0.

Cueto, who has been rehabbing a sprained elbow since early May, is inching closer to a return to San Francisco – and just in time as the Giants are starting to play up to their potential now that their once injury riddled roster is finally healing up.

Cueto threw 48 pitches over 3.2 innings in his first rehab start on June 23 against the El Paso Chihuahuas. He was 3-0 with a 0.84 ERA before he landed on the disabled list. Both Cueto and Jeff Samardzija are expected to return to the Giants starting rotation soon.

Giants ace Johnny Cueto is nearing a return to the big league staff after being sidelined with an elbow sprain since early May.

Make It Fun and It Will Get Done!
The Secret to Being Organized
Pam Young's Corner

Get Organized to Have More Fun!

On June 16, I celebrated 41 years being organized. When my sister and I made the decision to go from pigpens to paradise, we were filled with a knowing that we'd succeed. It wasn't that it was our first attempt. Every New Year's Resolution had "get organized" on the top of the list. The difference this time was we had a partner and we had good reasons. I had made up my mind to get organized to have more free time to play. Peggy wanted revenge. She wanted her mother-in-law and sister-in-law to come to her home unexpectedly as they often had, only when she got organized they'd be blown away by her immaculate and orderly home. What's your reason for wanting to be organized? If you don't get a good reason, you'll lose momentum and you'll watch the years go by wishing instead of getting up each day with the intention of having fun and letting it happen. This year my June 16 day was filled with such fun. It caused me to think back on my reason to get organized 41 years ago. As I stood on stage, before a packed auditorium as the MC for the show, featuring some of the best singers of barbershop harmony in the world, I thought to myself, 'Because I got organized, this is what I get to do.' I love to make people laugh and there's nothing more fun than to play with an audience and experience a collective dose of joy for everyone. When I was asked to be MC for the big event, I froze. I thought 'I've never been an MC. I'm a public speaker. I do keynote speeches. I'm introduced. I don't introduce.' Because of the silence while I was thinking, the poor man on the other end of the phone call finally said, "If you need some time to think about it, take a few days." That's when Nelly, my inner child who evidently thought I'd be fun (she was behind my reason to get organized), chirped, "No I don't need time to think about it. That sounds like fun!" Faced with something I've never done before, I did what any one would do nowadays, I Googled, HOW TO BE AN MC?! Among other things, I learned that the MC needs to keep the show moving smoothly and that takes ORGANIZATION. Check. Another thing, I would need to be able to do is tastefully evict an act from the stage if it went too long or got boring. That's where these scissors came in real handy. (I found them at a garage sale and Nelly just couldn't pass them up.) And the last thing that sounded important to me (because I've been a member of a bazillion audiences) was to get the audience involved. What Nelly and I came up with was a hit from the moment I explained to the audience what they were going to have to do. Imagine you were in my audience. Here's what I said: "You know how we always clap to welcome an act to the stage? Well I don't want you to clap for each group; instead I will assign a noise for you to make to welcome the act. We can practice one of the sounds because it's a little complicated. Think of an animal on the farm and pick one and when I count to three make the sound of that animal and please don't SAY oink, quack or whinny, please use the sound of the animal and make it sound as real as possible. One, two, three...." The audience literally blew me backwards from the podium! Of course every member of the audience knew how to sing and project their voices in "performance mode." In other words each member of the audience was a performer. I was totally shocked at the sound they created (and so were they). I told them there were too many cows, so if some of the cows could be pigs or ducks it'd sound better the next time we used it. When I introduced each group I gave the sound first so they could think about what they would be doing. The first sound assignment was to howl like wolves and as the audience howled the first quartet onto the stage, the four singers began howling as they walked to their places at the microphone. It was hysterical! We were like a bunch of dogs that howl when they hear a siren and then they get other dogs to chime in. It was so funny to watch and the audience was really thrilled with itself. The sounds I chose were: barnyard, wolves howling, laughter, sounds affiliated with a common cold, the 12th man (Seattle Seahawks have one of the loudest fan bases in the NFL and they call it the 12th man), tongue roll, car sounds and the sounds of a crowd in a western movie when they're going to hang somebody. Everyone was priceless! One of the quartets from LA said to me after the show, "That was the best audience we've ever been in front of!" I truly believe that a lot had to do with them being part of the whole show. They were amazing with their sounds and they were proud of themselves. Many came up to me and said they loved doing the sounds and wondered what the next assignment would be as the show progressed. Fun, fun, fun. That's what life should be. When my reason to get organized was to have more time to play, it was a nice surprise to discover getting organized was fun in itself. Have fun my dear readers! We were born to do it! If you have an event coming up in your city and you need a keynote speaker, please consider Nelly and me. We loved being the MC and setting the tone for the whole show. People need more laughter and I can promise I'll deliver. For more from Pam Young go to www.cluborganized.com. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 800-280-2832 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-18-808069-JB. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holders right's against the real property only. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 800-280-2832 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-18-807788-JB. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the

NOTICE OF PREPARATION OF A DRAFT ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT FOR THE RANCH PROJECT

LEAD AGENCY: City of Rancho Cordova Planning Department
June Cowles, (916) 851-875
2729 Prospect Park Drive
Rancho Cordova, CA 95670

The City of Rancho Cordova (as Lead Agency, hereinafter City) intends to prepare an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for The Ranch project (Project). In accordance with Section 15082 of the CEQA Guidelines, the City has prepared this Notice of Preparation (NOP) to provide responsible agencies and other interested parties with sufficient information describing the Project and its potential environmental effects.

The determination to prepare an EIR was made by the City following preliminary review of the Project. An Initial Study has been prepared, pursuant to CEQA Guidelines Section 15063, which identifies the anticipated environmental effects of the Project. The Initial Study may be viewed at the City of Rancho Cordova City Hall, 2729 Prospect Park Drive; or via the internet at <http://www.cityofranchocordova.org/government/planning/environmental-review/environmental-documents>.

Project Overview
The project is a 530-acre residential community, including approximately 1,375 single family residential units (including 689 age restricted units, up to 120 multifamily units, a 6 acre commercial parcel, a community clubhouse, a park and trail system, open space and supporting infrastructure.

Public Comment Opportunity
As specified by the CEQA Guidelines, the Notice of Preparation shall be circulated for a 30-day review period. The comment period runs from Friday, July 6, 2018 to Monday, August 6, 2018. The City welcomes public input during this review. In the event that no response or request for additional time is received by any responsible agency by the end of the review period, the Lead Agency may presume that the responsible agency has no response [CEQA Guidelines Section 15082(b)(2)].

Comments may be submitted in person at the Scoping Meeting or in writing during the review period and addressed to:

City of Rancho Cordova
Planning Department
c/o June Cowles
2729 Prospect Park Drive
Rancho Cordova, CA 95670

A Scoping Meeting will be held on Thursday, July 26, 2018 at 5:30 p.m. in the Rancho Cordova city Hall, American River South Room, located at 2729 Prospect Park Drive, Rancho Cordova, CA.
Printed in the Grapevine Independent on July 6, 2018.

Sacramento County DA Reports

Defendant Sentenced for Multiple Child Sexual Assaults

DATE: June 19, 2018
CASE: Andrew G. Young Jr. (Case #13F07569)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Brian Morgan, Special Assault & Child Abuse Unit
The Honorable Steven Gevercer sentenced Andrew Young Jr. to 440 years to life in prison. On May 17, 2018, a jury convicted Young of 7 counts of committing lewd and lascivious acts on a minor under the age of 14, and one count of committing a lewd and lascivious act on a minor under the age of 14 with force. The jury also found true that Young had suffered a prior conviction for committing a lewd and lascivious act on a minor under the age of 14. The victim was a family member who was between the ages of 12 and 13 when the sexual assaults were occurring.

Chiropractor Sentenced for Practicing Medicine without License, Grand Theft

DATE: May 30, 2018
CASE: James Joseph Martin (Case #16FE010473)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney David Brown, Consumer & Environmental Protection Division
The Honorable Patrick Marlette sentenced James Joseph Martin to 1 year in jail and 5 years felony probation. Additionally, he was ordered to pay restitution to all victims named in the complaint, required to surrender his chiropractic license and prohibited from portraying himself as someone who practices functional or pastoral medicine. On February 9, 2018, Martin pled guilty to three counts of felony practicing medicine without a license, four counts of felony grand theft by false pretenses and misdemeanor charges of illegally using 'MD' and 'physician' in advertisements. Martin regularly appeared on a local television program, Sac & Co. His infomercials were designed to look like an interview. Martin, a licensed chiropractor, portrayed himself as a functional neurologist who practiced metabolic or pastoral medicine, specializing in treating conditions of the thyroid, neuropathy and other health conditions. Many of Martin's patients thought he was a medical doctor. Martin was prescribing over the counter supplements and then selling them at a significant mark up.

Defendant Pleads to Murder, Sexual Assault of 6-Year-Old Girl

DATE: June 20, 2018
CASE: Juan Rivera & Lisa Burton (Case #15F03256)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Chris Ore, Special Assault & Child Abuse Unit
Juan Rivera pled guilty to murdering 6-year-old Jadiana and the special circumstance he committed the murder while engaged in committing a lewd or lascivious act on her. He also pled guilty to committing lewd acts with a child under 14 years of age. Juan Rivera took custody of Jadiana after he convinced her mother to leave Jadiana for medical reasons. On May 27 and 28 of 2015, Rivera sexually assaulted Jadiana and inflicted blunt force trauma on her, which resulted in her death. Rivera then drove to Glenn County, where he burned Jadiana's body. When he returned to Sacramento, Rivera feigned a seizure before notifying the police that Jadiana had gone missing. Rivera's mother, Lisa Burton, aided her son after the killing by providing him with a stolen vehicle to transport Jadiana's body. On April 21, 2017, Burton pled guilty to being an accessory after the fact to murder and vehicle theft. She was sentenced to 3 years in prison. Rivera will be sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole. Sentencing is set for August 17, 2018, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 21 before the Honorable Steve White.

Defendants Convicted of Attempted Murder, Conspiracy

DATE: June 28, 2018
CASE: Devonta MacDonald & Brittany Gibson (Case # 17FE002558)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Allison Dunham, High Risk Domestic Violence Unit
Devonta MacDonald and Brittany Gibson were convicted by a jury of attempted murder and conspiracy to commit murder with allegations of premeditation and deliberation, use of a firearm discharging of a firearm and causing great bodily injury found true. On February 7, 2017, the victim was walking home from a convenience store in South Sacramento when it appeared his girlfriend, Brittany Gibson, drove up and pulled over alongside of him. When he approached the car, he saw Devonta MacDonald was driving the car with Gibson in the passenger seat. MacDonald is Gibson's ex-boyfriend. After Gibson nodded her head to signal "yes," MacDonald produced a gun and shot the victim six times before driving off. MacDonald then backed up and shot the victim three more times. The victim survived, but suffered life threatening injuries and was hospitalized for more than a month. An allegation that MacDonald suffered a prior strike conviction for robbery will be determined at the sentencing hearing.

MacDonald faces a maximum sentence of 50 years to life in prison. Gibson faces a maximum sentence of 25 years to life in prison. Sentencing for both defendants is set for August 24, 2018, in Department 29 before the Honorable Geoffrey Goodman. This case was prosecuted by the District Attorney's High Risk Domestic Violence Unit through a grant funded by the California Governor's Office of Emergency Services and the Violence Against Women Act. ★

Dave Says

Artistic endeavors

Dear Dave,

I'm retired, and in the past few years I've taken up painting. This hobby has begun bringing in more money than I expected. I was wondering at what point I should start thinking about separating my art money from my personal finances, and look at officially starting a little business.

-Pat

Dear Pat,

I'd do it now. A hobby that makes money is called a business.

Hearing this is scary to some people, but starting a small business doesn't have to be complicated. You can go to your bank, and using your Social Security number, open a sole proprietor checking account. Title the account with your full name, then DBA — doing business as — and the name of your business.

All your art income goes into that account, and any expenses paid where your painting is concerned comes out of that account. After the income goes in, and the expenses come out, what's left is profit. That's what you'll end up paying taxes on. Also, you'll be required to do quarterly estimates and send them to the IRS if you make more than $640 in a quarter. Always remember to always hold back 25 percent for taxes, too, in a separate savings account just for this purpose.

This is really cool, Pat. I think you're on the verge of being very successful!

—Dave

Follow up for peace of mind

Dear Dave,

I've been following your teachings for a while, and I've noticed you advise people to get things in writing when dealing with creditors. Usually, it seems like you're talking about credit cards and things like that when this is mentioned. I finally made my last student loan payment the other day. Do you think it would be a good idea to request a formal statement saying my student loan debt has been completely paid off?

-Andrea

Dear Andrea,

Following up on paid-off debts is always a good idea. It wouldn't hurt to write, and request formal, written confirmation that everything is paid in full. You can do this through email, so you'll have a record of contact, or you can send a certified letter — return receipt requested — through the postal system. That way, you'll have a record they received the letter and signed for it.

It sounds like you spent a lot of time paying off your student loans. After an experience like that, you don't want to have to deal with greedy or dishonest collectors hounding you years down the road, and no way to prove you're free and clear.

Congratulations on finally kicking your student loan debt to the curb, Andrea! It feels awesome, doesn't it?

Early Prison Releases: June 2018 Update

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - As of June 29, 2018, 329 inmates sentenced from Sacramento County have been granted early prison release.

Many of the offenders who are granted early prison release have violent and lengthy criminal histories. District Attorney Anne Marie Schubert feels it is important for the public to be aware of the so-called “nonviolent” offenders being released early from prison into our neighborhoods. Press releases are issued to provide the public with a sampling of recent noteworthy offenders, including:

Gang Member Convicted of Robbery, Possessing Firearm (Montreal Curry – Case #16FE021608) – Curry was a validated Meadowview Bloods criminal street gang member. In 2008, he was convicted of robbery and received a 4-year state prison sentence. In his current 2016 commitment offense, Curry was driving with his girlfriend when police stopped them for a vehicle code violation. Curry handed an American Arms .22 caliber folding revolver to his girlfriend. This firearm was very small, very concealable, and very dangerous. Curry then exited the vehicle, against officer commands, to give his girlfriend a distraction and time to stash the revolver. Curry continued to ignore officer commands until he was handcuffed and detained. The revolver was eventually located during a consent search of his girlfriend’s purse. His girlfriend stated that Curry gave the revolver to her to hide because he was on probation at the time. Curry was convicted of being a felon in possession of a firearm and was sentenced to 3 years and 8 months in state prison. Curry’s past robbery conviction, his continued desire to arm himself and his association with gangs is a dangerous combination. The Board of Prison Hearings found this inmate to be a nonviolent offender who does not pose an unreasonable risk of violence to the community and granted release on March 29, 2018.

Career Criminal With Convictions for Assault with a Deadly Weapon (Joseph Sanchez – Case #17FE001117) – In 2005 and 2009, Sanchez was convicted of assault with a deadly weapon likely to produce great bodily injury. In 2013 and 2014, he was convicted of first-degree residential burglaries. The 2013 burglary conviction is intertwined with his 2009 conviction for the felony assault. In that case, the victim broke up with Sanchez after a brief relationship. During the relationship, Sanchez committed violent acts against her. The victim contacted police and Sanchez’s parole agent to inform them of the crimes. As a result of the victim reporting the crimes to authorities, Sanchez broke into her house and threatened to kill her. He then proceeded to punch her in the face multiple times and choked her until she was unconscious. Sanchez imprisoned the victim in her own home and she was only able to escape when her friend came over the next morning. The victim’s eyes, nose and ears were swollen and bruised from the attack. Sanchez served three years in prison for this attack, but his prison sentence was not the end of the terror for this particular victim. Sanchez’s violent behavior towards this victim continued in 2012 after he was released from prison. Sanchez broke into the victim’s home again and ransacked it, stole items, urinated on her bed and spray painted on her wall, “[Victim] is a fake ho.” He was sentenced to four years in prison for that offense. In his current case, officers stopped Sanchez for driving a stolen vehicle with his 10-month-old daughter in the back seat. He was convicted of vehicle theft and sentenced to 44 months in prison. Sanchez’s criminal history includes six felony convictions. He also has multiple misdemeanor convictions, including battery, and parole and probation violations. The Board of Prison Hearings found this inmate to be a non-violent offender who does not pose an unreasonable risk of violence to the community and granted release on May 22, 2018.

Inmate with History of Offenses, Parole and Prison Violations (Joseph Duckett – Case #11F07674) – In 2001, Duckett was convicted of robbery and attempted carjacking and was sentenced to 71 months in state prison. In that case, he accosted a 52-year-old woman at gunpoint and demanded she give him her car keys. Fearing that she would be shot, the victim gave the keys to Duckett. As he attempted to start the victim’s car, the victim fled into a bar and called for help. In 2008, Duckett was convicted of possession of a controlled substance. While serving his second prison sentence for this conviction, he was convicted of possessing a weapon at Folsom State Prison in 2011. In that case, Duckett tried to evade a corrections officer and was later found to have an inmate manufactured weapon in his sock. He has also had a number of prison violations, including mutual combat, disobeying orders and conduct that could lead to violence. Duckett has been convicted of a crime or been in state prison every year since 1997 when he was 21 years old. Additional convictions include domestic violence, resisting arrest, carrying a concealed weapon, providing false ID to police and possession of marijuana for sale. The Board of Prison Hearings found this inmate to be a nonviolent offender who does not pose an unreasonable risk of violence to the community and granted release on May 29, 2018.

Early Prison Release Laws & Procedures:

In January 2015, the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation began a new parole determination process after a federal court ordered California to reduce prison overcrowding. As a result, inmates characterized as “non-violent second-strikers” (NVSS) became eligible for early parole. In November 2016, Proposition 57 was then passed with the promise that “nonviolent” inmates who “turn their lives around” in prison could also earn early parole under a new “nonviolent parole review” (NVPR).

Qualifying NVSS and NVPR inmates must not currently be serving a sentence for a crime legally categorized as a violent felony and must not be required to register as sex offenders. NVSS inmates must have served (or be within 12 months of serving) only 50 percent of their sentence, while NVPR inmates may be paroled after serving the base term for the principal offense and may earn additional conduct credits.

The Board of Prison Hearings (BPH) determines whether NVSS or NVPR offenders would pose an unreasonable risk of violence to the community based on a paper review of prior criminal history, facts of the current commitment offense, behavior in prison, rehabilitation efforts, whether the inmate has any medical condition which might affect the ability to re-offend, and written statements.

Unlike parole hearings - where the prosecution, defense attorney, and victim may appear - there is no public hearing for these BPH administrative reviews. Additionally, no evidence-based risk assessment is conducted prior to consideration of early release to indicate an inmate’s safety risk.

The Sacramento County District Attorney’s Office takes an active role in evaluating NVSS and NVPR cases. For inmates who appear to pose a danger to the public, the office writes opposition letters to BPH with an overview of the inmate’s criminal history and current commitment offense, and an opinion on the public safety risk if an inmate is granted early release. NVPR cases are especially concerning since prosecutors are denied access to records of the inmate’s behavior behind bars, which is critical to rehabilitation, and do not have a right to appeal an early parole decision.

Information about more of these inmates can be found on the Early Prison Releases webpage at www.sacda.org/early-prison-releases.
