Supporting Disaster Relief

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Giving to those who are in real need of relief comes from many places. In Rancho Cordova, it came from KP International Markets last week. Shoppers, employees and management alike worked to raise funds for those who were impacted by the recent fires in the region.

Byong Joo Yu, President of the company said in a meeting with Red Cross representatives “We have been donating for many years. It is what we do as a company. We like to help others.”

When the California fires hit the north state KP International began collecting funds for the Red Cross relief fund at their registers. Shoppers donated to the cause and the store raised $3,000. The check was given to the Red Cross on November 16th.

The Red Cross offers many local programs where they work in the community to create more awareness and preparedness. One such program is the fire alarm installation program which is available to both home owners and renters who may not be able to afford in-home smoke detectors. Red Cross volunteers will even make an appointment with the resident to come out and perform the installation. There are also many other programs available, and getting the word out to smaller neighborhoods where there are some language barriers has been a recent Red Cross challenge. They simply do not have the local staff of volunteers who can help with all the translation skills needed to best prepare everyone.

The Red Cross faces disaster relief challenges every day. Locally they are working hard to build upon their growing volunteer base to offer more within smaller neighborhoods to head off smaller disasters.

“There is a disaster cycle, and we do what we can to stay out in front of it with our many programs” said Gary Strong, Chief Executive Officer for the Gold Country Region of the Red Cross.

Most donations go to help with crisis funding. “With all the disasters lately the Red Cross has been in the news a lot. People donated such much for the hurricanes, and then we had to ask for more because of the California fires. Everything helps” Strong said.

“We are looking to do more with our outreach to let the community know what we have to offer” said Kris Kirkpatrick, Chief Development Officer for the Red Cross. During the meeting she outlined many ways that they would like to reach the different cultures of Rancho Cordova, especially with fire drill training.

If you would like to know more about volunteering, specifically if you can offer language translation skills to your neighbors, contact the Red Cross at www.RedCross.org/GoldCountry or contact Kris Kirkpatrick at (916) 993-7072. ★

Santas Needed to Fill Holiday Stockings

You Can Help Formerly
Homeless Women and Children

By Kristin Thébaud

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - Local residents can bring smiles to formerly homeless women and children this holiday season by contributing to Women’s Empowerment’s annual Holiday Stocking Drive. The group is seeking 250 unstuffed stockings and specific fillers for local infants and toddlers, children, teens and adult women.

Laura, a graduate of Women’s Empowerment, and her children receive holiday stockings donated by the community for women and children who were recently homeless.

“The women and children in our program have known the coldest, loneliest holiday seasons. The community’s simple gift of stockings brings immeasurable joy along with warm winter accessories as they celebrate their first holiday season in a home they can call their own,” said Lisa Culp, executive director, Women’s Empowerment.

For the list of items needed, visit www.womens-empowerment.org. Those interested also can donate $35 to have a volunteer elf fill a stocking or donate $15 Target gift cards. Items are needed by Dec. 6 and can be dropped off at 1590 North A Street, Sacramento.

The award-winning organization has graduated 1,457 homeless women and their 3,500 children. Last year, 92 percent of graduates found homes and 81 percent found jobs or enrolled in school or training. The program combines self-esteem courses, job training, health classes and support services to help homeless women across diverse ages, races and cultures.

Women’s Empowerment is funded through private donations from the community and receives no government funding except for in-kind rent from the County of Sacramento. To make a donation, visit www.womens-empowerment.org.

Operation Gobble Provides for Others

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - California State Assembly Member Ken Cooley and two water companies serving his district – Golden State Water Company and California American Water – provided 450 turkeys with a combined weight of more than two tons to local non-profits as part of the 27th annual “Operation Gobble” program. The turkeys were distributed at his district office on Tuesday, Nov. 21, to approximately 21 organizations including the St. John’s Homeless Shelter, the North Highlands Community Church and the Rancho Cordova Food Closet.

“Operation Gobble” is a charitable joint-venture between California water companies and elected officials and is set to deliver thousands of turkeys to families and individuals with limited resources throughout the

Grinch, Children, Puppets, Headliner, Orchestra and Chorus Star in SCSO's December Celebration at Memorial Auditorium

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - SCSO Conductor Donald Kendrick and the Sacramento Choral Society & Orchestra are once again setting a joyful scene for their magical Wells Fargo Home for the Holidays celebration in downtown Sacramento. This premier Christmas celebration has become a standing-room only area tradition when families converge in Sacramento's venerable landmark Memorial Auditorium (15th & J Street) to salute the season in fine style.

You Spoke – The SCSO Listened
“Last year’s inaugural matinée concert played to a full house so we are definitely running a 2 PM matinée performance again this year on Saturday, December 9,” says SCSO Marketing Director Jeannie Brown. “That will be followed by a 7:30 PM evening performance to accommodate our loyal patrons.”

SCSO attendees also requested that the Grinch and the life-size Puppets return to regale children young and old at this year’s events. Christopher Cooke and the Green Valley Theater Company will once again create the puppet magic and baritone Matt Hanscom will once again make Dr. Seuss’ The Grinch Who Stole Christmas jump off the page and into the hearts of the audience. (As an aside, it’s hard to believe that The Grinch is celebrating its 60th birthday this year.)

The SCSO is once again proud to partner with Wells Fargo to help Sacramento area families celebrate the season in a meaningful way. “It is our pleasure to collaborate with Wells Fargo to offer such an exciting choral orchestral program to so many people,” says Board President James McCormick. Wells Fargo and the SCSO are partnering to offer tickets for the underprivileged and for Veterans. “Sacramento’s venerable Memorial Auditorium was built in 1927 and it is celebrating it’s 90th birthday this year. The performance venue was dedicated to Veterans back in 1927, so our Veterans and their Families feel a special kinship for this Sacramento landmark” says SCSO Board Member Amanda Johnson.

The SCSO is enjoying a strong collaboration with KVIE for their December 9th performances and their PBS documentary is gaining lots of airtime leading up to the concerts. “We also have a close partnership with Make-A-Wish this year,” says Board Member Jeannie Brown. “We hope to grant not one but three wishes for our young stars at this year’s performances.

SCSO Artistic Director Donald Kendrick has added some extra special magic for children young and old at their December 9th performances. Says Kendrick, “People love to hear stories at Christmas and we intend to share a stunning arrangement of American composer Randol Alan Bass’ The Night Before Christmas featuring the orchestra and narrator Matt Hanscom.

“The warm atmosphere created by Memorial Auditorium’s u-shaped seating plan fosters a very strong sense of community at the concert itself. For most people attending, witnessing the power of such a large chorus and orchestra, and even singing along with the orchestra on the second half of the program leaves an indelible impression, one sparkling with hope and joy,” says

SCSO Board Member Derek LaCrone.

SCSO Conductor Donald Kendrick has once again drawn together another refreshing and sparkling program designed to capture the magic and spirit of the season, providing seasonal surprises and merriment for the whole family. “We are working hard to provide a festive and celebratory mood for our Wells Fargo Home for the Holidays concert as we plan to welcome families who come together to celebrate this joyful season,” says SCSO Conductor Donald Kendrick. “It is a time to experience a wonderful sense of old-fashioned community and camaraderie brought about by the thrilling music of the season.”

Music, Mystery, Children, Guest Artist and Narrator, Audience Singalong

The concert’s special guests will once again be the Sacramento Children’s Chorus under their new director Alexander Grambow. The program begins with a sense of mystery in darkness with the entire large 180-voice combined SCSO/SCC Choruses surrounding the audience with candles in the first balcony, singing a cappella from memory. This sound around effect is stunning and moving for both the performers and audience members alike,” says SCSO patron Lynn Estabrook. “The candlelit procession to the stage during Leroy Anderson’s Christmas Festival will make for a magical opening to our performance.” Following the intermission, the large audience will rise to its feet and fill Sacramento’s Memorial Auditorium with a joyful noise when they join Kendrick and the large SCSO Chorus and orchestra in an exciting audience singalong. “The sound of such a large chorus and the looks of inspiration and joy on people’s faces during the sing along really add to the sense of community that great music brings to us all,” says SCSO Bass Zane Brown.

Kendrick has once again chosen a mixture of outstanding choral orchestral works celebrating the true meaning of Christmas, a mixture of traditional carols that people have come to love tinged with new arrangements by such well respected composers as British composer John Rutter and young American composer Barlow Bradford along with a stunning arrangement of Robert Wendel’s Holiday Greetings. Baritone Matt Hanscom will serve as the SCSO’s headliner, rounding out the evening with solos in arrangements by Randol Alan Bass, Matthew Naughtin and Robert Wendel.

Christmas CDs Available at the December 9th Performance

The SCSO’s December 9th performances will offer patrons an opportunity take the SCSO’s Christmas CDs - great stocking stuffers - home with them. “Nothing compares to the joy that live music brings, especially at Christmas,” says SCSO Alto Tonia Hagaman. “Our large orchestra excels in these sparkling arrangements that Don serves up and the energy on stage is definitely contagious.

Come celebrate the true spirit of the Christmas season at the SCSO’s 2017 Wells Fargo Home for the Holidays performances at the Memorial Auditorium in Sacramento. We guarantee merriment.

Police Use Bait Packages to Deter Holiday Crime

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - In a press conference held at the Rancho Cordova Police Department, Chief of Police Chris Pittman announced that between 2011 and 2016, Rancho Cordova realized a 31.5% reduction in crime after adjustment for population growth. The figures are derived from the Uniform Crime Report, compiled by the FBI from data submitted by law enforcement agencies across the United States. “When we look at Rancho specifically, we were the largest drop since 2011 in the region,” Pittman said. “So for us that was a very good sign that we’re doing things right.”

In 2015 Rancho Cordova police enacted several major programs that contributed to the reduction in crime. “One was intelligence led policing, a way of community oriented policing but smart, using crime analysts’ data to determine crime trends,” Pittman said. “We also enacted the Crime Suppression Unit here in Rancho Cordova.” The CSU, a four member team led by Sergeant Michael Robertson, focuses on high crime areas. Those areas are determined by calls for service and by intelligence, with the goal of taking a proactive approach to law enforcement rather than reactive.

This is the third year the CSU team is using the bait package program. That involves placing what appear to be normally delivered packages on selected porches in the community. If the package is stolen, police can track it with a GPS system similar to your phone and catch the person who stole the package. Rancho Cordova averages about five reported thefts of this type a year, and police had one or two arrests per year over the last couple of years. “Nationwide, statistics show that during this time of the year package thefts go up so we’re trying to be ahead of that and be very proactive to try and prevent what we can,” Robertson said.

The neighborhood policing program is another of the Department’s proactive approaches. The program divides the city into 19 neighborhood areas, and assigns patrol officers to specific neighborhoods. This allows officers to interface with the community to better identify the problems, get to know the citizens and develop solutions together.

“What we believe is because, specifically here in Rancho Cordova with all the programs we have enacted, we’re seeing a steeper decrease here,” Pittman said. “. . . This is really good information to get out to the public so they know going into the holidays that it is a safer environment to be in.” ★

Rancho Cordova Awards $215k in Grants to Student Success

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - A huge thank you to the City of Rancho Cordova for its continued support of educational enrichment, resources, and programs for our students. At its Nov. 6 meeting, the Rancho Cordova City Council awarded nearly $215,000 in grants to benefit District students.

The grants were for Field Trips: Thanks to a $155,648 grant, two Ford Transit Cargo Wagons for Mills and Mitchell middle schools will remove a transportation barrier for many students, allowing them to visit colleges and universities, academic competitions, music and art performances, and more; Arts Education: The City Council has allocated a total of $49,350 toward two programs that enhance students’ arts education opportunities: “Meet the Masters,” which provides visual arts experiences for elementary students through hands-on teacher guided lessons; and the Crocker Art Museum’s “Artist to Go,” which gives students the chance to learn about the museum’s permanent collection through interactive projects; Student Athletics: Cordova High School’s Cheer Team received $10,000 to will not only send the squad to the Universal Cheerleading Association camp, but also fund new cheerleading mats needed for training and safety.

These projects and many more are funded from the city’s Community Enhancement Fund, also known as Measure H, a ½ cent local sales tax measure that was approved by Rancho Cordova citizens in 2014.

I realize that the paper is coming before Thanksgiving, and I will have to finish this column by Monday so it will be ready because your paper should arrive on Wednesday. And while I'm repeating myself by saying "Happy Thanksgiving" again, "Happy Thanksgiving!"

And another thing, I looked at sports on TV for a very short time the other day, and watched some of the athletes and coaches as they mentally burned our flag while our national anthem was being sung or played. If I'm going to watch TV, there are better things to watch than that. I think such activities would anger many of our veterans who died protecting and respecting what our flag and our national anthem represent. Those who use and abuse sports for political games like that may not spoil the game for everyone, but they spoil it for me.

For those who have served our country in the military, there is a way to put the word "Veteran" on your driver's license. If you bring your DD Form 214 and your driver's license to the Sacramento County Veterans Service office at 2007 19th Street, Sacramento, 95818, there is a form you can pick up. Then, take that form and the other

And Another Thing ...

If I'm Going to Watch TV, There Are Better Things to Watch Than That

documentation to the DMV office. The DMV will then place "Veteran" on your driver's license. While you are at the Sacramento County Veterans Service office, you can also get an identification card showing that you are a veteran. That identification can help when you go to some stores where they will take 10% off of anything you buy at the store. At Lowe's, for example, you can buy anything large or small, and you get 10% taken off of the price. The list of stores can be picked up at the county office. I think you can get that list online too, but I'm not sure, so you'd better check it out. It can make a big difference if you buy something like a refrigerator.

A few of us went to the National League of Cities annual conference in Charlotte, NC. It was well attended by representatives from cities across the country, and we learned that problems, like the illegitimate growth of marijuana, aren't a problem in California only. The increasing number of homeless is also a national problem and spiked last year and this year everywhere. The search for answers for the homeless is being found across all aspects of society, from the nonprofit groups to the chambers of commerce, from the religious to those who only believe in the almighty dollar. Finding some answers would benefit all.

There will not be "one answer fits all" like one size fits all in shoes. But, I believe that one answer that will help many would be the return to our country of some businesses, like factories, that would give today's children the opportunity to do better than their parents. Many children and adults today find that the majority of their parents were paid much better than those "kids" are today. Fifteen dollars an hour used to be a living wage in the past, but $31,200 a year (before taxes, healthcare, and daycare, etc.) does definitely not cover the increasing cost of mortgage/rent, and utilities, and...

Family is an increasing part of life today. Many of the factors which were covered earlier go back to how important families are in our society. Until some of today's huge problems are solved, we need to learn to keep close to our families and friends. We will learn some answers to the problems that face us today, but until we do, we need to continue to help whenever we can. On occasion, the "news" will show how strangers come up with the strength to get another stranger out of an accident, or a fire, or will call for the emergency responders when they are needed the most.

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - A new solar farm, anticipated to provide more than a third of the electrical needs of Sacramento International Airport, is expected to be operational by the end of the year.

Airport staff is working on final permits, inspections, and other finishing touches. Once online, the facility will be capable of producing nearly eight megawatts of electricity, enough to power 1,600 homes.

The solar farm consists of a photovoltaic system located on two sites on otherwise unused airport property. The facility will use more than 23,000 solar panels mounted on equipment that tracks the sun's path from east to west over the course of the day, maximizing efficiency and energy production.

Energy company NRG owns and operates the airport solar facility and will sell electricity to Sacramento International Airport at below-market rates under a Power Purchase Agreement. Projected cost savings from the project are an average of $850,000 a year over the 25-year term of the agreement.

"This is an exciting development for the Sacramento International Airport. By partnering with a private company, we will have a source of clean, renewable energy that will save us money and further our commitment to sustainable practices," said John Wheat, Director of Airports for the Sacramento County Department of Airports. "It's truly a win-win scenario."

Sacramento International Airport will have a grand opening at a date to be named later.

The Sacramento County Department of Airport is responsible for planning, developing, operating and maintaining the county's four airports: Sacramento International Airport, Executive Airport, Mather Airport and Franklin Field. Sacramento International Airport (SMF) offers more than 150 daily nonstop flights on 10 domestic and international carriers to 30 cities. The regional economic impact of the Sacramento County airport system is more than $4 billion annually. For more information, visit <http://www.smf.aero>

SUPERHERO “JUSTICE LEAGUE”
EXCITES FANS; “S.W.A.T.” ON TV

A Film and TV Review
by Tim Riley

JUSTICE LEAGUE
(Rated PG-13)

The best news about the new DC Comics superhero film “Justice League” is that it’s a contrast to the disappointing “Superman v Batman: Dawn of Justice,” which failed in large measure to excite the fan base.

Will this assembly of superheroes answer the question of whether Superman is resurrected, maybe in the manner of Patrick Duffy’s Bobby Ewing in the “Dallas” television series? To avoid spoilers, the answer is not found here.

On the other hand, Bruce Wayne/Batman (Ben Affleck) remains perpetually gloomy, and that’s likely the result of having to work with a squad of superhero metahumans, like Aquaman, The Flash, Cyborg and, of course, last but not least the enchanting Wonder Woman.

Gal Galdot’s Diana Prince/Wonder Woman is a welcome presence, as she’s the character who has fared best lately in her own stand-alone “Wonder Woman” film that arrived to great acclaim last year.

Planet Earth is now faced with a most malevolent force that looks to be indestructible. The eight-foot tall alien warrior Steppenwolf (heavily disguised Ciaran Hands), wearing an oversized anvil-shaped helmet, has an army of parademons, which are winged creatures flying around like a biology experiment gone wrong.

Steppenwolf’s evil plan involves a chase for three magical boxes that look like discarded air conditioners found in a landfill, which when assembled in one piece drive some power source to annihilate the planet.

Knowing they are up against difficult odds, Batman and Wonder Woman enlist help from Aquaman (Jason Momoa), an imposing figure more willing to remain in his Icelandic fishing village but turns out to be welcome addition, at least for some sarcasm and overall cockiness.

Also holding up well is Ezra Miller’s Barry Allen/The Flash, the youngest member who admits that his experience with fighting is limited to pushing people and running away. He, too, offers some nice banter with the others.

Cyborg (Ray Fisher) was once college quarterback Victor Stone until a horrific accident turned him into a half-man, half-machine science experiment seems unsure of his role and is not that consequential.

The cast is full of supporting players, from J.K. Simmons’ Commissioner Gordon to Connie Nielsen’s Queen Hippolyta, but only Diane Lane’s Martha Kent and Amy Adams’ Lois Lane register with notable scenes.

“Justice League” is certain to excite the DC Comics fan base, as this confederation of superheroes works well together, albeit with some hiccups, for plenty of violent action against the alien invaders.

“S.W.A.T.” ON CBS NETWORK

The CBS network must love police procedurals because they’ve done so many of them to satisfy an audience base craving action. To cite “Hawaii Five-O” as a current example, they are okay with revamping an old formula.

The memory bank reaches back to the 1975 version of “S.W.A.T.,” starring Steve Forrest as S.W.A.T. leader Hondo Harrelson.”

The Hondo of today’s “S.W.A.T.” is a different sort, perhaps the result of CBS tapping into the diversity theme, at least as a partial reason to cast the charismatic Shemar Moore as the former Marine soon elevated to leading a Los Angeles S.W.A.T. team in his role of Hondo Harrelson.

If anything, Moore’s Hondo would be a nice face as the representative of an elite squad that is called into action for the most egregious crimes. But as an African-American, the new Hondo is afforded the opportunity to grapple with issues that roil the minority community.

In the first episode, the shooting of an unarmed black kid sets up that racial divide dynamic. Yet, even with tensions riding high, by the second episode, “S.W.A.T.” has moved on to the focus of dangerous escapees from a prison break terrorizing Latino families.

There is enough tension in the police department, what with Hondo up against rigid brass that would prefer someone else to run his unit. And then, there’s the competitive drama of Hondo’s unit trying not to be outdone by the squad under the command of Mumford (Peter Onorati).

To complicate matters, Hondo is also in an affair with his superior officer, Jessica Cortez (Stephanie Sigman), who frets that her status as young, female and immigrant puts her in the three strikes zone with the brass.

“S.W.A.T.” is not the kind of show destined for critical acclaim, but my guess is that CBS may have wisely gambled that it fits with the network’s love of action shows appealing to its core audience. ★

state this Thanksgiving holiday. The unique program, which started in 1990, pairs the local knowledge of elected officials with the resources of the private sector to benefit those in need.

During the program, participating investor-owned water companies like California American Water and Golden State Water provide turkeys and transportation in partnership with local elected officials who offer local expertise in directing the donations to community food banks, churches and other non-profit organizations. This year, Save Mart Supermarkets is providing the turkeys at their cost to help reach even more families.

“The dedicated local employees of California American Water and Golden State Water work hard to provide a high quality and reliable water supply to thousands of homes and businesses in the greater the Sacramento region,” said Paul Schubert, Northern General Manager for Golden State Water. “Operation Gobble has become an important part of the holiday season for all of our employees, providing us the opportunity support our customers, our neighbors and our families.”

Millions of Californians lack sufficient resources to feed themselves on a regular basis. Many of these residents are low-income families that will not be able to afford a Thanksgiving meal.

“Golden State Water, California American Water, Assembly Member Cooley and our non-profit partners are proud to be a part of this effort, which makes the Thanksgiving holiday a little brighter for our neighbors in need,” said Evan Jacobs, the External Affairs Manager for California American Water.

Make It Fun and It Will Get Done!
The Secret to Being Organized
Pam Young’s Corner
How Many Novembers Have You Lived?

How many Novembers have you lived? Does the thought of November bring memories of family get-togethers centered on turkey feasts, or are they filled with chaotic recollections as the holidays loomed? Have you been organized in any of your Novembers? Are most of your November memories good ones?

If you live where there are seasons, you’re lucky, because you get to enjoy the winter weather of November. November is a cozy time of year. Time for crackling fires, savory stews, homemade applesauce and roasted walnuts. It’s bundling up time, rosy cheek time and a great time to pretend you smoke because you can see your breath in the frigid air.

Mother Nature has many lessons to teach us in November. She uses this month as her reminder to streamline our homes. It’s her month for letting go of last year’s stuff by stripping her trees bare and putting her plants into a deep, winter coma. November reminds us to slow down, rest, and hibernate a little. She gives us longer nights and shorter days....hint, hint. She also uses November to remind us that life can be harsh sometimes, but it doesn’t last forever.

Do you remember playing in the snow as a kid? November is snowman building season and time to play outside with the kids. Of course they’ll stay out even when they’re freezing, because there’s so much fun to have! “Lettuce Bee Silly” a book I wrote for children, has a couple of poems that remind me of November as a kid. Incidentally, the best way to get a frozen kid to come in and warm up is to serve hot chocolate with marshmallows on top.

I’m Not Cold

I built a snow fort
In a blizzard of snow
I’m all bundled up
And I think you should know

I’m gonna go sledding
And build a snowman
Catch fluffy snowflakes
On my tongue if I can

I’ll throw myself down

Make snow angels of course
Then ride in a sleigh
And scream ‘til I’m hoarse

The pond is all frozen
There are snowballs to make
I’ll have icicle sword fights
And there are puddles to break

I’ve got two frozen hands
And my lips have turned blue
And my teeth are chattering
Like I’ve got the flu

But no one can know it
For I have been told
That I’ll have to come in
If I get too cold

Do you remember getting all bundled up to play in the snow as a child? My mom put so much on me, I could barely move and then I turned around and did the same thing to my kids. Here’s the other poem in the book that reminds me of November. If you’d like a great gift for the kids in your life, this is a fun collection of poems kids like and adults do too.

Bundled Up
I’ve got two sweaters, two shirts and two pants on
I’m bundled up to play in the snow
My coat is stuffed with feathers
So I think I’m ready to go
Mom helped me with my mittens
And she helped me with my hat
She wound a scarf around my neck
Thirteen times to be exact
My snow boots are lined with some kind of fur
And I’m wearing six pairs of socks
I feel so heavy I can hardly move
Like I’m full of a bunch of rocks
It took about an hour
To cover my whole body
But now that I’m standing in the snow
I really have to go potty

This is my 74th November and when I scan through those 74 months (that’s 6 years of Novembers) I have to pause at a few of them. For example, I married my first husband in one of those Novembers (the 29th to be exact) and two days later a drunk driver rear ended our car and I spent the next week in the hospital in critical condition. As it is with every bad thing that happens, there’s always good that comes from it. (I met my guardian angel in the hospital and had a healing.)

November 2017 is a brand new November for us all. Things have changed, people have moved in and out of our lives. Plans are different because life has moved on. This November is special and once it’s gone, you’ll never get it back. Savor it. Be easy about family get-togethers. Get lots of rest. Make this November joyful, memorable and restful!

Slim Randles’ HOME COUNTRY

A 19-Year-Old Cowboy Couldn’t Have Done it Any Better

Steve slowly saddled Old Snort, and climbed aboard. Kinda stiff this morning. He pulled his hat down a little lower and pulled the wild rag up to cover his nose and mouth from the morning chill.

How many mornings had he done this over the years?

As Snort trotted out into the meadows and the hills surrounding our valley, he looked with perked ears for cattle. That’s what Snort does for a living.

Steve knows when the fall sun gets a little higher, he’ll stretch and get younger. His gray mustache will turn brown again ... in his mind, anyway. And he’ll once more be that young cowboy who terrorized stray cattle so many years ago.

He began kicking cows out and heading them back to the home pasture, and both he and Snort watched and waited for that one rogue that would make the morning complete.

It was a black baldy cow who made the dash for the high-ups and Steve and Snort were flying through trees and over rock piles and finally headed her and turned her back with the others. A 19-year-old cowboy couldn’t have done it any better.

Steve smiled and reached down to pat ol’ Snort on the neck. Thanksgiving can be more than turkey and cranberry sauce.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. Bera Leads Discussion on Jobs

SMUD Director McAlister Offers Testimony and Expertise to Congress

By Jack Miller

WASHINGTON, DC (MPG) - Rep. Ami Bera (D-CA) welcomed Sacramento Municipal Utility District (SMUD) Director Jason McAlister to Washington last week to help lead a discussion with Members of Congress on jobs, education, and vocational training. As the Co-Chair of the Access to Jobs Task Force, Rep. Bera invited Director McAlister to share his expertise leading SMUD's premier training program.

"SMUD's Power Academy offers Sacramento electrical workers quality training as well as a pathway to a fulfilling career," said Rep. Ami Bera. "Director McAlister's discussion with members of Congress highlighted the growing need for investment in these jobs. Programs like SMUD offer greater job security and lifelong career opportunities, and Jason emphasized the need to educate teachers, parents, and guidance counselors on the benefits of these programs. This discussion opened new avenues and understanding for other members of Congress. Accredited programs like SMUD help ensure workers learn the skills they need in these careers. We were very grateful to have Director McAlister's expertise today."

"I want to thank Representative Bera for inviting SMUD to participate in this discussion," said SMUD Director Jason McAlister. "We appreciate his leadership and service to our community, and are grateful to speak about SMUD's Power Academy and apprenticeship programs with Congress. For the past 70 years, SMUD has supplied affordable and reliable electricity to residents of Sacramento and is the sixth largest municipal utility in the country. There is a shortage of qualified electrical utility employees across the country. Programs like SMUD's Power Academy provide high quality vocational training to individuals preparing to enter the electric utility industry and we hope our model can be used elsewhere to provide good-paying jobs to other communities."

The Access to Jobs Task Force will help workers achieve their full potential by eliminating outdated barriers that impact local communities and expanding access to educational opportunities, including skills development, professional licensing, and apprenticeship training.

Dave Says

You're under no obligation

Dear Dave,

Our son is about to graduate from law school. He took out a loan to cover the cost, but we've always been debt-free and have been paying on it to help him out while he finishes his studies. The balance on the loan right now is around $30,000. He has a job waiting for him after he graduates, so we're thinking about telling him it will be his responsibility to finish paying off the loan at that point. Is that wrong?

-Pat

It off for him as a gift for successfully completing law school — and you're in a financial position to do so without hurting yourselves or your future — that's fine, too. It would be another incredibly generous act. And in my mind, generosity of that magnitude should be met with gratitude and appreciation of equal measure.

If you choose this route, let him know how and why you were able to give him this gift. Don't hold it over his head or beat him up with it, but stress the importance of being wise with money, saving and investing, and staying out of debt in the future. Let him know if he'll follow your example, he might be able to do the same kind of thing for his kids someday. That would be a wonderful thing to see, wouldn't it?

mileage alone can be a good indicator of the quality of a used vehicle, but that's not always the case. I would also advise doing a little research, and maybe letting a trusted mechanic have a look to determine if there are any issues that might give you trouble soon.

The more inexpensive, and cheaply made a car is, the more likely it becomes that it would be worn down by higher mileage. Some vehicles start to get a little ragged at 100,000 miles, while others — some of the better makes — are just getting a feel for the road at that point. Of course, a lot depends on your budget, too.

Overall, I would advise you to look for something that has a good reputation, a solid history, and as little mileage as possible. There are good, used cars out there that will last for years!

—Dave

Dear Pat,

There's absolutely nothing wrong with a young law school graduate earning a living and paying off his own debt. I hope he appreciates how generous you both have been, but you shouldn't feel as if you're obligated to continue making these payments after he finishes school and begins working.

Now, if you decide to pay

Used car mileage?

Dear Dave,

I know you advise most people to buy used cars. Do you have a rule of thumb for a mileage limit when it comes to buying a used vehicle?

-Paul

Dear Paul,

No, not really. Sometimes

Folsom Lake College Sports Update

Women's Soccer
SACRAMENTO COUNTY, (MPG)
- Seeded #2 in northern California, the FLC women's soccer team opened the CCCAA state playoffs with a commanding 5-1 victory over #15 seed Hartnell College on Saturday night at Falcon Stadium. The Falcons looked sharp from the start, executing their set plays and controlling the ball while limiting the Panthers' opportunities to advance past midfield. It didn't take long before Natalie Fischer found Tiara Webb in front of the goal for the game's first score in the 8th minute. Five minutes later, it was Webb who got the assist on Breanna Brumet's goal for a 2-0 Falcon lead. The Falcons would add one more goal just before half-time, this one off the foot of Britney Johnson, assisted by Andrea Martinez. In the second half, FLC coach Donny Ribaud was able to give his entire roster some playing time in a playoff situation, something that could prove valuable in the coming week. The Falcons added two more goals – one each by Martinez and Johnson – for a 5-0 advantage early in the second half. The Panthers eventually found the net late in the match for their only bright spot of the night. With the win, the Falcons advance to play-off round 2, where they'll meet Big 8 Conference runner-up American River on Tuesday afternoon at Falcon Stadium. The two teams played twice already this season, with the Falcons winning 2-1 at ARC, then taking the rematch at FLC, 3-0. Regardless of previous outcomes, Tuesday's playoff match should be intense.

Men's Soccer
Playing in their first CCCAA state playoff game in program history on Saturday afternoon, the Falcons' season came to an unexpected early end as they lost an excruciatingly close match to Big 8 Conference rival Santa Rosa, 1-0, at Falcon Stadium. The two teams had split their regular-season series – with both teams winning at home – before Saturday's playoff battle. The Falcons opened the match with crisp passing and maintained possession throughout a majority of the playing time, but could never find the back of the net. After a scoreless first half, the Bear Cubs shocked the home team with a goal off a corner kick in the 56th minute. With more than 30 minutes still to play, the Falcons had plenty of time to get an equalizer, but the Bear Cubs were playing their toughest defense of the match. The final five minutes were played at a frenetic pace as the Falcons sent a barrage of long shots, corner kicks, and headers at the goal, but the Bear Cub goalkeeper fought them all off. It was a disappointing end to an outstanding season for the Falcons; with a final record of 13-4-5, two of the Falcons' four losses were to Santa Rosa. ★

The Folsom Lake College women's basketball team made history last week, riding the wave of home-court enthusiasm as they pulled away from Mendocino to win their first game ever played at Falcon Gym, 83-55 Falcons Faith Wilson and Abby Malekos (10, above) battle for possession against Mendocino.
