Rancho Cordova, CA (MPG) - One of Rancho Cordova's most distinctive office buildings, One Capital Center, was recently acquired by area business heavy-weight Ethan Conrad Properties, Inc. The company announced the purchase completion in December.

"As far as why I purchased the property...this is one of the nicest Class A office buildings on the Highway 50 Corridor," said CEO and company founder, Ethan Conrad. "In addition, it is also located in one of the best areas in the Highway 50 Corridor.

The 6-story building, situated at 3100 Zinfandel Drive was built when Rancho Cordova began to develop the business and residential areas south of Highway 50. The approximately 30,000 square foot space is slated to undergo minor renovations that Conrad anticipates will boost the local economy. He is already seeing a promising uptick leasing numbers, with the building already at 85% of capacity.

"It simply needs a little remodeling work performed to it in order for it to be the nicest office property on the Highway 50 Corridor. Once this work is performed, it will make the fair market value rent for the property increase accordingly," said Conrad.

Ethan Conrad Properties owns and manages hundreds of industrial, office and retail commercial properties and buildings throughout Northern California and continues to grow. The company, founded in 1995, employs over 100 people in-house to manage, maintain and remodel its properties, according to corporate Vice President Grant Keeney.

"The combination of good looking, well maintained properties and competitive pricing has been pivotal in achieving occupancy rates that are consistently over 90%. By using our core competencies, we are able to transform these problems into opportunities for success," states the company website. ★

Cordova High Students Experience SAFE Financial Reality

By Shelly Lembke

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Cordova High students recently had the opportunity to participate in a financial "Reality Fair" sponsored by SAFE Credit Union. The Fair provides students a taste of real life financial responsibilities such as learning to manage a household budget in a fun, interactive, and no-risk atmosphere, according to Daniel Thigpen, Director of Communication and Community Engagement for the Folsom Cordova Unified School District.

"It was a success and educational" said math teacher Cameron Parker. "Students learned that it is expensive out there."

"Many thanks to our partners at SAFE CU for sharing their time and resources with our students!"

Daniel Thigpen, FCUSD
Director of Communication and Community Engagement

The National Credit Union Foundation (NCUF) promotes such programs through credit unions across the country, referring to them as Interactive Teen Financial Literacy Tools. Participating students get a realistic look at the costs and decisions they will face out in the real world.

"It's like a giant version of the board game 'Life,'" said Thigpen. "Students are given an imaginary occupation, salary, and family profile and then tasked to rent or buy a home, buy a car, pay for groceries and deal with unexpected circumstances, such as a flat tire, or a job lay-off, or a surprise bonus."

Mills Middle School Garner's Prestigious Anti-Bullying Award

By Shelly Lembke

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Mills Middle School in Rancho Cordova recently received brand new award for its Anti-Bullying Program. Selected from among a large pool of California schools, Mills was one of two schools to be granted the coveted "Premier" award and a $1500 donation from the Lozano Smith Foundation.

"We were very excited for Mills. They truly have a year round program," said Derek Morrison, the Director of Client Services for the Lozano Smith Foundation (LSF). The Anti-Bullying Award is a new innovation for LSF, which stays in touch with hundreds of schools across California. "We see the good work they do every day," Morrison continued. The monies awarded are intended to encourage schools to keep up the good work by expanding programs and reaching more students.

The Folsom Cordova Unified School

District (FCUSD) couldn't be more pleased at the accolade. "Folsom Cordova is immensely proud of Mills Middle School for earning this recognition: Only six districts in the state received this honor, and Mills was the top recipient," according to Daniel Thigpen, Director of Communication and Community Engagement for FCUSD.

"What Mills - and so many of our other schools recognize - is that it takes year-round, ongoing effort and multiple approaches to make a real impact on school climate and culture. That means engaging all stakeholders - students, families, staff members, community partners, and mental health professionals - and using evidence-based practices. While there is always more work to do, we are thrilled that Mills has been highlighted for its progress," said Thigpen.

The FCUSD tally shows that the Mills Anti-Bullying Program is generating some impressive results, such as promoting a safe learning environment, drastically cut the number of bullying incidents and reducing suspensions by half.

The Mills Program consists in part by the "creation of a Positive Behavior Interventions and Supports (PBIS) team, which consists of teachers, administrators, parents, and a student leader. This group is tasked with leading evidence-based strategies to create a positive school climate and take a proactive approach to discipline and bullying prevention," according to the FCUSD.

Among the school's other initiatives:

Point Break workshops encourage students to develop character, confidence, and responsibility. Point Break addresses core relational issues and challenges young people face daily.

Mills Bills: students can use these "dollars" - earned by positive behavior - at the student store.

Boys to Men: This program works with boys who may have a challenging home environment by providing support, mentoring, field trips, and positive role models. Students learn skills to be successful in all areas, develop character and reach goals.

All staff members have been trained to identify symptoms of mental health problems and strategies to support students. Students facing mental health challenges are more likely to be targets of bullying.

Young Women of Mills: staff meets weekly with girls who have reached out with feelings of depression or thoughts of suicide.

The Mills Program is only two years old, but impressive for "truly inspiring work that your school leaders and students have clearly shown," commented the Lozano Smith Foundation to the school.

The LSF focuses its resources on its core mission points by supporting California community education partners: Student Achievement, Leadership & Mentoring, Professional Development

Annual Business Outlook & Economic Forecast Seminar Coming to Rancho Cordova

By Shelly Lembke

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - With the old year behind and the new one getting into full swing, Rancho Cordova will be the site for the Annual Business Outlook & Economic Forecast event on January 27th at the Rancho Cordova Marriot.

Hosted by the Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce and local sponsors, the event will feature noted presentations by national, regional and local speakers who will address the signs and signals in the business economy.

"The Chamber is proud to present our annual Business Outlook & Economic Forecast on behalf of our members and the local business community," said Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce President & CEO Diann H. Rogers.

Well-researched market analysis is at the heart of the venue. "Part of business prosperity is awareness of trends, policies and the plans that will shape this year and the next. This year's program will be excellent," said Rogers. "Our business community has gone through a lot over the past decade and we are looking forward – forward to 2017, forward to growth and prosperity, and forward to what the future will offer."

Mark Vinter, Managing Director & Senior Economist Wells Fargo Securities, LLC and Wells Fargo & Company; Barry Broome, President & CEO Greater Sacramento Area Economic Council and the City of Rancho Cordova Economic Development Department will all be speaking on differing aspects of economic movement.

The Rancho Cordova Chamber of Commerce will present the findings of two local studies: the 2017 Rancho Cordova Economic Index and the Rancho Cordova Business Confidence Survey.

"We urge you to sponsor a table and host clients, colleagues or vendors. This event is the perfect way to kick off 2017," Rogers stated.

The doors open at 7:30 a.m. and the program begins promptly at 8:00 a.m. The Marriot is located at 11211 Point East Drive in Rancho Cordova. The $35 per person ticket price includes a full breakfast, program and materials. Contact Diann Rogers for questions or reservations via email (DHRogers@RanchoCordova.org), phone (916 273 5700) or online (RanchoCordova.org). ★

What they learn is more than just balancing a budget. It gets them thinking about the kind of job or career they might want to pursue."

Once students choose a career, they find out about starting salaries, they create budgets which mandate living within their means. The balanced budgets must account for life's differing wants and needs such as housing, food, clothing, utilities, transportation, travel and entertainment.

Throughout the fair, there are many temptations for additional spending, and students must learn to balance their wants and needs to live on their own. After the students have visited the various booths covering components of independent living, students balance their budget, and then sit down with a financial counselor for review, according to the NCUF website.

"We are grateful for the generosity of our business partners like SAFE Credit Union for providing enriching, real-world lessons that will last a lifetime. It's important for our youth to gain the life skills necessary to succeed independently in today's world, and SAFE has created a fun, engaging – and realistic – way to make an impact on students before they enter the workforce," said Thigpen.

According to the NCUF, currently 26 states are offering Reality Fair Programs and in 2015, an estimated 67,465 high school students participated in a Reality Fair.

SAFE Credit Union began in 1940 to provide services for the Sacramento Air Depot employees, eventually becoming the Sacramento Air Force Employees Federal Union (SAFE). It merged with McClellan Federal Credit Union in 1996, and then later with Capital Power Credit Union and American River HealthPro Credit Union. SAFE opened its 21st branch in Rancho Cordova over five years ago. ★

Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame Open for Nominations

By Shelly Lembke

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - The Rancho Cordova Athletic Association (RCAA) is now accepting applications for the Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame from now until March 31st. The official induction ceremony will be October 14 at the Rancho Cordova City Hall.

Rancho Cordova has been home to numerous successful athletes over the years and the RCAA was created to continue to honor the past and promote the legacy of Rancho Cordova athletics. Inductees may be recognized as Athletes, Coaches or Heart of a Champion, which recognizes non-athletes who have inspired the community.

"Sports excellence is as much a part of the Rancho Cordova story as high-flying rockets and B-52 bombers. The Rancho Cordova Sports Hall of Fame is preserving these great stories and showcasing the winning spirit of sport that inspires us all," commented Conrade Mayer. "If you have a story to tell, we want to hear it." Mayer is Event Chair for the RCAA and well known to locals for his own athletic accomplishments and dedication to the Rancho Cordova area.

RCAA President and City Councilman David Sander said, "Rancho Cordova has a uniquely powerful history of youth sports achievement. Our Hall of Fame acknowledges and memorializes that incredible history and will inspire our current and future youth athletes as well."

"Rancho Cordova has produced some of the finest athletes ever to emerge from this region," said Mayer. "They have gone on to play in the NFL, MLB and the NBA. [There have been] storied high school teams, world class runners, celebrated boxers, inspirational coaches and so much more. The Heart of a Champion recognizes the non-athlete whose contribution to sport has left an indelible mark on our community."

The RCAA has partnered with the Cordova Community Council to present the event, which begins at 6:00 p.m. Tickets can be purchased at the door and include an appetizer, cocktail reception and admission to the awards program. All sales are final.

Nomination information and forms can be located online at <https://form.jotform.com/cordovacouncil/RCAAnomination> or submitted by hard copy to the RCAA inside the City Hall Building, c/o Cordova Community Council, 2729 Prospect Park Drive Suite 117, Rancho Cordova, CA 95670. and Community Engagement. According to Morrison, "The Foundation is committed to providing financial support to education-based associations and K-14 school districts, assisting educators with greater access to training programs, helping close the education achievement gap among various student populations and creating partnerships in communities throughout California."

The Lozano Smith Foundation, states on their website that it "believes that all children should have the opportunity to reach their full potential and that diverse and engaged societies together with effective leaders enhance the quality of life and well-being of all people in their communities.

We are committed to supporting the visionary leaders and organizations that share these same goals. We believe that the best way to achieve these goals is to empower education and public sector leaders, and those they represent, to overcome the complex hurdles that prevent them from accomplishing the goals we - as a community - rely on them to achieve." ★

And Another Thing ...

The "Other Fix" That Could Bring New Reservoirs and Expand Existing Reservoirs

about the Governor's "Water Fix", the twin tunnels, and how they would provide more water for 26 million Californians. That being said, I am looking at another type of "fix" that is also being looked at by Northern Californians and was also mentioned before. That other "fix" would build new reservoirs and expand existing reservoirs so we could save the water that we can't save now.

I received an email from David H. Lukenbill, Senior Policy Director of the American River Parkway Preservation Society. He talked about something some of you may remember, and some won't, because building the Auburn Dam hasn't been looked at seriously for quite a while. He talked about the original visionaries who, among other things, designed Shasta Dam to be 200 feet higher than it is now (which would triple its storage capacity), and Auburn Dam (which would have twice the capacity of Folsom Dam) adding the proper amount of storage capacity on the American River.

"The 200 additional feet were not completed on Shasta - though it is engineered for it

- because of the need for raw materials during World War II (Shasta Dam is 72 years old), and Auburn Dam was not built due to earthquake concerns, which a new design can remove. The lack of available water storage, coupled with worsening drought conditions (or current flood conditions) make it the perfect time to reopen discussions about the Auburn Dam. A few benefits of the Auburn Dam would be 400 year flood protection, 800 megawatts of power, and recreation around the Auburn Reservoir area," said Mr. Lukenbill.

Mr. Lukenbill discussed more, but I believe his main points I brought out were very well presented. I will be asking our legislators to work on legislation that will help the other 13 million Californians who need the water that our growing communities and businesses need too. I agree with Mr. Lukenbill, and I believe that the need for water storage is more important than just continuing to use the states aqueducts and then build huge underground tunnels that will move more water south.

From Councilman Bob McGarvey, God bless, and see you next time. ★

The National Weather Service's forecast was pretty accurate about the stormy weather they predicted in California. The snow, the rain in the Sierra, the winds here, and the hurricane winds in the mountains (over 150 mph) all came howling through. I only heard of one big tree falling in Rancho Cordova and that was at Furniture Gallery on Folsom Boulevard. The tree blocked westbound traffic on Folsom Boulevard and damaged overhead power lines. We have a very simple rain gauge placed on a fence post in our yard at home. So far, it has shown 2.3 inches of rain from January 2nd to January 5th, and 3.75 inches from January 7th to January 9th. Granted, it is not high-tech equipment, but that totals just over 6 inches of rain in this January alone. We'll have to see what storms come through Rancho Cordova the rest of this week, and what our total rainfall for the month of January will be.

In my last column, I talked

the baby, she just might be able to take on more students again as time goes by.

Just be reasonable and use common sense. If you spend $3,000 to stay open, and you're making $700, you'd dissolve it, right? But as long as you don't have fees that are making you cringe, I'd probably leave it in place.

—Dave

Dear Dave,

My dad has been really bad with money his entire life. Anytime he would get into trouble, my grandparents would always bail him out. This time he came to my wife and I, asking for $350 to get out of overdraft at the bank. We're trying to live on a budget and get control of our finances, and $350 would make things kind of tight at the moment. What do you think we should do?

—Jeremy

Dear Ben,

First, congratulations on being debt-free and new parents. Happy New Year to you all!

In most states, the only upfront cost for an LLC is the money you pay for the initial set up. There may be a small fee for a business license and subsequent annual renewal, but that generally doesn't add up to much. Then, there's the money you pay for filing your tax return on the LLC once a year. Even if you live in a state where there are other fees to consider, as long as the cost of maintaining the LLC wasn't killing you, I'd recommend keeping it in place. You went to the trouble of opening it, and you just might use it again someday. Even if your wife is staying home with

I understand feeling an obligation to help your dad. But there's a lesson here that dad needs to learn, and it's something that goes much deeper than the money or helping out a family member.

You have to do the right thing, no matter how dad reacts to this. Right now, the right thing is taking care of your family and not putting them in jeopardy. So my answer to dad would be no. Another thing that needs to happen is for the definition of "help" to change. When you say he's been irresponsible with money his whole life, giving him $350 won't help — and it will make you an enabler. Just handing him $350 will actually hurt him, and it will give him the idea he can continue being dumb with money and hit you up for cash anytime.

Like I said, I understand the pull of helping out a parent. So if you feel this is something you absolutely must do, I would advise making the $350 contingent on the fact that he begin and complete a financial counseling course. Be gentle when you talk to him, and let him know it hurts to see him struggling. But let him know, too, it's his responsibility to work through his debts and take care of his own finances!

—Dave

Four Families Displaced by Fire in Multiple Units of Four-plex

Sac Metro Fire Special Report

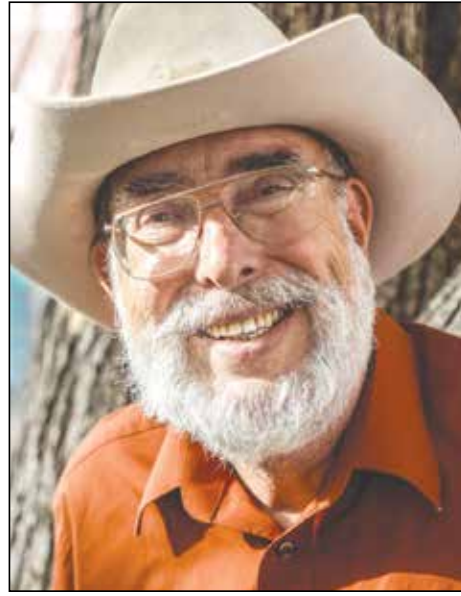

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Just after 7:00 am on January 7th, Metro Fire crews were dispatched to the 9000 block of Folsom Boulevard for multiple callers reporting a house fire. First arriving crews found heavy fire coming from a four-plex and immediately initiated fire attack. While fire-fighting operations were occurring in the unit of origin, additional firefighters initiated fire attack in a second involved unit and began searching for trapped residents.

A common attic throughout the four-plex allowed the fire to spread quickly. With a coordinated fire attack, the thirty-five firefighters on scene extinguished the fire, containing it to the attic and two units. Two units sustained major fire damage. The other two had fire damage in the attic, but only smoke damage inside; firefighters were able to salvage all of the personal belongings from these units. Residents from all four units were displaced; Red Cross was requested to assist the ten adults and four children with temporary housing. The cause of the fire is undetermined. Damage is estimated at $250,000; no injuries to civilians or firefighters were reported. ★

Slim Randles' HOME COUNTRY

"Afore You Knewed What Was Straight Up, We Had Us a Town Plumb Fulla Jumpin' Cats."

innit? Tell me that?

"Back a ways, afore you was born, there was a old timer named Jenkins lived up in the hills outa here. Oh, you heard a him? Sure you have. Know why? Cuz Jenkins was NOT married or rich or successful. But he shored as sugar had fun. Made hisself a legendary, historical figurehead 'round here, too.

"Yessir, Ol' Jenkins used to come into town and catch up stray cats, one at a time. Bought him some cat treats, you know. And then he taken the cat doo jury and'd teach it to jump.

"Saw him do it more'n onced, too. He'd sit that ol' cat against his shins, like this, and hold his hands in front of the cat, and that there cat'd have to jump over his hands to get away. Then he'd give 'em a cat treat. And each time he come to town, he'd make 'em jump higher afore they got their treat.

"Afore you knewed what was straight up, we had us a town plumb fulla jumpin' cats. And they liked it, too. So the morale of this here story is, instead of just doin' what you're supposed to, think about doin' somethin' fun, too. Kinda puts the cherry on the whole brouha-ha, don't ya see."

"Tell you kids what," he said, sitting down and cutting off their escape route, "there's more to lifetimmin' than jest gettin' married, makin' a buncha money and bein' a success. Yessir."

The kids had made the mistake of leaving the ice cream parlor by the side door instead of the front door, you see, and before they had a chance to yell "Incoming!" why ... there he was ... Windy Wilson. Some folks, you see, can't live without food and water. Windy can't live without an audience.

"I knowed that there look on your faces when you heard me say that, yes I did. And you was thinkin' solemnly to yourselves 'Why's Alphonse Wilson sayin' stoopid stuff like that there?' Well, why have a happy, successful life if there ain't no fun

General Environmental Management, Inc.
11855 White Rock Road
Rancho Cordova, California

General Environmental Management, Inc. (GEM) has submitted a final Class 1* (prior approval needed) Permit Modification request to the Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) for the RCRA Hazardous Waste Management Facility Permit (Permit) issued for the facility located at 11855 White Rock Road in Rancho Cordova, California 95742 (Facility). The Class 1* Permit Modification would allow the closure of the Drum Crusher Unit (Drum Crusher) in the Permit at the Facility. GEM submitted this request to DTSC on January 5, 2017.

The Facility provided the Partial Closure Notification Letter (Notification) to the Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) on August 16, 2016. The Notification stated the Facility's intent to close the Drum Crusher in 2017 instead of the permitted closure date in 2035. GEM submitted a draft RCRA Hazardous Waste Facility Permit Partial Closure Plan. (Partial Closure Plan) to DTSC. DTSC has started to review this Partial Closure Plan.

If you have any questions or comments regarding this Notice or the Permit Modification, please contact Mr. Ely Daoud, the Project Manager at DTSC or Ms. Darla M. Adams, Field Compliance Manager. Contact information for Mr. Daoud and Ms. Adams are:

The Secret Solution

Recycling California's Water Supply

Commentary
by Colin Sabol

Kale or quinoa? Free range chicken or seasonal veggie medley? Pellegrino or...recycled water?

Californians could soon start drinking purified wastewater. In response to a five-year drought, the State Water Resources Control Board recently informed legislators that regulating recycled, drinkable water is perfectly feasible. California would be the first state in the nation to implement such regulations.

Exploring water reuse is a smart move. Policymakers have long looked to science to address water shortages -- and farmers and ranchers have long recognized the value of recycled water. As California struggles to solve its water scarcity crisis, funneling purified, recycled water to the drinkable water supply is a logical step. With the right technology, the process should be sustainable, cost-effective and completely safe.

Outside the United States, many urban centers are already relying on reused water. Israel embraced water recycling ten years ago to help address its water shortages. Today, the nation has so much water that, as one farmer put it, "[we] don't really care if it rains anymore."

Singapore has historically been classified as "water poor" by the United Nations, relying heavily on water imports from nearby Malaysia. But thanks to investments in water recycling, four water reuse plants now meet 30 percent of Singapore's water needs -- and the nation is now water independent. In fact, policymakers and urban planners are now gearing up for the city-state's water demand to double over the next 45 years.

In California, dry weather and climate change have exacerbated drought conditions, and climate experts estimate that even if it rained one inch per day in San Francisco and Oakland for 13 straight years, California's water reserves still wouldn't bounce-back to pre-drought levels.

What's more, the state's population is growing -- as is demand for its agriculture offerings. This will continue to put even more pressure on California's water supplies. This "new normal" should concern every American. Already, the average American consumes about 300 gallons of California's water every week by simply eating food from the Golden State.

Sending recycled water into the state's drinkable water supply -- a process known as direct potable reuse -- is broadly supported by the public. A new survey from Xylem found that 83 percent of Californians are open to using recycled water on a daily basis. Further, nine out of 10 state residents support continued investment in drinkable recycled water, even if California gets more rainfall.

These numbers make sense. Virtually all the earth's water is recycled, over and over again, by nature. As Executive Director of the Water Reuse Association and Water Environment & Reuse Foundation Melissa Meeker has pointed out, "It's the same water now as when dinosaurs walked the earth." And thanks to modern filtration and disinfection technology, recycled water is cleaner and safer than bottled water.

California has always spearheaded the implementation of advanced technologies and practices to create a more sustainable environment and drive economic growth. As we look toward regulations for recycled drinking water, the state has the opportunity to lead once again.

Colin Sabol is a senior vice president at Xylem, a water technology company, where he directs analytics and treatment. ★

It's Déjà Vu All Over Again

Dr. James L. Snyder

New Year's Day was filled with lots of excitement, plenty of grandchildren running around and enough food on the table to eliminate world hunger. Actually, it did eliminate my ravishing hunger, at least for the day.

Both the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage and Yours Truly simultaneously signed a deep sigh. My wife sat in her chair thinking and I, reclining in my chair musing. Believe me, we both had a lot to think about and muse over.

The difference between thinking and musing is quite profound. Thinking requires a lot of hard work while musing is closely related to amusing, although I am not quite sure about the connection. All I know is it takes less energy to muse than it does to think and I'm all for saving energy.

I had just gotten into a rather delightful muse when my wife made a very startling announcement.

"Well," she said most thoughtfully, "I guess this is the start of a brand-new year."

I was too deep into my muse to do more than grunt affirmatively.

Then I began to think, which sapped me of a lot of energy at the time. Although my wife was not wrong in her observation (she is never wrong about anything) she was not exactly right. However, being the man of the house, not to mention not having enough energy to put up a good front, I did not call her on it. But I thought on it some more.

Everybody says this is a new year that has never been lived before. And I would like to challenge that kind of thinking. I have an eerie feeling that I have been here before.

I am not sure if my muse got mixed up with my thinking but at the end of the exercise, I came to several startling conclusions. The biggest conclusion is there is nothing new about the New Year.

Do not take my word for it, do some thinking on your own. Okay, it's a little too early in the year to do heavy thinking so maybe some light musing might be more in order.

If I remember correctly, and I must check last year's calendar, but wasn't it January last year at this time? In fact, I think for the past couple thousand years there has always been a January. Nothing new about January. In my lifetime, I have seen 65 Januaries. At the time, everybody said it was new. What I want to know is, when does the newness wear off? When is somebody going to stand up and honestly say, "Welcome to another old year."

Every time I have a birthday, people tell me I am a year older, but when another January comes around people try to tell me it is new. I think this year I am going to insist on my birthday that people tell me I am getting newer and not older.

Then, just as my muse was catching a second wind, I thought of some other inconsistencies about this so-called New Year hoax.

If I remember correctly, last January there were seven days in a week; Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. What I find rather strange is this new January has the same old days of the week. This is rather curious to me. Somebody is trying to sell me some old horse medicine for tea.

Now, if the year 2017 is supposed to be a new year why does it carry over the same old luggage of the old year? I think I smell a conspiracy here.

For example, if you went to buy a brand-new 2017 car, you opened the door, the hood and the trunk and everything was from a 2016 car, wouldn't you feel a little bit cheated? I know I would.

Not only does this so-called new January have the same days of the week, and you are not going to believe this one, it also carries the same numbers of the days. And, these numbers are still in the same order as it did in January 2016.

I believe there should be a Congressional investigation into this rather serious hoax being played on the American people. After all, if someone promises something to be new, and brand-new at that, it should be downright new.

I think I go along with Solomon, the wisest man in the world, who said, "The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done; and there is no new thing under the sun" (Ecclesiastes 1:9 KJV).

This so-called "New Year," is simply the "Old Year" repackaged for the unsuspecting. For some people it will take six months into the "New Year" before they realize this awesome truth.

People make New Year's resolutions, which are simply the old resolutions from the year before. Some of them go back decades. Nothing really changes. By the time February, which is the same February as last year, rolls around those new resolutions are tainted with some serious aging.

But there is a greater than Solomon that I appealed to. He said, "And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. And he said unto me, Write: for these words are true and faithful" (Revelation 21:5 KJV).

I will leave the creation of "new," to the one who knows how to make all things new.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF THOMAS G. SMITH
CASE No. 34-2016-00204087

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, and contingent creditors of and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both of Thomas G. Smith., (deceased): A Petition for Probate has been filed by Adam J. Radmand in the Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento, requesting that Adam J. Radmand, be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the executor to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the executor will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or have consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: March 9, 2017 9:00 a.m. in Dept 129 at Superior Court of California, County of Sacramento 3341 Power Inn Road Sacramento, CA 95826. Responses to the Governor's Budget

GOP Vice Chair Issues Statement on Governor's Spending Plan

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Senate Budget Vice-Chair Senator Jim Nielsen (R-Tehama) issued the following statement on the governor's budget proposal:

"The Rainy Day fund must be maintained for emergencies, not ongoing spending.

"I agree with the governor's budget approach that ensures we are prepared for the expected economic downturn.

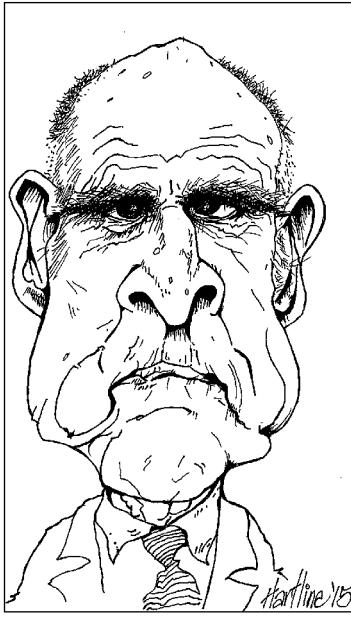

"The governor has, along with the Republicans, opted to hold the line on our spending. We cannot be getting loose with the purse in California.

"This budget, however, continues to ignore our long term infrastructure priorities like more water storage and repairing our dilapidated roadways. The time has come to abandon ill-conceived, costly ideas like high speed rail and the twin tunnels. The people of California deserve more fiscal responsibility from their leaders.

"Republicans have offered many fiscally responsible proposals to address these critical infrastructure needs. I urge my Democratic colleagues to act prudently as we navigate this year's budget process.

"What will our economy be doing? And how do we bring in revenues? We've got to examine the regulatory and the economic deterrents for businesses in California. And much of what has happened here has discouraged our business growth."

Senator Jim Nielsen represents the Fourth Senate District, which includes the counties of Butte, Colusa, Glenn, Placer, Sacramento, Sutter, Tehama and Yuba. To contact Senator Nielsen, please

Senator Gaines Responds to Brown's Budget

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Senator Ted Gaines (R-El Dorado) issued the following statement regarding Governor Brown's 2017-2018 state budget proposal:

"The Sacramento Weir has opened for the first time in a decade, sending the gushing Sacramento River out into a floodplain because we haven't built enough water storage to capture the desperately needed runoff. Our roads are disintegrating even though we had billions in surplus state revenue just last year. This is clear evidence that California needs to get its spending priorities straight.

"Instead we are squandering money on the ridiculous high speed rail and paying for sex changes for prisoners. Governor Brown should honor hardworking taxpayers by crafting a budget that pays down debt, protects the public and provides the people with the infrastructure they are already paying for."

Senator Ted Gaines represents the 1st Senate District, which includes all or parts of Alpine, El Dorado, Lassen, Modoc, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, Sacramento, Shasta, Sierra and Siskiyou counties.

BOE's Runner Responds to Governor Brown's Budget

SACRAMENTO COUNTY, CA (MPG) - Board of Equalization Member George Runner issued the following statement in response to Governor Jerry Brown's 2017-18 January budget proposal:

"The governor's continued call for fiscal restraint makes sense. The state is still vulnerable to the boom-and-bust dangers of the past, especially since California voters chose to extend tax increases on high-income earners.

"A real threat to Governor Brown's desired legacy of fiscal conservatism will be legislative Democrats who wish to spend more money on government programs, now that they command a super-majority in both houses.

"That's why it's disappointing to see Brown use his final years as governor to call for a gas tax hike, especially at a time when fuel prices are on the rise. A better plan to fix our roads would be to cut government waste, eliminate the bloated high-speed rail project, and better prioritize existing dollars."

"Rather than add new programs, we should use the additional revenue to correct mistakes of the past such as the illegal fire fee and the state's confusing fuel tax swap."

George Runner represents more than nine million Californians as an elected member of the State Board of Equalization. For more information, visit www.boe.ca.gov/Runner. ★

Whatever Happened to Family-Friendly News?

Commentary by Dr. Gary Welton

It seemed like a good idea. Prepare a national news broadcast that parents can watch with their children without fear of trauma, nightmares, or lewdness. If I can watch the news with my children, then I have a natural opportunity to discuss issues and problems of the day, encouraging my children to be informed consumers of current events. This experiment of family-friendly news became the policy of certain news outlets in the 1990s, but was quickly co-opted by Bill Clinton and Monica Lewinsky. The Clinton sex scandal took the national news in directions that were not family friendly—never mind the fact that there are certain subjects that I myself as an adult do not want to think about while I am eating my dinner. The "family-friendly news era" was so short that when I search for the term today, I get only 19 hits.

Of course, news has never been entirely family friendly. Television news has always covered stories of fatal airline disasters, bridge failures, devastating storms, African famines, and military conflicts.

The reality is that our world is not always family friendly, and part of my parental responsibility is to guide and teach my children about threats, dangers, and wise ways to protect oneself.

That being said, the news over the last 20 years has been far from family friendly. We've seen images of airplanes intentionally flying into buildings, Americans choosing to jump from those towering infernos, and skyscrapers collapsing before our eyes. We've seen bombings at iconic events like the Boston Marathon. We've watched live military battles in the Middle East.

Obviously, the media make many choices in which they edit harrowing images. The stories we have seen of late from Syria have been horrifying, yet only cover a small part of the actual atrocities in cities like Aleppo. The realities around us are not family friendly; neither are they adult friendly. I wish I did not need to think about the intense struggles that occur around the world and within our own cities and towns. Nevertheless, as an American adult, I need to be informed, in spite of my natural desire to just think in terms of personal peace and affluence.

A recent example comes from October, when the release of president-elect Donald Trump's lewd statements on a bus several years ago forced the national news to cover stories of selfish sexual fantasy. Jimmy Carter's 1976 quote to Playboy ("I've looked on a lot of women with lust. I've committed adultery in my heart many times") pales by comparison to some of the things being covered today.

One of the focal points on colleges and universities across America today is the issue of sexual assault. The issue is being framed as a violation of Title IX. According to a Huffington Post story, there are 315 colleges and universities under investigation for Title IX issues; many of these focus particularly on sexual assault. At the very point in time when we are trying to teach our young men dignified, mature, and legal means of interacting with young women, we are hearing news stories about lewd speech.

It just became that much harder to parent mature boys and men in our modern culture.

Where has our society come, and where is it going? Although Christianity is a strong and growing force on several continents, the secularization of America is evident in our national surveys and in our daily lives. It is unreasonable for me to expect my secular neighbors to adhere to my own moral standards and mores. In fact, as our country becomes increasingly secular, we are finding that our national morals have degraded. Carter's once-shocking 1976 admission of his private thoughts have been replaced by verbal descriptors of lewd sexual talk, creating negative role models.

Today's news is not family friendly. I hope and pray that we can take the stories of 2016 and establish more positive norms and mores of decency, civility, and love for our neighbor. We can do it but we've got our work cut out for us.

— Dr. Gary L. Welton is assistant dean for institutional assessment, professor of psychology at Grove City College, and a contributor to The Center for Vision & Values. He is a recipient of a major research grant from the Templeton Foundation to investigate positive youth development. ★

CHECK BEFORE YOU BURN

IT'S THE LAW IN SACRAMENTO COUNTY

5 REASONS NOT TO BURN:

- 1 Wood burning causes 50 percent of winter pollution in Sacramento County, not cars.
- 2 Older adults, children and the elderly are at greater health risk from wood smoke.
- 3 As wood burning increases during cold periods, pollution stays near the ground where it is a health risk.
- 4 Smoke from chimneys can re-enter your home or your neighbor's home even when doors and windows are closed.
- 5 Small particles (PM2.5 or fine particulate matter) pose the greatest problem because they can get deep into your lungs and some may even get into your bloodstream, which can affect both your lungs and your heart.

Sacramento County DA Reports

Defendant Convicted for Killing Woman in North Highlands Parking Lot Defendant Convicted of Felony Child Abduction Defendant Sentenced for Murder of Infant Woman Sentenced for Murder of 84-Year-Old Man

DATE: December 23, 2016
CASE: Juan Avalos (Case #15F02495)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Jeff Hightower, Homicide Unit
 Juan Avalos was convicted by a jury for the first-degree murder of Nichole Riolo. The jury also found true a personal use of a deadly weapon allegation.
 On April 22, 2015, Nichole Riolo was driving in North Highlands when a pedestrian, Juan Avalos, intentionally kicked her car as she drove by so she would stop her car. Ms. Riolo drove into a parking lot on Watt Avenue and got out of the car to see if Avalos needed help. Avalos then stabbed Ms. Riolo in the neck, killing her. When Avalos was arrested a half mile from the scene, he had Ms. Riolo's phone in his pocket and her blood on his pants.
 Avalos faces a maximum sentence of 26 years to life in prison. Sentencing is set for January 27, 2017, at 9:00 a.m. in Department 34 before the Honorable Lawrence Brown.

Timothy Carr, Special Assault & Child Abuse Unit
 The Honorable Steve White sentenced Damian Porter to 25 years to life in prison. On November 29, 2016, a jury convicted Porter for the second-degree murder of Graeson Byrd and assault on a child resulting in death. A separate jury acquitted co-defendant Davonna Rae Byrd, the victim's mother.
 On April 8, 2013, Porter was home alone with 11-week-old Graeson from early in the morning until 911 was called later that afternoon. When medical personnel arrived, Graeson was not breathing and did not have a heartbeat. The child was pronounced dead when he arrived at the hospital a short time later. Medical evidence showed Graeson had sustained a serious head injury that caused his death, and that Graeson had sustained numerous other injuries inflicted over several weeks. Among those injuries were rib, arm, and leg fractures.

DATE: January 4, 2017
CASE: Erin Elizabeth Hale (Case #15F07327)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Heidi Brennan, Child Abduction Unit
 Erin Elizabeth Hale pled no contest to felony deprivation of child custody or visitation. The Honorable Geoffrey Goodman sentenced Hale to 6 months county jail and 5 years probation.
 On November 6, 2015, Erin Elizabeth Hale abducted her son and moved him to various areas in California before fleeing to Kentucky then New Jersey. Hale and her son arrived in New Jersey by bus. A taxi dispatcher reported her to local police after he discovered she was wanted for felony child abduction.
 After a lengthy search by the Sacramento County District Attorney's Child Abduction Unit, with help from the U.S. Marshals Child Abduction Task Force and National Center for Missing & Exploited Children, Hale was arrested in New Jersey on August 24, 2016.

DATE: January 6, 2017
CASE: Tiana Smith-Anderson (Case #13F05990)
PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney Satnam Rattu, Gangs & Hate Crimes Unit
 The Honorable Kevin McCormick sentenced 30-year-old Tiana Smith-Anderson to 17 years to life in prison. On November 17, 2016, a jury convicted Smith-Anderson of the second-degree murder of Singh B. Singh. The jury also found true that Smith-Anderson used a deadly weapon in the course of the murder.
 Mr. Singh and Smith-Anderson were acquaintances. On September 8, 2013, Smith-Anderson was alone with 84-year-old Singh B. Singh at his Oak Park home. Later that night, Mr. Singh's daughter returned home and went to bed. When she woke up the next morning, she went to check on her father and found him on the bedroom floor covered with a blanket and a large pool of blood. Responding officers found Mr. Singh dead on scene. Singh's autopsy revealed he had been stabbed 26 times. The Sacramento Police Department, in the follow-up investigation, located witnesses who encountered Smith-Anderson immediately after the homicide in possession of Singh's property. ★

PROSECUTOR: Deputy District Attorney

Commercial Food Waste Recycling = WasteRight!

Background:
Assembly Bill 1826 requires businesses that generate a certain amount of food waste per week to recycle it! The bill also includes "green" wastes that are generated by landscaping services such as lawn clippings, tree trimming and non-hazardous wood waste. Businesses such as restaurants, bakeries, grocery stores, hotels, schools, hospitals, food processors, and landscapers are in some cases now regulated by this new law. Together these waste streams are called "organic wastes."

What is the Technical Definition of Organic Waste?
 Organic waste as defined in the bill includes the following material: food waste, green waste, landscape and pruning waste, nonhazardous wood waste, and food-soiled paper waste that is mixed in with food waste. These materials represent the largest subset of organic wastes that are currently disposed of in California landfills.

FOOD WASTE

- Solid, semi-solid, and liquid food
- Food soiled paper
- Coffee grounds
- Coffee filters
- Tea bags
- Fruits & Vegetables
- Meats
- Breads
- Cooking Oils
- Cheese
- Plants & Flowers

Key Dates & Thresholds:

January 1, 2017: Businesses that generate 4 cubic yards of organic waste per week must arrange for organic waste recycling services.
January 1, 2019: Businesses that generate 4 cubic yards or more of ANY solid waste per week must arrange for organic waste recycling services.
January 1, 2020: If the State (CalRecycle) determines that organic wastes have not been reduced by 50 percent of the 2014 amounts, they will expand the requirements to cover businesses that generate 2 cubic yards or more of commercial solid waste per week.
What are the Options?
 Businesses that are required to recycle their organic waste must implement at least one, or a combination, of the following actions:
 a. Separate organic waste from other waste and subscribe to organic waste recycling service that includes collection and recycling of organic waste.
 b. Recycle your own organic waste onsite or take it yourself for recycling.
 c. Subscribe to an organic waste recycling service that may include mixed waste processing that specifically recycles organic waste.
 d. Businesses sell or donate their recyclable organic waste.

Business Incentives - Early Adopters

Businesses that get on board early with this new recycling requirement may also be eligible for saving on garbage service fees from their commercial waste hauler. Businesses are urged to contact their service provider for more information.
 In addition, the Business Environmental Resource Center (BERC) has a recognition program through their Sustainable Business Program for businesses.

One Early adopter to organic waste recycling is Nugget Market. Nugget has reduced landfill waste by 70%!
 2million lbs. food scraps converted to fuel, fertilizer or compost
 1 million lbs. meat and oil converted to tallow and biodiesel
 500,000 lbs. mixed recyclables
 5 million lbs. of cardboard
 100,000 lbs. plastic film and plastic bags
 Nugget Markets are stepping up to the challenge of reducing landfill waste. With these great practices they are one of the Sacramento Area's Sustainable Businesses.

There is free HELP Available

There are certain exemptions for businesses and multifamily complexes, such as if they generate less than a 1/2 cubic yard of organic waste a week or they donate their extra food. Contact BERC for more information.

CORDOVA SPORTS

Cordova Boys Soccer Ready for SVC Action

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - Before Sierra Valley Conference action started yesterday, Thursday, the Cordova High School boys soccer team finished its pre-season schedule with four non-league games.

The last of those games for the Lancers was at Lancers Stadium against Placer, which ended in a 3-1 loss on Jan. 9th. Cordova (3-7-3) finished the slate of games with a 1-2-1 mark.

"Things have been really up and down over the course of the last four games," said Cordova head coach Eric Mc Cahon. "Over the (holiday) break, we installed some new tactics and wrinkles in the formation ... tough way to wrap up our non-league schedule and prepare for league."

The visiting Hillmen found ways to bust through the Lancers' defense in the final 40 minutes of the game. Leading 1-0 at halftime, Placer scored two goals in the second half to secure the win.

Cordova scored its only goal, also in the second half. That came off the feet of junior midfielder Fernando Vasquez.

"We were able to put our passes together, and carve out some scoring opportunities, but failed to capitalize," Mc Cahon said.

Lancer goalie Kevin Bejines had three saves in the game against the Hillmen.

In a non-league road game at Antelope on Jan. 6th, the Lancers had trouble finding the net against the Cougars.

"The theme for the next two games became inconsistency," Mc Cahon said. "In both games (including Placer) we had moments where we played well."

Bejines had two saves for the Lancers.

"Unfortunately we fell behind in both games and started to press," Mc Cahon said. "Once we started pressing higher up the field chasing goals it left us vulnerable at the back which ended up in us conceding more goals, and ultimately back-to-back losses."

In a home game at Lancers Stadium against the Falcons on Jan. 5th, the Lancers scored their lone goal in the first half. Junior midfielder Yevgeniy Kharamtsova had that shot for the Lancers.

In the second half, Christian Brothers responded with a goal.

Cordova 4, Laguna Creek 2

The first of four non-league games last week started with this contest at Lancers Stadium on Jan. 3rd.

Laguna Creek actually led 1-0 at halftime. Then the scoring gates opened in the second half for the Lancers.

Part of the scoring fest included two goals each from Oscar Natalio and Erick Hernandez-Chavez, both juniors.

"Things seemed to click in the win versus Laguna Creek," Mc

Cahon said. "The boys started to look too hard for the shots they wanted versus taking the shot on goal that were there."

Yesterday, Cordova started SVC action at Rosemont. Next Tuesday, Cordova will host its first conference game against Galt, which won the Sac-Joaquin Section Division IV title in 2015 - when boys soccer was played during the fall season before moved to winter this school year.

"We'll keep plugging away in training and do our best to get ready for Rosemont," Mc Cahon said of the Lancers' first SVC game against the Wolverines. ★

Lancers Fall in Close Game

By Mike Bush

RANCHO CORDOVA, CA (MPG) - In its final non-league game of the season, the Cordova High School boys basketball team fell to Antelope 62-59 on Jan. 5th.

Hosting the game at Lancers Gym, Cordova (7-9) jumped out to a 20-15 first quarter lead. But the second quarter seemed to become the difference for the Lancers, who were held to only nine points. That gave Antelope a slim 31-29 halftime lead.

The visiting Titans would expand their advantage in the third quarter, 20-10, which led to a 51-39 lead. The Lancers were able to outscore the Titans, 20-13, in the final eight minutes of the game, but fell short of the win.

Sierra Valley Conference

Today, Friday, at 7 p.m., Cordova and the rest of the SVC will open action at Lancers Gym. That's when Rosemont makes a visit.

Last season, Cordova lost only two conference games - both to defending champion Liberty Ranch, which went undefeated in the regular season at 27-0. This season, the Hawks are 11-6. Liberty Ranch and Rosemont are the only two SVC teams that have winning records.

Then the Lancers continue conference play next Tuesday when they welcome El Dorado, which won its last two non-league games. Next Friday, Jan. 13th, Cordova hits the road to play at Galt. Both games begin at 7 p.m. ★

Major League Lacrosse All-Star Game Coming to Bonney Field in 2017

Along with the All-Star Game, MLL has more exciting activities planned for Friday, July 7 and Saturday, July 8. Before the All-Star Game there will be a FanFest at Bonney Field where fans can meet MLL players, enjoy live music and interactive exhibits.

SACRAMENTO, CA (MPG) - The world's best lacrosse players are coming to Sacramento, CA. Major League Lacrosse has chosen Bonney Field at Cal Expo as the site for the 16th All-Star Game in 2017. The MLL All-Star Game will take place on Saturday, July 8 at 6 p.m. Tickets are on sale now and can be purchased at www.ticketmaster.com.

Along with the All-Star Game, MLL has more exciting activities planned for Friday, July 7 and Saturday, July 8. Before the All-Star Game there will be a FanFest at Bonney Field where fans can meet MLL players, enjoy live music and interactive exhibits. The All-Star Shootout Tournament presented by ADVNC Lacrosse and the All-Star Skills Competition will take place at Cherry Island Sports Complex in Rio Linda, CA. More information about those events can be found at www.advnclacrosse.com.

MLL chose to host the 2017 All-Star Game in northern California because it is the epicenter of lacrosse in the state of California and arguably, the Pacific Coast. According to US Lacrosse, there are more youth lacrosse players registered with US Lacrosse in the Northern California region than in greater Los Angeles, Orange County and San Diego combined. Also, the region played host to the San Francisco Dragons, an MLL franchise that played from 2006-08.

This top-caliber event is just the latest addition to hit the pitch of Bonney Field, which is also home to the Sacramento Republic FC and PRO Rugby Sacramento. For more information about the MLL All-Star Game excitement see news.majorleaguelacrosse.com.

Cal Expo is home to the California State Fair and plays host to hundreds of other signature events each year. The Cal Expo property is home to Bonney Field, a premier sports and entertainment venue with seating of 11,000.
