Kids Get to Explore at Meet the Machines

By Alyssa Rasmussen, CRPD

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Even at the new location, Hagan Community Park, Cordova Recreation and Park District's Meet the Machines event keeps getting better and better each year. This year, children from the district and beyond could explore, and – to varying degrees – interact with, more than twenty mighty machines. From a hot air balloon where 'riders' could ignite the burner, to a CHP Patrol car where children could sound the siren, the event was great for the curious child.

Outside of vehicle exploration, children were invited to jump into the trike course, scale the rock climbing wall, have their face painted, ride trains around a ziggling and zagging course, and enter the District's logo contest for the 2019 event. Also, the District gave away beach balls stamped with its 60th anniversary logo. The beach balls created a whirl-wind of fun as a pressure blower shot the balls repeatedly into the air, delighting the kids with the thrill of the chase.

The sponsorship of local businesses helps make the event possible. This year, the community has five local organizations – Folsom Ready Mix, Republic Services, Sacramento Area Sewer District, Smile Kingdom Dental, and KP International Market – to thank. And to the 1,500 machine-lovers that made it out and enjoyed the event: hope to see you again next year! ★

With a showbiz bride at the altar, Hollywood did indeed meet Holyrood. But what really defined this event was an unapologetic decree that multi-culturalism rules in a marriage that represents the state of Britain's Commonwealth. Stunning in Givenchy, a mixed-race bride strode the aisle alone. She was not property to be given

Meghan's path to a splendid marriage was strewn with carpet tacks rather than rose petals. She hails from a crisis-prone clan. She's American and divorced. If this was enough to rule out Wallace Simpson as a royal bride in 1936, family baggage is now more common than coronets among Windsor ranks. She might be an actress but the happiness she has brought to the Queen's once-troubled grandson is no act – Harry's wedding day tears were real. Moreover, the bride promises to be a stunning weapon for Windsor popularity. The arcane tradition of divine right survives only through adaptability and the new duke and duchess will help make royalty relevant to millions. As an actress, Meghan will smile and charm her way through a life-sentence of tedium; as humanitarians who bring attention and energy to

So, Meaghan may borrow Queen Mary's tiara any time she likes. The Windsors will bend over on arriere to avoid mistakes that alienated a previous people's princess. In his address, Episcopalian Bishop Michael Curry contended love was a fire – if harnessed – that could change the world. If the Sussex marriage is good, Meghan and Harry's love might just do that. Wish them well. ★

This is a proposition about how the legislature can spend new gas tax dollars and was negotiated as part of the gas tax increase. It exempts gas taxes as part of the state spending limits, effectively letting the state spend more than currently allowed by the constitution. It also allows gas tax dollars to pay for bond debt rather than fixing roads. Vote no, and join us to repeal the new and completely unnecessary gas tax this fall.

Cordova Recreation and Park District’s Day of Service Volunteers Help Create Beautiful and Tree-Filled Parks

By Alyssa Rasmussen,
CRPD

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Volunteers arrived with energy and enthusiasm to serve their community at Cordova Recreation and Park District’s Day of Service events on Saturday, May 5. Over the span of only a couple of hours, each group made a big difference at both Hagan and Rosemont Community Parks.

Rosemont community members, with guidance and donations from the Sacramento Tree Foundation, planted eight trees that will grow to provide shade for future park-goers. Community member Gary Vorce and his planting crew named their tree ‘Five, Five, Fifty-Five.’ It commemorates the date the tree was planted, May 5, and – incidentally on the same day – Vorce’s fifty-fifth birthday.

“Being a part of the community truly makes your community home. It means a lot to me to work side-by-side with my neighbors and to add to the scenic beauty of the parks. Years from now, the families that planted a tree can bring future generations to the tree they planted and named,” he said.

Another tree was named ‘Zara’ after a young woman that helped to plant it. Yet another was given the moniker ‘The Hughes’ Tree’ after the family of seven that worked together cheerfully to plant it.

At Hagan Community Park, community members spread throughout the park to collect trash and to apply fresh paint to roads and signs. Mom, Katia, worked with her daughter, Sheccid, to repaint the road that serves as an entrance to the park. “I want my kids to know what it is to give back and to be part of the community,” Katia shared.

Though the District has held Day of Service events in past years, this year was special. It offered those involved the opportunity to celebrate the District’s 60th birthday by giving our parks the gift of their care. Thank you Cordova Recreation and Park District community members, we are thankful! ★

By Bob McGarvey

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Next Monday will be Memorial Day, the day in which we remember that our veterans and their families gave more than can be measured in giving everyone in this country the freedoms and liberties which we hold dear. Too many generations of today don't think of what Memorial Day really is, except that it's a day off of work or school, or sales before the sale on the Fourth of July. For those who have given years of their lives in service, and the others who have given their lives, thank you for what you have done. Many do remember!

Our lives move on with both big and little things which seem to be necessary to do, but on occasion, they are more than just responsibilities we have to do. Such as the time it takes to go through the Community Enhancement Fund requests. When they are all completed, we wish we could do everything for all, but unfortunately, that very seldom happens. When we started the public meetings in January 2015 and said the City Council and our staff were going to learn how rich the people of Rancho Cordova's minds are, we asked them how they wanted to spend their tax money and they were almost flabbergasted. But we were serious then and are serious now about residents sharing their ideas with the City. For now, all I can say is thank you for all you have given us with your wonderful thoughts and plans. On Monday, we finished this year's Community Enhancement Fund plans. At the June 4, 2018 City Council meeting, a Resolution will go to the City Council for approval to establish budget amounts for the fiscal year 2018/2019 community grant projects and programs, City department projects and programs, and legacy projects for the Community Enhancement Fund; it will also establish next steps regarding project implementation. Keep up with the ideas and thoughts for next year.

At Monday's City Council meeting, we received a report from the Sacramento-Yolo Mosquito & Vector Control District's District Manager, Gary Goodman. I represent our City of Rancho Cordova at the District meetings, and I was very glad that Gary was here to update everyone about the progress they have made, and also how important it is every day to watch out and protect yourselves from mosquitos. They carry the West Nile Virus, which mosquitoes pick up when they bite birds that are infected. Some people just feel like they have a cold or a light touch of the flu, but on occasion, a person responds much harder and can be affected for their lives from the West Nile Virus. There has been one person this year who died from that virus. So use the mosquito repellents that I have asked the District to bring to our City Hall. This coming Friday, June 1 will be the first free movie in the park, so be sure you pick up the freerepelent at your City Hall.

All of us have a chance to let a person say how glad we are to know them. That is whether it is a family member, a friend, or an employee who may have their day made if you just let them know. John Ashcroft said, "The worst mistake a boss can make is not to say 'well done.'" That would be a surprise to a child if it would be Mom or Dad who told them that.

From Vice Mayor Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

Water Supply Allocation Increases Slightly for State Water Contractors

By Department of Water Resources

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - The California Department of Water Resources (DWR) today increased the State Water Project (SWP) allocation for 2018 to 35 percent – up slightly from the 30 percent allocation announced in April.

In December, SWP contractors were notified of an initial 15 percent allocation that was later raised to 20 percent in January.

"Late season rain and snow in March and April salvaged what would have been a severely dry year, which allows us to make this slight increase in allocation," said DWR Director Karla Nemeth. "Our water storage is currently in fair condition, but the state's snowpack is still low, so Californians need to continue to embrace water conservation as a crucial part of our lifestyle."

The statewide snow water content dropped from 44 percent of average today. Snowpack accumulation for the year is well below average because warm temperatures brought more rain than snow in the Northern Sierra.

Snow water content and reservoir storage are among several factors used in determining allocations. Most of the state's major reservoir levels continue to be above their historical averages, but lower in percentage of capacity today than last month. San Luis Reservoir, the largest off-stream reservoir in the United States where water is stored for the SWP and Central Valley Project (CVP), is at 79 percent of capacity. Shasta Lake, the CVP's largest reservoir, is at 89 percent of capacity. Lake Oroville and New Melones Lake are at 69 percent and 83 percent of capacity, respectively.

DWR transports SWP water to 29 SWP contractors who serve more than 27 million Californians and about 750,000 acres of farmland. A 35 percent allocation amounts to 1,481,685 acre-feet of water.

DWR's California Data Exchange Center website provides current water conditions at the state's largest reservoirs and weather stations and measures current rain and snow precipitation.

The Force Holding Animal Abusers Accountable

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)
- Animal abuse, neglect and cruelty is more prevalent in our region than most people know. Local animal regulation agencies work cases every day, pulling animals out of precarious living conditions or caring for animals that were victims of abuse or neglect.

One of the most popular recent situations was the puppy Thomas, found on the side of the road – clearly injured. X-rays showed he had been struck in the skull with a blunt object, shattering his skull causing severe injury to his head and eyes.

The Bradshaw Animal Shelter,

where Thomas was brought by a kind citizen after finding him, immediately began lifesaving treatment to manage his pain and treat the infection spreading in his body. Meanwhile, the shelter went public with Thomas’s story – asking for any information about Thomas. No one came forward with information and Thomas’s abuse/cruelty case is still unsolved.

The good news is that through the generosity of the shelter’s non-profit, T.E.A.M. (Teaching everyone Animals Matter), Thomas was able to get brain surgery and is now living a nearly normal life.

Thomas is just one example of hundreds the area animal shelters see every year. Because of the serious nature of the crimes seen, the Sacramento County District Attorney’s office launched an Animal Cruelty Task Force – comprised of representatives from each animal shelter in Sacramento County and the Sheriff and Police Departments.

Together, these agencies are working to identify, investigate and prosecute those responsible for abuse, neglect and cruelty to animals. Research shows that the link between animal abuse and crimes committed against persons is strong. Often, animal abuse is a gateway to crimes against humanity. With the help of the task force, Sacramento County Deputy District Attorney Hilary Bagley is looking to put a stop to this progressively violent behavior.

Deputy District Attorney Hilary Bagley on why she felt this task force collaborative was critical:

“For too many years in Sacramento it has been the worst of scenarios for animals. Prosecution relies on both law enforcement and animal control to make animal abuse investigation more of a priority within their agencies.

Law Enforcement more often than not, doesn’t receive training in animal abuse. Like any other crime, animal abuse constitutes violations of the Penal Code and law enforcement is responsible for investigating them.

At the same time Animal Control agencies have lacked training their officers as investigators. The officers all need to develop the ability to take statements, write reports and understand their responsibilities to develop and investigate cases. Our community expects that both animal care and law enforcement officers are performing their duties so that violators are accountable.

We have formed the task force to unite these agencies, share successes and learn from failures. Many on the force share an affinity for animals. We can only improve by communication, working together and joining all forces.”

The Animal Cruelty Task Force is just one example of progressive collaboration efforts across County agencies and across jurisdictional lines – all with the goal of creating a Sacramento County we all love.

Slim Randles’ HOME COUNTRY

It was just one of those things. It didn’t really mean Marvin Pincus had lost his mind. Consider this yourself for a minute. Marvin had opened the mail that morning and in it was the Fenwick glass fly rod he’d ordered. Oh, it was used, of course. But there’s a feel to a Fenwick that only a man dedicated to a life of using dry flies can appreciate.

The weather was gorgeous. The fish were biting on Lewis Creek. But there was a hitch. Marvin had broken his ankle the previous week and was temporarily in a wheelchair. It was his right ankle, so he couldn’t drive down to the creek. And there, in his hands, was the Fenwick. He put it together, attached a reel and some four-weight line and set it on the couch and looked at it.

Marjorie was off visiting her sister, so she couldn’t help him. But there’s a pull, an irresistible draw to a fly rod. He had to cast it.

Now. It took Marvin about 20 minutes to negotiate the front steps with that wheelchair and the Fenwick. Oh, he could’ve called a friend to help him, but how could he possibly explain why?

Finally, he negotiated the sidewalk and then the edge of the street itself. There were no cars coming this early afternoon.

Up came the Fenwick. A few swishes in the air told Marvin he’d done the right thing in ordering the rod. So he ran out some line and began casting. About halfway across the street was a large mulberry leaf. He did a double haul on the line and sent the fly toward the leaf. It took several tries before he hit it, but when he made that cast, you could’ve sold tickets to it. His fly came to rest about three feet above the leaf and then fluttered gently down onto its target. Marvin’s smile said it all.

Then the school bus came around the corner full of kids heading home, and Marvin realized he was casting a fly rod from a wheelchair onto dry pavement.

“Hi Mr. Pincus!” yelled one of the kids. “Catch anything?” “A little slow today, Billy,” he yelled back. “Isn’t it hard to catch fish without water?” Billy yelled. “It’s okay, son,” Marvin said with a grin. “I’m using a dry fly!”

FAIR OAKS CEMETERY

MEMORIAL DAY EVENT

★ SATURDAY, MAY 26th, 2018 @ 10:00AM ★

Military Chaplains

The Fair Oaks Cemetery District and the Memorial Day Ceremony Committee are finalizing plans for one of the most popular and inspiring Memorial Day events in the area.

The twentieth Annual Memorial Day and Avenue of Flags Ceremony will be held on Saturday, May 26th, at Fair Oaks Cemetery, located at 7780 Olive St., Fair Oaks. The formal ceremonies begin at 10 a.m.

This year's theme is to honor our Military Chaplains from all wars. Some of the first chaplains were appointed in the late 1800's. Many more were commissioned during World War II. More than 400 chaplains have died while serving in the U.S. military.

The Chairman of the Fair Oaks Cemetery District's Memorial Day Committee, Bob Clouse, will be the Master of Ceremonies. The main speaker(s) will focus on the history and facts of the United States Military Chaplains.

The Fair Oaks Cemetery will be decorated with over 400 American flags lining its roadways as "The Avenue of Flags". We will also be adding more names to the Veterans Memorial Wall.

The laying of the wreath at the Memorial, in honor of over 1800 Veterans who are buried in the cemetery, will be done by VFW Post 6158 and American Legion Post 383.

The musical program will consist of Pipers, a Drummer, and recorded music provided by a local Disc Jockey. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the ceremony, provided by the Orangevale/Fair Oaks Grange and the Fair Oaks Historical Society.

The Fair Oaks Cemetery's Memorial Day Ceremony is a fine example of how we, the community, remember our loved ones and say thank you to our Veterans and their families for their sacrifices.

are no more than 25 percent of their monthly take home pay. In this situation, you could save like crazy for a couple of years and make a big down payment on a home in the price range you're talking about. Then, you could pay off that house in just 15 years.

Save up, or get a mortgage?

Dear Dave,
I'm 28, single, and I just became debt-free. In addition, I make $70,000 a year and have the equivalent of six months of expenses set aside for emergencies. Should I save up to pay cash for a house, or is mortgage debt okay? I'd like to keep the price of a new home between $200,000 and $225,000. Since I currently live in a nice apartment, I think I can save about $20,000 a year. What do you think?

-Kathryn

Dear Kathryn,
It sounds like you're in great financial shape. Congratulations on becoming debt-free!

Let's take a look at both scenarios. If you can save $20,000 a year, that means you're about 10 years away from a nice, paid-for home, and you're still debt-free. That's one option. At the same time, I don't yell at people for taking out a 15-year, fixed-rate mortgage, where the payments

I honestly don't have a problem with either solution, Kathryn, but think about this. Wouldn't it be great to have your own home, and still be completely debt-free, at 40? It's something to think about!

—Dave

Stand up to them!

Dear Dave,
A debt collection agency started calling my office a few weeks ago. I gave them an initial payment, and made an agreement to pay off the debt in monthly installments. This morning, they started calling me at my office again wanting payment. Can I legally demand they not call me at my place of employment?

- James

Dear James,
Absolutely! You have a legal and moral obligation to pay your debts, and I'm glad this is something you recognize. But collectors have rules they must follow. They're governed by law just like everyone else.

Be certain to keep your end of the agreement. Make your payments on time, or early, whenever possible. Then, if they call you at work again, remind them of your initial payment and the terms of the agreement already in place. Be polite, but firm, and demand that they never call you at your office again.

In addition, send them a certified letter, return receipt requested, so you'll have proof you sent the letter and they received it. In the letter, let them know that — according to guidelines set forth in the Federal Fair Debt Collection Practices Act — you are demanding they not call you at your office again.

If they call you there after receiving this formal demand to stop, they'll be in violation of federal law. If that happens, let them know you'll talk to a lawyer and sue them.

Fun, Family, Friends & Fitness!

Gold River is acclaimed for being the most gracious hosts and throwing the best Pool Parties. Photo by Tom Jones

By Jan Float

GOLD RIVER, CA (MPG) - Can you name another sport that combines all of these in a single all-hands-on-deck venue? Trite but oh-so-true: It Takes a Village. Accordingly, Gold River has named its village “Stingrays Nation.” Without parental volunteers, running around in their various capacities, neither would there be a nation nor a team. From poolside, parents take a time-out to watch their children swim their hearts out. Talk about hubbub -- fun-filled, family-oriented, friends-animated, fitness-at-its-finest!

Gold River is acclaimed for being the most gracious hosts and throwing the best Pool Parties. After opening their gates, opponents are warmly greeted and shown around Stingrays’ Nation. Cue craziness: Check-ins, tents set up, gear unpacked, electronics checked -- a flurry of actions to settle in and begin the day. Both teams then take a patriotic pause, place hands over hearts, and enjoy a Stingrays’ solo/duet/trio singing poignant renditions of the Star-Spangled Banner. All swimmers warm-up [wake up] their bodies; “WE BELIEVE” cheers galvanize the masses; the referee, starter, timers, stroke-and-turn judges, age-group parents and others take their marks; witty announcers start broadcasting; and athletes are off to the races!

Throughout the meet, bee-bopping tunes blare, coaches high-five swimmers, computer wizards generate results, the team photographer snaps away, swimmers are led to ready benches, hospitality serves snacks and drinks to officials, ribbons are labeled, gold-silver-bronze incentives are distributed, yummy snow-cones are custom made, burgers and hotdogs fly off the BBQ. It’s a whirling dervish of Fun, Family, Friends & Fitness activity. Stingrays’ Spirit is so rampant that a few seasons back, rehearsed adults surprised the crowd with a join-in Flash Mob ... busting out some decent moves to Michael Jackson’s Thriller! Okay. Michael was admittedly somewhat better.

Emulating the team’s announcers, “Here’s introducing the Kronbetter Family!” Mike, Laura, and their happy swimmers, Alexa and Luke, serve as prime examples of life within Stingrays Nation. This fun foursome always jumps right in, contributing to the joy, laughter and all-round camaraderie. As the 7-8 boys age-group parent, Laura corrals up this rambunctious group and ensures they’re on the ready bench for their next event, each boy with cap and goggles in hand and on head. Mike and Laura understand that young athletes learn to set goals, reach their potentials, and rack up personal-best stats. 11-year-old Alexa and Luke, at age eight, benefit from these priorities at home and as team members.

After establishing their faster-than-expected seed times on May 5, including an astonishing 201 Personal Bests, Stingrays Nation opened those gates to Arden Hills the following week. These two teams aren’t exactly rivals. They BELIEVE as Gold River does: It’s all about Fun, Families, Friends & Fitness. By a narrow margin, 37 points, the Stingrays were in for the win.

After Championships in July, those who hit rigid time standards compete in the grand finale, August’s Meet of Champs. Here in Meet No. 1, from a small-but-mighty roster of 127 Stingrays, 20 made the cut. Stingrays Nation has a jam-packed June (five meets and four social events). Whew! Fun, Family, Friends & Fitness. With this schedule, there will be much to report next month! ★

Gala to Aid Nature Centre Parkway Gem Hosts Annual June Fundraiser

Canvases donated by high profile Sacramento artists like Pat Mahony (left), Marcy Friedman and Boyd Gavin will be among art auctioned for the benefit of the Effie Yeaw Nature Center. Judges awarded sculptor Sandy Whetstone (at right) the Best of Show prize for her creation called “Leda and the Swan.” The Wild Things exhibition can be previewed at Sacramento Fine Arts Center in Carmichael.

CARMICHAEL, CA (MPG) - Now in its ninth year operating as a non-profit, the Effie Yeaw Nature Center is preparing for its “Art Where the Wild Things Are” fundraiser with new patronage. As honorary chair, Pat Mahony Getz and her husband Randy follow such luminaries as Magazine publisher Cecily Hastings, artists Marcy Friedman and Greg Kondos, Congresswoman Doris Matsui and the late Russ Solomon.

Administered by the American River Natural History Association, the facility and its preserve welcome almost 100,000 visitors per year. “The Center has a special history in this community,” notes retired Effie Yeaw executive Betty Cooper. “Caring supporters keep us open and available for future generations.” Part of the funds raised on June 9 will provide free nature enrichment programs for schools that could not otherwise afford them.

The Sacramento Fine Arts Center is a vital gala partner and an art show that supports the fundraiser and offers work from throughout Sacramento. Jurists are artists Marcy Friedman and Boyd Gavin. Celebrity artists contributing this year include Jian Wang, Pat Mahony, Boyd Gavin, David Peterson, Gregory Kondos, Maria Winkler and Terry Pappas. Celebrated landscapist Earl Boley will be remembered with a canvas donated by his widow, Susan Leith. Keith McLane of KLM Auctions will wield the gavel. Silent auctions will offer more award-winning work. From May 15, these can be viewed in a free “Art Where the Wild Things Are” exhibition at the Fine Arts Center (Gibbons Drive), Carmichael. This year’s selection includes several entries by nature photographers.

A sunset supper and beverages are part of the $100 per person gala admission, which runs from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Nature Center in Ancil Hoffman Park. Valet parking is free. Table sponsors are welcome. For information on the event, visit www.sacnaturecenter.net.

To learn about the Sacramento Fine Arts exhibition, visit www.sacfinearts.org. “Lake bottom” by Boyd Gavin and a study of Carmichael creek by Jian Wang are among VIP donations to be auctioned at the June 9 gala. ★
