RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG)

- On February 4, the Hagan Community Center was filled with vibrant color, scents, and sights as Bengali families from the Greater Sacramento Area converged to celebrate Saraswati Puja. The Hindu religion has many gods, and Saraswati is the goddess of knowledge, wisdom, education, arts, and music. That Saturday morning, children and their families gathered together at the Center for ceremonies, worship, and celebration presided over by the statue representing Hindu Goddess Saraswati.

Put on by Ankur Inc.,

Bengali Cultural Organization, the Hatey Khodi, or "Chalk in Hand" ritual was carried out early in the day and was one of the most important events. Accompanied by their parents, children under 5 years of age who had not yet begun to write were each given a slate and chalk. In the presence of the image of Goddess Saraswati, each child put a mark on his or her slate, to symbolize the writing of their first letter in front of the goddess. "The morning is all set aside for worship and prayer," said Jeet Poddar, president of Ankur.

There are an estimated four to five hundred Bengali families in the Greater Sacramento area, whose ancestry originated mostly in Bengal, or the eastern part of India. This was the 10th anniversary of Ankur, and the 10th Saraswati Puja put on by the organization. "It is not only a religious festival," said Kunal Ghosh, chair of the cultural committee of Ankur. "It is also a cultural event where basically mainly the kids perform different kinds of songs, dances, skits, and recitations."

At midday, lunch was served to all attending, numbering more than 100 men, women, and children. Afterward, the children took part in a memory game and extemporaneous speaking as part of this year's events. In the memory game, elementary school children listened while a

Cork & Fork Event Returns to Marriott

Raises Money to Support Local Children and Families

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Rancho Cordova's premier wine tasting fundraiser Cork & Fork will be on Friday, March 3rd 2017 from 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. at the Sacramento Marriott Rancho Cordova. Event tickets are available for $25.00 online at www.CorkFork.org or $40.00 at the door.

Cork & Fork is an evening of wine tasting from wineries around the region along with gourmet food sampling from many of the area's best-known restaurants and caterers. The event also features live music and a spectacular silent auction showcasing a variety of items ranging from fine art, exotic getaways, unique home décor and much more.

Cork & Fork is a key fundraiser for the vital work of the Folsom Cordova Community Partnership that provides a wide variety of programs targeted at reducing the risk of child abuse and neglect as well as impacting generational cycles of poverty. Each year, the Folsom Cordova Community Partnership provides parent education and support, safe youth activities, employment services and safety-net services to over 5,000 children, youth and adults in our local community. They offer a wide range of services in one place to best serve families through a Family Resource Center environment.

You can partner with Cork & Fork in supporting and empowering children and families in our local community by purchasing tickets at www.CorkFork.org and enjoying an evening of delightful food, wine and entertainment.

Event sponsorships are also available. Please contact Chris Clark at CClark@theFCCP.org for sponsorship details. ★

Fence Replacement Project Begins in Rancho Cordova

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - A new beautification project has started in the City of Rancho Cordova. The Folsom Boulevard Fence Replacement Project, supported by the City's Community Enhancement Fund, will include a new masonry wall along Folsom Boulevard to the east and west of Los Nogales Way.

The project will beautify a main entrance to the Walnut Wood neighborhood, as well as a main corridor used frequently by pedestrians, bikers and drivers. It also includes the installation of two artistic murals on the new wall.

"The City of Rancho Cordova is continuing to invest in beautifying the Folsom Boulevard corridor," said Albert Stricker, Public Works Director. "The new wall and murals will bring this part of the boulevard to life and create a sense of place for those who frequently use it."

The fence installation portion of the project is anticipated to be completed, depending on weather, by March - April 2017, with the art installation portion by Summer 2017.

Project construction will take place Monday through Friday between the hours of 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Expect intermittent lane and sidewalk closures and minor delays during the project. Please drive with caution and reduce speeds in construction areas.

Project updates are available on the City's website by visiting cityofrancho-cordova.org/CurrentProjects.

Wildlife Care Association Names Fall Photo Winner!

Quail on Fence, by Susan Bouclin, Folsom.

From Rick Reed

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG) - As the non-profit provider of rescue, recovery and release of injured, orphaned and displaced birds and small animals in the Sacramento region, Wildlife Care Association (WCA) challenged the community to send their best bird photos and you did!

Congratulations to all our photo entry participants which you can view at Wildlife Care

The photo was taken in her Folsom home backyard with a film camera. Located next to a 'green belt' in Folsom, Ms. Bouclin says she is frequently visited by a wide range of diverse wildlife and enjoys taking pictures regularly.

Honorable mention was awarded to 13 year old Arav Karigattam for his picture of 'American Robins', and 12+ entry by Frank Mahar for his 'Heron in Flight', also outstanding photos of our local wildlife! See them all!

All the WCA Fall Photo Contest pictures can be seen at Wildlife Care Association on Facebook! The heroes of nature thank you for your participation. Call 965-WILD ★

Golden 1 Opens Member Contest to Send Kings' Fan on Los Angeles Road Trip

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Golden 1 Credit Union (Golden 1) announced today the entry period for its Road Trip Sweepstakes has officially opened. The contest will send a Golden 1 member and a guest to see the Sacramento Kings take on the Los Angeles Lakers on Friday, April 7, 2017 at the Staples Center. The all-expense paid trip includes airfare, hotel accommodations, a Kings swag bag, and a pair of tickets to the game.

Golden 1 members can enter the sweepstakes via Facebook or golden1.com. The contest opened February 3 and ends on February 24. The winner will be selected in a random drawing on March 1, 2017.

"The Sacramento Kings and the Los Angeles Lakers have a storied rivalry," said Erica Taylor, Vice President of Communications and Community Relations for Golden 1. "We thoroughly enjoy having fans watch the Kings in their new home at Golden 1 Center, and we are pleased to also offer a lucky member the opportunity to support the Kings on the road."

The Road Trip experience is the latest exclusive benefit Golden 1 is able to offer its members through its naming rights partnership with the Sacramento Kings. Additional member benefits include discount tickets to select Sacramento Kings' games, access to advance ticket purchases to select events at Golden 1 Center, and merchandise discounts on Kings' gear.

For more information, including how to enter, please visit golden1.com/Golden1RoadTrip. ★

Non-profits Invited to Fundraise with River Cats at Raley Field

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

- The Sacramento River Cats are pleased to invite Northern California non-profit organizations to partner for an exciting fundraising opportunity at Raley Field.

With the recent upgrades made to the concession storefronts at Raley Field, the River Cats are proud to bring in outside non-profit organizations excited to fundraise at the ballpark. A non-profit can agree to help run a storefront at Raley Field, taking orders from fans, and will in return receive a portion of the proceeds from that storefront for the night.

The River Cats have seven all-new storefronts at Raley Field, ranging from gourmet burgers and signature hot dogs to Mexican cuisine. Of course, all the ballpark classics will still be available. These storefronts will be fully operational for Sacramento's home opener on April 6.

Non-profits interested in partnering with the River Cats to raise funds or with additional questions about the program are invited to contact Jeff Behr, General Manager of River City Concessions. He can be reached at jbehr@rivercats.com.

And Another Thing ...

*Education is The Most Powerful Weapon
Which You Can Use to Change The World*

Elk Grove Naming Committee for that school and another new school in Elk Grove, so he knew the results of the names that were chosen. And I can't thank him enough for putting my name in for the Rancho Cordova school.

There are four school districts in the City of Rancho Cordova: San Juan Unified School District, Sacramento City Unified School District, Elk Grove Unified School District, and Folsom Cordova Unified School District. Looking at the growth in our city with the new homes and the need for new schools, and keeping up with the rapidly changing education in the changing world makes this new school coming to our city more important than ever before. There are many world leaders who speak about educating the children of the world, and Nelson Mandela was one of them. He said, "Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world." Education is among the first things we must give our children. Keeping up with the world, not keeping up with the Joneses, is something we have to do if we want to see our children move forward.

I wish to thank the kind people who said they enjoyed my last column and learned some of Rancho Cordova's history. Granted, it was only a small fraction of our city's history, but each of us have a history of our own, which could only cover a fraction of that history in a column like that one. Think of what a rich history each and every one of you have. A history that is unique in itself, and like a snowflake, it cannot be duplicated. Like part of a song, "If anyone should ever write my life story, for whatever reason there might be...", try to write your own life story. You will be amazed. I would love to hear from any of my readers, and what you may find about yourselves that is exclusively yours.

I think we are about halfway through this crab feed season that begins in January to help different organizations raise money and let them achieve their goals during the year. The food is always good, you can meet some wonderful people, and the entertainment that is offered adds to the enjoyment of the evening. For those who have had an opportunity to go to one or more of the crab feeds, I hope you have had a good time too. My wife and I have been fortunate enough to attend a couple of them, and we had a wonderful time. For the new Rancho Cordovans who haven't had a chance to go to one of them, almost all of them are held at the Parish Hall at St. John Vianney Church on Coloma Road. And the facilities there are some of the best you will find.

On the front page of the February 3rd edition of the Grapevine Independent is a headline about the City honoring Vietnam War-era Veterans again. Last year, as "Commemorative Partners with the Vietnam War Commemoration", we honored 95 Vietnam War-era veterans during a City Council meeting. The veterans who were present at that meeting were presented with the Vietnam War Veteran lapel pin. On March 30th at Rancho Cordova City Hall, we will be presenting those lapel pins once again to more Vietnam War-era veterans. That date is on Thursday, and the time will be between 7 - 8 p.m. Please contact our City Clerk Mindy Cuppy at (916) 851-8721 or mcuppy@cityofranchocordova.org by Thursday, March 23rd if you would like to come and be recognized, or if you have questions. There is quite a bit of information on that article in the February 3rd issue of the Grapevine Independent.

From Councilman Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

Be My Chocolate Valentine

New for this Valentine's Day is Norman Love's "Perfect Pairs" collection. Photo courtesy Norman Love Confections

By David Dickstein

SACRAMENTO REGION, CA (MPG)

The age-old question of who invented chocolate spawns so many answers it'll make your head spin. Or is that just the sugar rush?

Whether the response is the Aztecs and Mayans because these ancient civilizations cultivated the cacao tree, or the Spanish for perfecting the chocolate drink xocolatl, or Britain and Germany with the first chocolate factories, or the Swiss who made chocolate a staple for the entire world, there's no debating that Cupid is the cocoa bean's chief ambassador. Nearly half of all Valentine's Day gifts is candy, according to retail industry figures.

Chocolate makers from Sacramento to Florida are looking to take their bite of the $1.7 billion Americans are projected to spend this season on the sweet stuff.

Although the love holiday falls on a Tuesday this year, Ginger Elizabeth Chocolates in Midtown (1801 L St.) is expecting a three-digit jump in business from an ordinary weekday. Romantic procrastinators will appreciate the boutique's extended hours on Feb. 13 and 14, though that doesn't guarantee your honey's favorite chocolate bonbons and macarons will still be behind the glass.

For master chocolatier Norman Love, whose candies make frequent 3,000-mile treks west to California as one of the confectioner's top markets, roughly 15 percent of online sales are generated in the three weeks leading up to Valentine's Day. "It's our second-biggest retail period [after Christmas]," Love said.

The Florida-based chocolatier is debuting a "Perfect Pairs" collection for this Valentine's Day. Two gourmet flavors are combined inside each individual piece to create pairings ranging from the familiar - strawberry and banana, and coconut and pineapple, for example - to one with an "opposites attract" bent that marries sweet raspberry with tart lemon.

"Each pair represents its own challenges, as it's not as simple as a 50/50 split between each flavor," Love said, explaining that, like a real marriage, there's give and take when seeking "equality and harmony." Gift boxes, heart-shaped, of course, are available at www.normanloveconfections.com. ★

Dave Says

A Good Marketing Idea

Dear Dave,
I'm a small-business owner with a lawn care franchise. It's common in our industry, after the season is over, to send out pre-pay letters for the upcoming season. If we send out these letters offering a five or 10 percent discount for early payment on next year's services, is that too similar to borrowing money from our customers at five to 10 percent?
- Kevin

Dear Kevin,
Not at all. I definitely would send pre-pay letters. It takes some of the seasonality "ouch" out of your financial equation, and it gives them the opportunity to take advantage of a bargain. It's not a bad plan from a marketing standpoint for your business, either. You might even be able to add some new customers with an offer like this.

You obviously have to be really secure and confident in your ability to provide the service. Otherwise, you could end up in a really bad situation. Your equipment, staffing and track record in the business will all come into play. But if all this is strong, and you've been in the business for a number of years and plan on staying in the business for years to come, then this is something I'd definitely do.
—Dave

Girlfriend Debt Account

Dear Dave,
I'm 29, and I have no debt. I've gotten a good start on my savings and retirement, too. My girlfriend and I plan to get married in the next couple of years, and she has about $90,000 in debt. I'm not paying on her debt yet, but I think together we can save up enough to pay it off by the time we're married. Should I temporarily slow down saving for a house and start saving toward paying off her debt?
- James

Dear James,
Yes, I would have a "girlfriend debt" account. That way when she becomes your wife, you two can write a check the moment you get back from the honeymoon and be debt-free — or at least knock out a huge portion of the debt. After that, the two of you — as in WE — resume saving for retirement, a house and so on.
That, James, is exactly what I would do. You're right in line with my thinking on this, brother. Best of luck to you both!

Wrong Way Driver Kills Oncoming Driver and Self

CHP Special Report

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG)
- On February 7, 2017, at 9:55 p.m. the CHP received a call of a wrong way driver going westbound in the eastbound lane of I-80 at Watt Ave. The driver was a female driving a dark Ford Mustang. CHP officers immediately began responding to the wrong way driver in an attempt to prevent a head on collision from happening. Shortly thereafter the Ford sideswiped a Chevrolet Impala near Raley Blvd. and continued going the wrong way on I-80.

As the Ford approached Northgate Blvd in the #1 lane it struck head on with a white Dodge Challenger driven by a male. The collision killed both drivers upon impact. A toxicology report is being taken by the Sacramento County Coroner to determine if alcohol and/or drugs were a factor in this collision.

The eastbound lanes of I-80 were closed for a little over 2 hours due to extraction and investigation and all traffic was diverted off to Northgate Blvd.
Any additional information about this news release should be directed to Officer Chad Hertzell who will be available at the CHP North Sacramento Area business phone number: (916) 348-2317, Monday through Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. ★

NOTICE TO READERS

California law requires that contractors taking jobs that total $500 or more (labor and/or materials) be licensed by the Contractors State License Board. State law also requires that contractors include their license numbers on all advertising. Check your contractor's status at www.cslb.ca.gov or 800-321-CSLB (2752). Unlicensed persons taking jobs that total less than $500 must state in their advertisements that they are not licensed by the Contractors State License Board.

DISCLAIMER

Be wary of out of area companies. Check with the local Better Business Bureau before you send any money for fees or services. Read and understand any contracts before you sign. Shop around for rates.

Lessons You Can Learn from Having the Flu

There's a wonderful cartoon by Gary Larson depicting two mosquitos on the skin of a human and one of the mosquitos has her sucker in the human and her body is swollen up like a balloon that's ready to burst. The other mosquito says, "Pull out! Betty! Pull out!!! You've hit an artery!"

I had the flu in January and during my illness I really learned a valuable thing. I noticed that when I'd start to entertain scary thoughts (mainly of dying) it was like a stream of thought that if I allowed myself to go there, I'd get swept up in fear. That's when the image of Gary's mosquito cartoon came to me. So whenever I'd start to think a negative thought that could go into a rushing stream of more negative thoughts, I'd say to myself, "Pull out! Betty! Pull out!!!" So far it has stopped me every time and made me giggle! It was great to put such humor to my situation and I know it aided in my healing. I love the name Betty for a mosquito and I love Gary for his incredible humor.

The interesting thing is that I've used Betty the mosquito for all manner of negative thought now that I'm not sick! When I start to get mad, sad, worried and such I immediately say, "Pull out! Betty! Pull out!!! Then I poke my sucker into a thought artery of joy, excitement, peace, or whatever positive artery I chose. It is amazing how much power we have to change our minds.

If we can practice pulling out before we get into deep doo doo, we can keep our minds full of positive ideas un-mucked-up by past or future negative thought patterns. As we keep our minds stayed on positive ideas our circumstances begin to change in good ways as we stand guard at that doorway of thinking.

I discovered that being ill is a great time to de-clutter even more than the regular surface de-cluttering we do every day. When you look at your stuff with "sick" eyes you really can question why you're holding onto anything you don't use regularly. I took a very serious look at the bookshelves in my office and I decided if I haven't looked in a book on my shelf in the last year, it's time for it to go. I did the same with CDs and DVDs.

I've always said there are some things in the home that reproduce when you're not looking, referring to jars, plastic shopping bags, twist ties, business pens and such, but I hadn't considered cassette tapes, CDs and DVDs. When those suckers had babies when I wasn't looking I realized that because of technology I'd left those babies in their little box nurseries unattended for years, when they could have been given to adoptive parents who could take care of them and use them.

Terry and I get all of our entertainment on the internet and our mass collection of DVDs of movies just sits, alphabetized on the shelves of our in home theater. Shameful. It took getting sick to realize what we were doing.

If you've got the flu, use some of the rest time to de-clutter what you are not using. You'll be serving yourself and those who can use what you aren't. ★

Said sale will be held, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, condition, or encumbrances, including fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust, to pay the remaining principal sums of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust. The total amount of the unpaid balance of the obligation secured by the property to be sold and reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is: $415,393.34 If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site WWW.STOXPOSTING.COM, using the file number assigned to this case 029526-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. Sacramento County DA Reports

“Non-Violent Second-Striker” Early Prison Releases: January 2017 Update

DATE: February 1, 2017

In January 2015, the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR) began a new parole determination process, evaluating “non-violent second-strikers” for early parole. If early release is granted, they are released after serving only 50% of their sentences. Under existing law, they would otherwise have to serve 80% of their sentences before being eligible for parole.

Upon receipt of inmate names from CDCR with a recommendation for release, the Board of Parole Hearings [BPH] conducts an administrative review to determine if the inmate should be released early from prison as a ‘non-violent second-striker.’ BPH forwards the names of these eligible inmates to District Attorneys’ offices and invites input in making their determination about the inmate’s potential early release. Unlike parole hearings, where the prosecution, defense attorney and victim may appear, there is no public hearing for these administrative reviews. Rather, the decision is made purely by CDCR administrative staff. Additionally, prior to consideration for early release, no evidence-based “risk assessment” is conducted to determine if the inmate poses a danger to the public.

The Sacramento County District Attorney’s Office takes an active role in evaluating these cases and writes letters to the Board with an overview of the inmate’s criminal history and current commitment offense, an opinion regarding the public safety risk posed by the inmate, and the appropriateness of an offender’s early release. The Board determines whether an offender would pose an unreasonable risk to public safety based on their prior criminal history, facts behind their current commitment offense, behavior in prison, rehabilitation efforts, whether the inmate has any medical condition which might affect his ability to re-offend, and written statements.

In November 2015, the Sacramento County District Attorney’s Office began posting on its website information about “non-violent second-strike” offenders who have been granted early release from prison.

As of January 31, 2017, 196 inmates sentenced from Sacramento County have been granted early prison releases. Given the number of violent offenders who continue to be granted early release, DA Anne Marie Schubert began monthly updates to provide the public with a sampling of the noteworthy criminals who appear to pose a risk to public safety, but are being granted early release into our community as ‘non-violent second-strikers.’

In the month of December 2016 and January 2017, inmates granted early prison release include:

Eric Jeffrey Nelson (Case #14F03928) – Nelson’s first strike conviction was in 2008. In 2011, Nelson was convicted of his second strike in Nevada. Nelson was convicted again for assault with a deadly weapon, this time causing great bodily injury, and a gang enhancement. He received a 24 to 60 month prison sentence. After being released from prison, Nelson returned to California and was still on probation for his 2008 conviction. All of Nelson’s crimes since 2008 have been committed while on probation or parole. In June 2014, Nelson committed his current offense of hit and run causing death. Nelson received a sentence of 6 years in prison for this offense.

Marcus Brogdon (Case #15F05542) – Brogdon has a 2009 strike conviction for robbery. In September 2015, Brogdon was riding a motorcycle when an officer noticed his motorcycle had expired registration. When he was apprehended, he was found to be in possession of a 9 mm handgun that was loaded with 10 rounds of ammunition, which Brogdon was not permitted to possess because of previous convictions. He received a sentence of 2 years and 8 months in state prison.

Aaron Wellington Hudson (Case #15F06287) – Hudson has a prior 2007 strike conviction for assault with a firearm. Less than one year after this strike conviction, Hudson was convicted of possession of a firearm by a convicted felon and possession of a controlled substance with a firearm. He received a sentence of 7 years and 8 months in state prison. In October 2015, Hudson was again found to be in possession of a loaded .45 caliber firearm and loaded .45 caliber magazine. Hudson was sentenced to 32 months in state prison. ★

Slim Randles’ HOME COUNTRY

But There’s Always Hope Deep in the Souls of True Explorers

The problem was Mrs. Doc, you see. Oh, don’t misunderstand. She’s a perfectly wonderful lady and we all think the world of her, and as far as we know she has yet to burn down a house or start a war or anything.

The problem is, we don’t know her first name.

If you just come out and flat ask her, she’ll smile and say, “Well, don’t you think Mrs. Doc is a nice name? I’ve had it for a long time now.” But I guess there’s something deep inside us that hates a vacuum ... a vacuum of knowledge, that is. We’re still curious about exactly where Old Man Jenkins’ cabin is, for example. While he was alive, we never thought to bug him about where he lived, because we also cherish a man’s right to privacy. But Jenkins died on one of his trips to town, and we still didn’t know where his cabin was.

So that began a number of semi-serious expeditions into our nearby mountains to try and solve the mystery. Hasn’t happened yet, but there’s always hope deep in the souls of true explorers.

And so it is with Mrs. Doc. She introduced herself to all of us as Mrs. Doc, and ... as wife of our local sawbones ... she automatically deserves respect, even if that respect means maintaining a mystery.

But in a way, Mrs. Doc has added something tangible to our little society here in Home Country, because if we should ever falter for a subject of intense discussion, we have her first name to fall back on.

Doc’s a true pal, of course, but there’s no way he’d betray his missus on this. We did ask him one time if he actually knew her first name. He gave us the strangest look and said, “What do you think? I met this girl in college named Mrs. Doc and asked her to marry me?”

The speculation has run the gamut of everything from her having a first name meaning a poisonous flower, to body parts, battleships, national parks, and disastrous storms. If we did accidentally trip over her real name, neither she nor Doc would confirm it.

So while we’re looking for Jenkins’ cabin, we can contemplate that very nice lady ... Mrs. Doc.

Home Country is now a radio program in 17 states. Have a listen at www.home-countrydemo.com/. ★

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both of Joseph F. Chmura, Frank J. Chmura Suzanne Cheek, Jean Scrivner. A Petition for Probate has been filed by Joseph F. Chmura in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting that Joseph F. Chmura, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: February 15, 2017 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129 at Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento 3341 Power Inn Road Sacramento, CA 95826. IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Taxes Not the Answer to Road Repairs

Commentary
by George Runner

California's roads are crumbling. Reports routinely show our state has some of the poorest pavement conditions in the country, with high-tax liberal strongholds of San Francisco and Oakland leading the way. The culprit? Misplaced spending priorities.

If you spilled your latte when hitting that huge pothole on the way to work, thank your elected leaders.

Gov. Jerry Brown says he has a fix for it — a 42 percent gas tax hike, plus a new $65 vehicle registration fee that includes hybrids and electric vehicles. He claims the increases are needed because repairing California's highways can't be funded with existing revenues.

Why not? Budgets are about priorities and the governor and legislative leaders have a say on how tax dollars are spent. State revenues have grown by roughly 50 percent in just under 10 years. And, apparently, Brown thinks the state can afford a $68 billion — and growing — high-speed rail project that still hasn't found a way to deal with the Tehachapi Mountains.

In addition to about $7 billion in annual fuel tax revenues, the state also collects a carbon tax from oil companies that brings in about $2 billion. Oil suppliers pass the tax on to us at the pump. The Legislative Analyst's Office estimates this adds, at minimum, 11 cents per gallon to the cost of gasoline.

Where is all the money going?

Huge amounts go to projects that don't improve roads. Much of the carbon tax revenue will end up funding high-speed rail. The Democratic-controlled Legislature rejects every bill to direct these dollars toward reducing emission-generating traffic gridlock.

If Brown's plan to raise the gas tax passes — which seems likely given the new Democratic supermajority — Californians could end up paying as much as 80 cents in combined federal and state taxes for each gallon of gasoline — a rate far higher than any other state. Not to mention we already have some of the highest gas prices in the nation.

It isn't the elite who are squeezed by these costs. It is the less fortunate who struggle to find affordable housing and often must travel further to their workplaces.

Sadly, this is all by design.

Many Democrats envision a society where everyone is reliant on public transit. This "green" vision is attractive to Millennial voters, who tend to be issue-driven idealists. They believe we should all pay a little more to save the planet.

That's troubling, given the findings in a new report that shows Millennials are poorer and less employed than their Baby Boomer parents.

There are alternatives to raising taxes. The public should call upon the governor and Legislature to first consider the following ideas:

- Audit the California Department of Transportation for savings. Experts agree Caltrans has wasted billions of taxpayer dollars in recent years, not counting the new Bay Bridge.
- Use cap-and-trade and existing revenue streams to target traffic gridlock and tackle deferred road maintenance.
- Enact legislation to ensure transportation dollars are spent on actual transportation projects, and require the California Transportation Commission to prioritize projects that provide the greatest economic benefits.

As both California and the Bay Area so aptly demonstrate, high taxes do not guarantee good roads. If our leaders have failed to properly prioritize and manage our existing tax dollars, is it really wise to give them more?

Berryhill "One In, Two Out" Legislation Makes Sense For California

Easing Regulations Will Put Californians Back To Work

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Senator Tom Berryhill (R-Twain Harte) is introducing legislation similar to the "one in, two out" Executive Order signed by President Trump.

"Let's make California great again. We have systematically stifled the entrepreneurial spirit that built this country with a patchwork of regulations governing every aspect of our lives. From farmers to restaurant owners; manufacturers to retailers, all feel the overwhelming burden of a government out of control.

Like the federal Executive Order signed today, Berryhill's legislation will require any government agency requesting a new regulation to identify two regulations that it will cut from its own department.

"Small businesses are the backbone of California's economy - particularly in my region. Streamlining government and getting folks out from under mountains of redundant or outdated regulations is a great first step to making California great again."

Senator Berryhill represents Rancho Cordova and the counties of Amador, Calaveras, Inyo, Mariposa, Mono, Stanislaus, Tuolumne and parts of Fresno, Madera, Sacramento and Tulare. ★

Free Speech for Who?

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - Following violent protests that shut down a scheduled speech at UC Berkeley, Assemblyman Kevin Kiley (R - Roseville) has filed a resolution urging California's public universities to adopt the University of Chicago Statement on Free Expression. The Chicago Statement reaffirms a fundamental commitment to the free expression of ideas on college campuses, as well as the principle that "debate and deliberation may not be suppressed because the ideas put forth are thought by some or even by most members of the University community to be offensive, unwise, immoral, or wrong-headed."

Sixteen universities or faculty bodies have adopted the Chicago Statement, including Princeton, the University of Wisconsin, and the University of Chicago. In recent years, Janet Napolitano, Barack Obama, and the Foundation for Individual Rights in Education have called for strengthening protections of free speech on college campuses.

"Though Californians may disagree about their politics, where we come together is in our commitment to deliberation, debate, and the free expression of ideas," Kiley said. "That principle lies at the foundation of a free society, and should be sacrosanct at our universities, whose mission is to foster critical analysis and respect for both diversity and diverse views."

Fake News, Executive Orders, and Immigration

Commentary
by Dr. Caleb Verbois

The controversy over so-called "fake news" does not seem to be going away. However, the press's frustration about it is increasingly misplaced. After the presidential election the media fixated for months on a handful of fictitious headlines from suspect websites that were shared around Facebook which allegedly affected the election. But they missed the bigger story about their own problematic reporting.

Take, as an example, the current fervor over President Donald Trump's executive order temporarily halting immigration from seven Middle Eastern countries and reducing the number of total refugees to the United States. In one of its first articles about the executive order, CNN's headline screamed: "134,000,000 People Banned from U.S." Other press reports have suggested Trump's order is illegal, unconstitutional, or un-American.

That's a curious set of claims for an order that functionally resets the country's refugee policy to what it was 18 months ago, under President Barack Obama. Was Obama's refugee policy un-American and anti-Muslim?

What's really going on here? Bad reporting and myths.

The first myth is that Trump has banned Muslim immigration. Tell that to Muslims in Indonesia, Pakistan, and India, the three countries with the highest Muslim population, none of whom are affected by Trump's order. Moreover, Trump has not actually banned immigration from any country. Rather, he's put a 120-day halt on refugees entering the United States, a 90-day ban on immigration from seven specific countries, and an indefinite halt in refugees from Syria. If Trump wanted to ban Muslim immigration, there are an additional 46 Muslim-majority countries in the world that his order should apply to.

The second myth is that Trump's order is unprecedented, or even illegal. That would be news to Congress, which in 2015 passed a new immigration law limiting immigration from four of the countries on Trump's list, and to former President Obama, who halted all refugee immigration for six months from Iraq in 2011 for the same reason Trump is acting now: to install better security measures against terrorists posing as refugees to enter the country. For that matter, why did Trump pick seven specific countries to halt immigration from? Because he copied Obama, who in 2016 added Libya, Yemen, and Somalia to a list already including Iraq, Syria, Iran, and Sudan, as places where refugees should receive additional scrutiny. Why? Because they are heavily affected by Islamic jihadist terrorist groups who have been known to pose as refugees to attempt to enter the United States and Europe.

The third myth is that Trump's immigration order and goal of reducing refugee immigration is unprecedented. Tell that to President Obama, who made it almost impossible for Syrian refugees, Muslim or Christian, to immigrate to the United States until last year. That is to say, the Syrian civil war raged and Obama's administration took in just 201 refugees from 2011-2014. The United States only began accepting significantly more refugees in 2015 and then dramatically expanded the number of Syrian refugees in 2016. Trump's policy simply resets refugee levels to their 2015 standards.

The fourth myth is that it is illegal to use religion as a category in determining who should be granted refugee status. To the contrary, religious persecution is, under long-standing American and international law, one of the principle reasons to grant refugee status. That makes the outrage over Trump's order more puzzling, given that under Obama, less than 1 percent of the Syrian refugees America took in were Christian, despite the fact that Christians made up 10 percent of the population of Syria and were specifically singled out for genocide. In a period of roughly five years of Obama's presidency, between a half-million and million Syrian Christians fled religious persecution, and the United States accepted almost none of them. In 2016, when the United States accepted more Syrian refugees than in the five previous years combined, just 152 (0.8 percent) of the 17,671 refugees were Christian.

None of this means that Trump's executive order was well planned or implemented. It appears to have been created haphazardly without sufficient input from or guidance to the agencies that are actually tasked with carrying it out. And while there is legitimate reason to scrutinize refugee applications more carefully, there is no justification for treating green-card holders the same way. Green-card holders are permanent U.S. residents who have already gone through extensive security screenings that can easily last a year or more. Moreover, while America has a legitimate interest in securing its borders, common courtesy suggests we should not grant refugees legal status to enter and then reject them at the border after a trans-Atlantic flight. This policy could have been announced with a 24-hour notice.

But the bigger story here is not President Trump's policy, which, after all, differs from his immediate predecessor only mildly. The real story is how badly our professional story tellers in the media have botched the truth.

Dumping TPP Placed Kink in Globalist NWO Plans

Commentary by
Harold Pease, Ph. D

Many still do not understand the significance of Trump's Trans Pacific Partnership (TPP) pullout. It was the most serious blow to the globalists in 100 years. In the political literature of the last 100 years internationalism, world government, new world order (NWO), world order and globalism are synonymous. They suggest a progressive transfer of national sovereignty to a higher level of government such as the United Nations. The idea of the 1950's and 1960's was to increasingly enlarge the UN until it was the recognized world government with total power. When possible this process continues.

Since countries have been slow to forfeit their national sovereignty to the UN, proponents next encouraged regional governments—uniting countries into geographical units, as for example the European Union, then later, when peoples and nations get used to this power transfer, unite them then into a single political unit. Since countries will never initially unite into a single political unit, the plan was to begin with economical unity then progress to the political unity desired, precisely as was successful in the E U. The unification of Europe into a regional government processed through the following five stages: European Coal and Steel Community, Common Market, European Economic Community, European Community, and finally European Union when political unity was possible.

The USSR, after the fall of communism in 1989, transformed itself into the Commonwealth of Independent States Free Trade Area (CISFTA)—a regional government of nations still under the control of Russia. The world has since been divided into other regional governments each following the European Union model and free trade agreements (economic persuasion) have been the favorite tool. Currently there are 23 such regional agreements each at a different stage in the unification of the countries in their regions and most still saddled by the necessity of using the somewhat deceptive "free trade" terminology. In time the plan is to reduce 206 countries to less than 20 regional governments turning these countries into mere states of regional countries—a much more manageable world, globalists believe.

Some of these perspective regional governments have progressed beyond the need to keep the "free trade" terminology when they describe themselves as for example, the African Economic Community and the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA), both uniting large sections of Africa. The Council of Arab Economic Unity (CAEU) uniting northern Islamic Africa and the Middle East is another. South America is to be united by the Southern Cone Common Market, frequently referred to as Mercosur. It has progressed to the point that it now has a Joint Parliamentary Committee, which is a final step toward political unification. But most still need these words. Central Europe is to be united by the Central European Free Trade Agreement (CEFTA). The South Asian Free Trade Area (SAFTA) exists to unite countries from Afghanistan to Sri Lanka.

In the United States The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) was to gradually unite Canada, the United States and Mexico into one regional government as had the European Union united Europe. A real border was never to be implemented because in time we were to be the North American Union complete with open borders of the people within and with an amero dollar to match the euro dollar. To globalists national sovereignty is the enemy. The Declaration of Independence, Constitution, and Bill of Rights, that depend on and protect national sovereignty, cannot be allowed to obstruct the move to a world government.

The main reason that the U.S. was not to have an effective southern border prior to the political unification of the three countries was because Mexico was so far behind the other two countries in economic development and it needed time to elevate itself. Mexicans flooding the U.S. for better paying jobs and many sending a portion of their money back to families in Mexico or opting to retire in their homeland with pensions acquired in the U. S., helped in Mexico's economic elevation.

Some trade agreements also intentionally interlaced with other trade agreements. The three countries in NAFTA also are signatories of the 5,600 paged Trans Pacific Partnership (TPP), just ended by President Trump. Had it been implemented it would have governed 40 percent of U.S. imports and exports and 26 percent of the world's trade. It would have been the law of the land for the United States and 11 other countries in the Asia-Pacific region regardless of what the U.S. Constitution might say.

Its sister trade deal the Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership (TTIP), called for by President Barack Obama in his February 12, 2013 State of the Union Address, would have economically merged the European Union and the United States much more closely with respect to market access, specific regulation and broader rules. Secret negotiations on the TTIP are expected to continue through 2020 and remain classified so the extent of this merger is unknown.

Trump's opposition to illegal immigration and his pulling out of the TPP negotiations are the most serious blows to the globalists in 100 years and will never be tolerated by them. They will continue to spew hate for him. His announced objective to renegotiate NAFTA as well and his probable pull out of TTIP too, may make him the most influential president rescuing us from world government.

Dare to Live Without Limits

It's Never Too Late

by Bryan Golden

“It’s too late,” is a common excuse for inaction. It justifies not doing something, not changing, not starting, or giving up. This excuse may be linked to someone’s age, past experiences, mistakes, or missed opportunities.

We begin learning this response from a young age. We are exposed to constant examples of people reacting to problems with, “it’s too late.” It then becomes engrained as a valid reason for inaction. Regardless of the situation, it’s never too late.

Let’s start with the excuse of a person’s age. Some people feel there is some age threshold beyond which it’s too late to move forward. So what is the alternative? Do nothing while waiting for the end?

Regardless of your age, you’ll never be as young as you are today. Your future is what lies ahead, not how much time is behind you. There are countless examples of people doing amazing things at all ages.

Bhai Fauja Singh ran the London Marathon when he was 100. Harlan Sanders started Kentucky Fried Chicken at 65. Laura Ingalls Wilder was 65 when she published her first “Little House on the Prairie” book. Grandma Moses started painting at 76. The examples of accomplishments at any age are endless.

People alter careers, go to college, start businesses, and change their lives in virtually every way well into their senior years. These people are pursuing their dreams while some half their age, or younger, are wallowing in the despair of, “it’s too late.”

Age is never a legitimate reason for inaction. Life is not over until it’s over. Regardless of your age, your future lies ahead. Think old and you will feel old. Your spirit is as young as you want it to be.

What about making a mistake? It happens to everyone. Of course actions have consequences. Obviously you can’t go back in time. Although you cannot change the past, it’s never too late to take the next step forward. The important decision now is what course of action should be taken moving ahead. There is always something positive that can be done. Throwing your hands up in despair is pointless.

Think before you act. Learn from the past. You don’t want to make things worse by one bad decision after another. Move forward by making better decisions, don’t dig a deeper hole. If you feel it’s too late, you’ll stop working to improve your situation. Your attitude turns negative when you become resigned to your fate.

Missed opportunities are always disappointing. You chastise yourself for not taking action. However, it’s never too late. Things happen for a reason. With a positive attitude, you can uncover it. One opportunity missed may lead to something better. Or perhaps the supposed missed opportunity turns out to not be as good as you thought. Either way, the direction of life is forward.

“It’s too late,” creates a negative self-fulfilling prophesy. You tell yourself it’s too late and then prove it to be true. The only time it is too late is when you give up. If you tell yourself you can’t do something, you won’t. Conversely, if you tell yourself you can, you will. Whether it is too late or not is based on your outlook.

For every person who thinks it’s too late, countless others are successfully accomplishing that very same objective. So never tell yourself that it’s too late because your mind will believe it.

Regardless of what has already happened, you have the option to move forward. Your next step is the most important one. It’s never too late to change direction. It’s never too late to learn. It’s never too late to improve.

New Sacramento County Ordinance Expanding Urban Farming

Are you looking to bring fresh food into your neighborhood? The new urban agriculture ordinance has now been passed. Urban agriculture is defined as the raising of crops and animals in the urban environment, including growing crops, raising animals (such as egg-laying chickens), bee keeping, and selling the goods grown or produced.

Food Sale Regulations

Along with freshly grown produce, stands may also sell cottage foods.

Who are you selling to?

The California Homemade Food Act has been in effect since 2013. This new Sacramento County Ordinance allows residents to sell fresh produce, eggs, and approved cottage foods at permitted stands to the public.

Cottage foods unable to be sold include:

products containing meat or food that require refrigeration (Cheesecake, cream pies, or desserts with custard fillings) you must contact the local Environmental Management Department of Environmental Health. The Health Department will instruct you on what requirements you must comply with.

Outline of Sacramento Urban Agriculture Ordinance:

- It permits gardens, or small farms on vacant parcels in urban and suburban neighborhoods to grow produce to sell.
- Temporary use permits are available for stands under 120 sq. feet, and stands over 120 sq. feet in area require a conditional use permits to sell produce, eggs, honey, and cottage goods on site.
- It allows for the raising of limited number of egg laying chickens and ducks for parcels on less than 10,000 sq. feet in all permitted zones.
- A limited number of beehives are allowed to be permitted for residential and commercial use.

With this ordinance it will bring greater availability and access to fresh produce in what are current urban food deserts.

CORDOVA SPORTS

Haney Inks with Southern Oregon

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - In 2006, the Pittsburgh Steelers posted a 21-10 victory over the Seattle Seahawks in Super Bowl XL at Ford Field in Detroit, Mich.

In Major League Baseball, the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Detroit Tigers in five games in the World Series. And the Sacramento Kings experienced their last winning season, which ended the 2005-06 season with losing to the San Antonio Spurs in the first round of the NBA Playoffs.

That year was also marked the last time that the Cordova High School football program had a player sign National Letter of Intent to play at a four-year college. But Kenny Haney snapped the Lancers' drought last week.

The 5-foot-11, 195-pound

Haney, who was a key contributor at middle linebacker on last fall's Cordova football squad that won a share of the Sierra Valley Conference title, has signed to continue his education and play football at Southern Oregon University in Ashland, Ore. The last Lancer griddier to sign was former running back James Montgomery, when he signed with Cal, then finished his career at Washington State.

In front of his parents Donald and Sheila Haney, Cordova football head coach Darren Nill, Cordova athletic director Tom Pena, plus the school's administration and friends, Haney signed his letter of intent inside one of the campus' classroom during lunch on Feb. 1st. Haney, who also saw playing time at running back for the Lancers, is one of 25 players who inked with the Raiders, and one of 14 from California.

One of the perks of Southern Oregon, Haney states, is the environment around the area.

"It's a college town," Haney said. "I could focus on myself; focus on my school work and football. No distractions."

Nill spoke highly of Haney's character. Most notable his preparations off the football field.

"The time he put in the weight room, and what I'm most impressed with is the time he put into the classroom," Nill said. "

On the Raiders' football Website, defensive coordinator James Gravelle stated on Haney, "He has explosion and a knack for the football. We're excited for the potential for Kenny and his ability to make plays from sideline to sideline."

Haney said that about 90 percent of the freshmen usually red-shirt their first year. But he's been told that the Raiders need linebackers for the upcoming season.

"They haven't let me know exactly," Haney said. "They said they need a lot of middle linebackers."

Haney, who has an undeclared major at this time, said he'll continue to be in contact with the Raider coaches in upcoming weeks and months before he relocates to Oregon this summer.

Last season, Haney led the Lancers in tackles with 91, with 65 solo and 26 assisted tackles. He also had two interceptions and two quarterback sacks. On offense, Haney had 26 carries for 163 yards and two touchdowns.

As Haney prepares to start a new chapter in his educational and football lives, he'll remember his days as a Lancer. In 2013, the Lancers went 2-8. Then last fall, Cordova posted a 7-4 record that included a share of the SVC title with Liberty Ranch and El Dorado, plus a Division III playoff game against Christian Brothers at Sacramento City College.

"It's been amazing," Haney said. "We were definitely trying to turn it around my freshman year, when we were barely winning games to (last) year winning the championship." ★

Lancers Race past Galt in SVC Home Contest

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - A huge second quarter set the tone for the Cordova High School boys basketball team against Galt on Tuesday.

Entertaining the Warriors at Lancers Gym, the Lancers' quick start led to a 75-48 win in a Sierra Valley Conference contest.

The keeps Cordova (7-1 in the SVC, 14-10) tied for first place in the SVC with Liberty Ranch (7-1 in the SVC, 18-7). Cordova and Liberty Ranch meet again tonight, Friday, at Lancers Gym. In their first meeting at the Hawks' gym on Jan. 24th, Cordova posted a 65-62 win.

After taking off to a 20-13 lead in the first quarter, the Lancers put the game to rest against Galt in the second quarter with a 21-10 score. That led to a 41-23 halftime lead.

If Galt had any chance of pulling out a come-from-behind win in the third quarter, Cordova put those aspirations to rest. The Lancers held the Warriors to only nine points. Entering the final quarter, Cordova led 59-32.

"Our seniors stepped up big," said Cordova head coach Fletcher Johnson, referring to his top scorers in the game.

Three of the four Lancer players who scored in double figures are seniors. Those players were guard Jason Novik, who was one of three players who scored in double figures with 21 points. Lancer forward Mike Brown and guard Najee Clark had 13 points each. Junior guard Markell Briggs followed with 10 points. Forward Tyreke Tate had eight points.

Tuesday's game was also Senior Night. Recognized before the game were Novik, Brown and Clark.

Cordova 74, El Dorado 61

In an SVC road game in Placerville on Feb. 3rd, the Lancers also jumped out to a 20-13 lead after the first quarter. Cordova expanded its lead to 37-26 at halftime. The Lancers finished the second half with a 37-35 scoring advantage.

Today's home game for Cordova against Liberty Ranch is scheduled to tip-off at 7 p.m. Next Tuesday, the Lancers close out the regular season on Tuesday, Valentine's Day, at Union Mine. That game is also slated to start at 7 p.m. ★

Baseball splits with DeAnza; Golfers win Big 8 Tournament #1

Men's Golf

The FLC men's golf team began defense of their 2016 Big 8 title with a victory in Big 8 Tournament #1 on Wednesday afternoon at Whitney Oaks Country Club in Rocklin. The Falcons shot a team score of 384, the best-ever for an FLC team on the tough Whitney Oaks layout (for comparison, last year's Big 8 championship team shot 395). Their score was two shots better than runner-up Sierra and 22 ahead of 2016 Big 8 runner up Santa Rosa. Sophomore Mason Troike (2016 Big 8 MVP) and freshman Connor Gaymon both shot 74 to share low-medalist honors. Head coach Barry Zarecky called it "...an outstanding team effort, especially considering our #1 player shot an 82." Next up for the Falcons is the Stanford Invitational on Monday, February 6.

Men's Baseball

With rain looking fairly eminent for Friday and Saturday, the scheduled two-game series with DeAnza was moved to Wednesday afternoon as a doubleheader. In the opener, Falcon starter Grant Dragmire kept the Dons in check through his three innings of work, allowing an unearned run on just one hit. DeAnza's pitching, though, was equally stingy as they shut out the Falcons through the first five innings. In the sixth inning, Falcon first baseman Kale Leach drove in the team's first run with a booming double to left-center that cut the Don's lead to 2-1. The Dons responded with two runs of their own in the top half of the seventh to go up 4-1. It was beginning to look like the squandered scoring chances were going to cost the Falcons a victory, until the home team loaded the bases with one out in the eighth. After a strikeout, sophomore shortstop Nicola Misilinski sent the first pitch he saw over the left field fence for a grand slam that gave the Falcons the lead for good at 5-4. Freshman pitcher Lukas

Bolen earned the save as he recorded the final two outs in the ninth.

In the nightcap, the Falcons continued their habit of squandering scoring chances as they left multiple runners on base in each of the first five innings. Meanwhile, DeAnza was finding ways to score runs without getting any hits. The Dons managed to score single runs in the first, third, and fifth innings on no hits (walks and errors were contributing factors). In fact, the Dons managed to score their six total runs on just five hits. Freshman right fielder Carson McCusker provided one of the few Falcon highlights in the sixth inning when he crushed a ball to the deepest part of the power alley in left-center. The ball stayed in the yard, but just eluded the glove of the Don's centerfielder allowing McCusker to motor all the way around for an inside-the-park home run, his third homer of the young season. In the end, the Dons defeated the Falcons 6-2, leaving FLC with a 2-3 record. ★
